Already many West Texans are eyeing the Jack Rabbit crop. This year can have only one meaning, and that is this—it is getting dry and most people know it. We haven't made a crop failure yet, but we have a pretty good start, right now.

The Jack Rabbit is an insignificant cuss when times are good, but during lean years he comes in handy. We saw one the other day as he crossed the highway. The farmer riding with us looked up and appraised the animal, and then remarked—"that's a pretty fair rabbit, he would make a gallon of soup." Now when it gets to where people can look at a rabbit and tell how much soup he will make it's time to for the balance of us to do a little thinking.

But back to the Jack Rabbit. He is a barometer and a thermometer. Out on the plains they use him to tell when it is going to rain or when a hard freeze is coming. He told them the depression was over. Out at Abernathy, a small city north of Lubbock, a man was found running to and fro, and at the same time screaming "the depression is over, the depression is over." People thought he was crazy, but he wasn't. They asked how he knew and he calmly replied that he has seen a Jack Rabbit running across town, and nobody chasing it.

Jack Rabbits make wonderful chills if you get them before they get too poor. As long as they can trot they are not too poor, but after they get down they are pretty tough.

Saw a fellow who had been out in New Mexico. He says vegetation out here is as scarce as "hen's teeth," and that in one place he saw two Jack Rabbits starving to death in a 4-section ranch. When it gets so dry that two sections of grass won't feed a rabbit, it's getting pretty dry.

But don't be alarmed. Things are not so dry in these parts, for we have already had a couple of light showers this year, as well as a heavy dew. If we can get a good rain pretty soon, we will have peanuts to eat anyway. And peanuts furnish oil to flavor our chili and red beans, even if the rabbit is tough and the beans are hard. Properly greased they will slide right down.

However, the rabbit crop seems rather light this year, and we think the county commissioners should take steps to see that they be protected from promiscuous shooting.

With plenty rabbits for human consumption and mesquite beans for livestock, we should fair pretty well, even if worst comes to worst. Rabbit soup is not so bad, once you get used to it, and red beans will keep a man going as long as a government pension—maybe longer, as groceries are high and pensions are low.

Maybe some of us may live off the interest of what we owe, but before we arrange a new diet we are going to wait and see if it won't get better. We have known Texas a long time—about 60 years, and as we remember this is about our 53rd drought, and nobody has starved yet. During the same period we have seen a about half a dozen wet years. West Texas can promise less and give more than any other country on earth. If we didn't have a lot of droughts we wouldn't have room to stack the new-comers. Everybody in the United States would want to live here, and to protect us the Lord gives us these droughts to keep prospectors away. We don't need more than a half dozen crops in 60 years to keep us going. Truly this is the land of "milk and honey."

Ranger Times Is To Herald Rodeo

Ranger Jaycoes are on the alert again. They are making plans for their biggest and greatest Rodeo, to be held in the City of Ranger on July 16-19.

On July the 10th or 11th or maybe the 10th and 11th, they are to have their big Motorcycle. A large group of businessmen will visit all the towns and cities in this territory, meeting old friends, making new ones, and at the same time advertising the Big Rodeo.

Defense Slows Economic Trend Of Congressmen

By WARREN DUFFEE
WASHINGTON, July 1—Last minute concern about the state of U. S. defense slowed the congressional economy drive Tuesday as hurried lawmakers strove to complete action on nearly $70 billion worth of appropriation bills in time to adjourn Saturday.

The new emphasis on preparedness was reflected in the $46.4 billion military spending bill which the Senate passed 66 to 0, Monday night after adding $600 million for the Air Force to continue building toward its goal of 143 wings by mid-1955.

A key Republican senator predicted that the economy bloc also will be "lenient" on the next big preparedness measure to come before the Senate—a catch-all bill carrying funds for foreign aids, military base construction and expansion of the U. S. atomic program.

As passed by the House last week it carried a total of $10,122,840,780, including $3,731,205,250 for new atomic plants. The latter figure represented a 50 per cent slash in administration requests.

The military spending bill went to a joint conference committee to iron out differences between the Senate version and the $46,207,177,554 measure previously passed by the House. Seven other money bills for the fiscal year 1953, which began Tuesday, already were in various stages of conference committee action.

