Seems that this is the day for streamlining. Most everything you buy, sell, trade or use is streamlined, otherwise it wouldn't move. Maybe it is alright to have streamlined cars and trains, but when it comes to streamlined education and religion we just don't know.

Remarkable strides in progress have been made in Education and some portions may be streamlined and for the good of all. We just don't know for we are not too well acquainted with the present day educational set up. We can't see how a child learns to read if he is not on speaking terms with the alphabet but seems they do. We have seen boys and girls graduate with high honors that we figured didn't know enough to fry an egg but some of them succeeded in life. Therefore we believe in education whether we understand it or not.

But when you go to streamlining "Christianity" (we didn't say religion) you have a job on your hands that has been puzzling wise and good men for more than nineteen hundred years. To date none of them have improved upon the original and they are not going to do so.

Christianity means more than any one thing on earth. It is something individual and yet it is worldwide.

There are many so-called brands of Christianity. Some are good, some bad, and others are worse. But there is only one original—the one Christ delivered to us. It has undergone some great changes, yet no man has ever improved upon the original. Some brands have been watered down until there is little if any, resemblances to that delivered by the Savior. Men have tried to manufacture brands that would appeal to a sinful world. Other have tried to make up a solution that would mix with sin, but they have failed.

We learned a long time ago that you will find saints and sinners in all dominions. No particular church (worldly organization) is going to save you, and the Bible teaches that there are saved people who never held membership within worldly institution. Christianity is something very personal—personal between you and your God. You must make your own decision—no living mortal can do this for you. We are not trying to preach, but rather to remind you that Christianity is something you should not overlook.

Christianity has never changed since Jesus came into this world, though churches, sects, denominations, and what have you, have been revised from time to time, just as a matter of expediency—to please the world, rather than God.

None of these groups are perfect within themselves, but each of them is working in an effort to glorify Christ. Some do this work in a very feeble manner, while other demonstrate the strength of Gibraltar, and the power of God.

It so happens that we are connected with the Baptist Church, but that doesn't mean that all Baptists are Christians—that the institution is perfect. It is not. The Baptist do many things that we can't sanction. But that is neither here nor there. And we know that all the Christians are not in the Baptist Church. You will find them in scores of other denominations. We feel that some individuals will get to heaven in spite of their church affiliations, rather than because of it.

The thing that worries us now is the great tendency of most all churches is to have streamlined organizations. These streamlined programs are not going to register in heaven, even if they do sound good here. The blood of Christ is the only thing worth while. It will last throughout eternity.

Candidate Crop Was Always Good In Eastland Co.

Perennial candidates we have with us all the time. They are just like those of past decades—men (occasionally women seeking office.

Eastland county has her quota this year, and on January 1st, 1952, we shall very likely see some new faces at the courthouse. However, this new crop is not bothering us, and we shall not bother them. May the best man win! Those we would mention now are candidates in the days of old. It isn't everybody who knows that back in 1914 J. R. Skinner, was sheriff of Eastland County and was a candidate to succeed himself, or that Jonah C. Eppler was a candidate for district clerk.

In looking over old cards we find that P. L. (Letch) Parker was a candidate for Tax Assessor in 1914, while J. P. Williams was seeking the office of county Superintendent the same year. His opponent was R. P. (Bob) Moreland. Geo. L. Davenport had been a candidate for district judge every since they discovered oil in Eastland county and will retire at the close of this year, of his own free will and accord.

Do you remember when June K. Hendricks ran for State Representative, and W. A. (Kid) Hammett asked to be sheriff? In 1928 Clyde Garret was a candidate for county judge, and a few years earlier Ed L. Wheeler was in the race for district clerk.

Back in 1914 Joe Burkett was a candidate for county judge and scattered a lot of very neatly printed cards over the county. On the reverse side we learn that in that year Eastland county had 3,550 paid poll taxes, and our county tax rate was 44c. At that time district court met on the first Monday in January and July, and never held on for more than 8 weeks.

Another old timer, John Hart, our present County Judge, has been politically inclined most of his life, for a ray back yonder he covered the county with cards reading like this—Have a Heart for Tax Assessor, John will appreciate your support in the July primary.

Clyde L. Garret was County Clerk in 1914 and asked for a second term. That same year Walter Gray was County Treasurer and asked to be re-elected. A little later we find Judge B. W. Patterson, and Judge Frank Sparks as candidates for Judge of the 88th District. Both wanted to succeed Elzo Been. Turner M. Collie was doing his best to be County Clerk, and Grady Owen wanted to be Criminal District Attorney. Frank Judkins was his opponent.

