Vol. 22

MIAMI, Roberts County, TEXAS, Thursday, September 23, 1920. No. 8.

PASS HIGHWAY CONVENTION AT ENID

Miami is now on the Officially designated route of the Great transcontinental auto road, The Abo Pass way.

A. Meade, representing the County Commissioner's office, and J. A. Covey and J. R. Durkin representing The Miami Central League, went as delegates to the Abo Pass Highway Convention at Oklahoma on September 20, to meet the routing from Enid to Kansas City Missouri decided upon.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

A meeting convened at the large Chamber of Commerce rooms, it was found that many of the delegates were unable to get into the hall, hence the Convention had to be moved to the still larger Elk's Hall where everyone could be accommodated.

MEMOR MEETING AT CLOVIS

A meeting at Clovis New Mexico six weeks ago the Abo Pass way Association was formed and a road routed as far East as Highway 30. Hence, the main business of the Enid Convention was the routing of the route from Enid to Kansas City Missouri.

THREE PROPOSED ROUTINGS

There were three different routings proposed and each had a large delegation of enthusiastic booster present. The two most strongly backed propositions were:

Number 1; To use The Meridian way from Enid north and north through Medford, and on North to direction through Wichita; Number 2; To use The Meridian way only to Medford where a 30 turning a south easterly direction was taken to Blackwell, thence through Arkansas City, Kansas, thence in North Easterly direction through Emporia and Topeka; East to Kansas City Missouri. It was finally decided to allow back of each proposed route 30 minutes in which plead its claims; final action resting with those delegates representing towns on the already designated route from Enid back.

ENID'S GENEROSITY

As much as Enid was Host to the convention which she could easily have packed and outfitted all corner, very magnanimously refrained from voting at all; although more deeply and deeply interested than other town. After a very heated discussion, led by the President Meridian Highway for Route No. 3, and by Mr. Brown who is a very eloquent lawyer of Blackwell, for proposed route No. 3, the was taken and Route No. 3 won. The Enid Chamber of Commerce had a banquet for the visiting delegates at 6:30 p. m. There were 200 plates and the generous was greatly enjoyed by everyone.

After the eats Governor Robson of Oklahoma was to have addressed the delegates, but as the Governor had to be elsewhere he substituted State Treasurer LeCraft who was justice to the occasion.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION

The Abo Pass Highway Association is organized at Clovis, is to be permanent organization. Mr. McCall of Hereford is President and Jones of Clovis Secretary. There Vice-President for each State included and an executive committee three for every town, city or village along the route. Messrs W. R. Ewing, J. A. Meade, J. A. Covey constitute Miami's executive Committee. Each County assessed $75.00 to cover actual expense of marking the way, logging and advertising. It

SCHOOL CONTINUES TO GROW

The Miami Public School entered its second week Monday with a still increasing attendance and interest among the teachers and children. If Miami has nothing else except a school, we can say that we have the best public school in this section. If our people are divided on anything else, they are unity when it comes to school improvements. However Miami has many things to be proud of, and our citizenship are of one accord on many civic improvements, but above them all, we feel proud of the Public School.

Supt. Gilley has taught school in many places, and says that Miami has the best lighted, and best arranged school building he has ever taught in. Our teachers very highly appreciate the co-operation and interest so far manifested by the patrons, and many of them have stated that the Miami people took more interest in the Public School than any place they have ever been. We do have a wonderful school, and we believe that every man woman and child is behind it 100 per cent and we are going to improve it every year.

The new independent district gives us possibly more finance than is received by most any other school, and this money is being expended wisely. With money, good teachers and pupils, we have all the requirements of a successful school. We have a nice building, the largest library of any school within three times our population, we have thousands of dollars worth of other equipment and Miami today is unequalled as a public school center.

Even working against odds last year, our school received affiliation with the State University, and this year we will add several more units. The new Agricultural course this year can add two units, and we believe that the class of nineteen will do it and there at other departments that will add new credits.

New students are coming in every week, and lets not miss an opportunity to do something good for our school.

A BANK STATEMENT SHOWS PROSPERITY

The statement of the First State Bank which appears in this week's Chief shows that institution to be in safe financial condition, and not only reflects credit upon the bank, but also shows that our country is in good condition. A bank can prosper only when its customers does. We call your special attention to the statement of the financial conditions of this institution.

MORE STREET IMPROVEMENT

The half block of street between the post office and Christopher building has this week received a good grading and a coat of gravel, which is adding much to its appearance and service.

It is expected that each County will build and maintain its portion of The Abo Pass Highway. This Highway is already marked with yellow bands as far east as Enid.

Owing to the fact that The Abo Pass over the Rocky Mountains is the lower grade and is nearest free from blizzards and snow of any of the Passes, it is expected that a large part of the great East to West automobile traffic will be diverted this way. We expect thousands of cars annually over this route from New York to San Francisco; cars from every Eastern City and town; Roberts County has approximately 32 miles of The Abo Pass Highway. Lets make this the eSpeedway. J. R. Durrett.

DRIVE-IN STATION WILL BE BUILT

Fred Welpton, representative of the Co-Operative Oil Products Company and Local Manager, C. P. Purcley informs us that the new drive-in filling station and rest room will be built in Miami. Miami's quota was $6,000 in profit sharing certificates, and already $5,500 have been subscribed, and the above two gentlemen inform us that the balance will easily be secured this week.

The company will build a nice building of either Brick, hollow tile, concrete or stucco, and the company engineer will be here immediately after the subscription is finished to get a location and start construction work. These stations are usually completed in about two months after work begins, and prospects are good now for us to have a modern drive-in filling station before the first of the year.

Messrs Welpton and Purcley have been busy the past few weeks on this proposition, and are enthusiastic over getting the preliminaries so near completed, and Mr. Welpton stated that he has found a liberal set of business men in this county who have been willing to assist in every way possible.

PAYNE HOME BURGLARIZED

Tuesday night while Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Payne spent a couple of hours in the country, some party or parties entered their home by breaking out a window, and stole two suits of clothes and a small quantity of jewelry. Sheriff Coffey and Marshall Wilson were immediately notified and began a search. A suspicious looking suit case had been left at the depot with no owner around and it was placed in the depot until next day and when opened, it contained the two suits of clothes, but not the jewelry.

Up to date no further trace of the thief has been found.

RED CROSS NEWS

Every Chapter of the American Red Cross in Texas is expected to be represented by one or more delegates at a State Conference of workers to be held at Waco, October 4 and 5.

Noted Red Cross workers from National Headquarters and Divisional Directors will address the workers and detailed information concerning the general Red Cross program for the coming year will be given them by the experts. This phase of the conference is expected to be of invaluable assistance to the workers in solving problems that will come up.

Plans for the Fourth Annual Red Cross Call, which will begin Armistic Day and last through Thanksgiving Day, particularly as they relate to Texas also will be discussed at the conference.

Among the speakers at the meeting will be Dr. Livingston Farrand, Chairman of the American Red Cross; Frederick C. Munroe, General Manager; Dr. E. A. Peterson, Director of Health Service, and others whose names have not yet been announced. The meeting is one of a series being held throughout the Southwestern Division of the Red Cross between the dates October 4 and 14.

REVIVAL PROGRESSES

Evangelist W. A. Erwin and wife are conducting a very successful revival meeting in our town this week. Starting Friday of last week, services have been held daily, and while the attendance has not been as large as it might have been, much interest is being manifested. We understand that the meeting will not last longer than Sunday, and those who wish to hear this wonderful evangelist should not miss this opportunity.

GEO. BENNETT BADLY BURNED

While starting a fire at home early Monday morning, a can of coal oil ignited in the hands of George Bennett, and before he could get the can removed from the house, his clothes were saturated and set fire to. He ran to the front gate and the assistance of others succeeded in getting his clothes torn off, but not before receiving a very bad burn all over the front part of his body and limbs.

Physicians state that it will likely be several weeks before Mr. Bennett is able to be out again. He is foreman of the J. A. Covey workshop.

