C., Mrs. Harry Black of Dallas and Mrs. Karl Streit of Vernon; thirteen grandchildren, fifteen great grandchildren and three great great grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by two children, Earl Orr and Mrs. John Warren.

Warm, Wet Fall Makes Beautiful Fall Flowers

The unusually warm, wet weather this fall in Foard County has caused local yards to remain green an unusually long time.

In addition, the fall chrysanthemums have been the most beautiful in years, and the unusual weather has even caused some shrubs and vines which ordinarily bloom only in the spring to bloom again this fall; namely, lilacs and honey suckle.

It seems the first killing frost gets later each fall in Foard County.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Denton of Crowell, whose son, Ronald, is a student in H. C. Lewis Technical Education Center in Oklahoma City, have received a grade report on their son.

H. C. Lewis reported that Ronald is making good grades, and added in his report, "Ron is a good student and a hard worker. He seems to enjoy his school work. He is very well liked and his employer has nothing but praise for him. You sure have a fine son."

Ronald is a 1965 graduate of Crowell High School.

Four Wildcats Named to All-District Team

Three Crowell Boys Also Named to Honorable Mention

The Crowell Wildcats, who won second place in District 11-A football competition in the season just concluded placed four players on the all-district team, and three Wildcats were named to the honorable mention list.

On the all-district offense team, Randy Smith won the center position; Steve Bell, tackle, and Dan Mike Bird, quarterback.

George Myers was awarded a halfback position on the all-district defensive unit.

Receiving honorable mention for the offense were Mike Payne, halfback; Lee Looney, fullback; and Bob Bird, guard.

The all-district selections were made at a meeting of the District 11-A coaches in Wichita Falls last Thursday. The coaches were not permitted to vote for members of their own squads for the all-district honors.

Local Officials In Austin on Business This Week

Supt. Henry Black of the Crowell School, Mayor Robert Kincaid and Don Malone were Austin visitors this week.

Mr. Black conferred with the officials of the Texas Education Agency regarding Title I of the Secondary School Act. Mr. Malone, co-ordinator of the Cottle, Foard, Hardeman and Wilbarger Counties Community Action Program, met with state and federal officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Ray Duckworth of Henrietta, soil conservation technician who worked in the Crowell SCS office for many years, received an $185 cash award for above-average performance.

Don Newhouse of Crowell, soil conservationist, also received a certificate on completion of special training.

Button Henry Died in Corpus Christi

Word was received here last week of the death of E. F. (Button) Henry in Corpus Christi following a long illness.

Mr. Henry was a long-time resident of Foard County and had a number of relatives living in this area.

Information as to funeral services for Mr. Henry was not available.

C. H. S. Choir Takes Part in Workshop in Wichita Falls

The Crowell High School Choir, under the direction of Darrell Dick, took part in a workshop at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls on Saturday, Nov. 20. Mr. Dick was assisted by Jerry Floyd, CHS band director.

Dr. Lloyd Pfautsch from Southern Methodist University was in charge of the workshop. The local chorus sang two numbers with Mr. Dick directing, and then Dr. Pfautsch worked with them. The purpose of the workshop was to prepare the choirs for contests later on in the year.

The CHS chorus will present its Fall Concert on December 6. This will be the first public performance of the year.

Three Accidents Investigated in County in October

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 3 accidents on rural highways in Foard County during the month of October, according to Sgt. D. R. Dowdy, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for an estimated property damage of $2,065.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county from January through October of 1965 shows a total of 23 crashes. As a result of these wrecks, there were no persons killed and 23 injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $26,780.00.

November and December are noted as dangerous months in traffic and especially for pedestrians. During the last two months of 1964 in Texas, there were 80 pedestrians killed and 726 injured in collisions with motor vehicles. There are many reasons for this: longer hours of darkness, bad weather, pedestrians not visible to drivers, holidays and lack of driver's and pedestrian's concentration.

The sergeant stated, "To aid both the pedestrian and driver, always wear something light colored when walking after dark. If possible, carry some kind of light, walk on the left side of the road facing traffic day or night so that you can see approaching traffic. If you have a dark colored raincoat or overcoat, put a strip of reflectorized material across the back and front when walking on the highway or street."

County Gins 450 Bales Last Week

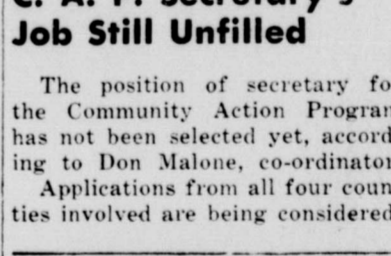

The four gins of Foard County turned out 450 bales of cotton last week to push the county total for the season up to 1,689 bales, the Texas Employment Commission reported.

On Nov. 21, 1964, the county had turned out 1,110 bales.

C. A. P. Secretary's Job Still Unfilled

The position of secretary for the Community Action Program has not been selected yet, according to Don Malone, co-ordinator. Applications from all four counties involved are being considered.

GOVERNOR LEADS TWO STATE SALUTE TO METHODIST HOME ON 75th ANNIVERSARY

Governor John Connally of Texas is introduced to Ricky Darling, 11, and Bobby Strickland, 13, by Methodist Home Superintendent Hubert Johnson, (at left). The Governor joined several thousand guests and three Bishops of the Methodist Church in saluting the 75-year-old Home which has served over 8,000 children since its founding in 1890. The Home, located in Waco, serves children from Texas and New Mexico who have been separated from their families by social tragedies or other problems. Known as the Heart of Methodism, the Home will help 650 children find hope and opportunity in 1965.

The Crowell School Board, in a called meeting Tuesday night of last week, awarded a $171,839 contract to R. W. Wells Co. of Quannah for the construction of the new gymnasium for the Crowell School. In addition to the gymnasium, the new structure will house a combination band and choral hall, health class room, 3 practice rooms for band, instrument storage room, office for the band director, band music storage room. There will be four dressing rooms—two for boys and two for girls—complete with shower facilities, in addition to three other rest rooms in the building.

The new building will face west and will be in the vicinity of the old grade school building which was torn down years ago. The front of the building will be in line with the west wall of the high school auditorium.

The major change made in the building from the original plans changes the walls of the building from the rigid frame design to load-bearing walls.

The new building will contain about 16,000 square feet of floor space.

Work is expected to begin as soon as possible with the completion date scheduled for Sept. 1, 1966.

Ross Edwards Writes Book: "Fiddle Dust"

Ross Edwards of Lubbock, a former resident of Foard County has written a book titled "Fiddle Dust" and has sent a copy to his friend of long-standing, T. B. Klepper.

