

Moore... ABOUT Eastland

By VIRGIL E. MOORE

We just forwarded Mary Louise Woods' letter to Santa Clause to the North Pole. The letter came through our hands since we have been appointed as special representative of Santa this Christmas. We don't know exactly what Mary Louise wants for her Christmas. She wrote the letter in Eskimo language so only Santa would know. At least that's what we support, for it definitely was not English. Eskimo, you probably know, strongly resembles the writing of a child. It is nothing but a jumping up and down some- like a stock market chart. Mary Jane was thoughtful enough to address the name in English so the mailman wouldn't have to get it translated.

We took in the Ranger-Albany grid game Friday night. It was some affair. Ranger proved the critics are all wet about the "no competition" angle. Eastland and Dublin could both give Albany a good game, but the Lions probably could have handled them. Not as neatly as Ranger did, however.

After the game we drove to Denton to enjoy a belated Thanksgiving dinner with the wife's side of the family. Stopped in Fort Worth for coffee and ran across a sign which said, "We have a working agreement with the bank. We don't cash checks and they don't sell beer." Most banks don't.

See where David B. Owen, 23, son of Assistant District Attorney and Mrs. Grady Owen of Fort Worth, was inducted into the Army Friday. Owen, a graduate of the University of Texas Law School last spring, has been a practicing attorney with his uncle, W. D. R. Owen of Eastland, since his graduation.

The Majestic Theater is to be congratulated for cooperating with the student body of Eastland High School in presenting a film with proceeds to help pay for the school annual. The show is Thursday. Try and make it.

An Olden reader submitted the following clipping:

Missing—Last Sunday, some families from church.

Strayed—Half a score of lambs, believed to have gone in the direction of "No Sunday School."

Misaid—A quantity of silver and copper coins on the counter of a public house.

Wanted—Several young people. When last seen were walking in pairs up Sunday Breakers' Lane, which leads to the City of No Good.

Lost—A lad, carefully reared, not long from home, and for a time promising. Supposed to have gone with one or two older companions to Prodigal Town, Husk Lane.

Reward—Any person assisting in the recovery of the above shall in no wise lose his reward. Thanks, Mrs. Dick Yielding.

Paid your poll tax yet? They sure are moving slow so we suggest you get 'em while you can, without all the rush and waiting.

Bridge Only Answer To Staff's Problem

Eastland county officials took their plea for a bridge across the nearly completed Leon River reservoir before the State Highway Commission in Austin today. The results of the hearing before the group may well determine the future history of the Staff community, since only a bridge can keep Staff in contact with other county towns.

City Is Kiss Incentive Capital Of World—Thanks To Guy Quinn

Eastland is the "Kiss Incentive Capital" of the world, thanks to a man by the name of Guy Quinn, owner of the Cactus Gardens.

Quinn, you see, is the man who annually ships out thousands of pounds of mistletoe from Eastland each year. Thus the title.

The sparkling eyed man, who finds time to operate the gardens after working full time for Texas Electric Service Co., has probably given young men and women more opportunity to kiss than any living man. It's Quinn that the dashing young gentleman and the flirty girls have to thank for that legal chance to steal a kiss.

Quinn is having it rough this year, however. The drought, which kept the farmer down for the past few years, also was a killer to the parasite plant which Quinn has made profitable. Most mistletoe in the county isn't "top grade" this year and Quinn has been forced to look elsewhere for his product.

He still hopes to fill a quota of 50,000 pounds, however. He says mistletoe is still plentiful along rivers and creeks in the area.

Right now he's filling an order to send to Canada. Canadian kisses should be plentiful this Yule season. Again, thanks to Guy Quinn.

Burleson Says GOP Has Been Successful Thus Far

Congressman Omar Burleson said today that the political honeymoon might be drawing to a close and that may be more difficult for the Republicans to carry out some of the legislative proposals announced sometime ago.

"Personally," Burleson said, "I would like to see the Eisenhower administration succeed and I intend to support it as long as I feel that they are doing the right thing."

He said there were two principle reasons for his statement. "Obviously it would be immediately good for the country. Less obvious is the possibility that should it not succeed, it might end our two-party system which is necessary under our way of doing things."

One specific program in which the Congressman expressed his active support and interest was the appointment of a commission by Eisenhower to define the responsibilities of the Federal Government as related to State, County and local governments. He commented on the work of the commission whose purpose is to determine not only the authority of the Federal Government as opposed to State and local governments, but as it relates to expenditures.

