Station WFAA To Celebrate 30th Birthday

Radio listeners of Texas and the Southwest will have a chance to meet the stars and see how radio works when WFAA, Dallas, radio services of The Dallas Morning News, holds open house to observe its thirtieth anniversary on the air, June 23 through 29.

All broadcasts at the station will be open to the public. There will be variety stage shows put on each half hour throughout the weekday hours, from 5:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. and on Sunday from 12 noon to 10 p.m.

Visitors to the station, and 500 of them are expected to come, will go away laden with prizes, too. There will be three daily door prize drawings for jackpot awards, and there will be a giant jackpot award on Sunday, June 29. Refrigerators, wrist watches and radios are among the awards. A candid camera contest, open to amateur photographers, will have a $50 cash first prize.

The station's air-conditioned studios will be turned into exhibit halls of radio entertainment star pictures and displays of growth of radio from the early crystal sets to the present clock-radio sets. Entrance will be via elevators in the Government Building (formerly Santa Fe Building), 1114 Commerce Street, Dallas, up to the tenth floor WFAA level and across a garden in the sky.

Patients Still Checking In At Newest Hospital

Although the new hospital has been open for less than one week, it is gradually filling up. Eight patients will be found there today, and some of them have undergone major surgery.

Quite a common thing to find from one to three doctors there now, and nurses are working with rhythmic regularity. Other patients are due today and ere long it will be filled completely, it is thought.

Price Clinic Be Held Here

An OPS price clinic for businessmen in Eastland and the surrounding trade area will be held Monday, June 16 at the Eastland Chamber of Commerce.

A representative from the Fort Worth District OPS office will be available from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. on that day to answer questions merchants may have about price regulations and to assist anyone requiring aid in complying with OPS Regulations.

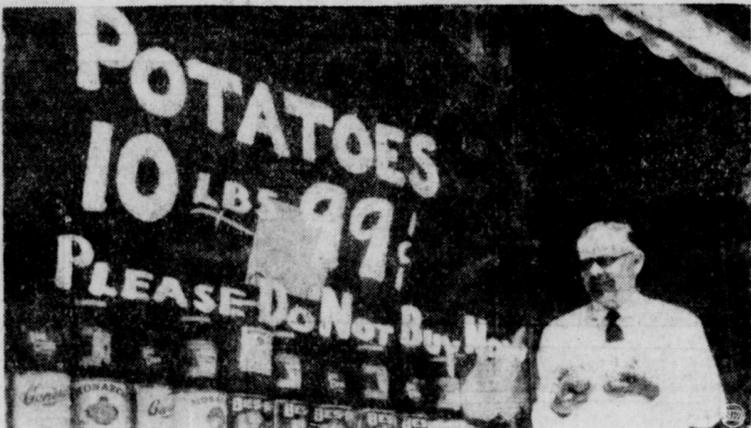

Candidates Are To File Second Expense Account

Candidates have been requested to file their second expense accounts on or before June 15th, which is Monday. This is very necessary and should not be neglected. The third and final filing must be made on or before July 6th, which is just 20 days prior to the election.

PUBLISHER PASSES—Tom C. Gooch, 72-year-old publisher of the Dallas Times Herald, died at his home after an illness of eight weeks. Mr. Gooch rose from the position of cartoonist and police reporter to become president and editor-in-chief of the newspaper and chairman of the board of KRLD (AM-FM and TV). (NEA Telephoto).

POTATO PROBLEM—Grocers in Port Washington, Wis., angry over high potato prices, post signs in their windows urging consumers not to buy. One of the grocery operators, Alfred Freese, holds a few potatoes which cost thirty cents. The grocery-men claim prices will go down fast if customers will resist buying. (NEA Telephoto).

Freak Weather Covers Nation

Too much and too little are the complaints against the weatherman today.

It's so dry in the great plains that a highway has exploded.

It's so wet in the Michigan-Illinois area that a dam has broken. The weather bureau says the temperature will stay around 100 degrees in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and South Dakota. The ministerial association at Aberdeen, South Dakota, has scheduled weekend prayer sessions for rain. And agriculture experts warn that late crops may fail to grow at all unless the drought ends soon. At La Junta, Colorado the residents are praying that there will be no fires. The city's reservoirs are nearly empty.

At Dawson, Nebraska, the heat baked a section of a highway like a cake. The road swelled, then burst, tossing four-foot slabs of concrete across the roadway. But along the Illinois, Michigan Canal, residents are ready to evacuate their homes. A break at an industrial dam on Big Run Creek has sent all waterways in the area to dangerously high levels. Violent winds and severe thunderstorms are adding to the danger. And more storms are expected.

At St. Petersburg, Florida, a giant water spout hit a bayside community, leaving a trail of sunken boats and wrecked homes. Winds estimated at 100-miles-an-hour drove the 600-foot water spout across the area. Damage is estimated from 25,000 to 75,000 dollars. But on one is reported injured.

1st Christian Church Program

The sermon subject for the worship service at the First Christian Church for the morning worship will be "A Partial View". The subject for the evening worship will be "Andrew."

