IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST

The Texas Legislature is being asked to declare legal the practice of optometry under trade or assumed names and in multiple offices.

The effect would be to restore what was the law until the State Board of Optometry adopted a rule prohibiting the practice, and the Texas Supreme Court, reversing the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals, held that the board was within its authority to promulgating the rule.

Optometric Association which tried unsuccessfully in 1939 and 1952 to get the Legislature to forbid the practice of optometry under a trade name.

A rehearing is being sought before the Supreme Court, but if the recent ruling stands, as seems likely, it is quite possible that the cost of eye care and glasses for Texans will increase substantially.

There is no doubt at all that permitting licensed optometrists to practice under trade or assumed names and in multiple offices has had the effect of keeping down the cost of eye care and glasses to the people of Texas.

The increase in patronage which these practitioners are enjoying is perhaps the best evidence that the public needs and wants this type of service.

Licensed optometrists engaging in this type of practice must meet exactly the same standards, as those who practice in offices under their own names.

The News believes that the rule of the State Board of Optometry is not in the public interest and that the Legislature should, by enacting specific legislation, declare to be legal what has been permitted in the past.

news, down through the ages, but many. He has qualified the word "gospel" by distinctive titles, just as a woman labels her preserves to distinguish the different foods she has put up for the winter.
 The "gospel of the kingdom" and the "gospel of the grace of God" are not the same, and certainly the "gospel of the circumcision" and the "gospel of the uncircumcision" are not the same.
 When we come upon the phrase "the gospel" without any qualifying title, we should immediately ask: "Which gospel?" and invariably the context will provide the answer. Luke 9:6, for example, simply states that the twelve disciples went about "preaching the gospel," but verse 2 of the same chapter explains how the Lord had sent them "to preach the Kingdom of God"—not the cross, but the kingdom, since He, the King, was in their midst. These disciples could not have engaged in "the preaching of the cross," as Paul later did, for it was not until at least two years after that the Lord "began" to tell them how He must suffer and die (Matt. 16:21), and then Peter "began to rebuke Him" (ver. 22) and none of the twelve even understood what he was talking about (see Luke 18:34).
 But whereas "the gospel of the kingdom" had been committed to the twelve while Christ was on earth, "the preaching of the cross" (as good news) and "the gospel of the grace of God" was later committed to the Apostle Paul and to us (1 Cor. 1:18; Acts 20:24).
 Today we do not proclaim the kingdom rights of Christ. Rather we proclaim "redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace" (Eph. 1:7).

Two Minutes With the Bible
 Which Gospel?
 A friend asks: "Have you heard the good news?" and you reply: "What good news?" Naturally! All good news is not the same. Yet few people follow this procedure when they read in the Bible the phrase "the gospel"—which simply means "the good news." They have been taught that "the gospel is the gospel" and "there is only one gospel," but this is simply not so in the light of the Bible itself.
 God has not proclaimed only one gospel, one item of good news, down through the ages, but many. He has qualified the word "gospel" by distinctive titles, just as a woman labels her preserves to distinguish the different foods she has put up for the winter.
 The "gospel of the kingdom" and the "gospel of the grace of God" are not the same, and certainly the "gospel of the circumcision" and the "gospel of the uncircumcision" are not the same.
 When we come upon the phrase "the gospel" without any qualifying title, we should immediately ask: "Which gospel?" and invariably the context will provide the answer. Luke 9:6, for example, simply states that the twelve disciples went about "preaching the gospel," but verse 2 of the same chapter explains how the Lord had sent them "to preach the Kingdom of God"—not the cross, but the kingdom, since He, the King, was in their midst. These disciples could not have engaged in "the preaching of the cross," as Paul later did, for it was not until at least two years after that the Lord "began" to tell them how He must suffer and die (Matt. 16:21), and then Peter "began to rebuke Him" (ver. 22) and none of the twelve even understood what he was talking about (see Luke 18:34).
 But whereas "the gospel of the kingdom" had been committed to the twelve while Christ was on earth, "the preaching of the cross" (as good news) and "the gospel of the grace of God" was later committed to the Apostle Paul and to us (1 Cor. 1:18; Acts 20:24).
 Today we do not proclaim the kingdom rights of Christ. Rather we proclaim "redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace" (Eph. 1:7).

Check Your Social Security at Age 62

Last July a man who was earning $2400 per year reached age 65 and filed a claim with the Social Security Administration so that he could establish his entitlement to medicare.

He had no intention of retiring because he enjoyed his work and felt he had many good years left.

Consequently, he was surprised when he started receiving social security checks soon after filing his application.