"When the Federal Government contributes money to States and local governments, it follows it can exercise its control and authority over them. This practice over the years has caused centralization of power in Washington and has taken away the power and responsibility of the States."

Burleson said he was looking forward to the results of the study which may mean whether we have states rights as we have known them in the past or whether the Federal Government will continue to grow and exercise authority from Washington.

Following the speech, questions were invited from those present. During the course of his talk Burleson reported and commented on various other issues now pending before the Congress and expected in the next session.

Burleson Says GOP Has Been Successful Thus Far

Congressman Sees End of Honeymoon

"The Eisenhower Administration has thus far been successful, even though it has not put into effect a good many of its announced intents," Congressman Omar Burleson told a combined meeting of the Eastland Lions and Rotary clubs Monday.

Burleson cemented his statement by saying, "This government is so big and complicated, I think it should be realized that no man nor any group of men can immediately pick up the lines and drive in the exact direction which he may like to go."

The congressman said, "On the other hand, there appears the possibility that the political honeymoon might be drawing to a close and that may be more difficult for the Republicans to carry out some of the legislative proposals announced sometime ago.

"Personally," Burleson said, "I would like to see the Eisenhower administration succeed and I intend to support it as long as I feel that they are doing the right thing."

Here is an instance where water conservation is meat conservation. The owner of this pond says he can produce as much meat in fish for each acre of pond as he does in cattle for each acre of pasture. Conserving water and holding it on the farm whether it is in the subsoil of the land or whether it is impounded in a farm pond is a good start for producing meat. And like the pasture, the farm pond produces more meat if it is fertilized. Where there is a small stream crossing the farm, it provides a good opportunity to build a dam and hold the water—a little while longer.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a traditional gown of white satin designed with a moulded bodice. Her long fitted sleeves formed points over the hands. A hand rolled cord finished the waistline and tiny covered satin buttons extended from the neckline to below the waist.

Nylon tulle formed the yoke of the décolleté neckline and was joined to the bodice with a floral embroidered design of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The full skirt was pleated across the hip-line and extended into a train. Beauty-Halmark Vows Exchanged In Double Ring Home Ceremony

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Frank Beatty, Texas-Highway 80, was the scene, Nov. 21st for the 6 o'clock wedding of their daughter, Arduth Ruth Beatty, to Grover E. Halmark.

Carolyn Beatty, sister of the bride and Linda Halmark, sister of the bridegroom lighted the candles preceding the double ring ceremony read by Rev. E. H. Robert Clinton of Snyder sang "Through the Years" and "I Love Thee" accompanied by Miss Jane Huestis, Cisco.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an off white faille suit by Jonathan Logan, with navy accessories. She carried out the tradition, her something new, her hat, something blue, a handkerchief and her carscrows were borrowed. For something old she wore her grandmother's gold pin on her cuff.

She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid. Miss Patsy King of Cisco was maid of honor and wore a street length dress of blue green taffeta with off white accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Charles Atkinson of Abilene was best man.

The candlelighters were identically dressed with navy taffeta dresses accented with white lace. They wore wristlets of white carnations.

J. T. Weaver and K. M. Turner, ushers of the bride, served as ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony and was also held in the home. The bride's table was laid with a Maderia linen cutwork cloth, appointed with crystal and silver and decorated with white chrysanthemums and autumn leaves. The refreshingly different appearance of the 1954 Lincoln has been enhanced by the smart new styling scheme seen here in the four-door Capri sedan. New bumper guards and wrap-around bumpers combine with new side mouldings and a jeweled gravel shield to give greater visual length. Improvements to the 205-horsepower overhead valve V-8 engine and to the body structure, as well as new interior trim fabrics and upholstery, feature all 1954 Lincoln models.

Wisconsin Union Is 125 Years Old

MADISON, Wis.— A 149-ring "circus" has been performing here continuously for 25 years.

The "circus" as officials like to call it, is a mixture of concerts, plays, social and square dancing, forums, sports events and dozens of other activities all housed in one building on the University of Wisconsin campus.

The building is the Wisconsin Memorial Union, and the performers are students, faculty members and alumni who spotlight the Union's halls with 149 varied recreational programs each year.

The Memorial Union, housed in a building originally costing more than $2,863,000, is now worth $6,000,000 as it moves into its silver anniversary year.

