FOOTBALL WORKOUTS START MONDAY

CHS football boys can pick up their football shoes at the field beginning Wednesday, August 11. Coach Scott Boyd said Monday.

Boyd also stated that all of the boys should pick up physical examination blanks at the field. The boys should take the physical with them when they go to the field.

Walter Stapp for physical examinations beginning Thursday. Boyd will greet his 1971 football team at the first workout on Monday morning, August 16, at 8:30 a. m. and afternoon practice will begin at 6. This schedule will be followed next Monday and Tuesday. Beginning Wednesday, the opening day of school, football practice will then go to regular after-school workouts.

Boyd and members got together and elected Terry Farrar, Ray Neal and Rocky Bachas team captains for the '71 team.

Boyd has furnished the team with a copy of a brochure he has prepared on the football program at Crowell High School which he mailed to all newspapers in the area which will be playing the football this year, and also to newspapers and radio stations in the area.

The brochure, Coach Boyd said, tells something of the history of football since 1950, which during the past twenty years the Wildcats have won 157 games, lost 74 and tied 4.

His coaches during that period have been Thayne Amonett, L. H. Jr. and Boyd.

After giving brief resumes of the careers of the three coaches—Cook, Printiss Gidney and Boyd—Boyd gives in the brochure a 1971 outlook for the Wildcats. Some of this information is printed here:

Schedule: Coach Boyd's team will face the same 10 opponents as in 1970. Nine of the teams look forward to a football team than they last year so the schedule should be plenty tough. The only team to outscore the Wildcats last year will be met again in Crowell. Holiday looks like the class of the district and earned the respect of everyone due to their success last season and their large number of returning starters. Texas Football picked the Eagles as the pre-season number 1 team in the state.

"Strawberry Popcorn"

Have you ever seen any "strawberry popcorn"?

Mrs. Clyde Russell bought some of the "strawberry popcorn" when she was in Amarillo recently, and brought it home. Instead of growing on a long slender cob like most corn, the grains of this variety are deep red in color and grow on a "cob" which is formed in the general shape of a strawberry. The matured corn looks a great deal like a big red strawberry.

Mrs. Russell has not found any one here who had ever seen the strawberry popcorn before, but she intends to grow some next year.

Two Minutes With the Bible

"Rest"

In Heb. 1:3 we read how the Lord Jesus Christ, "when He had by Himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on High." The tenth chapter of the same book tells us why He sat down:

"Every priest standeth, daily ministering and offering oftentimes the same sacrifices, which can never take away sins: But this man (Christ) after He had offered one sacrifice for sins forever, sat down, at the right hand of God . . . by one offering He hath perfected forever them that are sanctified" (Heb. 10: 11-14).

There were several articles of furniture in the Old Testament tabernacle, but no chair. The priest could not sit down, for the work of redemption was not yet finished. His daily sacrifices only emphasized the fact that "it is not possible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins" (Heb. 10:4).

But this Man (Christ Jesus) sat down, because by His death on Calvary—by that one offering—He paid for all our sins and "obtained eternal redemption for us."

This is why Paul, by divine inspiration, now insists that salvation is "by grace," that "it is the gift of God," received "by faith" and "not of works, lest any man should boast."

God has much for His people to do, but before we can do anything for Him, we must learn to trust Him for our salvation, to rest in the finished work of Christ. God is satisfied with Christ's payment for sin and together the Father and the Son are depicted as seated in heaven because the work is done. And now God would have us simply trust Him, entering into His rest:

"There remaineth therefore a rest unto the people of God, for he that has entered into His (God's) rest, he also hath ceased from his own works, as God did from His" (Heb. 4:9,10). "Unto him that worketh not, but believeth on Him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness" (Rom. 4:5).

"Grocer" Dates Back To 14th Century

Pepper and spice trading in 14th century England gave us our modern word "grocer," reports Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, extension specialist in consumer marketing.

After peppercorns made the 4000-mile trip from the mysterious East to London, they were bought and sold by the Guild of Peppers by the gross, similar to present day wholesale methods, she says.

