W. J. Staton of Beville, recently sold a car of fine bulls in Louisiana.

S. R. Williams has returned from a trip into the Panhandle. He reports that at the time of his trip on Tuesday and Wednesday, but it had all disappeared by yesterday morning. He does not think there will be any losses of cattle, since all have gone through the winter in good condition—Fort Worth Register.

Farmer in Dallas county report that cattle, horses and hogs are dying from eating wheat and vegetable growth infested with the grain aphid.

J. E. Robertson will trail a herd of 1400 cows from Pecos City to Childress.

It is said that W. E. Halsell of Vinita, Ok., has refused an offer of $12,000 for his ranch, which embraces the old abandoned military reservation near Woodward, O. T. He purchased the property some time ago for $40,000, and spent $10,000 more in stocking and improving it.

F. H. JACKSON & CO., WINCHESTER, TEXAS. Aluminum stock label. The best, most secure, easiest to use and most durable. Send for description and sample.

WANTS INFORMATION. Sams Bois, I. T. I have some young calves sick with a disease of which I know nothing about and out of five head taken, only one has recovered, and write that through the columns of your paper I may find out a cure or a preventive for the disease. They get down all at once on their hunkers, seemingly in a cramp, and lay together on their hunkers and on their bellies, never lying on their sides; sometimes their legs are under them and sometimes extended back as if affected in their loins, and they will try to stand up but they have no use of their legs or are affected in their loins so that they cannot rise.

Please publish this letter that I may hear from some of your subscribers, something to do. GEO. W. SCOTT.

FOR The Merchant, send for sample. The Farmer, send for price list. The Mechanic, send for price list. The Professional, send for price list. Everybody who writes to Breeding Co., Dallas, Tex., will receive a clean and legible copy of Dallas, Tex., obtained every letter while you write.

Chips of Experience

VALUE OF COTTONSEED—In a bulletin from the Mississippi station W. L. Hutchinson says:

The results of feeding tests with cottonseed, cottonseed meal and corn which are given in this bulletin are worthy of careful study by the farmers of this state. The facts as demonstrated are (1) a pound of cottonseed has a greater value for feeding cattle than a pound of corn; (2) a pound of cottonseed meal has a feeding value about equal to two pounds of corn; (3) that at least 85 per cent of the fertilizing ingredients in the feeds is excreted by the animals fed, and may be recovered in the manure; (4) the nearly equal value of the fertilizing ingredients excreted is found in the urine; (5) that both cottonseed and cottonseed meal may constitute a very important part of the grain feed of cattle without injury to their health; (6) that cottonseed and cottonseed meal when fed to dairy cows in proper quantity and properly combined with other feeds do not injure the quality of either milk or butter.

With corn at forty cents per bushel (about the average price in this state) a ton of cottonseed is worth $16.70 as a feed for either beef cattle or dairy cattle. At present prices for commercial fertilizers nitrogen costs about 12 cents per pound and phosphoric acid and potash each five cents per pound. Allowing these prices for the same ingredients in manure, we have $9.09 as the fertilizing value of the manure from each ton of seed fed, making for the farmer a total value per ton of $25.79. Farmers sell their seed for $4 to $6 per ton! Some of them sell for $2 per ton!

In a similar way we find the feeding value of a ton of cotton seed to be worth $28.56, and the manure to be worth $19.13 for every ton of meal consumed, making a total value of $47.69 that a farmer might derive per ton by first feeding the meal to cattle and applying the manure to his land.

Mississippi produced in 1917-18 1,627,000 bales of cotton. This gave 8,000,000 tons of seed, which had a combined feeding and manurial value of $23,622,000. Had the entire crop been sold for $5 per ton it would have brought only $4,000,000.

The cotton crop for the South the same year was 11,200,000 bales and 5,600,000 tons of seed, having a combined feeding and fertilizing value of $14,424,000. At $5 per ton the seed would have brought $28,000,000. The farmers of Mississippi lost $16,622,000 on this crop, and the farmers of the entire cotton belt lost $16,424,000.

