AROUND THE SQUARE

It is better to be "right" and be alone, than it is to be "wrong" even if you have a majority on your side.

That's why we are having so much trouble today. Too many are willing to be wrong, regardless of costs, if they may be with the crowd. The crowd means nothing if it is to cause you to fall in life, simply because you trained with it.

Many times in our life we have come to the parting of ways with people whom we loved and admired simply because we could not reach their code of ethics. In our younger days we well remember the man who taught us to "drink likker." We admired the man very much. He was wealthy and had influence and pull, and many times he befriended us. Yet he taught us to drink liquor, and that was bad. We were aware of the fact then that he was leading us in the wrong direction, yet we followed on, because it seemed to "pay off."

Finally, when we could bear it no longer, we left his gang and his liquor, and other evil doings and turned our life to one of sobriety and decency. It was a tough life for a while, but in the end it has paid. The friend since that time has filled a drunkard's grave. He was without money, influence or power. We don't have too much to show for our activities, but for many years we have enjoyed the consolation that we had God on our side, and nothing else really matters.

Young men and young women, during school days, should be planning for their future lives. Hold fast to that which you know is good, even if the whole class goes against you. Be right and you will succeed.

To do things that appear to be popular, yet in your heart you know they are wrong, just follow your conscience, rather than popular acclaim. In the end you will succeed.

Mothers at times are more interested in a daughter's popularity than they are in her character. This is sad indeed, and usually the daughter is not to blame. We have seen fathers uphold a wayward son simply because they wanted them to be popular and have a good time. Some of these boys overcome this, while others go along with the tide (right or wrong) all the days of their lives.

It is not necessary to beat children in order to get them to do right. Set a good example before them, treat them with kindness and understanding, and the final result is sure to please you.

We are not preaching, but merely recalling a few incidents we happen to remember.

It is better to be known as an "old fog" than to be called "a failure." Modernists may figure the old fog as a half-baked individual, his ideas may be scoffed at, and his company shunned, yet truth he may be "right" and all critics "wrong." Don't depend too much on what "they say," for statements made by "they say" as a rule means very little if any.

Farmers Busy As Result Recent General Rains

Farmers in most sections of the county are now getting their land ready for planting. The present season is fair, and it is possible there is enough moisture in the ground to bring up crops.

Corn should be in the ground, it is said, and while some farmers grown corn, it is not what we might term a leading crop. A visit over the south half of the county revealed the fact that considerable rain has been received during recent weeks, and that grain crops look fairly well. However, because of the lack of feed many individuals are now grazing these grain fields. Cattle look well, and pastures are beginning to get green.

In the peanut area most of the land has been prepared, but farmers are awaiting the time to plant. The same may be said with reference to cotton farmers.

FFA Calf Show At Rising Star Next Saturday

Rising Star's annual FFA Boys' Calf show will be staged at the municipal market building in that city Saturday afternoon, according to H. L. Geyer, vocational agriculture instructor in Rising Star High School.

The event is sponsored by the Rising Star Chamber of Commerce, and ribbons are to be awarded as prizes.

O. B. Edmondson, vocational agriculture teacher of Cross Plains will judge the calves.

It also has been announced that the Rising Star High School Band will present a band concert as part of the afternoon's program.

Country Club To Have Bingo Party

Members of Lakeside Country Club are planning an old time Bingo party which will be held at the club Friday night at eight o'clock. All members are invited, and they may take their friends if they wish. One week later, on March 27, members will observe "Feast Night."

Frost Is Okayed As New Member Brazos Board

In a closed session at Austin Wednesday, the Texas State Senate confirmed several recent appointments by Gov. Allan Shivers.

Included among the okayed appointees was Jack Frost, Eastland attorney, to the Board of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District.

Also approved as a new director of the BRC&RD was J. V. Hammett of Lampasas, Glen D. Birdwell of Richmond, Churchill Duncan of Killeen, J. Howard Fox, Hearne; J. B. Matthews, Albany; J. Bruce Parks, Clifton; Raymond Holubec, Granger; W. E. Boger, Cleburne.

HAMNER CALLS MEETING FOR WORKERS OF RED CROSS BLOOD DRIVE; INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN

"Blood saves lives," was given by Mrs. A. L. Murrell, Eastland chairman of the Red Cross Blood Program, as one of three important reasons why local citizens should be eager to donate blood.

