EASTLAND, TEXAS, THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1953

PP. 1 VE CENT

AROUND THE SQUARE

Last year we tore our shirt for "Ike" and in a way helped him sack up the Texas vote. We are very happy to have rendered this service, in our more or less feeble manner, but do you know those darned Republicans haven't so much as mentioned a postoffice to much less throw some high-sounding "Diplomatic Post" on our plate.

We don't mind, for we would have supported this great man on any ticket he might have chosen. We are still for him, tooth and nail, for we think he will prove to be one of the greatest presidents the nation has ever known. Yet we still think it would have been wise to have chosen a few good Democrats to keep the Republicans straight, during Ike's term in office. After all it was the Democrats who elected him, for there are not enough Republicans in the United States to elect anybody president. They must attract a few good Democrats in order to win.

However, the bait they used during the campaign was most excellent. Not just a few, but millions of Democrats voted for Ike, and so far we haven't heard a single Democrat say he is sorry—they would support Ike again tomorrow. The reason for this is that Ike is bigger than both parties. He works in interest of all America, and if he never sees fit to continue a "political plum" we shall continue our activities in his behalf.

No doubt the government could pay us more than our boss has seen fit to pay, now that the Truman "leak" has been partially plugged, but we wonder if we could earn the salary. Our present boss has an idea that we are grossly overpaid, and it could be like might get an idea that his "federal job" was really no more than a "federal pension" given us as a kind of "booby prize" for good behavior. When the ice under your feet gets that thin, better begin looking out for another job.

On second thought we have decided to continue writing "Around the Square" even if the salary is smaller than that usually paid "ward heelers."

No fooling—we are all proud of our president. Everybody likes him, but the commies, and they are afraid of him.

Those fellows can't be honest or truthful if it seems, for right now, during the exchange of prisoners, we are learning some things that forever brands them as a nation of liars and cheats.

A common cur dog in the United States is better off than a prince in that land of sin and shame. We regret to see a dog suffer and die, while over there they regret that a man can be liquidated only once. They like to see them live and suffer. But when those big bullies get to hell, the devil will likely abdicate. He won't have a place hot enough to punish them so he may compromise by giving them a match and telling them to go start a little hell of their own.

If this be treason, then buy us a cup of coffee—if not make it two cups.

If you have a good second hand suit for sale, call Watson at the Quality Food Store. Phone 11.

Burglars Enter Hamner Home; Take Little Loot

Burglars who entered the Ben Hamner home in Eastland Monday morning completely wrecked a good Yale lock on the back door, but so far as can be determined at this time, limited their activities to the taking of one camera.

The burglary was committed between the hours of 10:30 and 11 a.m. as it was at this time there was no one in the home. A hammer, owned by Mr. Hamner, and a screw driver furnished by the burglar, were the tools used. Both were left at the Hamner home.

One arrest has been made, though officers are still working on the case. The first suspect has been released.

ARC Course In Home Nursing Begins April 28

Mrs. Bill Tucker, Home Nursing Chairman, of the Eastland County Chapter of the Red Cross announced today that anyone interested in taking the 12 hour home nursing course to begin April 28th, should immediately contact Mrs. O. L. Hooper, 506 South Daugherty St., Eastland. Mrs. Hooper's telephone number is 612. The first class will be held in the City Hall from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 on Tuesday and Wednesday of each week until the 12 hour course is completed.

The instructors for the first class will be Mrs. Otto Marshall and Mrs. Bill Tucker.

The room which has been supplied by the City of Eastland has been freshly painted and all the equipment needed has either been donated loaned or bought. All is in readiness for the class to start.

All persons desiring to take the course should contact Mrs. Hooper who is responsible for the class roll. Other classes will be scheduled later. Many persons have indicated an interest in this program and the home nursing committee plans to have classes scheduled so that people who work during the day may also have an opportunity to enroll for night classes.

Students will learn how to meet simple emergencies in the home; how to recognize some of the early signs of illness; how to give simple nursing care to the sick and injured at home; how to keep the family well, and many other valuable skills in giving nursing care.

Such skills as how to properly bath a bed patient, giving a steam inhalation to a patient in bed, how to prepare and apply hot compresses, how to give an enema, and many other essentials in caring for the ill. The danger of self-treatment will also be a part of the course.

