

REFLECTIONS FROM LIFE

By R. B. M.

The man or woman who feels self-sufficient and secure, as a rule discovers disappointment, and probably at a time when it is too late to make amends.
This will apply to both the spiritual and human sides of life. If we are to get the most from life we must have the love and respect of those about us, for no man lives to himself alone. Riches, power and influence will bolster us up during trying periods, the day always comes when these things avail us nothing. We may escape all the days of our life, other than the last day, but when we are called by death, our money and influence will avail us nothing. All the money in the world will not breathe back into our bodies the breath of life. And a stilled heart will not beat again, even if we are the most powerful and influential individual on this earth.

All the days of our life we have needed God and a Saviour, whether we accepted him or not. Our strength fails us at death, and unless we leave this world prepared, we shall never know the meaning of eternal life.

Yet if we have taken time to prepare for future life death means no more than a short sleep, and when we are awakened we shall find that we have plenty aid at our command. In John 11:1 we find these words: "... we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous."
While on earth we did have sin, and all of us are guilty to some extent. Yet the blood of Jesus washed us clean, and although we may appear as a motley crowd, He will be there to represent us before the throne of God.

And we must first consider Him as efficient and skillful—He can not lose. He is also compassionate—His love for us passes all understanding. And He will be faithful—we may depend upon Him, for He will be there at the right moment with the right word. He is all-powerful, and we may trust Him without fear of disappointment.

Why hasn't the Father adopted us, are we not joint-heirs with Him? And He tells us that what the Father gives Him, He can not lose, but will raise up the last day.

So if we are to get the most out of this life and the life to come, we will forget our own wealth and power and trust in Him.

Once we do this we should strive to please Him. We should ask God to teach us how to pray, and our will should be His will. We should accept with thanks, anything He may see fit to give us. We should say "Thy will be done." Many times we may ask for things we do not need. God in His wisdom knows this and usually gives us what we need rather than what we think we need.

It offers fatherly affection, fatherly protection and fatherly correction. When we accept this with thanksgiving, we are growing in grace. It means we have made a complete surrender, and we are living as God would have us live.

You will not that you are to take second place—God is always first. And as there is only one God, let us take our instructions from Him. Do not allow others to try to change your course in life. Do not worship men, but God only. Do your own praying, your own reading and your own believing. It is so simple that a child, with faith, can understand. When in doubt about something, ask the Lord, rather than some individual. You will get your answer and it will have the stamp of God's approval on it.

One of our great dangers is trusting in men rather than in the Holy Spirit, which reminds us of a much-admired college or seminary professor, when he pushed his students to a point of over-enthusiasm, came near being serious. One student stated that "Dr. H. is such a wonderful man. He is a master in Theology and while in exegesis he has no equal. You should hear him explain the epistle of Romans. Why, I verily believe that he understands it better than Paul himself did."

If you are meek and are living just as close to God as you can, you will never be guilty of hero worship. Your duty is to worship the true and living God—not men. We appreciate our teachers and professors but not to the extent (Continued On Page 2)

McBee Named Ass't. Manager For Majestic

Siebert Worley, owner of the Majestic Theatre, Eastland, has announced appointment of G. W. McBee as assistant manager. Mr. Worley will continue to act as general manager at the Majestic, as well as his shows in Shamrock. Concerning Mr. McBee, Mr. Worley said that he has just completed two and one-half years in the University of Texas in Austin, is an Eastland boy and plans to make the theatre business his career.
While here Mr. Worley paid his regards to his permanent staff. He conferred with Mrs. H. C. McAdams, and Eunice Knoll, treasurer and concessions manager, respectively, and spoke of fishing possibilities with Sam McMillian, chief projectionist. He also conferred with L. H. Whiteley, maintenance man, Sue Gourley, assistant cashier and Harold Hudson, relief projectionist.

All of them fit into the picture almost perfectly, and he feels that with these people on the job, and with a good air-cooled theatre where good pictures are shown, the future will take care of itself.

65 New Polio Cases Reported In State Area

Sixty-five new polio cases, the most reported this year, were diagnosed in Texas last week. The incidence, 19 more cases than the previous week, was reported by the State Health Department today.

Harris County suffered 14 cases; Nueces, seven; Dallas, six; Kendall, five; Cameron and Victoria, three each; Gray, Hidalgo, Jefferson, McLennan and Robertson, two each; and Brooks, Calhoun, Comanche, Delta, El Paso, Freestone, Galveston, Jackson, Jones, Lavaca, Motley, Orange, Potter, San Jacinto, San Patricio, Terry and Tom Green one each.

