

Alisha Dawn Billips and Robby Gene Huestis exchange wedding vows

Alisha Dawn Billips and Robby Gene Huestis were wed at 7 p.m. June 21 in the First Christian Church in Snyder. David Cozart, the groom's cousin, officiating the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Kathy Billips of Tulsa, Okla. Her grandparents are Sam and Jeanine Kintner of Tulsa and Jeanie Billips of Pochontas, Ark. The groom's parents are Terry and Linda Huestis of Snyder. He is the grandson of Gene and Fay Huestis of Snyder, Bobby Josey of Post and R.E. Josey of Karnack.

The couple pledged their vows in a setting decorated with columns draped with tulle and greenery. Black and white bows decorated the pews and rose petals were strewn down the center aisle of the church.

Carla Thompson of Snyder provided the wedding music and Claire Osborn sang "Can't Imagine Me." Matthew Nelson, a cousin of the groom, sang "I Will Be Here" during the lighting of the unity candle. Sam Kintner, grandfather of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer" to the couple.

For her wedding, the bride chose a strapless white gown by Morilee. The two-piece gown and cathedral-length train featured lace roses beaded with pearls. The tulle veil, created by the bride's grandmother, was attached to a tiara. The bride carried a bouquet of red roses wrapped in black satin ribbon fashioned by Kathy Easley, the bride's aunt. The bride's mother presented her in marriage.

Maid of honor for the occasion was Claire Osborn of Jonesboro, Ark. Bridesmaids were Melissa Billips, the bride's sister, and Amber and Nicole Easley, cousins of the bride. Each wore a black sleeveless knee-length dress from The Limited and carried a sphere-shaped bouquet of red roses.

Bethany Mackey of Snyder, the groom's cousin, was flower girl. She was escorted by ring bearer Tyler Billips of Tulsa, nephew of the bride.

Best man was Terry Huestis, the groom's father. Mat Powell of Snyder, Tim Moore of Roby and Page Patterson of San Angelo served as groomsmen. Ushers were Sam Kintner, the bride's grandfather, and Heath Wilson of Monahans, the groom's cousin. Each of the groom's attendants wore a black tuxedo with black vest and New Balance athletic shoes.

Lauren Dorn of Big Spring, the groom's cousin, registered guests at a table covered with a white cloth and white lace overlay.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The three-tiered wedding cake was adorned with red rose petals and roses with greenery cascading over the lower tiers. The cake was created and presented as a gift from Jeannie McKinney of Denver City, the groom's aunt.

Serving were Halea Huestis of Snyder, sister of the groom; Dawnita Nelson of Arlington, cousin of the groom; and Mandy Wilson of Monahans, cousin of the groom.

Following a honeymoon at the Aladdin Resort in Las Vegas, the couple is at home in Lubbock.

The bride is a 2001 graduate of Union High School in Tulsa, Okla. She is employed by Trim Laboratories in Lubbock.

The groom, a 1996 Snyder High School graduate, received an associate degree from Western Texas College, an associate degree from Spartan School of Aeronautics in Tulsa and a bachelor's degree from Oklahoma City University. He is a flight instructor for Hub City Aviation in Lubbock. He also provides flight instruction in Snyder.

Tax increase raises questions at hearing

by Wes Burnett

A public hearing on a 37 percent increase of the Garza County tax rate did not change the outcome of the tax rate, but offered opponents a glimpse into reasons county commissioners made that decision.

County Judge Giles W. Dalby opened up the meeting with an explanation of a wide variety of spending increases, including programs that were cut by the state legislature. Judge Dalby cited increased insurance premiums and additional costs for law enforcement at Lake Alan Henry as examples.

Approximately 30 citizens at the meeting raised a number of questions about the budget, including suggestions that law enforcement at Lake Alan Henry should be placed under the supervision of the sheriff and eliminate extra costs of duplicated expenses through the constable's office.

Other opposition to the tax increase was expressed by those who generally questioned the efficiency of county administration.

The tax rate is 50 cents per $100 evaluation, up from this year's 37.9 cents.

Commissioner Lee Norman pointed out that a few years ago the county lowered the tax rate after funding from the Giles W. Dalby Correctional Facility completed a full year cycle. "In hindsight, that was probably a mistake," Norman said, "now with additional costs we hadn't expected, we've got to get the rate back up."

Reduced traffic fine revenue was cited as another example of funding problems. When asked why the revenue from traffic fines was decreased, DPS trooper Phil Mathews explained that for the past couple of years the local DPS staff has been undermanned due to transfers, and the need for training new officers outside of the county. He said that the lower manpower situation will probably continue for sometime.

One citizen asked if there would not be a vote on the tax increase by taxpayers. Judge Dalby explained that a vote for a rollback could be held, but it would take a petition to force the election.

Where's the justice of it?

On Sept. 9, 2003, at about 10 a.m. there was a call from my neighbor that lives across the street. She called to tell me that her daughter was at my front door, and that she had come in peace.

As my 3-year-old granddaughter and my 4-year-old niece walked down the stairway, I told my granddaughter there was a surprise at the front door. To my surprise there was an officer and my daughter-in-law standing there. I was standing in my doorway with my grandchild and my niece. The officer asked me for my granddaughter. I said, "No!" The officer asked again. And again I said, "No!" At this time, the officer grabbed my neck and pulled me down the stairs, handcuffed me and told me he was taking me in.