Lane Is Delegate To PTK Meeting At San Antonio

Charles J. Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Lane of Eastland, will represent Delta Tau Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa Fraternity, Ranger Junior College, at the Phi Theta Kappa National Convention at San Antonio on April 23-25.

Junior colleges from all parts of the United States will be represented at the convention, which is to be held during San Antonio's annual celebration of Fiesta Week.

Phi Theta Kappa is a national junior college honor fraternity with approximately 141 chapters in the United States and the Panama Canal Zone.

$16,500 More Cash Is Needed—

Opening Of Girls Academy Delayed

Opening of the ranch home for girls, awaiting state approval of its charter, has been further delayed by another obstacle, it was reported here today.

Rev. Claude H. Harris, founder of the home, must raise $16,500 more in funds to comply with terms of the charter.

Rev. Harris and his wife, who have been residing on the home site located halfway between Eastland and Breckenridge, have moved to Breckenridge temporarily and Rev. Harris will take to the field to raise the needed funds.

The home is known as the Girls' Christian Academy and has been highly publicized in newspapers over the area.

During Rev. and Mrs. Harris' absence from the Academy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Herring will reside at the ranch home. Mrs. Herring will be secretary, and Herring will be assistant supervisor.

Not For Delinquents
This is not to be a home for delinquent girls, nor for the unwed mother, but a home for neglected girls, largely coming from broken homes. It is a home where teenage girls will be given parental protection and an education.

Eight Men On Venire— 4 More Jurors Being Chosen

Four more jurymen for the coming murder trial of Donald Hawkins Brown, accused New Year's Eve slayer of Joe Campbell, 25-year-old finance collector and former Ranger resident, were yet to be selected as Judge Henry King opened the third day of pre-trial procedure in the Criminal District Court in Dallas this morning.

When the court had recessed yesterday afternoon, a total of eight jurymen had been selected.

During the three days spent thus far in choosing the 12-man jury to hear the bizarre case, a total of 80 veniremen have been interviewed.

The defense counsel has used eight of its preemptory challenges, the prosecution has used four.

Most of the prospective candidates for service on the special jury disqualified themselves by asserting that they could not vote a death penalty on circumstantial evidence.

District Attorney Henry Wade's case against Brown, who has been held without bond in a Dallas County jail since his arrest in Fort Worth in mid-January, is based on circumstantial evidence, and during the questioning of jurors in Judge King's court this week he has indicated that the state will introduce about 50 witnesses, all of whom will offer circumstantial testimony.

Chief exhibit of the state will be a blood-stained pair of bus driver's trousers, bearing Brown's name, which were found in the attic of the apartment house where the defendant, his wife, and their two small children were residing in South Dallas at the time of the sadistic gun-torch slaying of the ex-Rangerite on New Year's Eve.

The defense counsel of the 24-year-old former bus driver will seek to prove that Brown was not near the scene of the crime and his whereabouts was "elsewhere," thus making it impossible for him to be guilty of Campbell's murder.

The prosecution will ask for a death sentence for Brown.

In court Wednesday, during jury examination, several bus drivers were present, and occasionally exchanged nods with Brown.

As usual, Brown's wife sat at his side clasping his hand.

When Brown was arrested—14 days after the slaying had been committed—he was living with his wife and two daughters in Fort Worth under an assumed name.

It is possible that the 12-man jury to determine Brown's fate may be completed by late this afternoon. There was a possibility, however, that the special venire would not be filled until sometime Friday.

Heart of Texas Singers To Meet In Voca, April 26

The Heart of Texas annual singers' reunion will be held at Voca, in the school auditorium, Sunday, April 26th. It will be an all-day affair with a concert on Saturday night before.

Many well known quartets will take part in the singing. Among those will be the Bowden National Quartet of Fort Worth, the Stamps Indian Family quartet of Lawton, Okla., the Gospel Tone Quartet of Oklahoma City, the Brown Family Quartet of Fort Worth, the Rhythmaires and Willis Family, and many others.

Voca is 12 miles southeast of Brady on highway 734. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Little Items Of Local Interest

John Nix of the Morton Valley community was in Eastland early today, but it was not "wet weather" that brought him to town. Got about a quarter of an inch out his way.

Eastland's new oil field is attracting considerable attention at this time. Several pretty good wells have been brought in in this area during recent weeks.