Rules Clarified On Restock Area

The Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission clarified regulations covering the newly established Snake Creek Wildlife Restoration area in Morris and Titus Counties. He said the five-year closed season effective until January, 1958, applies only to deer and that the landowners, who have pledged more than sixty thousand acres to the project, may legally permit hunting of squirrels, doves, waterfowl and other species subject, of course, to state laws.

The Director pointed out that persons desiring to benefit from the open seasons as permitted by the owners of the land where they wish to hunt. The Snake Creek area is one of several created in Texas whereby landowners and hunters are cooperating with the Game and Fish Commission to restore big game.

The Director of Wildlife Restoration said this particular area was set up last fall too late to begin restocking operations immediately but he emphasized that the Snake Creek program has a high priority under the coming late fall trapping operations. The area is along Snake Creek and also adjoins Sudphur River on the north.

Little Items Of Local Interest

A 17-year-old Cisco youth was picked up by Highway officers in Eastland following an accident which occurred during the night. The young man was driving near the Leon Plant when he ran a stop sign and plowed through a fence. Both the fence and the car received minor damages. He was arrested for driving past the stop sign.

CLEVELAND HAD CANCER
President Grover Cleveland was secretly operated on for cancer of the jaw in 1893. Because such operations were rare then, it was kept secret to avoid public alarm. Today, the American Cancer Society points out, thousands of patients are cured of cancer by surgery every year.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS ARE INVITED TO ABILENE

Eastland County "regular" Democrats were reminded today that they're invited to trek to Abilene Monday to meet and confer with Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the national Democratic Executive Committee.

Mr. Mitchell will be in Abilene at the Windsor Hotel there from 2:30 p.m. on through the afternoon and into the evening.

Several Democrats from Eastland County are expected to visit the Demo party head during his Abilene visit.

TOWER TO SHOW FIRST MAJOR THREE-D MOVIE IN OIL BELT AREA NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

Ranger's Tower Theatre, owned and managed by Herbert Rapp, is the first movie house between Fort Worth and Abilene to bring patrons in this area the new 3-dimensional motion pictures.

Installation of the new Tri-D process equipment costing several thousand dollars is fast-neering completion and will be ready for use for the theatre's initial 3-dimensional film which has been booked to start next Friday night at the Tower.

Changes in motion pictures almost as revolutionary as the introduction of sound loom with the advent of 3-dimensional images on the screen. Hitherto movies have been confined to the dimensions of length and breadth on the flat screen; they have lacked the illusion of depth. Now, this is being remedied by Hollywood; the day of 3-dimensional movies dawns.

The first great outdoor epic of America to be photographed in Natural Vision 3-dimension is Columbia Pictures, "Fort Ti," starring George Montgomery in color by Technicolor at the Tower Theatre. The startling new technique makes things on the screen so real that they all seem to be happening to the audience.

"Fort Ti," the story of the savage siege of Fort Ticonderoga by Rogers' Rangers, flaming arrows speed at the viewers, scalping savages slash at them, cavalry charges up to and over them and loving arms reach closer, closer!

Although 3-dimensional photography, or 3-D as it is popularly known, has only recently emerged full-blown in Hollywood, practically every major studio has scheduled one or more 3-D productions. Natural Vision 3-Dimension is a photographic process that employs two lenses facing each other and picking up by a mirror system the image to be screened. In projection, polarizing filters are mounted ahead of the lenses of two projectors synchronized and interlocked by a mechanical device. Polaroid glasses are then used for viewing the 3-dimension movies.

3-dimension photography promises to add a third dimension, in the physical sense, and therefore the complete reality, in the artistic sense, hitherto lacking in the two-dimensional outdoor epic. William Castle directed and Sam Katzman produced the new adventure drama.

"Fort Ti" starts Friday at your Tower Theatre for a one week run—following "Fort Ti" the Tower will have another 3-dimension picture to thrill you—"The Man in the Dark."

GOING AND COMING

SHELTON, Neb.—Mrs. Don Smith was understandably confused when her husband met her at the Denver airport. He had driven her to her plane in Grand Island, Neb., a few hours earlier. After putting his wife on the plane, Smith flew to Denver in a private plane when a friend offered him a ride. The commercial airline had to make two stops en route, while the private plane flew straight through.

