GOEBEL ASSASSINATED

Desperate Deed of a Bloodthirsty Demon.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—The murder of Dr. Goebel has been discussed in the city of Chicago today. It was reported that Goebel was assassinated this morning while sitting in a window of the executive mansion, and died shortly after the shot had been fired.

John Whittaker, a Butler county farmer, was arrested charged with shooting Goebel.

THE WOUND IS FATAL.

Goebel's Physicians say That Death Is In- evitable.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—The doctors attending Dr. Goebel this morning are confident that he will die. The chances are against him. Dr. Goebel is a patient of Dr. Nelson's and he called on him this morning. Dr. Nelson says he cannot see any hope for him.

Small-Pox.

This morning Drs. Lockett,
Smith, and Nelson visited Gordon Jones, a negro, who with his wife lives in one the Crouch cottages, hear the creek. Jones is a patient of
Dr. Lockett, and he called on Drs. Nelson and Smith in consultation. They all say it is not small pox it certainly looks like it. Jones visited Texarkana about two weeks ago and the supposition is that he was exposed during the trip.
The city council met at 10 o'clock this evening to consid-premises, and on motion of Alderman Cason, Dr. Nelson and Matt Spradley were appointed as a committee to secure a house where the patient could be thoroughly iso-

HALTOM & HARRIS, Publishers

R. W. HALTOM, Editor.

MEN who frequent gambling dens should not be surprised to find their boys in such places.

THE Cotton Belt depot at Alto was burned, with all office fixtures and contents of the store room, last Saturday night.

THE New York Times, heretofore a strong administration organ has tired of McKinleyism and has kicked clear out of harness.

THE Sentinel is under obligations to Hon. Jno. B. Stripling for the Legislative Record the first number of which has been duly received at this office.

UNDER the present law, real estate bears nearly all the burden of taxation. The object of the new law is to give some relief to the real estate and force other property to help bear the tax burden.

THERE should be a strong democratic organization in every precinct in Nacogdoches county. In unity there is strength, and there is nothing like concert of action in Nacogdoches county campaign. Democrats must be up and at work.

IT is not a matter to be wondered at that Gov. Sayers should appeal to the legislature to pass an equitable tax law. It was one of his hobbies when he was a candidate for governor, and his promise is out to do all in his power to influence legislation in this direction.

CANDIDATES who have made up their minds to be in the race this year can gain nothing by delay in announcing. True, it is a long time till the election, but the people are already beginning to watch the newspaper columns for announcements and it is a matter of interest of the public.

"S. W. B." letter in Wednesday's Sentinel is unimously endorsed by the mothers of Nacogdoches, as well as good citizens who are concerned about the class of citizens the rising generation should be. Gambling halls with wide open doors to tempt the youths of the community to vice and degradation is not the kind of influence the good people wish their boys to come in contact with.

THE Rusk Journal, in speaking of Judge Ingraham's announcement for district judge, says: "The people of this district have had some experience with this gentleman in the office he now seeks, and if we mistake not were well pleased with him. He is one among the ablest men of the East Texas bar, and is identified with this section, in which he has lived the best part of his life. He was for years the senior member of the firm of Ingraham & Edwards, of Nacogdoches, who enjoyed a large and lucrative practice. Besides being a fine lawyer, Judge Ingraham is a polished Christian gentleman, and worthy the confidence and support of the people."

REDUCED TAXATION.

It is estimated by the governor and comptroller of Texas that the state will have to the credit of the general revenue on Sept. 1st next $625,341, and that an ad valorem tax of 16 2-3 cents will yield a sufficient income to meet all economical expenses for 1900. Therefore, the governor recommends a reduction of the ad valorem rate from 20 to 16 2-3 on the $100.

Commenting on this recommendation from the governor, The Galveston Tribune says: "Considering the comfortable manner in which all Texas institutions are maintained, this is a state of affairs to be proud of. The governor recognizes the danger of a surplus and urges that taxes be reduced to the cost of economical administration."

"This applies to the present year and the system of taxation under the present law. By the taxing measure proposed, which the legislature is now considering, ad valorem taxes will be further reduced, probably to 12 1-2 cents, though, of course, there is to be a corresponding increase in special taxes upon corporations, franchises, licenses, etc., which do not now bear their proper proportion of the burden."

Without endorsing the details of the pending tax measure, which are matters of discretion to be determined upon the merits of each case, The Tribune can see only general good to come from the governor's plan—that is good to the greatest number, which is the first principle of republican government."

BAILEY'S ATTITUDE.

Against the report that Hon. Joe Bailey will probably withdraw from the race for U. S. Senator and enter the race for Congress, we copy the following from the Denison Herald: "There is a great deal of talk about Hon. Joseph W. Bailey relinquishing his ambition to be United States senator from Texas next spring with an announcement that he will be a candidate for congress from the fifth district."

This rumor comes from the persistent circulation of the reports that Mr. Bailey is opposed to Hon. C. B. Randell, of this county, for congress, from the fifth district. This was sprung on Mr. Randell in the primaries here last Saturday, and used against him. The opponents of Mr. Randell stated that when Mr. Bailey and Mr. Randell opposed each other ten years ago, there was a very bitter campaign, and that Mr. Bailey had never forgiven the Grayson county man. Mr. Randell denied all this, and has insisted that Mr. Bailey has no interest in the congressional race in the fifth district and that the Gainesville man stated as much to him, and that he and Mr. Bailey are good friends.

Despite all this there were rumors of Mr. Bailey opposing Mr. Randell, partially growing out of the fact that Hon. Jot Gunter, of Tioga, was opposed to him. It is well known in political circles of North Texas that Mr. Gunter has for ten years been the personal friend and political backer of Mr. Bailey, and that he stands closer to the Gainesville man than any other person in this congressional district. There was street talk in Denison today that Mr. Gunter had given it out that Mr. Bailey will soon announce that he will not be a candidate for the senate, and will re-enter the race for congress from this district, despite the avowal he made that he would not stand for renomination and election.

