Crow Takes Course in State College

A crowd at Ohio State University Columbus, O., may have something to talk about when he finishes a course in speech.

Called Maxilian, the crow is the subject of experiment by Dr. Philburn Ratoosh, assistant professor of psychology, to see if the bird can learn to read and comprehend.

After six months, the bird has learned to choose a card marked "yes" or "no" in answer to a question and is expected to progress further.

MORE RAIN, COLDER WEATHER FORECAST FOR WEEKEND

Old Mother Nature beat the weatherman to the punch early Saturday. Because even before weather predictors had officially forecast that "light rain is likely" for the Eastland County area, the skies had already opened up and mercifully shed welcome tears on the area's dry acres. And—more good news—more precipitation was forecast for Saturday and Sunday. The U. S. Weather observers announced that a cold front early Saturday was approaching the Eastland County area from the direction of the Texas Panhandle. The mercury Sunday is slated to hover in the coolish lower 50s. It was scheduled to reach 70 Saturday prior to the entry of the cold wave. Saturday night's low, weathermen said, would be in the upper 30s and lower 40s.

Yellow Jackets Win Toss For District Title

The Stephenville High Yellow Jackets were awarded the 1952 District 10AAA schoolboy grid title in Ranger Saturday morning at 10:15. During a meeting of representatives of Stephenville, Comanche and Ranger High Schools, the highly-touted Yellow Jackets, emerged on top following a brief coin-tossing ritual. The District, by virtue of Comanche's stunning 13-0 upset triumph over the favored Ranger High Bulldogs at Comanche Friday night, was in a three-way tie. The Jackets will meet the Winters High Blizzards of District 9AA for the bi-district title on Thanksgiving Day—next Thursday. Site of the contest was to be determined Saturday afternoon by the flip of a coin. Ranger's 1952 Bulldogs hold victories over both bi-district participants. Early in October they topped the Blizzards, 13-7, and last week they upset Stephenville, 14-13.

British Are To Honor American Dead of War II

A letter signed by the Hon. J. J. Astor, Chairman of the London Daily Times, London, England, reached our desk today. In the letter we learned that the American Memorial Chapel, in war-scarred St. Paul's Cathedral, and great cathedral of Sir Christopher Wren, which is the Parish House of the British Commonwealth of Nations, will be completed in 1954 or 1955. Stained glass windows which will incorporate the insignia of the forty-eight states of the American Union, and is designed to perpetuate remembrance of those Americans who lived and died in Britain's midst during World War II. It represents a National Tribute, an act of commemorating American service and sacrifice, in the common defense of the World's liberty, by millions of men, women and children, headed by their King. The Roll of Honor will rest in the Chapel, and also a book entitled, "Britain's Homage to 28,000 American Dead. It is desired to present a copy of this book to the next-of-kin of each of the 28,000 Americans whose services are therein contained. Unfortunately it has been impossible to obtain the names of these next-of-kin and Mr. Astor has asked American newspapers to aid in completing the task. A copy of this book will be mailed free of charge to next of kin families who will drop a post card to: Col. the Hon. J. J. Astor, The Times, London, Inc.; 45, East 51st St., New York, 22, N.Y. On this card gave the name of relative who died, the name or title of the unit in which he or she served, the writer's name and address and relationship to the dead person.

Lions Grind Out 45-14 Win To Gain Title

Coach Ed Hooker's gallant, game, hard-fighting Eastland High Mavericks wound up their 1952 grid campaign Friday night at Dublin, suffering a 45-14 humbling at the hands of the mighty Dublin Lions who boast an unblemished record of 10 straight victories and no defeats and are sole owners of the coveted 7A title. Two brilliant running plays which brought the fans to their feet in the third and final periods were good for the Mavericks' 14 points. Midway in the third canto, Eastland's J. D. Hanson, 157-pound speedster, took a Dublin kickoff on the Maverick 9 and raced 91 yards to score. In the dying seconds of the conference clash, James Jessop, 152-pound Maverick back, stunned the Lions with a dazzling 64-yard dash to pay dirt. Stan Harris added both after-touchdown points. The winning Lions, led by versatile Marvin Saylor, stellar quarterbacking field general and triple-threat ace, will meet the champions of District 8-A in a bi-district playoff next week. Saylor ran for one touchdown and passed for three others. He started the massacre early in the first quarter, scooting 13 yards for a score. Darwin Ellis converted. Then came the three touchdown passes, all in a row. One went to Kenneth King for 63 yards, another to Dick Johnson for 46 yards, and the third to Calvin Tucker for 15 yards. Ellis' boots went awry on all three conversion tries. James Berna added a tally late in the second quarter on a 25-yard run, with Ellis' conversion leaving the score 32-0 at halftime. Early in the third, Ellis plunged across from the one-yard line and kicked the point. James Berna added a tally late in the second quarter on a 25-yard run, with Ellis' conversion leaving the score 32-0 at halftime. Early in the third, Ellis plunged across from the one-yard line and kicked the point. In the fourth, Dublin's Jack Cook intercepted an Eastland pass on the Maverick 40 and carried to the Eastland 30. Two plays later, Jerry Daniels went over from the seven, Saylor tried the point and missed. Suffering many handicaps during their 1952 campaign, Coach Hooker's game Mavericks nonetheless racked up a fairly impressive record during their 10-game schedule. They won four contests—shut-out Rising Star, 7-0, rode over Cross Plains, 12-7, triumphed over Santa Anna, 41-27, and topped Wylie, 42-31. They dropped District 7A battles to DeLeon, Bangs and Dublin.

