

Trip To Town —

...car door slammed as we sat of us crowded into the back seat of the Model T. Papa spun the crank, the engine started and with a jerk we were off to town for our weekly Saturday afternoon

We drove along the dusty road. Papa with both hands on the steering wheel, sitting in the front seat so he could look for and miss the largest rocks. Mama sat stiffly beside him feeling secretly proud of her appearance in her best dress with her navy blue hat placed just so. The hat was adorned with a cluster of red painted grapes that looked so real I often thought they might be good to eat.

We came to the first gate, then crossed the branch and on through the last gate; then we heard Mama give her usual sigh of relief to be off the rocky lane and on the public road. As we sped along, the speedometer neared 30 miles per hour. Mama began to fidget; soon she casually reminded Papa that there was a corner up ahead or a bridge to cross. She never actually told him how to drive since she couldn't drive herself, but she kept a sharp eye on the fence posts as they whizzed by; they served as her speedometer.

Papa was a tobacco chewing man, a fact Mama accepted without complaint, though he seldom chewed in the house. He enjoyed it most when he was on old Point rounding up the goats, or riding the planter when he put in the cotton seed. Then he could chew, think and spit to his own pleasure. But for some reason the trip to town and the responsibility of driving the car ten miles loaded with Mama and all his children called for a chew of tobacco.

It was never a surprise to those in the back seat when he said, "Everybody duck, I'm going to spit." We hit the floorboard in a heap but seldom were we fast enough to dodge the spray of tobacco juice.

Going to town on Saturday afternoon was never a spur-of-the-moment thing. As the sun rose in the east over the distant hills, Mama was already in a hurried frenzy to get the milk strained, the dishes washed, the house "picked up" and dinner cooked. Later we would hear her say, "Hurry up so we can get a good parking place."

Papa was busy, too, on Saturday morning gathering all the necessary items to take to town. There was the kerosene can he must not forget; the eggs were to be crated and loaded; the tow sacks and cotton sack for wrapping the ice had to be in the car. Part of the ice would be used that night for ice cream and the remainder kept in the wooden ice box until Sunday so we could have iced tea.

Summer months were best for trips to town. It was mid-day, in summer, on one particular trip when we eased our car onto the public road. The heat and sky full of bright light left a shining glimmer on the mesquite leaves in the distance. The land, dry and brittle from lack of rain, was heavy with the smell of dust; low growing brush along the road hung tired and white from it. If we had looked across the sweep of the countryside we could have seen heat waves dancing before our eyes. But we were too excited to notice the mesquites or the sagging phone lines where doves dived in the sun.

Saturday afternoon in town was for country folks. It was a joyful time of seeing, visiting, gossiping, shopping and laughing. Half of the county was there and half the afternoon they walked the streets going from store to store.

Small groups of men gathered along the sidewalk edges, or on the courthouse lawn, to talk and whittle on match stems.

Older children sauntered with friends up and down the streets and eventually climbed the courthouse steps to the top floor and peered down the rotunda to the long drop below. The wide corridors and high-pitched ring of echoes throughout this massive structure seemed strange to us - we who were accustomed to open spaces, cozy homes and silent country nights. If we happened to have a camera, we stood like marble statues on the courthouse steps to have our pictures made.

Teenagers in groups went from housewife to housewife who lived in their community to beg for a 'Snap Party'. If they were successful they bounded off in great excitement to spread the good news. Late that afternoon word was spread even farther with an alarm ring on the telephone.

Young women with small children darting about and babies in their arms were in town. They met in stores to exchange greetings; they felt of bolts of cloth and tested them for fading by chewing small samples; they tried on hats at the millinery shop - hats decorated with feathers, paper flowers and artificial grapes; they tried sturdy shoes on reluctant children and bought bits of ribbon and lace. When the struggle with small children became too great, they drifted back to their parked cars to sit and watch the people pass.

Grandmas and Grandpas were there, too; some were so feeble they sat in their cars throughout the afternoon and fought the heat with fans; they watched the crowds for friends and neighbors.

As the summer afternoon wore on almost every person had visited the drug store for a cool drink and a bowl of ice cream - rich, creamy and good. They sat on drug store stools or around ice cream tables and savored every minute of the cool breeze from the ceiling fan.

