EASTLAND, TEXAS, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1933

PRICE FIVE CENTS

AROUND THE SQUARE

We have attended Sunrise prayer meetings, heard of Sunrise Easter Services, but we saw our first Sunrise "sand storm" Monday morning. As a rule we stick our head out of the door at about 5 a. m., take a few deep breaths to see if we can detect any rain odors but when we did this Monday we came very near smothering. There, an hour before day break, we encountered a sand storm that would take the blue ribbon in anybody's sand storm show.

We jerked our head back into the house, spat out what gravel and sand we could, and wondered if the world was coming to an end. On second thought we decided for another try, but this time we took our time, used goggles and didn't go in for deep breathing. We had guessed right—it was a sand storm with a kind of foggy field fact, only the gravel mixed in it was a little larger—must have been picked up along the edge of the can rock.

At any rate we have about two inches of good sandy loam scattered over the county, and it is sifting again today.

This is the kind of weather that makes people pray for floods and water spouts.

A fellow told us the other day that our farms were wearing out down here, but he was wrong. Eastland county will never wear out as long as West Texas and New Mexico hold out. Each year we are given from three to six inches of their very finest soil. If we had some way of blowing a little of East Texas' water out here, our future would be guaranteed.

East Texas has water, West Texas has wind and sand, and both are using Eastland for a battle ground.

A fellow from the East was driving across the South Plains a few weeks ago, and while crossing a pasture saw a fine 16-gallon hat near the roadside. He got out and picked it up when a voice coming from below shouted, "leave my hat alone." The Easterner was stunned, but got up nerve enough to ask how deep the sand was right there. "I don't know," was the reply from the man below, "but pretty deep I guess for there is a horse under me."

Those in the know realize that Dorothy Scarborough knew what she was talking about, when she wrote "The Wind."

While road work on the new Eastland-Ranger highway is far from being complete, we are informed that the Dixie Drive-In is open at an early date. It will be necessary to use the old road for the present, but later on a special spur will be constructed from the new highway to the show, it is said.

Texas may become a two-party state, and we feel this would be a wonderful thing. It will enable us to have a better and cleaner government. In New Mexico, for an example, people do not know from one year to the next which of the two parties will be in the saddle, but usually the one that puts out the best man.

Oklahoma is gradually becoming more equally divided. The state has more Democrats than Republicans, but when Democrats nominate ward-heeler politicians to get on the ticket, a good Republican usually comes along and knocks him off at general election.

Texas was a two-party state right now, there would have been no controversy over the 91st District Court.

With a one-party system people are forced to take what the one party gives them, even though two-thirds of the voters may bitterly oppose him.

Free Bicycle Be Awarded To Lucky Carrier

Carrier boys connected with the Eastland Telegram started a great subscription contest Saturday, and the winner will get a new fifty-dollar bicycle.

This contest will close March 2, so the boys will not have too much time. For every new subscriber they get, they will be given one point. Then on Monday, March 2, the boy with the largest number of points will be awarded the bicycle.

The publisher has a desire to see the Telegram in every home in Eastland and decided upon this plan to make it possible. So when your carrier boy comes by, give him your subscription if you are not a subscriber at this time.

Carrier boys include Jack Hilliard, Phil Hilliard, Freddy Tucker, Carroll Nelson, Charles Hutton, Norman Owens, Benny Cogburn, J. H. Alford, Donald Ward and Albert Snyder.

IS OMAR BURKETT REPRESENTING EASTLAND COUNTY?

(An Editorial)

Early Monday information came from Austin by telephone that HB No. 269, introduced and promoted by Representative Omar Burkett of Eastland County, and which would kill the 91st District Court in Eastland, would be heard before a Legislative Committee at 7:30 Tuesday evening (today). But that was Monday morning, and later, at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, another telephone message advised that the Committee has already met at 2 p. m. Monday, held its session without notice or warning, and reported on the bill favorably. Now that the bill is out of Committee, what is our next step?

Representative Omar Burkett not only introduced this Bill, but it appears now, is trying to "railroad" it through the House, without permitting the citizens of the area to be heard.

