Area IV Soil Conservation Awards Banquet Here Is Big Success

Often, we hear criticism of our town and county by our own people. And undoubtedly some of the criticism may be deserved.

But, every resident of Foard County could and should have been proud of our town and county last Wednesday night when more than a hundred persons from West Texas and the Panhandle came here for the Region I Soil Conservation Service awards program.

Many compliments were heard on our town, on the gym where the banquet was held, on the fast service and fine food served at the banquet and the general hospitality of local residents to their visitors.

Our thanks and appreciation to the board of directors of the Foard County Soil & Water Conservation District for making this event possible in Crowell.

Many people who heretofore hardly knew that the town of Crowell existed left here last Wednesday night with fond recollections of true western hospitality.

This newspaper proudly salutes the host SCD district board of directors: J. A. Marr, chairman; Eldon Whitman, Jack Welch, Melvin Moore and A. V. McCombs.

REGION I CONSERVATION AWARDS BANQUET HELD HERE

15 persons attended the 1 Texas Conservation banquet ever held here night, May 2, at the masium. Host for the Foard County Soil Conservation District.

entertained barbecue dinner was served by CHS Future Homemakers of America girls, while the chairs were set up in the Future Farmers of America boys. Larry Black, last year's winner of Foard County Soil Conservation Farmer of the Year award, served as master of ceremonies for the affair, while Counsellor Leslie Thomas gave the address and Mayor Robert Kincaid welcomed.

volvement of the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, and use of conservation-environment packets in school and public libraries. They provide a water depletion data program to landowners of the region which has brought an awareness not there before this service became available. GPCP and REAP assistance have been utilized to accelerate installation of conservation practices. Examination of the Rio Blanco District entry is an exciting trip through their district, showing what they have done, and some indications of things they hope to accomplish in the future.

Resident Conservation Farmer — Horace Sneed, Stratford, Texas — Sherman County SWCD No. 159 — Horace Sneed takes time to investigate and try new ideas and practices. He was one of the first farmers to stress the need of crop fertilizers to improve the yield for Sherman County. He plants new varieties of wheat and maize. He has often had test plots on his farm to determine which variety had the best yield. He uses lady bugs instead of chemical sprays when feasible. He uses the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service to help him develop his plan, which includes reorganization of the irrigation system to include a tailwater recovery system. He was one of the first farmers to start a minimum tillage program. During 1971-72 he had experimental plots of hybrid milo. He completed harvesting Jan. 25, 1973, and his yield was an average of 6300 pounds. He was the first farmer in Sherman County to grow broadcast maize. Mr. Sneed and his wife, Orinda, have two daughters, Wilma Jean Knight and Kathy Bonds. a man is not interested in his land he should sell it and put his capital into something that will give him more return for his investment" is the way Lee O'Neil feels about it. He has been a leader and experimenter in this area in development of practices that will improve farming efficiency while conserving natural soil resources. He established one of the first irrigation wells in the Cotton Center area, and was one of the first landowners to construct an artificial recharge well to remove runoff water and return it to the underground water formation. As a non-resident landowner, he has worked closely with his tenants and provided many with the opportunity to own their own farms. Lee O'Neil doesn't believe a person can be steered in the wrong direction by soil conservation personnel. "These guys are the experts and I don't see why more people don't use them. They give you good advice, help you get it done, and then help pay expenses for doing it. It's the best deal I've ever heard of," is the way he sums it up.

ers, Hereford High School—Tierra Blanca SWCD No. 143. 3rd—Shirley Walston, Sanford-Fritch High School—Hutchinson SWCD No. 146.

Professional-Business Man — R. J. Purcell, Brownfield, Texas — Terry SWCD No. 151—A full time manufacturer of sprinkler irrigation systems, R. J. Purcell is continually seeking new and better ways to apply irrigation water more efficiently, and is actively engaged in promoting good land management. He is a strong, unselfish supporter of soil and water conservation. He has exercised unexcelled initiative in the development of soil and water conservation practices. He gives generously of his money to support district activities, and is a regular supporter of Terry SWCD activities.

Business or service institution—Perryton National Bank, Edwin Garland, President, Perryton, Texas—Ochiltree SWCD No. 142.—The Perryton National Bank has sponsored the Ochiltree District Newsletter for many years, and has co-sponsored the annual conservation awards banquet for 14 years. The bank has been responsible in getting sound conservation measures on thousands of acres of land in the district. Borrowers at the bank are encouraged to carry conservation to the land. The Ochiltree District takes the means of this nomination to express gratitude to the Perryton National Bank and to Edwin Garland, its president.