THE Texas Republicans seem to be working together in greater harmony this year than usual, at least more so than for years past. Chairman Green seems to be more successful in the management of his followers than his predecessors. The factional feeling between the "black and tans" and "lilly whites" seems to have been completely allayed and peace reigns supreme. At least such is indicated by the recent meeting of the executive committee, which took place in Waco.

THE Nacogdoches Daily Sentinel, successor to the Daily Phone, has made its appearance, and a bright sheet it is. The Sentinel is in some respects an improvement on the Phone; it is larger, is printed with new material, and therefore looks more attractive. But it cannot be a brighter little paper than its predecessor. We wish the new comer success. The Weekly Sentinel is another addition to East Texas newspaper enterprises, and is issued from the office of the Daily Sentinel. It is a six column, eight page paper, well filled with the latest news, both local and general, and is a jam up paper for a town like Nacogdoches. We wish it a useful and prosperous career.—Rusk Journal.

THERE is no danger of Nacogdoches suffering from one of those booms that spring up and flourish for a few weeks and then collapse. She has been inching up to a boom for ten years, and has just got in good shape for a sure enough boom; a boom that will come to stay. There are now a dozen new brick buildings on the string for this summer, and there will be a hundred new residences built within the corporate limits before 1900 is out. If you think property is high now, you will know its high a year hence. It isn't the greed of real estate owners that makes land high; it is the demand for the property and the conditions of the community that make it so.

THERE are some bad boys in Nacogdoches. No mistake about it. It is a pity to put any more vices before them to tempt them deeper into sin and degradation. There ought to be a law prohibiting minors from visiting gambling dens, horse races and the like. And the parents of some of these kids ought to keep an eye on them and give them a correction once in a while.

THE legislature adjourned Thursday evening until Monday.

IT has been snowing a little in North Texas, extending as far southward as Rusk.

THERE will probably be no less than twelve new brick buildings erected in Nacogdoches by September 1st next. The building boom hasn't got fairly started here yet.

THE farmers are a little backward about making preparations to start this year's crop on account of so much rainy weather since the new year set in.

THE Garrison enterprise apologizes for an unusually large number of typographical errors in its last issue by saying that the "devil got drunk and the proof reader left town."

THE new railroad will reach Nacogdoches in about four or five months, and then the boom will set in. Those who will not buy property now because they think it is held at boom prices, will find out in about six months what a boom really is.

THE farmers of East Texas are happy over the prospects of a good crop year. The ground has been thoroughly saturated and it is not likely that a dry spell will have such a disastrous effect should we have one this summer.

W. H. SHOOK, editor of the Jacksonville Banner, is a candidate for county attorney of Cherokee county. He made the race two years ago and came so near being elected that he feels encouraged to make another effort.

THE iron industry is once more on a boom at Jefferson, and that old town bids fair to once more become a little city. Some twenty years ago Jefferson was one of the liveliest towns in the state, but the boom collapsed and of late years she has been a very dead place.

FOLKS who don't like the way The Sentinel wears its hat have its permission to walk on the opposite side of the street. It is under obligations to no individual for any favors for which it does not give value received, and it don't have to truckle to any mortal under the sun. QUIEN SABE?

THERE has been a good trade this week from the adjoining counties. Cotton has brought a good price, selling as high as 7 1-4 cts and a good deal of the cotton that has been held back has been brought in, as well as a good deal that has been stored was disposed of. Cotton seed has also brought a good price during the past week, selling as high as $17.50 per ton.

LANDS at a dollar and a half an acre is a thing of the past in Nacogdoches county. The timber alone from several thousand acres of our poorest piny woods sold recently for two dollars per acre and upward, and some day the land will fall into the hands of a thrifty class of farmers who will operate on a small scale and will become a veritable garden spot.

It has been asserted by some of the Bailey advocates that Chilton and his supporters were not willing to leave the selection of a United States senator to the people in the primaries. If any of Chilton's supporters have given utterance to such an expression we have failed to take notice of it, and so far as Chilton's sentiments are concerned the following from his own pen is certainly plain enough to show how he stands on the question of the people electing the United States senators. Mr. Chilton writes: "When I was elected to the senatorship I made my race on the proposition that the people should express themselves directly. I urged this so persistently that instructions were given in nearly all the counties of the state. This was the first general adoption of the system in Texas. The people have a right to express themselves on this subject, and every primary which nominates a candidate for the legislature should have a vote on United States senator to instruct the nominee. Every convention which nominates a candidate for the legislature should pass a resolution, and thus let the Texas people speak for themselves their sovereign will on this question. By that decision I will cheerfully abide."

ABOUT half the little measly sheets printed in Texas ought to suspend and give the other half a chance. In most cases the papers themselves are to blame for their lack of patronage. The editor should be an all round newspaper man, and ought to have at least energy enough to crawl out of the fire, and usually if he makes his paper worthy of it he will get a good patronage if the patronage is there to get. In nine cases out of ten where the paper is sorry because it has poor patronage, the paper itself is to blame for it. A paper with a ten line paragraph and three or four clippings for its editorial, and about six local paragraphs sandwiched between patent medicine reading notices is not the kind of a sheet that subscribers or advertisers are going to run after.

ROBERTS has been denied a seat in congress by a vote of 268 to 50, and now the press of the country is howling its little howl about the "modus operandi" in which it was done. They all wanted Roberts ousted, but every son-of-a-gun of them wanted to dictate how it should be done. In this case he was rejected, and the papers are mad because he was not seated and then expelled. For our part, we fail to see the difference since it amounts to the same thing. It was strictly proper to deny the libertine from Utah a seat in the National house of representatives. Perhaps if a close investigation was made there are a number of others, not from Utah, that ought to be expelled.

Dr. Lee M. Nance, of San Francisco, Cal., is here visiting his sister Mrs. D. K. Cason.

Jno. B. Nelson is square in the race for mayor. His opponents will probably be Ex-Mayor T. J. Hill and Alderman J. H. Thomas, and it will probably be a lively three cornered race.

