Pressure Saucepan Saves Time and Fuel

In a comparatively short time the pressure saucepan has won an assured place in farm kitchens, according to Laura Dailey, one of the best known farm managers.

It saves time and fuel. Many different foods may be prepared in a pressure saucepan. It is particularly good for those which need long cooking. "Pressure cooking," Miss

Dailey says that the food value, color and flavor preservation are important.

- 1.—Never fill the pan more than two-thirds full.
- 2.—Be sure that steam flows steadily from vent before you close it.
- 3.—Wait until weight or pressure control jiggles or hisses or cooking indicator is at right position to your directions before you start counting time. Then reduce the heat and let cook for specified time.
- 4.—Reduce the pressure as each recipe indicates.
- 5.—After pressure is reduced, be certain to remove the weight, or lift the pressure control, before removing cover.

Some farm women are doing a limited amount of canning in their pressure saucepans, Miss Dailey points out.

Funeral Held At Eastland Sat. For Billy Herring

Funeral services for Pfc. Billy Herring were held in Eastland Saturday afternoon with Claud Smith, Church of Christ minister, officiating. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Pfc. Herring was killed instantly in a crash in New Foundland on June 29. Pfc. Herring was born at Wichita Falls on June 13, 1927 and though he was but 20 years and 2 months of age, he had served a considerable time in the United States Army.

After serving eighteen months in the Pacific theatre of war he was sent to Japan following V-J Day of 1945. It was in Japan that Pfc. Herring re-enlisted for further Army service and due to his re-enlistment enjoyed a three-months furlough at home this year. He was sent from Iceland to Fort Peppercall at St Johns, Newfoundland.

Staff Sgt. Newman, who soldiered with Pfc. Herring, accompanied the remains from New Foundland to Eastland, leaving New Foundland by boat for New York on August 5 and arriving by rail at Eastland August 14.

The deceased soldier is survived by his mother, Mrs. Byron Frazier and his step-father, Byron Frazier of Pecos, a brother, Lee Herring, who is with the Army of Occupation in Germany, and an aunt, Mrs.

Carbon with whom he lived during his younger life and attended Carbon School. Other relatives also survive.

The agent for Carbon has not yet been assigned but this is expected to be announced soon. Mr. and Mrs. Adair were in Hamlin Monday where they bought a home and plan to move in the near future.

AROUND THE HOUSE Items of Interest to the Housewife

Before washing glasses which have held milk, rinse them in cold water.

Removing outside paint is best done with a blowtorch, but the element of danger must always be borne in mind. Use only enough flame to melt the paint. Then scrape immediately with a knife. Hold the torch in one hand and use the other for the scraper.

Before washing dirty curtains, allow them to soak in cold water overnight, to loosen dirt.

Small scraps of white candles may be put together in a small cotton bag and brought out on ironing day. The iron won't stick if it's passed over the bag a few times.

Hang table linens on the lines lengthwise. The warp threads in the long weave are stronger than the loof weaves.

Hard-to-get-at places around machines can be conveniently lubricated by attaching a soda straw to the stem or spout of an oil can.

Hay Cured in Silos By Electrical Motor

Mechanical Method of Saving New Hay Crop

Although the barn mow still is more extensively used today than any other place for the mechanical curing of hay and other forage crops, it lately has been receiving some competition from other farm structures—notably the silo.

Use of silos for curing forage crops is gaining favor with farmers who do not have the space required for installation of necessary equipment in their one-story barns, as well as those who desire to use their mows for other purposes. The accompanying illustration shows a typical silo for curing installation.

In this latest many never farm electrification developments, air enters the hay through vents in the walls and passes into a vertical chamber which extends from top to bottom of the silo. It is exhausted from the structure by means of a fan, located above the entrance. The cost of curing hay electrically by this method with a 3 or 7 1/2 horsepower motor is $1 per ton, the same as the cost of mow systems. Tests show the quality of hay, cured by this method, also equals that cured by mow methods.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Try sewing buttons on children's garments with dental floss. The waxed thread will withstand more wear and tear than the ordinary thread.

When shoes begin to scuff and peel, rub them with the white of an egg. It will paste down the broken pieces.

Finger marks and ugly smudges on wallpaper can be removed efficiently with a handy art gum eraser. Keep one of these erasers on hand for easy cleaning.

Table linen should be looked over for stains before putting in the wash tub. Soapy water will set the stains, and measures must be taken to remove any marks before immersing in the suds.

Avoid leaning against the door when riding in an automobile. If you like to sit sideways, put on the safety latch.

Buy pillow cases large enough for your pillows. Otherwise the casings will not stand the wear and tear.

U. S. Farmer Is Best

Through improved breeding methods, the farmer today is raising finer livestock than ever before. Through modern medicines, he has a type of on-the-farm control of disease and epidemic such as never before has been possible. This is the view recently expressed by Dr. Ward L. Boebe, authority on animal health care.

