The Necessity of Faith

"Thus grave these lessons on thy soul—
Hope, faith, and love; and thou shalt find strength when life's surges roudest roll, light when thou else wert blind!"

These lines from the poem, "Hope, Faith, and Love" express the poet's belief in the necessity of faith—faith to one's friends, faith to one's ambitions, and faith to one's self. Horne once said,

"When men cease to be faithful to their God, he who expects to find them so to each other will be much disappointed." One's faithfulness to a friend is the result of a deeply rooted love for this person in his heart; where love doesn't exist, faith has very slim possibilities of existing.

Faithfulness to one's ambitions is one of the hardest types of faith to maintain. It has been proved that between the ages of 15 and 21, an average young person will change his preference concerning a life vocation at least 4 times; experts in the field of psychology say that when one has chosen a life's vocation, he should then begin to train himself even though the chances are very slim of his sticking to this vocation. One's ambitions should concern not only a life vocation, but also a standard of morals.

Being faithful to one's self is sometimes very difficult; it requires a strong will and great determination. Young people today are often persuaded to follow the crowd, but independence certainly has its place. If a young person allows himself to be pulled down to the level of following the crowd, then his faithfulness to himself is defeated; many times the defeat will be unknown. The Bible sums up the essence of faith: "Faith is the substance of things hoped for, and the evidence of things not seen."

Correction

There was an error last week in regard to the 1965-66 librarians. The vice president is to be Ella Hollenbaugh, and the secretary, Marilyn Cates.

Senior Personalities: Cates and Harris

Mike Cates, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Cates Jr. of Thalia, is quite an outdoor boy. Mike enjoys hunting, fishing and skiing. As far as work, Mike enjoys mechanics more than anything else. Mike's list of favorites includes the color, blue; food, steak and French fries; actor, Gregory Peck; and actress, Tuesday Weld.

Proving that he is an "outdoor man," Mike is a member of the National Rifle Association and the FFA. Influencing Mike in planning his future have been his parents. After graduation, Mike plans to work a while and then to attend a trade school. Being a likeable guy, Mike cannot tolerate a smart alec. We at CHS say "good luck, Mike!"

Another of the senior boys is also an "outdoor man," Jewell Harris, son of Mrs. Dorothy Harris, loves all outdoor sports, and sometimes he enjoys just being out in nature alone, except for his dog. Jewell enjoys all types of food and especially likes the color, red. The club that he has really enjoyed participating in is FFA.

After graduation, Jewell plans to go to South Texas and Mexico. All of us say, "Good luck in the future, Jewell!"

C. Smith; Rickey Traweck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Traweck; Betty Ann Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Welch; Ella Ann Cates Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cates; Gayle Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith; Mary Sue Speer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Speer; and Sherry Sandlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sandlin.

Gay 90's Revue Presented Friday Nite

Did your eyes deceive you last Friday afternoon? No, you were seeing a real parade, a preview of the Gay 90's Revue, presented by the speech department, assisted by Mr. Dick and a few members of the chorus. Sheriff W. F. Bradford led the parade of three horses ridden by Mike Gamble, Bill Harris and Gayle Smith, and belonging to George Fox and Jim Hill Erwin, and a colorful wagon owned by Willie Vessel and filled with students dressed in gay 90's fashions. All this excitement was to advertise the Gay 90's Revue held at the high school auditorium last Friday night.

Those who attended the program were taken back into the twilight zone—back to the gay 90's when women wore long, frilly dresses with pretty matching bonnets and carried umbrellas of the same material. The men wore boots, cowboy trousers, white shirts, vests, bow ties, and carried guns.

The setting for the program was a Dodge City saloon. The entire cast opened the program with a song, "Don't Fence Me In." Then a bartender, played by Ken Ferguson, threw out a drunk played by Ronnie Denton. No saloon would be complete without dancing girls. This saloon's dancing girls were Elaine Crowell, Delores Eubanks, Sandra Weatherred and Sherry Sandlin. They were accompanied on the "ole timey" piano by Mike Manard. In addition to dancing girls, a saloon must have top singers. One was Mary Ann Ramsey who sang "You Can't Get a Man with a Gun." Wives of the men who tarried in the saloon were often worried about their husbands. One wife, played by Evelyn Faske, went to the saloon to drag her husband, Ronny Clifton, home in a skit called "Come on Henry."