FREE TRANSPORTATION WILL BE SUPPLIED BLOOD DONORS

If you haven't signed your Pledge Card, and are willing to give that pint of blood, let us urge you to do so NOW. While the people of Eastland, German and surrounding communities have responded in a very noble manner, Chairman Homer Smith says we do not have enough signed cards to meet our quota. You may call the Chamber of Commerce, Homer Smith, Mrs. B. W. Barrow, Mrs. E. E. Freyschlag, and they will see that you get a card. Also there will be special telephone at the Methodist Church all day Tuesday. Just call information and ask for the number, and if you find you need free transportation to or from the church, it will be provided. Those who plan to give blood on Tuesday should refrain from eating fatty foods after Sunday. Fat in the system reduces the value of the blood. Everything has been arranged for, and all that remains to be done is GO to the church on Tuesday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., and GIVE your pint of BLOOD.

Stuarts' Terms Are Reduced By Federal Judge

The penitentiary sentences of Joe H. Stuart and Judd R. Stuart, former president and vice president respectively of Strawn's First National Bank, were lowered from 18 to 6 months Friday by Federal Judge Whitfield Davidson in Dallas. The cut in their sentences was made after the ex-bankers' attorney, Percival Rice, had asked for reduced terms because they have repaid all "losses" and have "suffered enough."

(By Major Hoopie McCorkle)

As we remember, we have warned you in the past, on several occasions, that when you see it in this column, it does not necessarily denote that it is so. It's very title indicates a "tukes mixture" or some kind of a stew, so don't be surprised if you find hamburger meat in your cherry pie or pepper sauce in the ice cream.

For a long time we have threatened to tell the world all we know about newspapers, so today while we are resting, we shall do this. To begin, let us say that we do not know very much, for we have been working on papers only 51 years, but during this brief period we have filled every station from publisher to office devil. We filled these stations with a varied degree of success—sometimes they let us work the second month, while a few old "our pussies" have fired us before the end of the first week. We forgive them for this, for we realize that some people don't appreciate "valent" until it is too late.

Ben Franklin was America's first successful newspaperman, and we list Horace Greeley as a close second. While history does not relate that either died in the "poor house", we have often wondered.

We entered the Fourth Estate shortly after the Spanish-American War, and even in those days most subscriptions were "unpaid" or if they were paid we had to take cord wood or over-ripe tomatoes.

Advertising was not considered as "good business", but rather a modest way of contributing to the editor's support. Just another one of those necessary evils.

The picture is quite different today. People pay real money for subscriptions and advertising. Why some of the larger dailies charge $2 or $3 a month for subscriptions, and thousands of dollars for advertising.

Which brings this to our mind. We sometimes wonder where people think a newspaper makes a living? They come in with everything from poetry to poodle dogs for sale, and expect it to appear "free" on page one. Give them the "ad" free of charge, and they will be back to "bum a free copy" of the paper so they can criticize the article, it's general set up and location on the page. A woman recently called us up and told us that she had an "article" for us to publish, and before we could ask her the subject of the article or the author's name, she began shooting us a red hot want ad. It was not an article, but an ad she wanted free, for nothing, on page one. To make a long story short she got it.

Very few people know the difference between advertising and news. They have a vague idea that if they could get a little "buff" on page one, that their business, sales, etc., would improve. Tell them this and they explode like an atomic bomb. They figure that it doesn't cost but a penny or so to set the ad, and that it should be free. Well in order to run that two-bit ad free, it is necessary for the publisher to invest from $50,000 to $80,000 in printing machinery, hire a group of printers who draw $80 to $90 a week (over time not included) a front office force of editors, reporters, solicitors, etc., before he is ready to accept the two-bit ad. He must pay for his news wire service and special correspondents, his house rent, telephones, and other incidentals, and then he is ready to "open up."