Alumni, faculty members and friends will gather in Madison to help the younger student generation light the gigantic 25th birthday cake.

While the current student body takes the building for granted, the older guests will spend a good part of their reunion reminiscing about the building and how it began.

The Wisconsin Union started out to resemble what a former university president, Charles Van Hise, called the "cradle of the British parliament."

Van Hise wanted to plan the union after the Oxford and Cambridge meeting halls. There future British statesmen were able to meet with their instructors in an informal atmosphere to discuss problems of the day.

Van Hise didn't have the remotest idea what his plan would lead

NEW RESERVOIRS HIGHLIGHT STATE'S ADVANCEMENTS IN 1953, NEW ALMANAC SHOWS

Booming industrial development and short water supply constitute the big part of present Texas economic development, according to the 1954-55 edition of the Texas Almanac, just published by The Dallas Morning News.

Net value of Texas manufacturers in 1953 reached the 4-billion-dollar mark. Principal new activity during the last two years has been in the building of great new chemical plants along the Gulf and the erection of big interior plants such as the $100,000,000 aluminum plant at Rockdale and the big steel mill at Dangierfield. The manufacture of sulphur from sour gas is an expanding industry in West Texas and Panhandle fields.

A water shortage affected more than 100 large and small cities and towns during the 1951-53 drought. But by the middle of 1953 there were 525 reservoirs completed or under construction with a total capacity of 36,000,000 acre-feet, with something like 10,000,000 acre-feet capacity on the engineers' drawing boards. The present total annual water consumption of Texas is eight to nine million acre-feet. This is only two per cent of the volume of water precipitated annually on Texas' surface.

Not under the weather chapter is a wet-dry map of the state, showing prohibition as against liquor, beer-wine and beer territory. Most of the area of Texas is dry. Most of the population, however, resides in wet territory.

Texts of both Federal and State Constitutions are included with latest amendments. Principal federal and all state and county officials are named. There are more than 10,000 names of individuals in public and private life. There is a summary of laws of the 53rd Legislature.

Texas rail, truck-bus and air commerce reached a new high in both freight and passenger business. At 47 commercial airports, 1,887,817 passengers were enplaned in the last year reported with 91,631 for foreign destinations.

Texas is one of the great military centers of the world with its historic Fort Sam Houston, its Brook Field medical base, largest in the world at San Antonio, its great Naval Air training base at Corpus Christi, and more than 100 other installations.

Texas mineral production values in 1953 are calculated at $3,720,000,000, greatest in history, and twice as great as the value for any year preceding 1946. Of Texas 254 counties, 185 produce oil or gas on appreciable scale. The new Texas Almanac lists all oil-producing counties with latest annual production, and also total production from time of first discovery until the present.

There is a complete summary of the latest census reports, showing details by counties. All county articles are rewritten and all county details maps redrawn showing especially the details of farm-to-market and local road paving.

Miscellaneous items include a long list of Texas tornadoes, 1893-1953, compiled by the U. S. Weather Bureau, a comprehensive list of Texas historic places, principal diseases of Texas crops, characteristics of Texas' twenty principal cotton varieties and where they are grown, and tens of thousands of others interesting facts and figures.

We Read in the Papers—

"... 'Nice home burns. Nothing saved. Partially insured'. These are expected occurrences and always happen, hence they have little news value except, perhaps, locally. But if the story should say 'completely insured' then you have a news item of national interest because the incident is a rarity. What a tragedy that so few of us Americans, if any, carry adequate insurance to cover our life's savings in case of loss.

If it's Insurance, we write it!

Test Shoot Set On Doe

AUSTIN — The Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission said plans have been completed for the limited experimental harvest of doe in parts of Gillespie and Mason counties.

The season is from December 1 to 15, both dates inclusive. Between one thousand and eleven hundred antlerless deer have been earmarked for harvest in the two areas. The Commission is setting up the experiment allowed for taking of "antlerless deer" to cover unintentional shooting of young bucks whose antlers are not visible.

The Director of Wildlife Restoration said persons interested in the harvest should contact the Chambers of Commerce in either Fredericksburg for Gillespie County, or Mason in Mason County, since final arrangements are strictly on the local level.

Permits which will be issued directly by land owners restrict the harvest to one antlerless deer per permit.

The census leading up to the special season was supervised by Eugene Walker, Wildlife Biologist with the Game and Fish Commission.