Addressing members of the recruitment committee at a meeting called by the chairman, Ben Hamner, Tuesday night, Mrs. Murrell stressed the tremendous blood demands caused by the Korean War and reminded those attending that wounded service men do come first in the allocation of whole blood and plasma.

"Blood can't be manufactured," is the second reason she gave why those who are able to should want to give. No amount of money can buy its health-giving value, she said. Nor, has scientific research produced a substitute with equal benefits.

"It is a part of your life, and it goes to another person who needs it in order to live or to regain his health."

"It doesn't hurt," she emphasized as her third reason. A skin anesthetic is used, she said. Doctors and nurses are in attendance to insure that blood is accepted only from those who are in the proper physical condition.

This year's quota for Eastland will be 150 pints, the city chairman said. Last year only 114 pints were donated.

The Blood Mobile Unit, which will be in Eastland April 1, will be set up to handle eight donors every 15 minutes.

"It is very important that donors be on time," Mrs. Murrell added, "for several delays may mean falling short of the quota."

Ben Hamner, chairman for recruitment, explained to his committee members that anyone between the ages of 18 and 59, in good health, may give blood. However, he said, unmarried persons between the age of 18 and 21 must have the consent of their parents or guardian.

Hamner distributed to those who attended donor cards to be used in the recruiting. He was assisted by the co-chairman of his committee, Bill Collins.

Following Mrs. Murrell's talk, Mrs. E. E. Freyschlag, county chairman of the American Red Cross, explained that the huge cost of collecting, preparing and packaging blood is borne by the Red Cross.

The increased need for blood for the Armed Services plus the need for Gamma Globulin are two very good reasons why the Red Cross must have larger donations this year, she said.

Attending the meeting were Miss Betty Pickens, Mesrs. Fern Lund, Guy Sherrill, A. J. Blevins, Jr., Leo Stambaugh, Jack Germany, Vernon Red of Olden, and John Nix of Morton Valley.

Messrs. Lowell Snyder, Hubert Jones, C. H. McFadden, Curtin Koen and C. G. Stinchcomb.

Last Rites For Cisco Woman This Afternoon

Funeral services for Miss Effie Jane Moore, 68-year-old retired post office worker and resident of Cisco for 45 years, were held this afternoon at 2 p. m. at the First Baptist Church in Blossom.

The Rev. Metzger of Hooks, Tex., officiated, and interment was in Knights of Honor Cemetery at Blossom.

Miss Moore died in a Cisco hospital early Wednesday morning following a brief illness.

Miss Moore came to Cisco in 1908 from Weatherford. She was born at Blossom, Lamar County, Aug. 5, 1884. In 1910 she began teaching in Cisco public schools and taught until 1919.

In January, 1920 she began working in the Cisco postoffice and held her position there until she retired in August, 1946. Miss Moore was an active worker in the First Baptist Church, where she taught a Sunday School class for many years, and is a former member of the 20th Century Club.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. J. H. Ragsdale, Blossom; Mrs. Fielding Lee, Colorado City, and Miss Gertrude Moore, Cisco, and one brother, Rex Moore, Cisco.

What Readers Say:

"Why did you donate blood to the American Red Cross?"

When confronted with this question, Eastlandites who have given blood in the past were ready with the answers. Here are some of them. Others will appear later.

If the thoughts expressed are also your own, remember that the Blood Mobile Unit will be in Eastland again April 1.

"During World War II, I served two years with a hospital unit in Europe.

"Seeing the boys brought in from the battlefields in every condition and knowing how many required blood made me realize more deeply how important it was to have blood available.

"This deep realization is the reason that I give blood to the American Red Cross."

—Paul Daniel

"As an American citizen I think it is my duty to give blood to the Red Cross. It is the least I can do to help."

—Mrs. V. T. Seaberry

"It was my thought that by giving blood I might help save the life of some boy who is fighting to maintain and preserve our American way of life."

—Judge Milburn S. Long

Hope For Rain Seen Today By Weather Men

The morning forecast of the U. S. Weather Bureau brought hopeful smiles to the countenances of Eastland County residents.

Because government weather men, in their latest communique, say "a chance for light rain or drizzles late Thursday and Friday."

The morning forecast called for partly cloudy and mild weather for today and tomorrow, with the high temperatures both days due to be around the 80-degree mark.