My granddaughter ran to her mom. I was being taken to the police car, and the officer asked me twice who was my niece's mom. Twice I told him I was her legal guardian. My niece was also taken and put in the backseat. My house door was closed. I told the officer I was going to call CPS (Child Protective Services). He stated he would do it for me.

We were taken to a holding cell. My niece was crying a lot. I was given permission to call someone to pick up my niece. The first call was to my husband. He was working out of town. He stated he would hurry, but I needed to call someone closer. I made a call to my other daughter-in-law. She had already gone to work. I called a friend and she stated she would come and take my niece to school.

After waiting a while, a lady came and took us into another room. In this room there were two officers and the sheriff. I was told how wrong I had been by refusing to release my granddaughter to her mom. I was so angry I didn't even want to talk. I was afraid of what I might say.

As the conversation was coming to an end, I was told I could leave in peace or I could be escorted back and they would finish processing me. I still had my niece with me. I told them I just wanted to return home. The same officer that took us returned us home.

What has this world come to? I have a son still in Iraq, fighting for world peace. What do we have here? Is it peace? Is it justice or what?

Don't confuse me with facts

After watching the meeting that was called by Judge Dalby and the Garza County Commissioners as a "public hearing on a proposal to increase the tax revenue," I am extremely disappointed in our elected officials. It was clear that the meeting was not to actually listen to what the taxpayers felt about the proposed budget, but only so that the judge and commissioners could say that they held the required "public hearing" and could then go ahead with their budget.

From several comments that were made about the budget, it was a done deal before the meeting ever took place. The judge spoke about several suggestions made and stated that it would have to be looked at for next year.

Of course, this budget will require a huge tax increase, as there are several projects that "must" be done, such as the emergency center at Lake Alan Henry. (I won't repeat the objections to that one as I've already gone over it in recent letters to the editor.) Not once did I hear any of the elected officials offer to take a pay cut to help meet the budget. Neither did I hear any suggestions of cuts to any of their projects. The assistance given to the private management companies of the prison and juvenile detention center should be cut, as it is misappropriation of county funds. Also, I would suggest that a large portion of the insurance costs be paid by the county employees.

I don't think that our elected officials even know how to make a budget! Several times during the meeting there were questions about the actual expenditures for items. The budget that they had prepared showed only current year budgeted amounts and the projected amounts for next year. Actual amounts spent were not included.

There was more intelligent information coming from the people at the meeting than from the judge and all the commissioners together! We'd be a lot better off if the commissioners' court would scrap their "budget" and adopt the people's ideas. Unfortunately, the judge and commissioners showed the same old attitude: My mind is made up. Don't confuse me with the facts.

I guess I'd better see where I could find some extra money, as I will need it to pay my high taxes.

On God's Word

by Timothy W. Burnett

Believing...Matthew Mark 9:17-27

Believing God's rightly divided word is the key to unlocking those doors that keep us from tapping into a victoriously more-than-abundant life from God in heaven. In Mark 9:14-27 we find more scripture for us to learn from on the subject of believing to receive from God.

A man brought his son to Jesus' disciples to be healed, and they could not heal him. He then brought his son to Jesus for the same reason. "And one of the multitude answered and said, 'Master', I have brought unto thee my son which hath a dumb spirit."

The man knew where to bring his son. He understood Jesus Christ's authority. In verse 18 he described to Jesus the symptoms of the problem. He then informed him that he had already brought his son to Jesus' disciples and that they could not heal his son.

Later in verse 22 Jesus asked the man how long it had been since this came upon his son. During the man's explanation, he revealed his heart with the following words in verse 22, "...but if thou canst do any thing, have compassion on us and help us." The use of "if" is often an indication of doubt. He had already blamed the disciples for not being able to heal his son. Now he's coming to the son of God and saying "if" you can do anything.

Jesus Christ then turned the tables back to the man with the following words, "...If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth." It is each individual's responsibility to believe God. A couple exceptions are if that one is mentally incapable to believe, or is dead. In the above scripture the man expected Jesus' disciples to believe for his sons healing. Yet the reason they could not heal his son was because of his unbelief. Jesus caught this right away. Finally the man cried out with tears, "...Lord I believe, help thou mine unbelief."

Jesus Christ would have taught the man, to the end that he was built up and strengthened toward believing without doubt for his son to receive healing. Every one of us have needs for better health, or improved financial conditions, or any number of other important things. In the name of Jesus Christ, let's not be ashamed cry out to God with tears, "I believe that you are able, help me with the doubt and fear in my heart!"

On God's Word is designed to teach the rightly divided word of God as it interprets itself. Tim Burnett invites you to visit his personal website at <http://www.geocities.com/christinyou7/love.html>.

THE PARADE

by Walter E. Williams

Imagine you're having a backyard barbeque. A cop walks in and announces, "This is a random health and safety check to see whether you've removed the skin from the chicken before you served it." Though delicious in taste, we all know that chicken skin contains considerable unhealthy fat. If you're caught serving chicken skin, the cop gets your ID and issues you a $50 ticket.

If something like this were to occur, most Americans — I hope — would see such an action as ludicrous, offensive and a gross violation of our liberties. But not so fast. Let's think about it. Each year, obesity claims the lives of 300,000 Americans and adds over $100 billion to health-care costs. Doesn't that give government the right to dictate what we eat? If you're the least offended by the notion of government dictating our diets, pray tell me how it differs in principle from seatbelt laws and especially the new federal enforcement program called "Click It or Ticket."

