Ballinger Group Visits Highway Commission

A delegation of Ballinger business and professional men spent Thursday of last week in Austin and appeared before the February meeting of the State Highway Commission. They had been invited to attend the meeting through the chamber of commerce and were there to discuss the proposed highway improvement and expansion program for the south part of Runnels County.

They received an excellent reception by the committee, who heard the spokesman for the local group in regard to some of the local problems.

The commission was reminded that twice bond issues had been submitted by special election and each time they were defeated. They discussed each of the proposed projects and asked that the commission look into the matter of Highway 83 and see if it would be feasible to improve this road using the old right-of-way from Hatchel to Ballinger. The proposal of the commission on the two other attempts to vote bonds for right-of-way, called for a complete new route from Hatchel to a point just east of Ballinger and an intersection with Highway 67.

At the close of the meeting, members of the commission told the delegation that the two routes on 83 would be reevaluated and the findings of the engineers would be submitted to the commission as soon as possible. In the meantime it was understood that no bond election would be called and that no appropriations for highway construction in the district would be lost.

The spokesman for the Ballinger group told the commission that since traffic was coming through the Ballinger business section, the rerouting of Highway 83 would effect businesses valued at about $700,000 located on the present highway route. Some of these, it was pointed out, are dependent upon motor vehicle traffic and that it would be a hardship if traffic was routed around them.

The Ballinger group was pleased with their reception by the commission and with the interest shown in the proposed work in this county.

C of C Directors Will Meet Monday To Talk Business

The directors of the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce will meet Monday night for their regular March business session. The discussions scheduled for Monday night will include a number of important projects and committee reports.

One of the biggest projects before the group for immediate attention is plans for the celebrating of Ballinger's 70th birthday anniversary on June 29. A general steering committee has been announced and within a short time all programs for the day will be approved and special committees appointed to handle each one.

An invitation committee will start work in the very near future contacting pioneers of Ballinger who live in other parts of the nation. A large number have indicated they would come to Ballinger when the celebration is staged and letters will be sent to every former citizen that can be contacted.

Such a mailing list will be hard to secure but the committee will work on this phase of the program from now until shortly before the date of the celebration.

Another matter which will be discussed will be highways and a report of the local delegation's meeting with the members of the State Highway Commission will be made.

They will also discuss the Ballinger chest plan and try to get a board set up for the organizing and launching of that program in Ballinger.

Allen Davis, president, urges that every director be present for the meeting Monday night.

Bill Nowlin of Pottsboro and Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson of Greenville were recent visitors here with Mrs. Dixie Linder. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson also visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cherry. Mrs. Johnson is the former Edna Cherry, a niece of Mr. Cherry.

Mass Meeting Tonight To Talk Youth Center

There will be an open mass meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight for Ballinger parents and all others interested in the forming of a youth center in this city. The meeting will be held at the court house in the district court room and those sponsoring the meeting hope to have the auditorium filled.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Duke of Brady, who have successfully operated a similar project for the past several years, will be here to tell local parents about their center and its operation. Mr. and Mrs. Anton Koch will also be present to discuss the very successful Teen Canteen which is operated by them at Quanah.

At an earlier meeting of local parents, a number of committees were appointed for special work and they will make reports tonight in regard to a building and other matters of importance.

Jack Moore, local attorney, will preside at the meeting and conduct the business. This will likely include the naming of temporary officers, a constitution and by-laws committee and other matters.

For several weeks a large number of parents have been holding meetings and discussing plans for the organization of a youth center for Ballinger. Practically all parents contacted have shown interest and have indicated they would be willing to help with a parent-sponsored and operated center where the various youngsters of the town would have supervised entertainment planned for each week-end.

In order to find out just how a number of successful centers are operated they have invited special guests for tonight who will speak and also answer questions of parents in regard to the centers in their towns.

The meeting is open to everyone who has any interest in the matter. A rent free building has been offered for the center and many have volunteered their full cooperation in getting a center started and in supporting it with their money and time.

Red Cross Fund Drive To Seek $4,765 Quota

The annual Red Cross fund campaign is ready to get underway in this county and during March, local citizens will be asked to contribute $4,765 to that organization.

Guy T. White, manager of the Lone Star Gas Co., at Ballinger, has been named county fund chairman and he is now getting workers lined up in every community to look after the solicitation. Homer Hudgins will be chairman at Winters and will look after communities in the north end of the county.

Mr. White stated this week that he had secured a number of local workers and would be calling upon others as soon as he could perfect the organization. A chairman will be sought for each community in the south end of the county and they will be assigned a quota to raise.