What he did not realize was that he did not lose all of his social security checks because his earnings were over $1500 a year.

The law provides that one dollar for every two dollars earned between $1500 and $2700 is deducted from the total social security payable each year. An additional one dollar for every dollar earned is deducted for any earnings over $2700.

Thus, the man who earned $2400 would have only $450 deducted from the total social security benefits payable to him for the year.

Even if a person's earnings exceed the limit for possible payment for the year, he can still draw a check for any month he does not earn more than $125, or, if self-employed, does not render substantial services in a business. Individuals age 62 or over in this area are urged to contact the Vernon Social Security office at 1728 Fannin Street, even though they are still working, and find out if they could qualify for some of their benefits each year based on the facts that apply in their individual situation.

Former Crowell Resident Honored by Jaycee-Ettes

Mrs. Joe Lee of Vernon is owner of a plaque proclaiming her an "Outstanding Jaycee-Ette President"—one of seven Texas women so honored at the joint convention of Texas Jaycees and Jaycee-Ettes over the week end at Port Worth.

Mrs. Lee is the former Miss Norma Matthews, daughter of Bert Matthews of Crowell.

She won the honor in competition with presidents of 13 other Jaycee-Ette groups in the new club category.

Mrs. Lee received the award on the basis of projects of the Vernon club, which included work supporting the Red Cross regional bloodmobile and adoption of a ward of patients at Vernon State Hospital. Another factor in determining the honor was her travel and participation in area activities of the Jaycee-Ettes. She attended four conventions and five installation banquets of area groups during the past year to rank high in this category.

In addition to her activities as Jaycee-Ette president, Mrs. Lee, who is a secretary for a Vernon law firm, is a member of Beta Sigma Phi. Her husband is employed by the Vernon office of the Texas Highway Department.

She and Mr. Lee have a daughter, Leslie, 5.

Good Records Save Migration Show Tax Dollars Stars Big Cranes

Dallas, Texas — Good record keeping throughout the year can save tax dollars at income tax filing time.

Taxpayers who keep good records are less likely to overlook deductions to which they are entitled, says Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue in northern Texas.

Those who itemize their deductions on page 2, form 1040, should keep cancelled checks, receipts, statements and other data to support them.

One way to keep records is to get a supply of large envelopes or folders, label them according to the types of income and deductions you have, and accumulate the information, Mr. Campbell said.

If you keep good records, preparing your 1967 tax return will be a much easier task, the Internal Revenue Service official said.

New Thread Now on Market

With all of the new fabrics on the market they now have a new thread, according to Mrs. Virginia J. Iseng, Foard County H. D. Agent. Durable press fabric now has its own special thread. "Dual duty" thread is designed particularly for sewing durable press knits and stretch fabrics. Available in many sewing centers, the new thread sews and irons like cotton thread but gives the stronger, more durable seams of a synthetic thread.

The first "dual duty" thread had a nylon core which is being replaced by a core of polyester covered with silicone-treated cotton. The nylon gave twisting and knotting problems in hand sewing.

The thread, size 60, comes in a range of 30 colors including black and white.

The manufacturer makes these recommendations for sewing with "dual duty" thread.

Don't break the thread when you take it from the spool; cut it on a slant for easy threading.

Use a light touch when hand sewing and a loose tension when machine stitching.

Use a short length of thread (about 18 inches) and an embroidery needle when hand sewing.

Test the machine stitch on a double thickness of fabric until you have a smooth seam. A ripple at the end of a seam is caused by too much pressure on the pressure foot. To correct, loosen the pressure bar screw.

Farewell Party

Mrs. Jim Free was honored with a farewell party by the West Side Home Demonstration Club Tuesday, April 18, in the home of Mrs. Walter Thomson. Games were enjoyed by the members and the honoree was presented with a shower of gifts.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mmes. E. A. Dunagan, George Rietmayer, Arthur Sandlin, Jim Henry, S. E. Tate, Roy Cooper, Homer Ketchersid, the hostesses, Mrs. Thomson, Mrs. Charlie Wishon and Mrs. Oscar Gentry; and three small guests, Brenda Henry, Tanja Gail and Dee Ann Baize.

The Russian explorer Bellinghausen first circumnavigated Antarctica in 1819-1821.

Miss departures of many large wild birds, including the noisy sandhill cranes, has alerted the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge staff that it's about time for those celebrated migrants—the whooping cranes—to leave for the northland.

Manager Phil Morgan reported to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department that a daily aerial watch has begun to check out the 43 giant white birds that ordinarily leave by mid-April for the Great Slave Lake Area in Northwest Territory.