Peddlers purchased pepper from the "Grossers," and in turn, sold to housewives at country-wide fairs honoring various saints.

In the mid 14th century, the Guild of Peppers former the Worshipful Company of Grocers, in order to increase love and unity among the pepperers as well as creating binding rules for members.

According to Mrs. Clyatt, one of the rules read: "All merchandise shall be weighed fairly so that the weigher shall remove his hands therefrom."

The Veterans Administration may suspend from participation in its loan program those who take unfair advantage of veteran borrowers or decline to sell a new home to, or make a loan to, a creditworthy, eligible veteran because of his race, creed, color or national origin.

Advertising

"Believe it or not, but there are merchants who still do not believe in advertising. Advertising, Mr. Merchant, is not a fairy story, or a magic wand, to wave over incompetent business management and transform it into a whopping success. Back of the advertising that the merchant pays for must be an ability to serve the public efficiently and economically. These factors, plus wise and honest advertising, will make any business grow."—Heflin, Ala., News.

Earth's Oxygen

The Oregon Voter magazine notes that about 40 per cent of the earth's oxygen is produced by growing forests and other green land plants. Photosynthesis by ocean plant life produces most of the remaining supply.

Interesting Illustration

"An interesting illustration of how advertising men work overtime to draw your attention to products they want you to buy, 'Media Decisions,' a magazine for experts in advertising and marketing, published a special report as to how colors influence consumers . . . Didn't know that advertisers went to so much trouble to please you, did you? But they indeed do, and that is the big secret of success in the American free enterprise economy. Since you, the consumer, are the boss, the producer must do everything he can, in competition with others, to please you, both with the contents of the package and the attractiveness of the label."—Covington, Tenn., Leader.

Products and Services

Farmers received an average of 40 cents of each dollar consumers spent at retail for U. S. farm-produced food in January-March, 1964, nearly the same as in 1957-59, but 10 cents less than in 1947-49. The farmer's share depends both on the prices he receives for his products and the costs of marketing them. The more marketing services, the greater the cost. When the consumer spends a dollar on food at the grocery store, he is buying 40 cents worth of products and 60 cents worth of marketing service.

College Lists Recommended Small Grains

Recommended wheat, oats, and barley varieties have just been released by Texas A&M. The recommendations for this area were made according to results from past years' research and performance, Joe Burkett, Foard County Agent, says.

The recommended wheat varieties are Tascosa, Caddo, Sturdy and Caprock (with irrigation), Scout 66, Improved Triumph, Triumph 64, Crockett 70, Concho and Centurk. Centurk is a new variety and only a limited quantity of foundation seed is available.

Oat varieties recommended are Norwin, Vintox, Cimarron, Bronco, New Nortex, Ora, Nora, Alamo-X, and Moregrain. The last five are less winter hardy and during extremely cold weather they may receive some winter kill.

Recommended barley varieties are Will Rogers, Era, Cordova and Zora.

Results of Triticale tests in the Rolling Plains showed that it produced more early forage than wheat, but less mid-season or late forage. The total forage production was about equal to wheat. Rye was superior to Triticale at all dates. The Triticale that was tested had spring growth habits. The same type was tested on several locations on the high plains and it did not produce as much forage as in the rolling plains and it suffered more winter kill.

Check your social security record every 3 years. You wouldn't let a savings account go unnoticed for years without checking on it. Get a postcard form from any social security office. Complete the card and mail it. Social security will check your record and send you a copy without charge. If it does not agree with your records, let social security know. They will investigate and correct your record where it is incorrect. The periodic check is suggested because some employers do not keep records any longer than necessary.

New Hope for Old Friend

State and national leaders brought encouraging words about an old friend to Dallas Friday. Their message was the urgent need for producing more cotton. This crop, which has withstood the hazards of weather, diseases and insects and other perils better than any other Texans can grow, now has a brighter prospect in the market place.

Representatives of Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the National Cotton Council and other groups are emphasizing this fact in meetings throughout the state. The price and demand outlook for this versatile fiber and its protein-and-fat-rich seed is excellent, so good, in fact, that increased production is essential to prevent the crop from once again pricing itself too high to overcome competition from synthetics and foreign fibers.