County Judge Hart told us today that he got a little rain last night, but not enough to do any good.

Land Dedicated

This section of land was dedicated as the home of the "Girls' Christian Academy." The first cash contribution came from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Harris.

Now that the first building is nearing completion, the Rev. Harris feels that he has made some progress, but that he still has a life's work ahead of him.

The first building, a frame, contains the equivalent of about eight rooms, and is so divided as to give home quarters for the supervisor and his family, three additional bedrooms, two baths, a large living room to be used as a reception room, and an oversized kitchen and dining room. To this must be added a screened porch and what will be the well room where electric pressure pumps will operate over a 90-foot well.

The building has hardwood floors throughout.

Two large earthen dams also have been completed on the site and there will be two lakes on the grounds in the near future, Rev. Harris said.

More Rain Is Forecast Today For County Area

The weather man finally hit the jackpot early today.

Because in the pre-dawn hours light rains dampened thirsty Eastland County acres and light drizzles and dark, overcast skies gave promise that there'd be more precipitation today.

Partly cloudy and cooler weather was forecast in the morning communique of the U. S. Weather Bureau. Showers also were predicted.

The high temperature for today and Friday was scheduled around 80 with tonight's low about 50 degrees.

The forecast for North Central Texas: "Considerable cloudiness and widely scattered thundershowers Thursday. Friday partly cloudy with no important temperature changes."

Outlook for West Texas: "Considerable cloudiness and widely scattered thundershowers Thursday. Friday, partly cloudy with no important temperature changes."

Slow Shower To Benefit Growing Crops, Gardens

The weatherman made a good guess Wednesday when he announced rain for Eastland Wednesday and Thursday. Of course there has been no damage from high water, though the rain gauge did show .33 or about one-third of an inch.

This will greatly benefit growing gardens and early crops, though very likely there will be additional rain before the day passes.

Dairy Show To Be Held April 25 At Rising Star

The Eastland County Dairy Show will be held at Rising Star, Saturday, April 25, according to an announcement recently by A. Z. Myrick, Cisco, president of the County Dairy Association.

The Rising Star Chamber of Commerce together with the dairy organization are sponsoring the show. This will be the first time for the county event to be held in that part of the county.

All animals must be in their places near the market building in Rising Star by 10:30 o'clock that morning. They may be removed and taken home by 4:00 p.m., Myrick said in inviting dairymen and farmers with good animals to enter them. The animals do not have to be registered or purebred but should be representative of their breed. Animals of the Jersey, Holstein, Ayrshire or Guernsey breed may enter.

Joe Bob and Don Shelton, prominent Jersey breeders of Brownwood will be the judging. T. D. Wheat, Eastland, agricultural representative of a utility firm will act as master of ceremonies.

A junior and senior judging contest will be held in the morning reports H. L. Geyer, vocational agriculture in the high school there. Merchandise prizes will be given to the top five winners of each division.

Several Jersey heifers are to be awarded during the day as a continuation of the Eastland County Youth Dairy Program. Animals from other counties are eligible to enter the show.

Eighth Annual Show Gives Much Promise Of Being Best Ever

Pancake Supper Announced By First Methodist

A community pancake night with Aunt Jemima in person to cook, supervise, and serve her pancakes will be held at the First Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, April 29. Several in the community have attended Aunt Jemima pancake suppers in other towns and we are glad to be able to present Aunt Jemima in person which will be on a come-and-go basis for several hours on Wednesday evening, Rev. J. Morris Bailey said in making the announcement.

The pancake supper will be under the general direction of the Glen Lake Methodist Camp committee of the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Cecil C. Collings is chairman of the committee. Other members of the committee are N. P. McCarney, Grady Pipkin, Mrs. A. E. Cushman and Mrs. Ed F. Willman. Proceeds from the Aunt Jemima pancake supper will go to the special offering for the Methodist Camp building program.

Senior and junior high departments of the church school will be immediately in charge of the supper.

Aunt Jemima and her famous personality to flavor the unique pancake supper will be presented through the courtesy and arrangement of the local Pipkin Piggly Wiggly Store.

J. F. Whitefield Passes Today; Rites Pending

John Frederick Whitefield, 64-year-old long-time Ranger resident, died at his home on U. S. Highway 80 east of Ranger this morning at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Whitefield had been in failing health since having suffered a serious heart attack several months ago.

