IT TAKES MORE THAN ONE to learn ... grow ... achieve

In Russia there are no 4-H Clubs to teach boys and girls a better way of life and work; no agricultural extension service to show better methods for raising crops and livestock; no specialists to help improve homemaking skills; no business men to support this "massive, informal, educational program" which includes 4-H.

However, Premier Khrushchev did learn something about the Cooperative Extension Service during his visit to the U.S. In a Pravda article, Khrushchev revealed a "secret" to the Russian people. He admitted that certain extension practices were "borrowed" when the Soviet agricultural system was overhauled recently.

U.S. industry has backed 4-H work right from the beginning. It provides technical know-how, financial aid and recognition. More than 55 leading business firms cooperate with the extension service and the National 4-H Service Committee in sponsoring individual projects.

Today there are at least three dozen areas of 4-H Club work. Some of the newer programs and their sponsors are: Photography, Eastman Kodak; Conservation, John Deere; Foods-Nutrition, General Foods; Alumni Recognition, Olin Mathieson; Dog Care and Training, Ralston-Purina.

Fifty years ago there were only a few projects: growing tomatoes and canning them; growing corn and raising pigs to eat the corn.

Long-Time Support

Sponsors that have supported 4-H for 20 or more years are: Armour and Company; Santa Fe Railway; Burlington Railroad; Milwaukee Railroad; Coats & Clark; Conrad Hilton Hotel; Cudahy Packing Company; Firestone; Illinois Central Railroad; International Harvester; Kerr Glass; Livestock Conservation Incorporated; Montgomery Ward; Sears-Roebuck Foundation; Westinghouse Educational Foundation; Wilson & Co.; Standard Oil (Ohio); General Motors; American Oil Foundation.

Collectively they make the National 4-H Club Congress possible. One of the most coveted awards for a 4-H'er is the congress trip given to one boy or girl per state in a specific program. Altogether about 1,600 young people from 50 states travel to Chicago each fall to participate in this educational event.

County News
December 8, 1966
Congressman Poage
Cotton Farmers
Research W. R. Poage of the House Agriculture Committee, described the Cotton Research and Promotion Program in his speech at a convention of Texas cotton men in Mineral Wells.

Congressman Poage said that "of all major crops, cotton is in the deepest trouble." He pointed out that the surplus is at an all-time high and that synthetics, although higher priced, have moved into the cotton markets. Today, according to the Waco congressman, cotton supplies only a little more than one-half of our textiles because of the inroads of synthetics. "If all textiles were made of cotton, we would have no surplus at all."
While the synthetic industry finances its research and promotion at a level of $200 million annually, cotton producers are only spending $4 or $5 million.

Poage went on to say, "I think it is perfectly clear that unless we, as cotton producers, are willing to make some substantial effort to promote our own product, that we are going to continue to lose more and more markets to synthetic fibers—and I greatly fear that if farmers should show, by rejecting the referendum, that they are unwilling to finance any serious effort in behalf of their own product, that we may well lose the government help which we are getting in connection with our cotton prices.

"I am afraid that too many of our farmers overlook the fact that the average cotton producer is getting almost half of his returns in the form of government payments of one kind or the other.
I am afraid that if cotton farmers were to reject this referendum, that a great majority of the members of Congress, who come from cities, not rural areas, will throw up their hands and say that cotton isn't worth saving.
On the other hand, if farmers agree in the referendum to put up the dollar a bale, they will show by their votes that they are

I feel that sound business requires that we approve the referendum

Lubbock Official Speaker at Cancer Society Meeting

The Foard County Chapter of the American Cancer Society met on November 29 in the Methodist Men's building with Cecil Carroll, vice president, presiding in the absence of Mrs. Henry Borchardt, president. The opening prayer was led by Mrs. Gordon Cooper and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Leon Speer.
After a brief business discussion, Dale Byerly, district director of Lubbock, presented the members with a county unit handbook, and gave a very informative talk on the American Cancer Society. Some of the points brought out by Mr. Byerly were:

It is a voluntary association of people united in a determination to conquer cancer. It is an expression of the spirit of democracy, and of the belief that each individual has a responsibility to himself, his neighbor, his community, and his country. It had a small beginning, but it is still growing. Each year, more and more lives are being saved, and this is the primary object of the society. Its major fields of program operation are: public education, professional education, service and research. Half of those who develop cancer can be saved today, the rest can be helped, but not cured. Let us be ever mindful of the seven danger signals:
1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in hoarseness or cough. 5. Hoarseness or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in wart or mole.

More than 2,000,000 volunteers contribute time and energy to this society and the volunteer is the heart of the Society's attack on cancer. Won't you join your local chapter in the fight against cancer?

Memorial contributions may be given to Mrs. Frank Gribble.
Jim Woodard presented a very entertaining skit with his dancing doll, "Smokey." Next meeting date is January 31, 1967.

