

What New GI Rights Mean to Korean Vets

HERE'S HOW TO GO ABOUT GETTING BENEFITS PROVIDED IN BILL

By Douglas Larson
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Calling all Korean veterans—here's how to go about getting the benefits provided in your new GI Bill of Rights.

First, you are considered a Korean vet if you were on active duty after June 27, 1950, if you were discharged under conditions other than dishonorable and if you served at least 90 days—unless you got out sooner for a service-connected disability.

If you qualify, you have coming to you from Uncle Sam an education and training program, a guaranteed loan, unemployment compensation, mustering-out pay, and help in finding a job.

The education and training offer is worth most in dollars and cents. First step is to decide your educational or vocational goal. It can be getting a specific diploma or degree, graduation from a professional school or learning such trades as steamfitter or carpenter.

Next you must make sure that you will be accepted by the high school, college, professional school or vocational school which you plan to attend. You should also make sure that the school you select has been properly accredited by the State authorities. Most public institutions and established schools will be automatically approved for several months.

Some schools might not be approved at all. Approval for World War II veteran training does not constitute automatic approval for Korean vet training. Standards are more rigid under the new bill and all schools have to reapply.

When your goal is decided and your school is selected you must fill out an application blank which you can get at any VA office after the middle of August or from the schools, veterans organizations or Red Cross offices. Form is self-explanatory. Copy of your service record or photostat must be sent along with it. For most Army vets the information is on the back of your discharge papers. For most Navy vets it's a special paper which has been given to you.

When your course is approved and your eligibility is established VA sends you a Certificate For Education and you are ready to go.

Getting a loan guaranteed is probably the easiest process to start, although it might be difficult to get. You can get one to buy or improve a home, farm or business. In most cases if a lender can't be found, VA will provide a loan direct.

Home loan maximum is up to 60 percent of a loan with the guaranteed portion not exceeding $7500. Other real estate loans may be guaranteed up to 50 percent with a $4000 maximum.

Non real estate loans may be guaranteed for up to 50 percent with a $2000 ceiling.

All you do is decide what kind of loan you want and go to the lender. He does the rest, including the paperwork.

Your unemployment compensation—$670 maximum—and job-finding assistance are found at the same place. Go to the nearest state employment office. Unemployment pay doesn't start until after Oct. 15, but you are urged to go there immediately.

This office will explain your legal rights to your old job or start helping you to get a new job immediately.

Take with you to this state employment office your discharge papers, social security card if you have one, your mustering-out pay records and your work record for 18 months prior to entering the service.

Mustering-out pay of $100 to $300, depending on length of service, is due you if your rank was below major in the Army and lieutenant commander in the Navy.

BARBS

Safety Moves Save Thousands

CHICAGO—Death and taxes may be inevitable—but the experts are beating the former.

Since 1912, the year of the formal organization of the safety movement, about 500,000 persons have been saved from accidental deaths.

From 1900 until 1912 an average of nearly 75,000 persons were killed in accidents each year—a rate of 85 deaths per 100,000 population. The toll would have reached 84,000 persons in 1914 if this rate had continued, but it was reduced to 79 and the death toll to 77,000—a saving of about 7,000 lives. Similar comparisons based on rates for succeeding years show that about half a million lives were saved by 1951.

Despite these accomplishments, "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, just off the press, shows that one home in every five is touched by a serious accident each year.

AROUND—

is, will be filled. Our flowers and hedges, our grass and trees, will flourish a new, and we will forget the pains of yesterday. Keep what water we have in the lake for fires etc., and above all quit wasting water. Our hedge is dying, our grass, gardens and flowers have long since been dead, but we are still living. Our drouth has been disastrous, even heartbreaking. Our arduous spirits are weakening, and we feel just about like we imagine Jonah felt the day the sailors tied him to the fish. But Jonah lived, and so will we.