Rail Rates For Hauling Grains Are Reduced

A 10 per cent reduction in rail rates for carload hauling of coarse grain for distances less than 940 miles was authorized by the Railroad Commission Friday.

Railroads had asked for the rate changes along with extension to 451 miles, the maximum hauling distance subject to less than maximum rates.

The commission rejected the extension request. Corpus Christi interests claimed it placed Corpus Christi at a disadvantage in competing with Houston for grain from the South Plains area.

Railroad spokesmen told the commission they wanted the new rates to put back on the rails coarse grain lost to truck transportation.

The new rates may be put into effect five days after they publish them but not later than July 15 if they choose to apply them.

Bible School Workers Leave; Go To Haskell

Misses Vera Hobson of Baylor University, Waco, and Dorothy Rucker of Wayland College, Plainview, left Saturday for Haskell, where they go to aid the Baptist church in that city which is a vacation Bible school. The past week they have been working with the Olden group, and reports indicate that they did some excellent work.
From Haskell they are to go to Aspermont and several other West Texas cities where they are to do similar work.

DOG BITES MAN

DETROIT—Karl S. Waldron filed a red-hot suit in circuit court charging he was bitten by a dog—a hot dog—at a Detroit Tigers baseball game. He alleged that the hot dog contained a "sharp unyielding object" that cut his throat and harmed his voice. He named the baseball club, the catering service and the sausage company as defendants.

HISTORIC OPERATION

The first cancer operation for removal of a lung occurred 29 years ago. The patient is alive and well today, the American Cancer Society says. But in that same period deaths from cancer of the lung have increased five fold.

Heat Wave Burns 3 Weeks—

Another Hot Weekend Due

Another heat-ridden weekend—due Saturday and Sunday—will wind up 21 of the hottest days in Eastland County vicinity's history. Temperatures during the three week span have been 100 degrees or better. Highest torrid temperature recorded during the period—a terrifically torrid 111 degrees.

It'll be 100-plus degrees Saturday afternoon, and an over-100 maximum also is forecast for Sunday by the U. S. Weather Bureau.
The Saturday night low was scheduled in the warmish bottom 80s.

Funeral Rites For Hodges Set Sunday At 3

Funeral services for Charles W. Hodges, 79-year-old resident of Ranger since boyhood, will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Methodist Church in Ranger.

Rev. Fins A. Crutchfield, new pastor of the church, will officiate during the final rites for the Texan-born resident who died Friday at the home of a granddaughter, Mrs. J. T. Gorrell, at Olney. Assisting Rev. Crutchfield will be the Rev. Garland Lavender, now of Weatherford and former pastor of the Ranger church.

Interment will be in Pioneer Cemetery, Ranger, with Morris Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

A retired merchant, Mr. Hodges had been in very ill health for several months. He was visiting his granddaughter and her family in Olney at the time of his death. Mr. Hodges was a member of the Methodist Church. He was born on Dec. 22, 1873.

Palbearers at the funeral rites Sunday will be Johnny Richardson, Jess Weaver, A. W. Dooley and three of Mr. Hodges' grandchildren.

His survivors include one son, Wesley Hodges of Kansas City, Mo.; one daughter, Mrs. R. H. Doss of Ranger; Mrs. Gorrell and seven other grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Presbyterian Announcements

Sunday School will be conducted at 10 a.m. at the Presbyterian church, with worship services following at 11 o'clock.
Mr. A. J. Buchanan of Breckenridge, will bring the message, and a hearty welcome is extended to all.

Eastland Girls Attend Assembly At Georgetown

Miss Alice Joyce Cushman and Miss Janis Little of Eastland, were among the 157 high school students from throughout Central Texas who attended the Senior Assembly held at Southwestern University in Georgetown, June 22-27.

Miss Cushman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cushman of 109 N. Ostrum; and Miss Little is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Little of 901 Glimmer in Eastland.

The assembly, which is sponsored by the Central Texas Conference of the Methodist Church, gives high school students of the 15-17 age group the opportunity for fellowship, inspiration, and discussion, under the guidance of leading Methodist ministers and teachers.

1st Methodist Announcements

Rev. George Tyson, instructor in McMurray College, Abilene, will have charge of the services at First Methodist church Sunday, due to the absence of the pastor, J. C. Oglesby, who is attending a Methodist Convocation in Philadelphia this week.