High yields per acre are the answer, these leaders say. More than that, high yields offer producers the maximum opportunity for profit—the best way to offset inflating costs of production. Experience has proved that the best farming practices developed through research and experience will increase yields, on the Blacklands around Dallas, the irrigated High Plains of West Texas or the fertile bottoms of the Brazos, Trinity and other rivers.

For almost 150 years, cotton has been a keystone of Texas agriculture and progress. Its problems have been intricate. Its assets too often have been overshadowed. The $398 million fiber and seed brought Texas producers from 1970 plants was $81 million more than in 1969. But that was only a fractional part of the total economic influence on this state. That agrusiness effect is estimated at $1,422,718,000 by Dr. William F. Harris, director, Cotton Economic Research, University of Texas, Austin.

With the current bright outlook for cotton, even greater benefits may come to bankers, truck drivers, merchants and others from Dallas to Lubbock, Bryan, Brownsville and countless other communities. But the maximum gains can be realized only if all of the know-how we have is used to make each plant yield its maximum potential of white gold.—Reprint

Beef Cattle Numbers in Texas Feedlots Continue to Climb

The number of Texas cattle on pastures and in feedlots is on the upswing, according to recently-released figures on the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

On July 1, cattle on feed in the state totaled 1,700,000 head, up 26 per cent from a year earlier. This establishes a new record and makes Texas the leading cattle feeding state, replacing Iowa. Iowa feeding numbers showed a 13 per cent decline, enabling Texas to become the top feeding state.

Beef cows that have calved reached 5.8 million head on January 1, 1971, showing a four per cent increase from the same time last year.

During the year that ended March 1, marketings of cattle and calves reached 6.3 million. Half of this number was accounted for by fed cattle marketings from feedlots.

Texas shipped out almost one-half of a million more cattle and calves than it brought into the state during 1970. Nearly two-thirds of the out-shipments went to California, Colorado, New Mexico or Oklahoma. Over half of the in-shipments came from New Mexico or Oklahoma.

Texas ranked as the third most important state in the nation for cattle slaughter in 1970 and held the fifth position in calves. Cash receipts from cattle and calves amounted to $1.4 billion with cattle prices averaging five per cent higher and calf prices averaging about seven per cent greater.

Texas sheep raisers watched stocker ewes, one year and older, increase to 2.7 million head as of Jan. 1, 1971. This represented a five per cent increase over earlier figures. The report revealed that almost twice as many sheep and lambs were moved out of Texas as were shipped in during 1970. Half of the out-shipments went to Colorado while over half of the in-shipments were from New Mexico.

During 1970, sheep prices were down about one per cent while lamb prices averaged six per cent below year earlier figures. Wool prices were off 27 per cent compared to the prices paid the year before. Total cash receipts from sheep and lambs reached $39 million during 1970.

Saline Water Control Seen For This Area

Editor's Note: Both the Red River basin and the Pease River drainage area and the control of the saline content of the two rivers are becoming of great interest to both the Texas Water Development Board and the U. S. Corps of Engineers. The following article should be of interest to Foard County landowners as well as to area counties.

Austin—Large amounts of naturally saline water must be prevented from entering streams of the Red River basin if water quality is to be improved in Lake Texoma, according to a new Texas Water Development Board report.

The report, "Reconnaissance of the Chemical Quality of Surface Waters of the Red River Basin, Texas," is a joint release from the WDB and the U. S. Geological Survey.

The report notes that dissolved-mineral content and chemical characteristics of waters in the Red River basin vary widely from place to place and from time to time. Tributary streams to the river in the semi-arid western part of the basin have many salt seeps and springs in the Permian rock outcrops. Those water sources, the report says, are the cause of much of the salt load in the Red River above Lake Texoma.

High mineral content causes the water of the river to be undesirable, the report continues, for public supply in most of the river in Texas. Storage of good quality water in existing and proposed reservoirs on tributaries of the river tend to increase the degradation of water quality on the main river, especially above Lake Texoma.

