

AROUND THE SQUARE

We have just about concluded the "marring season" so we feel moved to put out just a little advice to brides. We have been living for a long time and have made many observations. So this advice to the brides, is really the topic for learned comment.

Your new, big hero—tall, dark and handsome, or what have you—is now under your thumb, so we say to you little brides, don't fumble—an error right at the beginning could lose the ball game.

And above all else, if you have ten working, give the job that you have—here is why. Of all the sure-shot ways to spoil what might have otherwise been a grand and lifetime husband, is for the little help mate to continue to brag in her half of the new family income. For instance, a new husband who is fond of playing pool, if he should lose his job, he can keep right on playing pool if you—a little working bride—are still on the old payroll.

A guy who maybe has the makings of a good husband and provider can develop laziness—he can get in a rut—he could develop a fondness for pool that would outstrip his fondness for work. Don't tempt the guy—quit your job with the very first tap of the church bell. If the gent you are marrying can not support you, he may not be the right guy and the big hero you have been thinking.

And don't tell me I am talking through my hat. My Rosie, when we ashayed out into wedlock, she just up and quit her typewriter. I had to keep working—I couldn't backslide even if I had chosen, and pool was out.

For contentment and happiness keep your ear tuned in for the first tap of the church bell—and cheer to both of you, says our old friend Jo Serra.

Good advice whether you accept it or not.

This does not mean that a wife should never work, but it means she must adopt a new type of labor. Her work is in the home, and is just as important as that of John Henry's. He may feel at times that he is the provider and the boss, and should tell you what to buy and when to buy it. He may swell up like a poisoned pig when something displeases him, but don't be alarmed—just deflate him.

The average wife and mother does more actual work, and a lot more worrying, than friend husband. And her work is important. After all she brings the child into the world and then raises him up in a manner which makes presidential timber out of him. Of course we have a few mothers who do not care—just aren't bothered about what the child does. Real mothers do, and they see to it that the child is given every advantage.

This is why Abraham Lincoln said, "all that I am and all I will be, is due to my darling Oher."

So brother husband, if you would continue to be her hero, you be the provider, and let her rule and reign.

You will be happy for so doing, and when the snows of many winters have passed through your tangled beard, and your once auburn locks have turned to grizzly gray, she will still look upon you as her hero, and you will find great pleasure in associating with a queen—your queen.

Divorce Courts would go out of business, if men and women would remember and respect their marital vows.

Nation's Living Cost Hits New All-Time High

Cost of living for residents in the Eastland County vicinity and for all Americans has reached a new high, according to a report from Washington today.

Rising food prices pushed the index kept by the Bureau of Labor Statistics to 114.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This figure, reflecting consumer prices as of mid-June, compared with 114.0 for mid-May, and was a shade over the previous high of 114.3 recorded last November.

It means that in mid-June the housewife paid nearly $1.15 for purchases she got for a dollar in the 1947-49 period.

The increase means a slight wage boost for some 100,000 workers in aircraft, glass and other industries where contracts are linked to the index.

It was noted that the living costs increase, though it set a new record, was comparatively small. Actually the price level has remained fairly steady since June of 1952. The rise since that time has been 1 per cent. Since June, 1950, when the Korean War began, the increase has been 12 1/2 per cent.

Food prices were a big factor in the new record set last month. They rose 1.4 per cent from May 15 to June 15, just about canceling out most of the decline that took place during last winter and spring.

Other increases recorded were for rents, home repairs, phone charges, drugs, and dental care costs, dry cleaning and laundry services, and scattered price boosts for cigarettes and beer.

There were also slight declines for many assorted items including clothing, toys, radios and television sets, toilet soap, and reading and recreation.

O. O. Mickle To Be Buried Today

Omar O. Mickle, 63, prominent Eastland resident for more than a quarter of a century, passed away at his home, 413 S. Connellee, at 4:15 a.m. Wednesday, following a severe heart attack which came the day before.