Born in Erath County on Nov. 17, 1888, Mr. Whitefield came to Eastland County back in 1919 during the oil boom era and had made his home in Ranger continuously since that year.

He had been employed as a truck driver by the Lone Star Gas Co. for 28 years.

Funeral services for the 64-year-old resident were pending at noon today, according to Killingsworth Funeral Home which is in charge of arrangements.

Scheduling of a definite time for the final rites for Mr. Whitefield awaits the arrival of a son, J. F. Whitefield, who is now enroute here from Pagosa Springs, Colo.

Survivors include the widow of Ranger; two sons, Charles David Whitefield of Ranger and J. F. Whitefield of Pagosa Springs, Colo.; one step-son, J. E. Wharton of Midland; one brother and five sisters; and seven grandchildren.

When curtains go up at the Eastland high school auditorium tonight at 8:00 o'clock, visitors will see the opening program of the Quarterback Club's Eighth Annual Minstrel Show.

The program, from what can be learned, will be much better and more complete this year than ever before. Some members of the cast have been connected with the Minstrel since its inception, and are learning ways to improve the show.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Taylor have had much to do with making the show the success it should be. Hubert Westfall is chairman this year, and he has done a good job, his friends say. Others could be mentioned, but what's the use? See for yourself.

You will get a thrill when you meet BePop Gourley and Honey Cille Robinson. They handle that musical pantomime like old troopers. Delinquent Webb and Smokey Francis will do some vocal numbers, while B. B. Graham will endeavor to make his guitar talk. Then there are others like Babe Day, Flipjack Hunt and Dotsie McKinney, to say nothing about that trio composed of Chocolate Drop Gibbs, Lollipop Walker and Taffy-Top Taylor.

You will also get acquainted with Miss Candy, Buckshot Wright and Parson Butch Evatt. Snowball Chamberlain will tell you all about Grandma's Lie Soup, Dreamboat Mayhall, Dauber Nicholas, January Rogers and Honk Black will sing a quartet. But it is better that you see for yourself, these and other members of the cast.

E. K. Henderson is interlocutor.

If you haven't bought that ticket get two or three right now. Every dollar made will come right back to you in the form of athletic equipment for our high school.

Plan to be present when the curtain goes up. A second performance will be given Friday night.

County Chairman Announces—

HOLDERS OF U.S. F&G BONDS MATURING THIS YEAR URGED TO EXCHANGE FOR NEW SERIES

Cyrus B. Frost Jr., of Eastland, volunteer chairman of the Eastland County U. S. Savings Bond Committee, today reminded all holders of F & G Treasury Bonds which will mature between May 1 and December 1953 of the Treasury offer which makes it possible for them to exchange their Bonds for the new Treasury 3 1/2 percent fully marketable Bonds if they desire. The offer announced by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey April 15 does not apply to Series E Savings Bonds which mature during the same period. Holders of maturing E Bonds are still privileged to hold the same Bonds for an additional ten years with interest. Holders of maturing F and G Bonds must make application to exchange their Bonds for the new 3 1/2 percent issue before May 1. Arrangements to make the exchange should be made at Federal Reserve Banks and Branches. Local banks will be glad to advise holders on making the exchange, Mr. Frost added.

Exchanges of Series F and G Bonds will be made, part for part and will be allotted in full. Since holders of Series F and G Bonds will receive interest on the new Bonds at the rate of 3 1/2 percent from May 1, 1953 interest adjustments will be made as follows: In the case of Series F Bonds, the subscriber will be charged an amount equivalent to interest from May 1 to date of maturity of the F bond at the rate of 2.53 percent per annum. In the case of Series G Bonds, the owner will receive an interest payment at the rate of 2 1/2 percent per annum borne by the G Bond, from the last interest payment date to May 1, 1953.

The lowest denomination of the new Bonds will be $500. Mr. Frost pointed out, holders of smaller denomination Series F and G Bonds may exchange them for the next higher multiple of $500 upon payment of any cash difference.

Eligible F and G Bond holders who do not wish to make the exchange will have the opportunity of reinvesting the proceeds of their Bonds as they mature in Savings Bonds currently on sale, or to receive cash payment.

Breck Resident Mourns Death Veteran Officer

C. D. Sears of Breckenridge recalled some of the stirring moments of the sensational Santa Claus bank robbery at Cisco a quarter of a century ago in a letter to the Breckenridge American.

