Dogies Drop 1st Game To Gorman

Eastland Junior High Dogies have been tripped by the Gorman Cubs, and their winning streak has been broken. The Cubs won Thursday night's game by a score of 20-14.

The Cubs may feel a little lousy for they have also defeated Leon. However, the Dogies have little to fear, for the season is young and this is their first defeat.

The least you can say for them is that they are good players, and would be classed "good" anywhere. They know the game and how to play it, have had good training, and are due to be watched. Coach Brock is to be commended for his good work.

Italians Lift Religious Ban

ROME, Oct. 3 (UP)—The Italian government Friday lifted its ban on religious activities of the U. S. Church of Christ after intervention by the U. S. embassy here.

Cline R. Paden of Brownfield, Tex., head of the church's Rome mission which police closed almost a month ago, was told of the government's action at a conference with U. S. Minister Elbridge Durbrow at the embassy.

"We will be allowed to worship in the future unmolested, pending the Italian government's action on our application for full recognition," Paden said. "Our services will be held as usual on Sunday."

The Church of Christ has missions in 21 Italian cities besides Rome.

Loyal fan-followers of Eastland's proud Red & Black were all hepped-up today.

The Mavericks football victory Friday was ended, and their happy backers were recounting the thrilling 7-0 triumph which the EHScers racked up over the Rising Star Wildcats at Rising Star Friday night.

Prior to the Friday night scrap the Eastlanders had been winless, having suffered three straight defeats.

Score Near Halftime

But to climax a nip-and-tuck, tightly played battle under the stars at Rising Star, James Jessop, Eastland's terrific back, sped 33 yards to score midway in the second period. Stan Harris kicked the point.

The Wildcats looked good in the first stanza, but from then on, the superior Maverick defense kept the Star backs well throttled, and their air attempts paid off but once out of nine heaves.

Many Fumbles

The TD sprint wasn't Jessop's only dazzling run of the night. He also got loose on two other pay-dirt jaunts, one for 68 yards and another for 38.

Five fumbles were recorded during the night, and the prowess of Eastland Coach Ed Hooker drew a even penalties for a total of 70 yards.

Hope To Start Work On Dam Around Dec. 1

A prediction that actual construction of the new $1,500,000 dam and water supply for the cities of Ranger and Eastland "will probably get under way around Dec. 1" was made in Eastland Thursday by F. W. Freese of Freese and Nichols, engineers for the project.

The project chief was in Eastland to meet with members of the Eastland County Water Supply District board, headed by President C. B. Pruet, of Ranger.

Freese, who participated in a long discussion relative to plans for the facilities to be constructed on the Leon River, south of Ranger and southeast of Eastland, said that if current plans mature, the dam would be completed early next summer.

Jack Frost, legal counsel for the board, said that acquisition of approximately 2,060 acres of land for the lake is due to begin at once.

Present at the Thursday session were Pruet, Felton Brasher, Wilson Gaest and P. M. Kuykendall of Ranger and James C. Whittington, L. E. McGraw and Grady Pipkin of Eastland; Frost and Freese.

Another Body Is Discovered In Murder Capitol

HOUSTON, Oct. 3 (UP)—The body of a middle-aged man was found floating in the ship channel Friday and bruises and blood about his face, prompted police officer John B. Evans to say "it looked as if the unidentified man had been 'beaten up' before he drowned."

It was the second body found in the city in 12 hours.

When Evans arrived the man's body was tied by a rope to City Dock No. 1 where a tugboat crew had placed it after finding the man floating in the channel.

Justice of the Peace Dave Thompson withheld a verdict pending an investigation. He said the man had been dead about 72 hours.

Thursday night, Jesse Ellis Tolbert, 42, was found dead in a vacant lot but his body bore no sign of a struggle. Justice Thompson ordered an autopsy to determine cause of death.

A study made recently by the Texas Tuberculosis Association indicates 49,000 Texans need some medical supervision for tuberculosis infection.

Expose Sale of Babies

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 4 (UP)—A San Antonio official charged Saturday that a "black market in babies" was operating on a large scale here and might be working on a state-wide basis throughout Texas.

A joint conference of city, county and state welfare authorities was called for next Thursday by Calvin Dodds, executive secretary of the San Antonio Children's Service Bureau.