HARVEST IN SANTA FE STATES

From Chicago, through Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, on to the Gulf of Mexico, and to the Pacific Ocean—in all the states traversed by the Santa Fe Railway—the crop yields this year have been heavy. If there is a shortage of farm stuff, certainly it cannot be charged to the Southwest. The season throughout has been ideal. In some spots there has been a little too much moisture, in others, not quite enough, and in still others, a bit of frost at the wrong time; but taking the growing period as a whole, history does not show a better one.

Kansas jumped from 100,000,000 bushels of wheat in May to 150,000,000 bushels at harvest time, and as the threshers proceed with their work the predictions continue to have an upward tendency. It will be the second largest wheat crop on record in the state. Corn, a particularly good crop this year, will run close to 165,000,000 bushels. Alfalfa, the grain sorghums, rye, oats, potatoes, beets, vegetables and broom corn have gone for beyond the estimates made by the experts.

Oklahoma, which raises nearly everything that Kansas raises, and in addition, cotton, has had a wonderful year. The state board of Agriculture expects that the final returns will show it to be the best in volume of production and also in value.

The Arkansas Valley of Colorado will count 1920 as its best year. Everything has done well. Yields of alfalfa, wheat, cantaloupes, watermelons, sugar beets, vegetables and fruit are equal to or ahead of those of any previous season.

Texas, which last year raised over a billion dollars worth of farm stuff, will do as well this year; probably

MICKIE SAYS

YOU MUST

Buy groceries. The next question is, where shall I buy them? There must be a reason for our constantly growing business. We try to merit the trade given us by buying at the right time and at the right price to meet the demands of our trade.

Some groceries are cheaper now than in the past. Many of them are no higher. We buy in large quantities so that we can make a price that will please you and at the same time help reduce the high cost of living.

If you are not now a customer, give us a trial and find out for yourself.

better. Corn, wheat, rice, oats, peanuts, broomcorn, potatoes, fruit and vegetables came to harvest in prime condition, and cotton, which was hurt in the spring by a dry spell, recovered under more favorable weather conditions, and the yield will exceed the estimates by a big margin.

Reports from the Rio Grande Mesilla, Rincon, Gila, Estancia, Portales and Pecos valleys of New Mexico, as well as from the so-called dry farm sections, indicate good yields of grains, feed crops vegetables and fruits. A famous crop in New Mexico is the bean. This year the acreage and the yield surpass those of any former year.

Arizona will write new records this year. The big success is with cotton in the Salt River Valley, but everything else under the Roosevelt dam has turned out satisfactorily—alfalfa, exceptionally well. Good crops have been grown in the Parker and Precott districts, and along the Santa Fe's main line in the north part of state. There is a big potato yield in Cochino County.

The yield of fruit and farm products in California has been one of the heaviest that has ever been harvested. There has been no trouble in disposing of all of the products at good prices.

The number of inquires about agricultural opportunities in the Southwest is the largest in ten years, indicating a big increase in population in 1920.

Frank Burnett and daughter, of Mobile, Ala., left last night after a two weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Burnett of the Miami Cattle Co.'s ranch. They are C. F.'s father and sister.

I have been buying and selling Diamonds for a good many years. I know how to gage their value correctly, and my judgement can be depended upon.

The fact that a stone or peice of Diamond jewelry was bought at this store is evidence that it is worth every dollar paid for it.

GERMANS ARE TIRED OF WAR

British Officer in Cologne Finds Only Professional Soldiers Anxious for It.

CHANGES IN CITY ON RHINE

People Submit Calmly to British Rule—Street Car Officials Are Now Almost Servile—Business Picks Up.

Cologne.—The British army appears to have acquired a strong grip on this section of occupied Germany, and the soldiers get along very well with the people. They mingle freely with them in the streets, restaurants and cafes, and pick up colloquial phrases very readily. There has been very little friction between the Tommies and the inhabitants. All disputes between the army of occupation and the people of Cologne have been brought before a court of arbitration, and the Germans so far have not complained of any of the awards.

There is more business in Cologne in commercial and trade circles than in the other large German cities, which is owing to the business transacted with England and Holland. The Dutch merchants are sending all the food-stuffs they can lay hands upon into Germany, which keeps the prices very high in their own country and is causing strong protests to be made by the working classes in Rotterdam, Amsterdam and other cities. The goods are brought from Holland to Dusseldorf and Cologne by freight steamboats. There is considerable activity in the factories in Aachen, Dusseldorf and Cologne. The people in these centers are paying attention to their business and are more optimistic in regard to the outlook than the Germans in Berlin, Hamburg and Frankfurt.

Fight All Gone.
The British officers of senior rank with whom I have conversed here say that they do not believe there is any probability of the nation wanting to fight for many years to come. The Germans, apart from the officers and under-officers of the old army, who have been trained to arms as a calling, they will not go to war in a hurry because they have realized very clearly that it does not pay, and they do not wish their sons to be trained as soldiers as soon as they leave school and subjected to the tyranny of the drill sergeants.

An English officer of high rank, who speaks German fluently and has traveled all over the country in the last year, said, in speaking on this subject: "At the present time Germany could put a well-equipped army of 600,000 officers and men into the field if they could be organized to fight together. The major part of this force is the army of the Baltic and the smaller bodies of troops who have not yet been disbanded. The ordinary German workman, so far as my knowledge goes, is fed up with war, and desires to live with his family and pursue his trade peacefully.

"The French military authorities do not agree with this view in regard to the Germans and believe that they are secretly organizing to avenge their defeat. The officers, especially the Prussians of the old regime, would not doubt like to do this, as fighting is their trade, but the rank and file would refuse to follow them into the field.

"The Germans have plenty of airplanes, arms and ammunition. Out of 25,000 field guns they possessed when the armistice was signed they have destroyed only 2,000 so far. It is very difficult to get the German government to carry out the conditions of the peace treaty, which demand that these guns should be destroyed, and that the forts and strategic railways constructed in the course of the war should be demolished. The claim is put forth that all this work would occupy a long time and would be unproductive and expensive to the government, which has no funds to meet it. Personally, judging from the slow manner in which things have been done so far, I think it will be years before these conditions are fulfilled, if ever.

"There is one thing certain to any sane person who knows the conditions existing here at the present time; that is, if Germany is to pay the indemnity, or any portion of it, in the near future she must be supplied with raw materials to start the factories to work and with foodstuffs for the people.

Officials Are Civil.
"There is a good deal of talk among the better class in favor of a constitutional monarchy on similar lines to that of Great Britain, but that would be impossible so far as any of the German princes are concerned. They do not know the meaning of such a form of government and would immediately become autocratic dictators directly any one of them ascended the throne. It took England nearly a hundred years to persuade the Hanoverian sovereigns that they were to be seen and not heard, so far as the gov-

Lovers Tie Feet; Plunge Into Sea

Hilo, Island of Hawaii.—Strapped together as they leaped into the sea to fulfill a double suicide pact, Uye Tafaburo, a Japanese of North Kohala, and Makino Kikumaya, wife of another Japanese, partly failed in their endeavor. Tafaburo was drowned but the woman was pulled from the surf by W. Pinehaka, jailer of North Kohala.

Pinehaka saw the pair, with ankles and bodies tied together, leap as one into the sea from the rocks below Hilo, on the North Kohala coast. He scrambled down to the water's edge just as the tide washed the woman back to shore, the bonds that tied her to her companion having broken.

Later Tafaburo's body was recovered by Hawaiian divers. The woman's infant child, wrapped in her obi, or girdle, was found hanging on a tree not far from the spot where she had failed in her attempt at suicide.

ernment of the country was concerned, and it was not until Queen Victoria had commenced her long reign that this was accomplished finally by Lord Melbourne, who was prime minister.

It was a strange sight to visitors in Cologne on Saturday, June 5, to see the British troops with massed bands parading the cathedral square in honor of King George's birthday. The people filled all the side streets and crowded the windows of the shops and houses which overlooked the scene. They behaved in an orderly manner, and the mounted German policemen who were on duty had no difficulty in keeping the big crowd back.

