Charles J. Drabek Returns From Trip to Mexico

Charles J. Drabek returned home Tuesday, March 17, from a three-day trip to Old Mexico. Mr. Drabek was one of 85 DeKalb dealers across America who met in Amarillo Saturday, March 14, and were flown by chartered airplane to Obregon, Old Mexico, where they were guests of DeKalb for three days.

Mr. Drabek said that Obregon is located about 250 miles south of the southern border of Arizona and is near the Gulf of California on the west side of Mexico. It is in a valley which has an average yearly rainfall of from 4 to 7 inches. The land is flat, similar to the Plains of Texas, and is being irrigated from two big lakes in the mountains north of Obregon.

The valley contains about a million acres with some 800,000 of these acres planted to wheat. The wheat crop is headed out now, and will probably be cut in about 15 days, Mr. Drabek said. With the abundance of water and heavy fertilization of the land, the wheat makes from 75 to 125 bushels per acre, and new varieties of wheat are being developed which are expected to make even more fantastic yields than that.

Mr. Drabek is owner of Farmers Fertilizer & Chemical Company in Crowell.

Free "Lite-A-Bike" Project Sponsored by VFW to Be Held Here March 28th

The period of March 23-27, will be observed as Lite-A-Bike Week in Texas, according to a proclamation issued by Governor Preston Smith, and will be sponsored over the state by members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary.

Allen Hough VFW Post of Crowell is sponsoring the free service for all bicycles and motor bikes in Foard County on Saturday morning, March 28, beginning at 8 a. m. The local Lite-A-Bike program will be held in front of the community center.

Two short silver strips are wrapped around the handlebars of the bicycles; two long silver strips go on the front forks, and three red strips are placed horizontally on the rear fender. Because of this, the bicycle or motorcycle can be seen from the front, side or rear at night. The tape can be seen from as far as 1,500 feet by motorists.

There is absolutely no cost involved to the bicycle or motorcycle owner: the tape for the program is being donated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and installed free of charge by local VFW members. The VFW organization feels that if one life is saved by the use of this tape, the state-wide program will have been worthwhile.

Youth Arrested Here Sunday on Car Theft Charges

An Ohio youth was charged with car theft this week as a result of his arrest by Foard County Sheriff Dan Callaway Sunday afternoon.

The youth, Chris Demos, 19, of Toledo, Ohio, allegedly stole a 1964 Dodge pickup near Seymour Sunday afternoon and, he told local authorities, was en route to the big rock festival scheduled to be held near Dickens this week end.

According to Callaway, the owner of the pickup had gone to his farm to repair a water gap. He drove inside his pasture and locked the gate behind him. After walking toward where he was to work, he heard the pickup start, looked around just in time to see the pickup crash through his fence and head west on the highway. He then ran back to the highway, got a ride back into Seymour where Highway Patrolmen gave a description of the vehicle on the police radio. Sheriff Callaway heard the broadcast and drove out US 70 east where he spotted the vehicle and made the arrest.

The youth was turned over to Seymour authorities late Sunday, and the owner came for his pickup Sunday night.

Census to Count Transients on Night of March 31st

Even if you are away from home on census day, the census bureau intends to find you in your hotel or motel and count you as a resident of your home county, county and state, Richard R. Newton, district manager for the census, said this week.

This will require a special project called "T-Night," the "T" standing for "transient." "T-Night" will be March 31 throughout the United States, and the management of all hotels, motels and other large places for transients will take part.

On "T-Night," which is the night before census day, April 1, all transients at hotels, motels, and like places will be given an individual census form to fill out. It includes space to indicate "usual place of residence." After all forms have been collected, they will be sorted at the local district office to determine which persons, having no other usual place of residence, should be counted locally. Those who give a home address elsewhere will be allocated to their appropriate home areas.

Permanent residents of a hotel or motel will be counted as part of the local population where they are staying. Information about their housing, which is part of the 1970 census, will be furnished by the resident managers.