Sunday School and Young People's organizations will meet at the usual hours.

Announcements Of Nazarenes

A supply minister from Abilene will fill the pulpit at the Church of the Nazarene on Sunday, June 28.

Sunday School will be conducted at the usual hour, and members are urged to attend.

The church has called a new pastor, and he is planning to be on the field in about three weeks.

HANDY TREE

STURDIVANT, Wis.—Richard Fitzgerald can't wait until spring when the tree growing in his bathroom puts out its leaves. The tree popped through the floor of the bathroom and is growing alongside the tub. It is now about 2 foot high and Fitzgerald said his family will use it to hang clothes on when it gets bigger.

TOO LATE

HARTFORD, Conn.—A film about the 15th century's Leonardo da Vinci was playing here and a woman telephoned wanting to know whether the main character was appearing in person. "I think he'd like to," answered the assistant manager, Francis L. Quinn, "but I'm afraid he can't make it."

DR. GEORGE M. MALOUF JOINS STAFF OF CLINIC AS NEW ASSOCIATE OF DR. BRAZDA

Dr. George Michael Malouf, physician and surgeon, is now associated with Dr. A. W. Brazda at the Brazda Clinic, 115 South Rusk St., Ranger, it was announced Monday.

Dr. Malouf, making his home with his family at 401 S. Marston St., came to Ranger from Throckmorton where he had been engaged in the private practice of medicine following his separation from the Medical Corps of the U. S. Air Force in November, 1952. Dr. Malouf held the rank of major in the military medical service.

Dr. Malouf, a native of Ashland, New Hampshire, graduated from Ashland High School and then entered the University of Vermont. He was awarded a degree from the College of Medicine there in 1928.

Following his graduation, and a period of internship, Dr. Malouf practiced medicine in New York State prior to joining the Royal Canadian Medical Corps early in 1941—several months before Pearl Harbor. He served in the Canadian armed forces as a medical corps captain until late in 1944 when he was discharged and became company physician in the hospital of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours Company powder plant at Childersburg, Ala.

He volunteered for duty in the medical corps of the U. S. Air Force in 1950 and was stationed at the Perrin Air Force Base, Sherman, during his period of active duty.

Dr. Malouf and his wife, a native of Sylacauga, Ala., are members of the Baptist Church. Dr. Malouf is a Mason and a Shriner and Mrs. Malouf is a member of the Order of Eastern Star.

The couple has two children—a son, George Michael, Jr., age 7, and a daughter, Jo Ann, age 6.

REFLECTIONS—

of worshipping them. Over-enthusiasm is dangerous.

We have people today who insist that they do not know whether this or that is right or wrong. The fact that they admit they do not know indicates there is a doubt in their minds. What they really want to know is whether they can get by with the deed and still go unpunished. In all probability they have been warned by the Holy Spirit—just pretended they did not hear. They are looking for someone on whom to place the burden when the crash comes.

To this we add "when in doubt, don't do it." You will be safe then.

It is not a difficult task to lead a Christian life, unless you make it so. Christians are a separate group—separated from the sinful world and placed in Christian environments. Christians live in the household of God where all is pure and holy.

It is when Christians find pleasure in sin and associate with the worldly element extensively, they are prone to forget God and His mercies. They can't serve two masters—choice must be made, and the choice is between God or the devil. This is the difficult thing. If you really love God and are working in harmony with His plan, leading a Christian life is as easy as breathing.

If you are termed a "Sunday Christian" it means you are not a Christian at all—just another sinner standing services. If you were a Christian you would not serve the devil all during the week. And right down in the bottom of your heart you know this is true. If it should be announced that you were to die tomorrow you would forget sinful associates and begin calling for all the preachers and Christians in the land.

And remember this, you may mislead the world, but never God. And on the Great Day when time shall be no more, you will march right into the goat pasture without ever giving thought to the sheep's fold. You will know that you have failed and that punishment is sure. You won't have the boldness to even expect aid from a kind and loving Saviour.

Tax Burden For Lower Income Families Is Growing Serious

DALLAS — A typical Texas family of four persons earning $4,000 a year now pays $1,093 in taxes, which is nearly as much as it spends for food, almost twice what it pays for housing, and substantially more than double its expenditures for clothing.

This was disclosed today by Chester V. May, vice president of the Lone Star Gas Co. in an appeal for a federal tax reduction.