Before the war Cologne was very prosperous and had a large garrison. There is a great change in the bearing of the railway and street car officials toward the ordinary people. Their smart uniforms and autocratic manners of former days have disappeared. They now slouch about in old army uniforms minus the facing, and are civil to the public almost to the point of servility.

There is a little more meat in Cologne than in Berlin, which is due to the supplies coming up the Rhine from Rotterdam for the British army, and the bread is of a better quality. The Tommy gets his rations and his white bread daily and purchases his extra supplies from the canteen. With the low rate of exchange he has been living in clover on his army pay, and the majority hope that the occupation will last for years. The greater number of these soldiers did not take part in the great war, but are older men who enlisted for three years' service in the occupied territory after the armistice was signed.

WOMAN, 87, TAKES AIR TRIP

Yells "Higher!" to Pilot, Who Starts to Descend, Says She Will Try It Again.

New York.—Mrs. C. J. Goff, 87 years old, tried out flying at Camp Edwards, Sea Girt, N. J., and gave it her entire approval.

"Am I too old?" she asked Lieut. Paul Micelli as she presented herself in front of the flyer's plane.

"Not a bit," he assured her, and carefully strapped her in the passenger's cockpit. The plane roared along the ground, shot into the atmosphere and climbed zenithward. At 2,000 feet the pilot turned and looked at his passenger. She told him to go higher. He came down in a few dives and spirals.

"Was that ten minutes?" Mrs. Goff queried as she was helped out. She was assured that that time had also flown.

"Well, I'm coming back Sunday," she announced as she left the field in an automobile for Asbury Park, where she is passing the summer.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Grasp with a will whatever needs doing; still stand ready, when one work is done. Another to seize, then still be going in duty your course, for the victory won.

JELLY MAKING TIME

From past experience in canning juice for jelly because of the scarcity or price of sugar the housewife has found that later when she would convert the sugarless juice into jelly that sugar had doubled in price. Consequently, remembering the old proverb that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," we will proceed to make our jelly as usual as far as the sugar and the purse holds out.

There are many fruits, mild in flavor or lacking pectin, the thickening quality which makes jelly jelly, which may be made to thicken by using various other fruits such as lemons, oranges or the citron melon. The white inner portion of the orange and lemon is boiled for three hours in a pint or more of water, strained and used to add to the fruit juice lacking in pectin.

If one likes rhubarb, and it makes a most attractive jelly, take one quart each of cubed citron melon and rhubarb cooked until not too mushy, with one quart of water and drip over night. The juice will be thin but it is boiled for a few minutes then the sugar added and cooked until it jells. For pineapple jelly take one quart of diced pineapple, a good ripe one and an equal quantity of diced citron melon, one pint of water, cooked and mashed thoroughly and cooked to a pulp in a fireless cooker. Strain over a night. The result will be a pint and a half of juice; boil this ten minutes, then add an equal measure of sugar and cook about fifteen minutes. If the pineapple is very sweet a tablespoonful of lemon juice for each pint of citron and pineapple juice will hasten the jelling process and add to the flavor.

If doubtful as to the jelling power of any juice test it with a teaspoonful of alcohol and an equal quantity of the strained juice before the sugar is added. If it becomes a gelatinous mass by stirring it will have plenty of pectin without adding any of another fruit.

For those who do not care for the rhubarb flavor, the rhubarb may be used with orange or lemon rind with some of the juice. Such jelly will have no flavor of rhubarb. Raspberry juice combined with rhubarb for bulk and thickened with the pectin from an orange or lemon will have all the flavor of raspberries. This same method will work with blackberries, blueberries and strawberries, so that one may have all the delightful flavors of his favorite fruits as long as the sugar holds out.

Perhaps you met griefs in the pasts and can't help it. It will never bring solace to cherish them still. There are rainbow-lined clouds, there are seasons of gladness. Awaiting your bidding to come at your will.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

For any meal after breakfast a salad will be enjoyed. A simple head lettuce with a French dressing, which is well seasoned, adding a spoonful of catsup, Worcester's sauce and a little onion juice or grated onion, is a salad hard to equal. For variety, roll a half cupful of fresh, crisp peanuts, sprinkle with a finely minced onion over head lettuce and serve with French dressing.

Waffles.—Two cupfuls of sifted flour, two egg yolks, two cupfuls of sour milk, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of salt, and two teaspoonfuls of melted shortening. Dissolve the soda in the milk, add the salt and baking powder to the flour, add the beaten yolks and shortening; give a good beating after all the ingredients are mixed. Bake on a hot waffle iron.

Fruit Salsipicon.—Peel three bananas, remove the coarse threads and slice in thin slices; peel two oranges and cut in lengthwise slices; remove the exterior of a pineapple and shred with a fork to remove the fruit from the core; skin the grapes, one-half pound of white ones, and remove the seeds. Mix the fruit lightly with one cupful of sugar, the juice of a lemon. Chill and serve in sherbet cups garnished with maraschino cherries.

Chicken a la McDonald.—Make a sauce of three tablespoonfuls each of flour and butter and when well mixed add one and one-half cupfuls of scalded milk. Cook until smooth, then add one cupful of cold cooked chicken cut in strips, three cold cooked potatoes cut in one-third-inch slices and one truffle cut in strips.

Chicken Cooked in Milk.—Cut up a good fowl as for fricassee, place in a deep baking dish, season and roll each piece in flour before placing in the dish. Cover with sweet milk and bake in a moderate oven until the chicken is tender and the sauce cooked down to a well thickened gravy.

CARNIVAL OF JOY

Turkish Capital the Most "Wide Open" of Cities.

Nominally Under Allied Control, There Is No Interference With Any Form of Revelry That Could Be Thought Of.

Constantinople now combines all the frenzy of a new mining camp and a world seaport. It's "the end of the trail" for all the Balkan states and everything west of Suez on the Mediterranean.

Caucasian oil men, Donetz Basin miners, Anatolian sheep and cattle kings, Greek war millionaires and Syrian merchants rush to Constantinople to pop champagne in proof of their success. Soldiers and sailors of half a dozen nations swell the population and add to the cosmopolitan aspect of the streets and pleasure resorts.

Under allied occupation the city has become a wilder place than it was under the Turks. There are no civil courts. None of the allies desire to assume responsibility for reforms other than are necessary to safeguard life. Italian, French and British troops co-operate with the Turkish gendarmerie in keeping order. But everybody's job is nobody's job. Consequently Constantinople is a very wide-open town. Midnight closing is enforced pretty generally, but until that hour there is little interference with dance halls, gambling dives and red-light districts unless murder is committed.

Leadville and Goldfield in their dizzy days never offered anything wilder than certain sections of Constantinople, where jazz bands vie with Nonpolitan orchestras and tsigane singers in their efforts to attract wayfarers into the beer tunnels and dance halls filled to overflowing with the pained women of many nationalities.

Half a dozen summer gardens offer vanedville programs which attract thousands of persons every night who seem to have far more interest in the drinks and restless crowds than in the Russian prima donnas and bare-legged dancers whose art is usually as meager as their attire. Turks, Arabs, Bedouins, Egyptians and Assyrians, gorgeously clad in native costumes, elbow their way among Cossacks and Georgians whose uniforms are far more brilliant than their recent military achievements.

Coal-black French colonials, resplendent in red fezzes and green khaki, mingle with Sikhs and Punjabi, whose long hair and many-colored headresses are wrapped in somber brown. Civilians, soldiers and sailors from all parts of the world are hopelessly jumbled together in Constantinople crowds and are so busy looking at each other that tenors from the Petrograd opera, naughty French singers from Montmartre and Austrian strong-jawed ladies claim but slight attention.

Constantinople itself is a grand pageant every day. Its main thoroughfare, Rue Grand Pera, is more fascinating than any scene which producers ever can hope to stage. Camel-drivers lead their patient trains, burdened with charcoal, through the maze of street cars, shrieking army motor-cars and carriages, piloted over the rough paving at breakneck speed by Turkish hostlers who crack their whips and shout constantly at high pitch to pedestrians who venture off the narrow sidewalks.

