HAD WATERMELON FEAST.

At the conclusion of the exercises of the Farmers Short Course yesterday afternoon cars were in waiting, which were contributed by citizens of the city, with which the crowd was taken out to the Government Experiment Station where Superintendent McNeess was host to a watermelon feast.

Both the ride and the watermelons were highly enjoyed by those who participated, and the hospitality was a commendable enterprise on the part of both the superintendent of the station and those who furnished cars the free transportation, and in line with the progressive spirit of Nacogdoches.

B. F. Moore, of Chireno, is here today. He is boasting of fine crops.

THE STATE CONVENTION DOWN TO BUSINESS

Gov. Ferguson and Following Seem to be in Control and Interest Running High.

The following convention news is taken from the Houston Chronicle of yesterday afternoon, which includes the work of the day up to adjournment for today:

When the committees had finally been announced the convention adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Senator McNealus presented his resolution on the Robertson insurance law, for which he seeks recognition in the platform.

It is understood that General Crane will submit a resolution to the committee on the submission question.

All committees were called to meet in various rooms at the Rice Hotel at 4 o'clock.

With former Senator W. A. Hanger at the wheel the steam roller made its first trip shortly after the opening of the convention when D. E. Decker of Quanah was elected temporary chairman over M. H. Wolfe of Dallas by a vote of more than three to one. Wolfe's own county, Dallas, voted solidly for Decker.

Pro counties by the score voted for the candidate recommended by the state executive committee and favored by the Ferguson forces.

The vote is a certain indication that the pros are hopelessly in the minority.

State Chairman Paul Waples rapped the convention to order at 12:15. There were fully 1800 persons in the Auditorium at that time. The main floor was occupied by the delegates and has a seating capacity of 1180, and was filled. Many ladies occupied seats in the balcony. The fact that many counties sent delegates in excess of their convention vote accounted for the overcrowding of the space.

There was much confusion in the hall when Chairman Waples rapped for order.

Dr. William States Jacobs offered the opening prayer.

"It is my duty to call this convention to order for the transaction of business," said Mr. Waples as he officially declared the convention opened.

The audience stood while the band played "America" following the opening prayer.

"There are more kinds of democrats and good democrats in Houston than any other city in Texas," said Mayor Campbell in his preliminary remarks to his welcome address.

He spoke of the early days of democracy in Harris County and of the progress of the party in Texas.

"I hope that this convention will so cement the party that it will be an inspiration to the rest of the country," he said. "If there ever was a time when we needed a solid and unbroken line it is now. It is the wish of this city that in November we return to the City of Washington that splendid president, Woodrow Wilson." (Hearty applause.)

On behalf of the city, he extended a hearty welcome and expressed the hope that the delegates would feel perfectly at home while here.

R. C. Duff welcomed convention on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce.

Cecil H. Smith of Sherman, who was introduced as "a rising young lawyer," responded to the addresses of welcome. He created a laugh by saying he was glad that men were selected to deliver the addresses of welcome "who are no better looking than I am." He paid Houston a compliment and said he was glad it had so many fighting democrats who always get together to fight the common enemy when they have settled their personal differences.

Report By Executive Committee.

The report of the state executive committee was then read. This report disposed of contests and recommended Captain D. C. Decker for temporary chairman of the convention as previously predicted.

There was loud applause when the report of the committee seating the McKay delegation from Bell County.

A minority report was presented by General Crane, recommending the seating of the regularly elected delegates from Bell, Hays, Hill and Tom Green counties, stating that there is no good reason why any intelligent convention should ever consider them.

The Ferguson forces here won their first point. Senator Hanger raised the point that the temporary roll submitted by the executive committee is the roll of the convention until the credentials committee has reported.

The chair sustained the point of order.

O. S. Latimore then presented the name of M. H. Wolfe as the submission candidate for temporary chairman in opposition to Captain D. E. Decker.

A roll call was demanded and Senator Hanger announced that an agreement had been reached between the forces that a roll call should be had on the temporary organization of the convention and it was started at 1 o'clock.

O. M. GIBBS, Editor

When Mrs. Jiggs ordered the eel smoked, Mr. Jiggs inquired which end should be lighted.

Nacogdoches county farmers have gathered eleven million punctured squares, thus saving many thousands of dollars in cotton this fall.—Tyler Courier-Times.