While waiting for the conference machinery to grind out compromise appropriations bills for final action, the Senate took up twin statutes giving West Germany virtual independence and bringing it into the Atlantic Pact defense system.

Democratic Leader Ernest W. McFarland said the Senate would take up so-called "fair trade" legislation after action on the German treaties.

The House, as usual far ahead of the Senate in major legislation, planned no important decisions Tuesday out of deference to Oklahoma members who were absent for their home-state Democratic primary.

The House, as usual far ahead of the Senate in major legislation, planned no important decisions Tuesday out of deference to Oklahoma members who were absent for their home-state Democratic primary.

They were also accompanied by D. A. Adams of A&M College Extension Service.

Orchards visited included those of B. B. Freeman of the Chaney community; J. E. Spencer, Longbranch; and J. D. Inabnet of the Pioneer area.

They were quite interested in the deep, sandy soils of the county, as well as the wind that was blowing a gale that day. Also they were interested in the drinking water of which they seemed not to be able to get enough.

They were also attracted by the peach and apple orchards. The 69-acre apple orchard on the Inabnet farm was especially interesting to them, and they asked many questions concerning it. They were quite familiar with apple growing, but not with American varieties.

They liked American coffee, and cigarettes, but disliked tea. Because of their Moslem religion they refused to eat ham at Rising Star, where they enjoyed late lunch.

Taft Backers Charged With Planned "Steal"

Two Accused In Breckenridge Safe Burglary Saturday Night

BRECKENRIDGE, June 30 (UP)—Leroy Tiney Eggleston, wily ex-convict from Fort Worth stoutly maintained Monday that he had nothing to do with a $4,000 Saturday night safe burglary.

Eggleston, however, protested his innocence from a cell in the Stephens county jail.

He was attending a rodeo in Euleus Saturday night, when the 650-pound safe was taken from a Stephens county ranch home, he declared.

But Sheriff Tom Offield said he had "good information" that linked Eggleston with the job. Neither the sheriff nor Ranger John Coge would say what that information was.

Put the officers filed burglary charges against Eggleston and another Fort Worth ex-convict, Paul Tomlin, 40. The latter has not yet been found.

The safe, taken from the Henry Compton ranch home 16 miles southwest of Breckenridge, was found Sunday in the Trinity river near Benbrook dam by two teenagers. Missing from it was the $4,000 and $180,000 in bonds and notes.

Eggleston made the headlines Nov. 22, 1950, when he found a bomb wired to his car at his Fort Worth home only two hours after gambler Nelson Harris and his wife were killed by a similar blast in their vehicle.

West Texans Have Vacation Spots Near Home

There really is no place like home for West Texas vacationers. Within the eighteen State Parks of West Texas one may find things to do and to see that match attractions of those far-away places you've thought about visiting.

For a long or short week-end or the whole vacation period, accommodations and attractions of many types are available in these parks the State has provided.

There are more than 22,000 acres in the 18 parks, ranging from small tracts to the 15,000 acres in Palo Duro State Park east of Canyon.

For variety, consider these attractions: Palo Duro Canyon, one of the greatest natural phenomena on the North American continent. The great canyon, extending across three large counties, drops so suddenly from the level prairies to depths of more than 1,500 feet that it is accessible only by Indian trails and a road constructed at great expense from the rim. Most distinctive are what cowboys called "the Spanish Skirts," great vividly colored, like formations that cover the side cliffs of the whole canyon. Brick-red, rose, violet, gold, pink and white spread out in vast lengths. Each band represents several centuries of time.

Yellowjackets Drop Fine Game To Throckmorton

The Yellowjackets with a high winning record, lost to the Throckmorton nine last night by a score of 7 to 6. The game was hotly contested, and our boys held the visitors 5 to 3 when Throckmorton took the lead.

Rodney Stephen was on the mound and pitched a good game. The pitcher for the visitors knocked a homer, and their catcher came in for a homerun, going ahead in the Jackets 7 to 5. In the bottom of the 7th Gerad Ables got out of the Park for a homer with nobody on bases.

This was a 7 inning game and we are giving them a return game Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Throckmorton.