More than 1600 citizens of Eastland county have signed petitions to Omar Burkett, asking that the 91st District Court not be killed. Many of these voters supported Omar Burkett, but you can imagine how they feel at this time. He promised voters during the campaign last year that he would do nothing to destroy our Court. Wonder if he can explain these promises away?

Groups of citizens from Eastland, Young and Stephens counties, after the message early yesterday, planned to go to Austin and register their disapproval, and to give valid reasons for doing so. This was not what Mr. Burkett wanted, so the meeting was held before our people could arrive. Is Omar Burkett REPRESENTING the voters of Eastland—his home county? A five year old child can answer.

Before Burkett introduced HB 269 he made special trips to Breckenridge, and proposed to the citizens of Stephens County that they urge their Representative to introduce such a Bill, killing our 91st District Court and adding Eastland County to the 90th District, with the promise that he (Burkett) would support such a bill. The Citizens of Stephens County refused to be a party to such a plan. In fact they are now opposed to HB 269, as are the citizens of Young county.

After this rebuff Burkett had to go it alone. He wrote and submitted the Bill, and indications are that he will stop at nothing in order to get it passed. He must know that the citizens of the three counties oppose him. He must know that his own supporters, friends and neighbors are in direct opposition, and they have a feeling that they have been let down.

It could be that Omar Burkett is the only man who is friendly toward the Bill, and the puzzling thing is this: why is he so bent on it's passage? We think we have the answer, and you will likely hear from us again.

Burleson To Aid Eastland Nut Raisers

Congressman Omar Burleson, 17th District legislator serving Eastland and 11 other area counties in the Nation's capital, reports that he is seeking a 20 per cent increase in peanut acreage allotments for the Spanish type peanuts grown in Eastland County and most sections of Texas.

Texas peanuts producers have suffered, Burleson said, because peanuts grown in other parts of the country have been in over-supply, while the Texas variety hurt by the drought, has had to bear the brunt of acreage restrictions.

Burleson's district is the heaviest peanut producing area in the state, and Comanche County leads the world in peanut production.

The Spanish-type peanuts grown in Texas are higher grade than those of other regions, and they are used in candies and other foods instead of going into peanut oil. Burleson pointed out that Texas farmers are in danger of losing their markets because their production is so restricted.

Latest Reports From Oil Patch—

Contracted for 3,400 feet with rotary, it is 1,760 feet from the north and 330 feet from the west lines of Section 2, Block 3, H&TC Survey.

The firm's No. 43 Peter Swenson, Section 5, OAL Survey, had a daily potential of 14.84 barrels per perforations at 1,718-37 feet. The casing is set on the bottom of the hole at 1,842 feet.

No. 45 Peter Swenson, same survey, had a daily potential of 76.3 barrels of 39 gravity oil. Production is from perforations at 1,716-59 and 1,756-71 feet. The casing is set at 1,825 feet and the hole bottomed at 1,820 feet.

Cleburne Man Misses Death In Car Crash

J. C. Rust of Cleburne is a mighty lucky guy.

Sunday night about 10:30 o'clock the Cleburnite was enroute to Ranger when his 1932 2-door Ford sedan spun off U. S. Highway 80 on a curve near Ranger Hill and overturned several times following a blowout of one of his front tires.

The vehicle was traveling about 55 miles per hour at the time of the mishap, and the sedan overturned several times and was very badly damaged.

Rust suffered a badly bruised shoulder, several scratches and was generally shaken up. His injuries, however, were not serious.

Rotarians-Lions Plan Joint Meet For Next Monday

Announcement was made today that the Rotary and Lions Clubs will have a joint meeting at the hotel on Monday of next week, at which time Rev. J. Morris Bailey will have an out-of-town guest speaker.

Dr. W. E. Barrow had charge of the program Monday, and after a short address concerning the ravages of cancer were discussed, a motion picture film was shown. This film from the American Cancer Society, proved entertaining and instructive as well.

The word at this time has been alarmed, and many look upon cancer as a deadly disease. General opinion is that if you have cancer, better begin making arrangements with the undertaker. Much of this is untrue. Cancer is serious, and unless properly treated and at a proper time may bring death. Yet millions who have cancer may be cured and die at a ripe old age, it was pointed out.