17 Persons Drown in Texas So Far in 1970

With the 1970 outdoor recreation season still in its infancy, 17 persons have already drowned in Texas, most of them while engaging in water recreation oriented activities.

Nine of the 17 drownings were the result of boating accidents. Six of the boating accidents started out as a fishing trip and ended in tragedy.

Eight of the victims were under 30 years old, and five were over 50.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department personnel, who compile statistics for drownings in the state, say they expect drownings to occur more frequently as outdoor activity increases.

Texas had 519 drownings in 1969, many of them the result of carelessness during family outings.

Questionnaires for 1970 Census to Be Distributed by Mail Beginning March 28

Questionnaires for the 1970
 Census of Population and Housing will be distributed by the post office beginning March 28 to all households in this area, district manager Richard R. Newton of Wichita Falls said Monday.

Distribution of this form before the start of the house-to-house canvass gives the family a chance to assemble information about each member and about the house
 in advance of the census taker's visit. The district manager urges all residents to fill out the forms and have them ready for the census takers when they start their rounds on April 1.

The form contains 7 questions about every person in the household and 13 questions about the dwelling. The personal information asked for is: name, address, sex, color or race, month and year of birth, whether married or single, and relationship to head of the household. The information required about the dwelling is:

 number of rooms, cooking facilities, plumbing, if rented or owned.

Most of the questions are answered by filling in the proper tiny circle with a common lead pencil, making a tiny black dot which can be "read" by census bureau machines. Residents should read the instruction sheet which will come with the questionnaire before filling it out.

The census taker will check the questionnaire to see that all questions have been answered and will give any assistance needed in filling out a questionnaire that is incomplete. At every fifth household, the census taker will seek answers to additional questions covering population and housing characteristics that are being asked of a 20 per cent sample of the nation's population. The sample questions include inquiries on country of birth, schooling, employment, income, and related items. The additional housing questions relate to rent or value
 of dwelling, heating equipment,
 water supply, and other facilities
 and equipment.

The district manager pointed out that information about individuals and their homes furnished to the census bureau is kept confidential under federal law. Only statistical totals and averages are published. No individual person can be identified in published reports and census information cannot be given to any other government agency, local officials, tax collectors, police, health, welfare, or school officers, nor to anyone else.

Public Schools and Newspapers Are Natural Partners

The public schools and commercial newspapers of Texas are natural partners in a common sense—educating and informing the people.

The schools, traditionally, have done it with books.

Newspapers, traditionally, have waited for young people to grow into adulthood before claiming them as readers of anything more serious than sports and comic strips.

But times have changed, and many Texas teachers now are using newspapers in their classrooms as "living textbooks." So says an article in a recent issue of Texas Schools, the quarterly newspaper of the 127,500-member Texas State Teachers Association.

The article states that newspapers, used in the lower grades through senior high, are bringing a new relevance to teaching, a new enthusiasm for learning, and a new response marked with "I think" rather than "the book says" answers from students. The article continues:

A growing legion of Texas teachers are sold on the use of newspapers as supplementary teaching material in language arts, social studies, mathematics, health and safety, science, art, music, history, home economics, public speaking. Whatever the course, somewhere in Texas there's a teacher who can tell you how she made it more meaningful through use of newspapers in the classroom.

Patsy Jean Leftage, a Houston teacher whose perceptive report of the use of newspapers in teaching was published by the Houston Chronicle, wrote:

"Educators saw that the newspaper was an incomparable tool for making learning relevant and encouraging student involvement. For a newspaper is a product of the adult world which the child seeks to enter. . . . The newspaper offered a way of motivating students to read. . . . and a life-long education."

The TSTA article states that a group of leading education and journalistic associations initiated the "Newspaper in the Classroom" program on a national basis in 1959.

