Lt. George Gilbert Is Now Home On Leave

Two Texas Ambassadors to Tokyo-Navy fighter pilots who bamed, strafed and generally wreaked havoc on the Japanese capitol city while flying with the first carrier-based airman to hit Hirohito's back yard, have just returned to the United States for leave and re-assignment.

They are Lieut. (jg) Robert S. Kelley, 24, USNR, of Bastrop, and Lieut. (jg) George R. Gilbert, 23, USNR, of Carbon. The Eleventh Naval District announced today.

Both won recognition for their aerial feats against Japanese shipping and land installations in the South China Sea, pre-invaded Iwo Jima and Okinawa, the Philippines and Tokyo.

Schoolmates at John Tarleton College, Stephenville, before entering the Navy within two months of each other, they have been a "team" ever since.

Overseas they were attached to the fighter squadron of Air Group Four, flying from one of the Pacific Fleet's largest aircraft carriers. They returned with that hard-hitting group and expect to stick together on their next assignment.

The day they first got Tokyo in their sights they flew through snow and darkness. Lieut. Gilbert's fighter was packed with wing bombs.

Despite terrible flying weather, both completed their missions, unloading explosives on two Nakajima aircraft plants in the Tokyo area.

Both say they found Okinawa, in the days before the Stars and Stripes flew there, their toughest target. "The flak thrown up at us there was terrific," said Lieut. Kelley.

In a dogfight over the Philippines, Lieut. Gilbert erased a Jap "Lilly" twin-engine bomber, and while overseas destroyed 9 more Jap planes on the ground. Lieut. Gilbert is the son of H. R. Gilbert of Carbon, and formerly of Fort Worth and Dallas.

Important Notice To Taxpayers of Eastland County

The Commissioners' Court of Eastland County has for many years diligently worked at the job of collecting current and delinquent taxes. Of 15 counties along the T & P Railroad, Eastland County has by far the lowest in percentage of collections of both current and delinquent taxes. The records show that over a period of 25 years, there is but one year that the total delinquent taxes in Eastland County are over $900,000.00. The present tax rate is $1.10 per hundred dollars valuation. The Commissioners' Court believes that from $260,000.00 to $400,000.00 of these delinquent taxes can be collected without seriously hurting the taxpayers and if there will ever be a time when they can and should be collected, it is now, and that by so doing the tax rate can be reduced from 25c to 50c or more, per hundred dollars valuation, with a suggested two years, thereby relieving the great majority of those who pay their taxes of the burden that is forced upon them by delinquency of taxes.

For these reasons and believing that great savings can be effected for the taxpayers of the county, the court has voted unanimously to enter into a delinquent tax campaign, and to the end the Commissioners' Court of Eastland County will, on or about the 1st day of May, A. D. 1945, enter into a contract for the purpose of collecting delinquent taxes.

There should be no occasion for alarm on the part of those who owe taxes. The Court will insist and demand that suits not be filed, except in those cases where fair and workable agreements over a reasonable period of time and at regular intervals cannot be had with the taxpayer. The whole purpose and desire of the Court is to work out ways and means whereby delinquent

Many Cross-Country Radio Programs Sent Via Wire

Millions of Americans do not realize that many radio programs they hear travel greater distances over telephone lines than through the air.

For example, a network program that originates in New York and is heard in San Francisco through a local station is transmitted some 3,000 miles by wire but less than 30 miles by radio waves.

Cod Is Honored By Portuguese

Not Just an Ordinary Food For People, but Highly Esteemed Institution.

WASHINGTON.—The cod that is so common and cheap in America is so esteemed in Portugal that the peasants commonly refer to it as "the faithful friend." They eat it only dry and hard since Portugal has no cold storage refrigerators in which to preserve or ship it.

Before the war Portugal had the lowest per capita consumption of meat in all Europe. In some of the inland provinces where meat is especially scarce, peasants eat it only once or twice a year on festive occasions.

This accounts for the "Kingdom of Bacalhau" in Portugal and its importance in the national economy and in politics.

The first historical contact of the Portuguese with the British stems from the scaly cod back in the 12th century. Portuguese fishermen who sailed to the North sea for their catches began to trade their wines from Oporto for the fish the Britons caught.

This helped make port wine a British institution, the codfish a Portuguese staff of life and the two countries the oldest allies in history, says the Chicago Tribune.

Gets Into Politics. Portuguese politicians have made frequent use of the cod as a red herring and more than one revolution has succeeded on the promise of its leaders that the cod would be lowered. Republican propagandists in the revolution of 1910 overthrew the 80-year-old monarchist regime by promising for the welfare of the people to "establish means of getting the country fully supplied with cod at very small cost."

Down through the years it was a key government problem to make available enough bacalhau to satisfy the public demand. Trade treaties with countries that supplied Portugal with bacalhau were always favored in diplomatic dealings.

With the outbreak of World War II, the problem of getting enough bacalhau for Portugal became acute and the Spanish government concentrated on building up a cod-fishing fleet. Since the war, scores of fishing schooners have been built, yet Portugal still is getting only about a fifth of the amount it requires.

The government has begun a far-reaching plan of education, promotion and betterment of the rights of fishermen, in addition to a stepping up of shipbuilding. Schools for the sons of fishermen have been opened and are operated under supervision of the codfishing official trade committee.