The main thing, once a person has reason to suspect they may have cancer, is to consult a physician. Early treatment is urged in all cases.

Surgery is not always required, but at times it must be resorted to.

Medical science has been giving much attention to this disease, and in all probability will have a cure or at least a control for it at no distant date.

But in the mean time, if you suspect cancer, do something about it.

J. R. McLaughlin Dies Today At Gholson Hotel

James R. McLaughlin, 81-year-old resident and retired veteran of more than half a century of activity in the oil industry, died this morning at 8 o'clock at his apartment in the Gholson Hotel in Ranger. He had been in failing health for many months.

Mr. McLaughlin, born in Pennsylvania in 1872, began his illustrious career at the tender age of 11. His father was a teaming contractor in the oil fields and the lad, large and sturdy, began to work around wells at an early age.

Most of his years of experience were in the pipeline division of the petroleum industry.

Mr. McLaughlin was active during the big oil booms at Bristow, Drumwright and Shamrock, Okla., El Dorado, Ark., and Wichita Falls. He came to Ranger during the big boom and became a permanent resident.

At the time of his retirement—at the age of 67—he was district superintendent of the Ohio Pipe Line Company.

Funeral services were pending the arrival of his children.

The final rites have been tentatively set to be held in Ranger, and interment will be in a Fort Worth cemetery. Morris Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Translator Is Needed By Poe Florist Shop

Poe Florist Company received an Air Mail letter Monday, presumably an order. It came from Europe and most likely from Holland, but until Mr. Poe has time to study "Dutch" the order will go unfulfilled. Out here in Texas most everybody speaks English, and when we run up against something else, we get puzzled.

We have people in Eastland who can read Spanish, French, German and half a dozen other languages, but so far nobody has been able to read the letter mentioned above. If you think you might do so, call Mr. Poe. It may not be Dutch—that is our guest, and the guess of a couple of Germans who feel the same way.

You will be helping somebody get their flowers if you will tell Mr. Poe how many and what variety. The name may be J. L. or Y. L. Lewis—don't know for sure.

25TH ANNIVERSARY OF "OLD RIP" TO BE CELEBRATED HERE

Twenty-five years ago today, an Eastland date line was carried in the Associated Press and other news services, in newspapers from Maine to California, telling of a homecoming, 31 years ago, of a burned toad in the corner stone of the old Eastland County Court House, stated H. J. Tanner, Chamber of Commerce manager, today.

The corner stone was to be opened on the 18th of February and people everywhere wondered what might be the fate of this burned toad. Eastland gained national publicity through the news reporting of Boyce House, former editor of the Eastland Telegram.

A large crowd was assembled on the square that afternoon when the corner stone was opened. Many present-day Eastland citizens remember the cry of amazement that was voiced when Judge Pritchard held aloft the apparently dead body of the toad, and it was seen to flex a leg. This toad later acquired his name of "Old Rip".

Tomorrow, on this the 25th anniversary, when you pass a court house, pause and give a fleeting thought to "Old Rip" who by his feat made Eastland nationally known as the "Home of Old Rip".

Turkey Growers Meet Thursday Night at Carbon

Election of officers will be the chief business of the regular monthly meeting of the Central Texas Turkey Growers Assn. next Thursday night in the auditorium of Carbon High School at Carbon.

Other business, besides the election of officers, is expected to be transacted at the meeting. Dr. Ben H. Bradley, Rising Star, president of the group, said.

It will be the first time the group has met in Carbon since their organization there last March.

Turkey growers, feed men as well as business and professional people interested in the progress of the turkey industry in the area have been invited to attend.

Although the total number of turkeys to be grown this year is expected to be lower than the past, the popularity of the Beltsville White breed is expected to increase to some extent.

Eastland and adjoining counties have a climate especially adapted for turkey growing, believes Hardy Tidwell, Desdemona hatcheryman and grower and vice president of the organization.

Other officers include Mrs. Tidwell as treasurer and Miss Buena Van Winkle, Gorman, as secretary.