New Highway Map Now Available

The 1970 official state highway map of Texas, released this week by the Texas Highway Department, invites all motorists to "drive the Texas travel trails."

Pictured on the map cover is a portion of the Transmountain Loop at El Paso, a starting point for the mountain trail. Completed in 1969, this spectacular highway is officially designated Loop 375. Its construction through the Franklin Mountains involved the largest earthmoving project in the history of the Texas Highway Department.

More than a half million copies of the 1970 official state highway map rolled off the presses in the first printing, and they are now being distributed. Before the end of the year, another million copies will be printed to meet the ever-growing demand for this popular map. More than a million 1969 maps were distributed to motorists.

The official state highway map is one of the most popular of more than eight million pieces of travel-oriented literature distributed each year by the Texas Highway Department. Copies of the map are available at Highway Department tourist bureaus, at department district offices and from the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, Austin 78703.

Alert for Screwworms

Officials of the Screwworm Eradication Program are concerned over the small number of larvae samples being submitted for identification to the Mission laboratory. Stockmen are urged to keep up their guards and when larvae are found in animal wounds it is extremely important that positive identification be obtained. The spring fly season is just ahead and could mean trouble if screw-worm cases are permitted to go undetected.

Largest rope ever made was 47 inches in diameter.

Story of Coyotes Proves Income

The article in last week's issue of the 54 coyotes hanging on the wall of one town was correct. How Erwin informed that the animals were killed by the government.

Erwin added that the Foard County residents are actually farmers, for they well form the only rural community in the county. It is a part of the county which involves the city.—Ass't. Sec. Thomas K. Cowley

Where Are Our Taxes Going; As Usual, Up, Up, Up

Federal taxes remain the most burdensome and worrisome, but state and local taxes are increasing at greater rates.

Taxation experts at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States predict that taxes of all three levels of government will go higher and higher in the 1970s.

Where federal taxes doubled in the past 10 years, a National Chamber study notes, state and local levies went up two and a half times in the same period.

Federal income tax receipts for fiscal 1969 reached $124 billion, compared to $62 billion in 1960.

Enactment in 1968 of the 10 per cent income tax surcharge, along with accelerated corporate income tax payments, accounted for the big jump in the 1969 fiscal period.

The average American's tax load grew heavier in 1969 as a result of state legislative action. During that year, 40 states increased taxes in one form or another. Sales tax rates went up in 12 states. First imposed in the early 1930s, sales taxes are now in effect in 45 states.

Income taxes were increased by 19 states during 1969. In the 41 states with personal income taxes, and the 43 with corporate income taxes—in one form or the other—the levies produced $8.7 billion in 1967, or 24 per cent of all state tax collections. Individual income Taxes were about twice that of corporate income taxes.

Other state tax increases in 1969 include: tobacco taxes—up in 21 states; alcoholic beverage taxes—up in 20 states, and motor fuel taxes—up in 16 states.

At the rate of increases, the states should be collecting a total of $44 billion in 1970 compared with $36.4 billion taken in the fiscal year ending in 1968.

On top of the $27 billion, another $1 billion was collected by state governments on property. It is anticipated that the combined state-local property tax take will hit $32 billion in 1970.

Despite long-held beliefs by tax scholars that the property tax should be abolished, the end is not in sight in view of the amount it produces—almost half of all state and local tax collections.

More and more states, the chamber finds, are turning to modernizing their property tax systems to make them more equitable and efficient.

Nonproperty taxes are advancing. For example at present some 3,000 localities are imposing their own sales taxes, and about the same number impose local income or payroll taxes. Currently, 17 cities with populations over 150,000 are collecting income taxes.

The average American has seen his tax load grow since the beginning of the century. In 1902, his average tax total was $17—federal, state and local. By 1940, the figure was up to $96; in 1950, $337; and in 1960, the average tax load was $628.

The National Chamber estimates the total per capita tax for 1970 will be more than $1,050 for every man, woman and child in America.