Under the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century, the federal government is spending $500 million to aggressively enforce seatbelt laws. According to a July Consumers Research article written by Eric Peters titled "The Federal Government Wants You to Buckle Up," about 11,000 law enforcement agencies across the country have set up random checkpoints and have issued hundreds of thousands of tickets to unbelted drivers and passengers.

Just as in my barbeque scenario, their justification is our health and safety. After all, the 2002 highway death toll was 42,815 and, according to a U.S. Department of Transportation National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) study, "The Economic Impact of Motor Vehicle Crashes on America's Roadways," seatbelt usage could have prevented an estimated 9,200 fatalities.

"Click It or Ticket" represents another bold step along the road to serfdom. History knows of no totalitarianism agenda where noble goals weren't used as justification. Nazis used "for the good of the German Volk" and the Soviets used "for the good of the proletariat" as their justification. Health and safety have become the American justification for attacks on liberty.

In a free society, each person owns himself. As such, he has the broad discretion to make his own choices regardless of what others think of the wisdom of his choices. He has the right to take chances with his own health and safety. However, if an American doesn't own himself, and it's Congress that owns him, he doesn't have those rights. Thus, the "Click It or Ticket" program is simply Congress' way of caring for its property, the American people.

Whether seatbelt usage is a good idea is beside the point, for daily exercise, nutritious meals, eight hours sleep, and cultural and intellectual enrichment might also be good ideas. The point is whether government has a right to coerce us into taking care of ourselves.

If eating what we wish is our business and not that of government, then why should we accept government's coercing us to wear seatbelts? America's tyrants might answer, "We just haven't gotten around to dictating diets yet."

Some might argue, but falsely so, that the problem with people exercising their liberty to drive without seatbelts, ride motorcycles without helmets or eat in unhealthy ways is that if they become injured or sick, society will be burdened with higher health-care costs. That's not a problem of liberty but one of socialism.

There's no liberty-based argument for forcing one person to care for the needs of another. Under socialism, one is obliged to care for another. A parent-child relationship emerges between the citizen and the government. That was not the vision of our Founders.

Another phony justification for invading Iraq

by Jacob G. Hornberger

In a 15-minute speech explaining why the American people should support the occupation of Iraq, President Bush offered another phony justification for the U.S. government's invasion of Iraq: to fight the "war on terrorism."

There's at least one big problem with that justification: It is the U.S. government's own interventionist policies in the Middle East — including the 13 years of brutal economic sanctions on Iraq which contributed to the deaths of multitudes of Iraqi children — that are directly responsible for terrorist attacks against America in the first place.

Such being the case, keeping U.S. troops in Iraq for the indefinite future will only guarantee that terrorist attacks against America will continue. That's why President Bush didn't even have to taunt all those people in the Middle East who hate U.S. foreign policy with his "Bring it on" dare; his decision to continue occupying Iraq by concentrating U.S. troops in the midst of people who hate our country was certain to attract more than enough attention.

Moreover, we can be sure that if the terrorist attacks take place here in the United States, there will be renewed governmental assaults on our civil liberties — in the name of keeping us safe from terrorism, of course.

In his speech, the president failed to explain why no weapons of mass destruction have been found in Iraq, despite the fact that that was the primary justification for invading that he pounded into the heads of the American people in the months leading up to the attack.

And failing to provide one iota of evidence for his repeated insinuation that Saddam Hussein conspired to commit the September 11 attacks, the president instead repeated the canard that has become popular of late among U.S. officials — that the U.S. occupation of Iraq is comparable to the U.S. occupation of post-World War II Germany and Japan.

The comparison, however, is misguided. In World War II, America was battling two nations — Germany and Japan — that had invaded innocent countries, that is, countries that had not attacked them first. Moreover, Japan had attacked the United States, and both Germany and Japan had declared war on the United States. Finally, the U.S. Congress had declared war against both countries, as our Constitution requires as a condition of waging war against another country.

With Iraq, the United States is the aggressor nation, not the victimized nation. It attacked a country that never attacked the United States or even threatened to do so. Moreover, the Congress never declared war on Iraq.

Therefore, President Bush has yet to answer the critical question:

Why are people automatically labeled "terrorists" for resisting an unlawful occupation that, as everyone now knows, was sold to the American people under false pretenses?

Why did the president feel he needed only 15 minutes to put forward his most recent justification for invading and occupying Iraq? The answer is easy: By framing the invasion of Iraq and the resulting occupation in terms of the "war on terrorism," he knew that the members of Congress, as well as many others, would be more likely to immediately jump on board in support of everything he asks, including his request for $87 billion to finance just the beginning stage of the occupation (on top of the $79 billion that Congress gave him just last April to wage the war).

Let's not forget that that's how President Bush got Congress to enact the USA PATRIOT Act without even reading it and to maintain continued silence in the face of the greatest assault on civil liberties in our lifetime. Let's also not forget that that's why the Pentagon changed the name of its unpopular Total Information Awareness program to spy on Americans to Terrorist Information Awareness.

As the president and his associates have reminded us so often, in the "war on terrorism" you're either on the side of the president or on the side of the terrorists. Thus, under the president's "war on terrorism" rationale for invading and occupying Iraq, if you're not for the continued occupation of Iraq and the billions of dollars in U.S. taxpayer money needed to fund it, not to mention the daily loss of U.S. soldiers, then you must favor the terrorists.

What more brilliant political use of the term "war on terrorism" than that? After all, who wants to be on the side of the terrorists?