Carl Wheat Is Now In Korea

WITH THE 7TH INFANTRY DIV. IN KOREA—First Lt. Ralph G. Wheat, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Wheat, Route 2, Eastland, Texas, now is serving with the 7th Infantry Division on the western front in North Korea.

Patrols from the 7th are battling the Reds in the strategic Iron Triangle sector near Khamwha, while tank and artillery guns pound at deeply-entrenched enemy fortifications.

Lieutenant Wheat, a platoon leader in Company M of the 17th Infantry Regiment, entered the Army in March 1951.

Graduate of Texas A. and M. College at College Station Texas, and Texas officer was formerly employed as county agricultural agent, Texas Extension Service, Wheeler, Texas.

PLAN FOR BATTLE—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower backers, H. Jack Porter, left, Mrs. Porter and Ben Guill proudly display the Lone Star Flag of Texas as they arrive in Chicago for the National GOP Convention. Porter, who directed Eisenhower's campaign in Texas, is in Chicago early to plan an appearance before the GOP national committee and to battle for convention seats. (NEA Telephoto).

Thurber Oldtimers To Hold Reunion, Picnic July 4th

THURBER, July 1 (S.P.)—People who lived here when Thurber was a bustling town of 10,000 and known as the state's leading coal center, will return July 4 for the traditional picnic reunion which has become one of the last links, with an unusual past.

Now marked by little more than an old smokestack and a lonely filling station on U. S. Highway 80 in northwest Erath County, Thurber once boasted 2,000 homes, its own water works, fire department, schools, light plant and golf course—all owned by the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company.

Thurber remained a mining camp from its beginning in 1887 until it became a ghost town in the middle 1920s. It never was incorporated, and the late W. K. Gordon, vice-president and general manager of Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company, fulfilled the duties of mayor, judge and landlord. The company for many years paid its employees in scrip, resembling ice coupons, good anywhere in town.

Early in the 1920s the Thurber coal mines passed out of existence, defeated by oil discoveries and high cost of operation, and the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil offices were moved to Fort Worth.

Another casualty was the Thurber Brick Company, a 1 1/2 owned by Texas Pacific, which shipped its famed paving brick to all parts of the United States.

Thurber was a cosmopolitan community, with at least 90 per cent of its residents of foreign extraction. Italians, Poles, Mexicans and Chinese set up their own little communities within the town.

Italian musicians attracted listeners from miles around when they played on the bandstand in the city square, and the band made an annual Christmas caroling trip around the town.

Popularity of "The Snake", a saloon noted for its long bar, was challenged by four churches in Thurber. Other landmarks were the Hotel Knox and the opera house, which offered both stage and film fare. Texas Pacific also operated a dairy and packing house.

Good Pecans Are Grown In County

F. O. Hilburn, who resides southwest of Eastland, but who gets his mail on Romney Route, is making a "go" of the pecan business. Ten years ago, after completing 27 years of service with Swift & Co., Mr. Hilburn settled on his 160-acre farm in Eastland county. Much of his land is in the low area and overflows, but that was the thing he wanted.

He began thinning out his pecan trees, and adding the new paper shell variety. Today he has between 300 and 400 trees, mostly of the Burkett variety, and they are making him money.

Right now his pecans look good, but unless he gets rain within a very short time, the crop will be greatly reduced, he said.

Eastland county is a natural home for pecans, and they are to be found in many sections over the county. In 1949 growers in the county marketed more than a quarter of a million pounds of pecans, at prices ranging from 27c to 30c per pound.

His pecans are getting better each year Mr. Hilburn says, and in time they will produce very valuable crops.

Pre-Ike Leaders Seek Recognition

CHICAGO, July 1 (UP)—The leader of the pro-Eisenhower forces among Texas' feuding Republicans has charged that Sen. Robert A. Taft knew his supporters planned "the Texas vote steal" seven months before the state convention met.

The Eisenhower backer, H. J. Porter, said that when Taft was informed of the plot, the Senator merely shrugged: "I can't interfere with the party's internal affairs in a state."

Porter told a news conference Monday that he informed Taft Nov. 10 of what would happen at the lone star state convention May 27.