As Mr. Bailey did not think he could serve in congress because of political differences with Mr. Bryan he should not want to go to the senate as he is more than ever out of harmony with the great Democratic leader.—Johnson County Review.

IT will be well for Nacogdoches to keep a look out for stragglers from localities infected with small-pox. There is small-pox in the counties south of us, and if we are careful it will slip up on us, we will have an epidemic that will cost us many thousands of dollars.

WILL wonders never cease? The Houston Post now says: "The Post has consistently been for acquisition in the new world, but no conquests in the old." Well, well, well! Who would have thought that of Mr. Bailey's organ, and Mr. Bailey so against expansion in any direction.—Johnson County Review.

SOME of the fellows who make the most noise about how the city's affairs should be run, pay the least taxes and really don't care a tinker's dam what becomes of the town so long as they have their way about things political.—Yoakum Times.

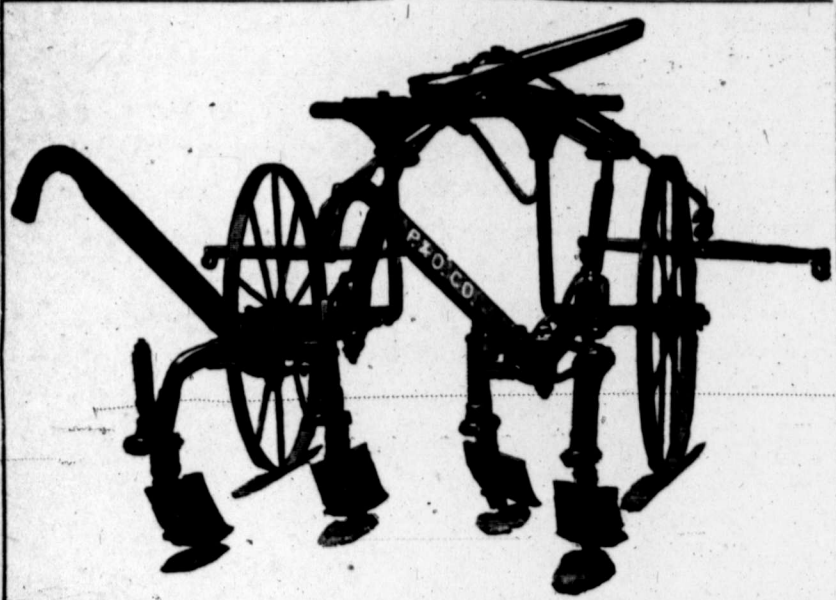

That's c.o. so. Got a few of those kind of fellows in Nacogdoches. Nothing right unless they are in office. Then it's different.

J. R. Richardson, of Melrose, was in the city a day or two this week. He has just received a letter from his son Steve, who is in the United States army in the Philippines. The letter contained several coins used as money in the Philippines. Steve seems to be delighted with the country over there and expresses a desire to "get loose," and come home.

IT certainly looks like business down about Nacogdoches. Wagons waiting for the haul to the out of the wharves and unloading. Besides the Oil Mill, the big warehouse of Mathews, the whole grocery business of the city, the Company, the steam Charley Clark's gin, and the son Bros'. Planing mill, the immediate vicinity is full of life and activity in every section of the city.

THERE was some talk of a flouring mill to be built in Nacogdoches, some time ago, when the talk was out of the son. Now, that the time has come for letting the farmers know what encouragement they may expect in an effort to diversify their crops, hear not a sound; not a word per of a flouring mill. Everybody admits that such a mill is indispensable if we farmers to raise any grain except corn, but the time comes to do something this big talkers come dumb.

Henry Richardson an intelligent and much respected colored citizen died at his home two miles east of town yesterday. He was an honest upright negro and had the confidence and respect of all who knew him.

John Teutsch moved his family up from Chireno yesterday and will occupy the Carter Baker residence on Taylor Avenue.

LOCAL-PERSONAL.

Jno. P. Lilly is in town today.

W. H. Gray, of Chiseno, is in the city.

Jim Watkins, of Linn Flat, is in the city.

Tom Martin of Martinsville is in the city.

The mornings are crisp and frosty, with ice.

A wagon came in this morning with two tons of cotton seed.

Pressley Page, of Clear Springs, is in town buying plantation supplies.

As yet very few new cases have been filed on the district court docket.

The West End choir will meet with Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Matthews to-night.

Sigmund Mayer of Tyler is shaking hands with his many friends in the city today.

Miss Ella Carraway has accepted a position as saleslady in the Opera Racket Store.

Take a look at the new stock of plain and decorated tableware, at Opera Racket Store.

Miss Jennie Wallace, of Logansport, La., is visiting in the city, the guests of Miss Augusta Ray.

It is said that the citizens of the hill south of town are thinking seriously of building a school house in that part of town.

Dave Slay is still rustling for cotton seed; he has since January 1st, bought about $2800 worth. He is in town today.

George Burton, of Logansport, will probably go into business here some time in the near future.

Several wagons of cotton seed were on the streets this morning. They didn't go a begging for a buying either.

Joe Perritte died at his father's home near Attoyac, yesterday evening. He was a young man 22 years of age.

W. E. Menefee, one of this county's good citizens dropped in this morning and left a dollar with us for The Sentinel one year.

August Teutsch, is now a gentleman of leisure, having severed his connection as salesman Tom Smith's with saloon.

Mr. Jno. M. Fuller, of Attoyac, was in the city this morning, and while here paid The Sentinel office an appreciated call.

Joe Martin, of Martinsville, has purchased five acres of land from J. C. Dickerson, about one mile west of town and will build a residence thereon.

We are requested by ex-Mayor T. J. Hill to announce that he will not be a candidate for Mayor of Nacogdoches or any other office. This leaves J. B. Nelson as the only avowed candidate and Alderman Thomas as a probable candidate for the place.

Capt. R. D. Chapman left this morning for Chireno, Marion and other points. He was at Endora, Angelina county, a few days ago and learned from the railroad men that contracts covering 23 miles from Rockland towards Nacogdoches had been let, and work was being pushed.

THE CONFEDERATE DEAD.