Dodds said the air of the conference would be to find ways to fight an adoption racket throughout the state. He blamed weak adoption laws for the black market.

Two San Antonio newspapers have disclosed they arranged to "buy" a baby for $435, including an $85 fee for a "special attorney." Reporters had posed as man and wife.

The reporters said in the San Antonio News that they had talked with a woman "doctor" who offered to sell them the infant for $435. The "special attorney" would "fix it up," the woman told them. The reporters said another woman, a midwife, told them she "knew a woman about to have a child which would be wonderful for us."

They quoted the Rev. Robert L. Armor, superintendent of the Texas Mission Training Home as saying, "Black market babies is one of the biggest businesses in San Antonio."

Dodds said an official of the Texas Department of public Welfare had told him, "I knew this had been going on in several communities."

Memphis Wins Dixie Series With 8-5 Win

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 4 (UP)—The Memphis Chicks were baseball champions of the South Saturday following Friday night's 8 to 5 victory over Shreveport that gave the Chicks the Dixie Series fourth games to two.

The finale here lacked the tension of Thursday's game in which the Sports blew a glorious opportunity to go ahead in the series by kicking away a ninth inning lead through an error and a misplayed pop fly.

Given that boost, the Chicks made quick work of the Sports Friday night. Ed McGee and Ed White pounded home runs, both with one out on base, and with McGee's coming in the first inning against Sport Starter Jim Willis to shove the Chicks off to a four run lead. White's blast came in the third.

The Sports managed only five hits off the combined slants of winner Frank Miscan and Dixie Howell, who relieved Miscan in the eighth inning.

Grant Dunlap, Shreveport first baseman, accounted for two of the Sports' runs with his second home run in two nights in the sixth inning. Otherwise the Sports had little chance for rejoicing while Memphis took a batting field night off four Sport pitchers.

Next Week Is Fire Prevention Week And Will Be Observed Here; School Children To Take Very Active Part

Next week is Fire Prevention Week, and it will be observed in Eastland in the usual manner.

Eastland has a wonderful fire record, and as a result we have a low key rate for fire insurance. The way to continue enjoying this is to keep all citizens on the alert, and by so doing let them learn more about fire prevention.

The United States Chamber of Commerce has popularized "fire prevention" and local chambers all over America, are keeping it before our people. If we prevent the burning of one house, our efforts will not be overlooked.

Manager Tanner of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce was around today, distributing literature, and announcing contests and prizes for next week. He has delivered 800 fire safety pamphlets to the schools and has other literature to go a little later.

Prizes are to be awarded at the school for posters depicting the ravages of fire. Last year some beautiful posters were on display. Themes will also be judged, and pupils interested may get any needed information for teachers. All work will be on display in the library at the High School.

There are two reasons for this. First the children are taught to be fire-minded, and are also encouraged to do better school work.

Other announcements will follow from time to time.

Many Singers To Attend Meeting Sunday At 2

A number of well known and highly talented gospel singers will highlight the First Sunday Song Convention meet at the First Christian Church in Ranger Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Included from a host of visitors from neighboring communities and counties in this area will be Clyde Fisher, the Gospelairs Quartet, the Girl's Quartette, the Rev. W. E. Hallenbeck and his singing family of Eastland, the Homer Hafford Quartet of DeLeon, the Smith Sisters of Gorman, and several other noted gospel vocalists.

Kenneth Maynard and E. T. Robertson, Rangerites who head the song group, urge local residents to turn out and help make the Sunday afternoon session an impressive event.

GETTING HOTTER—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, left, GOP presidential candidate beams as he displays some of the choice ears of corn presented him by admirers when he made a platform appearance at Bloomington, Illinois. Invading the home territory of his Democratic opponent, the General told a cheering crowd at Peoria that the economy of the United States has been propped up by "war and the threat of war." In Tacoma, Wash., President Truman, right, told an audience of 5,000 persons that Gen. Eisenhower has led too sheltered a life in the Army to know anything about the "bread-and-butter problems of the average American."

POTPOURRI AND WORSE

(By Major Hoople McCorkle)

We are told that an island is a small body of land entirely surrounded by water, but what we want to know is, "what is a Baptist entirely surrounded by Methodists?" We have had a number of answers, and pass them on to you.