Conservation Teacher — Debbie Burns, Martha Davis, Peggie Atwell and Shirley Holloway, North Elementary School, Tahoka, Texas—Lynn County SWCD No. 119—This unusual nomination honors these four teachers who worked as a group to develop lesson plans, using guides, booklets and other supplemental material from the Soil Conservation Society of America. None of these teachers had any training in this field, yet they were able to relate natural resources conservation to each of their students' lives. They plan to continue and enlarge their program each year in the future. A trip to a local working diversified farm was a high point for the students, where they saw erosion contrasted to proper conservation management. The climax to the study was a poster contest sponsored by the Lynn County District.

Wildlife Conservationist — Darrel Cooper, Gruver, Texas—Hansford SWCD No. 148—The fact that some of the finest quail in Hansford County are found on Darrel Cooper's ranch is not by chance, but as a result of planned wildlife habitat management. Darrel Cooper practices sound grazing management and has about 300 acres of dryland cropland where he uses a conservation cropping system of small grains and forage sorghums. He leaves a few rows of sorghum or small grain around the outside of his fields to insure adequate food supply for the quail. He has two windmills with drinking facilities spilling over into earthen ponds which provide an outstanding water area for wildlife. Cottonwood, chinese elm, and other trees provide nesting cover, in addition to brush and debris along fence rows. He does not permit hunting on the ranch.

Civic group—1904 Study Club, Mrs. Sam R. Breedlove, Quanah, president—Lower Pease River SWCD No. 162—Cooperation among the 1904 Study Club, the Quanah Chamber of Commerce and the Lower Pease River SWCD resulted in the development of the State Park. Members of the club also worked with the Quanah Garden Club on improvement of City Park and another small park in Quanah. Several members of the 1904 Study Club are teachers who are teaching conservation and pollution control, and working with the district on the essay contest.

TV, Abilene-Sweetwater, Stuyve Jackson, Farm Reporter — Upper Clear Fork SWCD No. 121—For the past two years the Upper Clear Fork District has participated on Stuyve Jackson's Farm Show at least once a week. During these programs we are able to present timely conservation topics. Since this program is aired at 12:20 to 12:30 p. m. (noon) we are able to reach many people we would never reach through other media. Since the 'move to the city' continues daily, we feel it is necessary to bring a new awareness of the need to conserve natural resources, and KTXS-TV makes a great contribution to conservation through this program. We use color slides, and personal interviews in stressing conservation practices. Stuyve has the Outstanding Farmer and Rancher selected by the District on the show, and they discuss their farming operations and conservation practices used. Stuyve tries to cover all the main events held by the District, and we get coverage of tours and other related activities.

Two Minutes with the Bible

Knowing Christ as He Should Be Known

John the Baptist introduced our Lord with the proclamation: "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand" (Matthew 3:2). Throughout His early ministry Christ was known as "the Son of David," the king with whom God had made a covenant to establish His Kingdom forever.

The Old Testament prophets predicted that Christ would—and He will—reign on earth upon the throne of His father David. While His kingdom was being proclaimed "at hand," He walked and talked and ate with men as "the Son of Man." Worn out with traveling, He sat at Jacob's well and asked for a drink of water. Pressed by the throng, He got into a fishing boat and addressed the multitudes from the sea. Hated by His adversaries, He was tied, scourged, spit upon and nailed to a tree. This was indeed "Christ manifest in the flesh."

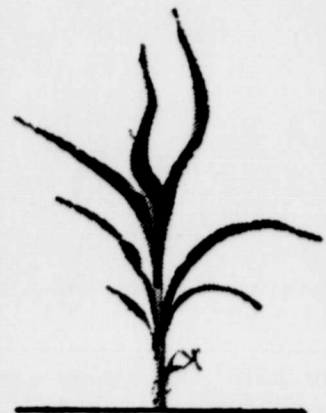

With regard to His humiliation, however, the Apostle Paul says, by divine inspiration that "God also hath highly exalted Him and given Him a name which is above every name" (Phil. 2:9).

Again, the apostle declares that God's mighty power was "wrought in Christ, when He raised Him from the dead, and set Him at His own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all..." (Eph. 1:20). He is no longer to be known as "the lowly Jesus," but as the near Ralls. He does farm interviews and uses 60-second spot announcements about conservation of natural resources.

Weekly newspaper — Perryton Herald, Harold Hudson, Publisher & Editor, Perryton, Texas—Ochiltree SWCD No. 142—During 1973 every event of the Ochiltree SWCD has been well reported in the Perryton Herald. The Conservation Essay contest received much publicity; the project of Bacteriological Water Analysis was well reported, and our Conservation Awards Banquet received publicity beyond the call of duty. Coverage was given winners in the Texas Conservation Awards Program—our tour with Congressman Bob Price was well publicized. Harold Hudson furnished a camera and film several times for the District to use, and has a representative on tours, at banquets, and at other functions of the District. In giving District coverage, there were a total of 117 news articles, with 98 news briefs.