It's the war, stupid

by Bill O'Reilly

For a country smack in the middle of World War III we certainly are a blasé bunch. We're worried about how much fighting the people who want to kill us will cost and whether we have an "exit strategy" in Iraq. Craven politicians and crazed columnists are second guessing

President Bush, who, at times, looks like he's first guessing the nation's foreign policy. Since Mr. Bush, for some inexplicable reason, will not spell it out for you, it falls on me to do so.

There are around the world thousands of Islamic fanatics who want to kill Americans because they believe Allah is down with that. These people are taught from the time they are children that Jews and Americans are undeserving of life on this planet. There is no negotiation with the most of these zealots; there is nothing one can say to dissuade them. They want blood, and they will use any and all means to get it.

A number of nations help these killers and allow the murderous anti-American indoctrination to continue generation after generation. Iran, Indonesia, Syria and Saudi Arabia are the most threatening to us, although the Saudis do have some pro-American government officials like Prince Bandar, its ambassador to the United States.

Iraq used to be a terrorist enabler primarily by helping the homicide bombers kill civilians in Israel, but Saddam Hussein was open to causing trouble for the USA however he could.

The Islamic killers thrive on the Palestinian situation. As long as the Palestinians are denied a state of their own, the propaganda machine that demonizes Israel and America will roll along unchallenged in the Arab world. So the only way to break down the hatred many Arabs have toward us is to forge a Palestinian-Israeli peace agreement that both sides can live with.

In order for Israel to cooperate in this effort fully, it needs to feel secure. Having the Americans in Iraq helps that effort. Also, the USA needs a democratic outpost in the Middle East to put pressure on the terrorist states of Iran and Syria. A foothold in that region makes it infinitely more difficult for Al Qaeda to carry out its evil doing. Just the huge CIA presence in Iraq alone gives the USA a major advantage in learning about terrorist operations before they hurt we the people.

This nonsense about the United Nations rescuing America in Iraq is something Aesop would have published. The U.N. is a chaotic chamber with no sense of urgency about terrorism and no sympathy toward the USA. Now some of that antipathy might be justified, but not when American lives are at stake. In a perfect world, all countries that aid and abet terrorism would be isolated and embargoed. But this is far from a perfect world.

The failure of France, Germany, Russia and China to aggressively help America neutralize terror states is an outrage of historic proportions. France is the worst. The Chirac government lied to Secretary of State Colin Powell about enforcing the U.N. resolution demanding Saddam cooperate with the weapons inspectors. Then France actively undermined both the war and the occupation. President Bush should level with the American people about the duplicity of France and, to a lesser extent, Germany. I know this would cause an uproar, but what the French have done to hurt America and Israel is unconscionable.

At the same time, the Bush administration must begin earnestly persuading nations that are not overtly hostile to us that we don't want to dominate the world, we want to make it safe for everyone.

Finally, World War III is unlike any war in history, and mistakes will be made in the fighting of it. The Bush administration has the correct global view regarding terrorism but poor communications skills both within the country and abroad. The sad truth is that most people don't even know that World War III is underway and have little understanding of the strategies and stakes. But believe me, you and your family are in danger. We must stop the partisan bickering and acknowledge that brain-washed fanatics have us in their sights. And this time there's no Geneva Convention and no limits on deadly weaponry. This time there is no "exit strategy." It's us or them.

Our current state of affairs

It will be of little avail to the people that the laws are made by men of their own choice if the laws be so voluminous that they cannot be read, or so incoherent that they cannot be understood; if they be repealed or revised before they are promulgated, or undergo such incessant changes that no man, who knows what the law is today, can guess what it will be tomorrow. Law is defined to be a rule of action; but how can that be a rule, which is little known, and less fixed?

Bold Gold dominates Chieftains 39-7

by Wes Burnett

For the second week in a row, the Post Bold Gold Antelopes dominated an opponent and brought fans to their feet in a 39-7 drubbing of the Friona Chieftains at Antelope Stadium.

It was a fitting performance by the young Antelopes on their homecoming night. Just about everything went right... although perfection is certainly not within grasp, the few errors were easily forgotten by the pounding and slashing of Mitchell Mills, Jett Lott and quarterback Wilson Cash.

The 'Lopes defense had only one letdown, as it consistently hemmed in the Chieftain option offense. The lone score came in the second quarter on a broken play, as quarterback Brock Field fooled everyone on a keeper around his left end.

The 'Lopes began their scoring bonanza early in the game, taking the kickoff and ramming the ball to the end zone with 8:28 left in the first quarter. The drive was highlighted by Lott, Mill and Cash sharing the running chores. Cash kept the defenders off guard by faking a handoff to Mills, then ripped through excellent blocking on his right side and took the ball into the end zone from the 15 yard line.

The drive featured Lott getting a first down at the 40, then Mills took the ball into Chieftain territory at the 49. Cash pulled the first of his option plays and rambled to the 16 yard line. Lott's extra point put the 'Lopes ahead 7-0.

The visitors put a bit of a scare into the home team following the 'Lope score, mounting a drive deep into Antelope territory. The 'Lope defense sagged but didn't fold... holding the Chieftains on fourth down at the Post 27 yard line. Defensive highlights included Lott's smacking the Chieftain fullback at the 25, then Ryan Babb and Randon Blacklock took care of business at the 27. The fourth down pass was incomplete and the 'Lopes got their second chance at their own 27 with 4:47 left in the first quarter.