"We have noticed the usual pre-flight nervousness among the cranes," said Morgan. One of the refuge staff kept such a close lookout last spring that he was able to observe a historic mass whooper takeoff.

Departure word is flashed from the refuge to the Interior Department in Washington for relay to the sky watching populace along the sprawling flyway.

However, some wildlife authorities suggest that the majestic whoopers, whose wintering numbers decreased by one on the southward flight last fall, may make the northern hop at great altitudes, possibly non-stop.

Morgan said the mystery of whooper flight patterns and transit habits has intensified North American interest. Volunteers excitedly report their observations and oftentimes mistake other big white birds with black wing tips for the huge cranes that have a featherless reddish crown and cheeks and fly with both their neck and legs extended. Unofficial observers commonly err on whistling swans, white Ibis, white pelicans and slate-colored sandhill cranes. But their curiosity means rewarding contacts for career wildlife people.

The pyramiding interest has been reflected, said Morgan, by a 20 per cent attendance increase at the refuge despite a small fee. He said the Federal "Golden Passport," a $7 annual fee admitting travelers to all such federal installations, "is becoming more common."

Tourism Becomes Billion Dollar Texas Industry

The Texas Highway Department's 1966 Visitor Industry Report reveals that tourism entered the select circle of "billion-dollar" industries last year. A record 19,236,000 persons came to Texas by all forms of transportation spending a total of $1,080,000,000.

Again in 1966 the automobile was the overwhelming choice of transportation for the Texas visitor. The department's survey shows a total of 14,157,000 out-of-state persons traveling by automobile visited the state in 1966 spending $723,847,000.

In addition, the Texas Tourist Council, an Austin headquartered association of travel-related businesses, estimates another 5,079,000 persons visited the state last year through the facilities of commercial carriers. The council estimates the commercial carrier contribution to the total spending at $356,155,000.

Junior-Senior Banquet-Prom Held Saturday

The C. H. S. School Cafeteria was transformed into the garden of a colonial mansion for the annual Junior-Senior banquet and prom last Saturday night.

The one hundred and fifteen invited guests entered through an ivy-covered trellis. With a theme, "Teaser Is the Night," the mansion was seen in the background. Fluffy clouds, glistening stars and beautiful flowers added much to the scene. A bright silvery moon looked down with a radiance that could only reflect its expression of approval of the event. Near the center of the garden, a fountain shot a "shower of diamonds" and the bursting droplets fell back into the pool.

Junior class president Gary Toie welcomed the seniors, their class parents, faculty and junior class members. Don Ray Borchardt, senior class president, gave the response. Four junior girls, Mary Sue Carpenter, Lida Jo Cates, Cindy Erwin and Kay Looney sang "Blue Moon" and "I'll Never Stop Loving You," and then the meal was served by sophomore waiters.

Ronnie Evanson and Michael Eubank, dressed as men from outer space, presented the prophecy and Steve Gray read the will.

The barbecue dinner was catered by Underwood's of Wichita Falls.

"The Bards" of Electra played for the prom which followed.

The couple attended Texas Tech during the 1965-1966 school year; the groom is now in school at Henderson County Junior College at Athens, Texas.

A bridal shower honoring Miss Patricia Jackson, bride-elect of Wayne Richardson, was given last Tuesday, April 18, at 3 p. m. in the basement of the First Baptist Church of Crowell.

Mrs. Loraine Carter greeted the guests, presenting them to the receiving line composed of the bride-elect; her mother, Mrs. I. J. Jackson; the groom's mother, Mrs. W. C. Richardson of Vernon; her grandmothers, Mrs. C. F. Bradford and Mrs. Minnie Clark. The guests were then greeted by Mrs. Jeff Bell, who registered them in a white leather bride's book.

The honoree was attired in a beige princess style dress. Her corsage was of blue carnations.

The serving table was centered with an arrangement of white roses in a milk glass vase on a white satin tablecloth. The napkins carried out the chosen colors of the bride, blue and white, with engraving of "Pat and Wayne."

Refreshments were served from a milk glass punch bowl surrounded with clusters of blue grapes and white leaves. Serving were Meses, Maurice Naron and Tom Smith.

Music for the afternoon was presented by Miss Jon Ann Carter.

The hostesses presented the bride with a bed spread.

Columbian Club

On April 19, nine members of the Columbian Club and one guest enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. H. P. Gillespie at her home in Truscott for their safety program.

The theme this year was safety in the home with Mrs. N. J. Roberts as leader.

Mrs. Roberts spoke on use and care of electrical appliances, and the necessity of demanding that all lamps, appliances, and cords carry the U. L. tag.

