Edward Mechell, Jr., Receives Wildlife Conservation Award for Youth

Edward Mechell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mechell of the Riverside community, won the coveted Wildlife Conservation Award for Youth at the annual Northwest Texas Field and Stream Association banquet at Wichita Falls Saturday night. In presenting the award, Dr. Raymond Hander stated that Edward had done more for wildlife conservation than any youth who had ever won the award.

Mechell is a freshman at Midwestern University majoring in math. His conservation work began eight years ago while he was in 4-H Club work, and he still maintains a five-acre wildlife pasture. Over the years, he has planted persimmon trees, pecans, sunflowers, corn, Georgia cane, and alfalfa in the pasture.

He has built nine large mesquite shelters for the quail and other wildlife, and each year leaves some sudan or wheat stubble around the fence surrounding the pasture so that the birds will have food and protection in the winter. He started out with thirteen quail, and now has over 300 bobwhites and blues.

A 4-H Gold Star winner in 1963, Mechell was also active in FFA and is an Eagle Scout. Working toward the latter, he acquired over 50 merit badges, which is more than any other boy in Troop 49 has acquired since its chartering in 1958.

On his swine projects, Mechell banked $1,800, which is sending him to college this year. From his earnings, he has also been able to buy a used tractor, one-way plow, two guns, ammunition, fishing equipment, and annual subscriptions to several magazines.

Edward's parents were also guests of the Northwest Texas Field & Stream Association banquet which attracted 1,600 people this year.

Community Action Committee to Have Meeting Thursday

The Community Action Committee of Foard County will have a meeting Thursday night (tonight) beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the community center, Felix Taylor, Operation Mainstream director, announced Monday.

All members of the committee are urged to be present, and all other interested persons are cordially invited to attend, Mr. Taylor said.

He added that there are several important items for the committee to make decisions on at the meeting tonight.

Progress is being made on renovation of the Legion building on South Main Street, with a new roof being put on the building this week, he added.

More Moisture Falls Here Saturday and Monday

Thunder showers kicked up preceding a cold front last Saturday afternoon brought Foard County a small amount of moisture, with just a trace falling in town. A light mist fell intermittently Monday and Tuesday.

The cold front dropped the temperature and temporarily halted the beautiful spring weather of last week.

Health Is Wealth

"Health is wealth." Benjamin Franklin got credit for saying it a long time ago. But this bit of wisdom was nothing new. After all, one doesn't need to be a sage to know that good health is essential to happy, productive life. It's man's most priceless possession." —Warrensburg, Mo., Star-Journal.

Two Minutes With the Bible

The "Rightness" of God

St. Paul's great Epistle to the Romans has much to say about "the righteousness of God;" in fact, this is theme of the Book of Romans. Sad to say, however, the Bible is so little read and studied of late that many people do not even know what the word "righteousness" means.

Actually, every man, woman and child should know about the righteousness of God—or, to simplify the word—the rightness of God. It is most important to understand that God does always and only that which is right. He can do nothing and will do nothing that is not right.

Thus God cannot and does not merely forgive sinners and smuggle them into heaven, for this would not be right. As Job 8:20 rightly says: "Behold, God will not cast away a perfect man; neither will He help evil doers," for neither would be right.

It was Bildad who said this to Job, and Job replied, almost exasperated: "I know it is so of a truth, but how shall a man be just with God?" In other words, how can a holy God look upon a sinner and pronounce him righteous?

With this background, let's consider Paul's great declaration in Romans 1:16,17: "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth . . . for therein is the righteousness of (i. e., the rightness) of God revealed . . . True the love of God is revealed in the gospel, but what made Paul so proud to proclaim the gospel is the fact that it shows how God dealt "righteously," rightly with sin, paying its penalty Himself at Calvary; that He might offer salvation to all by free grace.

Thus the Apostle declares Romans 6:23: "The wages of sin is death (this is its just penalty) but the free gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, our Lord."

Higher Earnings Possible with Social Security Benefits

For older people and other ben-efiaries who continue to work, the recent changes in social security will enable them to make more money and still draw some or all of their social security benefits, Edwin Draughon, manager of the Vernon Social Security office, said this week.

The amount of money a person can earn in a year and still draw all his social security benefits has been raised. Beginning with 1968, a person who makes as much as $1,680 can still collect all of his social security benefits.
 Even if he earns considerably more than that, he may still draw some benefits. The old law had set that limit at $1,500, through 1967.

