Farm Employment

Total farm employment in the United States in 1944 was about 7 per cent less than the average of the period 1935-39, according to estimates of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. During 1943 the farms of the nation were operated with a total farm employment 5 per cent below the five prewar years. This means, therefore, that the total employment was reduced in 1944 about 2 per cent below the average employed during 1943. In the 1935-39 period about 10,700,000 people were engaged in farm employment on the average. Roughly three-fourths of these were family workers, and about one-fourth was hired labor. In Illinois, Indiana, Michi-Ohio and Wisconsin about 1,475,000 were employed on the average during the same period, of whom 77 per cent were family laborers. For 1944 the proportion of family labor was unchanged for the nation, but for the foregoing states the proportion represented by family labor had increased to 83

Food Juice

So much good flavor and nutritive value are carried in the juice of foods that the good cook takes pains to lose as little juice as possible from all foods in preparation and in cooking. Home economists offer the following suggestions for saving juices: Avoid loss of juice in preparing meat, poultry and fish by never soaking in water. In cooking meat save juice by using moderate heat. Juice from oysters and clams has especially fine flavor. Never wash because this means a loss of juice. Soaking fresh vegetables, especially after they are cut, draws out juice that contains both food value and flavor. To save the juice of strawberries, wash them before, not after, hulling. Hold juicy fruits like oranges and cherries over a bowl when slicing so none of the juice will be lost as it drips.

Featherweight Bazooka A featherweight bazooka with a heavyweight punch and a new "eye" sight, 42 per cent lighter than the standard model, that may be handled as easily as a regular army rifle, has been developed. The little heavyweight, far more accurate than its older brothers and weighing 10½ pounds, now has a barrel made from aluminum. The standard model now in use by the army's ground forces is made from steel, but the wall thickness of the aluminum bazooka is greater than the steel one. This is the seventh basic design of the weapon, fore-runner of all combat rocket-launchers in this war, since original plans were submitted to the company by the army in the spring of 1942.

TO DO ONE THING WELL

• The chief objective of everyone should be to do one thing well. Your doctor accomplished this objective when he spent years of his life in preparing himself to care for you when you need medical attention. How foolish, then, to depend on others. When illness comes to you or any member of your family consult your physician without delay. Be sure that he is a licensed M.D. from an accredited school of medicine. Then bring your prescriptions to us for expert compounding.