Mrs. John Ray's topic was "how to stay alive when lightning strikes;" she also gave some important facts about tornadoes and some precautions that can be taken during the usual tornado season.

Mrs. Roberts then told of some poisonous plants found in flower gardens. This was followed by a general discussion of garden plants—medicinal as well as poisonous.

After refreshments, the club was adjourned to meet on May 3 with Mrs. Ray with the lesson on pioneer schools and the books they used.

Riverside H. D. Club

The first April meeting of the Riverside Home Demonstration Club was a delayed meeting at the home of Mrs. Hiram Gray.

This was the Bible program which consisted of the story of Rebecca based not only on the account in Genesis, but also in her characterization by Edith Deen in her book, "All the Women of the Bible." Mrs. John Ray had prepared this number. This was followed by a game of Bible Lotto.

Mrs. Gray served refreshments to eight members and three guests.

On April 18, nine members of the club and three guests met at the home of Mrs. T. H. Matthews for a lesson on "First Aid" and "Home Care of the Sick" which was given by Mrs. Annie Shultz. Roll call was answered with suggestions on keeping an ill person comfortable and as happy as possible.

The diversion of the afternoon was another session of Bible Lotto.

After delicious refreshments and a very enjoyable social hour, the club adjourned to meet May 2 with Mrs. Raymond Grimm.

Optometry Practice

Two bills before the Texas Legislature would permit firms with trade names to continue the practice of optometry. At stake is an old feud between the individual optometrist practicing under his own name and the optometric firm practicing under a firm name. The State Board of Optometry adopted a rule unfavorable to the firms, and the Supreme Court upheld the board.

The News believes that these firms should be allowed to continue their practice, as they have in the past—as long as their practitioners are qualified. And certainly they must be qualified, by examination, before presenting themselves to the public.

In the last 30 years, millions of eye examinations have been made by licensed optometrists practicing under trade names in optometric offices throughout the state—and under laws passed by the Legislature. The quality of eye-care service has not been impaired; on the contrary, the trade-name firms have held down the cost of eye examinations and spectacles, thus permitting thousands in lower-income brackets to have more efficient sight.

Passage of the two bills now before the Legislature will not change the situation which has existed for 30 years. The bills merely affirm the intent of the legislative body to permit practice of optometry in one or more offices and under a trade name if

Small West Texas Towns Need Not Fade from Picture

The small West Texas town need not fade from the picture if it follows the ideas and suggestions put forth at the 49th annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting in Del Rio last week.

"The small town must be preserved as the last citadel of gracious living, neighborliness and close friendships based upon intimate knowledge of the hopes, dreams and ambitions of one another," according to John Ben

-Page 8-
Foard County News
Crowell, Texas, April 27, 1967

Shepperd, Odessa, president of the WTCC in summarizing the findings of the Small Towns Task Force which has released its report.

Leadership was pointed out as the most important ingredient of a community's progress, when Mayor Royce Lee, Bronte, presented the section on the role of leadership in building the small community. Communication between leaders and those who follow was emphasized as necessary to the successful completion of community projects. Involvement of the entire community is also mandatory if the community is to accept the projects, according to the section leader.

Dick Morrow, Fort Stockton businessman, led the section on the educational, recreational and cultural opportunities of the small towns. It was pointed out in this section that vocational and technical courses in the small town high schools will be most helpful in preparing the students for job opportunities. To the availability of these trained people will attract certain industries to the area because of the special skills available in the labor market.

Cultural activities of the small town can be expanded by utilizing the facilities of nearby metropolitan areas. Concert series, art classes, dramatic presentations offered in the metropolitan centers provide an excellent opportunity to small town residents to see, enjoy and participate in such pursuits. Expanded library facilities with possible exchange privileges were suggested as a means of broadening the cultural and educational programs of the small towns.

"Industrial possibilities abound for the small town," according to Claude W. Brown, McCamey, member of the Texas Industrial Commission and member of the Small Towns Task Force, who led the presentation on industrial potentials for the small town.

The report, entitled "The Small Community in West Texas," made several recommendations regarding industry potentials for the small communities which included: (1) Establishment of research centers for the development of cotton which would meet textile mill demands that will be compatible to the West Texas climate and growing conditions; (2) assignment by the Texas Industrial Commission of at least two members of its staff to work exclusively with small towns; (3) establishment of a fibers research center at Texas Tech to further the uses of natural and petrochemical feedstock fibers; (4) passage of legislation permitting issuance of industrial revenue bonds by cities and counties; (5) encouragement of home-grown industries in the community; (6) apply the multiplier factor to raw products to increase the income of farmers, processors and finishers by developing more processing and finishing plants for raw materials and products in the West Texas area.