Tonight's low will be around 50 degrees, the Weather Bureau said.

The West Texas forecast: "Generally fair and mild Thursday, Friday, partly cloudy and mild, with widely scattered thundershowers east of the Pecos and east portion of the South Plains.

MRS. S. E. SNODGRASS, LIVELY LITTLE LADY OF 95, KEEPS YOUNG IN DESDEMONA HOME

Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass, in many ways, is one of the most remarkable women in West Texas. First she has had more experience than most of us, for she is now about ready to make preparations to observe her 96th birthday, which comes in August of this year.

Mrs. Snodgrass is the widow of the late Dr. S. E. Snodgrass, who practiced medicine in Desdemona for more than half a century, and while he passed away along in the middle 30s, she has never seen fit to leave the old home place, according to her own statement, probably never will.

The writer made a special trip to Desdemona Monday afternoon, for the sole purpose of meeting this wonderful little lady. We had no trouble locating her home, for every person in that area knows her. We knocked on her door and looking through the glass we saw what we thought might be a woman in her sixties. To herself we said "that's probably one of her daughters who looks after her."

We told the lady our name and our business, and asked if we might see Mrs. Snodgrass. Then we got the shock of our life when she said to us: "I am Mrs. Snodgrass." She invited us in and after we had been shown to a seat by this "young lady" we caught our breath, and remarked that it had been our opinion that she was an elderly lady about 90 years of age. "I am 95 now, will celebrate my 96th birthday in August." We could have fainted again, only didn't, for we were beginning to realize that we might need all our strength if other revelations should come from this fair lady.

We have interviewed presidents, governors and congressmen, but for the first time we felt a weakness—we didn't know what to ask her next. Finally we regained consciousness and asked how long she had resided in Desdemona. "About 73 years," she replied. "The doctor and I moved here from Waco immediately after our marriage. For a time they resided on their farm just north of town, but as the doctor's practice continued to grow it became necessary for the couple to move into town, though she says she really loved the farm home.

As we watched her walk about the room in a very graceful manner, we wondered how a person 96 years old could walk about with the greatest of ease. She is not stooped, but almost as straight as the proverbial Indian, and her voice sounds as though she might be 26 rather than 96 years of age. As a matter of fact she could pass for 60 to 65 anywhere.

Another thing we noted was the clearness of her mind. She was on the alert all the time we were there, answering questions and giving out information, and her mind appeared to be clear as that of a 16-year-old girl.

Is Methodist

We knew she was a Christian from the very expression on her face. Finally we asked her about church affiliation, and she admitted that she was a Methodist, and had been for most of her life. This was good, but we figured a woman of her age had probably quit trying to attend services—only she hasn't. "I don't attend Sunday School very often, but I am present for the worship hour most every Sunday morning. Of course when the weather is too bad, I don't try to go."

Her health is pretty good, much better than many women half her age, so we asked how she managed

Rat Hole Is Producer, Too!

OIL GUSHES FROM HOLLOW TREE NEAR EASTLAND

Money doesn't grow on trees. Neither does it's equivalent—liquid gold, oil.

Yet reports from the area oil patches in Eastland County today indicate that the black gold is flowing from trees.

These "freak flows," say oil men, are not really oil wells, but they are producing oil.

For instance, in the newly discovered field south of Eastland, a hollow tree and a rat hole have been spewing oil. Output of these "freak flows" is being hauled to refineries.

In explanation of this odd phenomenon, a driller explained that most of the wells in the vicinity have a high gas pressure, and after they are capped gas forces out the oil which seeks an avenue of escape. In one case, a nearby hollow tree was an outlet. Near another well, oil poured out of a large rat hole. Several barrels of oil daily pour out of the tree.

Mrs. John Love, chairman of Eastland County's current Red Cross fund campaign, announced early Thursday that a total of $4,750.51 has been collected by a corps of volunteer solicitors thus far during the campaign.

In urging completion of the county-wide canvas for funds, Mrs. Love said, "The only way to be sure is for every worker to personally contact each individual in her territory. If all would give, it would not be hard on anyone."

The county fund chairman stressed that the services of the national organization and local Red Cross chapter are entirely dependent upon voluntary donations.