The recent passing of one of Eastland County's most colorful citizens, Edward Paxton Kilborn, 80-year-old retired Eastland County peace officer, prompted the comment of the Breck resident, who said:

"I notice in Sunday American that 'Pack' Kilborn had passed on and an account of his round with the Cisco Bank robbers. In September, 1900, I went to work at Gorman as deputy sheriff under John Noble, and in 1903, I believe it was, Bit Bedford went in and I served under him four years until 1907, when Pack Kilborn went in as sheriff in September, 1909.

"I was still 'Pack's' deputy and I went to Cleburne to work for the Santa Fe railroad. Well, as some of you know in 1928 the Cisco Bank was robbed and Bit Bedford was killed. At that time Lester Hooker was working in a hardware store in Cisco, he was getting a hair cut in a barber shop. He heard the commotion and ran into the store and got a rifle and shot once or twice at one of the robbers but had to quit shooting as people were so thick on the streets. The robber was caught later at Graham. The one that had been wounded said that some young fellow at Cisco shot him. Lester passed away at the Veterans hospital at McKinney last month. Pack Kilborn was a good officer and a good man. I was very sorry to hear of his death, but such is life."

Merchants here have just what you want in this line, and they have your size, regardless of how large or small your head may be. This season will give you a wide selection in both styles and colors.

"Open House" at the Joda Lewis new home was attended Friday night by a large crowd. The Lewises received many beautiful and useful gifts. There was plenty string music and refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Guthrey and Mr. and Mrs. Pug Guthrey visited Sunday evening in Ranger, with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Guthrey.

This reporter wishes to make a correction on the Desdemona cemetery working, which should have read April 24, instead of Friday, April 30.

Seaman First Class Winford Lindley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lindley, is home on a 28-day leave. He states that on his way to the States he spent the week end in Pearl Harbor with an old boot camp buddy, Jerry Buckley. Both boys left home for the Navy on July 29, 1950, and went through boot camp together at San Diego. They have been separated for a little more than a year. Jerry expects to go to Japan, but hopes to be home by Christmas. Winford will report in San Diego for additional overseas duties. The boys graduated from high school here in 1950.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis drove to Huntsville the first part of last week to visit with Mrs. H. F. Andrews, a sister of Mrs. Davis, and also her mother, Mrs. Dora Cotton, who resided in the Davis home. Mrs. Andrews will be remembered as Miss Elizabeth Cotton, who formerly taught school in Ranger and at New Hope. At present she is on the faculty at Huntsville, of the Sam Houston State Teachers College.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henry of Hermeigh were Sunday visitors with Tip Henry and Mrs. Mollie Emde.

Mrs. Tot Parks of Truby, was a visitor here a part of last week.

Among those who attended the State Singing convention at Stephenville Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. Anse Brown, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hammonds, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Koonce.

Mrs. Kate Nabors was a visitor here last week. She states she will move back to our town as soon as school is out.

The cost of building railroads is much greater in the United States than in Britain due to the elimination of curves, easier grades, and the absence of grade crossings on British railways.

Remove all branches growing where leaves join the main stem of staked tomatoes.

Tomatoes on Fence Yield Most Food for Space Used

Tomato plants, pruned to a single stem and supported on stakes, picket fence or trellis can give a larger yield per square foot of space occupied than any other vegetable. Pruning requires regular attention. The plant starts with a central stem or leader. When the first blossoms appear, at each joint made by a leaf with the stem, a branch begins to grow. To prune the plant these side shoots are removed before they are four inches long. No other leaves should be pruned from tomato plants; and so-called determinate varieties should not be staked and pruned. Fruits need the shade furnished by leaves to avoid sunburn. To make the first blossoms set fruit, spray them with a hormone sold for that purpose. Tomato roots spread widely just below the soil surface so cultivation should never be deep enough to disturb them. An abundant supply of water is required, and lack of it causes decayed spots on the fruit opposite the stem, called blossom-end rot. Moisture is conserved by applying a mulch of lawn clippings, six inches thick, all along the tomato row. If you are a smoker, wash your hands thoroughly before handling tomato plants, and do not touch tobacco until your work with them is finished. Tobacco may have a disease which can be transmitted to the tomato plants. The same precautions should be taken whether fruit is picked, or any work is done with the tomatoes. These two plants are distant relatives, and not only share the same disease, but are attacked by the same kind of worm, a which killed and damaged.