Second touchdown
The 13 play scoring drive featured Lott and Mills hammering the ball, converting key third and fourth down situations, keeping the drive alive. Even a holding penalty didn't take the steam out, with Lott taking the ball from the Friona 49 to the 37 to move the down markers on fourth down.

The offensive line surged across the line of scrimmage, opening up running lanes for the backs. Mills hit to the 30, Lott took it to the 26, a fumble recovery kept the drive going at the 33. On second down at the Friona 33, Mills went to the 31. Then on third down Mills got the pitchout to the right side, dropped back and threw a picture-perfect pass into the waiting hands of David Lee Rivera in the end zone.

Like last week, the 'Lopes lined up in the "swinging gate" formation, and took advantage of the off-balance defenders as Mills took the snap on the right side of the field and tossed a pass over the heads of defenders to Mark Norman for the two point conversion. Leading 15-0, the 'Lope defense took the field after the ensuing kickoff.

On the first play after the kickoff, Chieftain quarterback Field handed the ball to the big fullback, who was popped hard at the line of scrimmage, the ball popped loose and Mark McCallister pounced on it for the 'Lopes at the Friona 36 yard line.

Third touchdown
It took six plays to hit paydirt... with Mills getting the call four times and Lott three times. The final seven yards was the kind of running Antelope fans have come to expect from Mills, as he scampered around his left end, breaking away from two would-be tacklers. With 8:10 left in the first half, the 'Lopes held onto a commanding 21-0 lead. The two point conversion failed as Mills was trapped near the line of scrimmage.

Then Field pulled off his miracle run after the kickoff. With 7:26 on the first half clock the Chieftains tightened the score to 21-7.

The 'Lope offense sputtered on its next possession, running out of gas at the Friona 49 on fourth down.

The Chieftains put on a sustained drive, running the clock from 5:30 to 1:13 before the 'Lope defense stiffened. A key play came on third down from the Post 14 yard line when Jace Pollard hammered he Friona running back for no gain, setting the fourth down pressure. Field rolled to his right and threw the ball toward the end zone, just as Randon Blacklock stepped in front of the receiver for the interception.

The Antelope offense ran out the clock and homecoming halftime activities gave the fans something else to cheer about, with their team leading 21-7.

Second half action
If there was any doubt about which team was in charge of the field, those doubts disappeared in the opening of the third quarter as the 'Lopes simply overpowered the visitors on both defense and offense.

Kris Hernandez, Kyle Gunn, Ryan Babb and Mills led the defensive charge on Friona's first possession after halftime, forcing a punt on fourth down at the Friona 18 yard line. Field punted the ball, which rolled dead at the Friona 47.

The drive was foiled on first down as the handoff from Cash to Lott left the football on the ground, and the Chieftains took control. Three plays later, a pitchout by Field went behind the running back and Mills fell on it for the 'Lopes at the Friona 42 yard line.

Fourth touchdown
The 11 play scoring drive featured two third down and one fourth down conversion. The 'Lope offensive machine just kept rolling toward the end zone, mercifully running time off the clock. Mills, Cash and Lott shared carried the ball, with Cash getting a first down on a fourth down call. He faked the handoff to Mills, then ran the option to his right, scampering to the Friona 31.

Three more first downs put the ball at the seven yard line with Lott and Mills taking turns pounding the defenders. The offensive line created the seams and the two running backs twisted and jerked loose for big chunks of yardage. Mills got the final call from the five yard line, outracing defenders around the left end to the end zone. With 2:10 left in the third quarter, the 'Lopes took a commanding 27-7 lead, as Lott's extra point attempt sailed wide right.

Another strong defensive effort forced the Chieftains to punt on fourth down. Russell Merritt blocked what would have been a long pass completion on second down. Omar Medina and McCallister hammered Field at the 14, setting up the fourth down punt.

Fifth touchdown
The crowd came to their feet as Field's punt was caught by Lott at the Post 47 yard line, then raced to his left looking for one good block... that came from Kris Hernandez, who came from his right to his left, ramming his helmet chest high on the pursuing Chieftain. Lott kept running toward the left sideline, picking up key blocks downfield, finally being hauled down at the Friona seven yard line.

Lott then went to the five yard line over right tackle, and on his second attempt, blasted through defenders into the end zone. His extra point attempt failed, but that put the score at 33-17 with 23 seconds remaining the third quarter.

Friona could not find the key as the 'Lope defense smelled victory. Early in the fourth quarter on second down, Field's pass was tipped by Hernandez and a pass on third down hit the ground in front of the intended receiver. So, Field set back to punt. The ball rolled dead at the Post 35 yard line.

Sixth touchdown
The final touchdown drive took seven plays and brought the clock down to 6:35 in the game. Mills and Lott drove the ball to the Friona 36, a penalty set the ball back to the 41. Another penalty negated a big gainer by Mills, putting the ball at the 41. On first down Cash kept the ball on the option around right end to the 33, then Lott scooted around left end to the 30. On third down, Mills got the call over left guard, squirted loose from defenders and went into the end zone standing up.

The point after kick went wide left, but it was needed, the 'Lopes had the game won at 39-7 with 6:29 left in the game.