A headline in an exchange says: "Let Sleeping Dogs Lie." They have our permission, and we would second a motion to the effect that all lying be consigned to them in the future.

As a straw which shows the direction of the wind, a number of local and foreign business houses are inquiring for advertising rates. East Texas is going to have the greatest prosperity she ever experienced this fall and the glorious season is drawing near in its approach.

That lively person of the Lufkin News has betrayed the sub-editor of the Sentinel while the CHIEF has chills. He has "skiddooed" and left us with the whole fight to keep up against that "tacky chill" bearing person, Gibbs. Who would have thought it?—H.

The treaty has been signed by Secretary Lansing for the United States and Constantin Brun, the Danish minister, by which the United States is to take over the islands of St. Thomas, St. Crox, and St. John, lying east of Porto Rico, and comprising an archipelago known as the Danish West Indies, for a consideration of $25,000,000. The new possession is said to be a very valuable strategic point for this government in our relations as a world-power.

Just because the editor of the Nacogdoches Sentinel had a chill, the Lufkin News calls him "tacky" and other names, whereupon the Sentinel man comes back with so much fire that you think him both a Demosthenes and a Hercules. He stands first upon his honor, then on his head; he rears back upon his hind legs and more things are said. But enough's enough boys, and if you can't behave yourselves we'll have to let you hang up with our eight-pound village trout to show you how small you are.—Silsbee Signal.

That "lively" Lufkin editor couldn't stand the "fire" of real conflict, as is proven by the statement of his successor in reporting the "scrap" with the Sentinel man in which he was challenged to make another move in this direction. After carefully reading the aforesaid challenge the gentleman went South at a rapid rate as we gather from the following taken from yesterday's issue of the Lufkin Daily News: "Immediately upon receipt of the above 'gas bomb' the war editor of The News departed in a southerly direction, and has not been seen since. For all we know, he may be a hundred miles south of Galveston, on the bosom of the Gulf of Mexico, and still going."

Life is at its best in America in the well-equipped, modern, up-to-date rural community which has caught the community spirit, or in the equally modern, clean well-managed and progressive small town. Vice, graft, disease are rampant in our big cities. Mantraps and pitfalls abound in them. Side by side are the slum and the palace, the saloon and the brothel, the sweat shop and the tenement, the jail and the reformatory, great wealth and extreme poverty, the master and the slave—noise, dirt, foulness, decay, glitter and sham. Against this the country offers independence, opportunity commensurate with industry, a competence and more, an American home, the respect and friendship of neighbors, a part and place of the community, health and happiness.—Henderson Times.

One reason for wanting hard surfaced roads is that it is more pleasant to walk where there is no sand nor mud; another is that the automobiles don't raise so much dust when they pass us.—Silsbee Signal.

The Sentinel made a great effort to get the people of Nacogdoches to build sidewalks for walking purposes. If they will not build sidewalks, let us have the surfaced roads and we will take up the "middle-of-the-road" policy with our neighbors.

Two things this old world needs—tenderness and cheer. All about us are hearts hungry for sympathy and kindness. Then every where are weary and discouraged ones, needing the uplift of hope to make them brave and strong enough to go forward and meet the future. We could do nothing better with our life than to consecrate it to a ministry of tenderness and encouragement. This is one of heaven's paths to happiness, for the merciful shall obtain mercy.—The Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

Just now the attention of the country is engaged, and considerably concerned, in the threatened railroad strike which has been brewing for some months. If the strike were to become as general as is threatened, it would work a great hardship on the country, if, indeed, it did not paralyze business for awhile. It would be particularly unfortunate just at this time for the South as the cotton crop will soon be ready to move, but we will live in hope that some satisfactory settlement or arrangement can be made where-by the shut-down can be averted.

Kaptain Kellie in his "Kolumn" in the Jasper Newsboy, sympathizes with the defeated candidates thusly: "Now that election is over let peace reign and don't tell why and wherefore so and so was not elected. If you got beat it certainly was evident that the majority wanted the other fellow, and I wouldn't have an office if I didn't think most of the people wanted me to. I will bet any one a setting of eggs that if you were beat you will be glad of it in less than a year. Dog-gone a little old country office anyway. A man who can't make more money outside of holding a little old country office ain't no 'count nohow."