A single stem plant may be twisted around a stout cord, which is tied at top and bottom. In tying a plant to its support, use a strip of cloth, or a large, soft cord which will not cut, looped loosely around the stem. Plants may be pruned with two stems, in which case set them 21 inches apart. Select one side branch to retain, the rest to be pruned off.

What every HARD OF HEARING person should know about TRANSISTOR hearing aids

"Can I GET a hearing aid operated entirely by a single 'energy capsule' smaller than a dime in diameter? ... with three transistors, instead of just one! ... that can be worn in the hair? Can I get an aid I can wear so that NO ONE will know I am hard of hearing? A new FREE booklet, "Facts About Transistor Hearing Aids," by L. A. Watson, author of a 600-page text on hearing instruments and nationally known authority on hearing instruments, gives you the FACTS. It tells the truth about transistor hearing aids and will save you many hard earned dollars. DON'T BUY UNTIL YOU READ IT!—until you know what every hard-of-hearing person should know."

Pythian Sisters Hold Monthly Birthday Party

Mmes. C. C. Street, Carol Noble, Frank Williamson and Bill Coppock were the birthday honorees at a turkey dinner held Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williamson in the Staff community.

The dinner was to honor members of the Pythian Sisters who celebrated birthdays during April. Mrs. Noble, most excellent chief of the order, was presented with a gift. Mmes. Roland Koch and Ima Jordan, entertainment committee had charge of the evening's entertainment. The finance committee, ever alert, was on hand with tape measures, following the meal and each one had to pay off for each inch of their respective waist lines.

Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shellit

THE STORY: Al Kemmer, owner of High Hill, moved a murder victim's body to protect the reputation of his vacation resort and now he is being blackmailed. Al decides to pay $2500 of a $5000 demand and say he can't raise the rest. But as Al and his athletic director, Dan Morrison, go to leave the money by an old bridge, they are intercepted by Sergeant Healey of the state police who is investigating the murder. Healey becomes suspicious of the paper sack in which Al is carrying the money and when Healey finds it full of currency, Al says he carried it around because his safe won't lock. Healey goes to Al's office, tries the safe and finds it unlocked and believes Al.

XIII
SERGEANT HEALEY had saved Al $2500. "You've had a lot of breaks," I said, "Like the safe being open."
"Yeh," Al conceded. "I didn't know I left it open." His eyes suddenly bulged. He was out of his chair down in front of the open safe. "Somebody's been in here."

He wrestled a key ring out of his pocket, pulled a steel cash box out of the safe and unlocked it. He dug into the money, counting with all his lips. There was only a small stack there; Al never kept too much in the safe.
"It's all here," Al said bewilderedly. "But I know somebody's been in here."
"Hey! Somebody's been in these envelopes." One drawer in Al's safe was used for the guests' cash and jewelry. Each guest had a manila envelope with the contents itemized on the face. The envelopes looked disarranged. Al jerked the first one open and started counting the cash in it. "Sit down quick—help me check."

Half an hour later, Al put the last envelope back and looked at me like a kid seeing his first Christmas tree. "It's all here," he said hoarsely. "Somebody went through this safe and didn't take a thing. Why would anybody do such a crazy stunt?"
"Who knows the combination

"Nobody."
"You've got it written down somewhere?"
"Nosiree. You don't write combinations down."
"Look—is there a way of changing the combination?"
"Yeh. It's a little complicated."
"Better do it tonight. But right now I want to see you lock that safe so we know it's locked."

LONG after I had gone to sleep that night, a voice awakened me. It came out of a face bending over me. A light was blazing through my eyelids.
I swung out, sat up. "Who is it?" I shouted.
"It's me—Chris."
"Get that flashlight out of my face! What do you want?"
"It's awful," he said fuzzily. "You better come quick."
"What're you talking about?"
"Mr. Kemmer and Eddie. There's blood all over."

I was out of bed, snatching up my bathrobe, stepping into moccasins. "What happened?"
"I don't know. It's in the office. You better come."
I dressed and scurried down the hall. Chris Wilmer clattered after me, out on the dark path. My wrist watch said 2:43. I could see the office light was on.