Mr. Mickle was in apparently good health and was in town Tuesday afternoon visiting with his friends. He went home about 4:00 o'clock and the attack followed shortly afterward.

He came to Eastland from the Amarillo area, and at one time was in business with his father in the wholesale hardware business, and at one time conducted a business here. His ranch holdings were in the Amarillo area and in Gaines county, though he owns considerable Eastland county property.

Mr. Mickle has been a life long Methodist and a member of the First Methodist church in Eastland. He was a Mason and Shriner.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock from First Methodist church, Eastland, with Rev. J. C. Oglesby, pastor in charge. Hamner Funeral Home will have charge of arrangements. Burial will be in Eastland cemetery immediately following the church service.

Immediate survivors include his widow of the home address, one son, Bill Mickle, of Odessa, a daughter, Mrs. R. C. Lanford of Temple; a brother, Dr. Joe J. Mickle of Shreveport, La., and two sisters, Mmes. W. A. Russell of Amarillo, and J. W. McKee of Corpus Christi.

The family requests 'no flowers' and in compliance with their wishes an offering to Boys Ranch in Amarillo, instead. Mr. Mickle had been a contributing friend of that institution for many years.

Pallbearers include J. Whitley, M. H. Perry, Bill White, N. P. McCarney, Chas. Beskow, F. W. (Red) Graham, J. M. (Doc) Davis and Robert Childress.

Honorary pallbearers will be the members of the 9:49 Sunday School Class at First Methodist School.

COMBINED 'FROG' DERBY AND GOLF TOURNAMENT SUGGESTED

By BLAIR LEWIS

Once again the Country Club sets are matching their golfing skill to determine who is to be Eastland's darling in the tournament of Masters in the City Championship. It started off with a bang at last Friday night's delicious Floyd King chicken barbecue dinner and Calcutta Pool.

A plan is on foot to be discussed with Herbert Tanner to co-sponsor this gala event along with the Horn Frog Derby. If the directors of the tournament are successful in promoting Tanner on the idea of making an exhibition of the Country Club set along with the frogs, the affair might be presented along these lines according to Bob King, one of the directors, (incidentally Bob is the son of "Mr. 1950", Hood King, who recently gained the title in triumph glory in the Tri-City area. Certainly this can be called a dramatic effort to prove Mr. King's greatness.)

Before the frog race it is hoped that a ticker tape parade might be arranged around the frog race track with all the notable golfers following around behind Herbert and his frogs. In this manner race track enthusiasts and golfing fans will be able to see and possibly hear all entrants in both events.

This will make one of the wildest, blaringest, triumphant affairs Eastland ever had if Tanner will see fit to co-operate with the directors of the golf tournament.

Picture if you can what a beautiful, lovely, display under the bright spot lights amid the ticker tape, the majestic frogs with their trainers, the Country Club set in all their finery marching along behind the frogs and then Eastland's alert Police and Fire Departments—all this under the spell of soft, sweet music.

There would be in the select golfing group, Earl Conner Jr. in his new fashionable, blue golfing shorts—ice cool on the links but this time his face beaming with emotion, certainly an inspiration to the Youth of Eastland. Then might come Mrs. Johnny Haines, Mrs. Tillie "Babe" Pullman, Mr. Johnny Lively and all the rest of the debutante set attired in their darling little golfing shorts—Ah! Me, what a picture. Of course this might be all just a beautiful dream as Tanner might not concur and want to just race his frogs, but wouldn't it be something to see?

Now Tanner might feel that this Country Club set in review might detract attention from the glory of the frogs, but the writer doesn't think so, because he knows for a fact that lots of people in Eastland would rather see frogs than golfers; however, if Tanner disapproves the golfing set will not press the issue because the chamber has certainly been back of every movement of Lakeside.

Meeting Dealing With City Youth Center Postponed

A meeting of Eastland mothers and others interested in a youth center, and set for tomorrow night, has been postponed until Thursday night of next week.