It is a fact that "all things come to those who wait," and persevere, and all things are possible to those with sufficient will. Since coming to Nacogdoches the present editor of The Sentinel has not only had the routine work and responsibilities of home to engage his attention, but he has been bombarded with Germanic persistency from across the Angelina, with no "allies" to give him assistance. We could not even turn to the partner of the enterprise in the hour of trouble, and our "metal" has been sorely tried. In reward for the perseverance, however, we have found the "silver lining" behind the cloud, the birds sing more sweetly, and we again love everybody. The immediate relief is contained in the following paragraph which we take from yesterday's issue of the Lufkin Daily News: "The editor of the Nacogdoches Sentinel is a man among men, and he has already proven himself too 'heavy' for the writer on this sheet. If he had been drowned in any kind of a body of water, all the writer could hope to do would be to attend his funeral. If this kind of a stunt would not be acceptable, possibly the funeral should be neglected altogether. Who knows what the final outcome of all this will be, anyhow?"

A dairyman who caters to the New York markets told the newspaper reporters that he had discovered that music caused his cows to yield more milk. He whistled Star Spangled Banner, Hail Columbia and other airs, ending with Dixie. The experiment stopped there, for he found it made the cows "give down" more generously than any other tune. In all the history of music, no other tune ever made such a rapid and complete conquest of the world. First published in 1852, it is now known and loved in every nook and corner of the earth. No wonder it incites the cows to put forth their largest productivity, for such is its effect on all animate nature.—Carthage Register.

CONFUSION IN RANKS.

In the recent primary election the Democratic voters voted on "The Retention of the Robertson Law," and "Against the Retention of the Robertson Law." In sending out blanks upon which to make the returns of the election, the secretary of the Democratic Committee used a different phraseology, which has caused much confusion and put him to the trouble of taking the matter up with each of the county chairmen of state. The whole is best explained in the following editorial from the Houston Chronicle:

The question balloted upon in the primaries of July 22 was whether the people of Texas desired to retain the compulsory investment feature of the Robertson insurance law.

When Secretary Kirk of the state democratic executive committee sent out blanks to the county democratic chairmen for the purpose of securing official information as to the vote on all state offices and state questions, he put in these two lines:

"For the repeal of the Robertson insurance law—votes."
"Against the repeal of the Robertson insurance law—votes."

No question of that character was submitted to the people at the primaries, and no vote has ever been taken on that issue.

It is true that when the voters sustained the compulsory investment feature of the Robertson insurance law, as they did in the July primaries, they put the seal of approval upon the law as a whole, for had the investment feature been voted again it would have meant practically a repudiation of the Robertson act.

It might be concluded, therefore, that the secretary's unnecessary changing of the words on the ballot has done no material harm. Certainly the state democratic executive committee and the state convention would not attempt to declare the result affected in any way.

The Chronicle suggests in future the secretary of the democratic state executive committee follow the phraseology of the primary election ballots rather than try to improve upon the wording, even though he may be actuated by the very best motives and by a desire to express the same question in simpler language.

The family of W. H. Johnson have moved back to the farm a few miles in the country.

HE HELPED THE WIDOW

A few days ago a widow with a little sorrow-face boy went into the office of a prominent attorney of this city and inquired what he was going to do about the mortgage he held on her little home, upon which she was struggling to make a living for herself and family. Not knowing that she was a widow, but from her plight judging that the family was very poor, he told her that he would knock off the five years interest due.

In the course of the conversation the widow gave expression to her appreciation, also telling him that her husband had been dead for some time and that it had been all she could do to make a living for herself and children, by reason of which they had been unable to prevent the accumulation of interest. Listening to this earnest, frank statement, and observing the poor plight and tear-stained eyes of the poor little woman, the attorney turned to his desk and wrote a receipt for the full amount of the indebtedness, together with a release of the mortgage which is required in the settlement of real estate incumbrance, and presented it to her. Thus relieving the poor woman of her embarrassment, he made inquiry about the condition of the boy, and upon being informed that he had been suffering with chills and fever for some weeks, he, too, was provided for with a couple of bottles of chill tonic.

One of the most important and sacred injunctions of Holy Writ is to "provide for the widows and orphans in their affliction." This eminent lawyer, whose name is withheld out of respect to his modesty, while making no great religious pretensions, has performed one of the most sacred christian duties of which we have privilege, and will not only be blessed with the profound gratitude and appreciation of those to whom he has so generously ministered, but a kind providence will smile upon him now and in the final accounting.