Mr. Edwards is a former mayor of Lubbock, and although in his 80's, is engaged presently in the manufacture of a farm implement he calls a "crust buster."

Charles A. Guy, Editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, had the following to say about Mr. Edwards and his new book:

"In my more than 40 years as a West Texas editor, it has been know what this country was like, what living in it was like, six and seven decades ago."

Ross Edwards, to use his own words, is an "old button" who was kicked and cuffed around over West Texas, Mexico and Alaska, reaching manhood long before the normal age of maturity.

The spirit of adventure was the inspiration which scattered most of his tracks along the different trails of his activities—which included cowboying, trapping, hunting, fishing, various retail businesses, and manufacturing. And always there was fiddlin'!

For a term during the great Depression, he served as mayor of Lubbock, Texas, with interesting results.

Ross says, "For details, open the cover and turn the leaf. If you like this book, brag on it and tell the folks where to buy it. If you don't like this book, shut your mouth and give it to someone you don't like."

The book sells for $2.95 and is available by writing Mr. Edwards at Box 862, Lubbock.

Anyone who wishes to buy a book may order one through the News office, and the order will be forwarded to Mr. Edwards.

10-4, 10-4! Bushy Tail Dares Law

The Animal Kingdom is rearing itself for the invading city slickers. In fact, one practiced advanced maneuvers on Game Warden C. W. Forsythe.

He parked his patrol car under a hickory nut tree near Bonham while probing a wooded area, and returned to find a fox squirrel "chattering up a storm" from atop the steering wheel.

When Warden Forsythe grabbed for the bushy tail, it ducked under the front seat and crawled between the springs and cushion.

Forty minutes and several hands full of red tail fur later, the squirrel returned custody of the cruiser to the warden and scampered back into the brush, scolding all the way.

PRISCILLA'S POP

Operation "Show Your Colors"

Foard County citizens are being urged by H. E. Minyard, Commander of American Legion Post No. 130, to wear the small lapel U. S. flag being passed out this week. The local post is working closely with National Commander L. Eldon James' Program Operation Show Your Colors.

The American Legion's answer to the anti-Vietnam, anti-draft demonstrations being perpetrated by a loud minority of college students and others, has received an initial response exceeding expectations.

The first pin was placed on the lapel of Legionnaire Governor John Connally as the Texas Department kicked off the program. When pinned, Governor Connally gave his wholehearted support of the aims and purposes of "Operation Show Your Colors."

The lapel flags to be passed out by the millions will be accompanied by a small card carrying the message: Operation Show Your Colors—Americans are serving the cause of freedom in Vietnam. I wear my country's flag to show that I support their efforts.

"The pins and cards are being mass produced and are ready for distribution," said Commander Minyard.

He emphasized this is not just for Legion members only, but for all loyal Americans as a symbol of American unity.

"Any business or other civic organization interested in obtaining a supply of the pins for distribution to its employees or members, may do so without charge by contacting: The American Legion Department Headquarters, Drawer L, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. All requisitions will be filled as rapidly as possible," Mr. Minyard stated.

A lot of taxpayers don't like to keep records. They are willing to take the standard deduction and pay more tax to get out of the record keeping chore. You can cost yourself a lot more by failing to keep a record of your deductible contributions, taxes, medical and miscellaneous expenses. A careful record of deductible items is a pretty good idea, even if you don't itemize your deductions every year. Good records help you manage your personal affairs better.

$300 Million to Be Spent by Railroads

The Association of American Railroads reports that the railroads will spend over $300 million in 1965 on some 1,500 new and more powerful locomotives to meet the demands of a growing nation increasingly dependent on efficient transportation. This installation will be almost half again as large as 1964's—the first thousand-unit year since 1957.

FHA Supervisor Died in Vernon

F. O. Smith of Vernon, 41-year-old supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration for Wilbarger, Foard and Hardeman Counties, died unexpectedly about 11:30 a. m. Saturday at the National Guard Armory in Vernon while playing basketball with a youth group from the First Baptist Church here.

Mr. Smith was a frequent visitor in Foard County and was well known here.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church in Vernon with Rev. Bill R. Austin, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Mount Pleasant Cemetery under direction of Henderson Funeral Home.

Mr. Smith was born Aug. 24, 1924, and grew up in Winfield in Titus County.

A World War II Army veteran, he received the Soldier's Medal as an instructor after he was wounded by a live grenade as he threw it from a training pit after it had been dropped by one of the recruits in his unit.

A 1950 graduate of Sam Houston State College, he served with the FHA in Paducah, Brownfield and Seymour and in Vernon on two occasions in 1954 and 1955 and again since August of 1957 as supervisor. He married Marzell Hoffman July 6, 1946, in Texas-kana.

A member of the First Baptist Church of Vernon, he was a Sunday School teacher for 14-year-old boys, a Training Union assistant and a counselor for a Royal Ambassador group, with which he was working when he was fatally stricken. He was also active as an adult leader for VFW Scout Troop 50.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, his mother, two brothers and three sisters.

Flounder "Run" to Gulf Starts

Flounder have begun their annual spawning run from shallow bay waters to the Gulf, reports B. J. Weaver, local game warden.

Weaver said definite proof came "because illegal nets in the passes have started catching lots of large flounder and their owners have started paying fines for their use."

Floundering with a gig and light on the flats, and fishing with rod and reel in the passes are producing many flounder for the legal fishermen, said Weaver.

Duck Season Now Open in Texas; Will End on January 2

The annual fall duck opened at sunrise on November 24 throughout the state, the following the close of the zone mourning dove season, 1, when it opened in the zone, through November 23, it closed in the south zone and in those counties having a mourning dove season where it closed Nov. 19.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department described the hunt in both the north zone south zone as "better than age."

The duck hunt, opening at sunrise on November 24 and closing at sunset January 2, is a season, according to the department. The season is unusual short and the harvest provided changed again, although the limits remain at four per day, eight in possession, after opening day.

The official proclamation reads: "The daily bag limit ducks may not include more than the following species than: (a) 2 wood ducks; (b) 2 canvasbacks; (c) 1 mallard; and (d) 1 pintail. The possession limit may not include more of the following species than: (a) 2 wood ducks; (b) 2 canvasbacks; (c) 2 mallards; (d) 2 pintails."

While the pintail limit was reduced, along with larks which have been protected lately, the curb on ring necked was removed completely. This fleet bird is particularly popular along the Texas coast.