Barbara McGee, Linda Williams, Linda Sparkman and Lula Mills, dressed in identical, colorful costumes, entertained with "My Darling Clementine." Another of the saloon's famous singers was Sandra Chowning who sang "Moonlight Bay." The drunk came back explaining about a hanging he had seen. The audience then viewed the scene in "Four on a Heath" with Larry Taylor, Albert Santos, T. F. Lambert III, as the ones "strung up," and Gary Taylor, the fourth member who had escaped but returned to die with his "gang." By an effective use of the stage lighting system, recently installed, there were displayed keen, vivid flashes of lightning. The thunder rolled and the wind howled, thanks to the efforts of Albert Santos and Tommy Franklin, who made the sound effects which had been previously recorded.

Next, Elaine Crowell, Mike Gamble, Rickey Traweck, Sandra Weatherred, Bill Harris, Jackie Eddy, Cindy Chambers and Jean Burkett did the "sashay," a square dance routine. A minstrel show, announced by Freddie Wehba, included "Beautiful Doll," a piano solo by Gayle Smith; "A Good Man Is Hard to Find" by Betty Ann Welch and a doll dance. The "doll faces" were those of Ronny Clifton, Jon Ann Carter and Evelyn Faske. These students were assisted by hidden members of the cast who made the dolls dance.

The finale was sung by the entire cast. If this program was a true indication of gay 90's, there must have been many excitement filled hours.

The speech department and its sponsor, Mrs. Moody Bursley, wish to say "thanks" to each person who has in any way assisted in this year's productions. "The first year of anything is always a hard year; next year will be easier and better," said Mrs. Bursley.

It was just the right kind of evening on Tuesday, April 17, for a get-together of the senior class and high school faculty who were guests of the senior room parents at the Walter Ramsey ranch south of town.

Comments upon arrival, "yum, yum, surely smells good!" were occasioned by the delicious aroma coming from the barbecue pit as the "men folk" were watching the meat which they brown to the "right whatness."

ness, Mike Gamble rang the rustic dinner bell to say "come and get it." However, before the line moved forward, James Welch offered thanks. The delicious food, served cafeteria style from a flat trailer bed, consisted of barbecue, potato salad, red beans, onions, pickles, and fruit pies.

The chill of the evening which earlier had driven everyone to crawl into his sweater or jacket finally sent the adults into the quaint, rustic cabin, and there they sat on benches around a big family style table and warmed by the roaring fire from the big wood stove.

Meanwhile, the youngsters gathered around a bonfire to chat as they feasted. All present owe gratitude to the following room parents: Leon Speers, Robert Taylor, Sim V. Gambles, Chester Hords, Walter Ramseys and Leo Cateses for this enjoyable occasion.

Senior Girls Entertained

The senior girls were honored with a party Friday, April 30, given by Karen Shirley in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Minnick. The group played different kinds of card games, and then they were served punch and sandwich appetizers. Those who attended would like to express to Karen, her mother, Mrs. Ray Shirley, and Mrs. Minnick their appreciation for a delightful afternoon.

Senior Girls and Mothers Honored

Mrs. Chester Hord and Mrs. Glyndon Johnson were hostesses Saturday afternoon at a tea in Mrs. Hord's home which honored the senior girls and their mothers. Also honored at the tea was Miss Marlane Johnson, a senior at Monterrey High School in Lubbock; she is the niece of Mrs. Hord and the sister-in-law of Mrs. Johnson. Delicious punch, mints, nuts, and dainty cookies were served to each who attended. Again, appreciation is expressed by the girls and their mothers for this memorable occasion.

Ochoa, area school chairman, for their interest in CHS's school books.

REDDY TIPS

To Give You More Comfort from Your AIR CONDITIONING at a Lower Cost!

Aren't you happy you have air conditioning to keep you cool and comfortable through these long, hot summer days... and nights... while outside temperatures are sizzling up to the 100 degree mark and past?