The Director of Wildlife Restoration said the purpose of the entire project is primarily to reduce the overpopulation of deer in certain areas; to cut the herd losses from dieoff and to reduce damage to the ranges from over browsing.

He added that the program, properly developed, could improve the quality of the deer herds and lead to a better sex ratio in affected cases.

The Director said efforts have been made to conduct the experiment on a sound biological basis to provide the maximum benefits.

Ford Tudor—America's lowest-priced V-8 Sedans

Check the other V-8's and you'll discover Ford's Tudor sedans and business coupes are the lowest-priced of all! Like all this year's Fords they bring you the smoothest going ever. Specially tailored front springs and new shock absorber action give a ride that's a wonder. Front end road shock alone is reduced up to 80%.

Here are America's lowest-priced V-8's...

and they're all worth more when you buy them, worth more when you sell them!

Ford Victoria—America's lowest-priced V-8 hardtop

Meet America's "Best Dressed" Car, the Ford Victoria. Its Crestmark body is haultlight. And under its baked enamel finish is the only V-8 in the low-price field. With Ford's Automatic Power Pilot, it gives 110-h.p. high-compression GO on "regular." (Center-Fill Fueling makes fueling-up easier from either side.)

Ford Ranch Wagon—America's lowest-priced V-8 station wagon

The 2-door Ranch Wagon, also available with Ford's Six, is actually two cars in one. It's six passengers big, yet converts to a cargo hauler in seconds... with 6 1/2 feet to the end of the tailgate. Ford also offers two 4-door "quick change artists," the all-metal Ford Country Sedan and the wood-trimmed Ford Country Squire. Both are V-8 powered.

Ford Sunliner—America's lowest-priced convertible V-8

More people drive Ford convertibles than any other make. And no wonder! Its V-8 engine is the same type of engine powering America's costliest cars. You can have it with Fordomatic, Overdrive or Conventional Drive. And you can have any Ford V-8 with Ford Master-Guide, the last word in power steering.

Ford Master-Guide, Fordomatic and Overdrive optional at extra cost.

Ford is the only V-8 in the low-price field.

New Program For Nurses At TSCW In 1954

DENTON — An important development in the Texas State College for Women's program in the preparation of professional nurses in Texas has been announced by Dr. John A. Guinn, president.

The expanded program, to become effective in September, 1954, will for instructional purposes in the field of nursing education, combine the extensive resources of TSCW with those of the new $11,000,000 facilities of Parkland Memorial Hospital of Dallas.

"The proximity of the new Parkland facilities in northwest Dallas to the campus of TSCW will offer a complete integration of academic and professional studies and will provide for the continuous participation of students in campus affairs," Dr. Guinn said.

"This highly integrated four-year degree program of the TSCW School of Nursing will be inaugurated on the TSCW campus next fall. The present diploma course of the Parkland School of Nursing will be discontinued after a three-year period of transition beginning with the 1954-55 session.

Dr. Guinn pointed out that the charter of TSCW, written in 1901, listed the preparation of "trained nurses" as one of the prime duties of the college, but the development of this phase of instruction has been handicapped in the past by lack of an adequate hospital for teaching purposes. As a result, the college has given preparatory academic instruction to its majors in nursing, transferred them to various hospitals for their professional preparation, and then completed their degree program in a fifth year at TSCW.

"Those who have been consulted in the planning stage believe that the proposed program represents an ideal in nursing education."

Special values are seen in the fact that TSCW, as the only state-supported college for women in Texas, draws students from the entire state, and will have the ability to direct many students into nursing in a time of desperate need.

The tie-up of Parkland Memorial Hospital, which is directed by the Dallas City Council and the Commissioners of Dallas County, with the Denton college is another forward step in TSCW's development of specialized courses for young women, Dr. Guinn emphasized.

Ring Found In Sewer Proves To Be Valuable

Eight years ago city employee James McLendon of Jacksonville, Fla., gave his wife a ring he found while cleaning out the city sewage system.

His wife, Victoria, wore it until the band broke recently. When she took it to a jeweler for repairs he looked at the ring and called police. The diamond and platinum ornament was worth at least $1,000 he said.

Detective Lieut. R. A. Strickland checked Mrs. McLendon's story and told her to keep the ring.

"Looks like her big man finally hit the jackpot," he said.