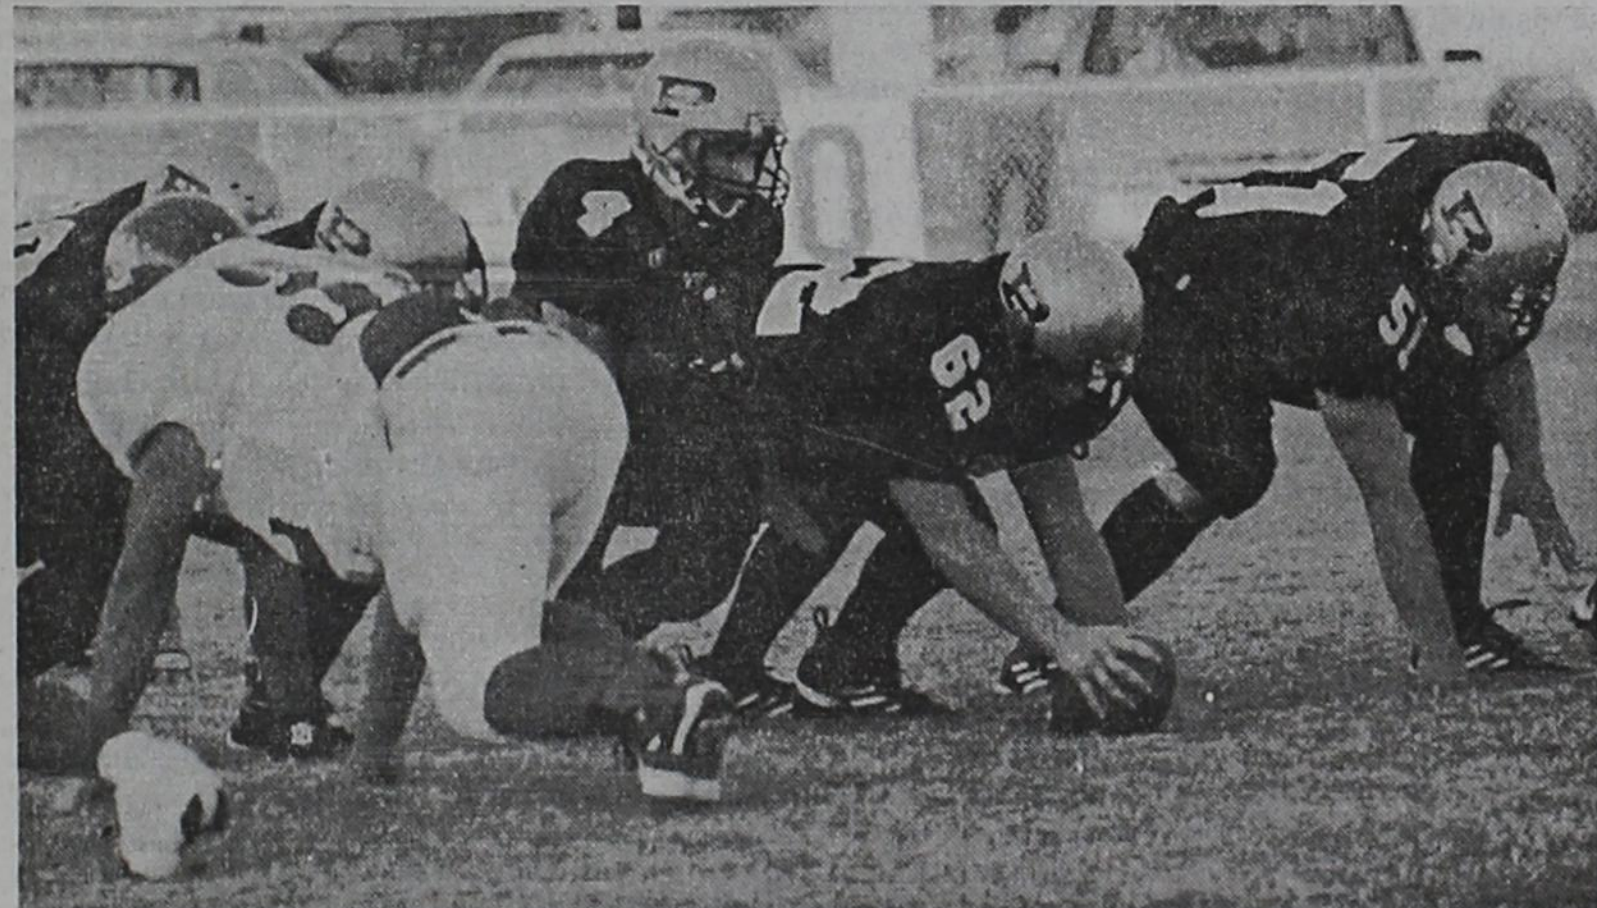

The Chieftains had one possession, picked up two first downs, but were no match for the determined Post Antelope defense. Jonathan McGregor, McCallister, Norman, Blacklock and a quarterback sack credited to Mills kept the visitors from the end zone. With fourth down at the Post 18 yard line, Field's completed a screen pass, which was snuffed out by the 'Lope defense at the 14 yard line.

Blacklock took over at quarterback, giving Hernandez and Babb the opportunity to carry the ball and run out the clock.

For the home team, it was a complete football game on a beautiful early fall evening in Post City, Texas.

Local pure stock racers bring home trophies

Anyone who likes racing should have been in Clovis, N.M., over the weekend for the Billy the Kid Shootout.

Cars from West Texas and eastern New Mexico participated in Friday night's action. In the street stock, it was bumper to bumper between Chris Dawson of Post and Steve Young of Amarillo. Young emerged as winner, while Dawson took second to place Young in pole position and Dawson in second row inside for Sunday's shootout.

In pure stock race, Gary Daniels of Post took third to qualify for Sunday's A feature third row inside line-up. Ted Thomas and T.K. Thompson had bad luck in the Friday race.