Small towns were told to analyze the reasons for their continued existence. Too, they were admonished to develop their assets and advertise the good living conditions, the slower pace of living and the congenial atmosphere of the small communities.

Higher taxes, more aggressive leadership on the part of public officials and cooperation between governmental bodies were suggested as possible means of attaining goals in the small communities, when Mrs. Fred McCleskey of Stephenville, city councilwoman, led the discussion on the role of city and county responsibilities in the development of the small towns.

Many towns, according to the surveys, listed low taxes as an asset, whereas the problems in the same towns were often listed as lack of facilities which are normally paid for with taxes. This paradox must be corrected, according to the report, before real progress can be achieved.

Elected officials should assume more of their civic responsibilities if they are to be kept in office and city and county governments, as well as school, hospital and water districts should coordinate their planning for the most effective utilization of the tax dollar, the study suggested.

Although the Task Force did not recommend specific federal or state grant or aid programs that should be utilized by the small towns, it did suggest that a thorough analysis of available assistance from these sources in planning, as well as in financing, should be made by the leadership of the small towns.

"Do it yourself" programs were lauded in the study with specific examples cited of cities which have undergone tremendous revitalization through the efforts of local citizens and without the financial assistance of state or federal government funds.

The final section of the printed report outlined Project STEP—"Small Town Economic Progress," a program for the implementation of the suggestions and recommendations contained in this report as well as those developed through the community inventories conducted late in 1966.

Copies of the study were presented to each of the mayors, county judges and other community leaders in attendance at the annual meeting. These leaders will be expected to call meetings of their own citizens when they return home and start the implementation of Project STEP. Members of the Small Towns Task Force, WTCC officers and staff members will provide assistance in the STEP program in each of the communities that request assistance, according to Shepperd.

Three Accidents Reported in County During March

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated three accidents on rural highways in Foard County during the month of March, according to Sgt. Floyd Etheridge, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area. These crashes resulted in an estimated property damage of $1,630.00.

The rural accident summary for this county during the first three months of 1967 shows a total of four accidents resulting in no persons killed, one person injured, and an estimated property damage of $2,230.00.

The final entry in the 1966 Texas traffic records has been entered and closed. An all-time record high of 3,406 persons killed, 208,310 persons injured, and an estimated property loss of $557,414,000 was sustained. This compares to the 1965 record of 3,028 persons killed, 186,062 injured, and an estimated property damage of $498,070,000.00.

Since the death count of 2,254 in 1960, Texas has gained steadily each year. The Sergeant stated, "If the death rate increases during the last four years of this decade as it has during the first years, the death count will stand at 4,745 in 1970." What is the solution? Only you, Mr. Motorist, holds the answer!

General Store

Project Nets $165.23

Despite the fact that the General Store project was on a smaller scale than last year, the Women's Service League was not disappointed and all agreed it was a success. Netting a total of $165.23, this figure proved again the generosity and helpfulness of Foard County people in helping the League in this charitable enterprise. For this, the League is indeed grateful.

The League met Thursday, April 20, at noon in the Methodist Church basement. After the luncheon, Mrs. Cornelia McDaniel, president, announced regretfully that Jerry Floyd, band director of the Crowell High School, who was to give the program, was unable to do so because of the busy preparations for the coming concert. The league is looking forward to having Mr. Floyd and his students at a later more convenient date.

Mrs. Fred Wehba, library representative for the league, presented a detailed report upon the need of young parents and other adults to encourage children, beginning at an early age, to read the right kind of books, thereby molding their receptive minds in the American way of life. To impress the importance of this need, and the fact that democracy and Christianity must meet the deadly challenge of communism, Mrs. Wehba made this startling quote from Bishop Sheen:

"Communist propaganda has made more converts to its way since World War II than Christianity has in two thousand years."

Mrs. Wehba added, "Therefore, it is imperative that we stage the war on young minds early as a defense against the onslaught of communist propaganda. No truer words have ever been uttered than those of Napoleon's statement that the pen is mightier than the sword." She ended her report by stating that any contributions to the local library fund will be deeply appreciated.

It was agreed that in the future the general store will be held only once a year in the fall. To date, plans for a program for the next meeting are not definite.

Texas Highway Department survey form comments indicated over 91 per cent of Texas' automobile visitors in 1966 were favorably impressed. Most frequently mentioned likes included highways, tourist bureaus, Texans, Six Flags Over Texas, scenery, accommodations, rest areas, cities and the Astrodome.
