THIRTY YEARS AGO

Two Minutes With the Bible

God's Faithfulness and Our's
Many people suppose that salvation is God's reward to those who do their best to live good lives. This is not so, for God's Word says of those who are saved: "Who hath saved us, and called us with a holy calling, not according to our works, but according to His own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began" (II Tim. 1:9). Referring to this "salvation which is in Christ Jesus," St. Paul says: "This is a faithful saying, for if we have died with Him, we shall also live with Him" (II Tim. 2:10,11). In other words: The believer, viewing Calvary aright, has "died with Christ." Viewing the Cross, he says: "This is not Christ's death. He was no sinner. He had no death to die. He is dying my death." And so by faith he is "crucified with Christ" (Gal. 2:20). The penalty for all his sins has been fully paid, for he died—in Christ and thus has also risen with Christ "to walk in newness of life" (Rom. 6:3,4). This is all God's doing, and only now is the believer ready to do good works that will please God. Thus the Apostle adds in II Tim. 2: "If we suffer, we shall also reign with Him: if we deny Him, He also will deny us" (ver. 12). When the believer's service for Christ is reviewed some, indeed, will "receive a reward," but others will "suffer loss," though they themselves will "be saved, yet so as by fire" (I Cor. 3:14,15). It will be deeply embarrassing, in that day, for unfaithful Christians to face empty-handed the One who gave His all, Himself, to save them. Yet salvation is by grace, thus the apostle hastens to conclude his statement in II Timothy 2, with the words: "If we are unfaithful, yet He abideth faithful: He cannot deny Himself" (ver. 13). Thus our rewards as believers depend upon our faithfulness, but our salvation, thank God, on His!

without authority to adopt a resolution or policy providing for recall elections of its members, says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

Martin ruled in other recent opinions that: "A county treasurer is the proper official to make delivery of county warrants to payees."

County attorney who resigns as of a future date may not withdraw his resignation after it is duly accepted by the commissioners court even though the effective date has not arrived. However, until a successor is appointed, it is his duty to serve.

Martin said a Spring Branch real estate developer (Cypress Lake Gardens) gave assurance of voluntary compliance with directives to discontinue misleading advertising and sales practices.

DRAFT QUOTA DROPS—August draft call for Texas is 560. That's 257 less than the 817 in July. No man will be inducted with random sequence number higher than 195.

State quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in August is 1,490, down from 1,601 in July. Those called for these examinations will have random sequence numbers one to 215.

Deferred or exempt men may be forwarded for examinations if they are likely to lose deferred or exempt status within the next six months. No men with random sequences higher than 215 will be forwarded for examination until further notice. All volunteers at draft boards must be inducted ahead of the non-volunteers selected and ordered to report for draft by r.s.n. National call is for 10,000 men, all for the army.

BUDGET REQUESTS SOAR—Major state agency budget requests continued to prompt speculation of a huge tax need next year—perhaps as high as $700 million.

Board of Public Welfare finally officially approved a $2.1 billion biennial spending plan which is $347.6 million above present spending levels. Mental Health, Mental Retardation request of $314 million is $139.7 million above the current level, and colleges and universities want an increase of $258.9 million. Combined with public schools biennial operating proposals of $377.1 million, major agencies of education, mental hospitals - retardation schools and welfare want more than $1 billion more than they now are getting.

Attorney General Rules—Wichita Falls school board is tions be kept separately from those of voters 21 and above. This would simplify subsequent invalidation in the event the Supreme Court should rule the federal act unconstitutional after state registration already is under way. Test case probably will be in Washington State. There the 18-year-old vote-referendum already is set for the November ballot. Washington officials are in a better political position to state that they will not comply with the federal law until their voters voice approval of the lowered age provision.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. figures the federal act would add about 395,000 under-21 voters to Texas' registration rolls—if it survives the court test.

OIL PRODUCTION RAISED—Oil production for August will be boosted 335,263 barrels a day, due largely to the high cost of shipping petroleum from foreign sources.

Railroad Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said the increase was brought about by high tanker rates, as well as a demand for more cheap domestic oil. He noted that the Commission had disregarded recommendations of some to shut stripper or marginal wells, therefore the state has additional capacity.