All materials for making the drive have been received and advertising materials will be distributed this week. Workers are also being secured for each city block to call at every door and solicit funds.

Part of the money raised will remain in the local chapter to be used here and the rest will go to national headquarters to be used in national disasters and for other purposes. The local Red Cross chapter has received many calls during the past year and has extended assistance to a large number of people.

Polio Vaccination Urged Before Epidemic Period

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has launched a campaign to have as many children as possible given doses of the Salk vaccine for polio before the epidemic period arrives. Parents are urged to give the matter deep consideration and if at all possible give doses to all children 1 through 14.

Parents are urged to ask their doctor's advice. He has already received bulletins from the Foundation giving him the latest information on the polio vaccine.

Many doctors have Salk vaccine for their patients, or your child may be eligible for vaccine procured by your public health department.

As long as supplies are limited, young children must have priority. Age limits vary from place to place, but usually children 1 through 14 years are receiving the doses first. More than two-thirds of paralytic polio occurs in this age group each year. It is believed that two doses should be available before the polio epidemic period for every infant and child through 14 for whom the vaccine is requested.

There are a few questions and answers which parents are interested in knowing.

Can I be sure the vaccine is safe?

Yes. There is every assurance that the vaccine is safe. Since revised federal safety standards were adopted in the spring of 1955, some 10,000,000 children have received vaccine with a perfect safety record.

How effective is the vaccine? Apparently more effective than it proved in the tests of 1954. The U. S. Public Health Service has reported that in 1955 paralytic polio was cut by at least 76 per cent in vaccinated children as compared with those that had received no vaccine.

How does the vaccine give protection? It causes a child to develop polio-fighting particles called antibodies in his bloodstream. Enough antibodies prevent the polio virus from causing paralysis.

How many shots of vaccine are needed? Three. The first shot should be given now, the second shot two to four weeks after the first, the third, seven months to a year after the second.

If my child's second shot has been delayed, will it be effective now? Yes. The effect of the first shot is not lost, even if the second shot cannot be given for several months afterwards. With two inoculations, your child should have protection against paralytic polio for the coming season. But don't stop with only two shots of vaccine.

Why is the third shot necessary? To give better and longer-lasting protection. See that your child has his third shot as soon as he is ready for it and vaccine is available for him.

When can my child receive his third shot?

As soon as vaccine supplies have met the demand of the first and second doses. This will vary among the states. Check with your doctor.

How long does protection last after the third dose? This cannot be answered because the vaccine has not been in existence long enough. However, Dr. Salk's studies show that a group of children inoculated three years ago still have protective antibodies. It is expected that protection will last for several years.

Should a child that has had polio be vaccinated? Yes. Usually, the child is immune to one type of the polio virus that caused his disease, but not to the other two. The Salk vaccine protects against all three types of polio virus.

Is polio research continuing? Yes. Your March of Dimes, which paid for the development of the vaccine and the 1955 inoculations of the first and second grade school children, is still supporting vaccine research. The objects are to increase the effectiveness of the vaccine, to find out how long it protects and to discover simpler and less expensive methods of production.

Is the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis still providing vaccine? No, the National Foundation completed its vaccine distribution in 1955. Vaccine distribution is now the responsibility of public health authorities and physicians.

Is there much polio now? There were nearly 30,000 cases in 1955.

When will we wipe out polio? No disease can be conquered overnight. The vaccine must be far more widely used before polio is really overcome. When supplies are sufficient and parents rapidly take advantage of the vaccine's protection, there should be a sharp decline in paralytic polio in the next few years.

When and How Much?

So often our customers come to us saying they have lost their bank statement and want to know whether our records show the payment of a bill in some past month—most of them know that we take a photograph of every check we pay and for this reason they think it is an easy matter to reproduce the check by picture on a screen provided for our Recordak. This is not such a task if they know the exact amount of the check in question and the month in which it was given, but it is quite a chore if this information is not provided. We have been asking many of our customers to please keep their bank statements, cancelled checks and duplicates of deposit together, then when the year is out tie a string around the twelve statements so that the information shown in these statements may be easily found when they want to know when, how much and to whom their money was paid.

Bank records have never been questioned by any court, so far as we know; transfer of money by personal check is not only convenient, but it's safe and the records we keep are permanent, but please keep your bank statements, all of them, for at least ten years.

Student Council Attends District Meeting Saturday

Twelve students of Ballinger High School attended the Oil Belt District meeting held in Stephenville on February 18. The meeting held at Tarleton State College was attended by approximately 12 towns of this area.

