WILDCATS WIN 14-0 FRIDAY OVER THROCKMORTON; HOLLIDAY NEXT

The Crowell Wildcat football team lengthened its winning streak to five as it trounced the Throckmorton Greyhounds 14-0 at the local field last Friday night. The game was a sparkling defensive battle all the way with Don Bill Statser, Mike Payne and Bob Bird leading the Wildcats' defensive charge. The lighter but hard-hitting Throckmorton crew was led defensively by Floyd Ash, Mike Lukert, George Harvick and Ronnie Carpenter. After kicking off and holding Throckmorton on downs to open the game, Crowell drove 60 yards in 13 plays to score the only TD of the first half. Principal ground gainers in the drive were Lee Looney and Payne. The biggest gainer was George Myers who went for 10, then 7 yards to put the Wildcats inside the Greyhound 20. Myers later picked his way nine yards for the tally. Myers skirted the right side for the two extra points. Throckmorton had its chances all night as the beautiful punting of Keith McCarsen kept the Wildcats with their backs to the wall most of the evening. On four different occasions, Throckmorton had excellent field position inside the Crowell 40 and each time the Wildcats' rugged defense rose to the occasion. Throckmorton had a TD called back in the late moments of the first half due to an illegal procedure penalty. With less than two minutes remaining in the game, Crowell began its drive for the second TD. Myers returned McCarsen's kick from his own 40 to the Greyhound 30. Then the combination of Looney and Payne drove the ball to the Throckmorton five. With 57 seconds remaining in the game, Payne slipped through the left side of the line for the TD. The run by Payne failed.

Soldier Writes of War in Viet Nam

Sgt. Kenneth W. Hough, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hough of Crowell, is stationed in Viet Nam. He has written a letter telling of the fighting there, and the News is printing part of that letter.

"We leave for Chu Lai tomorrow, thank God. We've been here for 30 days now and all we've done is fight. It's a different war up there than at Chu Lai. The enemy are not only large in number, but they're equipped with just as good equipment. We stayed on the rock pile for 10 days and didn't run into a thing. Then and didn't run into a thing. Then we moved back to the Dong Ha air base for about 4 days. Then all hell broke loose. Two companies of the 4th Marines were pinned down and couldn't get out. So they called us in. The first night we were mortared and lost seven men.

After we were hit 3 or 4 times and losing men left and right, we pulled back to the river to take baths and regroup. That night our artillery was called in on us and one of my scouts got hit in the chest, but only bad enough to be evacuated. The next day we went north again to run patrols in another area. When we got there, we were mortared again and two of our companies were caught in an ambush and several men lost. One of them was a very good friend of mine. He was my scout chief. We still don't know if he will live or not. After the two companies fought their way back to the combat base, we didn't have enough men to make up a good company. We were mortared for the next three or four days losing men each day. And the day before we were to pull back to another rest area, we were bombed by our own B-52's. One bomb landed about 45 meters from where I was sleeping and covered me with dust. It was just a 250 lb. bomb and only two people got hurt, one only 10 feet away from the crater.

In all we lost almost 300 men, several of which were infections, malaria, stomach cramps and other natural causes. Our biggest problem was bad feet. We covered about 150 miles in 20 days, all of which were in jungle and swamps. All of the way had to be cut by knife. About the first night we stayed out there, I was covered with leeches from the streams and elephant grass. I was luckier than most. I only got a small infection on my hand from thorns.

About the only thing we can be thankful for is that NVA or VC are hurting worse than we are. We confirmed at least 80 killed and our own killed were only about 30. And for every KIA you can bet they had at least 3 wounded. And most of our wounded were back in action in two or three days, and those that were sick, about 90 per cent of them are back in action. So I guess you might say we scored another victory.

I haven't had a bath in 12 days and I feel like I'm rotten. I hope we get a chance to take a shower tomorrow. I got to shave for the first time in 12 days this morning and my face just doesn't seem the same.

I'm trying to get R&R in Okinawa this coming month and I stand a good chance of getting it after this operation.

Highway Dept. Okays Spending of $125,000 in County

The Texas Highway Commission last week approved the spending of $125,000 for highway safety and betterment and improvement of the farm to market road system in Foard County during 1967, District Engineer V. J. Mc-Gee of Childress said. He said a total of 8.3 highway miles in this county will be involved and will cover the reconditioning and resurfacing of F. M. Road 267, from U. S. Highway 70, south to R. M. Road 1919. This work will be under the supervision of Howard W. Bartley, Supervising Resident Engineer, in Quanah. Statewide, the program calls for the improvement of 5,587 miles at an estimated construction cost of $39.9 million and right of way cost of $161.5 thousand. Work will include 912 projects in 215 of Texas' 254 counties. Three hundred and ninety projects are on State and U. S. highways in 170 counties and 522 projects are on farm to market roads in 179 counties.