The church is beginning a visitation evangelism campaign which will last July 13th. Great results are expected from this campaign. If you do not have a church home you are cordially invited to worship at the First Christian church.

IKE SPEAKING IN DETROIT; TAFT SAYS TRUMAN WILL RUN

DETROIT, June 14 (UP)—The automobile capital gets a look at General Eisenhower today. The general is in Detroit for two speeches, a parade, and a bid for Michigan's 46 unpledged Republican convention delegates.

Eisenhower first will lead a Flag Day parade. He'll make a speech from the steps of Detroit's City Hall Saturday morning. The big doings come Saturday night, at 8 p.m. He'll make a major political speech in Detroit's Olympia Stadium. Two television networks will carry the speech.

Eisenhower said this morning that he is throwing his prepared speeches out of the window and will speak "from the heart" in his campaign.

He told a Citizens Committee breakfast in the motor city that from here on out "all my prepared speeches are thrown out the window."

He said that he intends, instead, to take the questions which were tossed at him during the past week and devote his speeches to telling "how I feel as a matter of conviction."

ANTI-RED PRISONER POINTS OUT FANATICS OF KOJE ISLAND

A pint-sized prisoner on Kojé Island did a king-size job for American guards today.

The prisoner only four feet tall, had been condemned to death by a "kangaroo court". He made a dash for freedom. He scrambled through barbed wire to escape from rebellious Communist prisoners. His back was ripped by wire thorns, but he made it.

The little anti-Communist agreed to point out the ring leaders in the compound. Guards ordered the prisoners to line up. They refused.

Tear gas shells were fired into the compound. That did it. The prisoners came out meekly. They squatted in rows and held their hands behind their heads. The little prisoner went up and down the line, pointing out the 15 men who condemned him to death. He also named about 85 other fanatic Communists. After this dramatic show-down, another 273 prisoners stepped out of line, announced they were anti-Communists, and were taken away to separate stockades.

Meantime, Allied fighter-bombers have destroyed a Communist airfield near the North Korean capital of Pyongyang even before the Reds could finish rebuilding it.

A Fifth Air Force spokesman says 150 fighter-bombers, already loaded for other missions, headed for the field "within minutes" after getting a hurry-up call. The field would have been used as a support base for a possible Red summer offensive.

First Baby Has Been Released From Hospital

Mrs. Oren Fox and son, Mark Andrews, first patients of Eastland hospital have been released from that institution, an were taken early today, to Breckenridge, by Ben Hamner.

Seems Ben has sent in an offer to take them home when released, but when he went over, he was told that she didn't want to go home but to Breckenridge. "That's alright," said Ben, "I'll take her to China if that is where she wants to go."

Heat With Wind Is Predicted

The hot sun isn't letting up a bit on Texas today. Afternoon temperatures are expected to range around the 100 degree mark in some parts of the state and in the mid 90's elsewhere.

Clear to partly cloudy skies prevailed over most of the state but a general rainfall isn't in prospect anywhere. Amarillo had more than one-fifth of an inch yesterday for the only precipitation reported.

Childers reported the high temperature yesterday afternoon, 102 degrees. All other temperatures hung in the mid-90's and up to the 100 degree mark.

South Korean President Syngman Rhee has made a new threat to send his Congress home and call for a new election to replace it.

It's the first time Rhee has suggested a new election in the present political crisis.

The 77-year-old president charges law-makers in the anti Rhee Congress with trying to seek personal gain during the war.

At Panmunjom truce delegates report "absolutely no progress" in the deadlocked prisoner exchange talks. Maj. Gen. William Harrison, the chief Allied negotiator, says he's considering another 3-day recess.

The former ambassador to Red Berlin, Gregory Pushkin, has been recalled to Moscow, and appointed a deputy foreign minister.

Rhodes Will Be Heard At Church Of Christ, Sun.

Dr. Frank Rhodes professor of history at A.C.C. in Abilene, will preach at both services at the Eastland Church of Christ Sunday. These services were arranged because of the absence of R. E. Davis, regular minister, who is in Georgia at this time conducting a revival meeting.

Dr. Rhodes comes to Eastland highly recommended as a good and forceful speaker.

Gene Rhodes In Dallas Hospital Result Of Wreck

Gene Rhodes of 605 S. Mulberry, was taken to the V. A. hospital in Dallas Friday night, as the result of injuries sustained Thursday night, when the car he was driving overturned near Strawn.

Immediately following the crash he was taken to the Ranger hospital where it was learned that he was badly bruised, and that one of his legs had been broken in several places. He was given attention, but on Monday it was decided that he would go to the Dallas Institution.

Ban On Old Film Draws Court Suit

BALTIMORE, June 14 (UP)—The banning of the old film "Birth of a Nation" by the Maryland State Board of Motion Picture Censors is being challenged in a court suit.

The suit has been filed at Baltimore by the Washington, D. C., film distributor Harry Shull. He says that both the board and the Maryland state law under which film censorship is practiced are unconstitutional.

The movie is an old release previously shown in Maryland. But it is currently banned on the grounds that it tends to incite discrimination.

Moscow Makes Diplomatic Corps Changes

The Russians announce a general shakeup in their world diplomatic lineup, and international observers everywhere wonder what's up.

