clearance point. Since completion of this project the bridge has been damaged only once in such manner as to require major repair, and at least once has been subjected to minor damage.

Overheight Trucks
 Causing Damage to Texas Bridges

Trucks bearing overheight loads are taking a costly toll of Texas highway bridges.

A check of the more populous Highway Department district offices indicates that high load damage has become a serious concern in recent months. Principal damage has been reported in the Houston, Fort Worth, Dallas, and San Antonio districts, although others have experienced similar bridge damage.

Cost of bridge repair may run from a few hundred to many thousands of dollars when a structure is hit.

Truckers planning to carry loads of more than 13 feet 6 inches are expected to obtain an overheight permit, which describes a route over which the vehicle may travel without damaging overhead structures. It is the truckers' responsibility to be certain that his vehicle can pass safely under all overhead structures on his route.

Many truckers — particularly those hauling construction equipment — do not obtain the permits because they believe their loads do not violate the overheight load limits.

However, the boom of a dragline may bounce vertically 18 inches to two feet or more when traveling at highway speeds. The bouncing boom may clear the initial beams of an overhead structure and then catch on subsequent beams at the peak of the vertical movement.

Damage may be particularly heavy to prestressed concrete beams, enough to require their replacement. Some steel beams may be badly bent but the damaged section can be cut out and a new section welded into place. In either event the repairs are costly and traffic may be inconvenienced for a long period of time.

In some instances, the trucker may know he has damaged the bridge and his load. But, unless the load is wedged under the bridge, he may proceed on his way, expecting the Highway Department to pick up the tab for repairs. However, Department "sleuths" usually track down the errant truck driver who may be faced with even more costly and severe penalties.

On other occasions the load may wedge under the structure, or even be knocked completely off the truck bed, in which case the Highway Department bills the cost of repairs to the trucker or his insurance carrier.

Although the Department recovers several hundred thousand dollars a year from the insurance companies, probably as much more comes out of the pockets of other highway users who pay motor vehicle taxes.

Highway Department engineers believe principal damage is caused by construction equipment being moved from one project to another. Oil field equipment and tanks loaded on conventional truck beds also are responsible for much damage.

On occasion, the load has been knocked off the truck and fallen onto or through a lower deck of a multi-level interchange. Almost incomprehensibly, such accidents have not resulted in secondary crashes—so far.

However, engineers for the Highway Department are concerned that sooner or later fatalities will result when a load will be knocked from a truck or a vehicle wedges under a structure, and then is struck by a speeding passenger car.

A structure where State Highway 360 overpasses SH 183 in the Fort Worth District has been damaged by high loads at least eight times prior to April, 1970. At that time the structure was raised nine inches at the lowest refused the appeal of two truckers who sought exemption from a law against carrying explosives. The Harris County men were sentenced to 25 years for possession of a bomb.

TRAFFIC OFFENDER BILL OFFERED — Governor Briscoe in a special message gave his endorsement to legislation to remove habitual traffic offenders from Texas streets and highways.

The bill, backed by the Texas Association of Insurance Agents, provides for revoking drivers' licenses of persons convicted of four specified major driving violations or 12 moving traffic violations in a five-year period. It also provides for felony fine and probation for habitual offenders who drive without licenses.

$57 MILLION MORE ASKED FOR WELFARE — The State Board of Public Welfare wants $557 million more in state funds than recommended by the Legislative Budget Board's no-new-tax budget.

Board members said Nixon Administration programs are demanding more state money. They cited amendments transferring to the federal government aged, blind and disabled programs which had been administered by the states.

"The increased cost to Texas to make up for withheld federal funds may be so prohibitive that some programs will be lost entirely and others may be cut back severely," said Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell. He cited medical aid, child care and personnel services.

The Board approved a $695 million state spending program for 1974 which would mean an overall budget of about $1 billion. The LBB budget proposal, said Board staff members, would reduce welfare spending overall by $150 million, considering lost U. S. aid.