For the same-sized city family with an income of $2,500 a year, or a little less than $50 a week, May said the tax burden averages $593 a year or about 60 per cent of the amount spent for food, $86 more than its yearly cost of housing, and nearly two times the money normally spent for clothing.

Families with $5,000 incomes pay on the average of $1,526 in taxes, which is more than they spend for food, he said. Families in the $7,500 income bracket pay $2,766 in taxes of all kinds, which May said is more than such families spend on food and clothing combined.

"The bulk of this burden is in federal taxes, the utility executive explained. "By comparing taxes with the costs of the basic necessities, we get an idea of the higher living standards people could enjoy—regardless of their present income levels—if federal taxes were reduced."

May said a new study of the burden of taxes on Texas families of medium and lower incomes, made by the National Association of Manufacturers, shows that federal taxes take a much larger part of family income than is generally believed. He pointed out that even taxes which the government levies on corporations eventually come out of the family pocket book in higher prices or lower return on investments.

May, NAM director, said the study showed the typical $4,000-a-year city family pays $1,249 for food, $596 for housing, fuel, light and refrigeration, and $445 for clothing. It spends $304 a year on automobile cost and maintenance, $240 on house furnishings and equipment, $74 on tobacco, and $774 on all other consumption expenditures.

In contrast, he said, this family has to pay $1,093 in federal, state and local taxes, more than it spends for any other category of expense except food, an amount equal to 27.3 per cent of its total income. Of the total, state and local taxes take $298 a year and federal taxes take $795, of which $271 is represented by its income tax payment, May said.

Tax cuts involving individual income taxes, corporation income taxes, federal excise taxes, and the elimination of the excess profits tax are scheduled within the next ten months.

"If all four tax reductions are permitted to take effect, it will mean a saving of $77 a year for the typical $4,000 family, according to the NAM's figures," May said.

This isn't much in relation to its total tax bill, he conceded, but emphasized that the saving amounts to a full week's earnings for a $4,000 family. He said most families would find it "welcome" and the reduction would be a "step in the right direction."

Here's 14-Day Reducing Diet

Tillie Lewis, most famous woman in foods, has spent more than ten years in intensive research in the field of sweetened low calorie dietetic foods.

EASY DOES IT

Many of us should lose weight but always put it off until tomorrow. Why? It's hard to diet—especially to stay on a diet. At least, that was true until low-calorie foods came along. Now you can do it the easy way. You can eat your desserts, dressings, and fruits and still lose weight! Lose it gradually. Cut out a certain number of calories each day, depending upon your weight. "Do you realize," says a leading dietitian, "that by cutting out only 200 calories per day you would lose an ounce a day." That doesn't sound like much, but add it up . . . At the end of a year you've lost 20 pounds! Most important, it is weight permanently lost because you haven't upset your regular eating habits. Try it and see.

How To Have Fun With The Family

There's nothing like the whole family having an outing together. More than 600 boys and girls have expressed their opinions as to what makes a good time for them when they "go somewhere" with Mom and Dad.

The July issue of Better Homes & Gardens says that everyone will have a good time, if you plan to follow a few simple rules. You should let the whole family have a part in planning the event, whether it's a picnic or a vacation. Let everyone take some of the responsibility for getting things together.

For example, your twelve-year-old boy may want to be sure to take along the baseball bat and ball, while your daughter can help make the sandwiches. Make the outing something that your children, regardless of age will enjoy. For instance, the three to five-year olds would like to visit a park where there are swings and slides.

to its name by the demonstration of scientific rules in the compassionate, Christian healing of the sick, the sinful, and the dying.

Jesus said, "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled" (Matthew 5:6). In the Christian Science textbook a search for righteousness is recorded (p. 359) "From Puritan parents, the discoverer of Christian Science early received her religious education. In childhood, she often listened with joy to these words, falling from the lips of her saintly mother, "God is able to raise you up from sickness;" and she pondered the meaning of that Scripture she so often quotes: "And these signs shall follow them that believe: they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover."

Mrs. Eddy says in this selection which will be read: "Jesus demonstrated the power of Christian Science to heal mortal minds and bodies. But this power was lost sight of, and must again be spiritually discerned, taught, and demonstrated according to Christ's command, with 'signs following.' Its Science must be apprehended by as many as believe on Christ and spiritually understand Truth" (p. 110).