The meeting is to be held in the City Hall, and the public is invited to attend.

Plans will be made for the organization of a Youth Center in Eastland, and being sponsored by mothers, it will afford clean sports and amusement for the city's youth. From what we can learn it will have the backing of every worthwhile organization in the city.

Social Security Representative To Visit City

E. Glen McNatt, representative of the Social Security Office in Abilene, will be at the Driver's License Office, City Hall, in Eastland, at 10 a.m. on Thursday, July 30. Persons wishing advice or assistance in connection with their social security accounts are invited to call at that time. The next scheduled visit will be at the same hour on August 13, 1953.

There are many self-employed persons between the ages of 65 and 75 whose low net earnings make them eligible for monthly insurance payments, even though they are still working, according to Ralph T. Fisher, manager of the Abilene office.

Recent changes in the law make it possible for a self-employed person between these ages to net $900 annually without giving up any of his monthly social security checks. These people should file their claims immediately in order to prevent loss of benefits, the manager stated. Persons age 75 and older can draw their monthly benefits regardless of the amount of their business profit.

Fisher pointed out that in persons clearing over $900, but not more than $1725 annually, may receive one or more monthly payments for the year. He urged that persons in this group contact the social security office to discuss their individual cases.

Everett Rites Held Sunday

Funeral services for Edward O. Everett, 44, son of the late H. E. Everett, were held at the First Methodist Church, Eastland, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Rev. J. C. Oglesby, pastor of the church, officiated during the final rites. Interment was in Eastland Cemetery. Morris Funeral Home of Ranger, assisted by Hamner Funeral Home of Eastland, was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Everett died suddenly at his home, 905 South Seaman, last Thursday night from a heart attack.

He was employed, at the time of his death, by Humble Oil & Refining Co. For the past 22 years he was a resident of Eastland County. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Mr. Everett was born in Coleman County on September 20, 1908. He married the former Miss Hildegarde Fletcher on November 16, 1927.

He is survived by his wife, by one son, Harold Leon Everett, who is enroute home from service with the U. S. Army in Japan, by his mother, Mrs. H. E. Everett, and by one brother, H. H. (Pat) Everett, of Corpus Christi.

Pallbearers at the funeral were Monte Rowe of Monahans, A. B. Cornelius of Graham, H. I. McMillan of Wichita Falls, Neil Hurt, Jack Lewis, Carl Johnson, Bill Hoffmann, and Roland Phillips of Eastland.

U. S. Casualties Rise In Korea During Week

The United States reported 1,563 new battle casualties in Korea, the largest weekly rise since Nov. 7, 1951.

The figures reflected the heavy fighting of recent weeks to stem Communist attacks intended to gain ground before any cease fire becomes effective. In the November 1951 week there were 1,922 battle casualties.

The total battle casualties of the entire Korean War went to 139,272 with the new report. This was an increase of only 1,026 in a week, because of bookkeeping procedure in which 537 cases were shifted from battle to non-battle casualty status.

Catholic Leader Hits Working Of Mothers

Catholic spokesmen at the conclusion of a joint convention of three church organizations at San Antonio Wednesday deplored the ever-increasing employment of married mothers in business, industry, and the professions.

The July 18-22 convention was the 98th for Catholic Central Verein of America, the 37th for the National Catholic Women's Union, and the 54th for the Catholic State League of Texas.

In resolutions, the organizations dedicated themselves to "a Catholic social action program that conceive the modern-day social question to be a moral and spiritual rather than an economic question."

The resolutions also called for an awakening to the "evils here at home, particularly liberalism, secularism, and variously disguised trends toward state socialism."

Statements singled out for condemnation abortions, birth control, euthanasia, artificial insemination, and "easy divorce, and remarriage." These were viewed as a "frontal assault on the stability and well-being of the home, the basic unit of society."

A similar statement deplored the employment of married mothers.

