The Crowell Wildcat football team is now 2-0 in conference competition as a result of their 16-0 victory over the Holliday Eagles last Friday night at Holliday.

The Wildcat win eliminated state-ranked Holliday from the unbeaten list.

Crowell's quarterback, Dan Mike Bird, returned to action after being sidelined with injuries and turned in an outstanding performance in directing the Wildcat offense.

The first Crowell tally came near the end of the first quarter as Bird crashed in from seven yards out to climax a drive which began on the Wildcat 31. Bird passed to Paul Campbell for two more points and an 8-0 lead.

A fumble killed a Crowell drive in the second period on the Holliday 16, but two plays later, Lee Looney picked off Holliday quarterback Larry Slack's pass and raced 25 yards for the score. Campbell again scored the two extra points, this time on run to make the score 16-0 at halftime.

Holliday scored early in the fourth quarter on a four-yard run by Ronnie Maxwell. The pass try for extra points failed.

Crowell took the kickoff and launched a ten-play time-eating series and finally gave up the ball on downs on the Holliday 28. The Eagles started a final series to put one more score in the record books, but took too long and fumbled away the chance inside the Wildcat five with seconds left.

The $201,000 school is built into a slope so that the first-floor cafeteria is underground on one side and windowless on all sides. The room could serve as a shelter for 256 persons, with a 17-inch slab of concrete and masonry walls reducing radiation to a hundredth of that outside. School Superintendent Earl L. Geis says: "Parents of children in this school feel a sense of security, for these children are sheltered in case of storm or fallout disaster better than can be provided at home." ## Right of Free Citizens Must Be Put Ahead of Rights of Criminals

"The constitutional rights of persons accused of committing crimes and the right of an orderly society to protect itself against criminals is now the question agitating the American bar and judiciary . . . Pres. Lewis Powell of the American Bar Association stirred great applause at the ABA's Miami convention when he declared that the right of the citizen to be free from criminal attack must be put ahead of the constitutional rights of persons accused of crime." — Portland, Me., Press-Herald.

On rural electric lines

Each New Home Means New Jobs

What makes it possible to build and enjoy a modern home miles from town? It's electric power! Can you imagine modern living without it?
Because rural electric power is available, someone has decided to build. This decision means sales of everything from roofing nails to plumbing fixtures and floor coverings. These sales benefit local lumber yards, hardware stores, appliance dealers, and a host of other merchants.
Because rural electric power is there, the jobs are there. Local workmen get employment that otherwise would never come about.
Adding up the score, we've found that new rural housing opens up more than 50 kinds of sales and jobs for local merchants and workmen. That's why we say Rural Electrification is good for all Americans.

Bill Halbert
 Presents Paper to Engineers' Meeting

On October 4, Bill Halbert presented a technical paper, "Engineers Managing Engineers: A Practicable Principle of Uncertainty" to the international convention of petroleum engineers in Denver, Colo. Halbert's paper dealt with the engineering temperament and the manner in which many engineers react to management's policies.

In his discourse, he brought out the fact that in recent years the position of the engineer in industry has undergone a transition. As the engineering function has grown, many people having technical backgrounds have found their way into management positions. In consequence, engineers often are being supervised by engineers. Such management, traditionally practiced, may not always be too sound, due to the fact that although he may define the scope of the efforts of his subordinates, the supervising engineer is unable to qualify their motivations or productivity in tangible terms.

Halbert went on to say that, of all the engineers' demands, recognition appears to be the most sought-after reward. Unlike his fellow professionals, the engineer is engaged in work that is submerged and anonymous. He rarely comes in contact with the public; his professional life is limited to association with fellow engineers. As a result, any recognition he may receive, any social stature he may acquire must come from his limited association.

As in any worthwhile endeavor, an engineer wants to develop his creative potential and capacity fully as much as the company wants to employ it, yet there is considerable disparity between an engineer's expectations and the information he feels the company provides. It was Halbert's proposal that the engineering supervisor think of himself more as a catalyst than an overseer.

Concluding his report, Halbert said that the thoughts he had presented were a means of saying that it is possible to lead rather than force subordinate engineers toward company goals. He concurred with Gage Lund's remarks in the February 1965 issue of "Journal of Petroleum Technology" which stated, "One of the worst things that can happen to a company is for its managers to get set in their ways and ignore or reject new ideas. . . because the good old-fashioned ways of doing things are good enough for them. A company cannot afford to let this happen, because the good old ways are plainly not good enough today."

Halbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Halbert of the Foard City community, said in a recent letter to them that he was "well pleased with the reception of his paper by his audience." They, in turn, felt very proud of his being so honored as to be asked to present a paper to such an international group of professional engineers. Halbert is in his second year of work toward his Doctorate of Engineering at Oklahoma University.

