Need Validation? Caregivers Coffee Break

Caregivers will be meeting Friday, February 2 at 9:30 a.m. at the Friona Public Library to explore the validation technique therapy constructed by the well-known author and lecturer Naomi Feil. Feil's own approach classifies individuals with cognitive impairment as having one of four stages in a continuum of dementia. (en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Validation-therapy) Please join us in an attempt to learn and implement a useful technique to improve caregiver skills that will not only benefit the caregiver but will also enhance the quality of life of the recipient. This event is sponsored by Bluebonnet Home Health and Hospice and the Friona Public Library will be the host sight. For more information call Rhonda K Sanders, LMSW at (806)247-0057.

What Friona Means To Me

What does Friona mean to you? The Friona Star is collecting stories and remembrances of Friona for their 100-year celebration in 2025. Stories need to be 500 words or less and will be published in the Star. If you have any questions, feel free to call (806) 250-2211.

By Dale and Laura Hart

We were both born in Friona and have been residents of Friona our entire lives. We were both educated in the Friona school system.

Dale's grandparents came to Friona in 1919 and purchased land two miles north of Friona and his parents, Leon and Daisy Hart, came to Friona in 1926 and took over farming the Hart land. The land purchased in 1919 has been operated as a family farm and cattle operation the entire time for four generations. We have lived and worked on the Hart family farm our entire married life of 63 years. Laura's parents, O.B. and Beulah Moyer, came to Friona in 1936 to farm and make Friona home.

Our four children were all born in the Friona hospital, and all graduated from Friona High School.

Our oldest daughter Karene married Troy Bass who also graduated from Friona. They lived in Friona for several years after they married and Troy worked at the Friona Post Office as a city carrier.

Our second daughter Holly married Danny Campbell who also graduated from Friona. Danny and Holly live on the original Hart farm and own and operate Campbell Electric and Property Associates Realtors. Danny and his son Stephen who also lives in Friona are on the Friona Volunteer Fire Department, and Danny is assistant Fire Chief. Danny and Holly's three children all graduated from Friona High School, and were all involved in Friona school sports.

Our third daughter Evelyn and her family live in Amarillo and own and operate the H & R

Block franchise in Hereford.

Our son Jeremy and his wife Marla also live on the original Hart farm. Jeremy now operates the Hart's cattle operation and is a rural mail carrier with the Friona Post Office. They have a daughter and a son. Their son Jett attends Friona Elementary school. Marla owns and operates the Friona H & R Block franchise.

We owned and operated the Friona H & R Block for fifty years, and Dale still works there. Dale began working at the Friona Post Office in 1954, and was a rural mail carrier for many years. We also owned a Sears catalog store for fifteen years.

We have amazing churches, schools and businesses here, along with our family and friends. We do not believe there is anywhere that has friendlier people and others willing to help anyone in need than the good people of Friona. If we had the choice of living anywhere in the world it would be in Friona, Texas!

Yes, Friona is and will always be our TOWN! This is what Friona means to us.

Rain, Sleet, Snow...
Will Take Anything!

By Jeff Procter, Minister, 6th Street Church of Christ

There are times I am reminded that we do live in a semi-arid climate and that moisture on average is a bit sparse. Here we might say, "Yeah, had a three-inch rain yesterday, three inches between each drop," or "When Noah was floating on the ark, we got just over a half inch." With all this said, even semi-arid climates need moisture and we are sure in need. It is dry, the weather man indicated we have reached the 100-day mark without any significant moisture. The longer that goes the greater the impact. It will begin to impact cattle on wheat, the wheat itself, the wildlife, and all of us. We need water!

Sometimes it is easy to look around and see just how dry it is getting. Yet, when we talk of a person's soul it may not be as easily noticed. Souls need a little water, as well. Jesus described himself in John 4 as water that could make one to never thirst again. The woman at the well was game, and so would we be if we understood. I see folks daily who have chosen to not have a relationship with Jesus. I don't beat them up for their choice, but am saddened they are comfortable drinking sand, as that is all Satan can offer. The psalmist describes a longing for the Lord as a deer pants for water. (Psalm 42 if you are interested) Much of what feeds the soul cannot be found in material pursuits. Eternal voids rarely find lasting peace with temporary fixes.

I do, like many of you pray for rain. I love the smell of moisture in the air. I readily recognize its life-giving properties when it comes to living in these parts. But my prayer for you is that as your soul thirsts you will choose this year to give Jesus a try. Drink deeply from His well, seek answers to life in His Word and live. It is hard to believe January is nearly gone. Drink while you can the Lord offers you this drink.

Psalm 61-A Higher Rock

Brett Hoyle, Pastor, First Baptist Church

People are searching so desperately today for significance, security and serenity. Many search for these things through their careers and community involvement, others pursue a path of drugs, alcohol and addictions, while others might yet attempt to achieve these things through religion. Rightfully so, the God given desire for significance, security and serenity, are to be pursued, but there is only one place in which they can be found, received and enjoyed.

In Psalm 61:2 David proclaims "Lead me to the rock that is higher than I." Wow, what a powerful statement from a man of great power and prestige. David's kingly position did not negate the reality that for help and hope, he had to look beyond himself. He did not look inward, but upward as sought the "rock that is higher than I." This rock is none other than the Lord God, which David makes clear in the surrounding verses. God is higher than us in innumerable ways. His ways and thoughts are higher than our ways, His power surpasses ours infinitely, His wisdom is unsearchable, and His knowledge is without end. God's love is steadfast, His faithfulness is sure, His mercy is undeserved, His holiness is perfect, and His grace is overflowing. God truly is the "rock that is higher than I" and is a sure refuge for all who would come to Him in faith through Jesus Christ.

Being Content

By Teena Hughs

A friend of mine recently told me she had a church meeting that lasted over three hours. It was one of those extremely cold nights, and as she turned down her street to go home, she noticed a man who, by the way he was acting, seemed lost.

My friend went on home, and as soon as she got in her house, she felt God drop a cement block into the pit of her stomach. She knew she was supposed to go check on this man.

So she got in her car, and by the time she got to the end of her street, he had walked to the next street. She drove up to him and asked if he was ok and if he needed her to take him somewhere. He assured her he was fine because even though he was "sorta" homeless (whatever that means), he had a package of cigarettes, a warm cup of coffee, and some money.

After repeatedly asking him if she could take him somewhere, the man told her he just thanked Jesus for people like her who stopped to check on him.

I told my friend she probably encountered more of Jesus in her short visit with the man than she did at her church meeting. She said that was true, but the thing that amazed her was how little it took to make the man content.

Now, I have thought about this story from MANY angles, but the question that keeps coming to mind is: what makes me content? Living like the man my friend encountered would not make me content; I don't like the cold, and I don't smoke or drink coffee.

But, I have a lot of "stuff"...that I like...and I like the way my house looks with my "stuff". The thing I have learned from this is to make sure my contentment comes from Jesus and not my stuff; true contentment is found in Jesus. To find more contentment in material things is elevating "stuff" above Jesus, and that is wrong. For now, I need to do some soul searching to see if my contentment is the result of Jesus in my life or all the "stuff" I have.

							Coach Ebeling notes; We went on the road and came home with a huge district win. The entire team played well from the opening tip. Despite a poor free throw shooting percentage we found a way to win in the 4th quarter. After last night's win our district record is 3-5 and we are in a tie for fourth place. We take on Littlefield this Friday at home.
