Vocational Bldg. Being Moved To Carbon

The Eastland County Vocational School has purchased a building located at Camp Bowie and the Carbon School Board in cooperation with the Carbon Veterans Vocational Agriculture class is having the building moved to Carbon from Camp Bowie. The building is being located East of the high school building.

The Carbon veterans that are taking Vocational Agriculture training have run the concrete foundation for the building. The building will have a shop room 87 x 25 feet and another room 24 x 24 feet that will be used for a class room.

The Eastland County Vocational School will furnish a large portion of the shop equipment. At the end of the training period for veterans in agriculture the building and all equipment will be given to the Carbon Public School for the agriculture department which is being opened this Fall for high school boys.

The building and equipment could not be replaced for less than $10,000. This department deserves the interest of every patron in Carbon school district.

Eastland Lions To Send Carbon Boys To Meeting

The Eastland Lions club voted at their regular weekly luncheon, to pay the transportation for two Eastland county 4-H club boys to attend the A & M College meetings in September. The boys are Charles McDaniel and Junior Floyd Rice of Carbon.

George Howell, who had the responsibility of providing the program for the Lions' meeting, was not present and County Agent J. M. Cooper called upon Lion President Theo Lamb, who gave an interesting talk on 4-H club work in the county.

Mr. Cooper told the club of the work the two Carbon boys were doing and stated that they had been selected for the trip. He stated that he would be at A&M attending a meeting and would bring them home, but that the boys' expenses from home to the college really should be paid. The club then voted to meet this expense for the boys.

Always First

A certain small southwestern newspaper cares very little for national or international news, but its enterprising editor is bedeviled by an all-consuming desire to "scoop" the other newspapers in the region on local and sectional news. One day he accomplished the minor triumph of being the first and only editor to report a certain disaster in a nearby town.

The following week he scored another beat with the following announcement:

"We were the first to announce the news of the destruction of Jenkins' paint store last week. We are now the first to announce that the report was absolutely without foundation."

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Colorful Nicknames Abound In Underworld, FBI Learns

WNU Features.

"Cotton Patch Molly," "Bowlegged Bessie," "Iron Foot Florence," "Butcher Knife Lizz," "High Ball Lill," "Mustache Annie!" These probably aren't the type of nicknames which the typical American woman would choose for herself, but they are among the colorful and unusual appellations by which female characters of the underworld are known.

This is revealed by the identification division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which utilizes nicknames as means of tracking down criminals in its relentless drive against law violators. Files on nicknames, palm prints, footprints and general appearance data are maintained by the FBI for identification purposes to supplement its collection of fingerprints, largest in the world.

Indicative of the FBI's thorough and systematic effort to maintain complete data on members of the underworld mob, the file contained 469,513 nicknames at the start of the year. During the past year 47,500 nicknames were added to the list.

Although an individual may change his real name many times, as a general rule his nicknames stick. FBI agents point out in emphasizing the effectiveness of this means of identification. The files have been found particularly true in cases involving check forgers, impersonators and extortionists.

The women have no corner on the unflattering names found in FBI files. Also included in this category are such cognomens as "Alibi House Kid," "Am I Blue," "Barrell House Sharpy," "Beef Stake Bear," "Black Shirt Slim," "Chew To Bacco Lewie," "Gold-Tooth Frenchy," "Liver Lip," "Sweet Cakes" and "Whop Em Up Willie."

Notorious public enemies of the 1930s are recognized more often by their nicknames than their true names. The given name of "Babyface" Nelson was Lester M. Gillis. "The Owl" was in actuality Basil Hugh Banghart. "Polynose" Kator, a member of the Touhy gang, was the nickname of August John Lamar. Roger Touhy was commonly known as "Black" Roger. Joseph Raymond Negri, associate of "Babyface" Nelson was dubbed "Fatsy."

Members of the Barker-Karpis gang also had their nicknames. "Ma" Barker was the name accorded Kate Barker by her sons and their underworld pals. "Doc" Barker was known as "Doc." Alvin Karpis was a nickname of "Old Karpis" because of his cold stare and precision in carrying out his crimes. Charles Arthur Floyd was widely known as "Pretty Boy."

A criminal may receive a nickname because of some physical characteristic, unusual personality trait or criminal specialty. "Cock-eye Mary" was labeled as such by her underworld pals because of her facial appearance. Another criminal's extensive vocabulary prompted the nickname of "Dictionary." "Sweet Lips" did not live up to his name. FBI agents ascertaining that he had been in custody of police several times for offenses ranging from petty theft through counterfeiting. The nickname, "Wildflower" also proved misleading. The individual bearing that name was arrested for assault.

In many instances law enforcement agencies will have little, if any, information about a wanted criminal except perhaps a nickname and a smattering of descriptive data. When this information is forwarded to the FBI, a search through the nickname file sometimes results in an identification. "Kentucky Red" was the only name known for an individual who was selling drugs in New York City. FBI nickname files furnished his correct name, descriptive data and his whereabouts at the time.