An Appeal for aid in Caring for Their Graves at Keachie.

Keachie, La., Jan., 23.—Our town has a population of 200 whites, men, women and children. We have buried here 150 Confederate soldiers. Most of them died from wounds received at the battle of Mansfield. Our people nursed them, buried them and have cared for their graves. Now we want to put a new wire fence around them and get a little marble slab for each one with the letters "C.S.A." on the head stones. We need $350 for this work. I have raised $175 with a play, "Among the Preachers."

Most of these soldiers were Texas men, belonging to Terrell's brigade. I believe if some of the Texas people knew we needed this money for this purpose we could soon get enough. If each would send a little we could soon get enough. Your paper is so kind in good works that I present the case to you for consideration and assistance. If the people will help and you will allow me when I have the amount I would like to send the list of names for publication and amounts given, so that everyone may see that there is no fraud in it. These contributions sent to me or to our minister, N. B. Currie or W. G. Spilker, will be given to the cemetery fund, and it will be something that will be a monument of love to these dead men. Maybe they are relatives to some of these soldiers who will be glad to assist if you insert a request. I hope you may feel the cause worthy of help.

Mrs. E. Schuler.

Capt. Doughtie with his efficient crew has been at work several days in the flats beyond the La Nana east of town, ditching, raising and otherwise improving the road bed. Today he will move up to East Main street. He says that he discovers that this town owns no dirt except the road or street and that he can not get even a shovel full of dirt elsewhere without raising a protest from adjacent land owners. The information is timely and should be called to the attention of the city council.

J. R. Buchanan has sold the old Stone Fort Saloon to A. Moore, of Logansport. Dick Coats will have charge of Mr. Buchanan's books and accounts, and will have an office in the old Stone Fort, where he desires those who are due Mr. Buchanan anything either by note or on account to call on him and make settlement. Mr. Buchanan desires to close up his books and requests all who can not pay up to make settlement by note.

The Elite Chilli Parlor is among the new enterprises in Nacogdoches. It is conducted by Johnson Brothers in the front of the old Stone Fort. They have everything fixed up nicely and they serve the people with the very nicest and best chilli. Everything looks inviting about their place.

J. H. Wiggins of Garrison is in the city to-day.

J. E. McCary and Bob Coston, of Mt. Enterprise, are in town.

T. J. Roquemore is moving out to Henry Millard's new place near North church.

The dogs are getting to be entirely too numerous for the welfare of the public.

Nearly every wagon that leaves carries household furniture or farming implements.

One hundred and forty four boxes of good axle grease that I will sell at 5 cents a box. No more at that price when this is gone, unless we are lucky again. C. W. Butt.

Baxter Mast passed through town this morning en route to Melrose. He has been at work at a planer near Beaumont and recently had one of his fingers cut off in the machinery.

The old Episcopal church building has been purchased by Houston King. Mr. King is having the house torn down and removed to Pecan street in the southern part of town where he will erect a residence.

A colored chap whose name we did not learn got severely pummeled on the noggin up the street last night by someone whose name we also failed to learn. It seems that too much sassy talk precipitated the racket.

A complimentary reception was given at the opera house last night by Miss Alice Schmidt in honor of her friend Miss Jodie Shean of Galveston. Quite a number of Miss Alice's friends were present, and the occasion was a brilliant success.

The next attraction at the Opera House will be Louis Spencer Daniel who comes with the highest recommendations. The members of the C. C. Club desiring to aid in the improvement of the cemetery take this way of soliciting the assistance of the people, come and be entertained and at the same time help a good cause. Admission 50 cents. (Or as much as you want to put in.) 25 cents for children under twelve.

The Weekly Sentinel.

HALTOM & HARRIS, Publishers.

TEN candidates for county offices have announced in the Rusk county papers. The campaign is opening early up there.

The Johnson County Review contains thirty announcements for offices from district judge down to constable. The campaign is on in Johnson county.

The announcement last week that the British had administered a crushing defeat to the Boers turned out to be a fake. The British seem to be about as far from victory as they ever were at any stage of the South African war.

The Sentinel, published at Nacogdoches by Haltom & Harris, is on our exchange table. It is a clean, up to date newspaper and reflects credit upon its publishers and upon the public spirit of the people of the good town in which it is published.—Yoakum Times.

THERE is a move on foot to consolidate several big flouring mills up north into a trust, which will result in all being closed down except six mills with the capacity of 17,000 barrels daily, to be operated at the head of Lake Superior. $1,250,000 capital has been consolidated on the enterprise.

THE house committee on interstate and commerce has reconsidered the Nicaragua canal bill, which had been reported with an appropriation section so as to make $10,000,000 available, with authority to contract for the entire excavation, construction, defense and completion of the canal at a total cost not exceeding $140,000,000.

THERE will be hot times in the special session of the legislature before this tax bill will be passed or killed, whichever it may be. Gov. Sayers has had his say and has offered all the suggestions he had to present and* having relieved himself of the burden of his message says its up to the legislature, and they are now solely responsible for the measure which they may pass.

THE name of the Daily Phone of Nacogdoches been changed to the Daily Sentinel and in connection with their daily Messrs. Haltom & Harris are now publishing the Weekly Sentinel. The Daily Sentinel is larger than was the Daily Phone and it is one of the newest and sprightliest afternoon papers in the state. We wish the Sentinel great success.—Palestine Advocate.

THE South-western Louisiana rice growers want the department of agriculture to allow them to submit samples of clean rice, to be purchased by the government for shipment to new possessions. Ex-Mayor Daboval of Rayne, La., has addressed a petition to Congressman R. B. Hawley, of Texas, in Washington, praying for his assistance in the matter. Congressman Hawley is interested in Rayne. The petition is signed by 200 rice men and mill owners of Acadia and Calcasieu parishes.

A PRACTICAL VIEW.

Roberts is unseated and polygamous Utah is put on notice that she must send clean men to the national congress. There is no room there for representatives, however regularly elected, who offend the law and social code.