And to begin with (and we are figuring a small paper like our own) he must devote at least fifty per cent of his white space to "news" which you enjoy, but which is just another "added expense" so far as the publisher is concerned. He announces your birth, goes with you through childhood and high school. He boosts you when you are a business or a professional man, and upon your demise, does all he can to help you gain entrance into the Pearly Gates. Remember, all of this is free—it goes with other services to make your life more happy.

Then one day you have some hogs for sale, or maybe you want to put over a drive of some kind, or a bazaar. You take your copy to the editor, and he tells you that you want to see the advertising manager. Right there you go into a tail-spin. You assume a "hurt" attitude, and finally have a fit or two, after which you partially regain consciousness and say, "why I never heard of such a thing. Charge me for that little old ad. The only reason I am permitting you to run it is that I promised a lot of people I would put it in the paper just as soon as those pigs were born, and people don't know the admission price to the "entertainment" we are going to have (and hope to make a hundred dollars) for the benefit of left handed Fiji Islanders. A Man For Every Girl Is Now Seen

Good news, girls! Texas may have enough men to go around by 1960.

Robert H. Ryan, writing in the Texas Business Review (monthly publication of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research), puts it this way: "Perhaps a marked insurance of men workers seeking jobs in Texas industry during the present census period will be found to newspapermen are very similar to other people. They eat, drink, smoke and breathe, and the wise ones try to lay up "treasures in heaven."

People have no idea concerning the "inside costs and workings" of a newspaper. If they did they would not be so exacting.

Mark Twain was once asked if finding a spider in one's paper was good luck. He replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over the paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that score, spin a web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace afterward."

have balanced Texas' male-female ratio in 1960." Ryan said "males are slightly more mobile than females, but on the other hand the female population of Texas now slightly outnumbers the male, and for the first time in Texas history."

The researcher's analysis of the 1950 census also notes growth of Texas cities, caused by industrialization; development of suburban shopping cities; movement from the east-central section of the state to West Texas and the Gulf Coast; and other 1940-50 population trends.

Students at John Carroll University in Cleveland, must dress for the occasion at their class, and a too-informal garb can land them in the dean's office. "Too informal" means too-flamboyant jackets, overalls boots and sombreros among other things, according to faculty members.

Deans of the college of arts and sciences and school of business economics and government posted the following notice for their men: "The attire of Hopalong Cassidy, the Lone Ranger and companions no doubt has its place but the university is not such a place.

"Blue jeans, T-shirts and jackets advertising social and athletic clubs are not to be worn at this university."

Nation's Fire Losses for 1951—

... are way up according to report of National Board of Fire Underwriters just released. Three quarter billion dollars went up in smoke, an increase of 12.3%, and more than 11,000 persons lost their lives. The causes are listed as about the same as previous years with careless use of matches and smoking accounting for 27%. Misuse of electricity, overheated chimneys and flues, lightning, spontaneous combustion and explosions are others in order.

Music Study Club Present Organist In Rathel Home

The Eastland Music Study Club met Wednesday, Nov. 19, at 3:30 p.m. in regular session with the president, Mrs. Donald Kinnaird at the Woman's Club.

A short business meeting with reports from standing committees and plans for the Christmas party were made. Mrs. Wilma Bennett and Mrs. George Bledsoe were elected to membership.

It was voted to bring a federation scholarship artist to Eastland in the near future for a musical concert.

After the business meeting the members adjourned to the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. Melvin Rathel to meet the invited guests arriving at 4 p.m. for the organ concert.

Mrs. Louie Corbell, leader for the day introduced the hostess, Mrs. Rathel, program chairman for the day, who welcomed the visitors and music lovers to hear the artist, Mr. Gene James.

Mr. James announced his informal program in such a pleasing manner that his audience was captivated even before he played.

His first group included "Largo, The Holy City, The Lord's Prayer and Meditation." The artist drew from the Hammond the great solemn tones that the composers must have dreamed of when these numbers were written, and there was hardly a dry eye when he had finished the second group, "Were You There, Deep River, Londonary Air, The Old Refrain and The Battle Hymn."

Mr. James' arrangement of "The Patten Hymn" showed much originality and great skill with foot pedals and his listeners here could notice at a glance that his fingers were capable of laughter as well as great solemnity in tones.

The third group brought an atmosphere of Christmas joy with "O Holy Night," a medley of car-

Hawaiian Tea For Thursday Club

The Thursday Afternoon Study Club met Nov. 20 3 o'clock in the Woman's Club. The president, Mrs. Arthur Murrell, called the meeting to order for the short business session at which time the Blood Donor cards were collected from 14 donors.

Note was made that Carbon purchased books from the Eastland Library to the amount of $13. Mrs. Jos. M. Perkins donated $5 to the Federated Woman's Club building in Austin in the name of the Thursday Afternoon Club.