Taft Steal Charged
The supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower have charged that the state GOP organization "stole" the state convention and seated an overwhelmingly pro-Taft slate of delegates to the national convention.

Porter and his aides have come to Chicago with their own slate of delegates and are fighting to oust the "regular" delegation and seat their own men.

"I told him (Taft) what his leaders were going to do and did so in my own office," Porter said.

Porter said he held the conference with the Ohio Republican last Nov. 10.

Far-Reaching Effects
"The decision the party makes with regard to Texas is going to have a far-reaching effect in the November election," Porter said, "and the committee should hear the case presented fully so that it can make a decision in the best interest of the Republican party and not of any candidate."

Porter referred to the GOP national committee, which will hear the Texas dispute, and those of several other states. Tuesday, the committee decided Monday to allow Porter and his followers one and a half hours to debate their case.

The Eisenhower boosters claimed this was a victory, although they originally asked for five hours to present their arguments that "fraud" had been exercised at the state convention.

Daisy Coffee Cake

Here's a breakfast as inviting as summer sunshine! Chilled tomato juice is the eye-opener, followed by a light and spicy Daisy Coffee Cake and fried eggs with crisp bacon.

Pretend your family is "company" for Sunday brunch and surprise them with a many-petaled Daisy Coffee Cake you've created yourself. Make this yeast coffee cake fragrant with cinnamon, a day ahead of time and then warm it just before serving. It's made from a basic sweet dough which will help you brush up on your kneading technique. Though the coffee cake looks intricate, the shaping comes easy. After cinnamon sugar is layered in the dough, cut spokes from the circle of dough and twist each one, two or three times.

Daisy Coffee Cake makes a happy addition to the picnic hamper. Since it costs but a quarter to make, it's a thrifty way to satisfy out-of-door appetites. For many of your summer picnics, of course, you'll find it more convenient to drop by your baker for coffee cakes, sandwich bread and desserts. Score enriched coffee cakes and breads high in your menu planning, not only for appetite appeal but for good nutrition as well. They provide protein, three B-vitamins and food iron for good health.

DAISY COFFEE CAKE

- 1 package yeast, compressed or dry
1/2 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). When light, punch down. Let rest about 1/2 inch thick. Brush one half with butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar.

2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour (about 1 egg)
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup cinnamon sugar

Another Jackie Cooper May Be In The Offing

By Aline Mosby / HOLLYWOOD, July 1 (UP)—In the backyard of a Glendale home another Jackie Cooper played with his toys Tuesday, and he looks just like his father did as a movie tyke.

Jackie Cooper, Jr., may follow his pop's footsteps as a child actor, too, his mother said. "I don't want to tie him up with a contract over a period of years," Mrs. Cooper explained. "But he's had a lot of offers. I've been talking to a fellow who wants him for a television series."

"Producer Jerry Wald wants him for a picture, and so does MGM. If he could do one picture or two and then get out, that would be okay. But I'm afraid they might want to tie him down with a contract."

"I can't say I won't put him in pictures, because I might. Or maybe he'll do this TV series."

Little Jackie is six now, and the clock could be turned back to the days when his famous dad was "Skippy." This youngster would just need the baggy pants and over sized caps to be a carbon copy of his pop at the same age.

Mrs. Cooper said people often stop her on the street to ask if her child "is any relation to Jackie Cooper."

Mrs. Cooper, the former June Horne, is divorced from the grown-up Jackie. He's acting in New York now "and hopes I don't let little Jackie be a child star."

"My son sees his father on TV all the time," Mrs. Cooper said. He keeps saying, "I want to be an actor." He tell everybody at school that he's going to be one. "But I'd never let him sign a contract. Then it's seven years be-

UN Tells Reds To Save Face On POW Trade

By Leroy Hansen PANMUNJOM, July 1 (UP)—The United Nations told the Communists at the resumption of armistice talks Tuesday there is a "face-saving" way out of the prisoner exchange deadlock.

A Red propagandist at the same time suggested secret sessions to work out a solution.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief Allied negotiator, spent 20 minutes of Tuesday's 29-minute meeting—the first in four days—in a carefully prepared exposition pointing out both sides actually are close to agreement.

Harrison noted the armistice document has 63 paragraphs. Agreement has been reached on 62, except for minor details, he said.