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon

It is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Christian Science" that it is based on the Bible and Christ Jesus' teachings. It is further pointed out that Christian Science, discovered and founded by Mary Baker Eddy, testifies

THE STORY: Pete Morrison, scouting for a wagon train headed for California, is trying to arrange with Zad Barnes, a renegade, for the emigrants to winter in Two Rivers, a settlement of Indians and whites dominated by Barnes. But Barnes knows that Pete has been trying to find out about his activities.

III
PETE MORRISON was taken aback. He thought his questions about Zad Barnes had been cautious. There was no use to dissemble. "Sure, I asked a few questions."

"And you heard that Zad Barnes was a desperado who had his Indians murder and rob everybody who passes through here. Yet you want to put an emigrant train plunk into my hands?"

Pete had to do some rapid revision of his plans. He had counted on Barnes' eagerness to bring more prey into reach and had expected the man to offer cooperation.

He said, "Frankly, I did hear such stories, but they didn't change my mind."

"Suppose I won't sell you anything? Suppose I won't keep the Indians off you?"

"Then we'll come anyway. We can buy our supplies farther north, we can defend ourselves against the Indians, and the grass here doesn't belong to you."

"You hear that, Tobey? This man ain't afraid of anybody. We better watch our step when his people come along," Barnes said with heavy sarcasm.

The Indian Tobey flashed a grin. Pete knew well enough that the Indians here belonged to the wandering bands that were generally called Diggers. Normally they were the poorest of all Indians, yet this fellow Tobey, obviously some kind of a chief, was well dressed and well armed.

Pete said, "Whether you cooperate is up to you. If you won't sell us supplies I'd like to know it now, because I've decided to bring my people here."

"If you get here I'll sell you supplies," Barnes promised. "But you think we won't get here?"

"That depends. I hold 200 Indians by the wrist. When people come through here minding their own business nothing happens to 'em. When they try to act smart they have trouble."

"What about putting up with you tonight?"

"Sure, I run a hotel," Barnes grinned. He stepped outside and called to an Indian youth to take the stranger's horse. Barnes himself led the way toward the long, L-shaped building opening onto the court. As they passed by what seemed to be kitchen and dining room a girl's voice exploded the silence.

"Let me loose! Let go of me, Gabe Cox, or I'll—"

"You won't do nothin', sweetheart," came a man's chuckling voice, "except give me what I been after for a long time—just one measly IT kiss—"

There followed a loud smack as if a face had been soundly slapped, then a man's oath, and a woman's scream. Pete whirled and threw open the nearest door. He had recognized the voice as Betty's, and when he entered he saw her being bent backward across a man's knee, and the man's bearded face was being thrust roughly against hers as she struggled futilely to avoid being kissed.

"I wouldn't, stranger," Pete said coldly.

The bearded blond man looked up in surprise, then let the girl roll to the floor as he went for his gun. Pete felt Zad Barnes grab him as he sprang ahead. His fist landed hard on Cox's jaw as the fellow's gun cleared leather. Cox went sprawling backward, and as he fell Pete, leaping to bring a foot down to pin the gun snare stood waiting. "Hot water and a tub," Pete said. She smiled, and strolled away.

went down, knocked out cold. Then Pete himself went to his knees. He turned his head in time to see Zad Barnes launch a kick at the back of his head with a heavy boot. The kick missed, and Pete grabbed Zad's ankle before the foot could come to earth and upended his burly foe.

Pete leaped to his feet and drew his gun, covering Zad Barnes. "You may be holding 200 Indians by the wrist, Barnes, but I can surely perforate you before you can turn 'em loose."

Barnes sat up on the floor, an angry, disoriented man. "You're lucky, stranger," he said.

Betty had got to her feet and was standing against the wall with her arms widespread as if to sustain herself. She was white and scared.

"Why didn't you ride in with me?" Pete asked.

She replied, "I don't want any truck with you."

He looked at her gravely, and with a trace of contempt. He had just risked his life to save her from insult and abuse, and his return had been rudeness. But what could one expect from a girl who had associated all her life with notorious outlaws? Yet he felt pity in his heart.

Zad Barnes spoke up. "How do you finger to get outa here, Miss Betty? I've only to raise my voice and you'll never cross that door—"

The man was speaking exact truth. Pete knew that. "I know," he said softly. "But I don't think you'll speak that word, Zad. Too many people know I'm here."