It's a shuffle involving the top four posts in the Communist diplomatic organization, Washington, London, Peiping and Berlin.

Russia's number two diplomat, Andrei Gromyko, has been nominated and accepted as ambassador to London.

Some observers think Gromyko's appointment forecasts a new, milder, approach to east-west differences.

What would seem to be another part of the same pattern is the new Russian ambassador to the United States, the Kremlin's former representative in London, Georgi Zarubin. And the former Red Ambassador in Washington, Alexander Panyushkin, becomes the Russian ambassador to Communist China.

The former ambassador to Red Berlin, Gregory Pushkin, has been recalled to Moscow, and appointed a deputy foreign minister.

London Embassy Worker Charged As Russian Spy

A gray-haired mother cried today in a London Courtroom. Her son stood charged with giving secrets to the Russians.

Young William Marshall was a radio operator at the British Embassy in Moscow in 1950. He has been working in the London Diplomatic service since his return.

The government charges that Marshall gave official secrets to the second secretary of the Russian Embassy in London.

Mrs. Marshall stood up in the courtroom and gazed at her son. She sobbed, shouted and then collapsed in the arms of a girl at her side. The girl was wearing an engagement ring but was identified only as a friend of the family.

Marshall, who faces a possible sentence of up to 14 years in prison declined to ask for bail.

"I am rather obscure," he said. "I prefer to get the matter over with."

Want Pee Wee Baseball Club

Baseball players between the ages of 10 and 13 are requested to meet at the Firemen's Field at 10:00 o'clock Monday morning, at which time an effort will be made to organize a Pee Wee team.

The boys have been playing for several days, and H. C. Able says he thinks they have sufficient timber to make a team. Breckenridge has two such teams and Albany has one. The Eastland group should have one trained team, he says. So plan to be present.

Baptists Make Summer Plans

The young people have done a splendid job, and now the adults take over. For one week the young people have been doing the main jobs around the church, and every adult has felt that they have done a splendid job. Sunday morning, the Sunday School will be under the direction of Supt. Cecil Collings and there is a place for everyone. The pastor's topic for Sunday morning will be, "Is Your Boy in Trouble?"

Travis Wheat will direct the Training Union Sunday night, and there is a planned place for every member of the family. The nursery is always open, and we have unions for every age. "The general theme for the month is "learning from Me", concerning the teachings of Christ. The pastor's topic for Sunday night will be "Jochebed."

The entire church will be affected by the many camps which will be held this summer. Many are making their plans to attend one or more of the following: Luaders, Junior G.A.'s June 23-26. General Camp and Music, June 30-July 4. Ridgecrest, Leave July 7, return July 15th.

Announcements Of Nazarenes

William C. Emberton, pastor, will speak at both services Sunday at the Church of the Nazarenes. The Sunday school begins at 10 a.m. with the superintendent R. F. Robbins in charge. The school is staffed with teachers who know Jesus and want to help the pupils.

At the morning worship hour special singing will be followed by the message by the pastor. The young peoples' services begin at 7:45 with the president Miss Maxine Wark in charge. During the summer months a special feature of the night services will be plenty of good congregational singing and well as special numbers.

The welcome sign is always out at this friendly church.

City Firemen Answer Call

The fire department answered a call to 300 South Dixie Street at 6:55 Friday evening. A small hole was burned in the roof of the house but no other damage was done. Origin of the blaze is not known.

Ratheals Will Take Part At Big Encampment

The Rathels will leave for Palacios encampment early Monday morning for the youth camp of the 'Coast Baptists'. Mr. Rathel will direct the music and Mrs. Rathel will play the piano and teach the class for the 15 and 16 year girls.

Rev. J. Lowell Ponder, pastor of Alvin, Texas is the director of the camp and Rev. Harold Dye is to be the inspirational speaker. There will be around 500 young people from the ages of 9-24.

There will be two main sessions daily, and the camp will continue through Friday noon, and the Rathels will return immediately that he may preach for the revival at Olden Baptist church beginning Friday night.

NEW LAW—Nurse in a Frankfurt, Germany, founding home cares for small children, most of whom are illegitimate offspring of Allied occupation soldiers. Under the new Allied-West German peace contract mothers of illegitimate children fathered by occupation soldiers will be able to sue the fathers for support of the children. The new ruling will bring some relief to mothers but the basic social problem remains.

New Underwater Vessel Would Be First Of Type

GROTON, Conn., June 14 (UP)—President Truman says national security can't be bought for "bargain - counter prices." The president spoke at Groton, where the 40-million dollar submarine "U.S.S. Nautilus" is being built.

The keel for the vessel was laid Saturday. It will be the first atomic powered submarine in history.

The president called the vessel, "the forerunner of atomic-powered merchant ships and airplanes, of atomic power plants producing electricity for factories, farms and homes. . . ." He said a full-size atomic submarine engine is almost finished and will start running soon.

Mr. Truman also said the public is "getting all kinds of foolish advice from persons who ought to know better" during this election year. He said, "now the air is filled with promises to strengthen national security and cut taxes all at the same time." This was taken as an obvious slap by the president at the leading Republican presidential candidates.