More Farmers Asking About Fertilizer Use

More and more farmers are asking about fertilizer usage in 1967, says County Agent Joe Burkett.
In arriving at an answer to this question, the fertility level of the soil and the expected yield must be considered.

An expression of the fertility level is not a simple single index since any combination of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium levels can exist. Soil tests should be made to determine the level of major plant nutrients, and fertilization practices for the soil and crop should be adjusted according to the soil levels, Burkett advises.

The chances of making a high and profitable yield are poor without a fertilization program adapted to the soil level and production requirement. In arriving at an expected yield, many production management and climatic factors should be evaluated. Past yields and the influence of management practices should receive due consideration in arriving at a realistic production goal, Burkett says.
Adequate fertilization should not be overlooked as a means of reducing per unit production costs and increasing profit.

The annual Christmas social of the Pioneer Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Crowell Methodist Church was held Monday, Dec. 5, at 3 p. m. in the home of the president, Mrs. A. Thomas, leader for the day's program, read the story of the birth of Jesus taken from the second chapter of Luke. "Making the abundant life possible for the needy" was the theme of the program. An inspiring and informative talk, coupled with a panel discussion on the work of the Urban Methodist Centers, was given by Mrs. Thomas. What the women's contributions to these centers meant was beautifully expressed in a closing poem entitled, "A Song in the Air, Did You Put It There?" Delightful Christmas refreshments were served to ten members present. The meeting closed with the group's singing "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," as a benediction.

Public Health Nurse Finds Job Requires Many Talents

In a time of increasing specialization in all professions, at least one area in the field of nursing remains generalist and family-centered.

It is public health nursing, among the areas of nursing to be honored this week, Texas Nurses Week. The public health nurse, particularly, must have many faces.

Her specialty is more demanding than that of a nurse because it is so very unpecialized—the public health nurse in Duff Beverly's office lists 24 separate services performed by the public health nurse.

And there are more—more white papers, but vital to the good health of a community all the same.

Mrs. Tom Beverly of LaMarque—her given name is Duff—is a particularly dedicated public health nurse. She feels she knows her job is important to many.

Mrs. Beverly's husband is a former Crowell resident and they have visited in Crowell on numerous occasions.

As supervisor of nursing in the Galveston County Health Department, she speaks with a quiet intensity about the field of public health. Her eyes are brown and direct behind her glasses, and her salt-and-pepper hair is strictly chic.

She works with a staff of nine registered nurses to provide continuous good health for the whole community. Most of the cases handled by her department are referrals from other agencies.

The public health nurse works under a physician, just as any other nurse does, but all the "patients" may not be ill.

"We're concerned with helping families to help themselves," she said. "We're concerned with physical health and emotional health—whatever needs the family might have."

Most of her work is with lower-income families. The health department provides immunizations, child, maternal, infant and child preventive care, a week, providing public health services which cannot afford a private physician.

The public health nurse is also a teacher, Mrs. Beverly points out. "Many new mothers don't know how to care for their babies," she said. "We will show her how to hold the baby, how to give formula, how to sterilize the bottles."

The public health nurse is also a health educator. She may teach how to give injections, teach the diabetic, for example.

One of the main differences in public health nursing and hospital nursing is that the public health nurse has the patient in his own home, not in a sterile hospital. The nurse may need to explain food sanitation, how to prepare a special diet, or even how to keep a house clean.

Public health nursing is also preventive nursing, Mrs. Beverly said. If a mother-to-be who comes by maternity ward shows signs of complications, the condition is quickly caught and brought to the attention of the physician, who is often at the University of Texas Medical Branch OB clinic.

"We work very closely with the Medical Branch," Mrs. Beverly said, "and with many other agencies as well. If we see that a family is having economic problems, we may refer them to the proper agency, for instance."

With the passage of Medicare, the County Health Department was given the responsibility for administering home health service for Medicare—again, under doctor's orders.

The public health nurse is called on in time of disaster, too, such as the Texas City explosion or Hurricane Carla. Most often, this is follow-up care which may continue for a year after the disaster—helping patients to learn to use an artificial limb, or it might be concentrated immediately—giving typhoid immunizations, for example.

It was in such a time that Mrs. Beverly came to Galveston County. She had taught nursing arts at Texas Woman's University and had worked in the Navy Nurse Corps during World War II. She took post-graduate work in public health at Vanderbilt and received her BS degree at the University of Texas, her RN diploma at Scott & White Hospital. She is also a Pilot Club member of LaMarque.

She came to Galveston County in February of 1947, and two months later the Texas City explosion occurred—a dramatic and tragic introduction to her new job.

But Galveston County has been good to her all the same—it was here that she met and married Tom Beverly.

(Editor's note: The foregoing article appeared in the Texas City Sun and was sent to the News by J. R. Eldridge, a former Crowell resident.)

Mrs. Solomon Attends State Historical Survey Convention

Mrs. Leon Solomon, a member of the Foard County Historical Survey Committee, represented this county when she attended the annual convention of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and Texas Historical Foundation at Green Oaks Inn in Fort Worth December 1, 2 and 3.