Turks mounted on tiny donkeys move indifferently through this maelstrom. Occasionally Turkish peasants drive a flock of sheep or turkeys into this swirl of traffic and serene oxen draw heavy carts along at a pace so slow that drivers of military cannons curse them in 10 languages.

The narrow, crooked streets of Constantinople are ill-suited to motor traffic and the slow-going fatalistic Turk is little inclined to change his pace. Consequently there are many accidents and the indifference with which foreign military cars are driven has done much to intensify Turkish hatred of foreigners.

Few American Linguists.

According to the Interchurch World movement, thirty-two different languages besides English are spoken in New York city by some 1,700,000 people; but, in spite of our polyglot city populations, native Americans are seldom gifted as linguists. The lines of class distinction in America, although elastic, are more of a handicap in that respect than they are in Europe. The European who lives near an international boundary comes frequently in contact with foreigners of his own social and intellectual interests, but most Americans see little of the foreigners among our people and neither inherit nor get by constant practice a facility in using other tongues. — Youth's Companion.

Gathering Up the Wreckage.

The uprising of wrecking companies since the war is one of the curiosities of the time. These concerns buy anything that is discarded for the purposes for which it was constructed, from a small shack to a battleship or a locomotive or even an entire railroad. Companies which conduct such business on a large scale are said to make immense profits and there is just sufficient element of chance to make it more or less exciting. It is simply the business of the old junk man glorified and enlarged in a way to produce fortunes in the reclaiming of waste material and the salvaging of what is considered valueless.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALES

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

KITTY-CAT.

"It was rather a lonely day," said Kitty-Cat, "and I was sitting along alone. I hadn't seen anything worth eating and I had no where I could eat.

"I was really quite miserable. My little tummy was very empty. I felt quite empty for though it was summer as it was cloudy day and it looked as though it would rain at a moment's notice.

"Well, I had found to do when a lady walked by. She was humming a lullaby to herself and I hummed my purring song for her.

"She stopped and saw me and said: 'Kitty-Cat, you look very lonely. Of course I was lonely, and I proposed I did look it. 'Would you like to come with me, Kitty-Cat? I have no home?' she asked me.

"I didn't like to tell her that was what I had already planned to do, for I liked her and her voice was so nice, too. At any rate I was to take a chance that it would be nice.

"So I purred back and I followed along after her to show her I liked her invitation with thankings. I walked along a distance and she came to a house where she stopped. I was glad she stopped for I was getting a bit tired. I opened the door and walked in and walked in after her.

"So you've come home with me, Kitty-Cat," she said.

"I didn't answer that, for I was not enough of an answer that her name. Well, she gave me such a good meal of milk and such a saucer of cream! How I did eat and drink how nice my full little tummy was. In fact I couldn't eat all she gave so I waited until I had a nap and before I finished it. I sat on the cushion on a sofa and I purring ate and I drank milk and I purring some more.

"Then I slept some more and she came some more. Life was very nice indeed! And then the lady sang the most beautiful songs in the world. I just knew they were beautiful. A number of people were with her.

"You Look Very Lonely."

—they had come to call on her, they were all looking so sad and unhappy and contented and pleased. They all looked as though they would like to purr with contentment, too, if only they knew how. I'm sorry for people then, poor people, full contented, and yet who are so full.

"Yes, she sang for them and they listened and said:

"'Ah, and 'Oh,' when the song was over. And I listened, too, for I was very happy. Everything was very warm and warm and comfortable, and I know a kitty-cat does like comfort.

"Ah, how we do love comfort. We are no creatures who love it and so we care more for anything else. We do for people or anything else care for those who feed us and see that we are warm and we eat the food and the warmth themselves, too!

"So I was given a new home. I was surrounded by all the things I wanted, all the milk I want, and now as much as my new home. For she sings—that is, she does—and her voice is very wonderful, people say. They don't of my purring voice except once while to smile about it when I hear me purr after they had been listening to her singing.

"But I don't mind so much of them, for I know she thinks a lot my purring voice. Many has been time when she has laughed and chuckled and said: 'Oh, Kitty, how beautifully you purr!'

"So I don't care about what she says about singing, loves my purring voice! That is more important than the opinion of any of the others.

"But still, the most important thing is that I am living a life where I purr so often, a life of ease and pleasure, a life of luxury and rich milk, delicious food and rich milk. Things are the most important things—at least to a Kitty-Cat."

The Difference.

"The main difference between my boy Jim," explained a farmer, "is that when I put in at work I don't feel like running at night, and when Jim puts in at work he doesn't feel like running at night." — American Boy.

CONDENSED CLASSICS

THE PILOT

By JAMES FENIMORE COOPER

Condensation by Alfred Clark

Cooper was born in New Jersey in 1796, but when only about a year old removed to his father's almost feudal domain at Cooperstown, New York, where he died in 1851. There he learned to know the wilderness which plays so important a part in his books, and there, too, he probably acquired that headstrong assertiveness and disregard of the views of others which made him one of the few most widely read authors in the world...

On a late afternoon of a winter's day, during the American Revolution, a rakish schooner and a frigate anchored well inside the bay on the northeastern coast of Long Island. A wholeboat crew and a young officer scrambled up steep cliffs and a few minutes later a stranger was transferred to the frigate's deck. He answered to the name of "Mr. Gray" and was said to be a pilot, but he was greeted with surprising deference. On board the frigate repeated conferences were held between the captain, Griffith and "Mr. Gray." Suddenly out of the fog drove a mountainous ship of the line. The drum beat about the frigate, sailors leaped nimbly about the deck, clearing for action. The women were led below and gradually order resolved itself out of the chaos of shouting men. A terrific roar filled the air as three tiers of guns blazed a broadside from the English ship. A few sails and ropes were cut, but the frigate's sailing power was hardly affected. One chance ball struck the captain and hurled him to death. Griffith succeeded to the command and he was appalled as he saw the frigate hemmed about. To the east loomed the great ship of another frigate.

broadships roared and the decks grew slippery with blood, the little fighting ships met and grappled. Before Barnstable could lead his boarders to the enemy's deck, Coffin tumbled into the sea. Shouting "Revenge Long Tom!" the lieutenant rushed with his men upon the foe. It was fighting at close quarters and the issue was in doubt when the drenched and furious coxswain emerged from the sea and with his harpoon plied the English captain to his mast. In a few minutes the Americans were masters of the cutter. Covering in that scene of bloodshed the victors discovered the crafty Dillon, who pleaded to be sent off as a hostage, promising to return in person or to have Griffith delivered in his stead.

His word of honor was trusted and he was sent away with Long Tom. He luckily overheard Dillon's treacherous plot to entrap Barnstable's waiting party. The resourceful old seaman gagged Boroughcliffe and drove Dillon, at the point of his harpoon, back to the waiting schooner. By this time, however, a battery on the cliff brought down the schooner's mainmast. She was driven from her course by heavy seas. The masts were felled and anchors dropped, but she plunged on like a bobbing cork in rapids. Barnstable would have started by his ship, but suddenly Long Tom seized him and hurled him over the bulwarks. "God will be done with me," Coffin cried, above the wind's roar. Dillon's lifeless body was rolled upon the shore, but Long Tom's stayed with the sea to which he had dedicated his life.

Surprise succeeded surprise at the abbey. Barnstable marched his shipwrecked mariners into the building and they took possession, but they were soon made prisoners by the redcoats. Then the mysterious figure of the Pilot appeared at the door and behind him loomed the marines from the frigate. Colonel Howard, an unwilling prisoner, was marched away with Cecilia and Katherine, who could not be downcast at the triumph of their lovers. Captain Boroughcliffe was freed, as was another inmate of the abbey, Alice Duscombe. She had recognized the Pilot in his disguise when he was first captured. They had been lovers, but she was so staunch in her love for her king and she so hated bloodshed that she had broken her troth to this "Mr. Gray," whom she addressed as John. She reminded him that did she but once call aloud his true name the whole countryside would ring with it. What that name was never revealed, but there was but one sea rover who could strike stark terror into all English hearts.