The President said the keel-laying of the atomic-powered ship "puts us on the threshold of a new age, an age promising breathtaking new developments. He said the atom is a tremendous power for peace as well as war, but he said Russia has made disarmament impossible by "threats and riots, bloodshed and outright aggression."

He warned that the nation may have to live "in a half-peace, half-war condition" for a long time. And he said, "I hope and pray with all my heart that the day will never come again when we have to use the atomic bomb."

Houston Driver Is Charged With Hit-Run Murder

A hit-and-run driver has struck and killed one man in Houston and critically injured another.

Sixty-five-year-old Caleb Ed Starr was killed as he walked along the shoulder of the road with his young son. After the car struck Starr, it bounced across the road and hit a 49-year-old Negro, Gus Leavigne, as he was fixing a flat.

Houston police later arrested 33-year-old Milton McAllister. A car handle knocked off McAllister's vehicle when it struck Starr fit a missing handle on his convertible door. McAllister is charged with murder by auto and police say he has been arrested on several previous occasions for reckless driving.

Couple Killed On Honeymoon

SHREVEPORT, La., June 14 (UP)—A newly married Kansas City couple has been killed in an automobile-truck collision 24 miles south of Shreveport, Louisiana on U. S. Highway 71.

The pair, Alex Rigier, 34, and his 27-year-old bride, died after their car collided with a truck driven by 40-year-old Stanley Lawrence Richard of Baton Rouge. The truck, owned by the General Gas Company of Baton Rouge, then swerved into a third automobile driven by Phyllis Lapean, a 19-year-old Louisiana State University student.

Miss Lapean was in a car with her mother, Mrs. Leon P. Lapean of Midland, Louisiana.

Richard says he approached the Rigier automobile as it ran off the shoulder of the highway. Then, he says, the driver suddenly swerved into the path of the truck. The accident occurred late Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rigier had been married two weeks. They were on their honeymoon.

POTPOURRI AND WORSE

(By Major Hoopie McCorkle)
Telegram Philosopher

As Sunday, June 15th, has been designated as Father's Day, we shall waste a little space on the old boy in an effort to get him more or less acquainted with members of his immediate family. As a rule little is known of or about him. Dad is always away from home trying to get enough money together to keep the house rent paid, the children clothed and fed, and mamma in a fairly good humor. She is seldom on his side of anything, but as long as Pop can keep her about half neutral, he has a chance to win.

Just why a Father should have a designated day is too much for us, but we'll bet right now that it costs him. Nobody ever gave Father anything unless it had a string tied to it. Daughter will come up and in a kittenish manner say to him: "Dad you are the finest guy in town. When I marry I am going to get a man just like you." She will lean over the chair, hug his neck, and feed him this taffy until the old fool begins to think he is a pretty swell fellow. He thinks daughter has grown up and is beginning to appreciate him, until he finds that five dollar bill is missing from his shirt pocket.

Mothers works many schemes on the old coot. If pop happens to have a few dollars, which is not often the family Dellah comes on the scene. Their sense of smell is very keen and they can smell a dollar two weeks before dad earns it. Once they have an idea that dad is coming into money, she hauls out her shopping list and gets busy. Her purchases, of course, will be limited to the amount dad brings in, plus a few extra items she can charge.

It doesn't take much to satisfy these modern day Dellahs—all they want is all you have and just a little more, whether it be a mill or a million. Say anything to them about their mercurial activities and they will cloud up and rain all over you. They know dad will weaken when the tears begin to flow. He will walk over and swear he didn't say it all or if he did, he didn't mean it, and that he is sorry. Promise her all of your next month's salary in advance (if you can borrow it) and all the storm-clouds roll away. Everything will be as beautiful as the patios of heaven until she thinks of something else to "want", and may we say by way of parenthesis—usually gets.

Pop has his rights, and usually gets them. His rights are limited to things the other members of the family won't have—they are good enough for dad. The only time dad comes in handy is when he is sporting a check book and is in a writing moor. Everybody loves him until he quits signing checks, and then he can get out of the house before he gets a grain of sand on the floor.

IT SHOULDN'T HAPPEN TO A DOG—Dreaming of happier days, this Minneapolis dog sits forlornly by his favorite fireplug, which was knocked down by a careless motorist. The forlorn fido has the sympathy of the fire department's repair crew.

The reason kids of this day and time know so much about Santa is because they have been taught by dad to look forward to this mythical fellow for their gifts. If sonny or Sally should come up shy on gifts, they have no one to blame but old Santa, he tells them.

Probably the dirtiest joke ever played on father is this Father's Day celebration, observed each year during the month of June. His bank account is ravished by every member of the family as they honor dad, at his expense. Mother gives him a box of off brand cigars (if she allows him to smoke) and dad gets a bill for them July 1st. Daughter gets him a couple of very classy shirts (only they are not his size) and he stores them away with other Christmas and birthday gifts, that are not to be worn. Now here's the joke: When a father gets a gift he never knows whether it is a real gift or just a treat from himself, once he pays for it.

It's like walking up to a friend and saying: "won't you come over to the hotel and have dinner with me—on you?" However, pop is usually a easy soul. He would rather suffer and even lose, than to get into an argument.