The present disposition of the cottonseed crop secures to the farmer a very small part of its real value, and must of necessity give place to a practice that will secure to the farmer the maximum benefit which he may derive from this product.

The time will come when the Southern farmer will realize that the fertileaflets of an oblong rather than an ovate shape, with one-celled seed pods instead of two. Of this kind we have not seen large quantities in the west, where patches covering several acres of the woolly loco weed are numerous. This is a description of this so-called live stock breeder's much. I am justified in adopting this course. I am sure that the Canadian live stock men will appreciate these steps, and that they have not secured all that they had hoped, the arrangements made will relieve them of much embarrassment, and assist them to continue that profitable trade in cattle between the United States and England and the United States in which they have done so well.

THE LOCO WEED—Dr. W. K. Lewis in Field and Farm, says: "Other than a description of this so-called poisonous plant with a few vague references to the peculiar effect upon animals, literature upon the subject is limited, while on the other hand press-cuttings are abundant. In 1873 the United States department of agriculture was furnished with a specimen of the plant which was respectfully acknowledged in the 1874 year book. In 1888 a concise report from Miss G. Watson, Ann Arbor, Mich., in which she claims to have isolated a small quantity of an alkaloid and resin from the plant but on further experimentation 160 grains of the dried root were taken in forty grain doses within two hours without any perceptible effect. One and a half ounces of the fluid extract was given to a kitten two months old without effect. In 1888 the department of agriculture took it again in hand. Professor V. K. Chestnut, chief of the division of botany, in bulletin No. 29 described the plant as belonging to the pea family, of a silvery white color, and a silky leafed perennial eight to twelve inches high, with an abundance of foliage springing out of a cluster from a short central stem close to the ground. The flowers are pea shaped and usually purple. The pod is distinctly two-celled. The plant is a native of the great-plained region extended from West Texas and New Mexico northward to South Dakota and Wyoming. Such is the description and habitat of the plant. There is still another species of this noxious plant, differing only in general appearance, growing more erect, branchless, with in their natural productivity for any green herbage at a time when grass is hay and other herbage even less succulent. The plant is easily killed off out of flowering time and no rain follows. This is the best time to cut it. The plant is not so completely atrophied as to render it functionless, great reparation can be brought about by a thorough course of medicine, judicious feeding and progressive stimulation. The most highly stimulated diet. When animals are found located they should be taken up and placed under a course of rational treatment such as prescribed.

ALFALFA—An Ohio station bulletin says: "The correspondence of the Ohio experiment station indicates a large and increasing interest throughout the state in the culture of alfalfa. On the thin days of the station farms, the results of the experiments thus far made with this plant have not been encouraging; but there are large areas under progressive stimulation. In the most highly stimulated alfalfa, when underdrained, should produce this crop to advantage. Again, there are other regions of well drained alfalfa lands which are naturally drained by underlying gravels; these offer conditions that have been found most favorable to alfalfa. Joseph E. Meacham, of Mechanicsburg, Ohio, whose land of the kind last mentioned, has grown alfalfa on a large scale and with excellent success, and he has furnished the following hints as to its culture:

"The best way to sow alfalfa is to plow the land deep in the spring or winter. Turn up a little new soil; harrow down and sow seedless spring barley at the rate of two bushels to the acre. Sow alfalfa seeds, or a peck of alfalfa seed at the same time. I usually roll the land well after sowing. This makes the alfalfa do better, but is sometimes hard on the barley. Alfalfa will come up through the winter and thrive better than when it is too loose. Let the barley ripen and cut it for grain. Then when the alfalfa starts up a little, clip it with the mower. Clip it close. It will start again, and after a month or so clip again. Keep the stock all off until next year. It is better to keep stock off for two years, as soon as blossoming the second year first crop it taken off it will mature another in exactly thirty days. Do not cut alfalfa seed at the same time. Take about thirty-five or forty days, then, in thirty-five or forty days, there is the fourth crop. Take it, or graze it.