Herbert C. Petry Jr., chairman of the Highway Commission, called the combined program "a double-barreled effort in two vitally important highway areas."

The safety and betterment portion of the program reflects the Commission's continuing concern with making Texas highways safer to prevent traffic fatalities and accidents, Petry said.

He said the program's farm to market provisions protect the investment of Texas taxpayers in their 37-thousand-mile farm and ranch to market road system.

The safety and betterment portion of the program calls for work on 2,337 miles of highways at an estimated cost of $23.2 million. This will not only add immeas-

VETERANS' LAND BOARD SALE

The Veterans' Land Board will receive sealed bids at the General Land Office, Austin, Texas, until 10:00 o'clock A.M., November 15, 1966, for the sale of 104 tracts of land. 93 tracts offered to eligible Texas Veterans only in Briscoe, Brown, Caldwell, Cameron, Culberson, Deaf Smith, Denton, Dimmit, Gaines, Hidalgo, Hunt, Jasper, Kimble, Lamar, Limestone, Maverick, McCulloch, Medina, Montgomery, Nacogdoches, Newton, Orange, Parker, Reeves, Runnels, Smith, Ward, Webb, Williamson, Winkler, Uvalde & Zavala Counties. 11 tracts offered to non-veterans and eligible Texas Veterans in Erath, Hidalgo, Maverick, Uvalde & Zavala Counties.

urable safety benefits to the 67-thousand-mile Texas highway network, Petry said, it will protect taxpayers' investment of nearly $4 billion in the highway system. He said improvements such as surface widening, bridge widening and replacement, base strengthening, seal coating, resurfacing and rebuilding of shoulders will be made by the Highway Department under the program. In the safety betterment plan, an estimated $161.5 thousand will go for purchase of right of way. Distribution of other funds includes $7.4 million for additional surfacing of 726 miles; $7 million for reconstruction of grading, structures and surfacing on 118 miles; $2.8 million for seal coating on 1,099 miles; $2.6 million for widening, reconditioning and resurfacing on 144 miles; $2.1 million on drainage structures and approaches and $1.1 million for shoulders and sodding. The farm to market road improvement portion of the program calls for work on 3,250 miles at an estimated cost of $16.7 million. Petry said heavier traffic and loads, as well as the age of many rural roads, are large factors in the need for periodic work on many Texas farm to market and ranch to market roads. Under the 1967 program, $4.9 million will be spent for reconstruction of grading, structures and surfacing on 147 miles of FM roads; $4.6 million for widening, reconditioning and resurfacing of 376 miles; $3.4 million for seal coating on 2,092 miles; $2.3 million for additional surfacing on 585 miles; $349 thousand for drainage structures and approaches on 5 miles; and $211 thousand for shoulders and sodding. Some $813 thousand is earmarked for later assignment.

Greatest Security

H. C. Diefenbach, advertising counselor, Dayton, Ohio, says: "There must be something wrong with the thinking of young folks when, seeking employment, they are more concerned over 'security' than over opportunity. In our book, the principle of private enterprise is our greatest security. The businessman who pays wages year after year gives us our greatest security. If we eliminate him, no government bureau or vote-hungry politician is going to give it to us."

New Patterns on the Land

"Texans built enough of the new, evenly spaced parallel terraces last year to reach from Texas to Maine—more than 2,200 miles," according to H. N. Smith, state conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Temple. "In fact, nearly half the terraces built in Texas were the new kind."

Cooperators with local conservation districts built more than 5,000 miles of all kinds of cropland terraces last year. 2,265 miles were parallel, as compared to 984 miles in 1965, and 440 in 1964.

"This isn't just another Texas brag," Smith continued. "It just shows how popular these modern terraces are becoming. The amount built has doubled two years in a row."

"Terraces spaced an even number of rows apart and without point rows are called parallel terraces," P. M. Price, Texas State conservation engineer, SCS, pointed out. "They really save time and money for the farmer and they do a good job of conserving soil and water."

Parallel terraces are spaced to fit both the farmer's equipment and the lay of the land. For example, they might be built 24 rows apart or 72 rows apart, depending upon the slope. Three, four, six or eight-row equipment could be used in either of the above cases.