All the more remarkable is the fact that the farmer has accomplished this despite a ratio of only one veterinarian engaged in farm work for more than 25,000 farm animals.

Frenchman Came Upon Radioactivity by Accident

Radioactivity was discovered by accident, Henri Becquerel, a friend of Madame Curie, placed a little uranium on a photographic plate, covered it with some black paper and left it overnight. The next morning the plate was foggy. Experiments proved that X-rays had not fogged the plate. The mystery intrigued him so, he kept working away at it until he discovered the Becquerel ray or radioactivity.

Versatile Robot

The most versatile mechanical man ever constructed was made by an American and exhibited in New York City in 1939-1940. Upon a spoken command, this seven-foot 200-pound robot would perform any one of 26 actions such as walk, smoke, count on his fingers and speak, using a vocabulary of 77 words. Most incredible of all, his intricate electrical mechanism—tubes, motors, relays, coils—contained no less than 24,800 miles of wire.

The death of Raja Suchet Singh in Lahore, India, in 1844, was followed by one of the last and greatest instances of suttee, the age-old Hindu custom that required a widow to be cremated with her husband. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Plain Facts About Honesty

LESSON TEXT FOR AUGUST 24.—Proverbs 9:3, 11:1, 3; 12:17-22; 14:9, 23-19, 11.

MEMORY SELECTION.—Prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Abstain from all appearance of evil.—1 Thessalonians 5:21, 22.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By WILLIAM CULBERTSON, D. D., OF THE Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

THE Bible's presentation of the subject of upright living, or plain, downright honesty in everyday contacts, is recognized by all who have given any attention to what it has to say.

The high ethical standard demanded by the Word of God is another evidence of its divine origin. We see men to evolve a moral standard of their own, it is quite evident that that standard would not be very much higher than their own attainments; in fact, the probability is that the standard would be lower than the attainment of some. However, the Bible allows for no deviation from the standard.

We who by nature are the children of wrath have undoubtedly failed when we measure our lives against God's pattern. How needful is God's work of providing and effecting salvation! Those who have been born of God are then confronted with living a life that meets the divine standard.

I. A Plea for Honesty (Prov. 3:3). HOW good it is when the Christian has a reputation for integrity in all his dealings. However, that outward manifestation is possible only if there is inward reality.

Here is the plea for heart honesty. It is not enough by plausible argument or by feigned conduct to appear honest before men.

It is out of the fullness of the heart that man speaks, and the heart is, so is the man. Let us give attention therefore to this word from God.

II. A Factual Presentation of Honesty (Prov. 11:1, 3; 12:17-22; 14:5). THESE passages of Scripture bring to our attention the consequences of dishonesty as well as the rewards of honesty.

For example, we know that dishonesty is an abomination to God (Prov. 11:1; 12:22); that perversity of heart is God's delight in that the perpetrator of evil is sooner or later ensnared in his own sin (Prov. 11:3); that a lying tongue may be victorious, but the victory is short lived (Prov. 12:19).

On the other hand, the rewards of honesty are also made apparent, for we are told that probity of heart is God's delight (Prov. 11:1; 12:22); that the very integrity of the upright shall be a guide to them (Prov. 11:3); that blessings as others flow from the tongue of the wise (Prov. 12:18); and that the lip of truth shall be established forever (Prov. 12:19).

III. God and the Life of Honesty (Prov. 23:10, 11). THE reference here to the ancient landmark has to do with the removal of such evidences as would prove the claim of individuals to certain property.

We are to respect the rights of others. Honesty involves more than correctness of speech; it implies righteousness of life.

Particular attention is given to the fact that we are to have regard for the fatherless. The Word of God constantly gives special attention to the fatherless and the widows. It would seem that God will particularly mark as amiss any unfair advantage taken over these individuals. In fact, this text stresses that God as their Redeemer will plead their cause against anyone taking advantage of them.

Perhaps it is that very sense of helplessness that makes the fatherless depend upon him. It is certain that until we feel our need of God, we shall go on in our selfishness without him. When our own lack of strength becomes apparent, then it is we turn to him, and then it is that he is willing to be our Redeemer.

Let us dare to face the implication of these texts. Unless we commend our God to men by our upright lives, we shall have to suffer the consequences of our dishonesty in divine displeasure.

Alert to Opportunity

Texans are famous for their loyalty to their native state, and are always ready with a good word for it no matter where they are, to wit:

One of its sons was visiting the East where he had occasion to attend the funeral of a man who was thoroughly disliked.

At the services the minister, who was new in the parish, called upon someone to say a few words about the deceased. A long and significant silence ensued.

Finally, the true son of Texas arose and said, "Well, since there is no one present who has anything to say about our departed brother, I'd like a few minutes to tell you folks about Texas."