On board the frigate repeated conferences were held between the captain, Griffith and "Mr. Gray." Suddenly out of the fog drove a mountainous ship of the line. The drum beat about the frigate, sailors leaped nimbly about the deck, clearing for action. The women were led below and gradually order resolved itself out of the chaos of shouting men. A terrific roar filled the air as three tiers of guns blazed a broadside from the English ship. A few sails and ropes were cut, but the frigate's sailing power was hardly affected. One chance ball struck the captain and hurled him to death. Griffith succeeded to the command and he was appalled as he saw the frigate hemmed about. To the east loomed the great ship of another frigate.

"What are we to do?" cried Griffith. "Fight them! Fight them!" shouted the Pilot. "Let me proclaim your name to the men," Griffith appealed. But the Pilot refused. "Should we come to a grapple," he said, "I will give forth the name as a war-cry and these English will quail before it."

The ship of war was distanced, but she cut off a retreat and the frigate ahead had been re-enforced by two others. The foremost maneuvered with the American frigate and they grappled. Broadships crashed and they grappled. The American guns raked her fore and left her helpless, with useless ropes dangling from shattered masts. The deck was cleared and as another enemy appeared, Griffith shouted, "Holst away of everything!" Fifty men flew aloft upon the spars and white canvas was spread from every mast. The frigate lunged ahead, but it could not outstrip its rival, and the halt to give battle had enabled the ship of the line to draw up.

Then, for a few breathless moments, the Pilot leaped into command. Breakers loomed ahead, but he drove the vessels straight into the shoals, into narrow passages where white foam bubbled perilously close. The enemy dared not follow, and when night fell pursuit was hopeless. Colonel Howard, fatally wounded in the battle, lived long enough to see Cecilia Howard and Katherine Plowden wedded by the chaplain to Griffith. His last words were spoken to Griffith. "Perhaps I may have mistaken my duty to America—but I was too old to change my politics or my religion; I—I loved the king—God bless him!" The frigate drove on to Holland, where the Pilot landed in a small boat that dwindled into a black speck and disappeared in the setting sun. Twelve years later Cecilia Griffith saw her husband's face cloud as he read in the newspaper of the death of a great man, but not even then did he divulge his name. He had promised to keep it secret. He said only, "Our happiness might have been wrecked in the voyage of life had we not met the unknown Pilot of the German ocean."

IMPROVED HIGHWAYS

GATHER UP STONES IN ROAD

Machine Drawn by Two Horses Drags Series of Chains, Which Pick Up Obstructions.

Where large and small pebbles are collected loosely in the gravel of a road, they are usually scattered in such a way that it would be an irksome job to collect them by hand. A new stone-gathering machine is drawn by one or two horses. A series of chains dragged loosely along the road sink into the small depressions and gradually scrape together the pebbles or stones. The obstructions are then drawn into a pocket, from which they are deposited at intervals in piles at the side of the road.

Chains Form a Heavy Net That Sweeps the Roads for Stones.

A pile of a hundred or more stones represents the work of only a few minutes, when gathered by this machine. How much time would it represent expressed in terms of man-energy? One hundred stones spread over an area of 400 square feet, in a plot 20 feet square, places one stone in every four square feet. A man working at average speed could pick up these stones and pile them at the side of the road in 10 or 15 minutes; but the machine with its dragging chains will do the work in a moment.—Popular Science Monthly.

PULL TOGETHER FOR ROADS

Transportation Is Vital Problem for All Interested in Nation—Welfare of All Is at Stake.

A new era in American progress took its date from the period just preceding the Civil war. During this era entire states were transformed from wilderness into prosperous, thriving commonwealths. The commercial and agricultural boundary lines of the country were slowly but surely pushed westward by the relentless march of railroad expansion. Today our country faces problems equally as momentous. We should be on the threshold of an almost limitless era of better roads development, writes E. C. Tibbitts in Motor. The future welfare of vast communities is at stake. There is dire need of unified concentration on the subject of good roads; and need of vigorous, harmonious action, by one big federated body of all organizations interested in good roads. Dissension or jealousy should not creep into good roads activities on unimportant details, as has lately been apparent. We are all after the same objective—more roads and better highways—national, state and local. So let us all pull together.

INCREASED USE OF HIGHWAYS

Economic Problems Have Arisen That Call for Presentation of Facts to Public.

Owing to the rapidly growing use of the public highway as a passenger and freight carrier—both in short and long hauls—and the lack of a corresponding progress in the efficiency of the road itself, economic problems have arisen that call for a careful and a clear presentation of facts to the public. As a result of the divergence between the service highways are called upon to render, and their ability to render that service, the highway from an educational standpoint has become a subject of much greater importance than heretofore, so that highway officials—national, state and county—are placing greater reliance upon the educational phase of highway work in securing effective and practical co-operation from the public.

GOOD ROADS AID MARKETING

Farmer Wishing to Haul in Most Economical Manner Cannot Afford to Overlook Benefits.

The farmer interested in hauling his produce to market in the most economical fashion cannot afford to overlook the benefits derived from good roads. Investigation before and after the improvement of certain highways shows that the cost per ton mile was practically cut in half by reason of the betterment of the road. In other words, good roads mean a big reduction in that part of overhead which covers hauling—and hauling of some sort is being done practically the year round.

Must Fit the Road.

All roads are not good roads, nor will they be for years to come, and it is up to manufacturers of automobiles to deliver vehicles that can traverse anything called a road.

Road Surface Damage.

The filling up and stoppage of culverts causes more damage to road surfaces than any other one thing.

Argument for Good Road.

A bad road is the best argument there is for a good road.

ESCAPED AN OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Many Such Cases.

Cairo, Ill.—"Sometime ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and they all said I must be operated on. I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly a grand medicine."

—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this, but the above letter, and many others like it, amply prove that many operations are recommended when medicine in many cases is all that is needed. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

"Eatonic—Worth Its Weight in Gold"

Writes Mrs. E. L. Griffin from her home in Franklin, N. H. "I feel like a new person. Stomach feels fine after eating—all from taking your wonderful eatonic. It's worth its weight, in gold." Millions of sufferers from sour, acid, gassy stomachs, heartburn, indigestion, bloating, dry feeling after eating, should try eatonic. Just try it—that's all, and get relief, new life, strength and pep. It produces quick, sure and safe results, because eatonic takes up the harmful acids and poisons and carries them right out of the body. Of course, when the cause is removed, the sufferer gets well—quick! The cost is a trifle. Your druggist will supply eatonic, so, if you want better health, all you need to do is—try it TODAY. You will surely feel big benefits at once. Adv.

A Disadvantage.

"You can't deny that the railroads are at considerable disadvantage in some ways."

"No," admitted the profiteer. "It is impossible for a railroad to raise its prices without everybody's knowing all about it and starting all kinds of discussion."

Being ignorant is not so much a shame as being unwilling to learn.

"Cold in the Head"

In an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Those subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the system, cleanse the blood, and render them less liable to colds. Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions. All Druggists. SHE KNEW WHAT WAS IN IT

Little Eve Fairly Well Acquainted With the Varied Contents of the Family Bible.

Bishop Hoss said at a Nashville picnic: "The religious knowledge of too many adults resembles, I am afraid, the religious knowledge of little Eve."

"So you attend Sunday school regularly?" the minister said to little Eve.

"Oh, yes, sir," said she.

"And you know your Bible?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Could you, perhaps, tell me something that is in it?"

"Indeed!" And the minister smiled. "Do tell me, then."

"Sister's beau's photo is in it" said little Eve promptly "and ma's recipe for vanishin' cream is in it, and a lock of my hair cut off when I was a baby is in it, and the ticket for pa's watch is in it."

the thing will not desert for you, and it certainly is a great improvement for the paper.