One man said that a Baptist is surrounded by Methodists "is in good company." Another says it is a man who "may fall from Grace" if he ever was in grace. A third says "he's a mutt", and the fourth says a "fool."

One good sister says "a fortunate man" and we have about decided that she was correct for once at least. Baptists tell us we are a "backslider" while members of the Christian Church decided to table the question. If you have a better name, let us have it, but until we change we are going to agree with the Sister who said we were fortunate.

It all came up like this. We are a kind of luke warm Baptist of many years standing, but not that kind of Baptist who thinks all people who are not Baptists are going to hell. We have found what we term "Christians", in every church. In fact this type church member is in the majority, and we think we'll meet 'em when we get to heaven. These worldly organizations, called churches, all have good points, but they have never saved anybody that we know of. They may persuade you and make it easier to lead a Christian life, but so far as we are concerned, God is the only One worth of saving you. And He won't do it unless you are willing.

Then there are people who are going to get to Heaven in spite of church affiliations rather than because of them. This is a serious subject and only God has the answer.

Tuesday evening we were asked to be present at the Methodist church when "Family Hour" was to be observed. The occasion turned out for the good, for we had food, fun and fellowship. We managed to get in the center of the building, and before we knew it, this lone Baptist was entirely surrounded by Methodists. We eyed all windows and doors, and after satisfying myself that there was no possible avenue of escape, sat back down and hoped for the best.

Did they bit us? No! In five minutes we were perfectly at ease and half a dozen good Methodists were doing all in their power to see that our every need was cared for. For thirty minutes they fed us, and it was good. Was made by Walker in San Antonio, and furnished to the church, free of charge. Also the Lamp Lighters Circle added a few pies and cakes, that were appreciated, and so far as we know everybody got all they wanted and possibly more than they needed. We did, and we enjoyed it just like a hound dog enjoys a good bone. However, we doubt if it did our "dieting" any good. Fact we ate all we wanted, rubbed out the past and started all over on the diet.

The Fellowship was good, and we met some people we had not known before. Of course we saw many fellows up there we have met every day in the week for many months. However, we didn't know they were all Methodists—we actually thought some of them were sinners and Democrats. But to tell the truth they are really alright. And when it comes to making a stranger feel at home, they are masters of the art. Many of them acted just like Christians, and we imagine they are, even though they have never been inside a Baptist church.

Most all this time we had been making notes for a speech we had hoped to deliver back at our own church. Not one criticism could have been offered, and just as we were ready to call it a "perfect day" the preacher got up and announced they would take up a collection. We had only one coin and it was fifty cents. We debated the matter and finally decided to drop it in the bowl, and skip our evening meal. As a matter we were so full of chili we really didn't crave anything but a soft bed and a nap. This is just another thing they have copied from the Baptist—taking collections.

Why a Baptist congregation would not more omit the "offering" than they would the preacher. They take them every time as many as a dozen of the meet, and seem to be happy about it. Just an old custom and they will never forget it. However, we didn't know the Methodists had adopted the practice.

Then came the speaker for the occasion, Rev. Robt. Stanley of Cisco. Rev. Stanley is a fine young man, and we hear that he is doing a wonderful work over there. If even goes out to Cisco Junior College and teaches the Bible, and that's pretty good, we think.

We were enjoying his more or less humorous message, when right out of the clear sky he put in a "plug" for "tithes and offering." As we checked our financial condition, and remembered where our last half dollar went, we issued a silent prayer. Could it be possible that those Methodists were also to observe a "closing offering" as well as a closing prayer? The very thought of such a thing made cold sweat pop out on our forehead. (Or maybe it was caused by the hot chili). At any rate they didn't take the collection, which made us feel very kindly toward them.

And we certainly hope they are more careful about picking up any more Baptist ideas of that nature, for we plan to be present for the chili dinner next year—if they invite us.

Funds from the sale of Christmas Seals financed approximately 250,000 chest X-rays for Texans last year.

28-YEAR-OLD WIDOW, MOTHER OF SEVEN, ENROLLS AT TCU

With a green cap set on her head and her heart set in determination, Mrs. Stella Jennings, 28-year-old widow and mother of seven children, has enrolled in Fort Worth with Texas Christian University freshmen, taking her first step toward a future that promises more than "just a job."

Mrs. Jennings has set a goal and she intends to reach it: "I want to become a Certified Public Accountant, so I can have my own business at home and be with my children at the same time," she declared.