The "face-saving" part of the UN final offer of April 24, he said, provided that prisoners who do not wish to return to communism be reclassified. He suggested that new lists to be handed over when an armistice is agreed upon exclude their names.

Thus, the Reds in effect would get back all "prisoners of war." North Korean Gen. Nam Il did not reply directly to Harrison's statement. He simply repeated that the Communists want the return of all 170,000 prisoners now held. Of the total, all but 70,000 have told the UN they would forcibly resist repatriation.

However, U. S. Steel Corp. has indicated its firm opposition to the tentative agreement, under which employees would be required to join the union but could withdraw within 30 days of the hiring date. A company official said that U. S. Steel would make no agreement taking away the "freedom of choice" by workers on whether they shall join the union.

said. The one paragraph awaiting solution is 51, covering prisoner exchange.

"It seems clear that if the prisoner of war issue is settled, an armistice will result without delay," he said.

However, he said, "we have in our custody prisoners of war whom we cannot return to you without repudiating our basic principles."

He was referring to the UN stands on voluntary repatriation—allowing prisoners to return to the Communist side only if they are willing to go.

Dry Ice Makes Insects Pose For Photographs

ITHACA, N. Y. UP—Scientists have found a new use for dry ice. It's being used to make insects stand still long enough to have their pictures taken.

After much experimentation, the Cornell University visual aids laboratory discovered that dry ice "slowed down" and insect sufficiently for close-up pictures without killing it in the process.

That's all to the good of farmers and fruit growers troubled by insect pests.

"When they see what they are fighting they can do a better job of insect control and do it more cheaply, too," said Prof. A. A. LaPlante.

Scientist Detecting Spread of Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO, UP—An aid to finding out why cancer spreads through body tissues has been devised by Dr. J. F. Rinehart, pathologist at the University of California hospital.

The announcement was made by the American Cancer Society, which supports research at the university and its hospital with an institutional research grant.

Dr. Rinehart has devised three new stains which will aid in discovering how cancer manages to penetrate tough connective tissue, known as basement membrane, one type of which separates skin from underlying tissues. This ability gives the disease its invasive quality.

Dr. Rinehart stains tissues and, under the microscope, attempts to determine whether the basement membrane is defective in the early stage of cancer development, permitting cells to break through.

He also will make chemical tests to see whether some compound in the tumor reduces the tough restraining membrane to a jelly-like or watery consistency as the cancer moves into adjacent tissues. Some scientists believe that tumors possess a "spreading factor" which has such an effect.

State Health Officer Warns Holiday Goers

AUSTIN, Texas—On July 4, 1952, Texans will celebrate the one hundred and seventy-sixth anniversary of our National Independence.

Thousands of persons in Texas will enjoy this National holiday, and it is up to all of us to do everything possible to see that this day brings pleasure and not tragedy, say a warning from the State Department of Health.

"While there certainly is no desire to minimize the joys of this nation-wide holiday," said Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, "it is only common sense to respect hazards to life and limb, and to govern one's actions accordingly."

"Not so many years ago the newspapers on each July 5, would publish columns detailing tragedies that were invariably associated with the handling of dangerous fireworks by careless persons. For a number of years now, however, the press has been placing particular emphasis on the need for a "Safe and Sane Fourth of July," with the result that accidents of this kind have decreased. "All injuries, however slight, may carry the lock-jaw or tetanus menace with them. Every wound should be cleaned thoroughly and all foreign matter removed. A physician should be consulted immediately, and tetanus antitoxin administered if necessary.

"Unfortunately, while the hazard of handling fireworks has consistently diminished, that of the automobile has just as consistently been increasing. Every one will agree that to be careless in the operation of a motor vehicle on this day when the roads carry peak loads, is to invite possible injury and even death.

"Your future happiness and health and that of your family may depend on your recognizing and carrying out the ordinary rules of precaution. Obey these rules and live to enjoy many other fourths of July."

New Controls Make Truman Very Unhappy

WASHINGTON, July 1 (UP)—A new economic controls law went into effect Tuesday, and President Truman wasn't a bit happy about it.

He drafted a detailed statement to tell the public exactly why he considers the new law inadequate to combat inflation.