Cooperative Compress at Altus to Have Open House Friday, Oct. 15

Oklahoma's big cooperative compress at Altus will demonstrate the latest cotton handling equipment and its modern storage facilities on Friday, October 15, beginning at 10 a. m. and continuing until 2 p. m. Bill King of the local co-op. gin announced Monday. Cotton from the local cooperative and 45 other cooperative gins utilize the facilities at Altus. These gins are expected to deliver more than 150,000 bales to the plant in Altus this fall.

Mr. King states that the public is invited. Farmers and their families are urged to attend. Lunch will be served at noon followed by a short discussion of the current cotton situation and outlook under the new cotton program by Dan Davis, general manager of the Plains Cotton Cooperative Association of Lubbock.

Mr. King insures an interesting and worthwhile day for those who attend. How 300 bales per hour are tagged, weighed, sampled and placed in storage on an automatic receiving line must be seen to be believed, according to King. The big compress can press for shipment 140 bales per hour. The day's activity can be on a come-and-go basis for farmers pressed for time, but King suggests everyone try and arrange to be at the plant for lunch.

BOY SCOUT FINANCE DRIVE TO BEGIN MONDAY WITH KICKOFF BREAKFAST FOR WORKERS

Soil Fertility Facts..

A planned program which carries a boy from the time when his life is a wholesome game to the more mature age when life begins to crystallize into a purposeful career—this is Scouting.

There are three cardinal aims in the overall Scouting program: training for character development, for participating citizenship and for physical fitness.

The Scout Motto, "Be Prepared;" the Scout Slogan, "Do a Good Turn Daily;" the Scout Oath or Promise, the three-finger Scout sign, the Scout left-hand handshake, and the Scout uniform—all emphasize the basic ideals behind the training of boys for manhood and self-reliant citizenship.

Today's Scouting is a program for boys from eight to eighteen; made available through existing community institutions, which use it as a part of their youth program.

Funds for maintaining this program are contributed by the community through United Funds where they exist, and independent finance drives in other areas.

At eleven, a boy may join a Scout Troop and participate in a program of fun and adventure in the out-of-doors.

Through the eyes of an adult, Scouting is a game with a purpose. Scouting experiences develop character and health, mental alertness and manual skills, self-reliance, team-work, and the desire and ability to help other people.

Through the Merit Badge system, boys are introduced to activities which they ordinarily would not encounter. Troop 49 under Robert R. Shirley Sr. as the Scoutmaster; Freddie Wehba and Ken Ferguson as Assistant Scoutmasters; and ten other men as committeemen, is sponsored by the First Baptist Church.

The Explorer program is geared for high school teen-age boys

In the local area, the Northwest Texas Council has served more than 4,500 boys during 1965. Of this number, 41 boys are receiving an outstanding Scouting program in Crowell through the Cub Pack and Scout Troop.

Scouting and the finance drive leaders urge all citizens in the Crowell area to respond to the urgent call for their investments in their community programs through this independent Boy Scout finance drive.

4-H Club Meeting

The 7th grade 4-H Club met Oct. 8. They elected Pat Cates, president; Pat Halsell, vice president; Mike Weathered, secretary; Buff Nelson, delegate to the county council; Kenneth Sellers, reporter; and Marvin Machac and Pat Cates, song leaders.

The boys studied on snakes and how to care for a snake bite. The next meeting will be November 11.

APPLE TIME IS HERE

It's apple time again! Jonathan, Red and Golden Delicious are the leading varieties, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Texas A&M University Extension consumer marketing specialist.

For eating raw, choose firm, crisp textured, sweet flavored Delicious apples. For sauce and pie, pick those with somewhat tart flavor that cook tender in a short time. For baking, select a variety that will hold its shape when cooked.

Keep mellow ripe apples in the refrigerator up to two weeks. Use a covered container or a plastic bag to prevent them from absorbing or imparting flavors to other foods, advises the specialist.

Thompson seedless grapes are almost gone, but flame tokay grapes are plentiful and attractively priced. Cranberries and coconuts are making their appearance. There's a little new crop citrus on the market, although California oranges and lemons are reasonably priced. Banana quality and prices vary. You can still buy cantaloupes, variety melons, fresh plums and pears.

Sweet potatoes are now in volume supply. Snap beans are found at moderate prices. Other good selections include cauliflower, cooking greens, cabbage, carrots, celery, eggplant, onions, and squash.

Fryers are one of the economy choices for meat. Chicken hens, turkeys and turkey parts are reasonably priced.

Total red meat supplies are plentiful but below levels of a year ago. Pork production has been lowered both in numbers of hogs and the weight on the animals—two reasons for less pork meat this year. Picnics, hams and loin roasts are among the best pork values.

Beef continues to be the best overall red meat value with "specials" on steaks, roasts and other cuts.

Army Reserve and National Guard Officers Training

Army Reserve and National Guard officers who want to keep up their retirement points and at the same time prepare themselves for promotion have been offered a new opportunity in Wichita Falls.