Statewide allowable was pegged at 62.9 per cent of potential for August after a three months' decline. July allowable was 55.5 per cent. Maximum estimated production for August is 3,692,296 barrels a day, up from 3,267,033 in July.

COURTS SPEAK—Federal court suit has been filed against the City of Tyler by the U. S. government seeking to end school segregation by this fall.

Court of Criminal Appeals held that a driving while intoxicated conviction is invalid if the defendant was on private property at the time of arrest.

State Supreme Court refused to upset a lower court denial of damages to the widow of a man killed in an auto-train crash near Edna. Jury found negligence on the part of both the man and Southern Pacific Railroad employees.

High Court also held that a Potter County couple was not entitled to damages from a doctor because the woman could no longer have children after an operation.

Harris County district court granted an injunction against the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, prohibiting it from discharging industrial wastes into Sims Bayou in greater amounts than that permitted by the Water Quality Board. Court ordered a $20,000 fine, the largest civil penalty in Texas pollution case history.

Keith Bell Pitches Three No-Hitters in Little League

Keith Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bell of Santa Maria, Calif. and a grandson of Roy Barker of Crowell, has had an outstanding record in athletics at his school.

As a pitcher on a Little League team, they have won the championship of his district and the city championship two years in succession.

Keith pitched 3 no-hit games in succession this season and has been selected on the all-star team the past two years. He was chosen "most valuable player" on his team and he will receive a trophy. His manager says he is the best Little League player in Santa Maria, a city of 35,000 people.

Keith is an all-around athlete, playing forward in basketball, quarterback in football and pitcher in baseball. When not pitching, he plays first, third or short stop. He has excelled in all 3 games.

Keith hit .395 for top place on his team and was fourth in the league. He was the only pitcher with this high a batting average.

Little League officials in Santa Maria compare Keith's pitching with that of Don Drysdale. He has an excellent curve and fast ball with outstanding control. The Middle League managers scout all of his games and are watching him very closely. Sports editors in Santa Marcia took pictures of him pitching his second no-hit game without his knowledge. Keith also keeps his school work well up to par.

Teams that Keith has played on won the city championship in basketball, football and baseball.

TRAILING VORTICES

Cause of Car's Sway After Meeting Big Trailer Truck

Ever had the terrifying experience of being passed on the highway by a high-speed trailer truck and had your car suddenly sway violently almost out of control?
Most drivers have.

But now, thanks to aeronautical research, we know a lot more about this highway phenomenon than we knew a few years ago.
The sudden turbulence that rocks your car when one of those multi-wheeled trucks roars by is similar to what aeronautical researchers call trailing vortices, pronounced vore-ti-sees. This is plural for vortex which NASA roughly defines as a whirling, swirling, spiraling mass of air, a sort of instant tornado; or as in the case of water, a sort of instant whirlpool.

When you're caught in one of these you're driven down the highway it can be frightening, if not downright dangerous. When you're caught in one of these in the air, it not only is frightening but can be disastrous.

And this is what the researchers are working on at several NASA research centers.

Now that aircraft are larger and faster the vortices they leave behind constitute an increasing danger to light aircraft. While these vortices swirl with tremendous force they are invisible. The unsuspecting pilot of light aircraft caught in one could lose control of his aircraft and have a very difficult time restabilizing his craft.

The airplane vortex was not a serious hazard when airliners were lighter. However, with the bigger aircraft weighing more than 100,000 pounds, the larger vortices created in their wake cause much concern.

It has been determined that the intensity of the turbulence is directly related to the weight and speed of the aircraft and, with the new aircraft at close to one million pounds, the vortex problem looms larger.

NASA is doing considerable flight testing and wind tunnel work in this research. The aim is to find a method for warning the pilot of the small aircraft, a system which tells him to stay away from the flight trails of the jumbo jets.

Medicare and Small Town Hospitals . . .

and can cut off a hospital at any time.

In connection with the small-town hospitals and Medicare, the News reprints the following article which appeared in last week's Matador Tribune:

Motley County General Hospital
—just two months old—may have to shut down because of the possibility that it cannot get Medicare funds it needs to survive.