For your sake Reddy hopes the temperatures will take a tumble. But in case they don't, he's bursting to give you these valuable tips on how to get maximum efficiency at the lowest cost from your air conditioning—whether you have a central system or window units.

Reddy learned long ago there's nothing better than a long-term, satisfied customer. So, he wants to see that you get the most for your air conditioning dollar by saving you wasted expense.

West Texas Utilities Company

clip this out and keep as a reminder

KEEP FILTERS CLEAN... PREVENT WASTED DOLLARS

Take the strain off your air conditioner and your budget. A dirty filter restricts air flow, makes your unit work harder to keep your home cool, costs you more in operating costs. Almost one-half of their trouble calls are traced to dirty filters. And filters are inexpensive to buy—easy to install and clean. Filter glass throwaway filters can be cleaned well with a vacuum cleaner. Metal permanent type filters are best cleaned with water. Save money! Check them periodically.

AIR CONDITIONING COSTS DROP WITH PROPER INSULATION

A home without proper insulation lets cool air out, hot air in—and vice versa during winter months. Insulation is not only a terrific bargain (saves up to 37% on summer and winter operating costs), it offers bonuses by absorbing noises and preventing dust from drifting in. Makes house work easier, living more pleasant.

AN OCCASIONAL CHECK-UP PAYS

Your air conditioning unit is a fine piece of equipment. A check-up keeps it in tune, prevents sluggish operation and sometimes reveals that a unit is low on refrigerant... this condition ups operating costs. Your serviceman can keep your unit charged with the right amount of refrigerant. He'll open up free air flow, too, by cleaning accumulated dirt, mold and algae from the cooling coil fins and fans. He'll make sure the motor, wiring and thermostats are working properly, and may even paint your unit with rust preventive for longer life. You'll be glad your serviceman called!

SAVINGS TIP: WEATHERSTRIP

Air leaks around doors and windows are comparable to leaving your refrigerator door open—cuts down efficiency and adds to air conditioning operating costs. Save up to 10% instead by placing weatherstripping around doors and windows. It goes hand-in-hand with insulation in making your home a more enjoyable place by keeping out dust and noise.

THE THERMOSTAT SETTING IS THE KEY TO SAVING MONEY

The "just right" temperature for comfortable indoor living is 70 to 78 degrees F., although some might want it a little cooler and others a little warmer. The engineers say, it will cost you as much as 10% more to operate your unit for each degree below the ideal 70 to 78 degrees F. How's that for a money-saving tip?

TIPS TO REMEMBER

Prevent cool air from escaping up the chimney! Remember to keep the damper closed. Reduce the heat entering your home still more by using blinds, shades or draperies to block direct sunlight.

Economist Explains
 Wheat Situation

The total supply of wheat in the U. S. for the 1964-65, July 1, 1964, to June 30, 1965, marketing year is now estimated at 2,195 million bushels, the smallest since the 1957-58 season, says John G. McHaney, Extension economist, Texas A&M University.

Total disappearance of wheat—food, seed, industrial, feed and exports—in 1964-65 is estimated at 1,290 million bushels or the same as the 1964 production but 150,000 bushels less than the 1963-64 disappearance. McHaney said this could mean a carryover on June 30, 1965, about equal to the 901 million bushels of a year ago, or it could go as high as 905 million bushels.

In discussing the export picture, McHaney said estimates place the 1964-65 exports at 675 million bushels, a drop of 185 million bushels from 1963-64. Because of the recent dock strike, the economist says there is a possibility that the estimated export total may not be reached. And too, he adds, good crops in many exporting as well as in importing countries sharply restricted U. S. commercial exports from July 1964 to January 1965. Shipments under government financed programs comprised about 82 per cent of the total wheat exports during that period, compared with 70 per cent for the long time average, he said.

Maintenance of a high level of wheat prices, resulting primarily from the U. S. and Canada withholding their surpluses from the market, has encouraged increased wheat production in many countries, explains McHaney. He noted the U. S. sharply increased its export payments for both wheat and flour on January 25, 1965. This had the effect of lowering U. S. export prices and making U. S. wheat more competitive in world markets.