Barnes got slowly to his feet. He said, "I forgot myself. You're a guest here, and the trouble was all caused by this fool girl. You're in no danger."

"Thanks."

"I'll show you your room. The room was large and comfortable, and opened out on the court like the others. Floor and walls were practically covered with Indian blankets. Zad walked away and a young squaw stood waiting. "Hot water and a tub," Pete said. She smiled, and strolled away.

Mothers Needed At Home If Such At All Possible

There seems to be a new theory that any female worthy of the right to vote can lick inflation by bringing home a weekly paycheck and rear a family at the same time. But, it isn't true, according to one parent who expresses her views in the July issue of Better Homes & Gardens.

Unless it is absolutely necessary for the mother to work, she should be spending full-time supervising the home, and helping her children have a happy childhood, according to the article.

In spite of all of our scientific advancements, the only way for a woman to have her own children is the old-fashioned way, the author states. It takes a lot of time and trouble. And, the only way to rear your children satisfactorily is by hand, as it were. New methods help, but it's still necessary for the mother to be present.

The dollars and cents gains of a working mother look good on paper. But the losses are in human values and are difficult to add up in the form of statistics or monetary return.

Women who have been forced to work, while rearing their children, have made outstanding successes of both jobs in many cases. However, they are usually the first to regret that they didn't have the time to spend with their children during the important formative years.

BIGGER ACRES FROM INSECT CONTROL

"I was able to double my crop by poisoning against insects," a farmer said. He did not have the resources to buy more land and double the size of his farm. But he found he didn't need more land. He could double his harvest by keeping insects from destroying half his crop, and he saved himself the time and cost of plowing, cultivating, and paying taxes on more land. Washington

'As It Looks From Here' OMAR BURELSON Congressman 17th District

The Foreign Affairs Committee of which I am a member, has been holding hearings the past week in connection with military preparedness in this country and nations of the Free World who are our allies.

Testifying before the committee have been Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Director of Mutual Security Harold Stassen, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, and General Omar Bradley, chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff. These hearings will continue for several weeks to come.

Most of these officials have returned from travels in various parts of the world to acquaint themselves with the present situation. Generally, their testimony is very much the same as that heard in previous years. It adds up to the opinion that we continue to live in dangerous times, that Russian Communism is on the march wherever there is weakness, and that the objective for world domination as announced by Marx, Lenin, and Stalin has not diminished.

ed. All this, taken in connection with world trade, creates a picture which should be a concern to every person in the United States. It is like playing a game when the opponent has the ball, has his own signals and knows ours also. In other words, the Russians have had the initiative and been on the offensive since World War II. We have been continuously on the defensive. The Eisenhower Administration has promised the nation that we would wrest the offensive from the Russians in the "cold war" but it is not easily done as long as there is a "hot war" in Korea. It is not going to be easy under the most favorable circumstances and the Russians will see that those circumstances are made as difficult as possible.

We in this country usually think of ourselves as being self-sufficient but look at these figures. We occupy 1/19th of the world's land area. We have a population of 158 million people. The Russians today have almost one-half of the world's population estimated at two billion people under their control.

Our deficiencies go much further than this. The scientists tell us that there are actually only fifteen basic minerals in the world, and we are woefully lacking in nine of them. We have plenty of oil, coal, iron ore, sulphur, phosphate rock, and potash, but to build a Sherman tank, we must import from foreign countries 99 per cent of chromium, and 1915 pounds go into the building of the tank. It requires 95 pounds of manganese for each tank, and 92 per cent of it must be imported.

We import 92 per cent of all nickel, and each tank requires 520 pounds. In each tank goes 107 pounds of tin, of which 78 per cent must be imported. Bauxite is raw aluminum, and each tank requires 6512 pounds; we import 65 per cent of all we use. Likewise, copper is a requirement and we have half the amount. All industrial diamonds, not to mention uranium, which makes atomic bombs, must come from Deep Africa.

We could do without coffee and cigarettes, and the ladies could even do without cosmetics, of which 96 per cent of the ingredients are imported, but I would hate to think we would have to do without a tank, an airplane, a ship, or a gun with which to defend ourselves.

These figures show that without imports from all over the world we could only produce 25 per cent of the requirements for National Defense.