A few women have been stung by the political bee, for Miss Opal Hunt was a candidate for County Clerk and Mrs. Frances (Holbrook) Cooper tried for county treasurer.

N. B.—We are indebted to Joe McNeely of Gorman, for those old candidate cards—Editor.

NO BREAK SEEN IN STEEL STRIKE; SHORTAGES START

In the nationwide steel tieup, reports of meetings, plans and decisions, but no sign of anything resembling peace.

The CIO Steelworkers' top policy makers are meeting in Pittsburgh to decide on their next steps in the 12-day-old walkout.

They heard CIO President Philip Murray tell them this morning that he's ready to carry the union's dispute with the steel industry "to the very end."

In Washington, government officials warn the inevitable chain reaction is setting in. A shortage of steel must be followed by shortages of those things made of steel, and unemployment in

Miss Mildred Daniels To Serve As Home Demonstration Agent

The Eastland County Home Demonstration Council met in the Eastland County court room June 11 with nine clubs represented composed of twenty-four members.

The Council and all the Home Demonstration clubs of Eastland County are very fortunate to have a Home Demonstration agent again, namely Miss Mildred Daniels. She will begin meeting with the various clubs in July. The assistant agent is expected next Monday, June 16.

Mrs. W. W. Fewell, Council Chairman, opened the meeting with the club pledge and prayer. Mrs. W. M. Grieger was acting secretary in the absence of Mrs. Raymond Beck.

Mrs. Grieger, finance chairman, expressed her desire to see all of the clubs support the "Queen For a Day" contest; and asked the clubs to bring in name of their contestant to the July Council.

Search Team Unable Find Missing Crew

By United Press
A search team has virtually abandoned a hunt for 10 Air Force fliers in the central Pacific. The men went down when two engines of their plane failed and the pilot ditched the craft. The pilot was the only one of the crew rescued from the shark-infested waters about 125 miles west of Kwajalein. There is little hope for any of the 10 other crewmen.

Rise In Price Of Coca-Cola Is Announced

Beginning Monday, retail customers in the Eastland area will pay a few cents more for each carton and case of Coca-Cola they buy as the result of an announcement this week of G. V. Poe, Manager of The Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

Rising cost of the bottling operation and spiraling labor costs have combined to make the increase necessary, according to Mr. Poe. Dealers will be affected in a higher wholesale cost per carton and per case, and the increase will of course be passed along to the consumer.

"Our increase is no more than the Ceiling Price Regulations permit and retailers are permitted, under these same regulations to charge not more than 4 cents per bottle. While retailers may charge any price they choose, with certain limits as prescribed by law, on cartons, it is our suggestion that cartons retail at 30 cents (plus deposit) and the 24-bottle case at $1.20 (plus deposit). Our deposit structure of 4 cents per bottle and 3 cents per paper carton remains unchanged."

"Anticipating the need, we are converting coin machines from 5 cents to 6 cents."

"In the face of higher costs of every phase of our operation, we have tried throughout the years to keep the price of Coca-Cola at the same popular, familiar level," says Mr. Poe. "However, when you get caught in a vise, something has to give. And we are sure of one thing; despite the fact that he pays a few cents more for it, the customer will still find a bottle, carton or case of Coca-Cola a bargain in delicious refreshment."

Local Teacher Is Now On Tour

DENTON, June 13—Now on tour of the South and East with the second traveling workshop of Texas State College for Women, Mrs. Joe Stephen of Eastland will have first-hand information on American science and industry to present to her school children this fall.

Mrs. Stephen, a social science teacher at Eastland Junior High, was among the 25 teachers who left Denton this week (June 9-16) on the tour which will go through the South and East, including 3 days each in New York City, Pittsburgh and Washington, D. C. and four days in Detroit. They will return to Denton July 5.

The tour will include lectures and demonstrations by the director of the workshop and representative industrial leaders who will explain everything from how coal is mined to atomic energy. It is a four-credit-hour course in education with the title, "The Use of Industrial and Technological Resources in Teaching."

Director is Wayne Taylor, fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and of the Texas Academy of Science. During the long session he teaches physics and chemistry in the Denton high school.

Election Next Week Concludes Water Campaign

One week from today, or on Friday, June 20, voters of Eastland and Ranger will go to the polls for the purpose of instructing directors of the Eastland County Water Supply District to make contracts with the City Councils of the two cities, for the delivery of water to the cities involved.

No other question will be voted upon. No other demands will be made. It means that previously all other questions have been settled, and that bonds are to be offered for sale, after which actual construction of the dam may begin. Plan to be at the polls on election day and vote for the measure.