The other phase of the fowl season, the goose hunt, begins on October 30 and continues through January 2, 1965. Department reported that goose population continues to grow especially in the marshes and that the early season has been normal.

COURTESY, SERVICE AND PROTECTION—The motto of the Texas Department of Public Safety stands as a guide for each DPS patrolman as he does his part toward securing and maintaining social order for the citizens of Texas. The DPS has openings for young men between the ages of 21 and 35, high school graduates, who can meet the qualifications and who want to join the rewarding law enforcement effort to protect the citizens of Texas. Check with any Department of Public Safety office or patrolman to obtain an application.

They don't advertise in Russia...

In Russia advertising would never tempt you to invest in a new car, a television, a washing machine, air conditioning... or even a new home that you didn't have to share with several other families. Neither would you have the freedom to choose from countless other products, services and opportunities which advertising brings to your attention every day in America.

In countries where advertising is unshackled and well developed the people enjoy the highest standards of living. In Communist countries, where advertising has been stifled or outlawed, ordinary citizens must be satisfied with the barest necessities. And not even the privileged party leaders enjoy the luxuries advertising helps put in the reach of nearly everyone in America.

When you hear the do-gooders discredit advertising, calling it an evil force that entices you to spend your money foolishly, ask yourself this question, "How would I like to live in a country where there is no advertising?"

College President's Loves Being Student

The following article about the wife of a former pastor of the First Baptist Church in Crowell, taken from the Dallas Morning News of last Friday.)
There's no dropout problem on the Baptist College's hillside campus, jammed with three times as many students as expected one perennial drop-back-in. It's the president's wife, Otis Strickland. Her varied national achievements call for some description flashier than the old mags and summus.

In 1966, Mrs. Strickland hopes to wind up work on a North Texas State University master's degree in education, with a minor in Spanish.
This will be roughly 30 years after she enrolled as a freshman at Howard Payne College in Brownwood.
Pauline Strickland will welcome the master's, of course, but she'll be equally glad to spend the rest of her life in school with no degree in sight.
The reason is that she loves both learning for its own sake and her fellow learners. "They're so refreshing to me . . . I just don't ever want to feel like I'm old and can't enjoy the young people."
Pauline has spent much of her life surrounded by the younger generation — working, teaching, studying and, in effect, raising a pair of families.
When her own younger son was 3 weeks old, her widowed father accepted a missionary assignment in Central America. Since he couldn't take his children along, the Stricklands "inherited" Pauline's sisters, 13 and 9 years old, and her brother, 11.

"We kept them until they were graduated from college and married," the president's youthful and attractive wife recalls. "We had three in Baylor at one time . . . Their children seem like my grandchildren."
She is grandmother to three of her own now. Pauline's older son, Carlyle, teaches business on the brand-new campus his father heads; the younger, Charles, is a Brownwood insurance man.
Paul Bell Jr., the "inherited" brother, is a former missionary turned Peace Corps executive. He has charge of Peace Corps work in nine Central and South American countries; he also possesses a talent for turning up at scenes of riot and revolution.
One sister, Mrs. Mac Weatherbee, lives in Rotan; the other, Mrs. C. S. Cadwallader Jr., is serving as a missionary in Guatemala.
Pauline herself was born in Bastrop, headquarters for her father's mission work among the Latin-American people of South Texas. She grew up speaking "border Spanish" with her playmates and later found classroom Spanish very different.
Pauline married Otis Strickland in 1939 and dropped out of Howard Payne in her junior year to start a family. She finally got her bachelor's degree, with a double major in Bible and education, in 1959—the same year one son was graduated from Decatur Baptist College, the other from high school.
The daughter of a missionary whose life and work have been the subject of several books found it a bit embarrassing to hit the books again in the company of students much younger than she was.
However, she remembers: "I wanted to get through so badly that it didn't bother me too much."
At Decatur Baptist College, of which her husband became president in 1950, Mrs. Strickland worked as a secretary, then taught Old Testament and Spanish.
Decatur became Dallas Baptist College and moved to its present location near Mountain Creek Lake in time to start the current academic year with a more-than-thousand house of about 1,100 students.
There are plans for conversion from a 2-year to a 4-year curriculum, as well as for expansion of the student body to approximately 7,000.
The president's wife, an active church worker and collector of dolls which she uses in leading mission studies, has been named to the board of the Frank Reaugh Guild at the new Creative Arts Center of Dallas.
Pauline also has been filling in as her husband's secretary; she doesn't plan to teach again unless she's really needed. "I've always tried to stay in the background and live through my husband and sons."

Top State Awards for '65 Claimed by 4-H Members

A Coleman County lad who's had a peek behind the Iron Curtain and a poised young woman from Edcouch in Hidalgo County have won state 4-H public speaking honors.
Joe Pat Hemphill, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Hemphill of Coleman, won the boy's award with a talk on "A World Without 4-H," which recounted his 1964 summer trip to East Berlin, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Hemphill will receive a wrist watch from The Pure Oil Company.
Lynda Bowers, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Bowers, spoke on "Citizenship—Our Heritage and Our Responsibility" to win the state contest for girls. She will receive a chest of silverware from Pure Oil, the program sponsor.
Andy Scott, 17, of Childress, won the 4-H Dog Care and Training award. He'll get a watch from the sponsor, Ralston Purina Company.

The 4-H'er with the best project in dairy foods was 16-year-old Joanna Lewis of Murchison. Carnation Company will give her a wrist watch.
Hemphill, born and raised on a ranch of more than 9,000 acres, had ample material for his many speeches on conservation and cattle. However, he also has spoken on "Democracy in Action" and read a dress revue script while Coleman County 4-H lovelies paraded their home-stitched fashions. Hemphill has been before TV cameras and on many radio shows.
In his "World Without 4-H" speech Hemphill characterized life in Czechoslovakia as dull and uninspiring.
"Our trip was very short," said Hemphill, "but it was

Talented Teens Earn 4-H Awards for Best-in-Texas Projects

A camera, a cow, a tractor, and a toothbrush might be considered the symbols of success for four Texas 4-H'ers who have won 1965 state honors in their 4-H projects.
James Beke, 15, of Houston, placed first in the photography program. He receives a $50 savings bond from Eastman Kodak Company.
Jeff Quinn, 17, of La Grange, took honors in the dairy program, sponsored by Oliver Corporation.
Jackie Smajstrla, 14, of Victoria, was winner in the tractor program, which is sponsored by Humble Oil & Refining Company.
Linda Strempel, 15, of New Braunfels, ranked at the top in the health program, sponsored by Eli Lilly and Company.
Miss Strempel, Quinn and Smajstrla will receive expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 28-Dec. 2.
Beke, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Beke, has been in 4-H six years. His parents are both 4-H leaders. He has participated in the photography project for the past two years and developed skills in taking and using pictures through educational guidance.
Quinn, an eight-year veteran of 4-H, has won six grand cham-and children, Terri and Pat, visited Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Messick, Shawn and Melissa, in Vernon Sunday night.

