Foard County landowner D. M. Prince and Don Newhouse, range conservationist, look over details of a Great Plains Conservation Plan prepared for the farm owned by Mr. Prince and Howard Pittman of Quanah. Mr. Prince and Mr. Pittman, like most landowners, want to improve and protect the soil and water on their farm. They also wanted to get the job started quickly as possible. In order to do this, they became cooperators with the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District to receive technical help from the Soil Conservation Service. Their plans are to seed native grass on cropland not suited to cultivation, construct fences to protect these young grasses, and get better distribution of grazing when grasses are established. Heavy or sandy soils seeded to grass not only keeps ponds and lakes from filling with silt, homes from becoming dusty, lowering crops that are in surplus, but provides the landowner a more stable income.

Memory—Is It an Asset?

Memory is a curious thing. Sometimes it brings to one's mind thoughts of happy, joyous occasions; other times, it makes one recall occasions that have been sad, perhaps even painful. One of the pleasures that memory affords is at the meeting with an old acquaintance—even if it sometimes plays a trick and fails to reveal the name of the person who many years ago was well known. Though most people enjoy reminiscing about "the good old days," they do not enjoy recalling times of sorrow, times of discouragement, times of defeat. When one thinks of the loss of a loved one, it is the memory of happy moments shared with that person that makes the loss bearable. Even though a memory may, for a time, keep alive the many times when one has been cut by some bitter, cutting remark of a friend, it usually is kinder and keeps alive the moments of the more pleasant things. After considering all angles involved in "memory," most people count it as an asset.

Eleven Teachers Enroll in New Math Course

Eleven Crowell teachers are now enrolled in an eight week workshop in "New Math" being conducted in Paducah under the auspices of Hardin Simmons University, Abilene. The class meets on each Tuesday at 3 p. m. The teachers state that they are gaining some valuable instructions in the presentation of the "New Math" which is now being introduced in the public schools of Texas. Members of the CHS Future Teachers of America are also gaining some valuable experience as they are "carrying on" the class work of the teachers who have to leave at 2 p. m. in order to make the workshop.

Senior Personality Mike Gamble

One of the "all around guys" of CHS is quite an asset to the senior class. He is none other than 18-year-old Mike Gamble, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Gamble. Mike describes himself as a simple guy who likes plain American food, the color, green; semi-classical and popular music, math and chemistry. Ann-Margaret and Paul Newman, the show "Under the Yum Yum Tree," the magazine, Playboy, and people who are honest. During his years in CHS, Mike has had many honors: vice president of the student council for two years, president of his sophomore class, most courteous for two years, who's who in chemistry, guy one year, president of CHS choir, member of FFA and slide rule club, member of football, basketball, tennis and track teams. Looking at Mike's background, one can see that he'll surely succeed in life. After he graduates, he plans to attend Texas Tech and major in accounting.

Adult Sewing Class Is Organized

Mrs. Carmon Welch, local home economics instructor, has organized a night class for the instruction of Negro women in the community who wish to learn more about sewing. Presently there are nine members enrolled, and Mrs. Welch reports that they are really "sewing up a storm." Some are making dresses for themselves; others are making children's clothes. Adult classes, a phase of the home economics field, are being taught in many communities over the state.

"Variety Plus" Show Draws Large Crowd

The "Variety Plus" show presented before a large crowd at the high school auditorium on Friday night, March 12, proved to be a real talent show. The program included: "Soliloquy and Band" featuring Mr. Garrett and "Blues in the Band" by the concert band; "Hear the Train," "Everytime I Feel the Spirit," "You'll Never Walk Alone" by the chorus directed by Mr. Dick; "What Are You Going to Wear?" a one-act play directed by Mrs. Bursey; "Toll Road" and "Jerico" by the stage band; piano solos, "Beethoven Sonata in A Major" by Paul Stapp; "Bumble Boogie" by Gayle Smith; vocal solos, "Somewhere over the Rainbow" by Sandra Chowning, "Twelfth of Never" and "Summertime" by Mary Ann Ramsey; and "Ole Man River" by Freddie Wehba; pantomimes, "Dress Routine" by Monte Smith, "The Carrot Seed" by Seth Halbert, and "I Saw Her Standing There" by the Beatles, Elaine Crowell, Sandra Weatherred, Sandra Ellis, Joy Traveek; and a novelty number, "Do Re Mi" by Betty Ann Welch, Robin Amonett and Anita Vecera. The music and speech classes would like to thank the public for their support in attending the programs which they have presented this year. The proceeds from these activities have been used to help buy choir robes, install a side stage door, buy living room furniture for the stage, help repair stage lighting, and purchase a record player and air conditioner for the speech room. Further programs will be the district one-act plays on March 30, the choral spring concert on May 7, and a Drama Club presentation to be announced later.

regard to sending representatives to the area meet to be held on March 19-20 at Stephenville. Janell Gray was elected to represent the local chapter as voting delegate; Nancy Ketchersid was elected alternate. Mrs. Carmon Welch, FHA sponsor; Betty Ann Welch, area officer, and several other members of the FHA will also attend the meeting.