Nicknames have not been confined to the criminal element. "Machine Gun" Kelly originated a nickname for the special agents of the FBI when they apprehended him in a dawn raid at Memphis, Tenn., on September 26, 1933. "Don't shoot, G-men, don't shoot!" he cried. This name caught the fancy of the public as well as that of the underworld. To this day, FBI agents are known as "G-men."

Airport Chatter

Fliers from several Midwestern states participated in the first all-Iowa Fenella tour conducted under auspices of the Michigan state department of aeronautics. The flight covered 289 miles, stops being made at eight cities. Ten charter members have signed up for the recently-organized Decatur Flying club at Decatur, Iowa. The club has purchased Aerona Chief plane. Dedication services for the new Worthington, Minn., airport are scheduled July 5 and 6. More than 120 private plane owners have been invited to participate in the ceremonies. Plans for a series of district meetings and flight check-outs were held at the annual meeting of Flying Farmers of Iowa, held at the Ames municipal airport. The statewide organization, founded March 1946, at a meeting on the Iowa State college campus, now numbers more than 500 members from some 70 counties.

An air show will be among the headline attractions at the American Legion summer jubilee at Harper, Kas., July 16-19.

Aerial Detective

Mark up another use for the airplane in agriculture. W. A. Allington, plant pathologist of the department of agriculture, is using an aerial survey to spot evidence of a fungus disease—brown rot—that is reducing soybean yields in the Midwest.

Allington, who is stationed at the regional soybean laboratory at Urbana, Ill., uses his privately-owned plane to make aerial photographs of soybean acreage over a wide area. In the pictures, plants in infected fields show up much lighter in color than those in non-infected fields. By comparing his aerial pictures with ground photos, Allington locates the fields where the fungus infection appears to be most serious.

Kid Scouts have taken to the air in a big way. More than 5,000 Girl Scouts receive private flight training and flight experience as members of 315 Wing Scout troops in 42 states and Hawaii. "Wing Scout" is the name of the organization's own Cub plane, presented to them by William T. Piper. It is the only airplane owned and used by a national youth-serving agency.

Civic Cooperation

Climaxing an unprecedented example of practical cooperation between two cities, dedication ceremonies were held for the joint municipal airport at Arkansas City and Winfield, Kas. The two progressive communities in a rich oil and agriculture belt of southeastern Kansas buried the hatchet to acquire Strother field, former AAF fighter training base, a joint project in August, 1946. Facilities offered by the field permitted the two cities to secure a new industry, the Fairchild personal plane division.

Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas made the dedicatory address at a program which featured an elaborate air fair, dining with a dawn patrol breakfast, the day's program included an exhibition and demonstration of personal planes, military aviation signaling, model airplane demonstration, flights by women pilots and fliers over the age of 40, parade and trap shoot.

'KNEELING DOWN' . . . A bending nose gear which enables a fighter plane to be landed down on the crowded deck of an aircraft carrier is a feature of one of the new V-17 fighters. North American Aviation, Inc. has developed the equipment is devised to facilitate handling of the fighter on the ground and stowage on deck.

Early Groom Furnished Bride With Security Gifts

The custom of giving wedding presents probably arose in the earliest days of marriage-by-purchase when the Anglo-Saxon groom furnished his bride with "wed" or security gifts—animals for stall or stable or trinkets for her adornment—in token of his intention to fulfill their engagement. Later came the "bridal bidding" the forerunner of the "bridal shower."

The most popular bridal present in the time of Elizabeth was a pair of knives (a pair of scissors to us) with which it was suggested the bride might cut the thread of love if her husband should prove untrue.

Book Refuting Communism
Changed History of Asia

A unique record is held by a book called The Social Interpretation of History, written in 1921 by Dr. Maurice William. It refuted Marxian Communism, preaching cooperation instead of war between the classes, says Collier's. The author himself had to publish its single edition of 2,000 copies.

But in 1924 a copy was read by Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese Republic, causing this confirmed Marxist to reverse completely his revolutionary policies. Thus, this book halted the spread of Communism in China and changed the whole history of modern Asia.

Phenothiazine Will Kill Nodular Worms

Common Insect of Hogs Present on Most Farms

You've heard so much about swine roundworms that you may think they are the only internal parasites that cause hog losses. If so, you're wrong. You're overlooking the nodular worm.

The USDA says the nodular worm is perhaps the most common worm parasite of swine, and that in some states, practically all hogs raised under ordinary conditions may be infected.

Research workers in animal parasitology are beginning to suspect that nodular worm injury to hogs is far greater than was heretofore believed. Nodular worm infections cause serious losses to the meat industry because the intestines studded with nodules, resulting from nodular worm injury, are weak and tear easily, and this destroys their value for use as casings. These losses, of course, are passed along to the hog raiser in the form of lower prices.