It is said that the craziest fellow in the world are the most self assured that they are sane. It might also be said that the ones most sure they are right could be the most wrong. Don't too sure about anything.

The teachers institute of twenty counties which was held at Canyon brought forth much applause, and the teachers of each of the twenty counties represented voted unanimously to return. This is a new move, and we believe a fine one.

Coal shortages are already being reported over various sections of the state, and in some of the Panhandle towns, paper states, only two tons are being sold at a time. If you have not purchased some winter coal, take our advice and buy while the weather is hot.

More gravel is being laid on our streets this week, leading from Main street east. This gravel is proving to make the best roads and streets we have ever had, and there is plenty of it left. Roberts county can have good roads cheaper than most any county.

A Special Session of the Texas Legislature is now in session for the purpose of giving the woman a right to vote in the coming general election. Likely also some other matters will be taken up. Governor Hobby has already submitted a measure to protect Texas ports from labor strikers.

More big county fairs have been held in the Panhandle this fall than ever before, not because we have not always raised stuff to exhibit, but because more people are farming and raising more stuff to exhibit. The Panhandle can show up as good farm products or better than any section of the United States.

M. V. Sanders of Wheeler county who was a candidate for the nomination for Sheriff in Wheeler county against Ben Woffard in the second primary has contested the second primary, we understand on the grounds that several voters from Collinsworth county voted at Shamrock. He was defeated by only four votes.

It was reported at the Abo Pass Highway meeting that Hemphill county had the worst piece of road on the route from Kansas City to Belton, New Mexico, and Miami is beginning to get impatient about its being fixed. All our county roads is in splendid shape, and we will welcome a good road on this eight miles.

Masonry is increasing all over the United States and hundreds of men are joining this institution, which goes to prove that we are getting better all the time. No man can be a Mason unless he recognizes the Supreme ruler. It does not claim to be a part of the church, but it has in many instances been a mighty good stopping stone to the church.

It seems now that Miami is about to have no Winter Lyceum course.
The booking company have asked for a changed in one of the numbers booked, and also want to place a lecture for our first number. This alone would kill the course, and the local secretary have notified the company that unless they could fulfill their contract, Miami would not accept the course.

It is claimed that 20,000 acres of land in small quantities changed hands near Hereford the past three weeks. People are coming to the Panhandle in droves. Roberts county land is not changing so fast because land owners here just won't let it go to any extent. No use to ask a man to sell something he is satisfied with.

MAKING WAR ON DISEASE MENACE

American Red Cross Announces
Budget of $48,200,000
For Current Year.

NEW DISASTER RELIEF PLAN

Continuance of Heavy Work Abroad Deemed Necessary to Protect United States—$21,000,000
Less Than Last Year.

A program of relief and service toward which appropriations of $48-200,000 have been made has been outlined for the American Red Cross for the fiscal year, July 1, 1920, to July 1, 1921, according to official announcement by national headquarters of the organization at Washington. The figures for 1920-21 are $21,000,000 below those of 1919-20, in which $69,400,000 was spent.

Important among the items of the budget for the present year is the appropriation of $11,500,000 for relief in foreign lands, which includes $11,000,- 000 in purchased supplies on hand and not distributed.

Must Protect United States.
This will enable the American Red Cross to continue its humanitarian effort to aid stricken peoples to re-establish themselves, to fight the disease epidemics which threaten many countries and to efface largely the remaining traces of the blight left by the World War. It is regarded as social as well as physical sanitation on a large scale that will have a direct bearing on future conditions in America.

Central Europe, the chief sufferer from the conflict, today is facing another winter of famine, pestilence and ruin. Typhus decreased much during the summer months where last winter it had its greatest stronghold, but physicians who investigated the situation at the behest of the League of Red Cross Societies have given their unqualified opinion that this coming winter will see a recurrence on an unprecedented scale. The Red Cross feels it must continue preventive measures abroad to keep this and other deadly maladies from the United States.

Millions for Work at Home.
When the disease was sweeping Central Europe last winter the American Red Cross, with the aid of the governments of afflicted nations, undertook the fight against it. Hospitals were established wherever possible and food and clothing were distributed to the undernourished populations, who by reason of their undernourishment were easy prey to the epidemics. Where disorganization contributed last year to the great inroads made by the disease, by virtue of its knowledge of the disease and the presence of well established hospital centers, the American Red Cross this year will undertake the work with a new confidence.

Including the total of $11,000,000 in supplies left from the last fiscal year, the $31,500,000 is $21,000,000 less than the expenditures for 1919-20.

Appropriations for domestic activities total $18,700,000.

The largest item of this "home" budget is $7,500,000 for civilian relief work. This includes service and assistance for families of soldiers, sailors and marines, and work incidental to disaster. Of the total appropriation for civilian relief, $5,000,000 is held in reserve for the carrying out of actual disaster relief.

Reduced Overhead Expense.
The Red Cross invariably is the first thought of a community visited by calamity. With this in mind, it was determined by the Executive Committee in preparing the budget of 1919-20 to have a fixed reserve fund from which to draw in these instances.

For assistance to soldiers, sailors and marines in hospitals and in camps this year $1,900,000 has been set aside.
Four million two hundred thousand dollars has been appropriated for improvement of health and prevention of disease throughout the United States during the current twelve months. The Red Cross is co-operating fully with the United States Health Service in this work and through its Junior Red Cross is doing much to spread among children the principles of sanitation. An appropriation of $1,- 000,000 has been made for developing the peace time program of the Red Cross by service to its chapters in all regions.

The appropriation of $48,200,000 is exclusive of the local expenditures of the 3,000 or more chapters.

Administration expenses this year will be $1,300,000. Last year they were $2,500,000.

M. E. MISSIONARY AUXILIARY

The first days session of the District meeting of the W. M. S. Conference was given in last weeks paper. The second and concluding day was just as good and if possible, better than the first. The morning session on Thursday was well attended and much interest manifested. At 2:15 in the afternoon, the largest attendance of any time, was present and the address by Mrs. Burton was intensely interesting and the talk by Mrs. Ewing of this place, deserves special mention. The subject of this talk was "Social Service" which has a great meaning, a big subject, and vitally important at this time of the world's history.

Every woman of our land, should know something of the problems coming under social service.

A hearty invitation was given by Mrs. Jackson to the guests, and delegates for luncheon which was served at the church. The menu consisting of two courses. Chicken sandwiches, fruit salad, tea, cake and sherbet.

Just before adjourning, among the business discussed, was a place for the next annual, district meeting and while Deer, Texas, was the place decided upon. Lets keep this before the people and send several delegates next year.

Thus closing our first effort in entertaining and participating in a district Conference of the W. M. S.

FARM TRACTORS

The Fordson cuts the cost of preparing land almost to half of what it cost with horses. But even more important is the fact that the Fordson saves from thirty to fifty per cent of the farmer's time. And time saved—getting fields in shape to plant in the proper season; getting things done when they should be done—means money to the farmer. Besides it helps greatly in solving the labor problem.

As ever, the machine way is proving more efficient, faster, easier than the old hand way. In the factory, the machine increases production, saves labor— produces more at less cost. And that is what the Fordson does on the farm. The Fordson way is the machine way of farming. Besides it helps the labor problem.

The Fordson's first cost is low; and the after or operating cost is low. It is a compact, easily handled tractor, backed by the greatest tractor service organization in the world.

We are Fordson dealers. Not only do we sell Fordson tractors, but we carry a stock of Fordson parts and employ Fordson mechanics to help the farmers get the best results from the Fordson. Let us demonstrate the Fordson on your own farm.

Now we know PEZACKLY WHY SHE FIXES IT THAT WAY

The style of dressing a lady's hair in whorls over the ears is adopted by the modern society Miss from a custom of the Hopi Indians. This coiffure is used by the Indian maid as a sign that she is courting.—Canadian Record.