The report says releases of the good quality water would not help, and would only further degrade the main stream waters because of evaporation during impoundment and waste water.

The solution to the problem is interception of the saline water from its sources, halting it before it can degrade the main stream of Red River. The U. S. Public Health Service in 1964 reported that there are 10 primary natural brine emission areas in the Red River basin.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has studied the feasibility of controlling those major salt sources, the report states, and has constructed an experimental control project at Esteline Springs on the Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River. Additional projects have been authorized by the U. S. Congress on three tributaries of the Wichita River above Lake Kemp, and the Corps has proposed five additional projects in the Red River Basin, four in Texas and one in Oklahoma.

Copies of the report are available without charge from the Water Development Board, P. O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas, 78711. Specify "Report 129" when ordering.

The Cards Are on the Table . . .
Faces Up . . .

Pick Yourself a Winning Hand

SOME people say that Fate has a habit of dealing from the bottom of the deck when she's distributing cards for the high-stakes game of Making-a-Living.

But, as a matter of fact, many of the highest cards in this rugged game are lying right out on the table, in plain sight, just waiting for us to pick them up.

These optional cards—optional because we can do as we please about picking them up or ignoring them—are the Aces in the Making-a-Living game . . . the symbols of Better Business Opportunities, Better Jobs, and other aids to winning more chips.

It's very simple: these high cards . . . these valuable helps in making a living . . . are ours to keep and to hold . . . if we trade more with our own neighbors at home.

For the dollars we spend here make bigger trade volume and more prosperity . . . great cards to hold in a showdown.

BRINE LAKE AND COLLECTION SYSTEM DUE ON PEASE RIVER

Texas and U. S. Exports of Beef Breeding Cattle

While the number of beef breeding cattle exported from the United States in 1970 fell 25 percent below the record 1969 levels, Texas led as the most important state of origin for the exports. Texas claimed the top position in exportation of Angus, Beefmaster, Braford, Brahman, Brangus, Galloway, Red Poll and Santa Gertrudis cattle.

Even though the national totals were below year earlier figures, they are still above the level of the last several years, notes Dr. Ed Uvacek, extension livestock marketing specialist. Canada and Mexico were the leading countries receiving U. S. cattle, with Canada accounting for about 44 percent of the total. Other important exporters were Chile, Greece, Costa Rica, Japan, Guatemala, and Venezuela.

The principal breed exported from this country was Hereford, with Angus, Polled Hereford, Brahman, and crossbreds next in line. Most of the Herefords went to Canada, Mexico, Japan and Greece, and the Angus moved principally to Canada, Mexico, Greece, and Costa Rica.

Polled Herefords shipments were limited to Chile, Japan and Canada while Brahmans were exported to many countries with the largest numbers going to Mexico, Venezuela, Guatemala, Philippines, South Africa, and Ecuador.

Uvacek pointed out that in terms of the types of breeding animals exported, there was considerable variation due to the breeds. Bulls were most frequently exported in these breeds: Beefmaster, Braford, Brahman, Brangus and Red Angus. Cows or heifers dominated the exportation of Angus, Charbray, Charolais, Galloway, Hereford, Polled Hereford, Red Poll, Santa Gertrudis, Short-horn and crossbred cattle.

Higher Temperature Storage Is Effective Meat Tenderizer

Storage of carcasses at higher-than-usual temperatures immediately after slaughter is an effective beef tenderizer, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station research shows.

Standard procedure, R. L. West of the Texas A&M University Animal Science Department said, is to move the fresh carcasses into cold storage of about 30 degrees.

He said one side from each of 27 steer and 21 slaughter cow carcasses was stored in a 50- to 60-degree cooler for 12, 16, or 20 hours immediately after killing before being chilled down to 30 to 32 degrees. Companion sides from the animals, designated as controls, were chilled at 30-32 degrees for the entire 48-hour period of the experiment.

Tests revealed that steaks from steer carcasses stored for 20 hours at the higher temperature were significantly more tender and rated higher in overall eating satisfaction than those from the control sides, West said.

However, he noted that steaks stored for only 12 hours at the higher temperature were not as flavorful as those from the controls.