It is not alone. Administrators of other small hospitals around the South Plains area tell similar tales of "impossible" Medicare demands that their hospitals conform to the same regulations applied to big-city hospitals.

Not Enough Nurses
Hospital administrator Fred Wallace said Saturday that Medicare representatives conducted an inspection of the Motley County facilities a week ago and told him his staff does not include the number of registered nurses required by law.

The law says that each hospital must have 4.2 registered nurses on its staff. This provides three nurses, each working an eight-hour shift, with a fourth RN in reserve.
A fifth nurse would be on emergency call for other area hospitals, accounting for the fraction.

Motley County General has only one registered nurse.

May Not Get Funds
Wallace said he didn't yet know whether funds will be granted to the hospital or not, and added that he expects to hear from Medicare representatives in about two weeks.

"If we're turned down, it will affect all small area hospitals," he said. "We can't survive without Medicare funds, and neither can the other small hospitals. If they deny us, it would be only fair to deny funds to other hospitals which don't meet requirements."

But other South Plains hospitals are feeling the pinch as well.
T. J. Taylor, administrator of the Crosbyton Clinic-Hospital, said his hospital was not in immediate danger, since Medicare had granted him a "12-month grace period."
But the latest extension, he said, implied that the hospital had better meet the standards "or else."

"We've been running on a deficiency of registered nurses since the start of this regulation, and they've been allowing us extensions," Taylor said.

"But if it were not for the fine job done in defense of small hospitals by the State Health Department and Blue Cross, we'd have people dying like flies in all rural areas of Texas."

Supply Won't Meet Demand
"The number of RNs available for hospital work in Texas, particularly in these small communities, is just not enough to meet the Medicare standards," Taylor said.

The Plains Memorial Hospital at Dimmitt meets the Medicare standards, but its administrator said it wasn't easy.

"We had to get down on our hands and knees and plead with graduates at the nursing schools to move here," said James Horton, acting administrator at Plains.

Like Big Cities
"It's kind of like butting your head up against the wall. These young girls getting out of nursing school don't want to come to Dimmitt. They'd rather head for a metropolis," he said.

The law, small hospital administrators agree, was made for big hospitals with 200 or more beds.
"In the small towns, it's unrealistic," said Littlefield Hospital administrator Kenneth Day.

Wallace, whose hospital in Matador apparently is in the most immediate danger of being closed, said a new law needed to be enacted to protect small institutions.
"What I'd like is to have one registered nurse living here in the town who would be on 24-hour call, rather than one for each shift."

The Motley County hospital has not yet benefitted from Medicare funds, having been in operation only two months. But Wallace said he and several other concerned Matador residents have written to U. S. Rep. George Mahon to get his support in obtaining the Medicare money.

Miss Karen Shirley Honored with Bridal Shower, Luncheons

Miss Karen Shirley was honored with a pre-nuptial trading stamp luncheon Thursday at the Hillcrest Country Club in Vernon. Miss Shirley will become the bride of Mike Higgins of Fort Worth and Atlanta, Ga., this Saturday at the Holy Family Catholic Church in Vernon.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of shocking pink and white were carried out in the shining centerpieces of deep pink marigolds and baby's breath. Place cards were accented with matching miniature bouquets. A pink carnation corsage dotted with trailing orange was given to the bride by the hostesses. Miss Shirley selected to wear a chocolate brown and white dress with brown and white accessories.

The hostesses, Misses Merle Kinard, W. E. Johnson and Robert Ethelred, presented the bride-elect with gifts of linen and stainless steel.

Another pre-nuptial courtesy extended Miss Shirley was a linen shower in the home of Mrs. E. G. Rasmussen last Saturday. The dining room table was laid with a white linen cloth, and was set with a shocking pink flower cart with umbrellas filled with small pink roses. Napkins and refreshments carried out the shocking pink theme. Gifts decorated packages were displayed in a replica of a large flower cart with umbrellas. The gift from the hostesses was a linen luncheon set.

The luncheon was attended in a pink linen chandelier styled dress with white accessories and wore a corsage which was a white linen handkerchief made in the shape of a rose and presented her by the hostesses who were Misses Dena David, Marilyn Carter, and Emma Durrey Fulton, Bessie Thomas and E. G. Rasmussen.