In Saturday night's street stock, Sam Woods ran first with a broken motor to qualify for outside pole in the A main on Sunday. Thomas qualified for the outside pole on Sunday with a win in the pure stock class. Thompson had more problems Saturday and failed to qualify, but came back in the last chance qualifier on Sunday to start A main.

Sunday's A mains proved thrilling for Post fans. Young led for eight laps, but Dawson took the lead and won the race by a quarter of a lap after several restarts. Woods gave them a run for their money, but his broken motor placed him in third.

In the pure stock race, Thomas ran second for several laps, and then shot to first. The 65 out of Lubbock gave him a run for a few laps, but Thomas pulled out the victory. Daniels took fifth and drove a good race. Thompson took 10th.

The fans from Post went wild, celebrating victory over Amarillo and Lubbock.

The event was sponsored by Joe's Boot Shop, Allsup's, Griffin Oil, Pepsi and Custom Iron Works.

Lockney takes win over 'Lope freshmen

The Post High School freshman squad fell just short of a win last week with a 44-34 loss to Lockney.

Post's first score came on a 15-yard touchdown pass from Colter Creech to Edgar Garay. D.J. Baiza ran 20 yards on a blocked punt by Creech for the second touchdown, followed by a two-point pass by Creech to Baiza.

Creech lobbed a 20-yard scoring pass to Garay for the third score of the game, followed by a two-point run from Zach Perez. Perez added a 60-yard touchdown run for the team's fourth score, and Creech took one in on his own from 15 yards out.

"The team played very well, but we came up short," the coach said.

The team also dropped at 26-8 home game to Lockney Sept. 4.

The 'Lopes' only touchdown of the game came on an 85-yard kickoff return by Perez. Creech added the extra points.

The defense played "extremely well," the coach said. "We had a lot of problems on offense, but we will be ready for them this week."

On Aug. 28, the freshmen garnered their first win of the season, defeating Denver City 24-16.

In that match, Perez scored the first touchdown, but the extra point was no good. Steve Hair scored the second touchdown, followed by another failed extra point attempt. Wes Mason returned a kickoff for a touchdown, and Mario Torres fell on a fumble for a touchdown.

"The kids played extremely well," the coach said.

The team will face Merkel this week at home.

Badgers aim to repeat last year's win over 'Lopes

by Wes Burnett
Whenever a football team controls the defense and offense as the Post Antelopes did last week in their 39-7 win over Friona, you can be fairly certain that each member of the team is performing as needed.

"We are very pleased with the intensity and hard work of our players," Antelope head coach Tim James emphasized, "they are improving each week, and that's exactly what we need to accomplish our goals."

On offense, the coach pointed out the individual accomplishment of offensive linemen Coby Jones, Chessauf Garcia, Omar Medina, Mark McCallister, Jace Pollard and Jonathan McGregor. "Without those guys controlling the line of scrimmage," the coach said, "we would not have the success we had with our running backs."

Defensively the Antelopes were "flying to the football," as coach James observed, "and making some big plays." The coach praised defensive players Ryan Babb, Pollard Medina and Will Todd, along with Kris Hernandez, Theo Paiz, Mitchell Mills, Jett Lott and Randon Blacklock.

"It was really a team effort," James added, "including our coaching staff, the players, our terrific fans, cheerleaders and band. It's all a package, and everyone involved gets the credit."

There were no injuries sustained in the win.

Getting ready for Friday evening's big clash at Merkel, coach James reported that quarterback Sterling Smith has been working out in practice this week. Smith was injured in the scrimmage at Stanton.

"Wilson Cash has done an outstanding job running the offense," coach James said, "we've not made up our mind yet as to starting quarterback Friday." Cash, a freshman, took over the reigns at quarterback in the opening game at Denver City and has guided the 'Lopes to wins over Roscoe and Friona.

"No question about it, Merkel is a tough, strong football team, and we'll have to be ready and prepared," James added.

The Class AAA Badgers are coming off a 14-6 loss to Ballinger last week, after having outscored Clyde and Monahans in the opening games. "They are the best team we will have played this year," James reported, "they've got good speed, they're big and they can run and throw the ball quite well." James ranks Merkel as good or better than Denver City.

The Badgers use the I formation and offset I with a sprint-out pass option with quick backs and good receivers. On defense Merkel takes advantage of twin brothers Brandon and Justin Head on the line, with a 5-3 stacked alignment. They also have an aggressive linebacker and a unit that gets to the ball quickly.

"We've just got to be sure we're ready, make improvements and hold down our mistakes on the field," James continued.

The team leaves Post at 3 p.m. for trip down U.S. Hwy 84 to Interstate 20. Merkel is just east of Abilene, an anticipated two hour drive.

"I want to express our deepest gratitude to this community for the support of our team," James concluded, "we ask for that continued intensity as our team faces tougher and tougher challenges."

Siekman heads up DTN SpeedNet operations

DTN SpeedNet, one of the leading high-speed, fixed wireless Internet service providers in the Central United States, announced that Darren Siekman has joined the organization as Senior Vice President of Operations. His primary focus will be to lead and grow the Operations segment of SpeedNet concentrating on customer support, network and technology solutions.

Darren Siekman believes a broadband Internet connection is rapidly becoming the "standard" as did the "television, microwave, and cell phone" and, according to Siekman, "there's a lot of America that does not have affordable access to broadband". He will help develop and implement technology and products that will aid in growth and adaptation of broadband Internet in the underserved marketplaces of America.