After the general registration, the first assembly was held. President Don Zirkle of Coleman presiding. The speaker was Mr. Halbert Woodward of Coleman, who spoke on "Life as a Matter of Choices." Mr. Woodward said that everyone has to make two choices: either an unselfish one and one of service or a very selfish one. Mr. Woodward believed that a student council member has already made the choice of service by taking the responsibility of that organization.

After announcements had been made by the district secretary, members were conducted to their individual discussion groups by members of the Tarleton State College student council. The Ballinger student council had representatives in each group. The groups attended were: "A Safety Program," "Definite Aims and Objectives of a Good Student Council," "How Can the Student Council Promote Better School Spirit?", "Programs and Entertainment," "How Can Student Councils Interest the So-Called 'Anti-Social Students' in Activities?"

The noon meal was served in the Tarleton cafeteria.

After lunch the conventioners were given a rest and time to view the campus. The second general assembly followed, in which Stephenville High School provided welcome entertainment. President Don Zirkle presented the district business. The district constitution was amended and the following district officers were elected for next year: president—Abilene High School, vice-president—Gorman High School, secretary—Rotan High School, parliamentarian—Comanche High School. After singing led by John Duke, the meeting adjourned.

Gospel Services At Local Church To Start Sunday

N. E. Rhodes Jr. of Brookhaven, Mississippi is to preach in a series of gospel meetings for the Ninth Street Church of Christ. Services are to begin each evening at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Rhodes will also speak at the regular Sunday morning services at 10:00 a. m. and on the regular church broadcast over KRUN each Sunday morning at 9:00 a. m.

This meeting, actually, is a two week meeting for this area. The Ninth Street Church of Christ in Ballinger is co-operating with the Hatchel Church of Christ in the work. Mr. Rhodes will conclude the local meeting with the Sunday morning service on March 11 and begin at Hatchel that evening.

The Ninth Street Church is happy to present Mr. Rhodes to the Ballinger people. We are sure that his messages will be an inspiration to all who hear him. He is an outstanding minister and presents soul-stirring messages in his own unique and interesting way.

A native of the south, Mr. Rhodes has done considerable evangelistic work in this area. The good attendance and high level of interest which has characterized the work at the Ninth Street Church is expected to have its effect on the meeting. W. J. Leach, the local minister, is now engaged in his second year of work with the congregation.

FACING THE FUTURE WITH HOPE

ut of the church this couple comes to face a future that's unknown. With HOPE as their watchword and FAITH as a shield they have made themselves one in the sight of the Almighty and are determined to sail the uncharted seas of time together.

The same church under whose watchcare they grew up now has furnished the setting for their holy matrimonial vows. Now they are one of the greatest institutions—HOME. One of their chief responsibilities will be to see that their church has their help in filling its most worthy mission upon earth. Be sure to attend the church of your choice regularly.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are shaped with benevolence and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are making religious character. Stated simply, leadership is the church alone can furnish to the church of our choice on Sunday. You in the Church and the Church in you—form a combination for good.

WEST TEXAS
NOTES

Ballinger schools will observe Public School Week, March 5 to 10. During that period patrons will be invited to visit the schools and put forth an effort to know the local educational plan of those who administer the program.

The need for public schools never changes, but time and conditions may change, or require to be changed, methods and practices of public education. This is inherent with anything that grows, for growth is the result of change.

Our Texas public schools were created 102 years ago. In 1854 the first law passed establishing the public school.

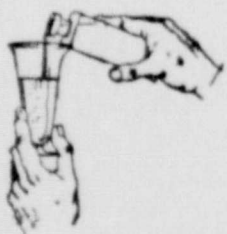

It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions. This is especially true of the schools. The initiative and resourcefulness and the wisdom and leadership that our schools are inculcating in the youth of today are the answer of the problems of citizenship in the years ahead. The need of our times are for schools that are strong in virtues required for building strong men and women.

We can be assured of this and do our part in understanding and helping the public schools to fulfill their great obligation to our times by being a participant in the annual Public School Week. When schools hold open house, accept their hospitality and you will enjoy the experience of going back to school, if only for a day. Ballinger has a school system of which all patrons are proud and it deserves all the help and cooperation that can be given by the people who live in the district and depend upon it for the education of their children.