Cynics are employing the incident to exploit the immoralities of congressmen, and there are those who pretend to think that men who are guilty of secret sins should not throw stones at Roberts. That is a vicious philosophy. There is no condonement of congressional vices. They deserve the severest condemnation. But they are not committed in defiance of the law, but secretly and in spite of it. They are not justified by religion nor cloaked by conviction. They are shamed into concealment and are branded whenever they are exposed. I do not believe it is true that Washington is reeking with imorality. Wherever several hundred men are congregated there is more or less wickedness, but it is scarcely true that our congressmen are worse on the average than other men, nor much worse in Washington than at home.

Anyhow, the question at issue is not the personal sin of Mr. Roberts, but the institution of polygamy itself, which the country believes is vicious and which it cannot afford to recognize in any degree.

That was a much more pertinent observation by Mr. Latham who denounced the polygamy of the sultan of Sulu which imperialistic administration has approved. There is a matter which will vex us for some time to come, but that brings up the whole subject of colonial policy which is apart from this discussion.—Galveston Tribune.

Log rollings are receiving the attention of the farmers now. The editor acknowledges invitations to attend several.—Hemphill Messenger.

Take 'em all in, brother. Nothing like log rolling with the people, especially if you are after business or ever expect to run for office. And then, just think of the good "eatments" always attendant upon log rollings, house raisings and sich.—The happiest days of this writer's life are those when he lived in the country and attended log rollings, house raisings, fence buildings, rail splittings, and so forth, when the good women would always have a quilting or a knitting, sewings and the like, while their husbands, sons or brothers were engaged in the heavier exercises out of doors. And such dinners as we used to get on the outside of! It almost gives us a pain in the side to think of them.

The work of tearing down the old Episcopal church building was begun this morning, and ere another week rolls by a vacant lot will greet the eye where for more than fifty years has stood this little monument erected by the pioneer settlers of Nacogdoches in their devotion and worship of the supreme deity. Its place will be taken by a new and larger building to be erected on another lot and in a different portion of the city.

"ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL."

There Were Two Licenses to Wed Issued for the Same Girl Yesterday.

When it comes down to hatching up a real romance the love sick swain of Nacogdoches county is entitled to the "cake." The young men here never do things by halves—they believe in the whole loaf or no loaf at all policy.

Let the reader draw upon his (or her) imagination and they will see two manly young men rivals for the hand of a fair Nacogdoches maiden; both using all thier persuasive powers to convince the young lady that life without her companionship would be a complete blank; in other words it would not be worth living, and that if she refused something desperate would happen.

Of course if the reader never had a case of genuine love it would be hard to describe the frenzy into which a man can work himself over the charms of a bewitching maiden. The young men received encouragement, and the race was entered into in earnest, and all fall and winter when an opportunity afforded one or the other of the young men would be by her side pleading his cause in language couched in the choicest of terms. No doubt reading many of Tennyson's stirring poems; telling her that his sentiments were the same as the great poets, and that was it not for the fact that life was too short he would pen her similar lines.

Love's young dream, however, was brought to a focus Thursday.

On Wednesday night three suitors met at the home of the young lady and all asked her father for her hand in marriage.

The young lady's father was sorely vexed and called his daughter in to settle the question of her choice of suitors. She told her father that "she wished she could marry all three;" thus complicating matters worse than they were at first.

Thursday J. W. Hartley started for the county clerk's office, for the purpose of securing license to wed Miss Alice Bailey. No doubt he was thinking seriously of the future, and in his mind's eye could see the future Alice snugly secured in a nice little home and all their surroundings that of happiness.

All stories have two sides, and this is one of them, and while Hartley was meditating upon the future, W. A. Murray was not letting time pass without making use of it. He, like the gallant Knight of old, went to his lady love and unfolded to her a scheme—it worked. A buggy was secured and to the county clerk's office they went. Arriving there they found Judge Peavey and after securing a license, W. A. Murray and Miss Alice Bailey were made man and wife in the clerk's office.

The third suitor not only lost the girl but also a wager; he had made a bet that he would be successful.

The bride and groom are well liked by all who know them, and have many friends who wish them a life of happiness.

The groom is a very promising young farmer and will make a good citizen in any community.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bailey, who live in the Appleby neighborhood.

"All's well that ends well," and while two licenses were issued for Miss Alice; The Sentinel trusts that she will always prove loyal to the man of her choice.

A Reception.

Probably the most elegant affair of the season was given last Friday night when at least seventy five guests greeted Mr. Eugene Blount at the reception given in his honor by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Blount.

The visitors were welcomed in the palm decorated parlor by Mrs. Blount and her handsome son, assisted by Misses Mamie and Rosine Shindler, Martha Ingraham and Emma D. Wilson, while Mamie Blount and Herbert Shindler escorted the guests to their respective dressing rooms. On descending the stairs one was supposed to pass into the punch room where large palms crystal and silver, flashed a welcome.

There were no rules, however. Everyon did as best pleased them, and music and laughter were everywhere, for the Blount home is Liberty Hall, for its friends.

When all had arrived "Progressive Conversation" was in order, the subject ranging from "Mr. Harry Mize," to "Do you love me?" and changing partners with each subject. On voting for the finest conversationalist, Miss Eula Camp won the ladies prize; "Golden Leaves from the Poets," with honors, while Mr. Fouts proudly bore off the reward of his matchless eloquence.

Royal purple and palms were the only decorations allowed. Mr. Eugene Blount being an enthusiastic Sewanee man and that being the college colors.

On leaving the dining room Little Miss Mamie Blount pinned a rosette of the college colors on each.

Then came the music and mirth, with the gigantic punch bowl scarcely equal to its demands, until the time drew near to depart.

The belle of the evening was easily Miss Laura Blount Chapman, who reigned without rivalry or jealousy, and who at nearly two o'clock in the morning with her bright eyes dancing, said, "Indeed, indeed, I am not going to bed! I'm going to stay as long as anybody does!"