Persons who have not been contacted for contributions are asked to contact Mrs. E. E. Freyschlag, Eastland; Mrs. John Love, Ranger, or the county chapter office of the Red Cross in Eastland, and their donations will be picked up by volunteer solicitors.

SNYDER SOLON FIGHTS COURT CHANGE BILL

One West Texas House member, C. F. Sentell of Snyder, has announced in advance that he will oppose the judicial reorganization bill which has been introduced in the House.

The bill calls for the death of the 132nd District Court, composed of Borden and Scurry Counties, in 1957. Scurry and Borden are put for the time being into two judicial districts, 132d and 32d, the old district it was formerly in with Mitchell and Nolan.

The 32d is a "temporary" court, set up originally to last until 1957. But, Rep. Sentell says, the business is so heavy that it will continue to be needed.

"We are filing an average of a case a day," he estimated, "and need the fulltime service of a court. The peak of the boom may be over, but the court business is still there. I shall make every effort to make it a permanent court."

Representatives from other West Texas districts where the reorganizing, sponsored by the State Bar Association, makes changes favor the bill. It duplicates bills by Omar Burkett to abolish the Eastland and Court and by Hylon Brown of Midland and W. G. Kirkin of Odessa to separate their counties into two courts.

Candidate For Mayor At Cisco Quits Tuesday

H. V. Kirby, one of the three Cisco men who had announced their candidacy for mayor in elections to be held April 4, announced Tuesday he has withdrawn from the race.

Kirby said he felt many vital issues face the city in the next two years and the post needs a man with more experience in government.

Kirby's withdrawal leaves the present mayor, G. C. Rosenthal and Joe Britain in the race. Britain is the present police and fire commissioner. He has one more year to serve in that post.

Waterfowl Zone Plan Showing Big Expansion

The Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission reported progress for the plan to zone the annual waterfowl harvest according to climate rather than by state lines.

The observation was made on his return from Washington where he presided at a meeting of the National Waterfowl Council of which he is chairman. This session preceded the annual North American Wildlife Conference.

The Executive Secretary said it was significant that the Waterfowl Council, which comprises representatives of the four flyway areas reflected further responsibility as a counseling medium and as a workhorse to aid in the United States Wildlife Service which sets seasons and establishes regulations.

The revolutionary plan for zoning hunting zones, placing the largest states like Texas in more than one zone, was endorsed by the Waterfowl Council last year. Texas has long contended that, since its vast boundaries involve such climatic extremes, separate seasons should be provided for the north and south which enhances the plan's chances.

The Executive Secretary said

Civil Service Examinations Be Held In April

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced a new examination for Psychologists.

The positions to be filled are in the specialized fields of physiological and experimental psychology and personnel measurement and evaluation, and are located in various federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and throughout the United States. The entrance salaries are $4,205 and $5,060. Appropriate education or experience, or both, is required; a written test will be given. There is no maximum age limit.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the Commission's Local Secretary, Mr. O. L. McDonald, located at the post office in Eastland, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Places where applications must be filed by April 7, 1953, are given in the examination announcement, available at the above place.

He expects no immediate authorization of the proposal but he believes its ultimate adoption is certain. He added that the present healthy condition of waterfowl stocks enhances the plan's chances.

He said sentiment in Washington seems to be to perpetuate waterfowl harvest regulations as to shooting hours, baiting and other basic regulations and to effect the annual adjustments of numbers of waterfowl to be killed through shorter or longer seasons, and smaller or larger bag limits.

Texas producers sold more livestock during 1952 than in 1951 but their gross receipts were down

13 per cent. The lower average price for cattle was a major cause; however, according to C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, other factors also helped cut the net returns to producers. Feed supplies were short and the heavy expenditures for forage and d and concentrates "soaked-up" much of the $970 million received for livestock and livestock products during the past year, says Bates.

During recent years, he adds, about 62 percent of the farmers' gross income has been spent for operating expenses and when prices for livestock and related items were high, these costs were less painful. But, it is a different story today.

Since, says the specialist, feed purchases take a big chunk of the total income, this item may offer the possibilities for savings. It is doubly important this year, he adds, because the cost of items used in production are not likely to drop in price.