Children Sell Defense Bonds

During the three weeks since school opened, a total of 130 Texas schools, with a combined enrollment of 40,636 students, agreed to install weekly Defense Stamp Days. Mrs. Evelyn Miller Crowell, Education Director of Texas of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division, announced October 1. These installations are in 41 Texas counties. Ninety-four of the schools, with enrollment of 29,335 students, are resuming weekly Defense Stamp Days held during 1951-52, and 36 schools, with enrollment of 11,301 students, represent new installations.

All necessary free materials and a simple manual explaining how to operate a Defense Stamp Program may be had by writing to the U. S. Savings Bonds Division, Room 430, Post Office Building, Dallas.

Her children—Sigrid Ann 9; Harriet, 8; James, Jr., 7; Belinda, 4; Oveida, 3; and twins Sharon Sue and Sheila Lynn, 3 months of age—were delighted with the idea of their mother going back to school.

"They all remind me not to forget my freshman cap," she laughed, "and the little one (Oveida) warned me, 'Don't let them make you do anything funny, mama.'"

The three older children attend Mary Louise Phillips Elementary School and are looking forward to their mother studying along with them. "When are you going to help me with MY homework?" was one of the first questions they popped," she said.

The Jennings moved to Fort Worth a year and a half ago and the adults worked at Janvary.

Mrs. Jennings' husband, James Walter Jennings, died last January from a heart attack. The identical twins were not born until June. In March Mrs. Jennings was in Houston discussing financial arrangements with her father and a Certified Public Accountant when she decided that she wanted to become a CPA.

"I wanted some type of future," she explained, "besides just RING AND VALVE JOB. $6 'MOTALOY' Does it while U-Drive. Stops oil burning, raises compression, saves fuel.

a job. That's what brought me to TCU." The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Schmidt of Houston, Mrs. Jennings attended Jeff Davis and Tam Houston high schools in Houston. "I studied electricity at Taylor Vocational School, but I was married before I had time to become an electrician," she commented. She was graduated from Sam Houston high school and was married when she was 18.

At TCU she has been given a $200 special high school scholarship—$100 to be awarded each semester.

Husband's Parents Help "Baby-sitting arrangements will be taken care of by my husband's father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. Whit Jennings," she explained. They live in a small house on the same lot as Mrs. Jennings' home, 3013 Joyce Drive.

"My husband's parents are both deaf mutes," Mrs. Jennings said. "All the children, except the twins of course, have learned to spoken sign language. The children can often communicate with them better than myself." The blond, gray-eyed mother realizes that college will mean hours of hard study. Enrolled for 11 hours of college classes, Mrs. Jennings also plans to work at a part-time campus job as well as one as waitress at a local hotel (Western Hills) on busy nights. "I want to join the Business and Professional Women's Club at TCU too," she added.

Her freshman courses include algebra, English, introduction to business and secretarial science.

Charles Farrell, Former Movie Star, Begins New Career In TV

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Hollywood boasts the world's only major who can claim today to be a smash success as a television comedian.

The mayor is Charles Farrell, who reigns over Palm Springs, a swank watering place where neon signs hide the cactus. Movie fans remember him, too, as the handsome matinee idol of the '30s and Janet Gaynor's co-star in "Seventh Heaven." Farrell has stayed far away from movies since 1936.

But TV lured him out of retirement last June to play Gale Storm's father on an NBC television movie series, "My Little Margie." The show holds down third place in the popularity ratings, and Farrell is a new star all over again.

"I'd turned down theatre movies before," Farrell explained at Hal Roach studio where the series is being filmed.

"I still wouldn't go back to the big studios. I just even go down the street to MGM for lunch," he chuckled.

"Put TV movies are informal and fun." In recent years Farrell has been busy operating his Racquet Club, a swank private resort for movie stars in Palm Springs. He was three days from leaving on a summer tour of Europe when a friend, producer Hal Roach, Jr., asked him to co-star in the series. "We were shooting a couple of days and on television in five weeks and was I nervous?" sighed Farrell.

"I decided to try the show because it couldn't do me any harm. A bad program could hurt some actors, but I was out of the business, so what could I lose?"

The silver-haired and still handsome actor doesn't neglect his job as club proprietor and mayor when he journeys to Hollywood for the filming of the program, either.