Ranger Rodeo Is On; Over 5,000 On Hand For First Performance

Wednesday Afternoon Parade Is Largest In History; Big Crowds Witness Procession

One of the largest opening night crowds in history—estimated at 5,000 or more men, women and children—packed the Jaycee arena in Ranger Wednesday night for the initial performance of the big 1953 8th annual Ranger Round-up Rodeo.

The opening show was lauded by rodeo fans as one of the best arena presentations staged by the sponsoring Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The '53 rodeo was formally opened Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with a gala parade in downtown Ranger. About 5,000 spectators were on hand to watch the procession which was the largest rodeo parade ever staged in Ranger. In addition to scores of cowboy and cowgirl contestants, the Ranger High School Band, under the direction of Band Director Fred Steffer Jr., and many floats and business vehicles, several visiting delegations of visiting horsemen added color to the event. Included among the visiting units in the parade were the Buckaroo Riding Club of Breckenridge, the Palo Pinto County Sheriffs Posse, the Parker County Sheriffs Posse of Weatherford, the Possum Kingdom Roundup Club of Graham, and the Rising Star Roping Club of Rising Star.

The gala grand entry at the opening performance of the show was one of the largest and most colorful ever staged. There were hundreds of horsemen swirling about in the arena. The Graham visitors, all mounted on beautiful white horses and each rider bearing a flag, made the entry one of the most impressive ever unraveled in the Ranger arena.

Also prefacing start of rodeo action—bareback bronc riding opened the show—the officials were introduced by the announcer, Chip Morris. Frank Mariani of Ranger, former World Champion Bull Rider and managing director of the Jaycee presentation, drew a fine ovation.

Second performance of the rodeo will be staged tonight at 8 p.m. And the show will continue through Friday and Saturday nights.

Barring inclement weather, Jim Townzen, president of the Jaycees, and other junior chamber leaders expressed the belief that this year's rodeo will set new attendance records and the box office gross also is expected to reach a new high.

In civilian life he was a farmer. Now the senior American division in the Korean peninsula, the 25th Infantry landed here in July 1950 shortly after the Communists launched their attack against the Republic of South Korea.

Area Traffic Deaths Down; Two In County

Fifteen fewer traffic fatalities were reported by the Department of Public Safety for the first six months of 1953 than in the same period in 1952 in the 13-county area served by the Texas State Highway Patrol with headquarters at Abilene.

Only 33 persons died in traffic accidents from January through June, 1953 in Callahan, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall, Taylor and Throckmorton counties. Forty-eight persons were killed in the same period in 1952.

Property damage for the first six months of 1953 was $308,494 from 547 accidents. Damage in June alone amounted to $158,405.

The June, 1953, death of nine in the 13 county area was two more than in 1952.

Six fatalities in Callahan County in the first half of this year was highest for the district. Taylor County led in property damage with $57,346.

Here's the comparison of fatalities and accidents by counties for the first six months of this year and the same period of 1952:

County	Fatalities 1952	Fatalities 1953	Accidents 1952	Accidents 1953
Callahan	6	54	56	56

A New Word Is Coined For Traffic Death

Introducing a new word: Motorcide, meaning traffic fatality.

The state police traffic accident report for 1951-1952 defines motorcide as "the killing of another human being or of one's self through operation of a motor vehicle, usually the result of negligence or wanton carelessness."

It's a sort of combination of suicide and homicide, said State Police Statistician N. K. Woerner and Safety Director Lewis E. Berry.

State Police Director Homer Garrison Jr. credited them with coining the word.

The report shows Texas' traffic death rate in 1952 was lowest on record, with a continuing decrease for the first six months this year.

Polio In State Is Well Below Level of 1952

Polio continues what was called its "mild course" in Texas, the State Health Department reported.

New cases for the week ending July 18 totaled 86, three under the previous week.

Total for the year so far is 768, less than half the number reported to date last year. There were 242 cases in the corresponding week a year ago.