The nation's 1965 winter wheat crop on April 1 was estimated at 1,037 million bushels, one per cent more than last year's crop. The estimated yield per seeded acre of 23 bushels compares with 23.7 for last year and a 1959-63 average of 22.8 bushels. Texas production, based on April 1 prospects was estimated at 66.8 million bushels, up 8 per cent from last year.

Plans Completed for Santa Rosa
 Roundup May 26-29

Plans for E. Paul Waggoner's 20th annual Santa Rosa Roundup and Quarter Horse Show to be held May 26 through May 29 at Vernon were announced this week by Hartley Easley, Otis Gafford, M. L. Hughston, and G. D. Seif of Crowell, and Walter Ramsey of Thalia, Foard County members of the board of directors.

In addition to the top rate specialty acts and by popular request, the Santa Rosa Roundup will feature the return of such exciting events as the wild mare race, girls' barrel race, and 4-H and FFA calf scramble. Competition between the world champion cowboys and their top challengers promise to make this rodeo equal or surpass the greatest ever presented in the Santa Rosa Roundup arena in its 20 year history. These professional cowboys will be competing for $7,500.00 prize money plus entry fees in the traditionally rugged events of bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, and brahma bull riding. This is the largest amount of prize money offered for any RCA rodeo at this time of the year anywhere in America.

Cy Taillon, recognized as rodeo's greatest announcer, will be back this year to give colorful descriptions of the events taking place. The classic and colorful precision drills by the famous Santa Rosa Palomino Club of Vernon will head a long list of riding organizations including the Pike's Peak Range Riders from Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Beutler Brothers, Lynn and Jake, of Elk City, Okla., foremost producers in the nation of fast action professional rodeos with one of the largest strings of top bucking stock, will again be producing the rodeo.

Advance tickets are available by calling LI2-6868 in Vernon, or by writing the Santa Rosa Roundup Ticket Headquarters in Vernon.

Old-Timers of This Area Lived "Off the Land"

by Foard County Historical Survey Committee

Old settlers in the 1800's of this area "lived off the land," as the Indians did. They had "bad years" in much the same way as we do today. A writer in an early Vernon newspaper in commenting on the "hard times years," said, "It was the polecat hides, dead cow bones, mesquite wood, wild plums and cotton tail rabbits that enabled hundreds of pioneer families here in the nineties to stick it out."

Yet the pioneers remember this area as a "green land" with lots of big hackberry trees, tall grass and "fishing holes" in both creeks and rivers.

We have read in books of the "squatters" and "nesters" who became "bone pickers," who filled their wagons with the bleached bones of wild cattle and buffalo to be sold at the nearest trading post to fertilizer companies of the north and east. This produced cash to fill the wagon with much-needed supplies for the return trip home.

But less is known of the "scalpers" in this area. Hunters killed and scalped wild animals by cutting off ears connected by a narrow strip of skin and taking these to the nearest court house for money offered by state bounty laws.

The prevalence of wild game here may be judged by the following entries in the records of 1891 and 1892 in this county: from October 1891 to May 1892, the following totals are given: jack-rabbits, 3,764; prairie dogs, 800; wildcats, 40; wolves, 164; lobos, 3; mountain lion, 1; for cash payments of $740.08. After the entry of May 1892, itemized statements of the kinds of scalps were dropped but payments continued. This is just one of many items that the Foard County Historical Survey Committee is finding of interest in reading old records of Foard County.

Have Been Needed

"There were 24 million women employed in this country last year, while 2 million men were without work. These statistics were reported by Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant Secretary of Labor, to show that womanpower is needed as well as manpower to meet the plans for the Great Society. For that matter, women have been needed from the beginning of time."—International Falls, Minn. Journal.

Insecticides Come in Many Forms

Insecticides come in many forms, and this is important in their use, says Joe Burkett, county agent. Among the more common forms available are dusts, wettable powders, soluble powders, emulsifiable concentrates, oil solutions, granulated materials and aerosols and spray bombs.

Dusts don't mix with water and should never be used as sprays. Their chemical content may vary from one-half to 20 per cent. They come as dry powders ready for use. Wettable powders are for spray use. They contain a wetting agent and may contain from 15 to 85 per cent of the actual ingredient. Soluble powders are chemicals that readily dissolve in water. They can be applied with low-pressure, low-volume sprayers.