Mrs. C. E. Seale of Dallas and Crowell recently entertained Miss Shirley at a bridal luncheon in her apartment complex in Dallas. Guests were members of the bride-elect's wedding reception house party. A gift of crystal and silver was given to the bride by the hostess.

Miss Darlene Gillispie Honored Saturday With Bridal Shower

Miss Darlene Gillispie, bride-elect of Larry Stunt of Amarillo, and daughter of Ben and Mrs. John Gillispie of Crowley, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. Loretta Carter.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Carter and were presented by Mrs. Carter to the bride-elect. Mrs. Gillispie, and Mrs. John Stunt, mother of the groom-elect.

The table was laid with a white satin cloth. Crystal appointments were used in serving frosted punch, nibbed nuts, white mitts, and shiny bridal cookies. The formal arrangement was of peach centerpieces flanked with crystal appointments holding white napkins. White inscribed napkins completed the table appointments. Accompanying the tea table were Misses Pam Carter and Beverly Gillispie. Guests were registered by Miss

Rep. W. S. (Bill) Healy Honored at Lubbock Meeting

State Rep. W. S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah has been honored in Lubbock by the Texas Park Producers Association as "the best friend agriculture ever had."

Rep. Healy was lauded by Texas Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White as a man "true as steel" who has to be, but "compassionate and selfless" when the young, the old, the underprivileged, the "disfranchised citizens" are concerned.

Speaking to park producers gathered in the Red Raider Convalescent Center in Lubbock, Commissioner White called Rep. Healy the "father of the best mental health and welfare systems," a man who put words into a being being things for people who couldn't pay for his help.

"The Texas prison system was one of the worst in the country and it's something about it and how people came from all over to study it," Mr. White added. He mentioned juvenile rehabilitation, teacher pay raises, farm-to-market road system, all for the young and the aged, and other programs by Rep. Healy, who now is in the title as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Most important for the park producers was Rep. Healy's aid in getting through a matching program and in securing money for research facilities now being constructed at Texas Tech.

A plume of appreciation was presented by Don Brinkman of Paducah, past president of the park producers association, to Rep. Healy's staff in Lubbock, the Lubbock Dispatch-Journal had the following editorial comments concerning the veteran legislator:

"During the months preceding the political primaries, State Rep. Bill Healy of Paducah was best known to Lubbock as a man who came out of Texas with a few dollars and a few cents, and with the help of people and the help of the Republican U. S. District Attorney in San Antonio—about as far away from Representative Healy's home base as it was possible to get—staged a full scale farm with suspended help from Washington.

"The sound and the fury rolled across the South Texas metropolis, but when it was all over, two grand juries—the second one in Lubbock—found no reason for setting against Mr. Healy, or anyone else, or unsuspected charges that somebody, somewhere, opposed his being unseated in favor of some unknown rival.

"So we said then we say again, the whole performance was both unnecessary and without reason. Everybody knows that a chairman of the House Appropriations Committee often must say 'no' to people and what he does to make does, Mr. Healy has said that post

Pat Cates Will Attend State 4-H Leadership Lab

Learning and practicing the leadership skills needed for successful adult-youth teamwork will be a major objective of participants in the twenty-four annual Texas 4-H Leadership Laboratory. According to George McArthur, assistant state 4-H leader, the July 24-August 1 training session will be held at the Brownwood Christian Retreat on Lake Brownwood.

The 24 participating 4-H Club members will come from every section of Texas. In addition to the three boys and girls from each district, two county extension agents will also attend.

Pat Cates, member of the Foard County Junior Leaders 4-H Club and a member of the State 4-H Council, will attend as an apprentice leader and help with various phases of the lab. All of Pat's expenses, including travel, will be paid by Penton United, Inc., sponsor of the lab.

Training, McArthur said, will involve the basic problems of decision-making in the real life situation of living together, planning and carrying out responsibilities as a group. Each delegate will be a member of a working committee with specific responsibilities for the successful operation of the laboratory. Plans for all activities of the week are made by the participants after their arrival at the camp. The adult advisers leave all decision-making to the delegates, noted McArthur.