Only three new counties came into the picture last week—Clay, Eastland and Karnes.

Only 21 of the cases reported so far this year have been definitely classified as causing paralysis. About a third of the total reported did not specify whether they were of the paralytic or nonparalytic type.

Crowns Can Learn from School Garden Text Book

"The Victory Lessons in Gardening" by Paul R. Young, is a new book for school use in all primary grades. It is a new book to which gardening is a new subject, and it is an excellent source of basic information, well organized and clearly expressed. It would take a lot of reading in many books to require the understanding of new plants and growing. This book in its 165 pages explains in easily understood words and graphic illustrations. Mr. Young has been school garden supervisor of the Cleveland, O., schools since 1928. He is a graduate of the College of Agriculture, Cornell University, and has a master's degree from the same university in Agricultural Education. Under his supervision the Cleveland schools have developed the largest school garden program in the country. No other text book on gardening practice is comparable to this one in clarity and completeness. All heads of gardening are covered—seed growing, plant propagation, soil improvement, fertilization, and the practical care of gardens. Material is provided both for class room instruction, and practical outdoor gardening where the opportunity occurs. The text book is published by the National Garden Institute, a non-profit, non-partisan society interested in the promotion of gardening as a means of developing better health, morale, and a love of the land. Copies can be obtained from that organization, 1268 North High Street, Columbus 1, O., for $1 per copy.

Massacre Mountains

by Frank C. Robertson
COPYRIGHT 1952 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Pete Morrison is seeking to rescue Betty from the clutches of her father, who kidnapped her years ago from her real father, Nate Wilkinson, one of Pete's friends. Betty has been taken to Pangeenet, where she is in the custody of Hoot Anderson, one of Zad's men. Betty is permitted to go to the store for Mrs. Anderson, but Betty is to pose as Mrs. Anderson's niece from the East.

BETTY felt as if she had escaped from prison, and suddenly on the way to the village of Pangeenet the notion was born in her mind not to return to Two Rivers. She cared for no one there, except possibly Walter and Jess Williams, and if she went back, Zad probably would force her eventually to marry Gabe Cox. The best she could hope for was the life Nora Anderson was living. She might as well be dead.

She didn't know what she could do, or where she could go, but she made up her mind to ask the storekeeper if he could find her employment of any kind. As she walked into the place, Mr. Hazelton, the storekeeper, was talking to a bearded, middle-aged man whom Betty had seen strange feeling that she had seen before.

Hazelton turned toward her with a smile. "Howdy, Miss Price," he said. "You're living out at Hoot Anderson's, so you can answer this gentleman's question. He wants to know if there is a girl named Betty Barnes staying out there?" Betty felt frightened. This surely, was one of the men Zad was afraid she might meet. She dared not tell him who she was. For all his faults, Zad Barnes was the only father she knew and she owed him loyalty.

"I'm the only one there besides the family," she managed to say. "And who are you?" the stranger asked. "I'm Nancy Price. I'm from the East, visiting my aunt, Mrs. Anderson."

NEWS FROM CHEANEY

Mrs. Bill Tucker

Best wishes and a speedy recovery to Mrs. Joe Butler who underwent surgery, Thursday morning at Ranger General hospital. Blood donors, including Curtis Blackwell, stood by for transfusions. Others having A-negative type blood are asked to stand by if needed.

Minister Bill Grasham, who preaches regularly for the Church of Christ, was unable to be on hand Sunday, because of the illness of his wife. Brother Grasham is scheduled to begin a gospel meeting here Saturday night, July 18. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Services will begin at 8:15 each evening.

Mrs. Gene Ferrell reports that the Meikon family reunion and picnic stranger's gun pressed against his stomach. "There's something fishy here," the stranger said. "This girl's answers to my questions about the East don't make sense!"

"But this does," Gabe Cox spoke from directly back of the man. "Drop that gun, stranger, or you'll get it right in the back!" Betty wanted to scream, but could utter no sound. She knew that Cox would shoot without hesitation unless the stranger complied.