As for the cow carcasses, all the steaks from the higher temperature sides were significantly more tender than those from the controls. Groups from the 12 and 24-hour storages had considerably higher overall satisfaction scores.

West said the tests also indicated that longer storage periods at higher temperatures are required for tenderness improvement in carcasses from younger animals, and less time is needed for carcasses from mature animals.

The Arkansas-Red River Basin Water Quality Control Study, Part II, was authorized by Congress in the Flood Control Act of 1970, Public Law 91-611. The Red River basin project covers five areas of brine concentration. One of these is on Pease River north of Crowell where subsurface collection systems with a pipeline and brine lake will be built (see map).

The projects are designed to control a maximum of natural salt solution of the Red River tributaries while minimizing the loss of fresh water. The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers says that about 23,000 acres of land will be needed for the projects.

Area roads and highways affected by the lakes will be relocated so that as nearly as practicable equivalent access will be provided after the lakes are in operation, and affected public utilities and cemeteries in the areas will be altered or relocated prior to impoundment of water in the lakes.

The Corps of Engineers said last week that funds for initiation of detailed project planning have not been appropriated by Congress. After initial planning funds are made available and plans for the first construction items are complete, the beginning date for on-site construction work depends upon future appropriations of construction funds by Congress, and after construction funds are made available, about five years will be required to build the projects.

The Corps of Engineers said purchase of land will start upon receipt of construction funds. The land will be appraised to determine the amount to be used as the basis of negotiations. Property owners will be contacted, and actual, practical, and realistic negotiations will be conducted to acquire the property at a price considered just and reasonable. If negotiations are not successful, the government will acquire title to property through the federal court which will determine just compensation. In addition to, and separate from, the amount paid for the land, owners and tenants will be reimbursed for certain expenses and losses incurred in moving themselves, their families, and their possessions as a result of the government's acquisition of the land. Owners and tenants will be eligible for payment of these expenses regardless of method of acquisition.

The five areas of brine concentration include a subsurface collection system with a pipeline and brine lake along Elm Fork of Red River; subsurface collection systems with a pipeline and brine lake on North Pease River and Middle Pease River tributaries of the Red River; subsurface collection systems with a pipeline and brine lake on Jonah Creek and Salt Creek arms of Prairie Dog Town Fork of Red River; brine lake will be constructed on the Little Red River to impound salt brine in the upper reaches of the river.

Vernon W. Pinkey of the Tulsa Corps of Engineers office said that inquiries relative to the construction of these projects should be made to the District Engineer, Tulsa District, Corps of Engineers, P. O. Box 61, Tulsa, Okla. 74102. Col. Pinkey says "the effect of the projects on each property ownership will not be known until further field investigations are made."

Veteran Ag Editor Signs "30"

J. W. Potts, news editor for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service for almost 23 years, is returning to his "first love," the open country of West Texas. His sign-off—jwp—has been affixed to thousands of stories dealing with developments in Texas and national agriculture and the people connected with them. His works have won many awards in national competition and have enjoyed national usage. He has probably written more stories about Texas 4-H Club members than any person ever connected with the extension service; a major reason, he holds one of the state's all-time competitive records in the organization. His resignation is effective September 1.

Inflation Hits Hardest

"Of all the national problems affecting the nation today and there are hundreds of them, the matter of inflation is hitting everybody harder than anything else. . . The government could stop a lot of it, by taking a few blows at the federal budget. A slash of 25 per cent across the board on the Big Society and 'hoondoggle' programs will never be noticed by the average man in services, but unless the government starts the lead in cutting waste and spending how do they ever expect to control inflation. It's time to tighten the belt and if federal programs that will just have to happen."—Neosho, Mo., Miner-Mechanic.

I Wonder If They Will Come to Our Aid?

"As I understand it, we were an underdeveloped country 180 years ago, with a population of three million. While we were underdeveloped, some of the now underdeveloped countries were then developed. Now that they are underdeveloped, we are becoming underdeveloped helping those underdeveloped countries become developed again. When we finally become underdeveloped and the underdeveloped nations are developed, I wonder if they will come to our aid?"—Comstock, Nebr., News.