Father's Day was created by gift merchants and advertising men, who don't care any more for dad than they do anyone else. He is used as a necessary evil, because they can make money by playing up his name. Dad should revolt, but he won't. He will go on paying off for his own gifts and never murmur—never tell mother and the kids that he is wise to them. Of course he would have enjoyed a good dime cigar a lot more than he will the $49 worth of assorted dry goods, clothing or what have you, but he'll never tell you. That's dad for you. He is as good as the best, and better than the rest, and he never asked for Father's Day.

But necessary evil though he may be, he is a pretty important guy to our way of thinking. We have seen a few, very few, really mean dads, and they don't need our comment half as much as they need the "cat o' nine tails" applied to their backs. We have known a few slave driving dads who tried to get rich by overworking their children. In every case we have known these fellows have died in poverty. We have seen a few hard-headed dads who would beat and mistreat their children, but most of them will spend eternity spewing "hell" upon us. We have met a few who did not understand children—mainly because they did not want to understand or be bothered with them, but the great majority of dads we have known love their wives, and babies and make an honest effort to provide for them.

We have seen them work when the thermometer stood at 20 below zero, and we have seen them work when they were sick and not physically able, and we have seldom heard them complain. They have one great goal in life and that is to see that their loved ones are comfortably cared for, regardless of what suffering it might require on their parts.

So rah, rah, rah, for dad—he's alright.

Harry's only redeeming trait is that he is a married man and is Father of a very fine daughter.

Veteran Texan Recalls Game

AUSTIN, June—George Howard Waker of Lufkin who is an active hunter and fisherman at 96, is the subject of an article—TENTACIOUS TEXAN—in the forthcoming issue of Texas Game & Fish magazine.

He is a native Texan and remembers the early days when game was so abundant that there were no seasons or bag limits. He bagged his 96th deer last fall and estimated that: "All the ducks I have killed couldn't be pulled by a team of horses."

The article states: "Uncle George, as he is known by everyone around Lufkin was particularly sharp at hunting wild turkey. His popular box call is considered one of the deadliest in the county."

"You had to call them close," he explained. "Did in my day, because back powder was too expensive to miss. Got them up close, so we could shoot off their heads."

"Uncle George still stays close to nature and spends an occasional night camping out on the Neches river with his fishing partner, his grandson, David Walker, 20. The elder Howard likes to regale the present generation with descriptions of how he "made G7 crops all between the plow handles" and that he never bought a sack of livestock feed in his life. He doubts that game ever will be restored to the status when antelope populated the ranges like "waving grass" but he thinks present restoration work will be effective and that there will always be something to hunt.

Two Desserts with One Making

Here's an idea you'll want to try the next time you're having guests for luncheon, dinner, or buffet supper.

What you do is make a big, round, deep 10-inch layer of old-fashioned burnt sugar cake on company day. Simply put cake on a big, pretty serving plate with ivy leaves under cake for garnish. Carefully cut a circle out of the center; remove center, leaving a 3-inch outer ring. Frost ring with Creamy Orange Frosting. At serving time, heap ice cream into center of the ring cake, bring to table with a bowl of Party Butterscotch Sauce to spoon over ice cream.

What about the remaining center piece? Spread it, too, with the same frosting, cover and put away for dessert for the family the next day. When ready to serve, decorate the little cake with halves of seeded grapes or maraschino cherries. Serve with bowls of sugared sliced peaches or other fruits in season.

If you'd like to make your own cake plate for the little cake, turn a stemmed goblet upside-down, attach a small plate to bottom of goblet with bits of molding clay. Be sure both goblet and plate are dry.

- Old Fashioned Burnt Sugar Cake
1/2 cup C and H cane brown sugar
1/2 cup boiling water
1 1/2 cups C and H cane granulated sugar
2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup shortening
2 eggs
1 cup cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring

First, make this burnt sugar syrup: Melt 1/2 cup brown sugar in heavy frying pan over low heat, stirring constantly. When sugar is dark and burnt in appearance, remove from heat, and at edge of pan slowly stir in 1/2 cup boiling water. Return burnt sugar to heat and boil gently, about 5 minutes, until thickened. Cool.

Next, make the cake: Cream shortening, and gradually cream in 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar until light and fluffy. Stir in eggs, one at a time, beating well each time. Measure and

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

The protecting power bestowed on one by his heavenly Father, divine Love, enables him to defend himself daily against temptation and bodily suffering. This demonstrable truth is pointed up in the Lesson-Sermon titled: "God the Preserver of Man" to be read in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, June 15. The Golden Text promises: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty" (Psalms 91-1).

One of the citations to be heard from the Bible is: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father" (John 14:12).

This unflinching healing truth taught by the Master is available to all here and now, as explained in the following correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good" (p. 494).

Baptist Business Women's Circle Elect Officers, Exchange Gifts

Miss Verne Allison was voted president of the Business Women's circle of the First Baptist church at a covered-dish supper Monday night.