Career School and Command and General Staff School courses for all branches are being offered in classes on certain Thursday evenings at the U. S. Army Reserve Training Center in Wichita Falls. Completion of various segments of these courses is necessary for promotion to field grades. General subjects required by all branches are offered in the classes. Guaranteed annual active duty training will be next summer in the officer's assigned branch. The training period is two weeks. A total of 24 meetings will be offered in this academic year. A portion of these have been held, but some make-ups can be arranged. Further information may be obtained from the U. S. Army Reserve Training Center in Wichita Falls. The address is 3315 9th Street and the telephone number is 723-6421.

The "masters," or captains, of the first Coast Guard cutters received a pay of $30.00 a month. The "boys," or seamen, received $4.00 per month.

Attend Texas Soil Conservation Districts Meeting

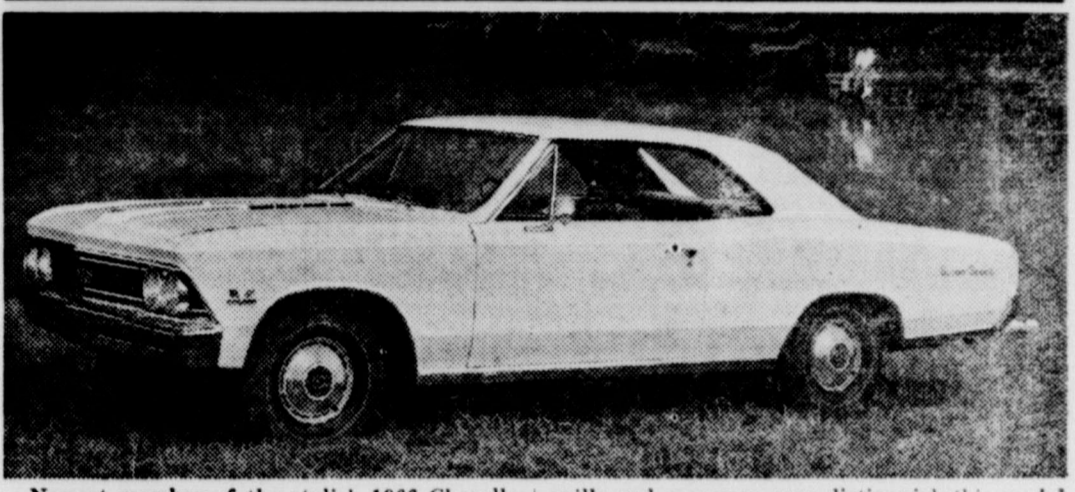

Soil and water conservation districts of Texas celebrated their 25th anniversary during their annual meeting in Corpus Christi Oct. 12, 13 and 14.

There are 281 soil and water conservation districts in Texas, covering better than 99 per cent of the land area with over 160,000 landowner cooperators. There are five supervisors on the governing body of each soil and water conservation district totaling 915 supervisors in Texas. The local district is composed of Grady Halbert and Roy Ayers of Foard County. These supervisors are unpaid, elected, officials given many responsibilities under their enabling act. Responsibilities include control and prevention of erosion, thereby preserving natural resources; control floods, prevent impairment of dams and reservoirs, assist in maintaining navigability of rivers and harbors, preserve wildlife, protect the tax base, protect public lands, and protect and promote the health, safety and general welfare of the people of this state.

Going to Corpus Christi from the Lower Pease River Soil and Water Conservation District were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Howard, Grady Halbert, and work unit conservationist from Quanah, Doug Cunningham.

WANTED BY THE FBI

ALSON THOMAS WAHRLICH

Wahrlich, one of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives," is wanted for unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for the crime of kidnaping. He allegedly abducted a 6-year-old Arizona girl in Tucson, Arizona, on April 16, 1964, and brutally beat, choked, and sexually molested her before leaving her abandoned in the same city. A Federal warrant was issued at Tucson on April 28, 1964, charging Wahrlich with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for this offense.

A white American, Wahrlich was born in Rensselaer County, New York, on February 4, 1936. He is 5' 2" tall, weighs 135 to 140 pounds, wears glasses, has blue eyes, brown hair, a medium build and a medium complexion. He has a scar on each side of his abdomen, and a tattoo of a heart and the name "Cindy" on his left arm. "You hear much of this or that going to be accomplished with either 'state' or 'federal' funds. This is really a misnomer as the State and United States Governments have no other source of income than the taxpayer . . . Therefore, The Advertiser when referring to any of these funds in future articles will use the term 'New York Taxpayer's' for State funds and 'U. S. Taxpayer's' for Federal expenditures. We'd like to see all the newspapers in the country adopt the same policy, so that the taxpayer begins to realize he is not 'getting something for nothing'."—Warwick, N. Y., Advertiser.