Parents Charge Hospital With Neglect Child

By United Press
The parents of a 15-month-old girl who died in Houston of pneumonia charge that their child was neglected at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lowthorn charge that they took little Helen Ruth Lowthorn twice to Jefferson Davis Hospital before she received medical attention. They said they waited in line two and one-half hours the first time without getting a doctor to treat her.

But A. S. Reaves, administrator of the city-county hospital, says the parents "just didn't wait long enough."

The parents say that doctors "wouldn't even answer" when they were asked to look at the child. The child died after being admitted to the hospital later.

B-36 Explodes And Burns In San Diego

By United Press
A B-36 Superbomber exploded and burned this morning at the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Company in San Diego.

Gas was being taken from the huge plane so it could be weighed, then turned over to the Air Corps. A spark between the plane and the gas truck ignited the fuel and the plane's gas tanks exploded with a roar that could be heard for miles. Flames shot hundreds of feet into the air.

A Convair spokesman says no one was injured. But it looks as though the three-and-a-half million dollar aircraft will be an almost complete loss.

Yellowjackets Win From Cisco Baptist Group

Eastland Yellowjackets won a seven inning game from the Cisco Baptists to Cisco last evening by a score of 9 to 4. The game was played at the A.B.C. field.

Both teams there have good players, and Geild Ables did some splendid pitching for Eastland, it is said.

The Jackets will play the Eastland-Cisco colored team at Cisco Monday night at 7:30.

Three New Dams In Offing For Brazos River

A series of weekend meetings of official bodies of the Brazos River Reclamation and Conservation District may set in motion the building of three dams on the Brazos River, long under consideration. Two in Palo Pinto County and one in Hood.

Tentative plans call for a meeting of the Brazos Board of Directors next Monday, with the executive committee and the dam committee meeting Saturday and Sunday prior to a meeting of the directors.

R. D. Collins, manager of the Brazos District, stated that this meeting hinged on the accomplishment of certain matters early this week, one is the completion of negotiations with the power company for the purchase from the three dams ready for acceptance or rejection by the board at the Monday meeting.

Should the board approve the contract and it is signed by the board and the power company, plans are all ready for the sale of bonds, and the asking of bids on construction for the dams, at Inspiration Point and Turkey Creek, in Palo Pinto County and DeCardova Bend in Hood County.

This would bring an expenditure of some $35,000,000.

Clowns Unhappy Under Make-Up

One of the nation's few women circus clowns says it's true what you hear about circus clowns, they're weepers and worriers under the paint.

Margo McKeo got in the clowning profession when she met and fell for another clown, Gaby McKeo. She had high hopes when they got married that life would be one joke after another.

But now she says "Gaby's one of the biggest worriers I ever met. He gets nervous on days when he can't think of something to worry about."

The woman clowns adds, "I thought it was just him at first, but I know now they're all like that. The better the clown the more blues he has backstage."

Margo McKeo tells other women who want to be clowns, "It takes a gal with a skin thick as an elephant. Then men bitterly resent a woman trying to get into their business."

Taft, Harriman And Eisenhower Seeking Votes

By United Press
Gen. Eisenhower takes his political campaign to the scene of a great military campaign today—Gettysburg, Pa.

The general owns a farm overlooking the Civil War battleground.

He'll hold a picnic conference there with Pennsylvania's 70-member Republican delegation.

Eisenhower will make a brief speech, then he'll dish out a luncheon of cold cuts, iced tea and milk. Only one thing worries him—thundershowers are predicted. If they materialize, the lawn conference will be held in a big red and blue barn.

A large part of the Pennsylvania delegation still is unpledged, and both Taft and Eisenhower forces have been wooing them.

Taft is carrying on his search for delegates in Delaware. He's scheduled to meet members of the state's 12-man delegation at Newcastle. Taft is sure of five of the 12 delegates. Four are in favor of Eisenhower. Three are unpledged.

One Democratic presidential hopeful, Averell Harriman, is campaigning in New Mexico. At Albuquerque, the foreign aid boss said he stands for economic security at home and mutual security abroad.

A bitter political fight is underway in Maine, between Senator Owen Brewster and Gov. Frederick Payne, opponents in the Republican primary on Monday for the Senate nomination.

Ordinarily, the nomination means election in Republican Maine. The chief campaign issue is Brewster's support of Taft and Payne's sympathies for Eisenhower.

Put no matter how hot political tempers get, Chicago, the convention city this year, promises cool air. About $350,000 worth of air conditioning equipment has been installed in the convention hall. All it needs now is some good hot weather to test its effectiveness.