Other officers elected were Miss Betty Jo Carroll, vice-president; Mrs. Mildred Amis, secretary; Miss Allie Williams, treasurer; Mrs. Hannah Lindsey, Bible chairman; Mrs. Winnie Young, assistant Bible chairman; Mrs. Hazel Green, program chairman; Miss Lola Laney, community missions chairman; Miss Christine Garrard, benevolence chairman.

Mrs. Ita Parrish hosted the supper at her home, 2010 W. Commerce. Fried chicken, salads, vegetables, ice cream and cake were served from a table on the back lawn.

Highlighting the evening was the exchanging of gifts by the women with their secret pals. A short business meeting followed, presided over by Mrs. Parrish. The roster of names for officers was presented by the nominating committee and voted on by the members. The committee was composed of Misses Lola Laney, Betty Jo Carroll and Verne Allison.

Next meeting will be the regular third Monday Bible study.

Older People In Model Town Find Rest, Peace

About 50 members of the older generation have achieved the independence they seek in a unique colony at Millville, N. J. Opened 15 years ago this month, Roosevelt Park Colony for the Aged provides them with homes of their own. The story of this unusual residential "city within a city" is told in the current issue of PEOPLE TODAY in an interesting article called "Old Folks' Town."

The idea came to Mrs. Effie Morrison, a county welfare worker, when she saw old age Assistance clients forced into meager quarters or institutions—or into relatives' home. One client, an old lady who built herself a 3-room home on meager funds, seemed to have a happy solution. Mrs. Morrison went into action, convinced the city of Millville to donate the land and the W.P.A. to provide funds for building 14 homes and a community house. Rent: $6-$10 a month.

The rest of the 33-homes were built by people who occupy them. They received tax-free plots of land, pay only expenses and maintain the property. A $5,000 limit of building costs prevented too great disparity in appearance of the homes. When an owner dies, the house reverts to the community for rental.

Outsiders who expect to find the old folks doddering around on canes see instead a picture of activity—gardening, carpentry, sewing sessions, pinochle games, At

Says Mrs. Morrison to PEOPLE TODAY: "I would be interested in seeing such colonies established in every state. But they find it's real work and give up." She is reluctant to discuss all the "outstanding citizen" citations bestowed her, but isn't too bashful to admit that "we need $10,000 to enlarge the community house."

Those now in the community range in age from 65 to 95; incomes range from $45 monthly for a widow to $200 tops for a couple. The colony has received no public funds since the W.P.A. grant.

Gardeners Must Fight Insects

Get ready to fight insects if you expect to grow a garden, warns Capper's Farmer.

The right insecticide, proper timing applications and thortreatment of plants are the key parts of a successful control program, says Gordon T. Mickle, Colorado entomologist, in the nationally-circulated farm magazine. Much better control is obtained when insecticides are used against the younger stages or at the first appearance of insects. This early application not only protects plants but also prevents the pests from multiplying. It's necessary to get complete coverage because many bugs and worms feed on the lower parts of plants or on the undersides of leaves.

LDT and related insecticides leave a deposit on the plant that lasts for several days. Such a poisonous residue is objectionable on such vegetables as lettuce, spinach and others used for greens. Use rotenone, pyrethrum or cryolite on these plants.

The aphid is one of the most common pests. It attacks cabbage, cucumbers, potatoes, melons, peas and many other garden plants. For control, use 2 tablespoons of 40 per cent nicotine sulfate mixed with 1 pound of hydrated lime and applied as a dust. If you prefer a spray, mix 1 tablespoon of the Black Leaf 49 and tablespoon of soap flakes in a gallon of water.

Mexican bean beetles are stopped by a 1 per cent rotenone dust or a spray made by dissolving 2 tablespoons of cryolite in each gallon of water. One pound of either calcium arsenate or cryolite mixed with 5 pounds

Young Pair Work Hard But Feel They're Bound To Get Somewhere

TUPELO, Miss (UP)— We're doing it because we want to live rather than exist, these two say.

That is the answer given by one of Tupelo's busiest young couples when their fantastically long and complicated work schedule is reviewed.

To begin with, Ralph Knight is taking 17 semester hours of pre-medical work at Itawamba Junior College has five afternoon labs a week, is taking night classes in addition, plays in two orchestras, baby sits, and cleans house on Saturdays.

Meanwhile, his wife, Dot, is secretary to Ruff Motors, keeps house, raises a six-year-old son, takes typing and accounting in night school, and is studying medicine on her own.

of carrier will stop cucumber beetles. Apply dust as soon as melons, squash, pumpkins and cucumbers come thru the ground.

"After all," she said, "if my husband is going to be a doctor, I should know as much about it as possible. If I'm going to support the family more or less during the next few years while he goes to medical school, I want to be prepared as much as possible."

It was a long struggle for the Knights, because they had so far to go. "We've still got a long way ahead of us," he added, "but we're going, all the same."

Neither had yet finished high school when Ralph went into the Army during World War II. "After I got out of the Army, I deided I wanted to be a doctor," Ralph said. "We both set about finding a way."

As far as the Knights are concerned, the way was hard work. Dot went to work and Ralph entered Itawamba high school to finish up two years ago. He hopes to be graduated from Itawamba Junior College in June with scholastic honors, counting the night courses he is taking. Then he hopes to enter medical school.