Ballinger will be 70 years old on June 29 this year. Members of the chamber of commerce have approved plans for a one-day celebration at which time a part of the program would be a homecoming of pioneers. It is good for a town to entertain every so often and this year offers a fine opportunity to have such a program and in doing so, remember those who pioneered the way in making Ballinger an outstanding West Texas town. Contacts have been made with a large number of former citizens who now live elsewhere and all have indicated they would be interested in attending such a program. A committee is being designated to look after the general program and within a short time a plan of the activities for the day will be announced. If the program is approved, men and women will be named on special groups to look after each phase of the program and work will be started at once. Such a program requires considerable time, much hard work and some expense to stage. Any person who has ideas for appropriate

Ground breaking ceremonies for the new addition to the First Presbyterian Church at Coleman was held last week by members of the congregation. Contracts have been let for an expansion program which will cost $62,965. Horn Brothers of Abilene have the contract for the building and were represented at the special program held last week. This is the third building program for the church since it was organized in 1879. The first church was built in 1884 and the present church was completed in 1917.

Brady is getting three baseball diamonds in condition at Richards Park, where all three boys' leagues will be operated this summer. Lighting equipment will be moved from the Jubilee race track to light the third diamond at the park. Leagues have been organized and play will start on schedule time this summer. The little league, pony league and a teenage league will play a full schedule. Lowell Brown is president of the leagues and has requested that all games be played at Richards Park in order to attract larger crowds.

Concho County has about completed its 1956 March of Dimes campaign with a total of $1,833 reported last week. Carl Peek of Paint Rock was county fund chairman, and has had the full cooperation of all home demonstration clubs and other groups in the county. Lowake led the campaign with $610 and the drive was not over there. C. C. Koehler was responsible for $552 of the contributions at Lowake. Eden was next with $514 and Paint Rock had collected $389. Seven home demonstration clubs handled the work in their communities.

Rowena firemen staged a bingo game and party Sunday night in an effort to raise money for construction of a fire station at Rowena. The building is needed to house the fire truck and several groups have contributed money to get a fund started. The party was held at the St. Joseph Parish Hall and door prizes as well as game prizes were offered to those taking part.

A meeting of Robert Lee and Bronco citizens was held last week to discuss park locations in Coke County. Locations are being considered at both towns where small parks and swimming pools could be constructed. County officials were of the opinion that the projects could be financed with no additional tax money since the county valuations in Coke County have climbed to about thirty million. W. W. Grief, who has done a number of construction jobs for Coke County, will be in Bronco this week to look over locations and to draft plans for pool and park.

Winters school officials have announced plans for observing public school week. The elementary school has set March 8 as a special day for visitors and all patrons of the district are invited. Other schools will welcome visits any time during the week. It was announced at Winters last week that the annual school census had been completed and showed 1,099 stu-

The Cross Plains high school band won first place in the "Show Night" feature of the annual band festival held at Sweetwater last week-end. Their winning number was a routine of "Lady of Spain." This was with a large number of bands on hand to take part in the contests. A feature of the Saturday program was a concert by the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy band and a street parade in which all visiting bands participated.

Southern Development Co. of Waco has announced they will build 25 new homes in Crane. The first job will start sometime in March, according to information received by Bill Cox, manager of the chamber of commerce. Eventually the company plans to build from 100 to 250 homes in their new housing program at Crane. The homes will be priced at about $10,000 each, and will be offered for sale. A number of oil companies have started moving employees into the area.

The Midland city council has endorsed a recommendation for assistance to the Midland Memorial Hospital. The city manager and city attorney have been instructed to work out a plan and agreement whereby the city will furnish the hospital $25,000 annually for 10 years. In return the hospital will lease space for the use of city-county health units. The hospital hopes to borrow $750,000 for an expansion program and the loan will be based on contributions from the city and county for annual contributions.

The Osona vocational agriculture class held open house Saturday for their new and modern classroom building which has just been completed. As a part of the open house program, 73 commercial lambs were shown by the boys and a barbecue dinner was served at the noon hour. The new classroom and shop building was completed in time for students to start the second semester of work. Lambs shown at Osona Saturday were taken to San Angelo to be sold at auction. The Centennial committee at Brownwood is asking that all merchants cooperate in turning the entire downtown section into a historical museum. Richard Conte stars in Warner Bros. "Target Zero," a new action thriller depicting the glory of the fighting G. I. The film arrives tonight at the Texas Theatre.

Conte, plays an American Infantry Lieutenant, who, with his patrol becomes trapped deep in enemy lines. They are joined by a handful of British tankers who have also been passed by an all-out enemy attack.

Burt Lancaster has done a fine thing in his debut as a motion picture director with "The Kentuckian." Cinemascope Technicolor-printed film which will be the second attraction at the Texas Theatre tonight, Friday and Saturday, through United Artists release. He has taken an action-packed, swashbuckling fragment of frontier history and infused it with a rich, warm story and peopled it with lovable characters. Lancaster himself stars in the film as Big-Ell, a hunter who with his son, little Ell, finds Kentucky too confined and tame for him, and heads for Texas—"where a man has room to move about."