BIG MOSQUITO STORY.

Rev. L. B. Saxon is home from Nome, down near Beaumont. And though he reports they had a very successful revival meeting, he is glad to get back alive, for the mosquitoes brought the meeting to a hurried close. The last night of the service, he reports mosquitoes got a number of horses down, and the congregation had to go to their rescue, as some of them had tangled themselves in barbed-wire etc. Rev. Saxon said he never saw such an invasion of mosquitoes in all his days; that they rolled over the ground like a cloud, and you could just reach out your hand and get a first full of them. Horses and cattle were driven frantic, people had to fight them with all their might, and one man who got caught out alone and unprotected was so badly stung that he was frightened, and said he thought they would kill him before he could get a cover.

Rev. Saxon says we have no mosquitoes here, and never did have, comparatively speaking.—Palestine Herald.

Over in Nacogdoches county the citizens of Nacogdoches are paying so much per thousand for boll weevils that the farmers bring to town, the idea being to rid the county of the boll weevil. Should they get too interested and run out of weevils, we would be glad to have the brothers come over. We will lend them all they want.—Houston County Herald.

work in which the whole country should co-operate, with which method the pest can be permanently routed, but if shiftless sections bide their time and trust to fate, they not only fail in a duty they owe to themselves, but are lacking in that patriotism necessary to rid the country of a common foe. Be good soldiers.

OWNED AND RENTED HOMES.

A little group of men who have dealt considerably in real estate in a number of cities, got to comparing experiences the other day. They were discussing the question whether more or less people own their homes than formerly. It was the final consensus that there are fewer houses owned by the occupants than formerly.

Workmen nowadays cherish tenaciously their freedom of movement. If they hear of a better job, they want to be foot-loose to pull up and go. They do not work as long in one place as formerly. The man who has stuck to one job 10 years is a member of the Old Guard, a conspicuous figure. There is an unwillingness to tie up money in any one place.

As a result it was the feeling that there is an increasing contrast between the various sections of growing towns. The better houses are very nicely kept up. People settle down in them in a permanent way. They plant shrubbery and cultivate flowers and fertilize and decorate their lawns with an eye to the future.

Meanwhile in the less costly homes, the tenants are more mobile. They hate to do any permanent grading or planting on their landlord's real estate. They may be far away in another year, and other tenants would reap the advantage of their labor. Let the landlord do it, is their view. Usually the landlord does not see how beautification will improve his rent.

All of which tends to create residence districts without beauty, plain and bare. Also the man in a rented house is less likely to save. A mortgage is a constant incentive to thrift. But the renter feels independent and is apt to be indifferent to a bank account. It is not easy to build up substantial and beautiful towns on the basis of the modern restless population.

ORGANIZING CULBERSON CLUB

Judge E. B. Lewis is presenting a petition to the voters of this precinct, which is being very generously signed, pledging support to Hon. C. A. Culberson in the senatorial run-off primary.

As governor of the state, and in his long service as United States senator, Mr. Culberson has an enviable record, and the only thing that has, or could be charged up to him, is that his health has not been good for several years. This having been improved, enabling him to return to active service, he is the logical man for the place in comparison with the opponent who has been disloyal to the national government, disloyal to his friends at every opportunity, and who would now win with a campaign of "blood and thunder" dope that is repulsive to loyal democrats and all right-thinking people.

Mrs. W. A. Ramesy returned Monday night from a pleasant trip to Houston and Nacogdoches. Her visit to Nacogdoches will long be remembered as she was entertained a part of the time there by a school mate of her mother away back when Prof. and Mrs. W. C. Huntington taught the Shelbyville school.—Joaquin Journal.

COME AGAIN, GENTLEMEN.

At last the adherents of former Governor Colquitt have found a valid reason why their candidate should be elected to the United States senate. They point to the fact that Governor Colquitt was formerly a member of the Texas railroad commission, that due to that experience "he became and is one of the ripest experts on railroad rates and the proper handling of the railroad subject," and that now in this hour when the life of the state railroad commission is at stake, it is necessary to have such a man in the senate.