"We are excited about adding a talented individual like Darren to the SpeedNet team," said Dean Gieselmann, CEO. "His background and experience in operations and business development will increase our ability to grow our subscriber base, expand our geographic reach and improve our products and services for our subscribers."

Siekman has 10 years of experience within DTN bringing cutting edge solutions to areas where previously there has been a void in technology. As Vice President e-Commerce for the Ag Division, he was instrumental in launching web-hosting solutions and Internet services for Agricultural businesses. Siekman's devotion to customer support and retention is obvious through his accomplishments. He improved customer retention in the DTN Ag Division through customer centric efforts and simplified products and oversaw the growth of DTNstant from its origins to over 15,000 customers as Product Manager and Director of Sales.

Siekman believes SpeedNet is "positioned for explosive growth". The combination of SpeedNet's business model, the proven track record and results driven style of the current management team are what attracted him to the company.

SpeedNet started in Omaha in 1999 as a division of Data Transmission Network Corporation (DTN), which is the pre-eminent provider of agricultural information, weather, data and quotes in the United States. Today, SpeedNet operates as an independent, separate company while it remains a minority-owned affiliate of DTN. SpeedNet's primary focus is bringing broadband Internet access to under-served non-metropolitan markets. SpeedNet offers coverage in 185 communities in Nebraska, Kansas, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Oklahoma and Texas.

PHS Class of '53 Reunion

The Post High School Class of 1953 observed its 50th reunion Sept. 12-13 with activities beginning Friday afternoon in the Wells Fargo Community Room.

A handful of the class members attended the game between Post and Friona, and three of the member of the 1953 Antelope football squad - Bernie Welch, one of the team's co-captains, David Pennington and Pete Hayes, voted Most Valuable Player of the team - participated in the opening ceremonies. At halftime, the 1953 Football Sweetheart, Mary Jo Williams Evans, was introduced and presented with a bouquet of roses.

On Saturday morning, the group gathered for coffee, muffins and fruit and spent time visiting. At noon, the group had lunch, followed by a reunion photo at the old high school.

Post Middle School principal Brian Brown provided a tour of the building, and no one could believe it was the same building that had housed his or her high school years. Everyone agreed the building is completely different - Mrs. Smith's room was not at all like it was 50 years ago. Interested class members also toured the new Antelope Arena and the local museums.

Saturday evening, the group shared a meal at the Garza Hotel Bed & Breakfast. Several class members were

by Michaela Morales

Hey everyone! Congratulations to our 7th and 8th grade football teams for their victories on Thursday night. I'm sorry that 7th grade defensive end Dalton Doran broke his arm in the game! I hope you're better soon!

Cheerleaders did a great job on September 11th. They planned and performed a great pep rally. Zachary Rivera and Melinda Vega won the drawing and got to throw pies at Mr. Coltrane and Mr. Powell. Good job Zach and Melinda! You really nailed them! Don't forget the cheerleaders set tags every Thursday morning outside the middle school before the bell rings. Wear a tag to show school spirit!

Thanks to Mrs. Hester and her group of 48 students in spirit club. They showed a lot of that Bold Gold Spirit!

I would like to thank Mr. Brownlow for his speech on September 11th. We appreciate him for taking time out of his busy schedule to remember those of 9-11. We need to be reminded of sacrifices made for our freedom.

Great game Friday night High School football players!

Packing a Safe School Lunch

The lunches that many children take to school may be the cause of stomach cramps or illness. This might be blamed on a flu bug, but it could actually be a "food bug." Packing a lunch that can be stored at room temperature and eaten hours later takes extra care. Bacteria that cause food borne illness grow best at room temperature. In fact, at 40 to 140 degrees F, enough bacteria can grow in two hours to make a person sick.

Some foods should be kept at either 40 degrees F or below or hot at 140 degrees F. These are perishable foods such as meats, poultry, seafood, eggs, and dairy products, including yogurt. The key to packing a safe lunch is to keep cold foods cold, and hot foods hot, and of course everything clean.

If you choose cooked ready-to-eat lunch meats for a sandwich, pay attention to the "use by" dates on packages. These products may contain bacteria that can grow slowly at refrigerator temperatures. Do not use them after the "use by" date.

It is best to store lunches in a refrigerator to keep them cold, but often this is not possible. Lunch boxes, especially insulated ones, generally keep foods much colder than paper bags. A commercial freezing gel, a container filled with ice, or a frozen drink packed with the food can help keep a lunch chilled. Advise children to place their lunches in as cool of a place as possible, never one a window ledge in the sun.

To keep foods hot for several hours, use a thermos designed for hot food. Bring the food to as high a temperature as possible before pouring it into the thermos. The food should still be hot to touch when eaten. After each use, wash the thermos well and rinse the inside with boiling water.

While preparing lunches, keep everything clean to avoid spreading bacteria. Be sure utensils, hands, and work area are clean. Wash food containers including the thermos and the lunch box itself after each use. If using paper bags, buy bags made for that purpose. Grocery bags may be contaminated with insects of food leakage.

Some food that do not need to be kept hot or cold to be safe are: peanut butter, dry meats and beef jerky, nonperishable cheeses and cheese spreads, canned meat, poultry, and seafood products, dried fruits, and breads, cereals, and nuts.

So make your child's lunch enjoyable, but remember to keep it safe! Source: "Packing a Safe School Lunch" by Peggy Van Laanen, Professor and Extension Nutrition Specialist