We are glad the Record editor gave us an explanation of this new hair dress style we see worn by our women these days. We have wondered where these styles came from. They remind us of the two horns on a cow's head. We guess the common name for them would be rats. You say they were the Indian sign that the maiden was courting or wanted to be courted, or words to that effect. There is no doubt but that the average maiden these days wants to be courted, but we never dreamed that they were on to the Indian sign.—Lockney Beacon.

Here's Real Paint

House painting isn't a matter of prejudice—it's a matter of business and common sense.

Paint isn't like an apple—you can't tell by looking at it or by biting it—how good or bad it is.

It takes weeks, perhaps months, and maybe a year or more to tell whether it was worth what you paid.

stands for Sherwin-Williams Paint (Prepared) and its fifty-year record of results means quality and satisfaction to any painter or property-owner. Be sure the initials are on the label, then you can count on the contents being right.

PE-RU-NA

THE REMEDY FOR EVERYDAY ILLS

"I have used Pe-ru-na for years in cases of colds and coughs. The results have been good, in fact, more than you claimed. Have also taken Lactogen and can easily say it is one of the best blood purifiers I have ever used."

Mr. J. F. Arndt

For Catarrh and Catarrhal Conditions

The evidence of one man like Mr. Arndt is more convincing proof to you of the merits of Pe-ru-na than any written words of mine. For fifty years Pe-ru-na has been the staple of the American family for the treatment of catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the organs of the body. Thousands, like Mr. Arndt, have proved the effectiveness of Pe-ru-na for coughs, colds, nasal catarrh, stomach, bowel and liver catarrh or any disease characterized by a catarrhal condition. If your suffering is the result of a catarrhal disorder try Pe-ru-na. It is the best medicine.

Rheumatism Back on the Job With Its Old-time Fury

No Let-Up in Its Torture. If you are afflicted with Rheumatism, why waste time with liniments, poultices and other local applications that never did cure Rheumatism, and never will. Do not try to rub the pain away. The sensible plan of finding the cause of the pain. Remove the cause, and there can be no pain. You will never be rid of Rheumatism until you cleanse your blood of the germs that cause the disease. S. S. S. has no equal in blood purification, because of safety and purity. It has cleansed the blood of Rheumatism, and removed all traces of the disease from the system. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drug store and get on the right treatment to-day. ## HAD FORGOTTEN THE CLOCK WAS NOT MATTER OF Little Story Was a Moral for Those Who Fail to Mind the Early Call of Duty. With a hurried start, John Spinks awoke from a sound sleep and listened. "Thump! Thump! Thump!" They there it was again. It was no dream. "Good-night!" he cried. "My heart! I never knew before that I had one!" "Thump! Thump! Thump!" "Excellent," cried the underman in his wife's "my heart's beat! I can't think of the doctor's and get me some medicine. Oh, this is horrible!" "Thump! Thump! Thump!" Spinks, year on his back, felt his whole body rebound with the terrific force of the pumping. The agonized man could stand it no longer. Leaping up in bed he grabbed the pillow to his heart to smother the sounds of that awful thumping, and found that his alarm clock had been under his pillow making harshly. He had started to ring two hours before.

AGE SUPERIOR FOR HOGS

High Prices Make It Profitable to Substitute Grass Crops for Grain.

With the present extremely high prices of grain it is profitable to substitute, as far as possible, forage crops for grain feeds. A saving of 25 per cent of the total amount of grain and supplements may be effected through the use of forage. Pastures, when combined with grain, will produce the cheapest ration for both breeding and fattening...

It may be possible, in some cases, to obtain an abundance of good forage. Mainly satisfactory gains for the best returns have been obtained when grain was fed in addition to forage at the rate of two to three cent of the weight of the hogs daily.

AGE LACKING IN PROTEIN

Can Be Fed Without Some Supplementary Feed Less Satisfactory Results Are Obtained.

Grain is lacking in protein and should be supplemented by some concentrate high in protein. When fed without this supplementary feed, less satisfactory results can be expected when it is properly supplemented. The most economical and most satisfactory proportion in which to feed grain and supplement is approximately 2.5 pounds of a thousand pounds of weight.

CULTURED DUBLIN

Sackville Street, Dublin.

IT HAS been said that Dublin has more the character of a continental than an English city; this is true in a way, but it is not the first thing that strikes the visitor from across the Irish sea. The most striking thing about Dublin is that its architecture bears traces of being all of one time, says a writer in the Christian Science Journal. To us who are used to the extraordinary hotchpotch of London, deriving its characteristics of brick and stone from every conceivable century, there is something peculiarly attractive about the street upon street of square Georgian houses. London always seems to be in a state of violent reaction against everything which is called "eighteenth century," so that those parts of London which most resemble Dublin seem most foreign to our conception of London itself. Perhaps it is because it is Georgian that Bloomsbury attracts a particular type of inhabitant, as often as not a cultured foreigner, not to be found in the urbanity of Mayfair, nor in the banality of Malia Vale. And if you imagine a city where all the streets are like Great Ormond street and the squares like the Bloomsbury squares, you have an honest conception of Dublin.

Nor does the eighteenth century appear in the houses alone; there are those in Dublin who carry on the tradition of old world courtliness which has long become rare enough to be remarkable even in Bloomsbury; it is true that they are few in number even here, but they are sufficient to leave a certain fragrance of other days in drawing room and coffee house.

Clad in Romance. Before getting on board the boat at Holyhead, Great Britain will leave memories of abject Anglesia in the traveler's mind, and when the waste of sea reveals ahead of him the first contours of Ireland, the mountains rise up to greet him with a very different face from that of the flat and cheerless little island he has just crossed. They are almost blantly green, so that he must perforce murmur platitudes beneath his breath about the "emerald isle." Dubliners are forever conscious of those mountains near by; they escape to them as often as they can and endow them with a symbolical meaning. The Dublin mountains seem to have got misplaced from the far west; they are that part of primeval Connacht which has set itself at the door of Dublin in order to turn the heart of the Gael west rather than east. In the Dublin mountains there travel to and fro the old vagrants with whom lingers the memory of a Celtic poetry and from whom Synge and Yeats and the rest have gathered so much local color.

In Dublin itself this old culture lingers alongside of the modern and English industrialism of the Liffey and the quaysides, and in the dirty streets on the north side one can still come across a ballad singer with a little group round him. Charles Lever, when he was at Trinity college, dressed as a ballad singer and earned 30 shillings in the Dublin streets, and another and even more famous Trinity college student earned a crown every now and then for a street song. This young man was Oliver Goldsmith, whose statue now graces the entrance to the university, than whom no man could be found more typical of the best period of Dublin's prosperity.

The Bohemian Quarter. Today all the varied energies, political, literary, social, are concentrated into a space bounded by Grafton street, Stephen's green, Trinity college railings and Merrion square:

Within these limits there is scarcely a house that does not conceal some enthusiasm. Not the least interesting are the little shops where enthusiasts seek to turn business into an art; the "Sod of Turf," where you can talk and eat and drink in Gaelic, where the fire is a real turf fire, and the waitress a real Kerry Gael; the "Crock of Gold," where the genius which produced James Stephens' masterpiece is turned to the making of homespun jumpers and the like, so that the streets of somber eighteenth century Dublin may blaze with color that would delight a post-impresionist; then there is the Irish bookshop which, like all the rest, has come into being through a wider enthusiasm than the mere desire to sell books. There is an Arts club of the most respectable type, so respectable, indeed, that the bohemians who do not belong to it will tell you that it has only once had a real artist within its doors and he was expelled at the end of a week.

Stephen's green is the great center of the whole city; here, as he tells us in that most fabulous of histories, "Ave Atque Vale," Mr. George Moore lingered to meet Mr. Yeats on the occasion of their founding the Irish dramatic movement; here live Mme. Gonne, the Irish Jean of Arc, and Mrs. John Richard Green, Ireland's historian, and many others of the best loved of Ireland's children. And in those most tragic days of April, 1916, Mme. Marievele held Stephen's green with a troop of boy scouts. A story is told which shows the amazing muddle of those days. Some English lady visitors had just looked at the Shelburne hotel and, looking out of the window, they saw some bare-kneed, red-cheeked children digging trenches in the green. "We highly approve of the scout movement," they said. "Let us take them some plates of bread and jam." Judge of their surprise a quarter of an hour later to find them selves prisoners of war in the middle of the green.