Nothing to laugh about, and nothing "dandy" to fear. If we are forced to plant a hard vine to cover our noble brows, we can find contentment by imagining this physical effort was good for us—that we needed the exercise anyhow.

We have a new lake coming up, and once that thing is filled with good old water—cool water, Eastland will have come unto her own the first time since Columbus discovered America. Eastland and all West Texas has been undergoing water shortages every since before we took this country away from the Indians.

It just seems bad now because we are hot and thirsty. Our forefathers drank water out of cow tracks and it didn't kill them, for they lived to raise us. Maybe we are a bunch of "softies"—just can't take it. Want our food "pre-digested" and our water piped to our bedsides. Say, brother, grab that bucket and head for the spring. You'll forget you were thirsty if the spring is far enough from the house.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest appreciation for every kindness shown us, for the words of sympathy and the beautiful floral offering at the loss of our husband and father. God bless each of you.

Disease Control Based On Known And Proved Facts

The control of any disease must be based upon facts and not theory, asserts Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The reason for this statement is based on the numerous theories sent the State Health Department for the cure or prevention of polio, diarrhea and dysentery.

The spread of polio, for instance, has been blamed on weeds, air, bananas, milk, atomic radiation and many other items. All of these are theories and have no basis fact. Facts in disease are arrived at in the laboratory, the sick room and the environment of the patient. Facts are necessary and must be the guidepost for the control of disease.

Dr. Cox is authorized by law to accept gifts and contributions for public health. The first gift to aid in research on the part played by flies and cockroaches in the spread of polio is two monkeys from Bellaire. Others will be needed to complete the study. Any contribution will be appreciated.

Education work is dysentery and diarrhea—which kills far more children than polio—is being hampered by lack of personnel to do the work. Cox said Texas has six times more dysentery and diarrhea than the national average. There were 1099 infants under one year of age who died of this cause in 1951.

"When we get rid of these two fifth borne diseases, we will have done the best thing in the world to get rid of polio," he asserted. "But it takes resources to do it.

Fund and equipment shortages have been a stumbling block to the whole research program in Texas, Dr. Cox said. Despite the fact that the State Bureau of Laboratories has consistently won top honors in national competition for accuracy in disease identification.

You Can Whisper - and Be Heard!

We should like to have you come in for a ride in a Golden Anniversary Cadillac. And when you do, we hope you will just sit back and relax... and listen!

And what will you hear?

Well, you'll hear the soft sound of the wind as it slips past the streamlined body... and, possibly, the quiet ticking of the electric clock.

But aside from these—you'll hear almost nothing. In fact, you'll find you can actually whisper—and be heard by your fellow-passengers!

We want you to experience this because nothing speaks more eloquently or more convincingly of motor car quality than—silence!

It tells you, first of all, that here is automotive engineering at its superlative best. For such silence of operation can only come when every phase of the car's performance is in perfect harmony.

It speaks of precision—for only the greatest accuracy in design and construction can result in such remarkable freedom from vibration.

It is a testimonial to fine craftsmanship—to quality materials—and to scientific styling.

Prison Without Walls Is Popular

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—Prison riots can be averted if the government will establish more jails like the Federal Correctional Institute at Seagoville, Tex., says the issue of Look Magazine out Tuesday, August 12.
 Seagoville, a prison without walls and without locked cells, has had no riots and enjoys remarkably small escape rate. The account, says Look, is on trust and maximum freedom within a penal setting.
 This prison, which is very like a college campus, is the direct opposite of strongbox jails like Alcatraz, which operates on the basis of fear. Alcatraz, says Look, "is the most colossal failure in American institutional history."
 Seagoville is a "haven of hope," says Look. The inmates walk to meals; they do not march. They do not wear uniforms. They are trusted men and they act like trusted men. It is simple to escape, but once an inmate leaves he may never return. This says the article is deterrent enough.
 Warden Cozart of Seagoville told Look: "We don't tolerate brutality—We treat the men as human beings—We are firm but we try to be fair and the men know it—We keep in mind that the goal is to get them to adjust to the normal community."