Emulsifiable concentrates are liquids carrying the insecticide in a suitable solvent and emulsifier. Emulsions can be applied with a low-pressure, low-volume sprayer. Oil solutions are ready for use and may contain from a half to 10 per cent active ingredients.

Granulated materials are ready to use insecticides in or on particles of a carrier. They are useful for controlling soil insects because they last longer than other formulations.

Aerosols and spray bombs contain one or more insecticides, an oil solvent and a propellant gas. The bombs produce a fine mist or a coarse spray. Fine mists (aerosols) are used to control flying insects and the coarse spray bombs for leaving a residue of the insecticide.

In addition, baits, insecticide-fertilizer mixtures, insecticide-herbicide mixtures and moth-proofing agents are some of the special formulations available, the agent said. Regardless of the form of insecticide used, Burkett emphasized the need for following label directions to the letter and using them only for the purpose stated on the label. Also that insecticides be treated with care and stored out of reach of children.

LIBRARY NEWS

The book shower for the Foard County Library has been extended through May, according to Mrs. Jack W. Brown, library chairman. Donations of all kinds will be welcomed. The re-organization begun during the past year has been very helpful by pointing up areas which need special attention.

Non-fiction for all ages is needed. Science and nature books for very young children and the junior high school level are needed. Books on different countries are needed as well as books about states. Any of the Life series of nature books and countries of the world would be useful. The library has a good collection of biographies and autobiographies although there are not many books on the lives of current world leaders outside the United States. These books are often requested for reports.

Our science fiction for junior high and teen-agers is not sufficient, according to the state library. A few books are being ordered, but the budget must cover all subjects, and cannot fill the high number of requests for this type of book.

Adult fiction receives the largest allotment in the budget; however, donations would be welcome to help meet all types of requests.

The children's and junior section has been re-organized, with an attempt made to group books according to subject or reading level. Special shelves have been set aside for horse and dog stories, science and nature, picture books and beginning readers, fairy tales, patriotic and history stories.

Mrs. Veatrice Brock, librarian, has ordered labels which will be put on book spines to identify horse, dog, mystery, and western books.

Columbian Club

Thirty per cent of childhood delinquency could be avoided if all parents would have their children vaccinated for measles, Mrs. Homer Black, leader, told members of the Columbian Club of Crowell when they met April 28 at the home of Mrs. Roy Ayers.

Other reports on the day's program included Mrs. D. R. Magee's concerning DMSO, a new drug manufactured from wood pulp which is proving effective for everything from arthritis to migraine headaches. Mrs. Grady Halbert warned the members that if they are planning to have their fingerprints burned off in preparation for a life of crime, they should first inquire about the new "fingerprint" which records on a graph individuals' reaction patterns by charting brain waves, heart rate, breathing, and galvanic skin response, all of which combine differently in each person. She said widespread application of this method of identification would end amnesia stories.

The new medicine that dissolves blood clots was described by Mrs. Marion Crowell as very scarce and expensive, but as a very likely solution to the problem of blood clots.

Mrs. Marion Chowning presided at the business meeting preceding the program. Mrs. R. C. McCord was added to the club membership. A letter from the library chairman of the Foard County Federation of Women's Clubs was read, inviting Columbian Club members to visit the library and participate in the library shower.

PROVING OUR TEACHING

The danger that we will be deceived into believing error instead of truth is a real and constant threat. Because there is no person or group of people who have the right to determine what is true, and because no church agency or council has the authority to set out for those who are members of the church the doctrines which are to be accepted or not accepted, each man has sole responsibility before God of determining in the light of God's word whether or not any doctrine is true. This means that it is of tremendous importance that we constantly study the scriptures so that we may be able to know whether those things which we have heard from the pulpit are actually in harmony with God's will. There is a tendency on the part of many of us to accept at face value whatever the preacher says, unless it is so obviously different from what we have heard in the past that we are compelled to stop and ask about the matter further. Because of this willingness to follow the word of preachers, error has been introduced into many congregations, which has resulted in division and strife. It is certainly true that the elders have a responsibility to oversee the teaching program so that the purity of what is taught may be guaranteed as far as possible; but it is also true that each individual Christian is responsible for himself before God, and must be held accountable for knowing whether or not what is being taught is true.

of Mrs. Clyde King. After the club business was taken care of, Mrs. Ernest Boren, who was program leader in the absence of Mrs. Bill Nichols, gave a talk on the subject of "Youth, Our Citizens of Tomorrow," which was enjoyed by all. About an hour was spent in playing games and visiting. Refreshments were served to twelve club members and two visitors, Mrs. Tom King and Mrs. Albert Dunagan.