E. D. W.

D. H. Barnett, of Crockett, who was formerly with R. C. Gramling of this city, will return next week and go in with A. W. Eddings for the purpose of putting in machinery and equipments for woodwork and blacksmithing in addition to the gunsmithing and general machinery repair business now conducted by Mr. Eddings alone. They they will have machinery for facilitating work and will have workmen who know how to use it.

ROMANTIC WEDDING.

Bride Travels 1000 Miles to Meet Her Lover.

An item of news that has entirely escaped the notice of The Sentinel is the marriage of Miss Johnny Pleasant, daughter, of Capt. J. F. Pleasant, of Attoyac, one of the brightest and most attractive daughters of Nacogdoches county, which occurred at Denver, Col., where she was married to Mr. J. W. Murray on the 9th of January, 1900. The Center Champion tells the following pretty story leading up to the wedding, which we suspect is from the pen of our friend "Panzie."

"This happy event is but the culmination of one of those pretty romances that is ever interesting to the hearts of humanity. Several years ago Mr. Murray, father of the bridegroom, and cousin of the bride, had a large railroad contract, and at times had his family there for long visits. During one of these periodic visitations Miss Pleasant, then a little lass, also visited her relatives. The girl, with her vivacity, and promise of beautiful womanhood, captured the heart of her boy cousin. The years passed by and again they met at the closing exercises of the Sam Houston Normal—when the child was merged into lovely girlhood—and here she heard the tale first whispered by Adam in the groves of Eden. After this she came to Center on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Leak, and here the last love letter found her and asked: "Will you come to me as I cannot go for you just at this time; but your home and your servant awaits you?" Can love say more than "Come?"

And so, with the consent of the dear homefolks she went leaving Teneha Sunday morning, and after a delightful trip through some of the finest scenery on the globe, she reached Denver at 12:30 Tuesday, where Mr. Murray and his friend awaited her, and one hour later she became a bride. After a few days spent in Denver, they went to Idaho Springs, their future home.

Sam Jones.

Sam Jones is an artist. His personality is that of an actor, his sermon or lecture is the unique product from the hand of a master. When on the highest strains of thought his words seem akin to the elegant statue of the sculptor or to the graceful strokes of Italian artist. With winning grace he descends to rough wit, ridicule and satire in which he has no equal. With deft fingers he touches every chord in man's nature, from the coarsest string that is scarcely audible to the smallest whose vibrations produce the exquisite music in the diapason. With versatile touch hjs fingers sweep the harp of a thousand strings.

If this is extravagance go and see that it is—go and satisfy your lordly self that he is not the extraordinary man he is reported to be.

Maybe you can prove that his wonderful success and world wide renown are just happen sos.

SIX NEW BRICKS.

"Prosperity" Coming in Great Big Chunks.

The Sentinel office building was the ice breaker, and now comes the information that six new brick buildings will be erected on this street adjoining The Sentinel office.

W. N. Bailey has purchased the lots on which the Episcopal church now stands, and will immediately begin the erection of six, one story brick business houses. These buildings will be quite an acquisition to Church street and will prove a very profitable investment to Mr. Bailey.

"Prosperity" is coming to Nacogdoches in great big chunks, and Mr. Bailey is grasping time by the forelock and is preparing to head off his prorata when it arrives.

Business men all over the country are watching Nacogdoches and The Sentinel's prediction is that the demand for business houses would justify the building of many new bricks.

An Applause Column

EDITOR SENTINEL:

I think you should add an "Applause" column to your paper and whenever a suggestion pertaining to our city government, or morals, is made, all indorsing the same let it be known by saying "aye" through the applause column in the SENTINEL.

I admire the spirit that prompted S. W. B. to speak out in the SENTINEL yesterday against the nuisance and menace to the future welfare of our boys; he should have the cordial support of parents and all good men, whether fathers or not, in trying to abate the evil in our midst. A MOTHER.

Jan. 25, 1900.

We Second the Motion.

The people on the Loco in the Brit Burke neighborhood should have a post office. They are 10 miles from Nacogdoches 6 miles from Linn Flat and 8 miles from Douglass. They hardly ever go to Douglass or Linn Flat and are obliged to get their mail from Nacogdoches, changing the present route from Nacogdoches to Linn Flat, from the lower road, and establish an office at Tom John Parmley's Spark's; a great convenience could be carried to the Loco creek.—Chronicle.

He's an Expansionist

It is a hard matter to get up with the "doings" of W. N. Bailey; he's a hustler, a "Hustlersville," and an expansionist of the rankest kind when it comes down to business—not in politics. His latest venture is he has purchased the large stock of furniture and hardware of A. Noble at Timpson. L. Bailey and C. A. Hodges left for Timpson this morning for the purpose of taking an inventory of the stock, and as soon as he can arrange a few minor details at Timpson will move his family there and take charge the store at that place.

THE battleship "Texas" will be on exhibition at New Orleans during Mardi gras.

Worse Than the Plague.

Editor SENTINEL:
Mind we have got it at last. We have been fearing small-pox, and recently the bubonic plague, but thus far have escaped them. But, Nacogdoches has something quite as bad in her environments just now, to-wit: A ten pin alley, an unmitigated nuisance from every point of view; and perhaps the most demoralizing agent that ever invaded any town. With its doors opening within twenty feet of two saloons, this new importation is open night and day to the children of the town, and I am informed that it has been so full of patronage since it opened, that entrance is often difficult.

The law licenses such an evil for $400.00 per annum, hence it cannot be abated as a nuisance. But, the city government can regulate its opening and closing hours, and also can make it a penalty for it to admit minors, and I trust that in behalf of those who sometimes wish to sleep, and of the parents who have boys they don't want to see ruined, that the city council will at once pass such regulating ordinances.

Say, Mr. Editor, what good purpose does this thing subserve? How many people in Nacogdoches want it to stay here? If nobody wants it to remain here, couldn't the owner be induced to move it away, or at least take it to the pest house? S. W. B.

We Stand Corrected.