"We had one script about Florida," he reflected. "I don't know how I let that get by. We should have shot one sequence in Palm Springs."

"We don't have TV in Palm Springs yet, so I'm going to show three of our movies in the theater there."

REDS AND FREE WORLD VIE OR JAPAN'S TRADE

By Victor Kendrick
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO (UP) — Japanese businessmen are in the enviable position of being able to sit back and enjoy the free world bidding against each other for the privilege of doing business with Japan.

Nationalist China, with an encouraging nod from the United States, is intensifying its efforts to divert Japanese trade away from the Communists occupying the mainland. It is part of a dual-purpose effort to strengthen its own economy at the expense of the Reds.

Former Nationalist Prime Minister Chang Chun, now visiting Japan as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's personal representative is spearheading the fight by daily contacts with Japanese businessmen in all parts of the country.

His biggest asset is the presence of some 12,000,000 Chinese scattered throughout southeast Asia, most of whom are loyal to the Reds. Chang believes he can offer Japan the cooperation of these Chinese in exchange for giving up trade with Red China. The Japanese are still undecided.

All parties are aware that Japan must trade in order to survive. They also recall that mainland China before World War II was a big factor in Japan's economy, taking roughly a third of Japan's total exports while supplying such vital raw materials as coal and iron ore.

Japanese merchants have been exerting increasing pressure on the United States and its allies to be allowed to trade with Red China, and shortly will be admitted into the Paris organization set up by the five principal Western powers to coordinate their trade policies toward nations behind the Iron Curtain.

With that opening wedge the Japanese fought for a less rigid interpretation of the type of goods on the allies' embargo list, and won further concessions: permission to ship textile machinery, woolen goods, paper and dye-stuffs to Communist China.

Now Japan is preparing to seek more concessions.

The Chinese Communists shopping for strategic materials and aware that trade is a time-honored method of political infiltration, seem just as eager as the Japanese for mutual trade. They have offered a $30,000,000 trade agreement and are reported willing to settle accounts in yen through a Japanese bank in addition to shipping first and collecting payment later.

The Chinese Nationalists, eyeing these developments with growing concern, began urging Japanese firms to cease, and even started compiling a black list of firms which they will boycott for trading with the Reds.

But their biggest ace in the hole is the goodwill of Chinese merchants in Southeast Asia,

Chili Popular Dish In Texas; How To Make It

Chili is a favorite dish for many families in this country. A nourishing, tasty food that can serve as a main dish for an important meal, or an item of delicacy for special treats, chili has as many different recipes as there are people who cook.

Louise Mason, foods and nutrition specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M College, says people's taste for chili differ as much their methods of cooking. "Taste and tell," is her suggestion for becoming a good chili maker. Develop your own methods for seasoning.

The specialist suggests for nutritive value in chili, the use of one-third or one-fourth as much pork as beef. If you prepare your meat at home, chop or grind it coarsely. "You don't want your chili made of finely ground hamburger, so use meat in chewy-size pieces," she advises.

For a highly seasoned chili use freshly ground pepper pulp and comino seed for characteristic flavor. Onions and garlic are essential but beans are optional. Grate a little cheese on top of each serving, and be sure no grease is floating around.

The specialist suggests for a supper with chili as the main dish, try a tossed green salad, sour pickles, tortillas or crackers, and coffee. If you have dessert, make it fresh fruit or pecan pralines.

If you are interested in gaining a supply of chili, ask your county home demonstration agent for directions.

Congratulations to your Eastland Telegram Newspaperboy!

says ex-newspaperboy DANNY THOMAS
Star of radio, television, and motion pictures.

Today is National Newspaperboy Day!

The day when we turn to honor one of the greatest young Americans in the country. Your newspaperboy and mine.

His job is an important public service to his community and his country. And one that has been the starting point for many a great man. But here's something I'll bet you didn't know about your newspaperboy. Something that proves what a patriotic citizen he really is.

In the past 11 years, before, during, and since World War II, your newspaperboy and a quarter of a million carrier boys just like him all over America, have become one of America's most effective volunteer "sales forces" for U. S. Defense Bonds. Under the sponsorship of the International Circulation Managers Association, these young men have distributed more than 60 million pieces of information about bonds and their value to you. And your newspaperboy and mine are actually responsible for the sale of several million dollars worth of bonds.