Big Annual Event. For centuries cod fishing has been one of the hardest and most dangerous of sea jobs. The fleet goes to far Arctic banks and the fishermen, born to and raised in sunny Portugal, face a brutal, alien climate. The government has taken steps to provide schooner crews with modern equipment, raised their salaries and insured them against the hazards of the trade.

One of Lisbon's biggest events every year is the departure of the cod-fishing fleet. The president of the republic, the clergy and public officials take part in the farewell festivities.

The crews are blessed by the cardinal patriarch of Lisbon and the men parade down the historic Plaza do Imperio after attending mass at the famed Jeronimos monastery which was built to celebrate the voyage to India by Vasco da Gama.

The fleet is accompanied by the Newfoundland banks by a mother-ship of the Portuguese armada, which acts as a post office and hospital ship for injured or ailing.

The government provides special radio broadcasts for the fleet all the time it is on the high seas and special messages from wives and children are read to fishermen over the central Lisbon transmitter.

Substitute for Blood

Plasma Found by Science PASADENA, CALIF.—Scientists at the California Institute of Technology have developed a scientific substitute for blood plasma from gelatin. Dr. Dan Campbell, professor of immunological chemistry, announced.

Disclosing the results of three years' work, Dr. Campbell told an institute seminar that test transfusions given to a group of clinical patients were "entirely satisfactory."

The chemist said the solution, called oxygelatin, is simple and cheap.

New Social Vision Taught in School

Country 'Up for Grabs.' So CYO Classes Prepare.

CHICAGO.—Every week night, motley groups of men and women—professional people, laborers, white collar workers, housewives—ascend the stairs of a building on the fringe of the Loop.

They're scholars—in their way of a free-style swim in a pool of learning. The Shell School of Social Studies describes its function in a simple, breezy prospectus. One passage reads:

"You will need knowledge to preserve and develop democracy. Our country is more or less up for grabs. When it comes down, it is important that you be there to catch it and to insure its continuity. If you don't catch it, there are those who will—the communists, the fascists, the forces of reaction. This means that you must know thoroughly what democracy is, must appreciate fully its worth and potentialities."

The school is free. It is open to all—Protestants, Catholics, Jews, regardless of color or academic background. The class meets once a week for six or eight weeks and courses are scheduled five nights a week.

The sessions are informal. No text books are required, but reference volumes are recommended and mimeographed material is furnished. The students range in age from 16 to 75 years. Attendance is better than 5,000 a year.

The school is one of the newest branches of the over-spreading CYO. It was opened last year in the busy CYO center at Congress street and Wabash avenue. It offers "free seas of knowledge to any one interested in helping to build a better society."

Many Separate Landings, Assaults Made by Marines

CUYAHOGA FALLS, OHIO.—Few outsiders realize how many separate landings and assaults on beaches are made by marines in the course of what appears in the newspapers as a single operation.

The mopping-up which accompanies a major victory may involve a series of landings to clear out adjacent forces on all the little adjacent atolls. The experiences of Pfc. James B. Leas of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, bear this out, says "The Leatherneck."

Leas was radio man in the amphibious tanks assigned to the commanding officer of a task force of 300 men. Their job was to scour the small islands and atolls, destroying radio stations and cleaning out garrisons. All in all, Leas participated in 37 such combat landings, all of which took place within the space of a few days. And this during a period when he had been sent back to Kwajalein for a rest.

Graphic Description

Of the Sound of Battle NEW YORK.—Writers have used many reams of paper trying to describe the sound of battle, but none has been more graphic than Pfc. Bernard P. Brannigan of New York, N. Y. "It sounded," Brannigan said, just like a baseball game in Brooklyn, except that the Japs were throwing hand grenades instead of pop bottles. I don't mean to give Brooklyn the business, but the noise during the battle was the closest thing to the noise over in Ebbets Field when the Giants and Dodgers hook up. And I want it understood I am no friend of the New York Giants, either," reports "The Leatherneck."

Could it be that "Banzi" is really the Jap equivalent of "Kill the umpire!" or "Throw the bum out!"

Skirmish to Readers Is Big Fight to Boys in

WITH U. S. 6TH ARMY, LUZON.—It was just one of those little skirmishes, which seldom get mentioned in the communique, but as the dirty-faced doughboy who had just seen six of his buddies killed and another 26 wounded, said, "It was a big war to us."

The Japs had an outpost near Catablan on a small hill overlooking the highway which runs south towards Manila. It had to be knocked out, so two companies were sent up. The Japs opened up with small arms and machine guns. Org of the company commanders was killed.

Pushing on, the Americans wiped out the outpost, killing 62 Japs. One was an officer. The dirty-faced doughboy sat wearily on the hillside. "Yes," he said, without looking up. "I guess it wasn't much of a battle, but we thought it was."

AROUND THE HOUSE

Remove the broiler pan at the same time you remove the food. If you let it stand, the heat which is retained will burn the grease on.

Never crowd the rinse tub. Clothes must have room to move about freely to get soap out.

Wipe up any food spilled on the stove at once with a dry cloth or paper toweling. Never use a damp cloth—it may ruin the porcelain finish. But if you let these spots dry on, they will be difficult to remove.

If venetian blinds are waxed when first installed or within a reasonable time thereafter, they can be kept clean more easily. The painted surfaces will be given an added protection and the life of the blind prolonged. Any furniture wax is suitable for this purpose.

In laying a new floor over an old one, place a layer of heavy paper between the two, for resiliency and sound - deadening purposes. A cedar flavored paper will repel vermin.
