The Record Saturday says that the K C & O are projecting a road from Ft Worth to Roswell thru the great middle West.
And that representatives are making a survey. The road to connect at Graham. It will be noticed that Terry county is in direct line for this road.

The Farmers Union have mov-

The movements of the wine growers of France have caused several officials to resign and quite a stir among the ministary and State officials. We have peeu

by "wine" men, but our officials don't resign on account of it.

U.S. Senator Ross of Kansas, who saved President Johnson from being impeached, died in a lonely place New Mexico a few weeks ago, practically unknown and unthought about. But his one vote on that occasion no doubt saved the Republic of the U.S. from another terrible war and Possibly a monarchy. Ross tho lonely should have died with the satisfaction of being a world wide benefactor.

The Federal court at Sherman appointed C. E. Dorchester receiver of the Waters-Pierce Oil of the Oil Co., and it said that this action protects the oil company, its stockholders and the state alike, and will prevent damages to those having out orders for oil, etc.

Just Got In

I've looped the loop and I've shot the chutes.
I've worn oxfords and cowhide boots,
I've lived in a flat and a swell hotel,
I've eaten chuck, and I'm ashamed to tell I've rode the blind and the Pullman too
I've also walked the ties a few
I've owned a farm in Kansas, whew!
I've lost the same on a mortgage due.
I've dodged a cyclone by half a neck,
I've had other troubles by the peck.
I've worked a spell as dairy hand,
I've played the drum in the old town band.
I've run a store and run a race
I've run a pawnshop, and my face
I've owned some money and paid it off
I've had the measles and whooping cough.
I've been in army, but was not shot,
I've run for office and learned a lot
I've longed for the wolves and went to sea,
I've learned that a ship's no place for me.
I've held a run as an engineer
I've tried to drive a locoed steer.
I've listened to music fine and grand,
I've heard the coyotes out in the sand
I've done most everything everywhere,
I've seen some life and I've had some care,
I've drifted aroud and I've tried 'em all,
I've climbed fame's ladder and took a fall.
But now that it's over, I'd like to say,
That I've settle out here and am here to stay
I've knocked around for thirty years,
Then lit out here and gave three cheers.
Out on the mesa I've built a shack,
And I'm out here to stay and I won't go back.
You can talk of your east, your north, you south
And tell of the sand storms and 3 years drouth
But the crops I can raise on the land out here,
Are enough for me from year to year.
A better place there may somewhere be
But Terry county's good enough for me.

Garza county has gone to keeping house. Organized last week, elected full set of officers Post City was chosen county site and all moved off nicely. This city is expected to grow rapidly.

A. L. Wasson of La Mesa was acquitted at Colorado City last week of the charge of killing two men near La Mesa about a year ago. The case was hard fought by both sides.

Quite a stir was created in Dallas and East Texas about a rumor that H. Clay Pierce was in Texas. All the Sheriffs got busy and searched several private cars but to no avail.

The Seven Ages of Wheels.

A wicker carriage we provide
In which the baby first must ride.
With kilts a yellow car arrives
A doubtful billy-goat he drives.
The age of love and gasoline.
Demands a sixty-horse machine.
The years advance; he rides afar.
In his palatial private car.
Old, feebly, if the day be fair,
His valet wheels him in his chair.
Then one last trip he takes on wheels.
His head no higher than his heels.

Hit Him With A Hoe Handle.

If there is anything that makes me want to cuss is to hear some pin-headed lude of ball on juice talk about the "poor ignorant farmer." It's a wonder to me somebody don't land on these insects with a hoe handle. If you will investigate these "sympathizers" you will find that they have made a failure of everything they ever tried to do. A man who thinks the farmers of Texas are either "poor" or "ignorant" hasn't got enough sense to do anything but talk rot.

A real estate firm recently received a letter from a prospector asking for a copy of their local paper, saying he could tell more about the situation and progressiveness of the country that way.—Ex.

This is true of a great many people who may not write that way, but who quietly considers it. If the merchants don't advertise, no mention of enterprises, no local news happenings, no one to speak of the business chances of the county, what would a man thinking of locating here think? Send us the news from your community, if you know anything doing, tell the editor, take the paper, and help them do more for your own county.

What Strange People We Mortals be. A man passed thru here last week saying he was going to get near the railroad to buy land, for wood is scarce here and lumber and groceries are higher on account of freighting so far, this is true, but we will sell him land at $7 per acre, nearer town than he can get near a railroad town at $15, and the land the same, or equally as good, and pure water which is doubtful down the country. Now he pays $7 per acre more for his land to be near the railroad, this is nearly $4500 more than he would pay here for just as good land. Now how far would this $4,000 go toward building a house and improvements and buying groceries? The railroad is the only advantage he has for we have everything else a town and country needs, when a rail road gets here our lands will more than double right now, what about this? The cheapness of lands more than make up for all our inconveniences.

A NERVY PREACHER
Last Thursday evening a large white badger was captured and securely caged in box with a strong rope tied to him, in the wagon yard at Gomez. And while a large crowd were anxiously waiting to see the fight between it and a vicious bulldog, yet no one dared run the risk of pulling this famous fighter from under the box. Just as this interesting scene was about to be abandoned our handsome, well educated and highly cultured young preacher, fresh from college, who had perched himself upon a stall fence announced that he had the nerve to pull him, whereupon he bravely set one foot securely against the ground, tightened the rope, and the dog was growling ready and the nerry preacher could almost see the box cage move with the angry victim inside, and the crowd made room for the fray, and the fierceness of the occasion and the experience of such a daring deed were the thoughts running thru his mind, yet, when the announcement of "ready" was made, he heroically and very successfully gave a pull and a jerk that brought the stubborn animal from his cage, right out in full view, but to his utmost surprise the dangerous fighter of which he had read did not attack the dog, and the dog being accustomed to such did not pounce upon the badger, and the awful animal, the vicious as he's said to be, would not even move without being jerked around with the rope. The young hero seemed to be the worst disappointed of the crowd, and realizing the immortality of the soul, and that it is not all of life live nor death to die, took to buggy and drove out of town.