The couple is making its own way through Ralph's schooling for the present, saving his GI benefits until he enters medical school. A lot of his extra cash comes from playing in two dance orchestras every Saturday night.

Ralph says he figures his schedule leaves him 42 hours a week to sleep. He goes to bed at 1 a. m. and is up at 6 a. m. "I'm getting fat on it though," he said.

"No, we don't have any time for much else. We don't even have time to read magazines, except medical journals.

"It seems sometimes that we never even get around to speaking to each other," Dot said. "He always has his nose buried in a book, even when he's shaving. He's going to be a doctor someday though."

PROOF-METER

Every implement works best, stands up longest, if operated within a recommended speed range. Take a planter for example. If you operate a planter too fast you not only shorten its life, but you get poor planting. You're likely to get "misses" that cut down yields and reduce profits. But if you operate too slow you'll waste time and lose profits too. For best results in planting, and in most all other field operations, right tractor speed is important!

The Proof-Meter—found only on the new Ford Tractor—enables you to hit and hold the right speed for planting and many other jobs, because it shows exact travel speed—in every gear—right before your eyes! And Proof-Meter does more...

5 Instruments in ONE! In addition to Tractor Speed, the Proof-Meter shows you Engine Speed, Power Take-Off Speed, Belt Pulley Speed, and indicates Hours Worked. Nothing else like it.

School Teachers Will Ask Minimum Salary Of $3,000; Legislature To Be Approached During New Session

AUSTIN, Texas, June 7, 1952—A minimum beginning salary of $3,000 instead of $2,403 for public school teachers will be asked of the next legislature by the Texas State Teachers Association.

"Texas annually must have nearly 5,000 new teachers either as replacements or to take care of the rapidly increasing enrollment," Charles H. Tennyson, executive secretary of the association, said in making the announcement here today.

"The profession must be made more attractive and Texas faces a critical situation in its schools unless that can be accomplished," Tennyson declared.

The executive secretary of the 52,000 member teacher group which was a big factor in the school system revision campaign three years ago, also recently for additional classrooms if children are to continue to get a good education.

for teachers granted by the voters and legislature three years ago, the profession is not attractive to young people because the pay is less than the national average for workers," Tennyson pointed out.

The average salary for all Texas professional public school personnel is $3,185, but that of the average classroom teacher is only $2,980. The first-year teacher who holds a bachelor's degree gets $2,980.

In comparison, the average for all employed people in the United States, including laborers, is $3,390.

Tennyson presented figures to show that pay of teachers since World War II has not kept pace with that of other employed persons.

In 1939 teachers' salaries averaged $1,420 and that of all employed persons, including laborers, was $1,269. Teachers were 12 percent above the average, and all employed people in the country $3,390. Thus the Texas group is 6 percent below the national group.

Since 1939, Tennyson said, the average employed person has had an increase of 167 percent in his pay, while the Texas teachers have had a 124 percent hike. If teachers' salaries had increased as others, the present average would be up by $615.

That is approximately what the TSTA will ask as a minimum salary increase.

Tennyson spotlighted the teachers' economic situation another way:

Alias Basil Willing By Helen McCloy

THE STORY: An unattractive little man had been using Dr. Basil Willing's name at a party at the home of another psychiatrist, Dr. Zimmer. Basil, without revealing his own identity, threatened to expose the impostor, but offers the man a chance to explain. They go to a small cafe where the impostor dies, apparently from poison. Now Basil and Inspector Foyle are questioning Dr. Zimmer about the other guests at the party.

"WHAT about Miss Shaw's nephew, Brinsley?" demanded Inspector Foyle. "Or the companion, Miss Dunn? The little guy may have been blackmailing Miss Shaw because of something they did and one of them killed him. Perhaps he just picked the name of a well-known psychiatrist, Basil Willing, at random."

Basil quoted softly. "I hear someone coming. They're always watching. That's what Miss Shaw said to me when she thought I was the false Willing. It sounds as if she and he were in alliance against them. Were any of the others the sort who might get mixed up in blackmail?"

This amused Zimmer. "Judge for yourself. Besides the Shaws and Miss Dunn, there was Stephens Lawrence, the poet, and his daughter, Perdita, Therton Yorick and..."

"The man who runs the Stardust Club?" interrupted Foyle. "Twenty-five years ago he was dealing with bootleggers."

"Is there anyone who didn't deal with bootleggers in those days?" returned Zimmer. "The rest were his wife, Rosamund, my own sister, Greta Mann, and the Cannings, Hubert and Isolda."

Foyle seemed to lose a little of his zest for this interview. Canning, the contractor, was active in city politics. "I'll see Mrs. Mann tomorrow," Foyle was on his feet. "There's not much we can do until we talk to Miss Shaw. And identify the little guy."

"Were there no identifying marks on his clothing?" Zimmer asked Foyle.

"No. The evening dress was rented in Basil Willing's name. The other clothes were the sort of thing you can pick up at a bargain counter in any department store. No personal papers. Maybe he was afraid he would be searched while he called himself Willing. So he wasn't carrying anything that would give away his real identity."

