VOL. 51

HEDLEY, DONLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, DEC. 9, 1960

NO. 7

Try Hedley First

Do your Christmas shopping early. You avoid the rush, have more to choose from and a better chance of picking up bargains.

Speaking of bargains, try your home town first. This year you will find better merchandise and more bargains up and down both sides of Main Street. Our merchants have given you help throughout the year, and have supported your town, school and church. Why not give them part of your harvest funds at the year's end? Sure, you may find cheaper goods elsewhere, but your local merchant must stand behind his goods and can't afford to sell goods of inferior quality.

Buy at home whenever possible. You may be surprised at the bargains you will find.

Clifford Johnson, Mayor

Bridal Shower

A bridal shower was given in the Fellowship Hall of the Baptist Church honoring Mary Baker Pulum Saturday afternoon, Dec. 3, from 4 to 5 o'clock. Receiving the guests with the honoree were the bride's mother, Mrs. Truman Baker, and the groom's sister, Mrs. Luther Owen Thompson.

Mrs. R. M. Saunders received the names for the bride's book, and Mrs. John Lee Stephens rendered music during the tea hour. The tea table carrying out the bride's colors of red and white, was laid with a lace cloth over red, and centered with Christmas poinsettias and greenery backed by tall white tapers, with other appointments in crystal. Judy Saunders presided over the tea table.

Many lovely and useful gifts were on display. Several guests, including some from out of town, called during the hour and others sent gifts.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mesdames W. C. Quisenberry, B. C. Johnson, Frank Murray, Elva Davis, W. H. Moffitt, R. M. Saunders, A. T. Simmons, O'Neill Weatherly, Sam Morgan and Bob Carlton, Memphis.

Card of Thanks

Thanks to those who sent cards, food, gifts and flowers, also those who visited me in the hospital and at home.

May God bless every one.

May Pierce

Diamonds in the Rough

A true story is told of a man living in Africa, who had a comfortable home, rich lands for his fields and cattle enough for a nice income. The man was happy and content with his way of life until a Hindu priest visited him one day and chanced to tell about a beautiful clear gleaming jewel called a diamond, that the priest said was a deposit of the sunlight, being pure carbon, and that anyone who possessed these jewels was rich and never had to work again. The priest said these diamonds could be found in high mountains that were covered in white sand. The farmer became obsessed with the thought of finding a diamond mine so he sold his good land and cattle and home and leaving his family he traveled far and wide in search of the sparkling gems the priest described.

After many weary weeks and months of fruitless search, broke and despondent, he plunged into a tidal wave in the English channel and drowned himself. Meanwhile the man who bought his farm in Africa went into the garden one day to water his camel and in a track his camel made at the edge of the pool he noticed a big clear gleaming stone. The stone was a large diamond, and the man became fabulously rich, for the beauty and size of the jewels were unsurpassed. The largest diamond in the crown jewels of Russia and one of the largest in the crown jewels of England were found on this land. The sad thing that happened to this man came about because he failed to recognize the value of the gems under foot in his own back yard. This same thing happens to Christians today when opportunities to do good go unrecognized and neglected and is far more tragic than losing a diamond mine. The record says, "To him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not to him it is sin." As Christians we need to give this some serious thought, for we may be walking over and around gleaming opportunities each day.

Farm Facts

While millions of people in other parts of the world are barely subsisting, the average person in the United States has more and better food than ever before. Even with money in their pockets, Russians have to queue up in long lines to buy food. Contrast this with a supermarket in the United States.

In his lifetime, the average U. S. consumer will eat the equivalent of 33 hogs, 10 lambs, 8 steers, and 4 veal calves.

In Russia, which boasts of its technological progress, it takes four hours' pay to buy a pound of butter or two hours' pay for a single orange.

An hour's pay in the United States in 1958 would buy almost three pounds of butter—three times as much as it would buy in 1929.

The amazing efficiency on American farms, and in the marketing, processing, and distribution of their products, is responsible for the abundance, variety, and high quality of foods we enjoy.

Senator George D. Aiken of

The average consumer will eat the equivalent of 33 hogs, 10 lambs, 8 steers and 4 veal calves during his meat-eating days.

Vermont reminds us that American agriculture is the greatest stabilizing influence of the world's economy. Take away our assurance of plenty of food, he notes, and "international chaos would result."