Glen Swan was on the sick list in his home last week end.
Roy Self and Maggie Capps visited in Quannah Monday.
Ralph Shultz of Vernon visited his mother, Mrs. Lee Shultz, in the Eudale Oliver home Monday. Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Leotis Roberts of Crowell.

Tightwire walking also can be perilous afield. A state game warden routinely reported to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department headquarters the umpteenth chapter in the book about mooching on another hunter's lease.
It was the same old situation. One hunter, with a valid stake in a place, saw a hunter from an adjoining area shoot a deer, and then crawl under the fence and retrieve it.
The "offended" hunter at first sought to save the deer at gunpoint but relented and decided to use a more peaceful means. That is, he appealed to the landowner who had sheltered the hunter shooting the deer.

Greedy Rattler Flunks Big One

Two Inks Lake State Park attendants started to pick up a trash can and were attacked by a large rattlesnake, slow on the draw because it was swallowing a young rabbit. It was a black-tailed rattler 56 inches long with 13 rattlers.

West Texas Utilities Co. to Expand Generating Plant

A major expansion at the Rio Pecos electric generating plant was announced this week by West Texas Utilities Co. The generating capability of the plant will be increased to more than 2 1/2 times its present size. The $8 million construction program was announced by Roff W. Hardy, WTU president, who cited this new construction as evidence of the company's continued planning and building to provide power for West Texas growth and development.

Hardy said, "While we are still working to complete the second unit of the new San Angelo power generating station, our engineering department has been busy on plans and designs for this new generating facility at the Rio Pecos plant."

"The location of each new generating unit is determined by detailed study and analysis which begins years before actual construction is started. The company is constantly planning five to ten years in the future to provide for our customers' electrical needs."

The new unit, to be added at the Rio Pecos station which is located seven miles west of McCombs, will be a conventional reheat steam turbine generating unit. The unit will have a capability of 95,000 kilowatts and the steam turbine is being designed for operation at 1,450 pounds pressure per square inch and at 1,000 degrees F. temperature and 1,000 degrees F. reheat temperature.

Construction for the new unit is scheduled to begin in June, 1967, with the target date for completion in May, 1969. According to John Hutchison, vice president and chief engineer, the major items for the plant, the steam turbine-generator and the steam boiler, have just been purchased. The Rio Pecos plant was originally built in 1927, with new units being added in 1954 and 1959. Currently the plant has a generating capability of 59,500 KW and is operated by a crew of 27. In addition to the Rio Pecos plant, West Texas Utilities operates seven other modern generating stations. These stations, which are interconnected with 138,000 and 69,000 volt transmission lines, supply electric energy for 167 towns and communities in fifty West Texas counties.

Confidence Men Duping Public on Social Security

"... confidence men approach elderly persons and offer to help them to avoid the 'logjam' for registration for Medicare benefits. This is a scare tactic, authorities point out, because no registration logjam is anticipated. Unfortunately, a smooth-talking, well-dressed man who poses as a Social Security agent often has little trouble getting a fee when he proposes such bogus services. . . . The Federal Bureau of Investigation has lunched an investigation, as has the Senate Committee on Aging. In the meantime, elderly citizens should remember anyone seeking a payoff for any Social Security service is probably a phony and certainly breaking the law."—Cleveland, Miss., Bolivar Commercial.

Professor Studying Volcano in Philippines

A University of Texas geology professor who specializes in the study of volcanoes, Dr. Fred M. Bullard, is on a tour of the South Pacific during a fall semester research leave. One of his stops will be at Taal, the volcano which recently took hundreds of lives in the Philippines. Professor Bullard describes his project as an "effort to see if we can fit a volcano into a cycle which will permit us to determine at what stage it is in its life history."

Dallas All-Star Rodeo Set for Dec. 26-Jan. 1

Mail order sales are now under way for tickets to the Dallas All-Star Rodeo, a major attraction of the Cotton Bowl Festival Week which will be presented in the State Fair Livestock Coliseum in Dallas Dec. 26 through Jan. 1. There will be seven fast-paced, two-hour performances, scheduled at 3 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 26, and at 8 p. m. nightly Dec. 27 through Jan. 1.

More than 300 cowboy contestants will compete in bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, calf roping and bull riding. The entry list will include the most illustrious stars of the rodeo sport. In addition, the nation's fifteen top-ranked girl barrel racers will compete at each performance in the national finals of this event. Prize money for the rodeo totals $12,500, plus entry fees.

Stock contractors for the rodeo will be Beutler Brothers of Elk City, Okla., and Harry Knight and Company of Fowler, Colo., two of the most famous names in the rodeo business.

Special entertainment at the rodeo will spotlight Jay Siser and his trained Australian shepherd dogs and educated greyhound, and Leon Adams in spectacular Roman riding on horseback and on a pair of trained Brahman bulls. Wilbur Plaughter, world-famous rodeo clown and bull fighter, will spice each performance with his comedy antics.

Ticket prices are $3 and $2 for reserved seats and $5 and $4 for box seats for each performance. Checks and money orders should be made payable to State Fair of Texas. Mail orders for tickets should be addressed to Dallas All-Star Rodeo, P. O. Box 26019, Dallas, 75226.

Means of Recruiting College Teachers

Raymond Moley writes in Newsweek: ". . . I suggest a means of recruiting good college teachers which is not stressed in educational literature. The Berlin wall between high school teachers and college teaching should be broken down. Younger and qualified high school teachers who either have their higher degrees or are on the way to them should have the opportunity to move into higher education. . . . And the need in the years to come for college teachers will be greater than the need for high-school teachers."

Unemployment

Time magazine reports: "At most, there are 600,000 married men with families in the U. S. who can be classed as long-term, hard-core cases of unemployment. Though the commonly cited figure for the jobless is nearly 5,000,000, among them are close to 1,000,000 youths under 24, more than 2,000,000 'short-term' jobless and many others who are seeking only part-time work."