And this has its bearing on us too: "Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh: Yes, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now, henceforth, know we Him no more" (II Cor. 5:16). RECEIVES AWARD AT SCS AWARDS BANQUET—Pictured above are Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. O'Neil of Lubbock, who attended the Region 1 Soil Conservation Awards banquet here Wednesday night, May 2. Mr. O'Neil received the "Absentee Conservation Farmer" award. "If a man is not interested in his land he should sell it and put his capital into something that will give him more return for his investment," is the way Lee O'Neil feels about it. He established one of the first irrigation wells in the Cotton Center area, and was one of the first landowners to construct an artificial recharge well to remove runoff water and return it to the underground water formation. Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil have been married 56 years, and are long-time Lubbock residents.

Santa Fe Railway Crop Report Talks of Winter Wheat and Moisture Situation

Here's what the Santa Fe Crop Report and other agricultural data for May has to say about the wheat and moisture situation in this section of the Santa Fe-served territory.

Moisture—adequate to surplus: Over most of the Santa Fe-served territory, moisture supplies since late October of 1972, have been more than adequate with many areas plagued by excessive snows and flooding. This has delayed completion of harvest of 1972 crops and resulted in delays in preparation of soil and planting of much of the intended acreage of 1973 crops.

The 1973 winter wheat crop in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico, for all practical purposes has never suffered for moisture since planting time last fall with some areas having to delay planting due to fields being too wet. Rank growth, plenty of moisture and generally favorable temperatures for excellent growth have all resulted in a crop which until early in April gave the appearance of having above average prospects except where fields were water logged. How much of the acreage will show effects of damage from mosaic and excess moisture cannot at this time be determined. Also to be determined is the effect of the hard freeze which hit much of the 5 state area early in April, as well as a shortage of available nitrogen in some fields. Some 'burning' of leaves on wheat plants is apparent from the early April freeze, but whether the head, still in the boot, has been damaged probably will not be known for several weeks and perhaps not until the crop is harvested.

As of mid-April much of the winter acreage in the 'early wheat' area of Oklahoma and Texas along and south of the Red River was showing rank growth and was in the early boot stage with harvest expected to get under way, depending on moisture and temperatures, about May 25.

Production of winter wheat in the five states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico could still (with favorable conditions for the remainder of the growing season and through harvest) in spite of possible damage from excess moisture, mosaic and freezes; total over 600 million bushels or almost 20 per cent more than the crop of 504 million bushels produced in 1972.

Wildcat Band to Enter Six Flags
Contest Friday

The Crowell High School Band and director James Streit will be leaving early Friday for Arlington to enter a band contest at Six Flags over Texas. Mr. Streit says the Six Flags contest is an extremely difficult one with only the best bands performing. Crow-ell's winning sweepstakes last year was the reason that the local band was invited to participate.

Mr. Streit said the trip will consume about 24 hours. They will leave here at 2 a. m. Friday, play in the contest about 8:30 a. m., go to Six Flags when it opens at 11 a. m.; stay until it closes at 10 that night, and then return to Crowell, with estimated arrival time being 2 a. m. Saturday.

Blood Center Official Is Speaker at WSL Meeting

Mrs. Sherry Walker, who is employed by the Red River Regional Red Cross Blood Center located in Wichita Falls, told members of the Women's Service League Thursday of the benefits of the center to local residents and asked their continued support at the semi-annual bloodmobile visits.

Mrs. Walker was introduced by Mrs. Cecil Carroll.

"It is usually too late for a donor after the need exists," Mrs.
Walker stated. The blood center provides all of the blood and blood products for 35 participating hospitals serving over 350,000 persons in a 20,000 square mile area of Texas and Oklahoma—some 22 counties. The blood program will replace any blood used by a local citizen anywhere in the United States. They also have a family plan whereby they accept designated blood donations for friends or relatives hospitalized outside this region.

Mrs. Walker further pointed out that blood is perishable—it can be stored for only 21 days—and must be handled with the greatest care and skill. The entire process requires the supervision of licensed physicians, skilled nurses and laboratory technicians.

The blood is distributed 24 hours a day and the patient is charged only a portion of the cost for collecting the blood, laboratory processing, typing and tests for such things as hepatitis. The balance of the cost of operating this program is obtained by Red Cross through fund campaigns.

Mrs. Audrey Collins, local hospital technician who serves as donor chairman, was a special guest.
She added that Foard County needs to supply at least 50 units of blood for each drive. Mmes.
Walker and Collins answered questions at the conclusion of the luncheon.

STATE CAPITAL
Highlights
AND Sidelights
by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—Gulf Coast and South Texas newspaper publishers kicked off an investigation into the "newsprint crisis" last week that could become a nationwide issue.

Last week in San Antonio, a probe was launched into the causes of the current newsprint shortage in the United States.