So we are not a self-sufficient nation by any means. Even if the defense of our nation against military aggression was not necessary, we could not maintain our standard of living without foreign imports. It requires 14 pounds of manganese to make one ton of steel. Of every 100 pounds of manganese used, 92 pounds must come from outside this country. Without steel, there would be no automobiles, no large buildings, no bridges, no railroads, and no oil wells. We're living in a rather small world and in a sad world, because we must think in terms of defending ourselves against a power which has threatened to destroy us. By necessity we must have a global view and cannot stay as did Browning, "God's in his heaven: All's right with the world."

Delores Williamson, T. L. Wright Wed In Radio-TV Rites In Lubbock

Studio A at KDUB-TV was setting for the marriage of Miss Delores Faye Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Williamson of Eastland, and Thomas Lloyd Wright of Lubbock, son of Mrs. E. P. Wright of Hale Center, read and televised Friday night at 10:30 o'clock. The Rev. Claude Harris of Breckenridge officiated.

A wedding altar was arranged before a setting of greenery and flowers lighted by a myriad of tapers. Preceding the twin-ring service, Bill O'Brien of Childress sang "Through the Years," "I Love Thee," and "You'll Never Walk Alone." He was accompanied by Bill Hess, organist, who played traditional marches. As benediction O'Brien sang, "The Lord's Prayer."

After a trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the Wrights will be at home at 2107 18th St. The bride attended Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, where she completed her junior year. She was a campus beauty, a member of the A Cappella Choir and active in religious activities.

Wright, who is employed on the sales staff of KDUB-TV, was graduated from Hardin-Simmons, where he was president of the Student Council, a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Journalism and Radio. He is a member of the Lubbock Jaycees.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of slipper satin, fashioned with floor-length skirt and sweeping train and with tunic of Chantilly lace made with fitted sleeves ending in points and high neckline. Her illusion veil was held in place by a pearl tiara and she carried an orchid on a white prayer book. She wore a strand of pearls.

It's That Time of Year Again—
... when most Americans begin planning their vacations. Some never plan, but those who do see more, spend less, rest better and are more likely to return safely. Safety is the most important item on any trip. It involves many factors. Insurance alone won't bring you back safely but financially it's a life-saver in case of accident. Include it in every vacation plan.

Miss Laverne Wright of Hale Center, twin sister of the bridegroom and maid of honor, wore pink tulle over taffeta and carried asters.

Miss Anita Irwin and Sara Fleming of Dallas and Miss Joyce Horn of Plainview were bridesmaids; Kathryn Williamson of Eastland, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and Debra Norton of Coleman was flower girl.

They wore rainbow shades of organza over taffeta and carried bouquets of asters in deeper tones.

John McMiss of Lubbock served as best man, Ushers were Gerald and Douglas Williamson of Eastland, brothers of the bride, Keith Elliott and Lewis Wardlaw.

A reception was held in Ford Memorial Chapel of First Baptist Church. An arrangement of glad-tilt centered the bride's table. Assisting in hospitalities were Mrs. W. E. Norton, Coleham; Miss Barbara Jones, Whitehall; and Miss Fern Lewis, Lubbock.

When the couple left for New Mexico, the bride wore a blue linen suit with white accessories.

HDC Women Will Attend Tri-County Camp

The Home Demonstration Women of Eastland County will attend a tri-county camp at Lake Brownwood on July 8-9. The three counties represented will be Eastland, Comanche, and Brown counties.

There will be a varied program including a book review, singing, sun-rise ceremony on the first morning of camp, and courses in basket weaving, copper tooling, and shell craft. There will be swimming and other forms of recreation.

There will be hired cooks to prepare plenty of good food so that the women may relax and have a good time. Mrs. W. M. Crow, County Home Demonstration Agt., said.

The women will gather at 10 a. m. July 8 and break camp at 1:30 July 9.

County H. D. Agents To Give Demonstrations

Mrs. M. W. Crow, formerly Mildred Daniels, County Home Demonstration Agent, will give demonstrations next month to eleven home demonstration clubs in Eastland County. The purpose of the demonstrations will be to promote better quality of canned vegetables in the home. Mrs. Crow will stress the steaming process instead of pre-cooking.

Miss Jimmie Dee Sturdivant, assistant County Home Demonstration Agent, will also give demonstrations on home refrigeration during the first two weeks in July to 4-H Club girls all over the county.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davenport are visiting this week in Corpus Christi with their daughter, Mrs. K. K. McElroy and family.

Mrs. Earl Thomas and children of Cleburne are the guests here in the home of Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Anna Grace Burpass.