How to succeed in saving without really trying

It's hard to sock away money at times, especially when you just can't spare much for savings. And therein lies the real beauty of buying U. S. Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan. You never even see the money you're saving until you've suddenly got your hands on a brand new Savings Bond—and it's all yours. Here's how the plan works: just tell your employer to set aside a small amount of your pay toward the purchase of a Savings Bond. Before you know it, you've got a mate to that first Bond. And your Bonds are already busy—earning another dollar at maturity for every three you invest. Bonds are busy in another way, too. While they're earning money for you, they're helping to keep your country strong. So join the millions of Americans who have made a success of Payroll Savings. You'll find you really don't have to work very hard at it. Try it and see.

- Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds
- ✓ You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity
 - ✓ You can get your money when you need it
 - ✓ Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
 - ✓ You can buy Bonds where you bank, or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work

Subtle Changes Have Occurred in Thanksgiving Menu

Although the menu for today's Thanksgiving meal has come down through the years with remarkable likeness to the dishes served on that first Thanksgiving day, there have been many subtle changes.

Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Texas A&M University Extension consumer marketing specialist, points out that as Thanksgiving draws near, shoppers should be grateful that food is a bargain. Never before in history has food been so cheap in terms of the time one has to work to pay for it.

While many of the foods now served at Thanksgiving festivities are the same kinds that were in the holiday feast in earlier years, there are subtle differences.

Agriculture has made tremendous strides since the days of the Pilgrims. The cultural practices, varieties, the quality, the harvesting all have been updated, and transportation has improved along with the technological advances. Processing has had a tremendous effect on the food supply situation and modern food distribution.

The job of preparing the Thanksgiving dinner has been simplified and shortened for today's homemaker. There are many more varieties of food items to select from in developing the menu—and many of the foods can be purchased in prepared or partially prepared forms, Mrs. Clyatt emphasizes.

Turkey prices are about the same as they were at this period last year. Fryers continue to be good buys in the poultry department.

Good values in beef this week center around chuck and rib roasts, round and sirloin steaks, ground beef and liver. Pork prices remain relatively high, with best price choices to be found in Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks and liver. Bacon is a bit lower in price.

Good buys in fruits are apples, bananas, grapes, grapefruit, cranberries and oranges. Vegetable choices include carrots, dry yellow onions, sweet potatoes and rutabagas, along with fall cooking greens.

Couples Need Early Planning for Retirement

Couples need to set values and goals early in marriage in order to plan for security in retirement, says Mrs. Doris Myers, Texas A&M University Extension area home management specialist.

The need for more adequate planning for retirement was disclosed in a recent study which Mrs. Myers conducted in Central and East Texas.

"Young couples need to manage all of their resources and make changes in financial management in line with long range goals, rather than stressing short term goals and living from year to year," the specialist says.

The research focused on how aged farm couples in the two areas were living six years after the Social Security Act had been amended to include them. Data were collected on expenses for family living and levels of net worth.

Eighty per cent of the retired farm couples included in the study had incomes from social security. Slightly over 10 per cent of the couples had so little income from social security or other sources that they applied for and received old age assistance to make up deficits in their income. For various reasons, planning for retirement had not been adequate.

The study also disclosed that 67 per cent of the farm couples were receiving enough social security benefits or income from other sources that they did not receive any old age assistance benefits. Although their average money income after taxes decreased 19 per cent following retirement, it averaged $3,141 — or well above the "modest but adequate" budget of $2,500 set up by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for a retired couple, Mrs. Myers says.

Planning for retirement by couples receiving social security—but not old age assistance—allowed them to maintain their former level of living, according to Mrs. Myers.

Tuberculosis is Very Much With Us

610,000 Americans are directly threatened by TB — 110,000 of them because they have known active disease

(A) They need treatment or (B) careful checkups by chest X-ray or (C) tuberculin skin test.

(A) 110,000 are known to have active tuberculosis.
(B) 250,000 have had TB recently and might relapse.
(C) 250,000 live closely with people with newly discovered active disease.

These 610,000 are known to be involved with tuberculosis. Others are unknown. The fight to find, treat and help all TB-involved Americans must go on, in order to achieve control and eventual eradication of the disease in this country. Your Christmas Seal contribution helps in that fight.

Two Minutes With the Bible

Christ in Us

It has been well said that if there is anything good in any man it is because it was put there by God. And something good—a new nature—has been imparted by God to every true believer.

While there is still within us "that which is begotten of the flesh," there is also "that which is begotten of the Spirit," and just as the one "cannot please God," so the other always pleases Him.

Adam was originally created in the image and likeness of God, but he fell into sin and later "begat a son in his own likeness, after his image" (Gen. 5:3). It could not be otherwise. Fallen Adam could generate and beget only fallen, sinful offspring, whom even the law could not change. But "what the law could not do, in that it was weak because of the flesh, God, sending His own Son, in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin," accomplished "that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit" (Rom. 8:3,4).

As Adam was made in the likeness of God, but fell, so Christ was made in the likeness of sinful flesh—though without sin—to redeem us from the fall, that by grace, through the operation of the Spirit, a new creation might be brought into being, a "new man, which, after God is created in righteousness and true holiness" (Eph. 4:24).

Thus in addition to our fallen Adamic nature, true believers, through faith, have also become "partakers of the divine nature" (II Pet. 1:4). This is the "inner man" of which Paul speaks in Eph. 3:16, and this "inner man" delights to do God's will (Rom. 7:22).

The Adamic nature, which Scripture calls "the flesh," is that which was generated by a fallen begetter—even in the believer. It is sinful in itself. It cannot be improved or changed. But "that which is born (or begotten) of God" always pleases Him. It was begotten by the Spirit of God Himself. This is why our Lord said to Nicodemus: "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; that which is born

Interior Moisture Is Problem in Small, Modern Homes

Small, modern homes that have been well insulated against winter wind have also created a problem—interior moisture. This moisture can cause rot and mildew in the framing and ruin insulation, advises County Agent Joe Burkett.

Ventilation and vapor barriers are the tools to use in combating the problem. Cooperate with the moisture by helping it escape out of doors, explains Burkett.

Ventilating in cold weather will not cause enough heat loss to matter, but will prevent most of the trouble from inside moisture. Exhaust fans should be installed in the laundry and kitchen and screen louvers in the attic. Fan capacity should be approximately one-third cfm. per cubic foot of space. There should be a vent to permit fresh air entry while the moisture-laden air is being driven out, says the county agent.

Open gas flame stoves should be vented to eliminate extra moisture in the air.