Salmon Fondue Is Easy To Make

DECEPTIVELY easy is a delicately flavored Salmon Fondue which capitalizes on the convenience of canned salmon and slices of bread as main ingredients in its preparation. It's like salmon sandwiches baked with a cheese sauce, and the effect is delightful.

Smart cooks use canned salmon often in meal preparation because it offers convenience and a store of nutritive values combined with a delightful and distinctive flavor. Salmon for canning is in prime condition, since the fish are caught just as they return from roaming the ocean where they have become sleek and meaty in preparation for their long trip upstream to spawn.

Salmon Fondue
1 1-pound can salmon
1 cup finely diced celery
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup grated American cheese
8 thin slices bread
Milk
2 eggs, beaten
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco

Drain and flake salmon; reserve liquid. Combine salmon with celery, mayonnaise, mustard and salt. Spread mixture on bread slices. Place 4 of the slices in shallow baking dish; top with 4 remaining salmon-topped slices. Add enough milk to reserved salmon liquid to make 2 cups. Combine with eggs, Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco; pour over salmon-bread mixture. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a slow oven, (325°F.) 45 minutes. YIELD: 4 servings.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

Government of Law Is American Ideal and Practice

Nowadays we hear the term "Government of Law" from time to time. Few of us stop to think that this phrase means just what it says and that it is especially important to us as American citizens.

Judges get the law by which they decide the legal questions arising in a lawsuit from three sources: federal and state constitutions; federal and state statutes; and from previous judicial decisions and legal writings. Previous decisions state the public standards of rights and duties in matters not covered by constitutions and statutes.

Lawyers say that if judges and juries were not bound by law and precedents—if in each lawsuit, the judge or juror could set up a private standard of rights and duties as a basis for deciding that case—no one would know in advance of the decision how he should have acted in a particular situation. Cases arising out of similar circumstances would not be decided on settled principles but on the personal ideas of the trial judge or juror.

Because cases must be tried and determined on established and recognized public standards of right and wrong, we call ours a government of law and not a government of men.

Judges have access to statements of the law and know which apply to the situation involved in any lawsuit. So that justice may be done according to the law, it is imperative that the jurors in each case accept the law as the judge gives it to them. They are therefore required to base their verdict on his instructions as to the law, rather than on their own notions of what the law is, or ought to be.

For somewhat similar reasons there are rules governing the way a case is to be tried in court. These rules prescribe what must be stated in the pleadings, in what order evidence must be presented, what evidence is proper, what form questions must take, in what order lawyers are permitted to argue, what is permissible and what is not permissible argument.

If it were not for these rules no one could foresee what would happen during a lawsuit. It would be impossible to prepare properly for the trial. No one would know, until the judge had ruled, what he would be permitted to say or do, or in what order. Such a situation would inevitably result in confusion and injustice.

The whole purpose of laws and rules is to insure equal justice by providing a single standard of rights and duties, applicable to all persons similarly situated.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Select Nation's Outstanding 4-H'ers as Honored Delegates to Club Congress

(Above) Discussion periods are a feature of the Club Congress. All delegates are divided into "buddies" of six, these units reaching an opinion on various "pre-decided" questions. Then the groups assemble for final deliberation. Most questions at the 1953 Club Congress likely will concern the theme—"Working Together for World Understanding."

CHICAGO—Special—More than 1,200 outstanding rural youth—mostly farm boys and girls—from the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, will be honored delegates to the 32nd National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 29-December 3. They are the "cream of the crop" selected by the Extension Service as state, sectional and national winners in the 1953 4-H award programs of projects of agriculture and homemaking.

The youthful delegates will represent more than 2 million active fellow members throughout the United States.

Expenditures of the National Committee on Eggs and Girls Club Work, a citizens' group, total approximately $900,000 in grants annually to assist the Cooperative Extension Service in furthering the program. The major portion of the grants, which are provided by some 40 industrial organizations, foundations and prominent public-spirited men and women, are used for 4-H merit awards, including medals, savings bonds, trips, college scholarships and leader training.

Among the corporations and foundations providing grants are Alis-Chalmers, American Forest Products Industries, Carnation Co., Firestone Tire, Ford Motor Co. and Ford Tractor Division, General Motors, Hercules Powder, International Harvester, Kellogg Co., Kerr Glass, Mathieson Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Nash-Kelvinator, Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Simplicity Pattern, Spool Cotton, Standard Brands, United States Rubber, and Westinghouse Educational Foundation.