"The third year is the best in the alfalfa's life, though it may not decline for ten years. Keep all stock off it after frost; it is deadly then. Stock injures it greatly by tramping on it after it is in summer. It is the best pasture on earth for pigs, horses, cows, sheep and chickens. There is the same difficulty regarding blood that there is in red clover. After frost there is a danger in alfalfa; yet the danger is slight if the stock, after being used to it, are never taken away from it until frost and are then taken away for good.

"There is a point of great importance in the growth of alfalfa, and it is re-

SHOWS AND SALES.

SECRETARY THOMAS GIVES TO HEREFORD BREEDERS INSTRUCTIONS CONCERNING THIS YEAR'S EVENTS.

Secretary Thomas, of the American Hereford Cattle Breeders' association, has issued a circular regarding the shows and sales to be held by the association. His year's program of shows and sales will be held the first week in September at the Minnesota state fair at Hamline, at which 100 head will be offered. The last week in September a public exposition at Chicago, the Kentucky state fair at Louisville, at which fair $5000 will be offered in prizes for Herefords, thus insuring an attendance of Hereford admirers and breeders. The following are the shows and sales of the association for the year 1918:

September 15th to 25th of October, 153 head will be sold, and the last sale will be on the occasion of the livestock exposition at Chicago. The first sale in December, 100 head being sold at this time. The circular says:

"The sales of the past year have demonstrated the fact that these sales are the best possible opportunities for disposing of inferior stock, and it was also demonstrated that a superior animal would not be sold for a sacrifice for want of bidders. These sales are, without doubt, the best possible opportunities for public action and the fee of $5 per animal, which will be charged this year to cover the expense of catalogues, advertising, etc., is no more than adequate when rendered. Of this fee $10 per animal must accompany the request for entry in these sales, and such request for entry will not be considered unless said fee is enclosed. The fee for the year will be collected at the time of sale.

"At the Hamline and Louisville sales each breeder will be allowed to contribute five head, at least three of which must be females. At Kansas City and Chicago the limit allowed each breeder will be three head, at least two of which must be females. At any of the sales mentioned females consigned cannot be over less than twelve months nor over five years old, exception being made only in the case of a female of exceptional merit. The bulls contributed cannot be less than twelve months nor over thirty months old, with the same exception as with females. No dehorned animal of any age will be eligible to entry in any of these sales.

"Every animal of either sex consigned to these sales must be guaranteed by its breeder, and a satisfactory subsequent treatment, by the consignor. If any animal sold falls in this respect, and complaint thereof is made to the secretary, a committee appointed for the purpose will investigate such complaint, and should satisfactory proof of barrenness be found the seller will be obligated to return the purchase price of such animal and pay the freight charges incurred by its return. No dehorned animal will be accepted for sale. A competent committee will be appointed to inspect all cattle listed for sale. This inspection will be made at the expense of the consignor, and in case an animal is rejected by this committee the first fee of $10

STAYS WITH THE COW.

Quannah has recently become afflicted with quite a number of "bums" and "bobos" the most pronounced type. There were two cases of petty thieving this week, and five of the gentlemen were put in jail. There is one and only one remedy for this evil, and that is work. Put these men to work on the streets, and they will become notably scarce. It is nothing short of an imposition to tax people to keep these worthless vagabonds well fed in a warm, comfortable jail. Our streets need improving, and this beats any other method of doing it—Quannah Observer.

Things at Home and Abroad.

Beaumont Oil Field.—The excitement at Beaumont continues unabated and the bringing in of two new washers, the Heywood and Spindletop wells, a few days ago gave another spurt to the oil speculation. The claim is now made that the field is much greater in extent than was at first supposed. New oil companies are being formed all over the state and people of all classes are investing in oil stocks.

Flood at Pittsburg.—Pittsburg and Allegheny, Pa., were flooded a few days ago by the rise in the rivers caused by rain and snow. The damage to manufactories was enormous, and thousands of homes were totally wrecked or rendered uninhabitable. Conservative estimates of the total damage in that district is between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. Fifty thousand workers are suffering from extreme idleness. While there have been greater floods at Pittsburg, there was never one that caused so much financial loss and discomfort.