Measuring Height of Trees. To measure the height of a tree which stands so that the length of the shadow can be measured, set a stick upright, letting it form right angle with the surface of the ground. As the length of the shadow of the stick is the height of the stick, so is the length of the shadow of the tree to the height of the tree. The tree must stand so the length of its shadow can be measured. Multiply the length of the shadow of the tree by the height of the stick, and divide by the length of the shadow of the stick.

The Colors on Santiago Walls. All Cuban cities offer a motley tints, but Santiago outdoes them all in the chaotic jumble of pigments. In a single block we found house walls of lavender, sap green, robin's egg blue, maize yellow, sky gray, saffron deep imperial pink, old rose, light pink, yellow ochre, maroon, tan, vermilion and purple. This jumble of colors with never two shades of the same degree, gives the city a kaleidoscopic brilliancy under the tropical sun that is equally entrancing and trying to the eye.—Harry A. Franck in the Century Magazine.

Thankful for That. It is said that hatpins to match the color of the eyes are to be worn this year and will be very fashionable. "Indeed," said Brown, as he read the foregoing to his wife, "then I won't have to have green hatpins stuck into my blue eyes."

Billboards Indicted. Not alone because they are a blot on the landscape, boardings are considered an evil in more tangible ways. When they are not strongly supported there is always danger of their falling over in storms. Unless they are of fireproof material they are easily inflammable and often serve to carry fire from one building to another. If the boards are not raised several feet from the ground the space back of them almost invariably becomes a dump for refuse and a convenient place for criminals to hide. Signboards nearly always shut out sunlight and air. To prevent this as much as possible, some cities limit the height and width of the board. The importance of breathing space around a building is recognized by a number of millionaires.

Had Left Trivial Things Behind. Mary had attended kindergarten the preceding year and on her return from the first day's attendance of the primary grade this year her mother questioned her concerning some of the customs, asking: "Are they the same as you had in kindergarten?" Filled with a sense of her advanced position, Mary answered indignantly: "Why, mother, they don't do those things in the higher grades."

Origin of Word Canada. The word Canada is derived from the Huron-Iroquois Indian word, "Kanata," meaning a collection of huts. In Jacques Cartier's time the territory on the north side of the St. Lawrence river, from Hochelaga, now a suburb of Montreal, to the gulf, was apparently divided into three districts—Hochelaga, Canada and the Saguenay. It is here for the first time we meet the name now borne by the Dominion.

DIVIDENDS FROM THE GARDEN

Showing Made This Year Should Make All Resolve to Have Their Own, if Possible.

Home gardens are declaring dividends, regular, extra and midsummer specials all being included in the distribution. These profits have been coming to the home gardener from the time the first lettuce, the first radish, the first green onion was ready for the table. The variety of dividends is limited only by the wisdom of the man who planted the garden. The earlier dividends are accompanied now by others more seasonable, the entire distribution increasing the pleasures of those who taste and enjoy.

The man who prepared the garden plot, who made the soil ready, who laid it out, planted the seed, put out the plants and gave care and thought and attention each day, has already had his investment back in greater health, to say nothing of the pleasures that have been his in helping and studying the productive forces of nature. Now he gets the special dividends in delicious table offerings, everything tasting better because of the toil and thought he gave it. And he can laugh and grow merry over some high prices quoted, because the little back-yard garden spot, to which he gave time and toil, has helped him solve the high cost of living in part. What is there that pays so much for the work as the back-yard garden?—Ohio State Journal.

BEAUTIFY THE WASTE SPOTS

Unightly Places May Be Given an Attractive Appearance if Paid a Little Attention.

Borders in the garden and yard are like frames that lend beauty to the picture. In many gardens and lawns there seems to be no space that can be spared for flowers, yet there are walks of cement, brick or cinders, waste spaces along the alley, or around small buildings which if bordered with some flowers would change the entire appearance of the place.

China asters, old fashioned pinks, English daisies, forget-me-nots, sweet alyssum, candy tuft, and verbenas are good varieties for almost any soil or climate. In places where a taller border would bring out the picture, use sweet William, Oriental poppies, or the stately hollyhock. Then find a high place for a bird house, or plant some shrubs for nest places.

The true home picture is lacking without the birds and flowers.—The Thrift Magazine.

Town and Country.

I wonder when ambitious cities will learn that it is a dangerous business to be everlastingly campaigning for a greater population. Nearly every town and city in the United States had one slogan, "More population in 1920." This has been going on for the last fifty years until we see our farm population decreased to the danger point. The 1920 census will show five million less people living on the farms in this country now than there were in 1910. It will show an increase of population for the nation of twenty millions. This means twenty-five million more people in the towns and cities and five million less people to feed them. Unless these city folks can find a substitute for bread, meat and potatoes, something serious is going to happen.—Joan A. Simpson, Farmer.

The Small Towns.

It has been figured up that there are about 12,000 small towns in the United States, half of them with populations of 500 or less. It is these small towns that the rural people are intimately associated with. They sell their produce there, buy the things they need; in fact, these are a part of the rural community. Some of these small towns will become cities, but a very large per cent of them will remain as they are. It is no disgrace to live in a small town, but the rule is that these people are waiting until next year, or some future year to improve their schools, put in sidewalks, a water system, or a sewer system to safeguard the health of the people, or before taking any steps to improve the social and living conditions of the children.—The Thrift Magazine.

Something New in List of Accessories

WE ARE more allured by lovely accessories of dress than by essential clothing, and these furnishings provide us a continuous, pleasing performance. Something new claims attention all the time, and spices up our work-a-day world of dress. It is the daintiness and freshness of neckwear, or the richness of brocades in hats and bags or nosegays of ribbon flowers, or flowers of organdy or artificial fruits of yarn and numberless accessories made of ribbon that keep the mind occupied and the pocketbook busy just now.

Another item that we may be sure of is the shopping bag of handsome ribbon. There is a new line of these ready for presentation to fall shoppers, and some of them have hats to match. Tops of the bags reveal new designs, and there are many handsome tassels used for finishing them. The soft draped crowns popular in fall hats lend themselves to the hat-and-bag-to-match idea. A handsome set appears in the illustration in which a narrow brimmed shape of plain velvet has a crown of brocaded ribbon draped so that it terminates in two points at the side. Of course these two points exist merely to support two handsome tassels that dangle from them and brush the shoulder. The shopping bag to match is pictured mounted on a metal ring with round top which probably holds a mirror on the reverse side. One may lay a safe wager that it contains a small ribbon covered box that carries compact face powder and a lip stick.

AND NOW THEY TALK OF SUITS

THE first hats and the first suits for fall have made their entry. They almost reconcile one to the passing of summer and succeed in making fall welcome. Women are remarking of the suits, their straight but chic lines, their trim fastenings up the front, their high necks and with all this their lack of severity. For these suits are embellished with embroideries, needlework, used with much discriminating reticence. Handsome composition buttons, sparingly used where buttons are needed, match the cloths in color. Coats are somewhat longer, skirts are sufficiently full for comfort and remain plain. Belts are narrow and sometimes long, but often they lap across the front and fasten with a button at each side. Fur is much in evidence in high collars and occasionally in large patch pockets and in cuffs. There is no indication anywhere that women will favor very short skirts—in fact good sense and good taste govern the styles thus far presented. It is a matter for rejoicing—the first things are nearly always the best, and these new suits have caused great enthusiasm among well informed and well dressed women.

Two of the earliest models are pictured here and they include one that has a platted skirt and a jacket with vest of brocaded ribbon. On the pockets at the sides there is a pretty arrangement of narrow braid, and this also finishes the long sleeves. This model is made of serge. The most liked cloths are those on the order of duvetyne, that is, having a velvety surface, of which there are several varieties with names of their own. A suit of this kind is shown at the right with wide collar of fur.