The man realized it, too, for he let his gun fall onto the rag carpet of the sitting room. He turned slowly and said, "I'm your father, Betty. Before they kill me, I want you to know that."

PETE MORRISON swung down from a tired horse in front of Hazelton's store and wasted no time asking the proprietor where Hoot Anderson lived.

"Can't see his place till you get to it, but just follow that road there," Hazelton indicated. Then he added, "Anderson's popular today. You're the second stranger asking where he lived. You looking for a girl too?"

"As a matter of fact, I am," Pete answered. The other man, he thought, was probably Wilkinson. He said, "That other man must have been my partner. Did he mention his name?"

"Don't believe that he did, but he was asking for a girl named Betty that he said was staying at Hoot's. Guess he was wrong though, for Mr. Anderson's niece came in while he was here and told him there was nobody there by that name. But he rode back to Hoot's place with her."

Pete asked, "What kind of a man is this Anderson?" "Mister, I don't know. He doesn't have much truck with other folks. His wife seems to be a nice woman, but kind of beaten down. What kind of puzzles me is how this niece of hers arrived without anybody knowing it. Fine looking girl too."

Pete reached as if touched by the end of a hot wire. "What does she look like?" he asked. "Maybe I know her."

Pink Topping for Angel Cake

Versatile angel cake, so adaptable for all summer occasions, and so easily available from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department, can wear a heavenly pink topping or icing that is cool, light, and fruity as the red raspberries that give it flavor.

You will not believe that one egg white plus sugar and berries will make two quarts of fluffy pink topping. But it does. Try it and see. This is enough to completely and generously ice an eight-ounce angel cake made from a cook book recipe, with some left over to serve with additional whole berries as a raspberry whip. Strawberries, bananas or grated raw apple may be used instead of raspberries.

Pink Raspberry Topping
1 cup mashed red raspberries 1 egg white, unbeaten
1 cup granulated sugar 1/4 teaspoon salt

Put all ingredients into a 3-quart mixing bowl. Beat or whip until topping does not move when bowl is slowly inverted (20 to 25 minutes by hand; 12 to 15 minutes with electric mixer). Topping is best when used within 1 to 2 hours, but may be kept as long as a day.

NIGHTIES-

by the food and uninspired by the conversation, watching the clock until I can decently excuse myself and go home. I suppose it is the mental picture of myself looking like an animated rag bag that does it. But just let me dress with care and concern for detail; I find that it's a lovely day, everybody is unusually agreeable, the refreshments are out of this world, and I can hardly bear to tear myself away from the witty and thought-provoking conversation.

"Now I've been saying all this to preface a question: Have you ever worn a hospital gown? Well, I have.

"A few weeks ago when I so unexpectedly went to the hospital for My Appendectomy, a nurse met me at the door of my room with what looked like a white pajama jacket in her hand.

"Here, Sugar Foots, let's take off your clothes and put on this." She helped me undress down to the last stitch, and slipped me into self away from the witty and white number, tying it firmly in the back. "Now, we're all fixed." She patted me affectionately.

"Er—uh—where are the trousers?" I inquired timidly, tugging modestly at my gown.

"What did you say, Hon?" She was efficiently hanging my clothes in the tiny closet.

"Where are my pajama pants?" A newly hatched bird is well-clothed compared with the way I felt.

"Oh, there aren't any, Sweetie." She grinned wickedly. "It won't matter to you in a little while." And out she bustled, leaving me without a friend and pantsless.

"As I consider the matter in retrospect, I think I know exactly why it is that hospital gowns are made the way they are. Oh, I know they tell you that it is purely a convenience measure. But don't let them fool you! I am convinced that a hospital gown is made ridiculously short—almost a midriff, really—for the psychological purpose of making the poor believe that a hospital gown is made to tie in back for the psychological purpose of causing the unhappy patient to feel dependent and helpless. Do you see the vicious plan? Give the patient as great an inferiority complex as you possibly can, thereby making him as meek as a lamb and a pushover for anything.