COMPARATIVE NEGLIGENCE BILL ADVANCES — A bill to permit accident victims to collect damages though they were partly at fault moved through the House of Representatives in spite of warnings it might raise insurance rates.

The legislation, backed by Texas Trial Lawyers Association, would set up a so-called comparative negligence system. Juries would find percentages of fault and award damages in proportion to negligence of the parties to accidents.

Among other measures approved by the House was Speaker Price Daniel Jr.'s proposal to require speakership candidates to disclose their campaign financing.

Cotton Classing
 Office Graded
 320,300 Samples

The USDA Cotton Division classing office at Altus graded 20,700 samples for the week ending Feb. 23, and the season total stood at 320,300 samples classed. Although the harvest was frequently interrupted by unfavorable weather, this year's classing total had already exceeded any season for the previous eleven years, according to C. E. Cox, officer in charge at Altus. Last year at this time only 174,000 samples had been graded, and two years ago the harvest was complete with 193,700 samples classed.

Total classed from North Texas counties this year stood at 49,400 samples, compared with 26,400 last year at this date, and 25,900 two years ago.

Grades on North Texas cotton classed during the week were 26 per cent white, 60 per cent light spotted, and 14 per cent spotted. The predominant grade was strict low middling light spotted, (42), accounting for 43 per cent of the total.

The Agricultural Marketing Service reported that cotton marketing activity increased during the week, in some areas as much as 50 per cent over previous levels. Demand was strong, although prices continued to fluctuate frequently and showed very little gain over previous reports. Prices on currently predominant qualities averaged 9.50 to 11.00 cents per pound above loan rates on the better grades, 8.50 to 9.00 cents over loan rates on lower grades. Cottonseed prices were reported at $53.00 per ton.

Social Security News

If you are drawing social security payments, you have an earned right to the check which you receive each month. However, you also have a responsibility to report any event that might affect your right to the checks. There are a number of such events which can cause suspension or termination of a person's payments . . . work, change in school attendance, death, marriage, divorce . . . mention the most common ones. If you are in doubt as to what events need to be reported, see your social security representative.

"I feel safe in saying we haven't been contacted," said Atty. Gen. John Hill.

Sens. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas and Robert Gammage of Houston were among senators who talked freely of their questioning by a "T-man" in a trench coat. Rep. Lane Denton of Waco said he had also been queried about a number of subjects late in January but declined to provide details.

Mauzy said he had been informed the Treasury Department has a special task force on corruption of public officials. He said an agent identified as R. R. Caldwell told him he was a member of a task force that conducted an investigation of Louisiana state government which resulted in convictions of some officials.

According to Mauzy, the agent spent more time asking him about creation of special water districts in Harris County than anything else. He said he was also questioned as to whether he knew anything about how bank charters were awarded, if he had knowledge of legislators taking bribes, how state colleges acquired land and let contracts and if state purchasing is done on competitive bids.

Some legislators joked that one of the T-men wore a Nixon tie clasp and didn't ask any questions about Republicans.

There may have been more kidding if legislators didn't remember another federal agency—the Securities and Exchange Commission—that bared 1969 stock dealings by high state officials which led to conviction of former House Speaker Gus Mutscher for bribery.

Legislators questioned recently were assured they weren't under investigation.

COURTS SPEAK — The State Supreme Court agreed the family of a pilot killed in a crash at Dallas six years ago should collect damages due to an admittedly-faulty propeller.

A Harris County doctor won reversal of a life sentence for killing his hospital partner in the Court of Criminal Appeals. A controversy over immunity granted a key prosecution witness was cited in the reversal.

STATE CAPITAL
 Highlights
 AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—They didn't separate "church" and "state" in the Capitol city last week. You might even say they got "engaged."

The Texas Conference of Churches met in Austin for its fourth annual Assembly of Representatives—and enjoyed discussing a good round of political issues along with the ecumenical resolutions.