Cooperation is also provided by the Illinois Central, North Western, Rock Island and Milwaukee Railroads, Proctor Electric Co., Spinnerin Yarn, Toni Co., and Wm. Wrigley, Jr., Co. and Gm. Autry.

Oil companies collaborating include American Oil, General Petroleum, Pan-Am Southern Pure Oil, Standard Oil Foundation, Inc. (Chicago), Standard Oil Co. (Kentucky), The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), Stanolind Oil and Gas, and Utah Oil Refining.

Individual donors include The President of the United States, Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Thomas E. Wilson, Edward Foss Wilson and Conrad Hilton.

"So fundamental and significant are the accomplishments of the 4-H Clubs that their principles have been accepted and initiated in more than 30 countries around the world," said G. L. Noble, director of the National Committee. "This is a splendid record that at the same time there has been consistent growth and a stronger foundation of sturdy citizenship laid at home. In part this accounts for the growing support of 4-H by our agricultural and industrial leaders."

Leather Goods Make Excellent Items for "Stocking Stuffers"

The custom of the Christmas stocking needn't be limited to children; it's an amusing way to present a number of small but useful gifts to people of all ages. From toe to top, here are some ideas that'll fill the bill—and the stocking, too: Pillboxes for both men and women. In fine leather of any color, some feature divided sections to separate aspirin from vitamins or medicine tablets.

Key cases either to match a billfold, or as a novel way to announce the gift of a new car, set of luggage, etc. Billfolds of every size and color; some are tiny "mad money" folders, others jumbo passport cases. Try tucking Christmas money or checks inside.

Eye-glass cases for a clever way to present a certificate for a "spare" pair of specs, or to hold sunglasses.

Perfume vials: fill several from economical large size bottles as samplers for many friends. These come covered to match billfolds and other accessories.

Luggage tags are useful to indicate the gift of new luggage, or to match a set of suitcases.

It's always a good idea to keep an assortment of stocking stuffers on hand, already wrapped for emergency gifts. Tie gaily decorated packages to the tree, marking the contents of each inconspicuously with a pencil for quick identification. Then, for the unexpected visitor, the extra guest, the new neighbor, there will be a small token of the season.

Haircut Specialists Abandon Shears

CLEVELAND, O.—After two decades as an ordinary clipper and shears barber, Sam Sapolsky has revamped his approach to the fine art of cutting hair.

He announced that he had dropped the use of scissors because with them:

"One place is high, one is low. One spot is thick and another spot is thin. For the last 20 years I've been thinking and thinking, 'down with shears!' For five months I haven't held a pair of scissors in my hand."

He concentrates solely on clippers and the razor now.

"The haircuts are good and quick," he reported. "My customers like them."

Character Witness Backfires on Defendant

SALEM, Ore. — A 61-year-old Salem man, pleading his own case on a drunk charge, called as a character witness a woman who was complainant against him on another charge.

The woman a widow, had filed a trespassing charge, claiming he had broken her screen door. He was convicted on that charge and placed on probation.

Then he went on trial for the drunk charge, and called the widow as a character witness. She testified she had seen him enter a tavern the day of his arrest. Fine, $10.

Plenty Of Holiday Birds At '52 Prices

NEW YORK — There are turkeys galore for the holiday season, at prices about the same as last year.

The National Poultry and Egg Board estimated the 1953 crop at 55,746,000 birds, compared with the 1952 crop of 60,657,000 an all-time high.

"Even with a smaller crop, there are turkeys galore," said Fred Smith, eastern manager.

Twenty-three per cent of this year's crop is of the small size bird, four to eight pounds, ready to cook.

Mother Defers To Daughter In Politics

Voters in Esperance, N. Y., narrowly missed the chance of having to choose between a mother and her daughter for the office of town clerk.

Mrs. Alice Markle, town clerk for the past eight years, declined the Democratic nomination for reelection because her daughter, Mrs. Esther Brown, was running for the office on the Republican ticket.

Mrs. Markle said she felt competition between mother and daughter is not justified in politics. "So, I stepped aside."

Either Way These Australian

SYDNEY, Australia—Nurses at the ex-servicemen's hospital at Concord can't say they have not been warned, if there's ever a fire.

Notices in the girls' quarters carry detailed fire emergency instructions, ending with a grim: "Anyone failing to comply with this resignation will be burnt to death or discharged from the staff."

Quipped the national Australian Post magazine: "In a nutshell, any offender will be burnt, one way or another."