It is the first Carbon meeting of the group since the association was formed there a year ago in March. Dr. Bradley, owner and manager of the Rising Star Hospital, is serving as first president.

According to Tidwell, Desdemona turkey hatcheryman, a bird grower and vice president of the association, present indications point to a decrease in the total number of birds produced in Eastland County this year.

However, he said, indications point to an increase in the number of Beltsville Whites which will come off Eastland farms this year. Broad breasted bronzes have been the prime choice of growers in the county.

No Rain, But It May Freeze In County Tonight

Chances of rain continued remote for the moisture-thirsty Eastland County area today.

The morning forecast of the U. S. Weather Bureau called for cloudy and cool weather for the section today with the afternoon highest mercury reading due in the upper 50s.

Tonight, however, there's a possibility that there'll be a freeze. Weathermen say the temperature is due to dive down into the low 30s tonight.

For Wednesday, the Weather Bureau forecast warmer weather—about 10 to 50 degrees above today's highest temperature reading—and skies were due to be clear.

The West Texas report: Generally fair, warmer in the Panhandle, South Plains and Upper Pecos Valley Tuesday, Wednesday, partly cloudy and a little warmer.

Joe W. Gregory, of May, Brown County, Texas, was released under a $1,000 bond, and Art Fisher is in a Rising Star hospital suffering knife stabs as the result of a fight on the streets of Rising Star Saturday afternoon. Sheriff's officers went to Rising Star following the disturbance, to find Fisher in the care of a doctor. Gregory made a statement to officers and was released later in the day, after posting bond.

It is not thought Fisher's wounds are of a serious nature. Gregory's wound was cared for by an Eastland physician.

Senior Class Entertained At Realistic Hobo Party, Thursday

Members of the Senior Class were entertained by a group of senior mothers Thursday night at a cleverly arranged Hobo Party. The group gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Grimes, where their daughter, hobo Grimes passed out hand-outs. From the Grimes' home they followed hobo signs until they had visited at the homes of Hobo Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cooper, Hobo Tugzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tugzie, and hobo Muirhead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Muirhead.

The final sign, reading "Weaver Beany", led the group to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Weaver, where their hobo daughter, Jana, assisted the group of mothers in arranging a fun party.

They were royally entertained by the Hobo band and pictures of the group were made by Shultz studio.

Mothers of the group serving on the committee included Meses. A. A. Tugzie, E. M. Grimes, D. E. Webb, Sidney Roff, and H. T. Weaver.

Hobos present included Charlene Black, Joe Brown, Don Chrisis to be obtained, says M. K. Thornton, agricultural chemist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Thornton adds that the use of commercial fertilizers has increased rapidly during the past 20 years because agricultural producers have found that yields can be increased and the quality of crops can be improved even on supposedly fertile soils. He believes the increase during the next few years will be even more rapid than in the past.

As an aid to those interested in making the best use of the fertilizers bought and applied, Thornton has recently prepared a bulletin which contains a great deal of basic information on the subject, B-167, Fertilizers and Their Use, are available at all county agricultural agents' offices.

Members of the agronomy and horticultural departments of the Texas A&M College System, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and information collected from actual farm demonstrations by county agricultural agents of the state over a period of some 40 years all were used in preparing the bulletin. Thornton believes agricultural producers will find the information contained in the bulletin practical and useful in planning their fertilizer use program.

We Live In a Great Country—

... and one of the things that has helped to make it so is Insurance. In one particular at least the average American buys more insurance than any other nationality. This means that he doesn't want to carry his own risks and the attendant worries that go along with them. He just insures himself, his family, his property, everything he has—because it's good business to do so. Yes, it's American to be insured and Insurance is typically American!