"No one can truthfully question or deny the technical knowledge of Governor Colquitt on this subject," declares this statement issued by Colquitt supporters, "and we challenge his enemies to question his knowledge of the subject, or to say the best interest of Texas will not be served by placing a man of his knowledge of the subject, or to say the best interest of Texas will not be served by placing a man of his knowledge of the subject in the United States senate."

It is not necessary to accept the challenge. This is not the first time the life of the Texas railroad commission has been at stake. Soon after the passage of the law creating it its life was put in jeopardy in the courts, and incidentally the right of an state to maintain such a commission was questioned. But Texas had a man equal to the occasion. Even after the United States circuit court had rendered a decision invalidating the act creating the commission, that man fought on and carried the case to the supreme court of the United States. In spite of the fact that he was opposed by the most able and brilliant railroad and corporation counsel in the country he won out and obtained a decision which was a pioneer in its class and which fixed the status of state commissions beyond the shadow of a doubt.

That man was Charles A. Culbertson, then attorney general of Texas, and at a time when the very existence of the state commission is threatened again it is reassuring to know that such a man is representing Texas in the United States senate. It is reassuring further to know that a bill is already pending in the senate, the passage of which will insure the jurisdiction of state commissions over rates within the borders of their own states, and that the bill has the support of such a man as Senator Culbertson. We challenge "his enemies to question his knowledge of the subject or to say the best interest of Texas will not be served by retaining a man of his knowledge of the subject in the United States senate."

Come again, gentlemen!—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

THE PROPOSED NATIONAL HIGHWAY

(By Henry C. Fuller.)

Editor-Sentinel:

A great deal has been said about the national highway which it is proposed to build between Washington City and the Pacific Coast. There is no doubt that the highway should be built, and that in order to make it popular and instructive it should follow as closely as possible some of the historic highways which are to be found in this country. This should be done even if the road has to meander to more or less extent. It should be laid out so as to include not only historic routes but historic spots as well. Of course there are people in this country who care nothing whatever for things of a venerable character unless they can pull it down and sell it, or turn it to money account. For them the splendid history of the past has no value or attraction. On the other hand there are millions of people who look with respect upon such things and who are willing to do what they can in preserving the historic mementoes of a past that was heroic, tragic, and extremely practical as well.

For one I would suggest that the proposed National Highway begin at Washington and run to Philadelphia. It is not necessary for me to say that in and around each of these cities are scores of places which every genuine American will venerate as long as he lives. It would be useless to attempt to enumerate even a tenth part. From Philadelphia let the road run to Pittsburgh, the site of old Fort Duquesne. What a wealth of memory clusters around this sacred spot, the places where young George Washington bearing a letter from Governor Dinwiddie of Virginia, requested General St. Pierre, the French commander to withdraw his forces from south of the Ohio river. And only a little distance away Great Meadows, where later the disciplined troops of General Braddock, were ambuscaded by the Indians, and saved from annihilation by this same George Washington.

From there let the road pass on down the Ohio to the world-famed and beautiful Blennerhassett Island, a few miles below the town of Marietta. It was there that Harman Blennerhassett, the Irish barrister, who had married his own niece in England, settled and built a fairy palace in the western wilderness. And it was to this palace that Aaron Burr one time vice-president of the United States came after his term of service had expired, and he had determined to build for himself an empire in the southwest. In his captivating way he ingratiated himself into the hearts of Blennerhassett and his beautiful wife, Margaret, and both fell readily in with his designs. They raised money and joined their fortunes to that of Burr. On their island the expedition was fitted out and all the campaign plans of Burr drawn and perfected. It was from there that the expedition finally sailed away one dismal cold night in December to be captured at Bayou Pierre, thirty miles above Natchez, way down in Mississippi Territory as we shall presently note. From Blennerhassett island let the road proceed to Frankfort where Burr was tried for treason and acquitted, the first time, and where many events of a stirring nature in all our historic periods have been recorded. Only a short distance away is the home of Henry Clay, at Lexington. Then to Nashville, Tennessee, where lived old Hickory in his palmiest days, and where his res-dence the Hermitage still stands, the mecca every year of thousands of hero-loving people. The place where old Andy and his great enemy John Sevier used to meet and fight it out. What a character was old John Sevier and what a wealth of romance and tragedy surrounds his name. How inspiring a side trip to his home, which still stands would be as it would also to the old home of John Tipton.