Finally, our family gathered at the car and Papa was off to the filling station for the kerosene and then to the ice house. He first wrapped the ice with layers of paper, then several tow sacks, and lastly the cotton sack enclosed it all. We shed our shoes the minute we left town and thought we felt coolness through all the wrappings on our bare feet.

Dirty and tired, we reached home just before sundown when the heat of the day began to fade. There was always the Saturday night bath that followed.

As I sat awaiting my turn in the No. 2 washtub, I could hear Papa turning the ice cream freezer on the back porch and Mama calling to her chickens. I could see the yellow housecat, lean and lank in the hot months, resting on the windowsill with her head hanging over the edge while she slept - one eye open to watch the yard dog.

As I listened to the cat's gentle purr I thought of the trip to town and of the blind man on the street with his accordion. I remembered the lonesome tunes he played and his polite "thank you" when he heard the tinkle of coins as they dropped in his tin cup. I wondered if he could "see" through his senses all the mixture of people as they passed him by - the running children, the milling crowd, the shuffle of aging feet, a sudden burst of laughter from a man down the street. Soon he would drift to another town to stand on another corner and play his lonesome music.

I could feel the south breeze coming through the kitchen window cooling the earth for the night, but then I heard Papa say, "Ice Cream's ready", and the summer afternoon in town was forgotten.

The Goldthwaite Eagle

Established In 1894 and the Mullin Enterprise

Thursday, January 26, 1978 Goldthwaite, Texas 76844 Volume 84 — No. 41

Mills County was blanketed by a beautiful snow this past weekend, with some measured up to five inches of the white stuff.

The snowfall brought moisture to the Mills County terrain that was very much needed to alleviate some of the dry weather experienced hereabouts this past year.

The political tree is beginning to bloom in Mills County.

The local races always turn the conversations to the elections. Mills County voters will experience a rarity this year, voting on three commissioners in one year. Precincts 1, 2, and 4 will have commissioners up for election. This is brought about by the resignation of Burtel Roberts in Pct. 1 last year.

We'll bring more to you about the election and their special rules and regulations in future issues, but one change is noteworthy this first time, and that is that commissioners and justice of the peace voting is done in the particular precincts only, and not on a county-wide basis as in previous years.

Only county-wide offices will be voted on a countywide ballot.

Also some new boxes have been added by the commissioners court to make it easier for persons to get to the polls.

But then, some we know won't go across the street to vote. And why is it that that same person will be the first to criticize and complain about the "system" or about "the way things are going." Life's like that, isn't it?

Former Governor of Texas Preston Smith of Lubbock was in Goldthwaite Tuesday morning for a brief "rap" session at the Mills County State Bank. He presented a short speech and then answered several questions from the audience.

He served two terms as governor from 1968-72.

A late sports note . . .

The Bangs Dragons defeated Early's Longhorns Tuesday night by a score of 66-57 in Early. This win by Bangs certainly gives the Goldthwaite Eagles a surge of power to take the district crown. Early, Dublin and our Eagles tied for the lead in the first half of play.

The way the schedule is divided is a little strange, though, as the first half champion and second half champion will have a playoff. Someone will have to write in and explain the ifs and ands of this arrangement as there was a three way tie for the first round. Anyway, go get 'em Eagles!

Our fine Eaglette girls team was nosed out by Early last week, to end up 5-1 for the first half, and will give it the supreme effort to win them all in the second stanza, thus assuring them of a playoff for the crown.

Council Sets Special Water Meet Tues.

The City Council meeting that was scheduled for last Friday night, had to be cancelled due to the inclement weather.

A called session has been rescheduled to be held Tuesday night, January 31, at 7:00 p.m. in the Council Room at Goldthwaite City Hall.

The discussion of water problems with Rady & Associates, Engineers, will be the main topic.

The Mayor and City Council urge any interested persons to attend the meeting and voice their views on the water system, or just come and listen and evaluate the problems personally.

It has been estimated at $300,000 range to completely overhaul the filters and reservoirs in our water system.

Eagles Pull Upset; Defeat Early And Share Loop Lead

The Goldthwaite Eagles hold 3-way tie in the first half of district basketball play.

EAGLES UPSET EARLY LONGHORNS

Tuesday night in the Goldthwaite gym, the Eagles blew Early's string of 18 wins as they upset the Longhorns 54-52.

Early played a hard pressing game from the beginning and never considered even to the end that they might lose. As Jett Johnson put the first 2 points on the scoreboard, it was a close game all the way, keeping the fans on the edge of their seats.