Designing, laying out and building this kind of terrace system, however, is not an easy job. Price said it takes more engineering time to design and stake a parallel system. They may cost more to build. Shorter terraces with more grassed waterways may be needed. More cuts and fills are

Texas Cancer Drive Reached New Landmark Total

The 20th anniversary of the Texas Division, American Cancer Society, was celebrated by a landmark total in the annual campaign: $2,296,208 was reported for fiscal 1965-66, with $1,915,403 raised by volunteers in the annual April Crusade; the balance was received from legacies.

Seventy-five thousand Texans participated in the gigantic Crusade, reaching an estimated 1.8 million Texas households with cancer educational information. Triumphant Texans collected their share of a wager at the annual meeting when the Crusade Chairman from Pennsylvania, Victor Diehm, travelled to the lone Star State to present 500 Pennsylvania apples—Texas' bounty in the pre-Crusade bet between states for the highest percentage increase. Texas not only won the bet with Pennsylvania, but led the nation in percentage raised—a rousing 115.3 per cent of the 1965 total.

the apples from Mr. Diehm. Mr. Hoss himself received several rounds on enthusiastic applause from volunteers for the twelve months of service he has given to the Society as its most popular Crusader.

At the division annual meeting in Houston, October 5 and 6, volunteers received from the national organization the Crusade Competition Gold Trophy, which was accepted by A. B. Goldston, M. D., of Amarillo, 1965-66 President of the Texas Division.

The monthly meeting of the Sub-District No. 11, Texas Nurses Association met at 7:30 p. m., Oct. 4, at the Quannah Club.

Mrs. Bettie Gafford, RN, chairman, presided and introduced J. C. Sleeper, M. D., of Wichita Falls who spoke on artificial resuscitation and external heart massage. Dr. Sleeper also showed a film on the topic. A business meeting followed the program. Registered nurses of the area and guests from Quannah and Childress were present.

The November meeting is to be held in Vernon on Nov. 1.

Columbian Club

"How would you like to buy a good wagon, priced at eighty dollars, add four dollars and fifty cents more for a stout canvas to stretch over six bows of the finest, most durable wood available, load all your possessions and your family, hitch up the team and hit the road to West Texas? At night, you could bed down at a wagon yard, if you were fortunate enough to have reached a settlement, rest your team (and yourselves) and swap news with fellow travelers around the camp fire as the women folk stirred up a bite to eat."

"Early Communications and Transportation," program theme of the October 5 meeting of the Columbian Club, brought out the somewhat surprising information (at least to the younger members) that several of the women present had, in fact, arrived in this area by just such means. Interesting and amusing accounts of get-togethers down by a creek, in the fall when crops were laid by, when several families would spend a week end fishing, hunting and just plain visiting, were told and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. M. N. Kenner, leader, had members "show and tell" with old magazines and newspapers. Mrs. John S. Ray possessed the oldest magazine, a Harpers of 1857. Many present were surprised to learn that Truscott edited a weekly newspaper in years past.

Mrs. Claud Orr reviewed the changes in mail routes in this area naming paid mail carriers. Saddle horses, jigs and wagons preceded the automobile age. Patrons for each quarter section, prone to mail order purchases, made the carriers' tasks much more difficult in those days of dirt roads. Mrs. J. M. Chowning told of her trek west by wagon and enchanted her listeners with details of the trip. Mrs. Edgar Jones reviewed early events pertaining to the coming of the railroads. Land was evaluated at fifty cents an acre and land offices were established to entice easterners to take advantage of this "promised land." Many came and stayed, but there were others who were unable to withstand the rigors of pioneer life. "As one man disgustingly put it, 'The rain is all wind and the wind is all sand!'"

During the business session, it was reported that the club members had donated over one hundred books to the local library.

The meeting was held in Mrs. Jack Brown's home southwest of Truscott with the hostess, Mrs. Jack W. Brown, serving a refreshment plate at the program's conclusion.

Marion Benham Named S. C. D. Man of the Year

(Editor's note: The following article concerning a former Foard County resident is taken from the Lovington, N. M., Daily Leader.)

Marion C. Benham, a Lea County resident for the past 18 years, was named Lea County's Soil Conservation District Man of the Year by the Board of Supervisors for the conservation district.

A native of Foard County, Texas, and son of Mrs. G. J. Benham of Crowell, Benham graduated from high school at Crowell in 1937. It was his privilege to serve as president of the first FFA chapter at Crowell High School, and to participate in the public speaking debate teams from his chapter which won district competition at Texas Tech in 1937.