NEWSPAPERS Led All Advertising Mediums in Producing Sales For the Advertiser

Every year a nationwide survey is conducted to determine what advertising medium influences men and women the most in buying merchandise or services. Figures on the latest survey, just released, place newspapers again way out front. In fact, no other medium came even close to the widespread advertising prestige and power of the press. The survey again proved that men and women buy newspapers and read them thoroughly. It's a receptive, solid audience—tuned daily to the hometown newspaper. Radio and TV audiences are becoming more divided and split each day. But the audiences of the hometown daily is a complete unit that can be counted on day in and day out. This simple test proves our story: Contact ten families listed in your telephone directory. Ask them (1) What radio station are you listening to? (2) What TV station are you tuned to? (3) Do you read The Eastland Telegram? Prove to yourself that newspaper advertising is the most effective and the most economical medium of all!

IN EASTLAND

AND THE SURROUNDING TRADE TERRITORY, THE GROWING CIRCULATION OF THE

Eastland Telegram

Increasing circulation of The Eastland Telegram in recent months is proof that your hometown daily is a leader in both reader and advertising interest. The Telegram, a hometown institution boosting and building Eastland, reaches a lucrative market that no other medium can ever touch—and at lower cost!

Spading in Humus is Best Way to Condition Soil

Outdoor gardening can begin as soon as the frost is out, and the soil has dried sufficiently to spade it. The test of this is to mould a ball of soil in your hand, then pat it between your palms. If it makes a mud pie, the soil is too wet, but if it crumbles, then it can be worked. If your soil is stiff, hard to spade and slow to allow water to drain through it, every time it is spaded something should be added to make it more porous. One of the best materials to add is limestone screenings. These are usually obtainable at quarries for low prices. When finely crushed limestone is added to clay, a chemical reaction takes place, which has the effect of making the soil particles larger and the soil more porous.

Abundant use of limestone on clay is not likely to make the soil too sweet, or alkaline, even though an equal amount added to sand might do so. Sand or cinders, however, combined with clay sometimes produces a mixture which is difficult to work. Some form of organic matter is best to mix into either a clay or sandy soil, to make it hold both moisture and plant food like a sponge, releasing both food and drink to the garden plants when they need it.

In addition to compost, peat dug from bogs in your vicinity can often be bought for reasonable prices and many sewage disposal plants invite gardeners to carry away the sludge which sewage treatment produces.

Spading should be approached with caution, when muscles are soft after a winter's rest. But one hour's work a day for eight days will turn over to spade depth 1,500 square feet, and leave its owner without even sore muscles.

Spading loosens the soil, lets air into it and leaves it in the best condition for both water and air to enter. Good soil, Ohio State experiments showed, is composed of 25 per cent "pores" containing water, and 50 per cent solid matter.

Heavy clay soil has particles so fine that there are not enough "pores" in it. But it can be made good by mixing one inch of manure or a substitute such as compost or peat moss, to four inches of clayey soil. This will give an idea of the quantity of coarse material needed to loosen heavy garden soil. Spread it evenly over the soil, and turn it under as you spade.

Mark out the area to be spaded in a day. Begin by opening a trench at one end, throwing the soil removed in a pile. Then dig an adjoining trench and throw the soil in the first one. Continue this until the day's work is ended, filling the final trench with soil removed from the first.

HOME OF DR. AND MRS. M. A. TREADWELL, JR. ... Pirik Grillwork

NEW TREADWELL HOME IS ONE OF BEAUTY, POPULAR DESIGN

On this page you will find two photographs of the new home of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Treadwell, which may give you some idea of what this beautiful new home looks like. They came to us as a courtesy of the Abilene Reporter-News, and was prepared by Miss Margaret Bourland, staff writer for that publication.

Special features incorporated by the Treadwells were large closets with built-in shelves, rock wool insulation, hardwood floors, slab doors, storage space in the ceiling of half of the double garage, central heating, rounded corners along the floor and base molds the same color as the floor.

Mrs. Treadwell's fully automatic kitchen is done in grey and yellow. Textured walls are grey, yellow, and linoleum, grey in a hick pattern. Cabinet top is yellow formica. One of the cabinets contains a special compartment for trays and platters; another has revolving shelves for pots, pans and bowls.

A service bar divides the dining area from the kitchen. Extended drawers pull from both sides, and cabinets above also open from both sides. Dining suit is marbled grey and white patterned plastic and chrome.