A "state" breakfast was held for officials of Texas' governmental bodies, and humorist Cactus Pryor allowed that "mixing ministers with legislators and getting a little religion might help the office holders and benefit the state."

Some of the issues of "politics" and "religion" were controversial, and the leaders of most of Texas church bodies seemed to enjoy their encounter with governmental leaders.

But, tax exemptions for property owned by churches have become an issue in most states, and church officials seemed to be wary of pressing political issues too far into the "never-never" land of lobbying.

The Conference leaders did discuss resolutions on the forthcoming state constitutional convention, welfare education and reform, public school financing and public education.

One of the most controversial resolutions concerned the Farah strike and collective bargaining. OPEN MEETINGS BILL AMENDMENTS PROPOSED — The open meetings bill encountered a swarm of suggested amendments during a four-hour hearing before the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

School board and university regents representatives proposed changes which Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena accepted, in the main, as "good faith" attempts to make the bill workable.

Some amendments also were proposed by media representatives.

The measure went to sub-committee. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, who attended part of the hearing, said he is hopeful of Senate passage.

NEWSMENS PRIVILEGE BILL — Hearings on the "free flow of information" bill, commonly called the newsmen's privilege bill, has been set for March 13 at 2 p. m. in the lieutenant governor's committee room.

FEDERAL INVESTIGATION? — Treasury Department agents' questions about state government, bank charters and water districts provided Texas legislators their major topic of conversation last week.

At least four House members and three Senators reported being interviewed by the Treasury sleuths on a variety of topics. Some took the inquiries seriously, while others treated them as a joke or a "fishing expedition."

Father of Mrs. Robert Kincaid Died in Ft. Worth

Spencer Marrow, 78, well known figure in cotton production in North Texas, long-time resident of Quanah, and the father of Mrs. Robert Kincaid of Crowell, died Sunday in a Fort Worth hospital.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church in Quanah with burial in the Quanah Cemetery under direction of Knowles Funeral Home.

A native of Georgia, Mr. Marrow came to Texas in 1920. He was partner with the late Eugene B. Smith and later owned and operated Spencer Marrow Cotton Co.

He served many years on the Quanah school board and Hardeeman County hospital board. Marrow also helped establish Quanah Federal Savings and Loan Association. He had served as mayor of Quanah and was past president of the Quanah Chamber of Commerce.

Survivors include his wife, Rubie; a son, William S. Marrow of Fort Worth; two daughters, Mrs. John Byrne of Dallas and Mrs. Kincaid of Crowell, and six grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Whitman Attend Austin Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Whitman of Foard County have just returned from Austin where they participated in a legislative program sponsored by Texas Farmers Union. Mr. Whitman is president of Foard County Farmers Union.

The Foard County couple expressed their views on legislative key issues to their hometown legislators and acquainted urban members with problems faced by rural citizens.

Among the key issues in the Texas Farmers Union legislative target program discussed by the "grass roots lobbyists" include the corporate farm registration law which would provide public information on the extent of non-farm corporate involvement in Texas agriculture. The group urged a resolution sponsored by Farmers Union requesting the Texas Department of Agriculture to conduct a study concerning the strengthening of Texas' brand law enforcement. Other issues called to the attention of the legislature include need relief on property taxes, automobile insurance, utility regulation, and quality health care services in rural areas.

While in Austin on February 20, the local farm couple enjoyed a breakfast at the Downtowner motel where several key state officials greeted them. The day's activities ended with a reception for state officials and members of the legislature.

Price Opposes Giving Money to North Vietnam

Last week in one of his most strongly worded letters to President Nixon, Congressman Bob Price expressed opposition to any plan or scheme to provide economic assistance to North Vietnam as part of the peace settlement. Price's office has received a tremendous number of letters from concerned constituents who have registered their opposition to any plan for aid to North Vietnam.