Southern Assembly

Last Wednesday, March 10, Jane and Paul Westbrook presented their "Collection of Songs with a Story" to the student body and faculty. These two artists, each accomplished in his own right, have achieved what critics have all called "a most delightful musical experience."

Jane Westbrook received her formal musical training in New York and California. She made her New York concert debut at Town Hall after several seasons as soloist for the Robert Shaw Chorale on tours of the United States, Canada, Europe and the Middle East. Other recent experiences include a South American concert tour and appearances at the Hollywood Bowl in California and in New York City. She has been featured by Robert Shaw in several record albums released by RCA. Paul Westbrook, after training at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, went directly into musical comedy and opera. He was the lead bass in the Robert Shaw Chorale and the New York Opera Festival. His versatility won him the role of featured narrator for Leonard De Paur's road company of "Archie and Mehitabel." Besides Mr. Westbrook's concert tours which have taken him virtually all over the world, he has given 300 concert programs in the U. S. The Westbrooks came our way as representatives of the Southern School Assemblies.

Library News

The CHS Library Club met in the student lounge Tuesday. Betty Ann Welch presented the nominating committee's selections for next year's officers, and they were approved by the entire club, as follows: president, Kathy Eubank; vice president, Ella Hollenbaugh; secretary, Marilyn Cates; treasurer, Linda Whitley; reporter, Paula Vecera. Scherry Goodwin then presented a program on etiquette. As it is time for the Junior-Senior banquet, each of the librarians was glad to be reminded of "manners and courtesies." The devotional was given by Jon Ann Carter. Mary Ann Ramsey completed this portion of the meeting by singing "Summertime."

After the program, Mrs. King presented the traditional pins to the senior librarians: president, Betty Ann Welch; vice president, Dolores Eubanks; secretary, Mary Ann Ramsey; treasurer, Suella Smith; and Scherry Goodwin. If you see these girls sporting their new pins, remember that they worked for them. Refreshments were served by Frances Cates, Ella Hollenbaugh and Paula Vecera.

This Is C. H. S.

The buzz buzz buzz that is heard in the halls this week may rightly be interpreted as "do you have a date?" "What are you going to wear?" "Are we going to have 'live' music for the prom?" "What kind of hair-do do you plan?" "Is it true that they are going to serve barbecue?" All this "to do" is about the Junior-Senior banquet to be held in the cafeteria at 8 p. m. March 20. High typers for the week of March 8-12: Joy Traveek, 47 words per minute; Gail Russell 37, Jean McCurley 36, Tommie McRae 31, Linda Chandler 28. Thursday, March 11, and Monday, March 15, were testing days for students at CHS. The freshmen took the Kuhlman-Finch aptitude test; the sophomores, the Flannigan aptitude test; the juniors, the Iowa Development Test; seniors, Aptitude Tests for Occupations.

Terse Verse

Not birth, not rank, not strength, not state. But what you accomplish that makes a man great. In case you didn't know... the average person takes 18,000 steps a day, and walks about 65,000 miles during a lifetime. Out of many—one. The White House in Washington, D. C., the home of our Presidents since the days of George Washington, was designed by an Irishman, James Hoban of Dublin; built on land purchased from a Scotsman, Farmer Davy Burns; in a location chosen by a Frenchman, Pierre Charles L'Enfant. Its architecture includes elements of Greek and Roman. Thus, the White House typifies America, one nation with many origins—"E pluribus unum." Give-itis: 1700's, give me liberty or give me death. 1800's, Give me liberty. 1900's, give me.

Seven Great Mistakes of Man

1. Believing that individual advancement is made by crushing others down.
2. Worrying about things that cannot be changed or corrected.
3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot accomplish it.
4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences in order that important things may be accomplished.
5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind by not acquiring the habit of reading.
6. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and to live as we do.
7. Failing to establish the habit of saving money.