Carpeting in the dining room, entrance hall and living room is the same rose beige, and all three ceilings are an off white. Woodwork is forest green stained as is the chair height pine paneling. There is an Eyneline pattern in forest green shading into light grey with the French grillwork design in maroon. Draw drapes are mauve sheen with maroon velvet valances. Suite is Duncan Phyfe, the buffet decorated with crystal candle sticks holding green candles. Chandelier is crystal.

Woodwork in entry and living room is off-white; textured walls are dark grey. Mock fireplace is blue, gold and off-white tile, but has real logs. Off-white mantel holds hurricane lamps. Large square mirror above is wall accent.

The dark grey of the wall is repeated in the background color of the draw curtains. Green and gold in the drapes is picked up by the colors of the occasional chairs; rose, by the couch. Furniture is Duncan Phyfe. Room accessories are mahogany, tables have leather tops. Large modern lamps on end tables flanking the fireplace are black and off-white with a floral design base. Another lamp is off-white with gold trim. Japanese tapestries in color and black and white are wall decoration.

Den is paneled in knotty pine, with built in bookshelves and storage space with sliding doors. On the bookcase are little Japanese girl and boy dolls which Dr. Treadwell brought to his children on his return from service with the Army.

Draw curtains are wine: couch and chair upholstered in beige with muted varicolored floral design. Lighting is provided by a replica of old time lamps in copper and chocolate brown metal. Mrs. Treadwell's pride and joy in this room is the children's expansive toy closet. Dutch door opens onto patio.

Laundry room, just off the kitchen, has rose tan textured walls, built-in cabinets and a cedar lined closet. Door opens into garage. The children's bathroom is done in coral and grey tiling. Fixtures are coral; curtains black and variegated pink striped. Built-in storage is equipped with a sorting self and staggered shelves. Mrs. Treadwell says the children particularly like their revolving toothbrush holder which closes into the wall.

Walls in three-year-old Marsha's room are a very light grey. Draw curtains are light pink with scalloped valance. Shelves and clothes rack in her closet are adjustable. All bedroom closet doors have full-length mirrors.

Pride of Terry Allen, 5, is his cowboy light fixture in his green and brown decorated room. The draw curtains are predominantly brown with a deer and tree design. Hanging on one wall is a copper plate reproduction of a Spanish galleon. Furniture is ivory and includes his mother's desk, which she used when a girl, and his father's play desk.

Master bedroom, only room in the house fully papered, has a shaded pink design. Woodwork, built-in and connecting hall walls are a harmonizing pink. Ruffled organdy curtains and chenille bedspread are white. Pink satin comfort and pillow are added decor. Suit is French Provincial in fruitwood. Hurricane lamps with crystal and gold bases stand on the glass topped dresser. Walk-in closet has built-in chest of drawers. Connecting bath is brown and sand colored tiling.

Former Eastland Pastor Goes To Alton, Ill., To Be Pastor

The Rev. James McClain, former Rector of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, and who ran the Dr. I.Q. radio quiz program from 1940 to 1946, then gave up the lucrative to become a minister, leaves the St. Matthews Cathedral in Dallas soon for Alton, Ill., to become Rector of the Episcopal there.

The ministers stimulated work of the denomination here that led to the building of the Episcopal church there that is now under the leadership of Rev. Arthur E. Hartwell, rector. The 40-year-old McClain actually was working on becoming an ordained minister the last two years he conducted the Dr. I.Q. program, one of the first shows to become nationally known. He was in seminary work at S o a b u r y Western Episcopal Church, Evanston, Ill., from 1944 to 1946, he was graduated in 1947 and preached three years in Eastland, Breckenridge and Strawn. He went to St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Irving in 1950, then went Holy Cross and from there to the Dallas church.

He accepted the Alton church, Feb. 1, and since then has been lecturing and preparing to move there with his family. He will also be pastor of the nearby St. Gabriel's Episcopal Mission in Wood River, Ill.

Before going to Alton, McClain will stop the first week in March in Pittsburgh for a week's Lenten mission at the Episcopal cathedral. It is the third year he has been invited by the Pittsburgh church.