I was cleaning up after the dance," Chris panted. "Then I heard this noise. I didn't think nothing about it. Then I thought I better go over and see. So I went over. Blood all over."
I ran up the steps of the maintenance building. "What's up?" I yelled, slamming past the mail cage and pushing through the office door.

The smell of blood was staggering. Eddie was on the floor at my feet—Al was sprawled near the desk. Al's forehead was a bloody pulp, his face was washed with blood, his lips bubbled a film of blood with his moaning breaths.

irregular. His face was pale except for the glitter of blood worming slowly from a dark swelling at the top of his forehead.

LYING in front of the desk, looking almost alive, almost ready to spring into the air, was a bloody-headed ax.
What do you do, what do you do—head injury—what's the rule? Raise the head? Yes. Reduces the bleeding. I snatched the rubber pad off Al's chair, rolled it and went down on my knees beside him. I lifted his neck gently and slipped the pad under. It was hard to believe—this bloody mask was Al.

"What happened, Al—who was it?" I said.
His moaning didn't slow down—he hadn't heard me.
I got the operator, told her to ring Dr. Barnes, fast, emergency. The sounds coming out of Al were peeling my skin off. He was suffering brutally—the moans were deep and gurgling, as if he were breathing under water.

Dr. Barnes came on, fuzzy with sleep. He said he'd rush right over. Meanwhile I called the county hospital in East Stroudsburg and told them what was coming.

Footsteps stopped a few feet from the open door. The light shone out on the astounded face of Kitty Lane.
Kitty came inside—her eyes contorted as she saw Al. She gave a kind of squeak. Not a scream—just a limp squeak. Her face went flabby, her lips fluttered wordlessly. She moved toward Al, her eyes dull; sleepwalker's eyes. She got down on her knees. "Al, what is it, what is it?" She pulled out a handkerchief, touched it to his cheek, stiffened, and turned her face away, and began to cry.

AN hour later Dr. Barnes came out of the emergency ward at the county hospital. I grabbed his arm. "Did they say anything?"
He shook his head. "I'm afraid the oldest man is dead," he said. Morrison the muscle, Morrison the sock, the bif, the zowie, Morrison with cotton in his throat and his eyes all fogged up.

BRITISH FREIGHTER BURNS—Fire of undetermined origin sweeps through the 7800-ton British freighter Menestheus, 475 miles southeast of San Diego, Calif. The ship was enroute from Balboa, C. ### Farm Bureau Queen Contest Sponsored By Local Group

The Eastland County Farm Bureau has received the following information and rules about the Queen contest, which is state-wide, with many counties already making plans to participate.

It was stated at the recent meeting of the board of directors, that community groups should be getting their plans completed and their choice for Queen contestant announced.
Any single daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member, not less than sixteen years of age, and not more than twenty-two years of age by September 1, 1953, is eligible to participate.

Present were Mmes. Bill Darr, Guy Robinson, Bill Coppock, Ima Jordan, Frankie Flowers, Wayne Brock, Roland Koch, Tim Spurrier, Mary Bargsley, Lee Campbell, A. M. Hearn, Luther Lewis, M. L. Dry, E. K. Henderson, Ray Laney, Tom Lovelace, Charles Lovelace, and daughter, Darlene; Messrs and Mesdames Hal Boggus, and Rush, George Wright of Ranger, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Herring and Biendia Kay, Mr. and Mrs. C. Street, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Co, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Williamson.

The world's first commercial chick hatchery was started in New Washington, O., in 1897.

The girls will be judged on three main points: (1) appearance, (2) poise, and (3) personality.

County winners of elimination contests will have the opportunity to enter the district competition, each winner of which will receive a beautiful wrist watch.

The state winner will have an expense-paid trip to the annual convention at Mineral Wells in the fall.

Each county will work out its own program of choosing the winning girl, but the rules of eligibility will be as the state organization has directed.
Informal cottons have been suggested by the Texas Farm Bureau, to be worn by contestants but this will be worked out by the local groups themselves.

Any Way You Look At It—
... there seems to be no way of escaping the onrushing tide of automobile accidents. Statistics now available show a new high score for 1952, and locally the situation is no better so far for 1953. Apparently more steam must be applied to traffic education even though many individuals and organizations are hard at work trying to solve our problems. In the meantime drive carefully and keep your car in good running condition.