The statement also offered Mr. Truman a chance to say whether he intends to comply with the "request" which Congress wrote into the bill that he use the Taft-Hartley Law in the steel strike.

The compromise legislation was rushed through the House and Senate Saturday, and Mr. Truman reluctantly signed it Monday just six and half hours before the old controls law expired at midnight.

Informed sources said Mr. Truman accepted the measure only because Democratic congressional leaders told him, in effect, that he was lucky to get it, and that there was no chance of pushing a stronger version through the House and Senate.

They predicted that his statement would be only the prelude to a series of political campaign blasts at the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats which riddled the bill in the House with weakening amendments, and came close to killing off nearly all price controls.

Under the new law, wage-price controls will remain in effect until next April 30, but federal rent ceilings will end Sept. 30 except in "critical defense housing areas" or cities whose local governing bodies request that they be continued until April 30.

Mr. Truman had asked for a full two-year extension of wage, price and rent controls, with "strengthening" amendments.

Long Holiday Cause Worry To Safety Men

AUSTIN, (SpI)—Most Texans are looking forward eagerly to the long three-day Fourth of July holiday this year but there is one group who eye the prospects with a tongue-in-cheek attitude. They are Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety and the personnel of his Highway Patrol Division.

Garrison pointed out today that while the Nation would be celebrating the birth of its independence Americans generally would find themselves "slaves" of the traffic menace. In Texas alone, he said, 42 persons will lose their lives in traffic accidents on July 4, 5, and 6.

The extra-long holiday period will flood the highways with additional automobiles filled with vacationists and pleasure seekers bound for beaches, rodeos, ball games, parks, night spots and every conceivable place of recreation. Hundreds will be hospitalized as the result of traffic injuries and the morgue will claim the toll of 42.

In appealing to his fellow Texans to break the fetters of traffic "slavery" by cautious motoring, Garrison said: "There is no justifiable reason why intelligent people should slaughter themselves in their quest for a good time. We take no pride at all in the fact that our statisticians can predict with considerable accuracy the disaster on our highways.

They know that lack of observance of the traffic laws is responsible for the vast majority of highway deaths and our best recourse as a preventative measure is to appeal directly to the drivers. We urgently plead that you will practice a safe and sane Fourth behind the wheel of your car. And, remember—in driving, as in a ball game, it's not how many times you start that counts but how many times you reach home safely."

Strike Threatens Plane Production

WASHINGTON, July 1 (UP)—Mediation talks to prevent a strike that would halt production of all Sabre jet fighter planes opened Monday and federal officials said they hope the sessions will continue until the dispute is settled.

Democrats Get Ready For Long Vote in Chicago

WASHINGTON, July 1 (UP)—Democratic presidential candidates agreed Tuesday that their national convention faces marathon balloting before it selects a nominee.

While every one of the active Democratic candidates is ready to predict eventual victory for himself, none is willing to claim that he will have the needed 616 convention delegates votes on an early ballot.

Back from a 16-state western tour, Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia told a news conference Monday that he expects to win the nomination but that he thinks the convention will go to seven or eight ballots.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma said that he has more "second choice" support than any other candidate and that he expects to win on the fifth or sixth ballot.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee also has predicted victory for himself on the fifth or sixth ballot. With 257 delegates pledged to or known to favor Kefauver, he leads the big Democratic field but still has less than half the number required to win.

Russell, whose delegate count is now 134 and one-half in the United Press tabulation, said he expects about 300 votes on the first ballot and that he will climb thereafter.

Predictions that many ballots will be required reflected a widespread view among Democrats that the convention may be deadlocked by the first free-for-all Democratic race in 20 years.

The Democrats have needed no more than one ballot to nominate their presidential candidate since 1932, the last convention year in which the two-thirds rule was in force.

Scattered Rains Bring Relief To Some Parts State

Scattered rains and thunder-showers provided some relief from the heat for Texans and Texas crops Thursday, but temperatures again sizzled into the 90s in many areas.

In the latest 24-hour reporting period, Beaumont received 1.24 inches of rain. Waco had .86 inch, San Antonio .11, El Paso .02, Galveston .04 and Austin .01.