-Page 8-
Foard County News
Crowell, Tex., October 13, 1966

In the fall of 1937, Benham entered Texas Tech at Lubbock on a Sears Scholarship. His studies were interrupted in 1941 by World War II, at which time he entered the Army Air Corps. Upon being discharged from the service in 1946, he re-entered Tech and took a degree in Agronomy and Farm Machinery, in 1947.

After graduation, Benham spent an interim period before moving to Lea County, operating a grass seed harvesting machine which his brother had manufactured. Deciding to go into business for himself, though, he rented 160 acres of land in the Prairieview Community, and moved his bride of six years, the former Bessie Whitman, also a native of Foard County, and their small daughters, Betty and Barbara, to their original Lea County home on the E. L. Harbison place.

Not long after moving to Lea County, a third daughter, Beverly, was born to the Benhams. She is presently a senior at Lovington High School, the only one of the Benham children still residing at home. The first daughter, Betty, was graduated with honors from New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, in 1964, taking her degree in chemistry. Barbara is presently at Los Lunas, N. M., in the state hospital for the mentally retarded.

The Benhams bought their present home place, a half-section located six miles northeast of Lovington, in 1951. They retained the rented Harbison acreage, and later rented additional land from Harbison and Clifford Gray. In 1965, an additional 240 acres was acquired by Mrs. Benham from her father's estate. Their operation now involves cultivation of 705 irrigated acres, and running cattle on 200 acres of native grass.

Benham's livestock is basically a cow-calf operation. He has run sheep in the past, and concedes that there is probably a little greater net profit per dollar invested in sheep, but the problem of labor and fences make it more practical to run cattle. He maintains a herd of fifty mother cows, keeping the heifer calves for replacement stock. Better gains, less problem with insects, and less disease is attained by cross-breeding his whiteface cows to a registered Angus bull which he purchased a little over a year ago.

In addition to 200 acres of native grass pastureland, Benham utilizes stalk fields, winter pasture as permitted, and hybrid sudangrass to sustain his cattle operation. On diverted acres he plants some small grain such as rye, barley and wheat, which he grazes in compliance with the ASCS program. After the seed crop is harvested from these crops, the land is planted with a hybrid sudangrass, giving two crops a year off the same land, and providing good grazing for the cattle. The native grass is generally adequate to hold the herd during the seasons when the planted pastures cannot be grazed.

Using diverted acres in a sound crop rotation program, Benham has increased cotton yields from less than one-half bale per acre back to over one bale per acre. By breaking his acreage down into three divisions, he is able to rotate his two primary crops, cotton and grain sorghums, with a third cover crop on his diverted acres. This allows the same crop to be grown on two years in a row. Over the years varied crops have been grown on the Benham farms. There has been very little problem in getting adequate production in crops such as vegetables and sweet potatoes. The big problem has been lack of a stable marketing situation. Primarily, crop production has levelled off to Acala cotton and hybrid grain sorghums. Some stripper cotton has been planted recently due to the necessity for late planting.

In past years weeping lovegrass and sand lovegrass have been seeded on the Benham farm for grazing, and erosion and blue weed control. A few seasons seed was taken from the grass.

In the way of permanent conservation practices, Benham has used bench-leveling, concrete-lined irrigation ditches, and underground irrigation pipe. Out of the 705 acres in cultivation, 210 acres have been bench-levelled. There is a total of 12,000 feet of concrete-lined irrigation ditches, and some additional underground concrete irrigation pipe.

For soil building, Benham indicates a preference for alfalfa, but the amount of labor and water required makes it impractical for his operation. Commercial fertilizers, small grains, and cattle droppings, combined with sound rotation practices have been used effectively to increase the productivity of the Benham farms.

In order to make maximum use of the land which he farms, Benham has a prepared farm plan. He has aerial maps, soil types, and soil capability charts from both the ACP program and the Great Plains program.

Chemical weed control has been in use on the Benham farm for the past two years. Geese were used two years previously for the control of grass. Treflan has been reasonably effective on the cotton land, and Atrazine has been used on the grain sorghums. Benham has found that Atrazine, however, could interfere with crop rotation because its residue carries over from one year to the next. Some chemical Johnsongrass control has been used.

Aside from his busy farming operation, Marion Benham has been active in various organizations, both on the local and state levels. He is a member of the Lea County Farm Bureau, and has served that organization as president. Since 1955, Benham has served on the ASCS county committee, and has served as the committee's chairman for two separate years. For ten years he has served on the ASCS State Review Committee. He has served two three-year terms on the Lea County Soil and Water Conservation District board and was chairman for two separate years.