Sponsorship of the laboratory from its beginning has come from Penton United Company of Houston. McArthur said that during the past 21 years, thousands of boys and girls have received training in leadership skills largely as a result of the state lab. Boys and girls and adults who have participated in the state lab in turn conduct similar training sessions in the counties and districts, thus extending its benefits.

Young people and adults who have participated in the lab consider them an outstanding source for leadership training information and experience, needed in expanding 4-H Club work in the counties, concluded the state 4-H leader.

Out-Reach Service Center for Foard, Hardeman Counties Sets Open House

The Out-Reach Service Center, located in Quantah and serving Foard and Hardeman Counties, will hold open house July 28 from 2 to 4 p. m. Several officials from the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation in Vernon and Austin will be on hand to officially open the Center. The new center will be community service oriented.

Mrs. Elaine Drake, director of the center, pointed out that the out-reach service is a satellite center for the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation in Vernon.

All services will be by appointment through the center's secretary at telephone 681-2961, Quantah. Residents of the area will be served regardless of age, race, sex or economic status.

The projected out-patient services will include psychiatric diagnosis and therapy, drug therapy, group and individual counseling, and psychological testing and evaluation.

Other services being considered are leisure time recreational activities, consultation to schools, in-service training for community organizations, remedial assistance in academic skills, special education programs for the mentally retarded, and the establishment of treatment programs for the mentally ill.

The professional staff will comprise Dr. Frankie Williams, psychiatrist; Dr. Julian E. Healy, consulting psychologist; Melvin Q. Thomas, psychiatric social worker; the Tennessee, psychiatric social worker; Dr. V. A. Brooks and Dr. L. S. Baker, medical directors; and Mrs. Ann Zabelle will serve as a clinical secretary for the entire staff.

Mrs. Drake and Miss F. Marie Owens, chairman of the Hardeman County Mental Health-Mental Retardation Committee, will work closely in developing a volunteer corps for the center.

Because religion can play a significant role in the treatment of people with mental or emotional problems, an effort to seek the assistance of local ministers and churches is planned by the Quantah center with the help of Chaplain Paul Peckham from the Vernon Center, North.

Local law enforcement agencies will cooperate in every way possible with proposed emergency telephone services. Volunteers seeking to participate will receive training in how to respond to emergency calls or crises for help from distressed adults or young people. When necessary, the Vernon Center of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will provide assistance.

Other considerations will include a proposal for a sheltered workshop and light manufacturing program for the handicapped in the area, a drug prevention program, treatment for alcoholics, and an intensive community relations program. The director, Mrs. Drake, also hopes to develop regular educational facilities for the retarded and the emotionally disturbed.

Luncheon Planned
Dr. Williams, superintendent of the Vernon Center, will host a luncheon at the Vernon Country Club prior to the open house of the Quantah center. Those attending from Austin will be Dr. Preston Harrison and Mrs. Sarah Condon; from Fort Worth will be Walden Newton, and from Vernon will be the Vernon staff.

Others in attendance will be Representative and Mrs. W. E. Healy, Senator and Mrs. Jack Frightweller, Judge and Mrs. Garland Turner, Judge and Mrs. Lewis Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Brooks, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Zabelle and Mrs. Drake.

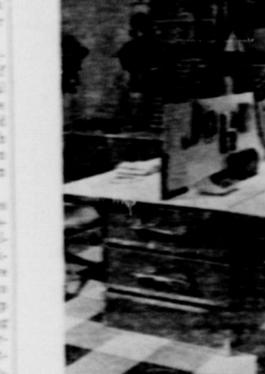

Who Is Protected?

"Just who is protected?" Recently, a farmer in Iowa rigged up a device to foil burglars who had been breaking into his house at a rapid rate. A burglar climbed through a window one evening and was shot in the ankle by a shotgun that was rigged up to a string. The burglar was arrested and fined $50 for entering a house at night. He turned around and sued the owner of the farm for $25,000 for getting shot in the ankle. He was awarded the money through court action and the farmer had to sell his farm to make a down payment to the burglar. What will be next? — Cleveland, Ohio, Leader.