In the absence of fans, Burkett suggests opening windows one inch at the top on opposite sides of the house. This should be done for a few minutes each day. The amount of moisture removed will be considerable, but the heat loss will be small.

Hurts Morale of Fighting Forces

"Throughout the country there are undoubtedly many people who have mixed feelings about the advisability of our being in Viet Nam, and everyone is entitled to his own opinion in this regard. But to advocate the burning of draft cards and feigning mental sickness and even homosexuality in an attempt to evade the draft is downright repulsive and dangerous to the morals of our fighting forces."—Auburndale, Fla., Star.

Reassuring to Child

"The young people who treat their parents with courtesy and respect are the ones who were told the first time they said 'I won't' to either mother or father: 'Yes, you will. And you had better be quick about it.' A child brought up that way knows who is boss around the house, and it is reassuring to him to know that he isn't it."—Petersburg, Texas, Journal.

The Woman's Service League will not meet this week because of the Thanksgiving holidays, but will meet on Thursday, Dec. 2, at noon.

At last week's meeting, the League voted to furnish a hot lunch for one school child. Enough canned goods and other food to make two Thanksgiving baskets were brought to the meeting. Mrs. Fred Wehba and the president, Mrs. Cecil Carpenter, will deliver the baskets to deserving families.

There were 18 members present.

Junior Columbians

The Sub-Junior Columbian Club met November 17 in the home of Cathy McLain.

As a local project, the girls are to each bring to the next meeting a gift for the patients of the State Hospital near Vernon. Dena Todd was in charge of the program which was a debate. The debate team which consisted of Lanette Lemons, Vicki Spikes, Linda Whitley and Paula Veera, discussed questions on "Should all girls attend college?" Delicious refreshments were

Gambleville H. D. Club

The Gambleville Home Demonstration Club met Friday, Nov. 19, with Mrs. Elton Carroll as hostess. For opening exercises, the hostess read a Thanksgiving prayer. Mrs. James Sandlin gave the council report and said the council's Christmas social will be at the home of Mrs. Ray Iseng on December 15 at 2:30 p. m. Roll call was answered with "my favorite candy recipe," exchanged by eleven members and three visitors, Miss Dorothy Erwin, Mrs. C. M. Carroll and Mrs. Iseng.

After the business, Mrs. Elton Carroll introduced Miss Erwin as a special guest. Miss Erwin brought the program by decorating two cakes and showed how to make salad roses. The hostess gift was presented to Miss Erwin.

Next meeting will be the annual Christmas social and Mrs. Charlie Bartley will be hostess on Friday night, Dec. 17. Secret pals will be revealed at the social.

The Other 20th Century Man

We Americans think of the 20th century man in terms of the comfortable, and often affluent, life around us. But there are huge pockets of the world's population where another kind of man virtually fights for his life from the day he is born. Here is a word picture of that man from a churchman who spent many years in Asia:

"He lives in a mud hut and ploughs three acres of land with a crooked stick. Most of the time he is hungry. Most of the time he is sick. His mind and body are heavy with fatigue. His spirit is heavy with discouragement.

"As he harvests his thin crop of millet with an ancient sickle, he moves so slowly that he must work 15 hours a day. There are years when he is too sick or weak to hold the sickle, so his crop rots in the field. His life expectancy is less than 30 years.

"Where this man lives there are no schools or doctors. When one of his children is dying, he watches helplessly. He has never learned to read or write his own name. He is ashamed of his ignorance and knows that many take advantage of him—the rich landlord who takes two-thirds of the crop for rental of the land, the money lender who charges him heavy interest. He is always hopelessly in debt, and his yearly income is seldom more than $50."

Each fall during the Thanksgiving season, the three U. S. major faiths unite in a Religious Overseas Aid Appeal to help the many kinds of "twentieth century" man in many parts of the world. He may be a Jewish refugee from Rumania, a hungry African refugee, or an ill clad child in Latin America. Wherever the needy lives in this chaotic world, one of the three faiths tries to reach him with understanding and compassion. The appeals seeking support for this work are the Protestant "Share Our Substance" appeal, the Catholic "Bishop's Thanksgiving Clothing Collection" and the "United Jewish Appeal." Worthy causes all, and deserving of support.

Operation "Show Your Colors"

Whereas, on October 28, 1965, the National Commander of The American Legion, L. Eldon James, did announce a nationwide program by The American Legion to combat the anti-Vietnam and anti-draft movements by a certain segment of our society, and

Whereas, this program will be known as "Operation Show Your Colors," whereby millions of Americans will wear a small American flag lapel pin to indicate their opposition to such "anti" movements and to show their support for our servicemen's efforts throughout the world, and particularly in Vietnam, and

Whereas, in addition to furnishing these pins, The American Legion will also provide an accompanying "Operation Show Your Colors" wallet-size card imprinted "Americans Are Serving The Cause of Freedom in Vietnam," "I Wear My Country's Flag to Show that I Support Their Efforts," and

Whereas, it is time all Americans show their pride in America and serve notice to the members of the Armed Forces that we are 100 per cent behind them,

Therefore, I, as Mayor of Crowell, Texas, do hereby call on our citizens to actively support this program, "Operation Show Your Colors," and to demonstrate our support of positive action taken in Vietnam.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of Crowell, Texas, this 20th day of November, 1965.

ROBERT KINCAID, Mayor, City of Crowell, Texas.

Panhandle Bucks Are Heavyweights

Panhandle whitetail deer outweigh their southern cousins by a substantial margin, according to weight figures collected during the last few years by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Comparative weights of 3½ year old field-dressed bucks from various Texas areas are: Llano Basin, 70 lbs.; Edwards Plateau, 84 lbs.; Rio Grande Plains, 103 lbs.; and Texas Panhandle, 127 lbs.

Unfortunately, noted the Department, Panhandle deer range is limited to a few narrow stream bottoms that traverse the high plains and only a few hundred deer are harvested each year. But uncrowded range conditions and excellent food availability boost Panhandle bucks to braggin' size.

Truscott Church of Christ Women Sponsor Gift Tea for Home

Over 200 gifts were collected for the teen-age residents of the Tipton Children's Home at a gift tea sponsored by women of the Truscott Church of Christ in the home of Mrs. E. J. Jones Nov. 19.

Twenty-five women representing churches in Foard, Baylor and Knox Counties heard Tipton Home routines discussed by Mrs. Ed Goodgin, Tipton Home store-room supervisor. After Mrs. Goodgin's talk, questions about the children's home were answered by Mrs. Goodgin and Mrs. Ruby Witt, house mother for girls, 12-14.

