Portuguese Movie Men In Campaign To Change Law

LIBSON — The theatre owners association here has asked the Portuguese government to ease a controversial new law stringently restricting the types of movies and plays that may be seen by children and adolescents.

The exhibitors say the law, which went into effect last Jan. 1 "to safeguard the moral interests of youth," has seriously slashed their revenue.

Leaders of the opinion favoring the law include the Catholic press, Catholic circles generally and university student groups.

The government said "all claims or suggestions" would be carefully studied, but added the moral interests of youth would be upheld above material interest. The new law affects movie-goers up to 19 years of age.

Isolated Aussies Studying New Two-Way Radio

SYDNEY, Australia — Lessons by two-way radio for "out-back" children will be introduced in New South Wales this year.

Education Minister Robert J. Heffron said officials of his department already had started to plan a "school of the air."

Seven thousand children in 4,000 "outback" homes now rely entirely on correspondence lessons because of the great distances they live from schools. Many homes have radio transceivers for the Flying Doctor Service. In these cases no more equipment will be needed for children to tune in to the radio school.

"The scheme will be better than broadcast lessons because students will be able to discuss problems with their teachers," Heffron said.

Poisonings In Homes Object Of Big Study

Dr. Morton J. Rodman of Rutgers University is waging a one-man war against household poisoning that will take the lives of 600 children during 1953.

The College of Pharmacy professor said there were hundreds of household preparations not meant for internal use which are left constantly within reach of children.

Rodman said frantic calls for a have been "all too frequent" at chemical analysis of some product the college. "Sometimes the answer is given in time, sometimes not," he said.

Among household items which have brought sudden illness and death to children are metal polishes, paint removers and insect repellents. Ingredients or antidotes of such products are seldom listed on the label, Rodman said.

Rodman hopes to cut the needless deaths through poison by compling a list of the chemical constituents of many commercial products which have poisoned children in the past. He also is compiling a list of antidotes—a slow and painstaking process.

Rodman feels that if his efforts save only a single life, the extra work will be worth it.

Ozarks Boast Grandma Moses

Mrs. Laura Ann Turner, 82-year-old widow, painter and writer of folklore, is known as "the Grandma Moses of the Ozarks," at Mountain View, Mo.

Mrs. Turner signs all her verses and paintings, "Hillbilly Ann." Unlike Grandma Moses, Hillbilly Ann began painting as a girl. She started writing verse during World War I when her two sons were in military service.

A native of Illinois, Mrs. Turner has lived in this Ozark region for more than 50 years. She moved to the outskirts of Mountain View with the first of her five husbands, a traveling optometrist who fitted her with a glass eye to replace the eye she lost in a childhood accident.

Hillbilly Ann's paintings are primitive but strong in line and color. They have a personal quality that appeals to many tourists looking for an inexpensive memento of the Ozarks.

Using ordinary household enamel and a piece of cardboard, she disdains brushes and employs a forefinger technique. Her rural landscapes, log cabins, and ocean front scenes come out of her imagination rather than from reality.

Living alone since the death of her last husband, a preacher, Hillbilly Ann manages to do all the odd chores around the house despite a partially paralyzed left leg. She is best known for her mimeographed booklet, "Meditations of Life, the Poetical Works of Hillbilly Ann."

Westinghouse scientists estimate that if it were possible to take complete advantage of the uranium that could be accommodated in an average-sized living room, it could supply the current electric power output of the United States for about 15 years.

PLYMOUTH ANNOUNCES HY-DRIVE

NO-SHIFT DRIVING
in the lowest-priced field!

Drive without shifting! Drive with new smoothness!
Drive with Plymouth's sensationally new HY-DRIVE!
Nothing new to learn—HY-DRIVE makes driving easier than ever! Plymouth's new HY-DRIVE is available now for the 1953 Plymouth of your choice—at the lowest cost of any no-shift unit in the lowest-priced field!

HY-DRIVE is easy to use! Start the engine with the lever in neutral. Simply move the lever into high, and you're in HY-DRIVE! In traffic, starting or stopping, cross-town or cross-country, HY-DRIVE lets you drive without shifting—just brake or accelerate!

HY-DRIVE starts smooth, stays smooth! From standstill to cruising, there's never a lurch or jerk as your speed increases; no lagging engine action. When your toe says "go," you're off and away with HY-DRIVE's fast, powerful response!

HY-DRIVE takes to the hills! No need for a long running start. Just feed more gas; HY-DRIVE instantly provides the extra power your car needs to take steep grades without slowing down. HY-DRIVE also gives you braking action coming down a hill.

Stay where you stop with HY-DRIVE. On an upgrade like this HY-DRIVE lets you keep your hands on the wheel, your foot on the accelerator. There's no need to use the parking brake—just speed up your engine a trifle to offset the backward pull of the slope.

Feel fresh, all day long, with HY-DRIVE! It takes so little effort to drive with HY-DRIVE. There's no "traffic fatigue" from continually working up and down through conventional gears. You drive with new ease, new sureness, and HY-DRIVE saves your energy!