Mrs. Frank Sparks was elected to membership.

Mrs. W. B. Pickens, leader for the day introduced Mrs. James Horton who gave her "Impressions of Hawaii" and illustrated her talk with pictures.

Mrs. Horton had several displays of her collection brought back this summer. The main table was covered with fishnet with "Fisherman's Floats" of blue glass attached. Centrepiece for this table was a huge wooden tray which held the brown wood roses, famous in the Islands. The bud of the cocconut tree was used as a huge polished serving bowl holding the neat strips of cocconut as used by the natives. A large Laulaha Bird made from the Fananus tree completed the decor.

A second table of items included a lei made from shells with many shell belts. A large coral, mats and baskets.

Each member was presented with a Princess Aloha Orchid flower from Hilo.

Mrs. Horton was attired in a Hawaiian costume complete with Hibiscus in her hair.

Members present were Mmes. Frank Castleberry, Earl Conner, Sr., Cecil Collins, Frank Crowell, Harold Durham, Pearson Grimes, Ben Hamner, L. C. Heck, C. W. Hoffmann, James Horton, D. L. Houle, Iral Inzer, Hubert Jones, W. P. Leslie, Milburn Long, W. W. Linkenhogger, Frank Lovett, Jack Murrell, Arthur Murrell, B. W. Patterson, Jos. M. Perkins, Robert Perkins, W. B. Pickens, C. Corn Bread and Pork Score Easy "Ringer"

Left-over pork is sweet meat when combined in its own gravy with the full-bodied flavor of corn meal. And there is an easy way to do it so that corn bread, meat and gravy can be served together as the main dish of a tasty meal.

The framework of this nourishing dinner is the corn bread, baked in a ring mold. While the bread is baking, heat the meat in its gravy, and you have a quick meal for a washday Monday or any other particularly busy day of the week.

Corn bread goes well with gravy, too, for it does not quickly become soggy. In addition, it tends to hold the heat in the meat and gravy, keeping each serving piping hot until it reaches the dinner plate.

Pork and gravy in a corn bread ring is a simple way to use left-over meat. Try it soon and score a "ringer" at the table. Your family will be pleasantly surprised at this tasty combination of corn and the economical, left-over pork.

Nature's Gift, New Crops For Better Farming

Even more efficient than the laboratories of plant breeders, Mother Nature creates new crops that improve the farmer's soil and put dollars in his pocket, reports an article in the November issue of the Organic Farmer.

In southern Oregon, a "weed" found growing wild has proved to be a new "creeping" alfalfa that spreads like wildfire and is so hardy it will thrive in conditions that kill sagebrush. Christened "Nomad"—meaning wanderer—it is the best alfalfa ever discovered for pasture in low-rainfall areas.

And a Nebraska farmer has found a true dry-land alfalfa that will survive drought, wind and grasshoppers. Named Stafford alfalfa after its discoverer, it is bringing prosperity to a whole region of abandoned, sand-blown farms.

In the South, a reseeding crimson clover that comes up year after year is revolutionizing grass-land farming. It was originally found growing naturally in a field that wouldn't even support weeds, reports the article.

A winter-hardy variety of kudzu, a champion soil-building and grazing crop, has been discovered growing wild on a farm in Rockland County, N.Y., surviving temperatures of 20 below. This is 200 miles north of where present vareties will survive the winter. Experiment stations are now developing strains of this seed for the market.

These new crops are all ideal soil-builders, providing the organic matter so desperately needed by depleted soils. Organic matter, the living, food-producing part of the soil, has decreased from an original four per cent to a dangerous low of one per cent in many of our soils today.

By providing good hay, pasture and often seed crops, these new plants, gifts of a bountiful nature can bring a farmer good income at the same time they are restoring his soil to high production.

Christian Science

Christian Science reveals Soul as a synonym for God, and asserts that man is the expression of Soul, in the Lesson-Sermon titled "Soul and Body" to be read in this Sunday, during the church service.

John, the Revelator, glimpsed that man is not material but is the expression of God's being, and said, "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is" (1 John 3:2).

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "Soul is the substance, life, and intelligence of man, which is individualized, but not in matter" (p. 477).

The desire to know God and our real selfhood may be expressed in these words from Psalms (84:2): "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God."

DAIRY DOLLARS

A farmer who struggled for years, trying to pay for a small farm from row crops believed he could do better producing whole milk. He built up a herd of 23 cows and now is able to meet his payments and educate his children.

Texas dairymen do not produce enough milk to supply the needs of our growing urban population. There is a place for the efficient dairyman who will grow his own grain and roughage and will provide his own labor. Dairying is proving to be a good investment on many farms. Your county agent has plans for labor-saving milking parlors.