The Bay Shore Railroad has been purchased by Collis P. Huntington and has become a part of the Southern Pacific system. This deal will give Nacogdoches a through line to Galveston over the T. & N. O. after that road is completed to this place, the Bay Shore extending from Beaumont to Galveston.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

The Sentinel is off in its statement that the Bay Shore line extends from Beaumont to Galveston. The Bay Shore is the popular line between the Gulf and Island Cities, and Nacogdoches will not have a through line to Galveston yet until Mr. Huntington buys out Mr. Kirby, as the former road which is proposed to extend from Dallas to Beaumont, via Nacogdoches, is owned by the latter. The latter owns the road from Beaumont to Bolivar opposite Galveston.—Herald.

Wagon's Pretty Wagon.

W. Bailey has the toniest wagon in the city, a real daisy, right up to the top. It is a light two horse wagon, rather on the hack side, but not covered. The wagon is long, and is especially adapted for handling furniture, being cushioned on the sides to avoid scratching and rubbing furniture in delivery. It is handsomely lettered with W. Bailey's name and business on each side of the bed. Mr. Bailey says his increasing city business has forced him to the necessity of putting in a delivery wagon, and as he never does things by halves he decided to put in one that would be a credit to his business and an honor to his customers to start in with.

SENATOR Culberson is not making any noise before the galleries, but he is working for an addition to the Dallas post office building and is trying to get a settlement with the federal government for some hundreds of thousands of dollars due to Texas in the Greer county matter. That is a kind of statesmanship of which the south has had too little, and Senator Culberson is to be encouraged in his efforts.—Galveston Tribune.

Dr. J. S. Hubbard died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hamlett, near Timpson, last Tuesday night at the ripe old age of 90 years and two days. Dr. Hubbard was the grandfather of Mrs. Chas. Perkins and was quite well known to the people of Nacogdoches. He was an ardent member of the Baptist church and lived a consistent Christian. During his days of activity he was a most enterprising and influential citizen.

The first copies of The Daily and Weekly Sentinel published at Nacogdoches by Haltom & Harris reached us Saturday. The Daily Sentinel takes the place of The Daily Phone, but the Weekly is a new candidate for public favor and no doubt ere this it has received a world of admirers as the first number was a daisy, it is an 8-page all home print. They are both gladly welcomed at this office and we wish both a bright and successful future.—Livingston News.

THE sworn rendition for taxation by the I. & G. N. R. R. of all the property—real, personal and movable—owned by that corporation in the city of Palestine for twenty-one thousand, five hundred and eighty-nine dollars is the most monstrous fraud of the year.—Palestine Advocate.

What's the matter with your board of equalizers? Railroads, or any other concern or individual, would find it hard to run such a rendition as that over the commissioners' court of Nacogdoches county.

Another case of where justice has gone wrong comes to the notice of the people of Texas. In August, 1897, a young medical student, Virgil Gallagher, murdered his mother, then set fire to the house to conceal his horrible crime. He was arrested, however, and a year after was tried and sentenced to death. His lawyers through some technicalities secured him a new trial through the criminal courts of appeal, and afterwards, the judge who had imposed the death penalty, granted a change of venue. Now, three years afterward, this doubly guilty murderer will be arraigned again, and in all probability will receive a light sentence. No wonder our jails are filled from years end to years end with murderers. If a man can deliberately take the life of his mother who bore him, who had suffered hardships and privations while working to finish him for his profession, can get off without hanging. What are our laws for? What is the use of enacting laws if they cannot be enforced by those who are placed in a position to see that justice is meted out?—Beaumont Enterprise.

HARRY TRACY ON DECK.

Dirty Words Uttered at The Lufkin Convention.

Lufkin Weekly, Jan. 25.
The pops met yesterday. It was like knocking the caps off of beer bottles for awhile, they popped up so often.

More blood was spilled (in their minds) in that convention than was lost in the Rebellion, Crimean war, Spanish war, and organization of the new telephone company last week.

The country was saved by a hair's breadth, and—the villain still pursued her.

The country was simply going to the devil, and—

Oh! the situation was terrible.

Long whiskered, (white whiskered, too) earnest, deep thinking men, with furrowed brow and anxious faces, came all the way from Jack Creek and Nacogdoches to save the country, and by jingo she's saved.

A pretty good crowd was present, and every one made several speeches, the main squeezes being a blood and thunder article who left Kentucky one night and came to Texas.

The other fellow was Harry Tracey, one of the deacons of the party. Harry had on a new suit of clothes and his front teeth filled with gold.

After a long squabble, W. H. Hial, W. A. Skillern, J. M. Garner, Z. B. Stokes, H. B. Arrant, H. C. Howell, P. W. Walls, J. C. R. Woolen, Dr. Bean, S. K. Whitney, J. M. Borden, and I. B. Alford were given jobs as delegates to the national convention.

Then some more country savers talked and the country was saved again.

After that the country was saved several more times.

Later in the day a limber-jawed individual (white whiskered), saved the country again, winding up by nominating Bryan for president, Mr. Bryan accepting, killing the democratic party, but that didn't make any difference, "as they are the s—b—s we are after!" he wound up, verbatim, as attested by all present.

The man who used the vile language was Tracey, and even the pops present when questioned admitted the fact, though Tracey lied out of it by positively asserting that he did not use the words, but a number of responsible pops asserted later he did, among them being W. H. Dial.

A man who would use such dirty language in a public speech, in a public place, is beneath the notice of a free nigger, and the chair warmers who follow him around and applaud ought to have their heads operated on by some bicycle repairer.

L. W. Luckett, commonly known as Doc Luckett, died near Douglass, of pneumonia, last Friday at 3 o'clock a. m. He had been sick ten or twelve days.

Mrs. T. J. Todd is reported dangerously sick at Timpson. Her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Ireson, of this city, went to Timpson Tuesday to attend her.

LOCAL-PERSONAL.

FRIDAY.

Dr. Mitchel of San Augustine county is in the city.

Dr. H. A. Hardeman of Meirose is in the city.

A. V. Simpson of Garrison is in the city.

S. H. Watkins of Linn Flat is in the city. He says the new railroad is sure to go by Linn Flat, especially if it goes out by Josh Millard's. The Linn Flat route, he says, is the best, has the timber and the farming country to make business for the road, and he is confident it will not miss Linn Flat a mile.