Growing more of the needed feeds on the farm or ranch offers perhaps the best possibility for cutting costs. Of course, points out Bates, moisture conditions will have to change very materially in many areas of the state before plantings can be made. Here are his suggestions: increase plantings of high-yielding forage and grain crops; use supplementary pastures such as small grain, sudan and legumes where conditions permit; use fertilizers and soil renovation practices when practical and build the necessary fences to permit rotation grazing of pastures and fields.

And finally, says Bates, no livestock business can continue to be profitable without storage facilities for reserve feed supplies. One of the cheapest and best is the trench silo. Silage can be kept, if properly stored, for several seasons without loss in quality. If storage facilities are available, considerable savings can be made by putting up a supply of hay during the harvest season when prices are lowest. The same is true, says Bates, for either purchased or home grown grains.

It all adds up, he says, to good business management when adequate facilities are provided on the farm or ranch to store the reserve feed supplies needed. A conference with your local county agent, suggests Bates, may prove profitable for he can give tips on both production and storage problems.

'Don't Expect Too Much' Is Couple's Advice

A couple that still likes to cuddle close after 68 years of married life advises newlyweds not to expect too much of each other.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hughes of Kosciusko, Miss., have been together since Christmas night of 1884.

Mrs. Hughes, a spry little woman with a big smile, said she promised herself when she was married that "I'm not going to let him be better to me than I am to him."

The two, who live on a modest farm home near here, have raised 10 children, and Mrs. Hughes made a promise to herself about the children, too.

"I used to say that no man would ever curse me because my girls didn't know how to cook and do other housework."

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes agree that children should be given little jobs to do at home. "Raise children up to do nothing and the chances are that they won't do anything or amount to anything when they're grown," Hughes maintains. They feel, too, that if you spank children "at the right time and in the right way, it will have the desired effect."

"Parents today threaten too much and do too little," Mrs. Hughes said. "You've got to let children know you mean what you say."

But to get back to their advice that young married couples should not expect too much of each other.

"We're all human," Mrs. Hughes explained. "Nobody's right all the time," Hughes chimed in.

They have had their disagreements, but they never fight about them.

They just remember that everyone is human, and then try to outdo each other in being nice.

There are 26,000,000 females in Britain—over 1,500,000 more than the males. Below the age of 15, boys predominate.

Drought Hits Antelope Herd

The Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission said negative reports are being received from far West Texas about the antelope herd.

He said the status of the fleet, two-toned animals has become so uncertain that the weather during the next six weeks may determine whether there will be an open season next fall.

The Big Bend country was restocked several years ago and the herds thrived to the extent that three successive open seasons were held, the last being in 1951.

Then the following dry weather weakened the herd and cut the reproduction rate. The Game Commission, at its July 1952 meeting, decided that while a limited harvest was possible, it would be wiser to close the season altogether for 1952.

Lately, unfavorable reports have again been received because of the drought, according to the Executive Secretary. The antelope were described as running short of nourishment since the ranges have been blighted by a winter-long dry spell.

The executive secretary said that should the drought be broken shortly the natural food for the antelope probably would be restored in time to help the herd through the vital fawning season.

Meanwhile, he added, the small antelope herd in the Panhandle was reported thriving although there is some question as to whether it has attained sufficient size to warrant an open season.

The United States has never been without an Army, although at one time the Army almost disappeared. Soon after Yorktown, the Continental Congress disbanded most of the Continental Army. It authorized a force of only 80 men — "twenty-five privates to guard the stores at Fort Pitt and fifty-five to guard the stores at West Point.

Loan Sharks Are Gupping Texans

Many of the millions of dollars of which Texans are being gouged annually by loan shark companies go to the enrichment of out-of-state owners, declare members of the State Junior Bar anti-usury committee which is supporting an anti-loan shark amendment to the State Constitution.

A situation in which borrowers have to pay 200 per cent and more interest even if the extortionate profits remained in Texas but is even more vicious when Texas citizens are mugged for the benefit of a few residents of Georgia, Tennessee, Delaware, and other states who own loan company "chains." President Tom Reavley of the State Junior Bar declares, "when the roll is called, I am confident that legislatures will line up for the welfare of our state and for the protection of its citizens."

Rep. Wm. Kugle of Galveston has introduced a constitutional amendment which would retain the 10 per cent maximum interest rate but would authorize the legislature to place a ceiling on all charges a borrower has to pay. This would permit legislation which has been found so effective in other states that it has driven the loan shark out of those states and into Texas.