Presently, Benham serves as chairman of the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association, for which he is conducting tests of approximately twenty different varieties of grain sorghums commonly used by hybrid seed growers as pollinators.

Benham has served on the advisory board of the Artesia Experimental Farm for the past six years. He is chairman of the finance committee of the New Mexico Soil Conservation District's state committee. Serving as president for six years, he is now secretary of the Prairieview Gin Board. Also, he served as secretary to the farmers' cooperative group who put in natural gas pipelines to serve area farms. The Farm Bureau Cotton and Labor State Committee, and the Cotton Producers Institute State Committee also have Marion Benham as a member.

The Benhams attend the First Methodist Church, Lovington, where Marion serves on the official board. They are also members of the Mentally Retarded Children of Lovington Association, and the New Mexico Board for the Mentally Retarded Children, both organizations in which they have done much work.

The Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service met for a business meeting Monday afternoon with Mrs. A. R. Sanders, president, presiding.

Mrs. Sanders opened the meeting by leading the group in two songs. Mrs. Abbott gave prayer. Devotion on the Bible was given by Mrs. R. J. Thomas. The following officers gave reports: Mrs. J. N. Ribble, Miss Florence Black, Mrs. Grover Cole, Mrs. R. J. Thomas, Mrs. Merriel Abbott.

The group voted to have the World Day of Prayer Friday, Oct. 28, at 11 a. m. with a covered dish dinner. Each woman of the society is urged to bring a dish and attend. Mrs. Abbott complimented the group on one of their projects.

About 12 women from the three circles attended the meeting.

4-H Club Meeting

The Foard County Junior Leaders had their second meeting of the 1966 school year on Thursday, October 6, in the community center with 20 members present.

Joe Burkett presented an interesting program on the effects of tobacco. The next meeting will be on October 20 and Charlotte Drabek will present a program on her trip to Washington.

Government programs, coupled with adverse weather conditions, have reduced us to a position of relative shortages in wheat and other small grains. The reserves are low, some below safe levels.

Major Progress Seen on Kemp Improvements

Legislation providing funds to start reconstruction of the Lake Kemp dam apparently has cleared its last major obstacle, and could soon be on its way to President Johnson for his signature, while progress is also being made toward a goal of making Kemp's water drinkable.

The U. S. Senate Friday approved the public works bill, including the initial $1 million of an $8.6 million total needed for the project, sending the measure to the Senate-House conference committee for ironing out differences in versions passed by the two houses.

Both the Senate and House versions include the $1 million allocation, despite earlier opposition from the Bureau of the Budget, and the Lake Kemp funds are not expected to be a conference committee issue.

The Senate added $28 million in expenditures to the $4.1 billion House version, providing funds for a number of additional projects across the country.

The U. S. Corps of Army Engineers has prepared plans for the Lake Kemp dam reconstruction, and indicated that construction could start "sometime next spring."

The project would include raising the dam 16 feet and building a new spillway. An additional 200,000 acre feet would be added to the reservoir capacity—about a third of the present capacity—and several hundred cabins would need to be relocated.

Also this past week, a $46.6 million authorization for a project to control salt in the Wichita River basin and make Lake Kemp water drinkable, was approved by the public works committee. The measure is a part of the Rivers and Harbors Bill, but no funds for the work are expected to be appropriated this year.

Gambleville H. D. Club

Gambleville HD Club met in the home of Mrs. Gretel Cobb Oct. 7 with Mrs. Cobb giving the opening exercises. Roll call was answered by "a shrub I would like to add to my yard." Virginia Ilsen, HD Agent, gave the lesson on yard improvement. Rally day county wide will be held Nov. 5 at the community center. Names were drawn for Christmas secret pals. 12 members were present. Visitors are welcome; new members appreciated. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cobb.

Next meeting will be with Reba Calvin at 2 p. m. Oct. 21, with members to bring something to make as the lesson will be on hand work.

A nine-county meeting of Historical Survey Committees was held in Benjamin last Tuesday. Mrs. L. A. Andrews and Mrs. Leon Solomon represented Foard County. The chairman, Mrs. Virgil Johnson, was unable to attend.

Bob Watson, assistant director for field operations, from Austin was the speaker. Current action participant guidelines were reviewed and he answered questions.

RAMPS progress report for each of the counties attending was given. Mr. Watson discussed the proper organization of a county committee and its relationship with other groups in the county so that things historical may be preserved.