Aguinaldo's Manifesto.—Aguinaldo has at last given in and has issued the following address to the Filipinos: "I believe that I am not in error in presuming that the unhappy fate to which my adverse fortune has led me is not a surprise to those who have been familiar with the progress of the war. So they respect this will, and now that it is known to me, after mature deliberation, I resolutely proclaim to the world what I can no longer keep to myself, the voice of a people longing for peace, the lamentations of thousands of families yearning to see their dearest ones enjoying the liberty and the promised generosity of the great American nation. which they are beginning to enjoy. The country has declared unmistakably in favor of peace. So be it. There has been enough blood, enough tears and enough desolation. This wish can not be ignored. sufficient information has been received by the court officials to convince them that the two leaders of the Snake band are again at work advising their people to continue to oppose the policy of the government regarding their tribal affairs. Mico is said to have delivered a speech on Little River a short time ago, in which he advised the people to die rather than take their allotments. They now have practically no following and there is no probability of any further uprising.

PROBABLE PLAN OF OPENING.—No final action has been taken on the report of opening the Kiowa and Comanche reservations, but according to reports from Washington something closely approaching the following method will most likely be adopted: There will be a period of registration, lasting thirty or forty days prior to the opening, during which each applicant for these lands will be required to show by written proofs that he is qualified to make honest entry and actually desires to do so as a means of procuring a home. If his proof is satisfactory he will be permitted, on the opening, to make a selection of land. The work of

At Roswell, J. W. Stockard bought of Sam Van Winkle 65 head of stock cattle at $21 around.

H. W. Creswell of Pueblo, Col., will place on the C. A. Bar ranch, near Roswell, 3000 head of cattle from the Texas Panhandle.
Prospectors are reported to have struck oil at Deming, N. M. The oil belt is said to be five miles in length and the oil of good quality.

C. W. Haynes and E. L. Wildy have purchased the entire 1901 apple crop of the L. D. stock farm near Roswell, consisting of sixty acres of six-year-old trees, from the manager, J. C. White, at one-half cent per pound. There are about 5500 trees in the orchard which should bear at least 100 pounds per tree.

At the annual meeting of the Southwestern New Mexico Cattle Protective association, which was held in Silver City, N. M., a short time ago, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: W. H. Moore, president; J. W. Martin, vice president; O. P. Culbertson, secretary and treasurer; John C. Cureton, P. M. Shelly, Vice Culbertson, D. C. McMillan and N. J. Hicks, executive committee. There was a large attendance from throughout the country.

Many so-called "biters" are not medicines, but simply liquids disguised, so as to deceive the law. PRICELY ASPIRIN is not one of this class. It is a strictly a medicine, acting primarily on the lungs, liver and bowels, and for the dangerous diseases that attack these organs it is a remedy of the first grade. There is nothing objectionable in its taste. It has an agreeable flavor and is acceptable to the most delicate stomach.

HOW THE PEOPLE BITE.
E. Kitchens, while in town, told a Bulletin man that he had been out for ten days with some peddlers and that they had sold some $1500 worth of silks and other goods in one neighborhood. The goods come in packages which he offers for $45, collecting one-third cash and taking the balance on time. He says he never saw people so eager to get the goods. The peddlers represent that they are selling out a busted factory's goods in England and will not sell except in quantities of $45. In some cases the buyers buy two of the packages. He thinks that nearly $50,000 worth of these package goods have been sold in this county in the last two months by these peddlers from abroad.

In all the packages there are sure to be the provisions of the new law. Peddlers are protected for a period of five years, where they run that long, and that is about all that was expected. This country is not materially affected one way or the other, as there are but about thirty sections of leased land in the county. In other counties there is more leased land, and the trouble is that the leases are not going to expire thick and fast enough for the hungry land hustler. A prominent legal firm here was called upon

THE MANLY WIGOR

In time of danger who is the man who, while others become panic stricken, leaps forward and becomes a hero? The manly man! Who is the man who, in the midst of business famine, pushes his enterprise through strife and trouble to success? The manly man! Who is the man who gains and holds the respect and esteem of his neighbors and associates in business? The manly man! This "manly man" is a man of courage, of strong heart, good health and self-confidence—with nerves that never flinch, muscles like bars of iron, a heart full of manly courage, honored and respected by all who know him, such is the man who wears