With 21 seconds to go, Early called time out with the score 53-52. As the Longhorns tried for the winning basket, Lester Saathoff stole the ball with 9 seconds to go.

Rodney Scott, bringing the ball down court, was fouled and making one of his free shots the mighty Eagles beat the disbelieving Longhorns by the score of 54 - 52.

This is another example of the Eagles great team unity and determination. They now stand 5-1 in the first half of district play.

The score by quarters: 6-11; 22-24; 41-42; 54-52.

POINTS MADE:
Rodney Scott 15
Jett Johnson 14
Mike Lee 11
Jay Sims 8
Lester Saathoff 6

REBOUNDS W/STEALS:
Jay Sims 6 with 2
Lester Saathoff 5 with 3
Rodney Scott 5 with 2
Jett Johnson 2 with 4
Mike Lee had 2 steals

JR. VARSITY PLAYED CLOSE

The Jr. Varsity team had an exciting and close game with Early, but lost by a score of 51 - 48.

The score by quarters: 10-14; 27-28; 39-36; 48-51.

POINTS MADE:
Kenneth Saathoff 16
Andy Gwinup 15
Stephen Schwartz 9
Scott Ward 4
Ted Tucker 4

The J. V. games at 5:30 were equally exciting. There was no game last Friday.

Eaglettes Lose Heartbreaker To Early

The Eaglettes suffered their first district loss in six games at the hands of the Early Longhorns, by a score of 39 - 41.

Sheila Vaughan and Ruth Ann Johnson scored 13 points each, followed by Sandra Derrick with 11, and Melanie Vaughan 2.

The score by quarters: 13-6; 29-20; 36-30; 39-41.

Cynthia Berry pulled down 7 rebounds, while DeAnna Henry had 4 rebounds and 4 steals. Karen Studer had 3 steals, and Ruth Ann Johnson had 7 assists.

Stolen Boykin Feed Safe Recovered

The office safe taken from Boykin Feed Store in Goldthwaite two weeks ago was found by Highway Department workmen last week.

The safe had been opened, apparently with a hack saw, which was quite an undertaking, according to Mills County Sheriff H. G. Brooks, and cash of about $300 was removed. The ledgers and other records were intact, and appeared untouched.

The find was made about 5½ miles north of the intersection of FM 574 and FM 45. The safe had been pulled under a bridge where it was opened. The burglars cut through about 3 inches of steel and concrete in three places to gain entry.

Sheriff Brooks said the investigation is still underway to find the thieves.

Lewis Watson Seeks Prct. 2 Reelection

The Goldthwaite Eagle has been authorized to announce the candidacy of Lewis D. Watson for the position of Commissioner of Precinct 2 in the Democratic Primary in May.

"It has been a pleasure to serve as your Commissioner for the last three years, in which I have tried to be honest and impartial in my dealing with the public; and if I am re-elected I assure you I plan to continue to do the same to the best of my ability", Watson said.

"I will certainly appreciate your confidence and your VOTE."

Fur Capital of the World

This picture was made in 1924. It is the Bledsoe and Moreland Fur House. Co-Owners were Cas Bledsoe and Hugh Moreland.

The Fur House was located between Armstrong Produce and Littlepage Produce, across the street from the Santa Fe Depot. A number of local men worked as fur buyers. Traveling in Model T's, they made their rounds buying furs from dealers and trappers as far away as Conroe in southeast Texas, to Kerrville and Rocksprings and back to Goldthwaite. A good portion of these furs were sold to F. C. Taylor Fur Company in St. Louis, Missouri.

It was not unusual for the firm to sell 3,000 pieces at one time.

Mrs. Clyde Cockrum (Sue) presented the F.H.A. program on diseases last Tuesday at the monthly meeting. The main topic of the discussion was about venereal disease (VD). Mrs. Cockrum told about how everyone should be aware of how serious this disease can be and that it is no longer a disease that other people get. It is possible for anyone to get this possible killer disease. Another must is for everyone to be aware of the symptoms of VD, and if one thinks he or she might be infected - to immediately go to the doctor. Your problem will be kept confidential, so there is no need to worry about this. Parents need not be notified if so specified. If caught in time, the disease can be treated and cured. So everyone should take the necessary precautions. There are clinics that will treat patients free of charge. Mrs. Cockrum told the F.H.A. girls that if they had any further questions, but would like it left in confidence, she would be glad to answer them over the phone. She need not know who the person is she is talking to. Sue couldn't stress how much everyone needs to be cautious. V.D., gone untreated, can cause blindness, baldness, brain damage, and many other terrible things. Unborn babies can also be affected. They can be born without arms, legs, etc. A pregnant woman may not even be aware that she's infected because symptoms sometimes don't show up in women. So always be cautious, and have regular check-ups.