Here's how it now works. If you are working regularly and do not earn more than $1,680 a year in wages, you will receive all of your social security benefits each month. If you are working regularly and make more than $1,680 a year, $1 will be withheld from your benefits for each $2 you make over $1,680, and up to $2,880.
 If you make more than $2,880, $1 will be deducted from your benefits for each $1 you make above that amount.

However, regardless of your total earnings for the year, you will receive your social security check for any month in which you do not earn more than $140 in wages and are not active in self-employment. This means that you could make any amount over $1,680 a year, and still receive your checks for any month that you do not work, but with deductions against the months that you do work.

Remember, these new provisions apply to earnings in 1968. The old law applies to earnings and benefits in 1967. As in the old law, there are no deductions taken from your social security benefits for any month after you reach 72, regardless of how much you earn in the year.

Easter Seal Fund Drive in Progress

Persons with physical handicaps who need treatment and service in Foard County may find the services they need through Robert Kincaid, who is the Foard County representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled
 Children and Adults of Texas.

The Easter Seal Society offers rehabilitation services to children and adults with physical disabilities including speech and hearing problems, according to Mr. Kincaid. The Society also operates an information and referral service that will direct residents of Foard County to other appropriate sources of health and welfare aid in the area, he said.

Kincaid urged parents, doctors, nurses, clergymen and other individuals and organizations to refer handicapped persons who need assistance to the Easter Seal Society by contacting him at the Crowell State Bank.

The Texas Easter Seal Society helps support 21 treatment centers where services are provided to crippled children and adults regardless of their ability to pay.
 Physical, occupational and speech therapy are offered to help the handicapped to overcome their disabilities.

The Easter Seal program is financed by contributions made during the Easter Seal campaign which is now underway and will continue until April 14, Easter Sunday.

Former Crowell Resident Killed in Auto Mishap

Funeral services for Danny Phipps, 24, former Crowell resident, were held at 1 p. m. Saturday from Graford Baptist Church. Interment was in the Deatur Cemetery.

According to a news story in the Abilene Reporter-News Sunday, Phipps was killed in a car wreck on March 3 near Possum Kingdom Lake. The automobile and body were discovered in a creek last Thursday near Highway 254.

Phipps, born in 1944 in Odessa, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Phipps of Graford. He attended the eighth grade of Crowell Elementary School in 1959 when the family lived here and Mr. Phipps was employed in oil field work. The youth graduated from Cisco High School and Cisco Junior College and was employed by the Palo Pinto Stone Co. as asphalt manager at the time of his death.

He is survived by his parents of Graford; two sisters, Brenda and Margaret, of the home; and 3 brothers, Vernon Phipps of Brazoria, Gary of Cisco and James of Graford.

The News was informed of Danny's death by Otis Smith of Knox City, a former Truscott resident.

Rev. E. L. Yeats — Former Pastor — Still Active at 80

(Editor's note: The following article concerning a former pastor of the Crowell Methodist Church, was written by James T. Anderson and appeared in the Texas Co-Op. Power magazine in the March, 1968, issue.)

Man's eternal search for that elusive "fountain of youth" remains fruitless.

But one man—the Rev. E. L. Yeats, a retired 80-year-old Methodist minister living near Roby—has found a "formula" for staying young.

His method does not stop the clock nor turn back the calendar, but it does make hours pay off in personal satisfaction through helping his fellow man.

Although Yeats retired in 1953, after 45-plus years of full time ministry, he still presides over numerous church services.

His theory for retirement does not call for a moment's inactivity. It simply means he is busy with different projects.

"When a man retires and doesn't do anything, he dies soon," he warns. "But if he's interested enough to get up early and work hard and go to bed thinking about doing something else the next day, then he'll live a long time."

Yeats' many roles show that he practices what he preaches: peacan grower, wood-worker, and collector and reader of Texas history books.

Approximately 1,000 volumes, many of them collector's items, cover the walls of his library. Reading about Texas and Texans from the early Spanish days to contemporary times fills part of each day.

"I can sit under one of my peacan trees on a good, hot sunny day and read a good juicy Texas history book and really feel like I'm alive," he says.

Caring for his grove of 130 peacan trees also occupies some of his schedule. He harvested more than 7,000 pounds last season; most of the peacans went to area residents. He has a specially-constructed basement for storage after threshing.

Four buildings dot the farm's landscape, including the residence where he and Mrs. Yeats live, a camphouse, well house and garage workshop. All are scenes of activity.

The residence was built by the sweat of his own brow after he decided a builder's estimate was too high. Construction took two years, but the finished product is a comfortable home.