N. G. Roberts of Houston is in the city prospecting. He wants to rent a dwelling house and move his family to Nacogdoches.

W. L. Legg did not sell the ten pin alley, as was stated yesterday, but has turned it over to the management of Mr. E. H. Power. Mr. Legg will leave tonight for Houston where he has business interests.

Rho Garrison, ex-editor of the Garrison Enterprise, was in the city today.

H. N. Higginbotham, of Garrison, is in the city.

Capt. A. I. Simpson of Garrison is in attendance at county court today.

M. F. Whitaker of Nat was in town this morning. Mr. Whitaker is a scientific and prosperous farmer, a good citizen and a man of sound judgment. He knows a good thing when he sees it, and when he sees it he wants it. A copy of the Weekly Sentinel fell into his hands last week and straightway he becomes a subscriber.

Mr. G. S. Frost, recently of Liverpool, and now representing a big Houston cotton firm, is buying cotton in the city. He has only been here a few days but so far has secured his full share of the fleecy staple.

Jno. M. Weeks has moved his family up from Chireno and will occupy the residence on North street just vacated by O. C. Dotson, who is now moving to Center.

Father Drees has gone to Rusk to spend a day or two with the members of the Catholic church there.

J. L. Mc Bride, of Woden, paid us a call this morning.

Mr. J. B. Swearingen died at the home of his brother-in-law, Hardy Dial, in this city yesterday at 3 o'clock, of meningitis. Mr. Swearingen's home was in Arkansas, and he had been in Nacogdoches only a few days when his death occurred. He was sick but a day or two and his death was unexpected.

SATURDAY.

The remains of Mr. J. B. Swearingen, who died yesterday at the residence of Mr. Hardy Dial in this city, were buried in the city cemetery this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Geo. L. Crockett, officiating.

E. B. Cushing, general manager of the H. E. & W. T. Ry. Company, Judge Fea-gan, Attorney, Deputy Marshal Eason, F. D. Huston, Esq., and the appraisers of the La Nana Lumber Company, J. S. Doughtie, J. H. Summers and Chas. Hoya went down to La Nana yesterday in Mr. Cushing's private car for the purpose of placing an estimate upon the value of the property of the defunct company. The property was appraised at $3,283.00.

There are still a number of pieces of tiling laying in West Pillar street. They are a scare crow to horses and are liable to get broken. They to be moved away for the protection of the tiling as well as to get a nuisance off of the street.

N. L. Raimey of Looneyville, was in the city this morning.

Will Pressler has just received a new pea nut roaster. She's a beaut, strictly up-to-date.

Judge Rufus Price, of San Augustine, is in the city enjoying himself among his Nacogdoches friends.

Geo. Houston, recently from Jacksonville, is fitting up the south half of the Crain building and will open a meat market here in a day or two.

Hon. J. B. Stripling came in this morning to spend a day or two at home, the legislature having adjourned until Monday.

Whit Smith of Swift is in the city.

Joe Bernaman of Etoife is in Nacogdoches today.

Frank Birdwell of Nacogdoches was in Garrison Sunday. His little daughter returned with him and is now with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Tinkle.

Mr. F. Battle, recently of Brenham, is now with Tim O'Conner in the boot and shoe making business in Nacogdoches.

A large number of subscribers were added to the subscription list to The Weekly Sentinel today.

Miss Mittie Long, who has been for several seasons in charge of the millinery department at Mayer & Schmidt's, leaves soon for Houston, having severed her connection with that firm.

Mr. Lipstates, a prominent merchant of Tyler, is in the city.

A world of goods have been hauled out this week to the country merchants. The bad roads and rainy weather of the past three weeks has caused these goods to accumulate in the depot and in warehouses until they were filled to overflowing.

Miss Mittie Long desires through the medium of The Sentinel to express her appreciation of the many courtesies extended to her by the citizens of Nacogdoches to whom she is indebted for many favors, of a social as well as a professional nature.

W. N. Bailey has bought out R. S. Shipp's furniture business in Timpson, and will consolidate it with the Noble stock.

A. S. Roberts, of San Augustine, was in the city this morning.

Houston Gunning says the cotton seed business is still good. The price paid today is $17.25 per ton.

The country schools are closing out for the winter.

Will Morgan, Kit Patton, Jim Stallings and others, from Melrese, are in town. Jim Stallings says if cotton seed still go up he will bring in his planting seed and sell out.

Jasper Cook and John Williams, from the Flower Mountain community, are in town. They are full of railroad talk, and predict better times for the Mountain people.

The tax payers are making it lively for Henry Turner and John Nelson today.

Rev. Ellis Smith and family returned from Chireno yesterday, and he will fill his pulpit tomorrow—morning and night.

Miss Laura Pack of Chireno came up yesterday and will spend several days in the city with relatives.

The Teachers Institute is in session today with fair attendance. It will meet monthly.

Will Booth of Martinsville is in town.

Did you hear the sleet last night?

A calf belonging to Tyra Burk died this morning with every symptom of poisoning. This makes the second he has lost with the same malady.

Dick Moore has commenced work on his residence in front of Charles Hodges old place.

The wood men are doing a rushing business today.

Sam Brown of Swift is in town and says Willis Walker has been plowing ever since he finished cotton picking.

Dr. H. V. Lowenstein has had a great deal of experience and understands his business thoroughly. He is recommended by our physicians, and by all who have consulted him. Realizing the fact that there are a great many suffering with their eyes who cannot afford to go to the larger cities to consult a competent optician, Dr. H. V. Lowenstein concluded to come here for a few days, where he can be consulted by all who need the services of an experienced optician. If your head aches or your eyes feel bad, ache, water, burn, discharge or feel sore or tired after using them, or the letters seem to run together and become misty or indistinct after reading awhile, or if your eyelids smart or look sore or inflamed, or if you have any trouble with your eyes, no difference from what cause, don't fail to see Dr. H. V. Lowenstein about them and get relief.