Adelphian Club

"Footprints to Higher Ground" was the theme of an impressive installation service conducted by Mrs. W. B. Johnson for the officers of the 1965-66 Adelphian Club year. The meeting was at the club house on Wednesday, April 28.

To accentuate her theme, Mrs. Johnson placed a number of shoes on the table before her. Some were worn, some were very worn, but she pointed out that shoes within themselves are helpless; they go only where they are taken. She challenged the officers to be sure that their footprints in the sands of time were in an upward direction, leading to worthwhile achievements.

The following officers were installed: president, Mrs. H. N. Ekern; vice president, Mrs. Robert Kincaid; recording secretary, Mrs. Clarence Garrett; treasurer, Mrs. Elton Carroll; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. B. Johnson, parliamentarian, Mrs. L. A. Andrews; federation counselor, Mrs. Bob Thomas; and press reporter and historian, Mrs. Virgil Johnson.

Mrs. Ekern responded with appropriate words and asked for the cooperation of club members. She recognized the loyalty of the outgoing president, Mrs. Robert Kincaid; she has been absent only once in her two-year administration.

Mrs. Glyndon Johnson and Mrs. Robert Kincaid were joint hostesses for the beautifully-appointed spring installation tea. Eighteen members attended.

The club's newest member is Mrs. Warren Haynie.

Eggs, Honey, Prunes Complete May Plentiful Foods List

Eggs, honey and prunes are topnotch suggestions for May menus.

All three are plentiful, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Shoppers likely will find egg prices especially attractive this month, since continued heavy production is predicted. May is a good month for serving all your favorite egg dishes often.

Honey also is a dandy item for May meals. An excellent sweetener, honey is in much heavier supply than a year earlier. You'll find it a welcome item on breakfast tables to serve with pancakes, waffles and plain or French toast.

Honey also can be used as a welcome afternoon treat—the perfect topping for ice cream or fruit salads. And don't overlook its many cooking uses.

LITTLE LEAGUE NEWS

by Marion Crowell

Wouldn't you, Mr. Reader, like to be a Little League manager? Personally, I tip my hat to out managers. They must be completely tireless, must work out the kids at least twice a week after the season starts, and almost daily in spring training just before the start of the season.

A manager must love to work with young boys, must climb poles, repair concession stands, chop weeds, dig in the sand, trim grass, and have an elephant-tough hide that enables him to listen to the complaints of the parents.

He must be able to shed criticism of the fans, for they can't understand WHY he can't get through to an 11- or 12-year-old all the finer points of playing like of plentiful foods announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. California dried prune production now indicated at 179,000 tons is more than a third larger than the volume produced during 1963-64, according to industry reports.

Mickey Mantle. Eccentric running by his boys a manager must take in stride, for a youngster can run fast, be nothing of stealing second, the bases loaded. The manager must be able to sleep even a 27-2 defeat, for he knows well that his kids may win the next one by a still larger score.

He must be a master psychologist, giving confidence to the bashful, keeping the cocky on their feet on the ground, and giving them all assurance that they, though 15 games out of first place, still have a chance at winning the league.

Being a physician helps, for, at times he must decide whether a youngster is actually hurt physically or whether he is just embarrassed by having a headache or just wants to go fishing; and his master must convince the kids that the little gum is o. k. . . . but that many hot dogs just before bedtime is bad, bad.

The manager is expected to keep the kids playing hard the games on time, improve themselves on their own, keeping their shirt tails tucked in neatly, and going to bed on Sunday.