"Let me illustrate: I went to the hospital with my feelings mixed about operations; I wasn't absolutely certain that I wanted one. Oh, yes, I was suffering agonies, but back in my mind was the idea that perhaps with ice bags and professional nursing I might go home in the morning with my appendix; and that if I decided to keep it, it was my own business. "Maybe I shall, and maybe I shan't" was my motto. But I reckoned without psychology and the hospital gown.

"You see, you don't just jump up out of bed and run home in one of those little nighties. You'd feel like a fool asserting yourself in such a get-up. Instead, you cower wherever they tell you, and behave like a perfect little lady. I spent most of my time and all of my energy trying to keep my nightie modestly down. I had nothing left with which to protest! Without a shot having been fired, I was their prisoner—shastened, meek and docile!

"Yes, the way we dress certainly does affect our general outlook. My experiences on my Bed of Pain, wearing a hospital gown gave me a terrible inferiority complex. I told my husband that I honestly believe that I'd have to have a new fur coat to wear all next winter in order that I might regain my self-confidence!"

Mrs. Marshall Fox Honored At Tea By Women's Missionary Union

The Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church honored Mrs. Marshall Fox Monday afternoon when they entertained with a tea at the Woman's Club. Mrs. Fox has recently returned from India, where Mr. Fox is employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. H. W. Sims, president of the WMU, greeted the guests and presented each to the pastor's wife Mrs. C. M. Ratheal, who introduced the honoree, Mrs. Marshall Fox. Mrs. T. D. Wheat served as house hostess.

Mrs. Mary Copeland presided at the register, where about seventy-five guests signed the registration book, which was in the shape of the map of India.

The house party included Meses Carl Jones, Frank Lovett, and Herbert Weaver.

Mrs. Sims introduced Mrs. Ratheal as program chairman and called on Mrs. F. A. R. Morgan for scripture and prayer. Mrs. James Fields sang, "How Long Must We Wait," accompanied by Mrs. Ratheal, after which Mrs. Fox gave a very informative talk on India as a whole that attracted the interest of her listeners. The group felt very lucky in many respects, but very unfortunate in others. She explained in detail the caste system, which includes the lowest group of people called "untouchables" to the highest group of government officials.

After Mrs. Fox's speech, refreshments were served by Meses Elmer Watson, E. N. Scott, R. D. Kelley, Roland Koch, and Charles Layton, who alternated at pouring the punch and serving the cake squares.

The refreshment table was decorated with a world atlas surrounded by Asters, with small figurines marching around indicating the missionaries over the world.

All who attended reported a wonderful time and said that Mrs. Fox covered her subject well with charm and poise.

Teen Tempters

Here is temptation for the teens which can be tested and enjoyed to the utmost—an after-party snack—easily and quickly prepared for youthful appetites. For mothers who are bewildered at the amount of food and the frequency at which this age can eat, we suggest high energy foods such as cheese-ham rolls.

The rolls, made with frankfurter buns and wrapped in foil can be kept on hand in the freezer or prepared several hours ahead and left in the refrigerator to be heated by the young people themselves.

If the weather is warm, they will want to end on sweet notes—root beer floats and your favorite baker's cupcakes—in party sink—spread with strawberry frosting.

Cheese-Ham Rolls

1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons sweet piccalilli
1 cup deviled ham
1 1/2 cups grated process cheese, firmly packed
8 frankfurter buns

Combine onion, chili sauce, green pepper, piccalilli, ham and cheese. Cut buns in half and place 3 tablespoons cheese-ham mixture between matched bun halves. Wrap and seal each filled bun in aluminum foil. Heat in a moderate oven (350° F.) for eight to ten minutes, or until cheese melts. Yield: 8 Cheese-Ham Rolls.