This week your newspaperboy will be calling on you with some important news about how improved U. S. Defense Bonds now pay 3% interest. Here's what he'll tell you:

Great News! New money-earning features for U. S. Defense Bonds!

FIRST—Thanks to new Treasury regulations, every Series E Bond you buy begins earning interest after only 6 months. It earns 3% interest compounded semiannually when held to maturity. It reaches full maturity value earlier (9 years 8 months) and the interest it pays is now bigger at the start.

SECOND—Every Series E Bond you own can now go on earning interest for 10 more years after it reaches the original maturity date—without your lifting a finger!

THIRD—During the 10-year extension period, every unexpired bond earns at the new, higher interest rate (average 3% compounded semiannually). Your original $18.75 can now pay you back $33.67, $37.50 pays back $67.34. And so on.

FOURTH—If you want to be paid the interest your bonds are earning every six months, or if you want to invest more than the present $20,000 limit for E Bonds, ask at your bank about the new Series H, J, and K Defense Bonds.

U. S. Defense Bonds are one of the easiest, most convenient forms of saving ever invented. For through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, you can buy bonds on a time payment plan. Just specify the payments, as large or as small as you like, and they will be automatically set aside from your salary. This way you save the money before you spend it. And millions of people have found this is one sure way to save.

Today this commemorative stamp is being issued by the U. S. Post Office, in honor of the newspaperboys of America. And the grand job they have done for the U. S. Defense Bonds Program.

Peace is for the strong. For peace and prosperity, save with U. S. Defense Bonds!

The U. S. Government does not pay for this advertising. The Treasury Department thanks, for their patriotic donation, The Advertising Council and

PLUG 'N TRIGGER

This is the time of year when sportsmen cast their eyes toward starlit skies on crisp nights and whisper a hopeful, "It won't be long now."

The hunting season soon will be here and in many states already has opened on several species of small feathered and furred game.

The difference between an enjoyable and successful hunting season and a total waterhaul may lie in the manner in which you have planned your fall hunting activities.

Just planning your hunting season involves a world of pleasurable anticipation and reminiscing that only the hunter and the "gun nut" can understand.

Last, but not least by any means is the fact that planning fall hunting activity usually takes in safety factors that otherwise may be overlooked.

The velocity or killing power of present day hunting weapons is terrifying. Our modern guns are designed to kill, not cripple, and they do kill with a stunning impact that in grandpa's days would have been considered impossible to achieve in anything other than a cannon.

This correspondent has emphasized again and again that there is no excuse for hunting accidents. Yet they happen every year, despite educational campaigns on safety afield.

The final analysis reveals that it is truly the responsibility of each individual hunter to practice safe gun handling rules at all times. This—and this alone—can eliminate hunting accidents.

That's a broad statement, I know, but if every sportsman and sports woman would just observe the simple fundamentals of gun handling, safety accidents would disappear from the records. The problem is as simple as that.

The biggest danger on your hunting trips lies in your own carelessness. Remember to treat EVERY gun with the respect due LOADED guns.

The pointing of an unloaded gun in fun violates every cardinal rule of good sportsmanship. And it automatically and permanently brands you as a thoughtless novice, unfit for companionship with good sportsmen, and a careless and dangerous shooter with whom it's unsafe to go afield. Do it even unconsciously and you run the same risk.

BRITAIN'S FIRST—Smoke clouds rise above Monte Bello Island October 2 after Great Britain exploded its first atomic weapon. Photo was flown from the scene to Perth, Australia, telephoned to Melbourne, radioed to London and then re-radioed to New York.

Watch that gun barrel. Never indulge in horseplay or pranks that involve your gun or that of your companions.

Never carry a loaded gun in a boat or car. Before firing, first make sure that the barrel of your gun is free from foreign obstruction. And always check the barrel in the event you stumble or fall.

Always keep your safety on and check it frequently. Never shoot at a sound or movement in the brush—always be certain of your target.

If you can't see it clearly and without doubt, don't point that gun until you can.

Encourage your hunting friends to practice safety on every hunting trip. I have yet to hear of a nimrod complaining or griping about his companion's being a fanatic on gun safety. On the contrary, it is an admirable trait.