A birthday party is held once a month and items collected at the tea will help provide birthday gifts as well as Christmas gifts.

A gift shower for teen-agers was planned when women attending a linen shower for the Tipton Home at Red Springs learned that gifts for older children are not received as often as toys for younger children. The linen shower and the gift shower are the first ever given for the Tipton Home.

Fashion News: "Granny" Is the Rage

If you think teen-age girls have been wearing their skirts too short, you can stop worrying, says Mrs. Virginia J. Iseng, County Home Demonstration Agent.

According to Extension consumer education specialists of Texas A&M University, hemlines have dropped to the ankles in the newest teen-age fashion fad, the "granny gown."

These styles are long cotton shifts, with high empire waists and old-fashioned trimmings of ruffles and lace.

The fad originated with teen-agers on the West Coast. One report indicates that the master of ceremonies at a dance commented on the extremely short dress worn by a young performer. At the next program, the girl came in ankle-length attire—and the gag turned into a fashion rage.

Girls who could sew copied the demure-looking cotton dress—and the style became a favorite after-swim cover-up for feminine surfers. Granny gowns became so popular that ready-to-wear styles quickly appeared on the market. Now, teens from coast to coast wear "grannies."

The garments are favorites for lounge wear and party outfits. They come in soft and feminine cottons like dotted swiss, dimity, and tiny floral prints. Granny gowns are "in" with pre-teens and children, too.

One style for little girls, in a quaint provincial print, features long ruffled pantaloons. With the younger set going back for the old-fashioned look, who can predict what type of fashion will be popular next? The hoop skirt may be on its way back.

FBI Continues Fight on Organized Crime

From the annual report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the 1965 fiscal year: "Organized crime is in large measure supported by the huge sums it derives from all forms of vice, principally gambling. These funds are used to finance other illegal activities to infiltrate areas of legitimate business. The disruption of interstate gambling to block this flow of illicit funds is a major aim of the FBI, and three Federal laws enacted in September, 1961, have been important aids in this campaign. During the fiscal year 1965, there were 90 convictions under these statutes, which prohibit interstate transmission of wagering information, interstate transportation of wagering paraphernalia and interstate transportation in aid of racketeering."

Any Time Best Time for Buck

Polling deer hunters could confuse Confucious, himself, as everybody knows. But really smart people do odd ball things with buck fever symptoms spreading on all fronts.

Such as the regional information and education man from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, who needed convincing all over again.

His question concerned the best time to kill a buck. Of course, the collective answer was "yes." Of the 15 hunters interviewed, only one claimed to have bagged his buck during the first hour after sunrise, long considered the best time to be on a deer stand.

Seven hunters said they had their buck by 10 a. m.; five more had scored by noon; none claimed victory from noon until an hour before sunset, and one killed his deer during the last hour before the sun went down. This left one. Yep, he hunted for three days and didn't even see a deer.

Deer Kamakaze Grounds Warden

State game wardens in the deer country devote a great deal of time answering calls to remove carcasses involved in traffic collisions. This one didn't have to go. He was Warden B. telephoned report when car and a deer met in the of the road.

He quickly dressed the and gave it to the county department. And then along to a garage.

COMMUNITY ACTION PROGRAM PROGRESSES

Crowell selected as the office and Don Ross of Vernon hired as co-director of the four-county Community Action Program is expected to begin its functions in the near future.

Malone, a graduate of Vernon School and the University of Texas, where he majored in education, was selected from four applicants interviewed last week at the Community Action Program, which has been under the name, "Economic Advancement Program of Cottle, Foard, Harland and Wilbarger Counties." Other applicants attended interviews but were not considered because they failed to meet the application deadline.

Malone, son of Waggoner and Mrs. Malone, grandson of Jim and Margaret and nephew of Todd of Crowell, was effective immediately at a salary of $650 per month and an eight-cent per mile allowance. He was also to employ a secretary per month.

Quannah and Vernon examinations to locate the office in Vernon, but a plan to place the headquarters in the Community Action building here.

Malone was instructed to work toward developing a guideline Community Action Program which have federal approval else-

One Wing Okay for One Coot

Game Warden Hill Lawrence of Paris reported the grim determination-to-live story of a little dark coot better known as the mudhen.

It struck a high line at the Gambill Goose Wildlife Refuge and severed a wing close to the body.

Joe Vandiver, refuge keeper, treated the bird, kept it overnight and then placed it back in the water.

Warden Lawrence said last reports were that the tenacious coot appeared to be recovering, possibly in the knowledge that it has no more migration problems.

Recreation Vehicles

It is estimated that recreation vehicles — which include travel trailers, pick-up coaches, and canvas camping trailers — will account for the consumption of more than 1.1 billions of gallons of gasoline in 1965, an increase of more than 250 million gallons over the 1964 figure.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the Thursday, Nov. 21, 1935, issue of The Foard County News:

All "unders" and "overs" must have exemption certificates to vote in 1936 elections, according to information from the county tax collector.

C. B. Garlinghouse, 92, Foard County pioneer and one of two remaining Civil War veterans in the county, died Friday night in his home here.

Indications are that approved wheat contracts in Foard County in connection with the AAA program for 1936 will total more than 180, according to information from the office of the county agent, Fred Rennels.

Humble Opens International Travel Center in Laredo

Laredo—A new $100,000 international travel center complete with twin service stations and a Mexico Travel Service office was opened here last week by Humble Oil & Refining Company.

The new center, which covers half a city block, is located at the intersection of the three main traffic arteries leading into Laredo—State Highways 83, 59 and the newly-completed Interstate 35.

While automobiles are serviced from two Humble stations, travelers may obtain free entry assistance, routings, help with accommodations, and general information on motoring in Mexico. Insurance also is available. Mexican citizens may receive free assistance at the center on traveling in the U. S.

The travel office features Mexican architecture. It includes a patio and reflection pool surrounded by an open arcade. Many decorative items such as wrought-iron light fixtures and floor and roof tile were custom produced in Mexico.

The Humble Mexico Travel Service was established in Laredo in 1933 and was the first such touring office on the border. For years, it operated at a site in downtown Laredo. This older facility will serve as a branch office of the newly-completed travel center.

Javier Pena, who has managed the Humble Mexico Travel Service office in Laredo since its establishment, will serve as manager of both offices.

Laredo, where some 165,000 people cross the border each year, ranks as the leading port of entry into Mexico. Travel authorities estimate that travel to Mexico from the U. S. will double in 1968, year of the HemisFair in San Antonio and the Olympics in Mexico City.