Actually this is just a tip on telling the various duties of a Little League manager. They are not a very long list of those things for these jobs . . . but there are not many wanting either, for their's is a rather poorly-paid profession. They get appreciative grins from the kids.

Yes, I repeat: I tip my hat to Little League managers!

From the News . . .
THIRTY YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the Thursday, May 2, 1935, issue of The Foard County News:

Edgar H. Kemp, shelter belt assistant under the state director, John N. Jones, with headquarters at Wichita Falls, was here last Friday making preliminary plans for shelter belt work in this county, which Mr. Kemp stated will start within the near future. Three hundred miles of trees are to be planted in Texas, according to Mr. Kemp.

Testing of all cattle for tuberculosis has been completed in Foard County, according to Dr. W. W. Symington of San Antonio, who has been left in charge to test any cattle that may have been missed during the regular testing period. The staff of veterinarians assigned to Foard County found very few infected cattle here.

With a few schools already closed, others in Foard County are now rounding out their 1934-35 terms. Schools already closed are Beaver, Claytonville, Black and Vivian.

Operation of a display type counter ice cream freezer was started at Harwell's Variety last Tuesday.

Several thefts have been reported in Crowell during the past week. An assortment of spare tires, wheels and hub caps have been taken from the cars of J. H. Lanier Jr., O. W. Orr and Hubert Brown. Mrs. Clyde Cobb's cafe near the high school was broken into one night and a number of bars of candy taken. A burglar who evidently considered no one home, was surprised at the J. C. Self home last Sunday night and fled.

Plans for a daily vacation Bible school, beginning in Crowell one week after the close of school, were discussed by members of the association of local pastors who met Monday morning in the study of the Methodist Church. Pastors attending were Revs. L. W. Bridges, Christian; J. A. Phipps, Presbyterian; W. B. Fitzgerald, Baptist; and Geo. E. Turentine, Methodist.

Rain amounting to .15 inch fell in Crowell Wednesday night.

Numerous individuals in Crowell and Foard County have come in direct contact with the latest fad to sweep the nation as a result of receiving "send-a-dime" chain letters. Despite the fact that postal authorities have termed the plan illegal, they are meeting with little success in stopping it and in some of the larger cities a collapse of the postal service has almost been threatened by the flood of letters reaching their post offices.

Homer Johnson of this city has been named manager of the Crowell Poultry & Egg Co. by Armour & Co.

Mrs. John Nichols and Miss Frances Woods will teach at the Black school during the 1935-36 term.

The Crowell baseball team broke its losing streak with a 7 to 0 victory over Eldorado, Okla., at Eldorado Sunday.

Doc Robertson of Lockett visited his sister, Mrs. Roy Hoffmann, and family at Rayland last week.

Water Adds 24 Victims in Outdoors in Past Two Weeks

Water sports fatalities added another 24 Texans since the last compilation of 13 victims was made by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department two weeks ago.

J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the department, said publicity is being given the tragedies as a means of encouraging greater safety during the outdoor recreational season now gaining momentum.

Ten of the latest persons to drown were fishermen, seven were swimmers and three were boating. All of the latter, three Bryan youths, perished in one accident when their boat overturned.

The Bryan incident marked multiple tragedies. Two Austin men drowned when their motorized 12-foot flat-bottom boat sank. Two children escaped. Three Houston men, caught off shore in a sudden storm, were swept to their deaths by high waves.

Two persons drowned vainly trying to save another, in separate accidents. One was from Abilene and the other from Houston.

Among the swimming victims, one man suffered fatal leg cramps and a youth slipped from a barrel that became detached from a sinking raft.

A boy perished when he jumped into the water to retrieve a pole jerked from his mother's hands by a fish.

A five-year-old slipped from rocks while watching his father fish.

A man disappeared while seining in shallow Gulf waters; Two youths drowned while wading.

A 14-year-old girl was killed on Lake Waco while water skiing behind a boat, piloted by her father, when she swung wide and collided head on with another boat.

Swimming alone accounted for one victim.

calls these "uncertain riches" and warns us not to trust in them (I Tim. 6:17). True riches is "to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge" and so to be "filled with all the fullness of God" (Eph. 3:18).