A myriad of saws, lathes, and other tools of the woodworker line the walls of his workshop, with its sawdust-covered floors and smells of wood and varnish.

Visitors can get a combination history, geology, and geography lesson merely by looking at the camphouse walls. Here are embedded rocks and artifacts from 48 states and 21 foreign countries. The observer can locate a piece of tile from the Texas Capitol, a fragment of stone from the Taj Mahal of India, and stone faces collected by Yeats during his numerous trips to Indian pyramids near Mexico City.

Inside the structure are many of Mrs. Yeats' paintings, and her husband's collection of wooden bowls and decorations all ready for sale to the public.

When the couple moved to the farm in 1942, there was no electricity. And the nearest line could not be extended to them because the family was not engaged in agriculture.

Yeats readily solved this problem, however, with the purchase of 12 sows and a boar. This transaction put him in the hog business and qualified his home for rural electrification.

"Lots of folks used to hate the inconvenience of living in the country," he recalls, "but the coming of electricity made it real fine."

His only lament now is that distant sounds of cars on a nearby highway sometimes interrupt the peacefulness of a quiet night.

Yeats, reared on a farm near Winters, has lived in rural areas most of his life. He served pastorates at Spur, Memphis, Seymour, Roby, and Albany, to name a few, and is one of four living charter members of the Northwest Conference of the Methodist Church.

"I'm not a Plains man," he said in explaining that all his church work was done below the Caprock.

The Rev. and Mrs. Yeats reared a family of school teachers. One daughter teaches high school history in Big Spring, and the other, a Doctor of Philosophy, is a Spanish instructor at Angelo State College in San Angelo. The son is a professor of English at Lamar Technological College, Beaumont.

Study and preparation to teach the Men's Bible Class at Roby Methodist Church currently keep Yeats busy. And Midwest Electric, Roby, which supplies the pastor's electricity, provides three of his class members. Included are Manager Johnnie Ammons, Assistant Manager Parker Wetsel, and Warehouseman Allan Morton.

Yeats seems to have found "the formula" for staying young. He works so much that he does not have time to get old.

General Telephone to Give New Service

Customers who call "Information" after March 11 will be provided a new service by General Telephone Company of the Southwest. In fact, the name of the service will be changed from "information" to "Director Assistance," according to an announcement by W. L. Goodrum, division manager for the company. "The new name better describes the function," he said.

The new service, Goodrum explained, is to advise customers if the number they are requesting is listed in the current telephone directory. And, if the number is not in the current directory, the directory assistance operator will so inform the customer by saying "That is a new listing; if you care to make a note of it, the number is _____." It is felt this phrase will save customers the trouble of looking in the directory for a new number not listed and give them an opportunity to make note of the number.

Operators in Seymour handle directory assistance calls for local numbers in Crowell, Truscott, Foard City, Thalia, Benjamin, Aspermont, Rule, Rochester, Haskell, Weiner, Knox City, Munday, Goree, Seymour and Throckmorton.

"The new name for the service, along with the new procedure for giving the customer the desired

Library Seeking Donations

The last meeting of the Foard County Federation of Women's Clubs was held last Monday afternoon at the Adelpian Club house. The hostesses for the meeting were members of the Women's Service League. In the business meeting, a library report was given. It was stressed that since the Foard County Library is a member of the book-lending project of the Texas State Library, no library membership dues may be collected as has been done in the past. As these membership dues have been used to maintain and operate the library, voluntary contributions are being solicited in order to keep the library up-to-date and in operation. The residents of Foard County should be proud of their library, as it is an exceptional one for the size of the community. It has been through the county federation, the library committee, and many, many hours of volunteer help from other citizens that has made it so.

The program was on arts and crafts, and members displayed works of china painting, oil painting, needlepoint, crevel, flower containers, dolls and doll quilts.

Refreshments were served from the tea table laid with a white linen cloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink and white flowers flanked by pink candles in crystal candleholders. Other appointments were of crystal.

Mrs. Henry Borchardt, president of the WSL, and Mrs. J. A. Marr assisted at the tea table.

Tax Man Sam Sez

The best time to file your income tax return is NOW. (If you filed on the first day of January, congratulations). The good tax people feel that the one-third of the taxpayers who wait until midnight hour on April 15 to file their tax returns make many more errors than the early filers. Since these taxpayers cost themselves money by forgetting valuable deductions, you may find the advice of the friendly tax collector worth listening to.

PHONOGRAPH RECORDS BIG STOCK AT CROWELL RADIO & TELEVISION

To Voters and School Patrons of Foard County and Truscott:

I am a candidate for School Board because I am interested in our young people, wife, Jean, and I have them in our home as an "of the Lord," says the Secretary. We are responsible stewards. We learn every day needs and problems.