 Of the 3500 men admitted to Seagoville since 1945, only 32 have tried to escape. This is a remarkable record. Also, Seagoville has received excellent cooperation from the surrounding community. "Businessmen come from nearby Dallas to give talks to inmates on general economic conditions."
 Seagoville, says Look, "is an inspiring example. It points the way to a better future for American penology—The quicker we adopt this policy (of open prisons) the quicker will we reduce bloody and costly prison riots; the quicker will we reduce crime by sending back to society reformed criminals ready and able to take their places as useful, self-respecting and respected citizens."

Hollywood Film Shop
 By Aline Mosby
HOLLYWOOD Aug. 11 (UP)
 —Its the Texas oil millionaires—not the movie stars—who are the big spenders in Movietown now.

The film folk stick home by their swimming pools and save their pennies to pay their whopping income taxes to Uncle Sam. But a new breed of playboy has taken their places. The "oil millionaires" don't have such high taxes. So they're pouring into town to keep the cash registers busy in the glittering nightclubs and expensive shops of the plaster city. Ciro's manager Herman Hoyer says most of his business at his plush nightspot comes from well-heeled businessmen these days, and most of them with a Texas drawl. You see a new crowd in the nightclubs now, with just a sprinkling of movie stars.
More Texas Millionaires
 Even the custom tailors of Beverly Hills say they turn out their $400 sport jackets for Texas oilmen. Actors say they can't afford them any more.
 One observer of this trend is Jack Wrather, from the old-style school of Texas millionaires. He arrived here years ago when the only other Texas magnates around were Howard Hughes and Glenn McCarthy. Now he's just one of many.
 "There are more Texas millionaires around now," he admits. The oil business is the only one with a tax advantage these days, so everybody's getting into it.
 "When I first arrived in Hollywood as a youngster I played around like they're doing. I got over that. I have diversified interests now."
Built Up Business
 Wrather, in fact, is one of the few Texas oilmen who comes to Hollywood to work. He owns a television station, he produces movies and he's built the swank O'Horizon resort hotel in Palm Springs and the Twin Lakes lodge in Las Vegas.
 "Some guys are out here to play around," says Wrather. "But I don't have much time for the night life. I have to keep in touch with my oil interests by phone. My phone bill last month was $1,600.
 "I'm offered dozens of deals every day—mostly radio and television projects. I have my secretary sift them out. Occasionally we find one in a hundred that's worth looking into."

Crash-Resistant Tanks in Offing For Air Liners
 By CHARLES CODDRY
WASHINGTON—Civil aviation officials disclosed that marked progress has been made toward developing crash-resistant fuel tanks to reduce fire hazards in airline accidents.
 They also cited imposing evidence that rearward facing seats, bracing the whole body against impact, would be safer for passengers in crashes than conventional forward-facing seats.
 These were the highlights of a government industry labor conference here studying the need for revisions in federal air safety regulations.
 The conference also heard new arguments on the AFL Airline Pilots Association's long-standing demand for more adequate safety precautions for passengers involved in emergency water landings.
 Pan American World Airways Capt. John C. Burn, who has survived two "ditchings," put in a plea for pre-flight briefing of passengers as a means of averting panic in emergency landings. Briefing on emergency procedures just after take-off is commonplace on international flights, and airline officials resisted as impractical Burn's idea of doing this before boarding a plane.
 Burn is the pilot who saved and later married singer Jane Fanning in a "ditching" near Lisbon in 1943. Last Spring he "ditched" a Pan American plane off San Juan, Puerto Rico, with 52 fatalities.

 Rearward-facing seats, which the Military Air Transport Service and the Navy are installing on a large scale, have been consistently opposed by commercial airlines.
 W. E. Koneczny, chief of the CAB's airworthiness division, told a reporter the subject was so "controversial" that this year's revision of the safety rules would probably not include any regulations requiring airlines to seat their passengers.