The text of Congressman Price's letter to the President is as follows:

I am writing to express my objection in the strongest of terms to any plan which would involve American financial or economic aid to the government of North Vietnam.

Those of us in the Congress who have stood resolutely with you in opposition to the demands among various dissidents in and out of the Congress for peace at any price have done so because of our agreement with your stated premise that Americans who have fought, died, and "paid a price" to resist Communist aggression shall not have done so in vain.

After ten years of cruel war it would be unconscionable to lavish over two billion dollars of assistance upon a government which has been responsible for the deaths of over 50,000 Americans, hundreds of thousands of South Vietnamese, and has practiced the most sadistic and brutal forms of inhumanity and has scoffed at the most elementary rules of civilization and human decency.

It is true that the United States helped rebuild our former enemies of Germany and Japan at the close of World War II, but that was after the militaristic and dictatorial regimes of both nations were deposed. In North Vietnam today, the same persons who have attempted to defeat and humiliate the United States are still in control of the government, and any attempt to buy or bribe their friendship or cooperation is as doomed to failure as every other giveaway program this Nation has undertaken in the past.

Mr. President, I supported you in your bid for an honorable conclusion of the Vietnam conflict. Let us not reward those who have forced upon this Nation our darkest hour since the Civil War. Sir, my conscience will not permit me to do this. Respectfully,
 Bob Price,
 Member of Congress.

Wheat Meetings Planned in Area

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is holding two wheat situation seminars. One will be held Tuesday, March 6, in Seymour beginning at 1:30 p. m. at the Farmers National Bank. The other one will be held Wednesday, March 7, at 1:30 p. m. at the Texas A&M University Extension and Research Center at Lockett. The meetings were announced by Joe Burkett, county agent.

Topics to be discussed are Alternate Marketing Plans and Farm Programs, Futures Trading, Domestic and Export Demands on Wheat and Other Grains, Pest Control in Small Grains.

These meetings are sponsored jointly by the Texas Wheat Producers Board, Rolling Plains Economic Program, Texas Grain and Feed Association and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

All Foard County wheat producers are invited and Burkett urges them to attend this important meeting.

Campaigns for Student Council Now in Progress

Members of the annual staff traveled to Vernon Tuesday of last week, selling ads for the annual. Members that participated were Trudy Bird, Karen Gray, Darla Bell, Cindy Wisdom, Butch Borchardt, Jim Lyn Shook and Daryl Halenack.

All candidates running for a student council office turned in their application last Friday. Campaigns are underway with the elections climaxing it all on Thursday. Good luck!

The students of CHS were entertained Thursday by North and West, two unique folk singers straight from England. Everyone enjoyed the talented couple.

Martin Quintero, Jr. is the 5'6" senior in the spotlight this week. Born on May 28, 1954, to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Quintero, he has brown eyes and black hair. Martin enjoys tennis and football.

His favorites include: food, shrimp; color, blue, song, "Old Dogs and Children and Watermelon Wine;" actor, Michael Cole; actress, Susan Dey; subject, study hall; and hobbies, pool and gun collecting.

The Cards Are on the Table . . .
 Faces Up . . .

Pick Yourself a Winning Hand

SOME people say that Fate has a habit of dealing from the bottom of the deck when she's distributing cards for the high-stakes game of Making-a-Living.

But, as a matter of fact, many of the highest cards in this rugged game are lying right out on the table, in plain sight, just waiting for us to pick them up.

These optional cards—optional because we can do as we please about picking them up or ignoring them—are the Aces in the Making-a-Living game . . . the symbols of Better Business Opportunities, Better Jobs, and other aids to winning more chips.

It's very simple: these high cards . . . these valuable helps in making a living . . . are ours to keep and to hold . . . if we trade more with our own neighbors at home.

For the dollars we spend here make bigger trade volume and more prosperity . . . great cards to hold in a showdown.