A resolution requesting a "Congressional investigation" of the current newsprint crisis was adopted at the joint board meeting of the Texas Gulf Coast Press Association and the South Texas Press Association.

Publishers speaking for the resolution asked the Texas Press Association and National Newspaper Association to "investigate the problem at all levels" including "price fixing" and the "reported nationwide newsprint shortage."

The resolution asked the press associations to report their findings to their memberships so that "publishers can make necessary plans and adjustments for the future months and years."

Several weekly newspapers recently have converted to daily publication because of the growth of their cities, and are having problems getting more newsprint for their publications.

The regional press associations also asked that the Texas Congressional delegation be alerted to the problem and requested "assistance in working toward solutions for an adequate supply of this resource which is so vital to our industry."

Other state press associations in the southwest and midwest have received copies of the resolution, and have received requests for action by their officers at future board of directors meetings.

The newsprint manufacturers in the United States have told publishers that shortages have been caused by paper mill closings in some states because of "environmental problems." Wet weather has kept timber in the forests and away from the mills, newsprint officials have said.

Canadian mills—another big source of newsprint in this country—have not been contacted by the publishers, but will be asked to report the reasons for current shortages, the press association officials said.

Some publishers have inquired about newsprint supplies in other countries, and "pool purchases" of newsprint from overseas markets.

Recent price increases by the newsprint companies have sparked part of the controversy also.

"We cannot understand why the price of newsprint is the same in the states with newsprint mills—close to the source of supply—and in areas hundreds of miles from the manufacturing plants," one publisher pointed out.

GOV. SUPPORTS SCHOOL FINANCE AID — Gov. Dolph Briscoe threw his support behind a stopgap school finance aid measure to provide $39.7 million in enrichment grants to the state's 113 poorest districts.

He spelled out his recommendations at a rally arranged here by San Antonio and Crystal City residents to dramatize the case for overhaul of inequities in educational funding.

Briscoe pledged additional legislation will "set into action a process of altering our entire funding system so that state funds will be allocated to all school districts . . . based on the financial resources of each."

While the governor didn't say what he meant by the latter, aides said a "complete review" of tax capabilities of districts across the state will be ordered.

Briscoe, committed to avoiding a tax bill this year, found it difficult to accept far-reaching overhauls of the school finance system which will cost $500 million to $800 million for implementation.

The legislation he backs, with Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's and House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.'s support, would require each district to report its taxable assets to the state comptroller on specified forms by January 1, 1975.

Data will aid in fixing true market value of the property for school tax purposes, aides said.

The governor's office would also be made responsible for coordinating work of legislative committees and other official agencies in working out a plan for overhauling the school finance system by 1975.

Briscoe told the demonstrators a court case from San Antonio's Edgewood district pointed up inequities and "we must move to correct them."

Weather Affecting Herbicides

Wise use of herbicides (chemical weed killers) is especially critical during periods of adverse weather such as this spring, says an agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Due to wet conditions, weeds will be abundant in crops this year. However, undue haste in using herbicides when conditions are unfavorable or increasing rates beyond recommendations can be detrimental. Over-the-top herbicide applications should be avoided on cotton. Extreme care is essential where replanting is necessary since certain crops can not be planted where particular herbicides have been applied.

Per Cent of Income Spent on Food

Senior News

By Ruth Brown

"Oh no." "Never! Absolutely Never." "They'll have to catch me first." "I rather die!" These were a few of the comments which were heard last Wednesday when students had to get their TB skin tests. However, due to the gentle persuasiveness of two nurses and three or four teachers, most of the shots were well received — outside of a few diehards that had to take them twice because the student tried to leave before the shot was over!

Seniors wish to thank the Foard County Lumber Company for the gorgeous notebooks they gave us. We'll really put them to good use!

Congratulations to the seniors who received the who's who award in a subject. Babs Streit was who's who in math, Trudy Bird in English, Lance Worley in science; Rhonda Vecera in social studies; Daryl Halencak in speech; Lee Meads in bookkeeping and Darla Bell in home economics.

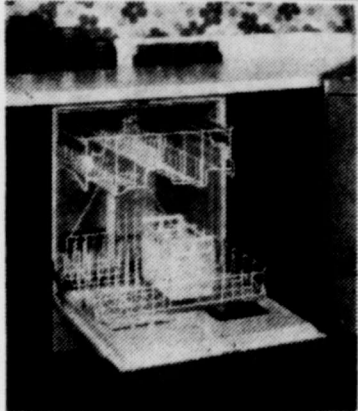

Congratulations also go to this year's valedictorian, Rhonda Vecera; salutatorian, Babs Streit; and honor students Karen Gray, Daryl Halencak, Trudy Bird, Ruth Brown, Darla Bell and Irma Quintero.