ZIMMER turned back to Basil. "And I gather you were not an old friend of his as he claimed when he left the house with you this evening?"

"That was a stratagem to get us out of here together," confessed Basil. "When I challenged his identity he insisted that he could explain things to my satisfaction, but he died before he was able to tell me anything."

"Anything at all?" "Anything that made sense. He said he was frightened because of some place where no birds sang, but he didn't name the place. Actually his last words were: 'And no bird sang.' Does that convey anything to you?"

Zimmer looked blank. "As I said, one symptom of acute alkaloid poisoning is delirium toward the end."

"But even delirium can suggest the truth," mused Basil. "I'd like to argue the point with you some day." Zimmer's smile was friendly. "We have met under rather strange circumstances, Dr. Willing. I don't know yet how you happened to come here this evening?"

Basil told him. "In that case I'm grateful to the impostor. I meant it when I said that I knew you by reputation and I really have looked forward to meeting you for a long time. I hope we'll meet again."

"So do I. Perhaps we can have a little chat about the Heisenberg variation."

"The Heisenberg variation? Doesn't that have something to do with nuclear physics?" "Yes. But when the false Willing proclaimed himself a psychiatrist, Rosamund Yorick tested him by asking him about the Heisenberg variation. He suggested it shouldn't be talked about in the presence of ladies."

Zimmer laughed heartily. "So Rosamund doubted his identity?" "She seems to have been the one person here who knew me by sight."

As they moved into the hall, they found Otto loitering. Foyle asked, "Did a taxi driver call here for Dr. Willing at 9:30?"

OTTO glanced at Zimmer before he answered. "Yes, sir. I told him Dr. Willing had gone. But he wouldn't leave until I threatened to call the precinct police."

"Do you recall anything odd about the man you announced as Dr. Basil Willing earlier this evening?"

"Well—thirteen is a number the doctor always avoids at dinner and the man was the thirteenth guest. But he gave the name of a guest who had been invited..."

Otto glanced at Basil. "... So I began to wonder about this gentleman."

Zimmer intervened. "For your future information, Otto, this is Dr. Basil Willing."

"Indeed, sir?" Otto's eyes opened as if he could hardly believe anyone would abuse Dr. Zimmer's hospitality.

Zimmer started as if a thought had struck him abruptly. "Now I wonder..." He went to the hall table and pulled out a drawer. "Could his name have been Duggan?"

"Why Duggan?" demanded Foyle. "After all the guests had gone my sister and I spent a few moments in the drawing room talking over the party and I found this between the seat and cushion of my chair." Zimmer took something out of the drawer.

It was a leather envelope with a cellophane window on one side. There was a printed form under the cellophane. Foyle moved nearer the lamp to read it.

"This is made out in the name of Jack Duggan," he said. "It's a license for a private detective."

Past Democratic Revolt Leader Reverses Stand

JACKSON, Miss., June 14 (UP)—The man who touched off the southern revolt of the Democratic Party in 1948 did an about-face today.

Governor Hugh White of Mississippi announced that he will stay in the party and "fight it out" this year.

In April, White pulled a bill through the Mississippi state legislature authorizing a second bolt by the Mississippi Party.

But today he denied such intention after disclosure of a pledge empowering the state's delegates to walk out of the national convention at Chicago next month.

White told a news conference, "I'm going to stay in there and fight it out."

He added: "I'm a Democrat and I will always be a Democrat."

Earlier today there were reports that southern advocates of state's rights plan to hold a protest meeting at Chicago following the democratic convention if the party does not name a presidential nominee and adopt a platform acceptable to the south.

And a Democratic committee-woman from Mississippi says she has photostatic copies of a pledge which would require states rights delegates from Mississippi to join similar forces from other Dixie states in such a meeting.

What's the big idea of DYNAFLOW DRIVE? There are all sorts of "drives" and "shifts" on the market. Some still operate entirely by hand. Some depend on shifting gears, but do this automatically. Some feed the power through oil, but use a lock-out device at cruising speeds. But we still think that Dynaflo® is the best of all for this simple reason: The big idea of Dynaflo Drive is to make life easy for the driver. In traffic, you can start and stop, slow down, accelerate with complete and infinite smoothness — because no gears have to shift, ever, in Dynaflo Drive. So there's no lurch, buck or bobble. Dynaflo always feeds power with a steady, willing swoop—at 3 miles an hour or 30—or as high as it's legal to go. On hills, you get the same sure, steady, unflinching power-feed for the same reason. No gears ever shift. On a long day's drive, you can ride with wonderful freedom from tension—your foot relaxed on the throttle — because you always drive through oil. And at any speed you get a smoother ride, in part because Dynaflo Drive provides such a smooth and gentle linkage between that mighty Fireball 8 Engine and the rest of the chassis. But this is not all. Our service records show that Dynaflo also makes life easier for your bank account. It saves wear and strain on the engine, banishes the cost of clutch repairs, saves strain on the transmission and even on the rear tires. There are a lot of other good reasons for buying a Buick — its style, its room, its ride, its power, its thrift, its durability — and its price. When you can get all this — plus Dynaflo Drive — why be a holdout? Come in and give Dynaflo a try today. Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. Sure is true for '52.