A nerve-taut drama that will keep everyone who sees it rooted to the edge of his seat is to be shown at the Texas Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. It is M-G-M's "Ransom!" starring Glenn Ford and Donna Reed in a story of almost unendurable suspense, the story of a father who has to make a heart-tearing decision when his young son is kidnapped.

"The View from Pompey's Head," the romantic drama which is booked to open Wednesday and Thursday at the Texas Theatre, recounts a story with elements of mystery which generates in a New York book publisher's office and finally takes the film's hero, a kind of literary detective, to the scene of the "crime" in the Deep South. The film, a Cinemascope production from Twentieth Century-Fox, stars Richard Egan, Dana Wynter and Cameron

Robert Walker and many others, tells the story of the historic bombing of Tokyo, what preceded it and what followed it.

Universal-International's big, lusty Technicolor action drama, "Man Without a Star," certainly rates all of those adjectives—as well as being one of the most "different" western films to come from the film capital in a long, long time.

The cast, headed by Kirk Douglas, Jeanne Crain, Claire Trevor and William Campbell, deserves acclaim for their sharp characterizations. "Man Without a Star" is the second attraction at the Hillcrest Drive-In Theatre Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

What follows from there? Plenty—really plenty. For in every 1946 Buick there's a wealth of thrills—a spirited gait—a trim maneuverability—a sheer enchantment in styling.

In power, it's a pistol. Every Buick packs a high-torque 322-cubic-inch V8 engine—each Series with the highest horsepower and compression ratio in Buick history.

In take-off, it's trigger quick. A new Variable Pitch Dynaflo* betters the best Buick getaway on record—with instantaneous response at the very first inch of pedal pressure, and engine revolutions at normal cruising speed.

In emergency, it's double-barreled—with that new Dynaflo changing to full-power safety-surge acceleration the instant you floor the pedal and switch the pitch.

And in roominess, in luxury, in handling ease, in ride steadiness; in directional sense—you'll discover a literal truth:

This is the best Buick yet.

Can you come in tomorrow to see and sample the greatest Buick ever—and to note the prices that make this the best buy yet?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

7 New Recruits For Guard Unit; More Wanted

The Ballinger National Guard unit has recruited a total of seven new members during the current drive which was climaxed on February 22 when the open house was held at the armory. The open house was attended by about 150 prospective recruits, parents and visitors. Five recruits were signed up by that date and two others enlisted at the regular drill session Monday night.

New members enlisting in the unit are: J. C. Yearly, Harold McKnight and Ronald Everett of Ballinger and John Emmert, Barton Marks, Jimmy Glenn and Dwayne Williams of Winters. The membership drive has been continued by the local unit as well as all guard companies throughout the state under orders of General K. L. Berry, the Adjutant General of Texas. A total of 823 men were recruited by the Texas national guard up to February 23.

Capt. Thomas I. Gabbert, company commander, reminds all interested prospects to call the armory for information concerning enlistments. A special invitation is extended all young men to attend any weekly drill session.

Capt. Gabbert also stated that enlistments are open to any eligible men from 17 to 35 years of age for non-veterans and a veteran may be enlisted if he is above 35 years of age depending upon his number of years of prior service.

The average master-sergeant of the local unit made $537.50 from his national guard pay last year. Pay rates range from $2.60 per drill for recruits to $11.18 per drill for master sergeants, depending upon the number of years in the service.

You can do it at so little cost, with so little fuss! We planned it that way as we gathered all the information, menus, recipes and foods... enabling you to enjoy your version of a colorful luau... right in your own home. (Many of these Hawaiian touches will add variety to your everyday meals, too!) Come in today. We're here to help you make it perfect.

Easy to Create Hawaiian Mood

The foods you serve at your luau are bound to be a success in themselves. You can heighten the Island feeling with a few "native" touches. Instead of using a table, simply roll out straw matting on the floor—or use a colorful tablecloth. Decorate this "beach" with ferns, flowers, and tropical fruits. Keep some Hawaiian music playing in the background. You're on the beach at Waikiki—your luau is under way!

?? ? - A furred 8-ball? An exotic plant? No. It's an "Arnie Platinum." That's the name of this sheep dog, entered in the recent Westminister Kennel Club Show at New York City. Base for the furry, trophy-like object is a drinking dish. Arnie's thirsty, not mysterious.

"HOMEY, ISN'T IT?"—It's the best winter in years for this sea lion, in residence at the Paris, France, zoo. Europe's worst-in-years winter has put a respectable coating of ice on his pool. He's giving the photographer an icy eye from one of the air holes he's punched for his use between trips to the depths.