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt.
This is a message to men. It is to men who want to feel like men, to look like men and act like men. This is to men who lack courage, whose nerves are shaky, whose eyes have lost the sparkle, whose brains are muddled, ideas confused, sleep restless, confidence gone, spirits low and easily dejected, who are backward, hesitating, unable to venture because they are afraid of failure, who want somebody to decide for them, who are weak, puny, restless. It is to men who have part or all of these symptoms and want new life, new vigor, new energy, I offer it to you in my wonderful belt.

I CURE, to stay cured, Nervous Debility; Weakness of any kind, whether in Neck, Stomach, Heart, Liver or Kidneys; Rheumatism; Pains in Back and Shoulders; Sciatica; Indigestion; Neuritis; Constipation; Dyspepsia; and all troubles where new life can restore health.
FREE BOOK.—Call and test my belt free. If you can't do that, send me the name of the doctor who has failed to cure you, and I will send you a book that tells you how to cure yourself. It tells you how to cure yourself. It tells you how to cure yourself. It tells you how to cure yourself.

the family buys a lot of needless stuff for a few things they admire, paying exorbitant prices for it all. The busted factory business is all wind, and told merely as a bait.—Brownsword Bulletin.

Stockmen generally express themselves as very well pleased with the provisions of the new law. Leases are protected for a period of five years, where they run that long, and that is about all that was expected. This country is not materially affected one way or the other, as there are but about thirty sections of leased land in the county. In other counties there is more leased land, and the trouble is that the leases are not going to expire thick and fast enough for the hungry land hustler. A prominent legal firm here was called upon over the telephone yesterday from Snyder by a party who desired to know if they could put him onto leased lands in certain pastures. This would seem to indicate that there is going to be some tall old hustling for the few crumbs of comfort that can be dispensed under the new law.—Colorado Stockman.

The meeting of the Northwest Texas Fair association at Quanah, Sept. 3, 4, 5 and 6, will be the biggest thing in the history of the Panhandle. The directors are beginning in time to have it well advertised and the people from a distance and in neighboring counties are taking a great deal of interest in the fair. People will be here from everywhere and it behooves every county in Northwest Texas to be represented. We want immigration, and the way to get it is to show to the world what our resources are. A good exhibit from each county of its products will be of untold value, and the opportunity should not be overlooked. —Quanah Observer.

Reports from Germany indicate that the farmers in the most of the wheat-producing regions there are finding it difficult to grow anything like a high quality of grain as they did a year ago. The elements necessary to produce good milling wheat seem to have disappeared from the soil just as they have in many portions of the United States. The grain grown in many districts is now so poor in quality that it must be reinforced by the admixture of foreign sorts before satisfactory flour can be made from it.

men anywhere in Texas that is not attended by a few of our people who are followed invariably upon their return home by a shipment of fine registered bulls.—Refugio Review.

Old Mexico is still producing the "knot-head" type of cattle which are almost worthless for any purpose except to eat grass. It is interesting to contrast the nondescript animals with the high-bred steers that are now being grown across the line in Texas. Stockmen in Texas are justly proud of the progress they have made in breeding and wonder why they didn't commence sooner. Most of the young cattle in Texas are beginning to show the impress of aristocratic sires and that is one reason why the owners are asking more money for them. Being better bred, they are worth more money, everything else being equal.—Chicago Journal.

Fifteen bushels of flax from Argentine, South America, were sown as an experiment in North Dakota last year. To the result was so satisfactory that 6000 bushels will be sown this year on about 12,000 acres of land. This flax is larger, plumper, and is said to contain several per cent more of oil than the native flax. The flax in Argentine came originally from Russia.

Texas development is getting to be a matter of general comment the country over. It is not only the oil fields and their development, factory building, railroad building, etc., that are attracting the people of other states, but the development of the sentiment of enterprise and hustle that is making Texas a name among the states of the Union.—Denison Herald.