Those attending with her from this area were Mrs. Jessie Thomas of Paducah, chairman of Cattle County HSC; Mrs. B. B. Campbell of Knox City, a member of Knox County HSC, and Mrs. Ruby E. Nichols of Seymour, who is a member of the Baylor County HSC, but is chairman of the Texas Heritage Department of the Santa Rosa District and a member of the Pacific Club, who had requested her to make a report on her attendance at this convention.

In the registration kit was a copy of the program and the State flower with directions for sending a gift from Mrs. John Gentry. He said it was to help

Indication of Change in the Political World

"The recent death of a rights bill in the United States is significant. It indicates a change in the political world, what sometimes appears to be the case, politicians vote close to the wishes of constituents on bills which stirred intense emotions. Observers agree one factor played a part in turning opinion against the bill was spread resentment over riots and disorders in the cities."—Columbia, Miss., Christian-Progress.

He is Right

"Cartoonist Al Capp, writing the International Association of Chiefs of Police in Philadelphia, stated that youngsters are being taught to demand everything from America. And when you think about it—he is right—are beginning to look at us as a benevolent superpower; we are asking it as finance almost everywhere. As a result, patriotism has gone out the window."—Columbia, Pa., Press.

Senses Add to Meat Enjoyment

Think of a meat roast without its aroma, or bacon without its characteristic "crunch." Sound unappealing?

These examples were used at a recent meeting of the American Meat Institute to illustrate that there is more to enjoying meat than just taste. We use our sense of taste to identify different types of taste in food—sweet, sour, salt and bitter. Yet we say we can't taste anything when we have a cold because aroma is vital in distinguishing between different foods.

While there are only 16 types of odor receptors in the nose, these receptors are able to distinguish and identify over three thousand different chemicals. The reaction of a sleepy house hold to the aroma of breakfast bacon sizzling is convincing evidence of this sensitivity.

The sensations we receive by actual touch are part of meat eating enjoyment as any man biting into a juicy steak will tell you. These sensations include not only texture but also temperature and feeling factors in the mouth.

Having the "snap" of a bite into a hot dog and seeing a rich brown crust on a pork chop contribute to eating pleasure, too. Because of these many and varied factors, taste panels are vital in the manufacture of prepared meat products. Not only are the human mouth and nose more sensitive than any known instrument, but individual reactions to products are a guide to sausage makers in

From the News

THIRTY YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the Thursday, Dec. 8, 1936, issue of The Foard County News:

Wildcat eagles of Crowell High School make their cage debut Friday night of this week at the local gymnasium at 7:30. They tangle with Halbert-coached quintet of Kirkland High. The Kirkland five is being tutored by Grady Halbert, graduate of Crowell High School. Probable starters for Crowell will be Richard Kelsey and Clinton McLain as forwards, J. S. Owens and Jim Whitfield as guards and Garrett Middlebrook as center.

A huge tusk, probably from a mastodon or other large animal now extinct, was unearthed Tuesday by highway workers in a gravel pit on Pease River about eight miles north of Crowell. From tip to tip the tusk measures slightly more than six feet, and part of one end has been broken away. At the largest place, it measures about 26 inches in circumference.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new grammar school foundation which was started recently. A carload of cement was received this week to be used in the foundation work.

From a small building 20 feet by 40 feet to a large double building 50 feet by 100 feet is the record of the Womack Furniture Store and Funeral Home since it was first purchased by W. R. Womack in 1907.

O. M. Skipper, former chief engineer of the Humble Pipe Line Co. at Truscott, returned to his home in Canyon last Wednesday. He will be succeeded at the Truscott station by Clifford Orr of Ballinger.

Dorothy Love of Good Creek spent the past week with her brother, R. E. Love, and family of Beaver.

Work was begun this week in installing two new gas compressors at the Texas Company's gasoline plant in the southwest part of Foard County.

Mr. and Mrs. Abb Dunn entertained with a 42 party Saturday night honoring Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Moore of Lorenzo.

Lorraine Carter returned home last Friday from Corpus Christi where he spent several months.

Harwell's Store will be opened in the J. H. Self building on the west side of the square Saturday morning.

Bill Cates, who is attending school in Abilene, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with his father, Ed Cates, at Thalia.

Floyd Webb, Roy Shultz and R. H. Cooper went deer hunting in Southwest Texas a few days last week.

J. E. Bernard, old age pension investigator of Haskell, spent Monday in Truscott.

A demonstration of a damming machine will be given on the M. S. Henry farm about a mile west of the stock pens next Tuesday. Walter Lee of Vernon, who has a patent on the machine, will give the demonstration. It dams up the lister furrows every ten feet. It is a newly invented machine.

"Cold-Cure" Is Non-Existent

The American Medical Association suggests if anyone tries to sell you a "cold-cure," save your money. "Many of the classic diseases of history have succumbed in the 20th century to new medical skills and modern drugs. But the cold virus still successfully resists the best efforts of the world's combined medical research talent."