In the above admonitions, you have safe gun handling wrapped up in an easy-to-carry package. There are other precautions, of course, but those listed are so very, very important to our OWN safety and those hunting with you!

United Press Outdoors Expert. The fall hunting season soon will be in full swing, and preparation in itself for the event is a thrill eagerly awaited by most nimrods.

The smell of oily rags, powder solvent and the tinkling of cartridges recall incidents of the past season dear to the hunter's heart.

But there is an aspect far less pleasant that puts in an ugly appearance every year and demands careful consideration on the part of every hunter. This vicious curse is no respecter of persons.

It is the "hunting accident" which casts its evil shadow over every hunting camp when common sense is replaced by carelessness.

To begin with, most hunting accidents could be avoided. The main excuses are: "I didn't know it was loaded," and "I thought I was shooting a deer."

Neither of these excuses are adequate and the latter especially is feeble to the hunter with a bullet through his body. The intention of every hunter is good, and most of us start the hunt with a firm resolution that we won't shoot unless we actually see the deer.

After most hunters jump a deer, they become increasingly edgy and nervous—ready to fire the instant Mr. Buck breaks from cover. But all too often he fires at the first movement of brush, and a moment later his tragic mistake is made terrifyingly clear by a groan or a scream in agony.

Even though the hunter is not killed, present day high velocity expanding big game cartridges can maim him for the rest of his life.

If he would just stop to think for a moment how horrible a hunting accident can be, and how it would weigh on our minds the rest of our days, absolute certainty would be predominate before the trigger finger squeezed off the shot.

I know a man who once enjoyed the great outdoors immensely. He was a fine sportsman. But a moment of carelessness, a shot fired on impulse at a movement in the brush, wrecked his life and career and killed his best friend.

That cruel and unfortunate accident left a lasting mark that has robbed him of all pleasures in life. Rod, reel and gun are rusting away. Neither sport holds a thrill any longer for this pitiful fellow.

There always will be careless hunters, to be sure, but the average nimrod is not the ogre he is made out to be. In fact, his part in the overall picture of catastrophe is very small.

But to save lives and forests, it's the sportsman's obligation to be still more careful, watch that trigger, finger and that cigaret, always be sure of the target and remember that it's always an "unloaded" gun that kills and that one cigaret can wipe out thousands of acres of fine hunting.

Let's keep our hunting areas safe and our forests green this season.

DISTANCE makes the Heart grow Fonder

You'll discover this about a Buick: The more you drive it, the more you like it; the longer your trip, the louder your praise.

That's what people tell us. And we'll tell you why.

You can drive a Buick three, four, five hundred miles in a single day, and feel fresh enough to keep right on going.

You can romp up high hills, cruise straightaways, ease through traffic-tangled towns, clock off hour after hour of relaxed and pleasurable driving—and be no more tired than a neighborhood jaunt would make you.

How come this comfort-rich ground-covering ability in a Buick?

There's the ease of deep, soft seats for one thing—and plenty of move-about room for arms, legs, shoulders.

There's Dynaflo Drive* taking all the chore out of driving, and giving your whole ride a satiny smoothness without trace of jerkiness or driving tension.

There's a handful of thrilling, tireless power from a high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball 8 Engine that whips out miles like a tarpon reels off line.

There's the soft, steady, solid, swerve-free going of a coil-spring-cushioned ride that's well worth the million-plus dollars it cost to engineer.

There's all this and more—much more—that makes your heart grow fonder of this trim and thrifty traveler.

But words can't do justice to a Buick in motion. Only you can.

When will you come sample this experience yourself?

WORLD'S HIGHEST
Mexico City claims the building shown being erected above will be the world's "highest"—not tallest—skyscraper. Although the building is only 42 stories high, its ground floor starts some 6000 feet above where the Empire State Building's peak ends. Gimmick is that Mexico City is 7800 feet above sea level.

TRAINING WATER AND USING IT

This scene is on a central Texas farm. It shows an individual terrace outlet into waterway. The outlet, about 2 feet wide, is stabilized with Bermuda grass.

The waterway and outlets have been in operation about 14 years. The men inspecting the outlet are SCS Technicians.

With such methods this farmer keeps more rainfall stored in the soil for future use, and erosion is held to a low point. This kind of farm management pays off—big.

The SCS Technician in your district will gladly help you set a terracing program for your land.