Hogs entertain four species of nodular worms. The nodular worm gets to be only about a half inch long, hence is not as readily seen as the roundworm, which gets to be as thick as a lead pencil and more than a foot long. Hog raisers seeing roundworms may blame them for trouble caused by the smaller, harder-to-see nodular worms.

Phenothiazine is the only effective remedy for removing nodular worms. It destroys more than 90 per cent of them. Phenothiazine is easily given in feed—in fact, that is the safest way for a hog raiser to administer it.

Anaplasmosis Gains Foothold on Range

Anaplasmosis is a febrile, infectious disease, transmitted from sick or carrier cattle or by ticks, horse flies and other biting insects. Young animals are seldom affected. The treatment is still in the experimental stage and is largely a veterinary problem. Animals afflicted with the malady should be kept in the shade, given plenty of clean water, a little green feed, and protected against flies. Introversive lesions of metacromyria has been used with success as well as a modified sodium-cacodylate treatment.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Straight Thinking About Drinking

LESSON TEXT FOR AUGUST 17—Proverbs 20:1; 23:19-21, 29-35; Ecclesiastes 10:1.

MEMORY SELECTION—Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit—Ephesians 5:18.

EDITORS' NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council on Religious Education; used by permission.

By WILLIAM CLERINGTON, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

THE increase in the drinking habits of our nation is a source of concern, not only to the forces of morality, but to the liquor interests. Undoubtedly the Bible's answer to this whole problem is the only right one. The Word of God has many strong things to say concerning alcoholic beverages. Wise is the man who heeds the injunctions of Scripture.

I. Liquor—A Description (Prov. 20:1).

WHAT a striking text this is! W think of its implications. "Wine is a mocker." It traps his victim in a vicelike grip, and then taunts him in his inability to release himself. The drunkard is a victim of his own appetite, helpless to resist the temptation which ensnares him.

The young person who takes his first drink for sociability is indeed deceived, in that alcoholic liquor never reveals, the possible test which exists from the one who takes that first drink. The better part of valor is to leave the stuff alone.

II. Liquor—A Warning (Prov. 23: 19-21).

THE admonition of this passage is that we should not be found among drunkards and gluttonous men.

Solomon here tells us of one of the results of drunkenness and gluttony—poverty. The drowsiness which is the result of both of these sins does indeed clothe a man with rags.

If, therefore, we have no higher motive than that of self-respect, that of having enough of this world's goods to make a presentable appearance, we should avoid us company with those who will lead us into the same excess that characterizes them.

Let us understand, of course, that higher, far higher, motives for right living than those involved here. However, if we can come to the conclusion to avoid drinking on the basis of a lower motive, how much more important it is to come to the same conclusion on the basis of a higher one. As Christians, that higher motive is the testimony before men, our living a life that will cause others to want to know Christ; in short, our living for the glory of God.

III. Liquor—A History (Prov. 23: 29-35; Eccles. 10:17).

THE first of these Scripture passages we have what may be called a history of drunkenness. This sin leads to woe, to sorrow, to contentions, to wounds without a cause.

But that is not the end. Look carefully at Proverbs 23:32 and stress the first three words, "At the last." At the last, it does indeed bite like a serpent and sting like an adder.

Such poison is injected into one's body and soul that it seems as though there is no remedy. Thank God, there is, and that there is power in the blood of Christ to make the foulest clean.

In verses 33 to 35 they read some of the results of drunkenness: "Beholding of perverse things (v. 33), insensibility which is the result of drinking (v. 33), and inability to avoid succumbing to the same temptation all over again (v. 35).

It is any wonder that the admonition is "Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it sparketh in the cup, when it goeth down smoothly."

In view of such results, is it any wonder this same Preacher says in Ecclesiastes 10:17 that the land is blessed when its rulers eat and drink in strength and not for drunkenness. It still is that righteousness exalteth a nation, but that sin is a reproach to any people. And since the princes of the land as the leaders will frequently personify the people of the land and its followers, happy is that nation which has good governors.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Wear dress shields in non-washable dresses. If you perspire under the arms. Keep shields immaculate with frequent washings.

Place a piece of adhesive paper over the crack in the outside wall. If it remains unbroken for a time you may rest assured the settlement which caused the crack has about reached the limit. Repairs can then be made.

Greasy containers can be easily cleaned by rubbing with dry cornmeal.

Coarsely woven or braided, brilliantly colored table mats in clear ruby red, emerald green, cerise or chartreuse will be a smart touch for summer tables. Simple china and clear glassware are especially effective with these mats.

As you empty fruit jars, wash and thoroughly dry them, then place the lid on to prevent chipping.

Keep washing machine cords out of water, even though they are waterproof cords.