Rev. and Mrs. McClain have been married twenty years and have three daughters and a son, ranging in age from 13 to 3.

"TO MAKE THE BEST BETTER" IS MOTTO OF HOME DEMONSTRATION WOMEN, GIRLS

by Mildred Daniel
The 196 Home Demonstration Club women and 330 4-H club girls spent 1952 working to make Eastland County a place of "Happy Homes and Happy People," said Miss Mildred Daniel, County H. D. Agent in making a review of 1952 accomplishments.

Realizing that a good diet and comfortable clothing are two important factors in having "happy homes and happy people," the county-wide women's and girls' programs focused on these two points. The women carried out a program of Cereals and Clothing while the girls studied Gardening and Clothing.

girls in planning and carrying out their program the Home Demonstration Agents spent 191 days in the field and 181 days in the office. 192 visits were made and demonstrations given during the year. Besides the visits made to homes the agents gave assistance through over 700 office calls and over 600 telephone calls.

A total of 136 method demonstrations were given in teaching the women and girls of Eastland County better methods of clothing construction and food production and preparation. Leaders and demonstrators in the 11 H. D. Clubs in the county were given 16 training demonstrations which they carried back to their clubs or taught directly in club organization.

The Eastland County Home Demonstration Club women and girls met monthly, with the exception of a month, which is vacation month. H. D. Clubs. Council officers for the year were: Mrs. W. W. Fewell, chairman; Mrs. H. C. Fridge, vice chairman; Mrs. Marshal Berry, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond Beck and Mrs. Ernest Schaefer served during the year as secretary. The average attendance for the 11 meetings was 39. Membership of the council was 36, which included officers, chairmen of standing committees, and two representatives

TROLLEY SIGN IS "OFF THE TRACK"—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower may see many of Seoul's war-weary trolleys when he visits Seoul, but they won't be carrying signs such as borne by the car above. Officials of Korea's capital city have ordered deletion of the word "hell" from welcoming banners, and have decreed that the abbreviation, "Ike," is not dignified, and must not be used on banners.

The Peacock Path

THE STORY: Jim Orth, private detective, posing as a guest at Windover, home of Marney Cravath, is trying to solve the murder of Cravath's junior stockbroker partner, Ames Warburton. There have been two attempts on Cravath's life and another unsuccessful attempt on the life of Dolly Dumont, wife of Cravath's other partner, Jack Dumont. Dolly has recovered from her ordeal and now is being questioned by Orth and Cravath.

Maybe I even managed to. But her lips twisted, with the effort of recollection—"It didn't do any good. That noise came and drowned me out."

FEAR crept suddenly into Dolly Dumont's thin voice. "Why would anyone want to hurt me?" Cravath shot the doctor a quick look. "We don't think anyone, any person, did hurt you, Dolly," he said soothingly. "You probably hurt yourself. When you fell."

"What noise?" Cravath's voice cracked like a whip. The doctor looked at his watch and gestured impatiently. Dolly put a wavering hand to her head. "I don't know exactly. Some kind of a whirling sound. But very loud. Loud as thunder. It came just when I tried to scream. And then I did fall. I guess. Or something hit me. Anyway, everything just went absolutely black."

clear that he wanted to pump me. I told him what Dolly had said. I saw no particular harm in his knowing. In fact, if he were the grim operator here, Dolly's confessed ignorance of her assailant's identity might serve to put him off his guard. Beyond that, I was sure he'd get the story anyhow within the next few hours.

I SIPPED, rye, said. "She can't expect to be taken seriously, under the circumstances." "Sure," Sladen said, "there's no reason in it. That's what I'm trying to say. It's simply befuddled half-thinking. My idea is that she feels shoved aside and unnecessary. But, yesterday, along comes an opportunity to steal the show. So she snaps it up."

from each H. D. Club. Besides carrying out their program on Cereals and Clothing at the H. D. Club meetings, the women and girls took part in the March 1952 Home Demonstration Club work. Each club in the county adopted one or more projects in the Abilene State Hospital in which they sent gifts on various occasions during the year. In September the H. D. Clubs in Eastland County acted as host to the County Federation of Women's Clubs.
