

Trade's Day

Behold Thy Mother
By Chaplain Worcester

As Jesus was dying on the cross, he looked down and saw his mother. Mother love had overcome fear, and Mary pressed forward to render any possible aid and comfort to her boy in his final moments of life.

Nothing in this world is so near to the unselfish love of God as the love of a good mother for her children; and the Master knew the terrible anguish in Mary's heart as she wept at his feet. He instantly forgot his own agony and was filled with loving solicitude for his grief-stricken mother. With only a few breaths of life remaining, Jesus spoke to the beloved John and said, "Behold thy Mother!" John understood, and instantly accepting Mary as if she were his real mother, he carried her to the bosom of his own family.

This incident touches a responsive note in the hearts of all good people, for we are pleased to admire and respect those who love and honor their mothers. Our esteem for and confidence in any person is increased when we see him manifest affection and consideration for his mother.

God promises longer life to all who honor their parents. The noble ideals and lofty aspirations taught us by our fathers and mothers constitute the greatest life insurance in the world to come. This is especially true of mothers.

We can never pay the debt we owe to our mothers, but we can show them gratitude and loving consideration, and thereby add much joy to their lives from day to day. Do you owe mother a letter? Write her at once. Don't fail to tell her you love and appreciate her. Mother's heart often hungers for the assurances of affection which we neglect to give.

Son, daughter, wherever you are today, with eyes of love and thoughtfulness, "Behold thy Mother!"

English Books in Lead
 in German Translation

Berlin.—Books written in the English language hold first place among works by foreign authors translated into German.

Next to German books, the average German reader prefers those translated from the English. American and British authors, statistics reveal, enjoy the greatest popularity in Germany. Russia is second.

Nevertheless, the publication of foreeign books shows a decrease within the past half year of over 20 per cent, compared with the year before. France was the chief loser.

Phone Wires in Africa
 Strangle Big Giraffes

Kenya Colony, Africa.—Giraffes
 have compelled the constructors of telephone lines in Kenya Colony to cut higher telephone posts. This fact was revealed on the occasion of the recent opening of the first big telephone trunk line in East Africa.

It was declared that existing lines were broken by the necks of giant giraffes, which were not infrequently strangled to death in their efforts to release themselves from the wires.

New Version of Legend Concerning St. Patrick

The legend of St. Patrick driving the snakes out of Ireland, as told in "Wonder Garden," by Frances Jenkins Olcott, is that St. Patrick found Ireland filled with snakes, serpents, demons and toads, and determined to rid the country of them. So he gathered them all together and bade them go to the top of Crochan Acla. Some refused because they knew they would be forced into the sea from the mountain top. St. Patrick, knowing they feared the sound of a bell, rang one very loudly. Immediately they rushed to the top of the mountain and from there over the side of a cliff into the sea.

Some of the reptiles, however, hid in a cave near the edge of the sea. The saint rang the bell again, but in vain, as the surf drowned out its chimes. The reptiles were safe until he flung a bell over the mountain to and into the hollow where they were hiding. It fell on their backs and they plunged into the sea. Never since that day have snakes been seen in the land and some folks say that the bell lies hidden under the earth in the hollow of Crochan Acla.

The legend is symbolic of the fact that St. Patrick cleansed Ireland of its sins and brought it the faith—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Government by Soviets, That Replaced Czarism

A definition and explanation of the term "Soviet," made by Webster's New International dictionary, is as follows: "Soviet, a committee, specifically, either one of two governing bodies (village soviets, town soviets) in the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, established as a result of the Russian revolution of 1917 and by the constitution of the republic of July, 1918, and later by the constitution of the union, July, 1922. These soviets are the primary organs of a government based on the principle of communism, seeking to give the power to the working classes. They are the supreme local authorities; consist of representatives chosen annually, of workmen (elected by shops, organizations, etc.), soldiers, and peasants; and send deputies to the higher soviet congresses; volosts (rural district), uyezds (county), guberniyas (provincial), oblasts (regional), and the congresses of the constituent republics. All these soviet congresses meet annually. The highest governmental body of all is the union soviet congress, composed of representatives of town soviets and of representatives of the provincial soviet congresses. This congress elects the union central executive committee."

And let's have another piece of pie!"

NOT at all a bad idea Irving Berlin has, and his song sees good times just around the corner. If our whole dinner costs only one dollar and serves four persons—we'll all have another cup of coffee and another maple meringue custard.

- Iced Tea 4¢

Rich Cream of Tomato Soup: Turn the contents of one can of tomato soup into a saucepan, bring to boiling and add a pinch of soda. Sauté together the contents of one 5 1/2-ounce can of pantry table cream and three-fourths cup milk. Pour the hot soup slowly into the hot cream and milk and serve. A slice of stale bread may be cut in small cubes and browned in the oven for croutons if desired.

Maple Meringue Custards: Sauté the contents of one 6-ounce can of evaporated milk and two-thirds cup maple syrup in a double boiler. Smooth together two tablespoons cornstarch and two tablespoons cold water and cook until thick and smooth, stirring all the time. Cook for ten minutes. Beat two egg yolks slightly, add a few grains of salt, and pour the hot mixture onto them slowly. Return to a double boiler and cook for three or four minutes. Cool. Pour into custard cups, top with meringue made by beating egg whites, adding sugar slowly and beating until smooth. Place in a slow oven long enough to set and slightly brown the meringue. Serve cold.