Texas Weather Is Hot And Dry

By United Press
The weather is hot and dry in Texas today and there isn't likely to be any respite from the heat by this weekend.

Texas temperatures climbed within a few degrees of the national high for the third consecutive day yesterday. In South Texas, Presidio had 101 degrees, the high for the state. The lowest temperature yesterday was 84 degrees at Marfa and Marfa also reported the low minimum temperature during last night, 65 degrees.

But temperatures throughout the state yesterday were up near the 100 degree mark. No rain fell, the state was free of dust, and winds were moderate, weathermen report.

The forecast for today calls for partly cloudy weather in most regions and the high temperatures will stay with us. Widely scattered thundershowers are forecast for West Texas and the west portion of North Central Texas.

Father May Feel Guilty When He Unwraps Present

A Philadelphia Psychiatrist says a lot of fathers are going to feel guilty when they unwrap their gifts on Sunday, because they have not done enough for their kids to deserve the honors.

Dr. O. Spurgeon English, who is a father himself, says fathers don't spend enough time with their youngsters.

He says fathers who don't romp with their youngsters and share in caring for them "May get a gift in Fancy paper, but they won't get cooperation from their children."

A Marine staff sergeant, home on leave, was quite unexpectedly left in charge of his three-month old niece for an afternoon. All went well at first; then a crisis arose and the sergeant put in a frantic call to his uncle, who took care of the problem in man-to-man fashion.

"First," he said, "place the diaper in position of a baseball diamond, with you at bat. Fold second base over home plate. Place baby on pitcher's mound. Then pin first base and third base to home plate."

It worked.

A short man came into a restaurant and sat down in a booth. The waitress brought him a glass of water and a menu, then left to wait on other customers. It was a busy hour; the little man's head did not show over the back of the booth, and the waitress forgot him. Eventually she realized she had never taken his order. She rushed to the booth. It was empty, but a note was propped neatly against a glass. It read: "Out for Lunch."

Training a new cocker spaniel puppy to "speak" for his meals, the pup's owner would hold the dog's food just out of reach and then bark a few times before giving it to him. The pup, he hoped, would associate barking with food, and begin to "speak" for himself.

After a week of this, he again held the food just out of reach, and waited for the dog to bark. The puppy failed to take his cue, but the owner put the dish before him anyway. Then came the real shock. The puppy refused to eat—until his master barked.

TRACTOR SPEED is always Just Right!

PROOF-METER

Every implement works best, stands up longest, if operated within a recommended speed range. Take a planter for example. If you operate a planter too fast you not only shorten its life, but you get poor planting. You're likely to get "misses" that cut down yields and reduce profits. But if you operate too slow you'll waste time and lose profits too. For best results in planting, and in most all other field operations, right tractor speed is important!

The Proof-Meter—found only on the new Ford Tractor—enables you to hit and hold the right speed for planting and many other jobs, because it shows exact travel speed—in every gear—right before your eyes! And Proof-Meter does more...

5 Instruments in ONE! In addition to Tractor Speed, the Proof-Meter shows you Engine Speed, Power Take-Off Speed, Belt Pulley Speed, and indicates Hours Worked. Nothing else like it.

Only the Ford Tractor has the Proof-Meter!

How to have a winning TELEPHONE PERSONALITY

by EMILY POST

We're often judged by the way we use telephone service. Good telephone technique and good telephone manners are important to a winning personality . . . and help you get the most from your telephone service.

A housewife brings up an interesting point about long distance telephone calls: "I have trouble saying all I want to say, briefly and concisely, when I'm talking against time. What do you suggest?"

It is a good idea to do a little planning ahead of time. Keep a pad and pencil near your telephone. Make notes of the things you want to talk about—you'll be surprised how they help you stay on the subject. With the right planning, you can say as much in a three-minute call as you can in an exchange of letters. And call by number, whenever you can. Service is faster—often twice as fast.

Perhaps you have wondered if it is ever permissible to ask "Who is calling, please?"

At home or in the office, it is always perfectly correct for the person answering the telephone to ask, "Who is calling, please?" No one should take offense at this question. Anyone should be willing to give his name and state his business just as he would if calling at your front door.

A friend asks, "Do you have any advice on care of the telephone instrument itself?"

Yes, telephone users would do well to realize the value of their service depends in part on the care they give their telephones. Keep the cord free of twists and tangles that can injure the tiny wires inside. Spruce up the telephone with a soft, dry cloth—never with water or any other liquid. Keep the instrument on a sturdy stand or desk top and away from the edge where it might get bumped to the floor.