The school, a free institution of all the people, serves through instruction, and discipline. To be well means to have a right direction. Tomorrow's world undoubtedly is being shaped around the breakfast table of the classroom.

I believe I can contribute one of your trustees, all work together with the one you elect me, especially in the realm of priorities and needs. To do this, serving the needs of all, is a sure, I am sure that special lege for some can mean of opportunity for others.

I hope all of you will give your interest in our first by voting on Saturday.

Another U. S. D. A. Official Visits in Four-County Area Last Week

"I am overwhelmed by the reception given me and I have never seen such interest and desire to develop an area," John Barringer of Washington, D. C., who is in charge of Rural Area Development for the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Barringer was speaking to a capacity crowd at the Assembly Room in the West Texas Utilities Co. building in Childress Thursday afternoon.

Notice that Barringer was appearing in Childress and this area was received Thursday morning. "We knew he would be here the evening before, but we did not know the hour and who was to attend the meeting," said Ross Smith, president of the Childress Chamber of Commerce.

Barringer himself had little more notice than those who heard him in Childress.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John Baker was in the area the preceding Friday and Saturday and appeared at Quanah, Crowell, Paducah and Childress.

Baker returned to Washington Saturday afternoon. On Monday, Baker contacted Barringer and asked him to start to work to help the four-county area of Cottle, Childress, Foard and Hardeman.

Both Barringer and Baker are personal friends of R. A. Parbrough of Childress and Barringer phoned Parbrough to learn that Parbrough would be in Washington within the next few days.

Wednesday, Baker called Barringer to ask what he had done on the project. He told of his conversation with Parbrough.

Baker said that was not enough. So Barringer was airborne for Texas at 5 p. m. Wednesday.

Thursday, he went over the same area covered last week by Baker.

When in Childress, Barringer recommended and will suggest that additional men from other departments be sent to the area.

Barringer spoke well of the proposed development of the four-county area which is now being handled by the Four Winds Industrial Foundation, Inc.

"You have rail, paved highways, electricity and water available," he said.

"Your next step is to secure professional help," he continued. "You need the full-time attention of a professional man to work on the project."

Barringer commented on the fact that the four counties involved were all working together. "By your cooperation, you have overcome your first big problem," Barringer pointed that legislation was being considered that would allow areas such as the four counties work as a district.

"With this legislation, your government agencies can work with a district and the district can work with the agencies and industrial prospects," he said.

"Through such efforts, you will have money and help that has been available only to big cities in the past," he added.

Barringer pointed out that federal money was now going to where the agencies were being "sold," or to where the agencies were receiving professional help.

Another representative from Washington is expected here shortly after Parbrough's visit to Washington.

"Slave" Auction at CHS Brings in More Than $100

On April 1, some of the finer specimens of manhood were exhibited and auction by the Crowell High School Student Council. Some 25 students found themselves carting books and reluctantly fulfilling the every desire of his master. For prices of $ 5.00 and under, one could purchase a slave for a week.

The annual slave sale brought over $100.00 to be used to send Student Council officers to the state convention where each will learn the duties of his office.

Principal Larry Jones, along with Jim Gafford, acted as auctioneers. The sale was labeled a success by council president Alvin Wheeler.

A. S. C. S. Can Measure Crops at Farmers' Expense

The Foard County ASCS office, in its March newsletter, advised farmers that the office is authorized to measure crops at the farmer's expense. The charge for the service is $2.75 per one-half hour or any part thereof from the time the reporter leaves the office until he returns. Mrs. Jean Reeder, office manager, said, "If you are not sure about your acreage of wheat for harvest, we will be glad to assist you in the office or make a visit to the farm if necessary. This is very important before you certify."

"You may certify your wheat acreage as soon as you feel that you have the acreage accurately determined. Please keep in mind that certification is not an estimating or guessing game. Errors can be expensive. Payments can be reduced or lost completely. All excess must be destroyed before you certify. The final date is May 1, 1968. I wish to encourage all farmers to certify as soon as possible."

Mrs. Reeder also reminded area farmers that the "no grazing" period for diverted acres under the 1968 feed grain and cotton programs will start April 30. It will continue for the following five months until October 1. Also, farmers were reminded that a crop cannot be harvested from diverted acres.

"If your wheat has been destroyed by greenbugs or some other cause you should notify this office if you intend to qualify for program payments," Mrs. Reeder added.