West Tex. Hunting Could Be Good

The drought hasn't been good for West Texas wildlife, but the picture isn't completely black for the coming season, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

Turkeys, for example, had a light hatch this year, but there are enough adults from last year to keep hunters happy. The largest hen-poult count ever made was just prior to the 1970 hunting season.

Department biologists say it is still too early to make predictions on the quail season, but some young broods are being seen, and many pairs of quail are still trying to nest. Although the peak of quail nesting should be the last week of June and first week of July, biologists feel that some of the birds will be hatched in July and early August.

Former Crowell Resident HOUSEWIFE LIKES JOB AS SUB MAIL CARRIER

(Editor's note: The following article is reprinted from the Hereford Brand. Mrs. Smith is the former Carolee Oliphant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Oliphant of Crowell.)

Substitute rural mail carrier is hardly the job a housewife would think of for part-time work, but Mrs. Pat Smith of Dawn says she "just loves it!" She is the substitute on Route 1, Hereford.

This summer she has worked while the regular carrier took a week's vacation, and on several Saturdays. Proudly, Mrs. Smith says she now knows who lives in every house on the route.

When she learned that applications were being taken for the job, Carolee Smith decided to apply although she knew a man would be preferred.

She was warned that driving would be difficult over some of the unpaved roads in muddy weather, but says nonchalantly that "during a drought, who worries about mud?"

Work as a substitute was as much as she wanted, since her main interest is in homemaking and care of her lively son, Lane, who will be three years old in October. Smith farms in the Dawn vicinity and the family lives in a white stucco house across from Dawn Baptist Church.

Married when both were students in West Texas State University, the Smiths lived in Canyon for a time, then on a farm and in Hereford a little while before they moved to their present home.

Mrs. Smith, who is beginning a term as president of Dawn Home Demonstration Club, was born at Brownwood, but grew up in Crowell, and was graduated from high school there. She was Carolee Oliphant before her marriage.

Always interested in homemaking, she was in a 4-H Club while she was in elementary school, then in Future Homemakers as a high school student. Her membership what I can find." What she likes to find is old glass and china; she has started a collection and has a number of pieces displayed on shelves in her living room, but she doesn't expect the collection to grow fast because the items she wants are rare and so quite expensive now.

Local Girls Compete In District Dress Revue in Vernon

The District III 4-H Dress Revue was held Monday, August 2, in the Empire Room of the Wilbarger Auditorium. Karen Statter and Connie Werley were the senior and junior winners who represented Foard County.

Karen was in competition with sixteen county winners from District III and she was awarded a blue ribbon. Connie modeled her garment for the junior dress revue. All juniors were awarded blue ribbons.

In a special program planned for parents, Sharla Haynie gave an interesting program on her trip to the State Dress Revue held last October in Dallas. Sharla also modeled the garment that she wore in state competition.

Others attending the dress revue from Foard County were Mrs. W. F. Statter, Mrs. Warren Haynie, Mrs. Donald Werley, Mrs. C. M. Carroll, April Werley and Miss Helen Fincher, H. D. Agent.

Mrs. Halbert Is Speaker at Women's Meeting Thursday

"I didn't realize how young our country is until I visited the European continent," stated Mrs. Kenneth Halbert as she shared her recent experiences with members of the Women's Service League meeting at the community center last Thursday.

Mrs. Halbert and her mother, Mrs. Harry Sherwood of Crosbyton, joined a group in London for a tour of eight countries. They observed that the bicycle is a favorite mode of transportation — gasoline is 85 cents per gallon and there is no European speed limit for cars. The travelers found the picturesque windmills disappearing in Holland. The countries had a lush, fertile soil. Meals were always leisurely affairs.

To climax their trip, Mmes. Halbert and Sherwood left their fellow tourists in order to visit relatives in Germany. The two women and a 16-year-old distant relative were the only persons in the village able to speak English.