HY-DRIVE gives you better control. Because HY-DRIVE applies power to the rear wheels smoothly, you get better traction on icy, wet or slippery streets. For rocking out of deep mud or snow, your low and second gears are there, with the normal clutch control.

Plymouth's new HY-DRIVE is an advanced torque converter development; a simple, self-contained unit that never needs adjustment, special care, or expensive upkeep. Your nearby Plymouth dealer invites you to drive a new Plymouth equipped with new HY-DRIVE—to see for yourself how much HY-DRIVE smoothness and ease will add to your driving pleasure. ### Form of ACTH Useful In Dairy Cow's Disease

A new form of the drug ACTH shows promise for use in controlling ketosis in dairy cows, the Armour Veterinary Laboratories has announced.

The special form of ACTH is called adrenomone. It is not safe for humans.

J. C. Shaw, professor of dairy husbandry at the University of Maryland, which cooperated in the experiments, said that in most cases a single injection of adrenomone cleared up the disease. He said cows resumed normal milk production in three to 12 days.

Ketosis, known by many other names, is a metabolic disease in cows. Veterinarians estimate it costs the dairy farmer more than $10,000,000 a year. The major effect of the disease is to reduce milk production. It results in the animal producing large quantities of ketone bodies which may give a characteristic choleform-like flavor to the milk. Cause of ketosis is not known.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED IN PEANUT PRODUCTION

COLLEGE STATION — Increased yields of high quality nuts can make peanut production in the state a more profitable farm crop, says E. A. Miller, agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Acreage allotments are low, therefore, yields must be increased in order to get the most from the limited acres. But, says Miller, quality must also be improved along with the yield per acre.

Several years ago a 7-step program was outlined by a group of successful peanut growers, processors and research and extension workers. Miller reports that progress has been made but dry weather and unfavorable growing conditions have handicapped the program for the past two or three years. Moisture conditions are generally favorable now in most of the heavy peanut producing counties and the specialist suggests that growers take another look at the 7-step outline.

Peanuts should be grown in combination with other crops, pastures and livestock for balanced farming. Poor distribution of labor, depleted soil fertility and organic matter and increased wind erosion result from one crop peanut farming, says Miller.

High yields—they're the profitable ones — are produced from fertile and well managed soils. The use of legumes in the rotation, applying barnyard manure, leaving or plowing under all crop residues, and using commercial fertilizers, points out Miller, are practices which will improve the soil and increase production.

Plant only the best seed of the recommended varieties and if the seed nuts have not been chemically treated by the seller, treat them and also home produced seed to get better germination and stands, says Miller. From 35 to 40 pounds of shelled peanuts should be planted per acre, and research done at the Stephenville Experiment Station shows that stands can be improved by as much as 50 percent and yield increased from 7 to 12 bushels an acre by chemically treating the planting seed.

Growers are advised by Miller to consult the local county agent for information on controlling the diseases and insects which attack their crop.

The specialist says using practices which increase yields will also lower production costs. Using modern machinery will reduce the amount of labor needed to produce the crop and cut costs.

Peanuts should be harvested as soon as the nuts are mature, especially if southern blight is present. If windrowed, thresh as soon as the plants are dry enough to reduce splitting of the kernel during the shelling. Cure the nuts in sacks, says Miller, either in ricks or artificially. A good threshing job is a must for the grower is docked for the dirt, sticks and

Rates of State Taxes Greatly Vary Over U.S.

The Federation of Tax Administrators reports that although state tax systems are similar, they vary considerably in rates.

The federation said its survey showed gasoline taxes ranged from three cents to seven cents a gallon, cigarette taxes from two to eight cents a pack and liquor taxes from 75 to $2.75 a gallon.

State income taxes varied in rates, degree of graduation in rates, and in exemptions to the taxes.

The federation said tax rates lacked uniformity because of these factors: the distribution of state and local functions and the revenue sources available at each level the extent to which property taxes are used as a source of state revenue; the difference in legislative thinking as to whether a state should obtain increased revenue from further use of broad-based taxes or from selective taxes.

Also influencing rates, the federation said, is the rate being levied in an adjoining state and by population density in border areas. It said states had to consider potential revenue loss through evasion by out-of-state buying.

trash left in the peanuts. Know the grade and value of the nuts and sell on grade. And, reminds Miller, clean well-filled nuts bring the most money.

Miller believes that many of the peanut production and marketing problems can be solved through the application and use of the practices recommended under the 7-step program. Fit peanuts into balanced farming; take care of the soil; plant good seed properly treated; make labor count; control diseases and insects; harvest and thresh for high grade and sell for grade and variety value.

Prep Gals Like Woodworking

COHASSET, Mass. — Local high school girls are busily proving that women can do anything men can do—and possibly better—since the woodworking shop course at the high school has been opened to them.

The instructor, Charles H. Russell, said the girls can see the end result of their projects before completion and as a result are more adept at doing the finishing steps on woodwork. Also, they surpass boys in ability to mix colors.

Any Way You Look At It—
... there seems to be no way of escaping the crushing tide of automobile accidents. Statistics now available show a new high score for 1952, and locally the situation is no better so far for 1953. Apparently more steam must be applied to traffic education even though many individuals and organizations are hard at work trying to solve our problems.