Mrs. Courtney Is Honoree At Shower

Mrs. Harold Courtney was the honoree Saturday afternoon when Mmes. W. W. Linkenhoger, Jack Lusk, W. A. Teatsorth and Mrs. Phil Laws, who has just recently moved to Monahans, entertained with a stork shower in the Linkenhoger home, 411 Pershing.

Guests were received informally and directed into the bedroom, where the many beautiful and useful gifts were displayed. They were then directed to the dining room, where the refreshment table was laid with a white Maderia cut-work linen cloth. The decorations were an arrangement of baby pink roses entwined with blue malene and tiny stork baskets filled with pink and white mints, which were used as plate favors. Pink and blue napkins completed the theme. White cake squares decorated with dainty pink rosebuds was served with pink frosted punch.

Thirty-five guests called during the hours 3:30 til 5, including Mrs. Dan Childress, Mrs. Robert Childress and infant daughter, Barbara Ann of Abilene. Little Karen Laws accompanied her mother and was also at the party.

Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shallit

THE STORY: Al Kemmer, owner of High Hill, is being black-mailed because he moved a body victim's body to protect the reputation of his vacation resort. Al decides to pay part of the $5000 demand and say he can't raise the rest, but he and Dan Morrison, his athletic director, are intercepted by Sergeant Healey of the state police, who wants an explanation. Al says he carried the money because his wife wouldn't touch Healey. He says Al's safe unlocked and he believes him. Early the next morning Chris Whitner, High Hill's odd-job man, awakens Morrison because violence had taken place. Morrison finds Al and Eddie Fields, an entertainer, in the office accidentally beaten over the head with an ax. Kemmer dies an hour after his arrival at the hospital.

XIV
Eddie had a concussion, they said. Maybe a fractured skull, but they wouldn't know for sure till they took an X-ray. A needle into his spine fortunately showed no blood in the fluid, which meant probably no bleeding in the brain. But his breathing was still shallow, and they put him in an oxygen tent.
Sergeant Healey, who'd been summoned by the hospital, sat me down in a waiting room and took down my story.

Healey frowned at his notebook. "What puzzles me is how this ties up with that other one. The two killings were mighty different, no question about it, but they both happened on the same lot and inside of a few days of each other. There just has to be a connection." "I guess there's something I ought to tell you," I said. "Al was slightly connected with the Rocky Silone killing—after it happened." I told him he'd been right about Al moving the body. And I told him about the blackmail note. And the attempted payoff.
Healey's bland features were twisted with disgust when I finished. "If you'd only used one ounce of sense and brought that note to me, your friend Kemmer would probably be alive right now." "I told him to go to you guys. He wouldn't listen."

again. "In the office," he said with a low, splintered voice. "We were talking . . . planning ideas for business . . . publicity. He heard a noise, outside . . ."

"Who heard a noise?" Eddie's eyebrows moved painfully. "Al. Went outside . . . Nobody. Didn't see nobody. He came back." Eddie's eyes closed again. He seemed to be trying to force his voice louder. "Sitting in his chair, talking to me. Five more minutes. He jumped up. Hollered. I started to get up—somebody behind me—hit me while I'm turning."

A kind of weak frown wavered through his face; he was feeling the blow all over again. "I think that had better be all," the doctor said. Healey jogged his shoulders around and walked off. My head was down at Eddie's lips. "Car," he whispered. "Fast . . . went away . . ."

The doctor pushed me—just plain pushed me. Healey was coming back. I went over to him and walked him out into the corridor. "Apparently he heard a car speeding away before he conked out," I said.

Healey nodded bitterly. "Didn't see—didn't even see who hit him! Of all the lousy breaks." . . .
IT was 4:45 a. m. when I drove the station wagon into its corral beside the maintenance building. It seemed as if at least half the guests of High Hill were milling around outside. Healey had beat me in by five minutes. "A 6-year-old kid would have known better," he rapped at me. "Any evidence that might have been here is mincemeat now." He went out to the front door. "All you people!" he shouted. "You're interfering with the law! Go to your quarters and stay there. Don't anybody leave till I say so."

The guests mumbled and muttered, like a mob scene in an opera, but they began trooping away. They stopped for a moment when another police car zoomed in, but kept going when they saw it was just another cop. (To Be Continued)