Rolling Plains Cotton Insect Survey Made

During the summer of 1965, four insect survey teams consisting of two men each, worked in the Rolling Plains area, including Foard County. Funds for three of these teams were furnished by the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and funds for one team were furnished by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The entomologists, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, supervised these teams and issued a weekly report on the cotton insect situation.

The objectives of this survey were rather general and involved obtaining such information as distribution of various insects, first appearance and build-ups, hot-spot areas and seasonal populations.

Each team covered a seven or eight county area with a total of 31 counties surveyed. The teams inspected a minimum of four fields per county at weekly intervals. These fields were selected with the aid of county agricultural agents on the basis of past history and heavy insect populations. These fields were inspected strictly to boll weevils. Inspections began the first week of June and continued through August.

This year's survey showed that early season pests such as thrips, aphids, spider mites, cutworms, garden webworms and yellow-striped armyworms were rather widespread over the area. Almost every county reported these pests, but the degree of infestation varied considerably. Grasshoppers were present early and caused considerable damage in some areas, particularly in Shackelford, Throckmorton and Foard counties. Fleahopper counts began to increase during the week of June 29th over the area as a whole. Activity continued over a rather widespread area; however, populations were generally light to moderate with counts varying considerably. Baylor, Haskell, Schleicher, Concho, Callahan and Tom Green counties showed highest infestations.

Bollworms were generally light; however, several areas reported heavy locally damaging infestations particularly in irrigated cotton. Irrigated cotton in Cottle, Hardeman, Baylor, Knox and Haskell counties received the heaviest damage.

Boll weevils were first observed during the week of June 14 from early cotton in Knox County. By the week of June 21st, overwintered weevils were reported from 15 to 31 counties. Boll weevils were heavier in the northern and southern portions of the area, but there were heavy local populations in other areas.

COLD WEATHER DRIVING EXPERT PREPARES FOR WINTER

Why more motorists switch to the Tiger when it gets cold.

Many cars that ran just fine all summer get into trouble when ear-muff time rolls around — stalling at stoplights and coughing and chugging halfway into town. That's when a lot of people switch to the Tiger. Winter-formula Enco Extra gasoline is blended to match the weather conditions in your area — including a special additive to help guard against icing. Result: easier starting, faster warm-up and a lot less worry about stalling. You'll like the way new Enco Extra behaves on the open road, too. It's the High-energy gasoline with the: (1) cleaning power; (2) firing power; (3) octane power to help preserve the performance of new cars and restore lost power and mileage to many older cars. Switch to the Tiger and get that nice warm feeling. Happy Motoring!

Put a Tiger in Your Tank!

The Olney Cubs and Crowell Wildcats, only unbeaten teams in District 9B competition, will clash here Friday night in Crowell's fine new stadium. Latest reports from Olney indicate that there will be no special train from that city as originally proposed, however, hundreds of fans plan to come from there by auto and bus.

Stray Slug Held

Peril to Hunters

Carrying power of an ordinary big game rifle has been demonstrated tragically during the new big game season, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

One definite case of a non-hunter being hit and badly hurt by a stray bullet was reported. Another shooting, with possibly similar circumstances was being investigated, game wardens reported to the Department headquarters.

A farmer near Dripping Springs was felled by a bullet, apparently from a hunter's gun miles away, while the farmer was repairing his barn roof. The missile struck an arm and traveled downward into his body and was safely extracted. He is recovering.

Investigators said deer hunters were in the general area, so many in fact that it was considered useless to try to trace the gun that fired the shot. They surmised the person using the gun did not know that a bullet had hit the man.

Another major incident involved a 21-year-old youth hunting from a tree blind. He was found dead under the tree, after sustaining a chest wound. But the fatal circumstances had not been determined.

It was pointed out that a few years ago a hunter was shot and killed while perched in a tree by a gunman who told authorities he mistook the man for a wild turkey.

Department field men acknowledged there are definite hazards afield from stray bullets.

Major Element, Phosphorus, Required By All Plants

The major element phosphorus is required by all plants. With the possible exception of nitrogen, no other element is as critical in the growth of plants as is phosphorus, explains County Agent Joe Burkett.

Analyses of hundreds of soil samples by the Texas A&M University soil testing laboratories reveal that available soil phosphorus is seldom adequate for crop needs in many regions of Texas. Available phosphorus is short in all types of soil in Foard County.

Phosphorus is an essential element for plant growth and development. It functions in metabolism and is present in every living cell. As plants mature, most of the phosphorus moves into seeds and fruits.

Phosphorus is associated with several vital functions in plants and is responsible for several characteristics of plant growth. Some of the things done by phosphorus are:

It determines flowering and fruiting; hastens maturity (important in wet or dry seasons); increases disease resistance; improves resistance to drought and cold temperature; encourages early spring growth; strengthens stalk and straw; improves seedling vigor; improves forage quality; thus improves animal performance; increases yield; improves palatability of forages and vegetables and balances other plant nutrients.

An impressive list of soils test it pays to follow the correct recommendation on phosphorus, concludes Burkett.

Two Revolutions Planned by China

Writing in The Reporter Ascola says: "Lin Piao in full detail the two revolutions that China is fomenting in the 'rural areas' of the world; the first is nationalistic and the second purely patriotic elements can be crushed. This is very much the Maoists did in their al areas, when they got ants on their side and then them the land and then both the peasants and the. They are ready to do all over the three years of the world; Asia, Africa and counter-action are to come, for thus we shall lessly fitter away our and our resources."

MR. WHEAT FARMER:

Are broad-leaf winter weeds becoming a problem and robbing you of moisture? I can feed and weed that wheat by applying a combination of 2,4-D and liquid nitrogen. I have nitrogen in both liquid and dry forms for your needs. I am equipped to do custom work at reasonable cost. For particulars, contact or call:

HOW MANY METERS IN A MILE ?

If you're talking about distance, there are 1609 meters in a mile. But, if you're referring to electric meters, it varies from 30, in densely populated areas . . . down to one or less per mile in some rural areas.

This marked difference in electric meters per mile is the reason the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) makes low interest loans to finance construction of electrical systems in rural America.

A rural electric program serving only one, or two, or perhaps three meters per mile was not considered profitable, and rural people had been denied the benefits only electricity could bring them.

So . . . rural people formed Electric Cooperatives, borrowed from the REA and built their own electrical systems.

These non-profit Electric Cooperatives are owned and operated by the consumers they serve. They are repaying their REA loans with interest . . . and they do pay their fair share of taxes.