Roger Aertker of Fort Worth, a sophomore at the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, will be guest speaker at this Thursday's (today) luncheon of the WSL. Aertker is working with Dr. Walter H. Stapp here in a five-week program sponsored by the Student American Medical Association.

Visitors are welcome at all WSL meetings and are asked to notify Mmes. Howard Ferguson or W. L. Johnson of their planned attendance, if possible.

District H. D. Agent Fern Hodge to Retire Aug. 31

Thelma Wirges of Wichita County to Succeed Miss Hodge

After 30 years with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, District 3 Home Demonstration Agent Fern Hodge will retire Aug. 31. She has been headquartered at Vernon.

Her replacement will be Thelma Wirges, who is currently Wichita County Home Demonstration Agent. The announcement was made by Extension director John E. Hutchison.

Miss Hodge was first employed in 1941 as the home demonstration agent in Martin County; and then moved to the same position in Wise County. Since 1949, she has supervised the youth and adult work of county home demonstration agents in the 22-county Rolling Plains district.

In making the announcement, Dr. Hutchison said that Miss Hodge has been a dedicated and effective extension person, sensitive to the needs of people. She has given excellent leadership in extension educational programs, helping Texas families in her district reach higher levels of living, he continued. The home demonstration club organization has been particularly strong in her area, according to Dr. Hutchison.

A native of Graham in Young County, she received her B. S. degree in home economics from North Texas State University. Additional studies have been done at NTSU, the University of Arkansas, Texas Tech University, West Texas State University and Texas A&M University.

The retiring agent is a member of Epsilon Sigma Phi, honorary extension society; the Texas and American Home Economics Association; the Vernon Chamber of Commerce; and the Texas Agricultural Workers' Association. She is also an active member of the First United Methodist Church in Vernon. In addition to her extension employment, Miss Hodge taught four years in public schools.

While she will continue to make her home in Vernon, Miss Hodge is also considering a return trip to Europe in the near future.

Miss Wirges, the new District 3 home demonstration agent, is a graduate of Polytechnic High School in Fort Worth. She received an Associate of Arts degree from the University of Texas at Arlington and her B. S. degree from North Texas State University. She has also done additional work at Texas Woman's University, Colorado State University and Texas A&M.

Besides serving as county home demonstration agent in Baylor, Haskell and Wichita counties for a total of 23 years, she was also a school teacher for one year in Munday. She has received the Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of Extension Home Economists and the Superior Service Award from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Also, she is a member of Epsilon Sigma Phi; the state and national home economics associations; and Phi Upsilon Omicron, a national honorary society. A member of the Texas County Home Demonstration Agents' Association, she is a past secretary of that organization.

Cattlemen's Round-up for Crippled Children to Begin 12th Year

The original Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children, which benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center at Abilene, will kick off its twelfth annual round-up this month. Founded by the late Conda Wiley, the round-up has raised well over three quarters of a million dollars to the handicapped of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center since its inception.

The round-up operates in many different phases. The next three phases will be the cattle sale on Sept. 27 at the Ranchers and Farmers Livestock Auction in Abilene; the horse sale on October 2 at Abilene Livestock Auction; and the sheep and goat sale on October 11 at the Coleman Livestock Auction.

The operation of the round-up is the result of ranchers and stockmen picking out a calf or a pen of calves or some other livestock and pledging them to the round-up. The area chairmen will contact the ranchers and farmers and make arrangements for transportation to the sale. Each animal is sold under the donor's name. Animals expected will be from top bulls from the Southwest's leading ranches to baby calves and lambs.

Oris Reynolds of Vernon is the round-up chairman for this area.

How to beat the savings squeeze.

It's so hard to save a buck. By the time all the bills are paid, there's nothing left to squeeze out of your paycheck for savings.

But there is a way to build a nest egg without having to worry about it. When you join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, an amount you designate will be set aside automatically from each paycheck and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. By saving a little from each paycheck, you don't feel the pinch. And before long, you'll find you've a sizable nest egg stashed away.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, $5\frac{1}{2}\%$ when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra $\frac{1}{2}\%$, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Ease your savings squeeze. Join the Payroll Savings Plan.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proved way to save.