Haskell Woman Speaks at Gilliland on Proposed College

An area junior college could be open by January, 1967, if people of the four-county district will work for the project, according to the report given at Gilliland Thursday, March 4, by Mrs. Luther Burkett, chairman of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce education and junior college committee. Mrs. Burkett told the group at the meeting sponsored by the Gilliland Home Demonstration Club that the state teachers colleges were located so as to put all Texas students within 200 miles of a college, and that educators are now trying to place a junior college within 50 miles of students who are not within that distance of a senior college. If the Stonewall, Haskell, Knox and Throckmorton junior college district should become a reality, it would be one of 12 new junior colleges which officials wish to add to the present 32 state junior colleges. Graduates of the junior college would be able to go onto senior colleges without tests. The speaker, who has 39 years experience in public education with most of that received in rural area schools, said that probably no dormitories would be built at first but that bus routes would be set up in the four counties so that students could commute to college as students in consolidated school districts go to grade and high school now. Cooperation of the four counties in a junior college district would make it possible to have some special teachers and classes which many schools cannot support alone, such as classes and therapy for retarded children. At present the state pays each junior college $385 for each student enrolled, and, according to Mrs. Burkett, this will probably be raised to $450 soon. Much of this money will stay in a community in the form of salaries of teachers and other college employees.

If 75 per cent of all college students will be in junior colleges in the 1970's, then Texas will need to build more colleges, explained. She also said that colleges benefit not only students who otherwise might not be able to attend college, but also "late-bloomers." "Late-bloomers" is a term given to students, usually boys, who have college capacity but low high school grades. They cannot enter senior colleges due to low high school grades, but by proving themselves in junior college they can then gain admittance to senior colleges.

A petition signed by not fewer than 10 per cent of qualified voters must be received from a county. If the state board approves, then county judges will be notified to call an election for the election of a 7-member board and the formation of a junior college district. The board would select the site. Students living in the district would pay $50 per semester. Students from outside the district would pay $60 per semester. Junior college tax rate is used 15 to 20 cents on the state or county valuation, the speaker said.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Ask your grandmother if she remembers this old 1893 Mosley oil-fired water heater and folding bathtub... I dare say, it would hardly meet the needs of 1964 living—supplying dishwashers, clothes washers, bathtubs, and lavatories with instant clean hot water upon demand.

Few of us actually realize that over 2/3 of the water used in the home is hot water. With the completely automatic electric water heater there is no fear of a flame going out when hot water is needed the most. And being totally flameless, it requires no venting, is easier to install and maintenance is practically nil.

Should Rock Along $100 Billion a Year

"You would think the Nation should be able to rock along for a year on a mere $100 billion of spending money . . . But it will take more effort than turning out superfluous lights in the White House. In fact, budget-wise old Washington hands are expecting it will take all the legerdemain—shifting of spending from the new budget to the old, or to revolving trust funds; underestimating costs especially on programs Congress wants, applying unused balances instead of asking new money—and disappearing acts the experts know."—Port St. Joe, Fla., Star.

"It's said 'You can't take it with you,' but have you ever tried to take a trip without it?"—Benton, Mo., Democrat.

Most Far-Reaching Significance

"The monetary problem is serious enough, Lord knows, but over the long pull reappointment has the most far-reaching significance for the people of Montana . . . who will get short shrift from the city slickers, who are in the main unaware and oblivious to the problems we in the boondocks have."—Harleton, Mont., Times.

Some of the Master's searching questions:

Wouldst thou be made whole? (Jn. 5:6). The great Healer heals no man against his will.

What were you reasoning on the way? (Mark 9:33). What are your motives, your ambitions as you move along the way of life?

What will ye that I should do unto you? (Matt. 20:32). What do you wish at the hands of Christ? Ask and receive; but ask in harmony with his will.

Would ye also go away? (John 6:67). In the words of Simon Peter we answer: "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou has the words of eternal life."

For what shall a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world and forfeit his life? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his life? (Matt. 16:26). When the loss exceeds the gain, there can be no profit.

LIBRARY NEWS

"Sam Houston's Texas" by Sue Flanagan is a recent gift to the library. This pictorial history has received much acclaim and should be of interest to anyone interested in Texas history. Through pictures, readers are taken to many places in Texas visited by the fabulous Sam Houston.

"The Oraways" by W. Humphrey was mentioned in a recent column and is too good to mention again. The book emphasizes the importance of character in this instance, Texas, in formation of a person's character and code of conduct. The anecdotes and character revealing will be familiar in style, if not plot, to anyone who ever spent a long Texas Sunday afternoon listening to the grownups talk.

Other books recently added to the library include:

Adult fiction: "The Quest" by Frank Slaughter.

"Voices of a Summer Day" by Irwin Shaw.

Teen-age: "Linda" by Alexander.

Children's section: "The Hat Comes Back" by Seuss; and "Snow" by P. D. Eastman.

Not new, but a book you may like to read is George Orwell's "1984." This has become a modern classic and person interested in politics will especially enjoy it. Editorial allusion: "big brother is watching" will be better appreciated reading this volume of political science fiction.

The Foard County Library located in the court house membership is $1.00 per year family.