The Annual F.H.A. Banquet was also discussed. The location, time and dress was tossed around. The location will probably be Underwood's in Brownwood, and it will be held sometime in March. One is to dress as you prefer.

Schlueter's work on tax reform earned him a vice-chairmanship on the special committee to study ad-valorem tax reform. He is also serving on a special committee to study cash and management in the State of Texas, and a committee to study interstate relationships.

Schlueter stated that the session beginning in 1979 will be faced with property tax reform, school finance and hopefully some measures to reduce spending.

Schlueter graduated from Baylor University in 1969, with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in finance and economics. He graduated from North Texas State University with a Master's in the same fields. He is a member of the Bell County Farm Bureau, Independent Cattleman's Association, Rotary Club, The Salado and Killeen Chamber of Commerce. He is a deacon of the Central Christian Church in Killeen. His wife, Carol, is a school teacher.

Goldthwaite Garden Club Holds January Meeting

The Goldthwaite Garden Club met recently in the Mills County Bank Community Room. Mrs. Jack Elms, president, conducted the business meeting. The members answered the roll call by mentioning their favorite shrub or tree.

Mrs. Elms thanks all members who helped serve the Birthday parties at the two rest homes. This is one of the community services that the Garden Club carries out each year.

Mrs. Forrest Pesch was welcomed as a new member. A Valentine Bake Sale is to be held February 10, at the Mills County Bank.

Mrs. Woodrow Boykin, program chairman, introduced the program, "Native Trees and Shrubs". Mrs.

Annie Keeler spoke to the group on Native Trees. She stated that we should choose trees which fulfilled the need for color, shape, size and use. One of the best known, and widely used native trees, is the Pecan, a beautiful shade tree as well as a producer of food. Those that add color to the landscape are the Redbud, Cottonwood, Desert Willow and Sumac. The different varieties of Oak are all fine for landscaping uses.

Mrs. Robert McCoy spoke on Native Shrubs. She advised the group to choose the shrub during the growing season, marking it in some manner and then transplanting it during the dormant season, being careful not to disturb any more roots than necessary, and to move as much soil as possible with the shrub. Those growing in this locality that do well in the garden landscape are Agave, Yucca, Winged Elm, Mexican Palm, and Black Haw. The Button Bush, or a variety of Willow, does well in wet land and provides a good source of interesting dried material when the "buttons" form. Other native Texas shrubs that do well in this area are the Sassa, Creosote Bush, Mountain Laurel, Salt Cedar and Bird of Paradise.

Mrs. Ruth Irvin gave garden tips for the month. She suggested that early plantings of lettuce, peas and potatoes might make at this time. It is not too late to plant spring flowering bulbs and Sweet Peas should be planted now for spring bloom.

Refreshments were served by hostesses for the afternoon - Mrs. Jack Elms, Mrs. M. F. Horton, Mrs. Cecil Williams, and Mrs. B. C. Wicker.

The Garden Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Malcolm Jernigan on February 15.

Kelly News

By Mrs. M. C. Partridge

Looks like ole man Winter has covered us with a blanket of snow, and we were wondering how we were going to make it through December.

The ranchers are all very busy trying to keep out hay and feed for their cold, hungry livestock. The cold wind and snow has taken its toll of the baby animals born this month.

There hasn't been much visiting going on. Only by telephone out this way lately. I talked to a lot of my friends and neighbors. There are a lot of colds and sickness and a number of our friends are in the hospital.

Everything is covered with a coat of ice this Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Holcomb have moved to town. We miss them passing by.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton of Star are going to move where they were, after doing some work on the house, but it is too cold now.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis and children were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Slaughter Friday evening.

My grandson, Philip Williams, and I visited Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Mize and Jerry Sunday afternoon.

I hope everyone can survive the cold weather and have a warm and lovely spring.

LEGION MEETING TONIGHT

There will be a meeting of the Goldthwaite American Legion Thursday, January 26, (tonight), beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Legion Hall. All members are urged to attend.