From Nashville the road would pass on down the Mississippi Valley stopping at many notable places—notable then, notable in our Lost Cause and notable now. At Natchez, we could visit the mouth of Bayou Pierre where the fleet of Aaron Burr tied up and where it was later surrendered to the federal authorities of Mississippi territory. Burr was arrested there and carried to old Washington, in the hills six miles distant and tried for treason. Washington was the capital of Mississippi Territory. Today it is the seat of the Jefferson Military Academy. While Burr was waiting for his trial to come off, he was the guest of Major Guison at Half Way Mill, and Colonel Osman at Windy Mill Manor, ten miles from Natchez, on the old Liberty Road that led from Natchez to Pensacola, the Spanish possessions in Florida. And it was near Half Way Mill, that Burr met and fell in love with the beautiful Madeline Price, about which there is a romance thrilling and interesting, as romantic and tragic. How fine it would be for the tourists to visit all these places.

Thence the road would run to New Orleans where many things of interest would be found. Twelve miles out of the city is the Battle field of Chalmette where suitable monuments now mark the famous spot.

The old Cabildo is still standing and is a relic worth going far to see. The old Creole quarters are there also and many other things quite too numerous to mention, while just a little way out, in the little village of Mileburg is the place where Ada Isaacs Menkin, was born—the famous actress who one time visited and played at Nacogdoches, and who won a world-wide reputation, dying finally at Paris, France. She was buried at Mount Parnassus, near Paris.

From New Orleans the road could run to Natchitoches the old French town on Red River at which place it would enter upon the Old San Antonio Road and traverse the famous "Neutral Ground," passing the identified spot, where General Herrera on the part of Spain and General Wilkinson on the part of the United States, although both generals acted entirely without authority from their respective governments, drafted and signed the treaty that included practically all the country between the Red River on the east and the Sabine river on the west. Now indeed we are in a land worth while and every foot of the road would be full of interest. We might stop along the road and rest and fish. We pass through historic Sabine and San Augustine counties and then arrive at Nacogdoches, where we indeed find enough to interest us for many days, and here we learn history that is worth while—the Old Stone Fort, that used to be, the story of Lane Long and her heroic husband Dr. Long, the Fredonian Rebellion, the Magee Expedition and the Republican Army of the North and other things too numerous to mention. Thence we pass on and stop at old Washington, twice the capital of the Republic of Texas, and now owned as a public park by the State of Texas. Thence ten miles further west we come to Independence, the original home of Baylor University, and where Sam Houston used to live. There just in front of the oldest Baptist church in Texas, and where Sam Houston professed religion, is the grave of Margaret Houston Lea, his beloved wife, while in an old field a few hundred yards distant is the grave of Dr. Rufus Burleson, the father of Baylor University. Every foot of old Independence is hallowed ground. We bid it good bye, reluctantly and pass on to San Antonio and the Missions. I would suggest at this point that at San Antonio the National Highway would connect with the great Overland Trail that was laid out from San Antonio to San Diego, California in 1852, a distance of 1800 miles or more through an uninhabited desert.

Try them. Foley Kidney Pills will do for other men and women—quickly—what they have done for Mrs. Straygo.
"Last year, I got almost down with my back," writes Mrs. H. T. Straygo of Gainesville, Ga., R. No. 3. "I suffered from inflammation of the bladder, and whenever I stopped doctoring I grew worse. I tried Foley Kidney Pills, and after taking them a while my bladder action became regular and the stinging sensation disappeared. I am now stronger in my back than I've been for several years, and since getting well, I've stayed well and had no return of the trouble."
Start in now to use Foley Kidney Pills. You will feel an improvement from the very first doses, showing how quickly they act on kidneys and bladder. They stop irregular urinary action, ease pain in back and sides, limber up stiff joints and aching muscles. They put the kidneys and bladder in sound, healthy condition. Try them.

Taylor-Nichols, the express agent, is leaving this afternoon for a little vacation, after which he will go to Bryan, Texas, to take charge of the express office at that place, being relieved here by J. C. Strange, a gentleman of very pleasant appearance of Tyler. Mr. Nichols has been in charge of the express office at this place the past six years, and by his efficient service and uniform courtesy to the patrons of the office, has won many friends who regret to give him up in this capacity, as well as lose his citizenship, but whose good wishes will attend him in his new location.

ERNEST FLEAGER IS FREE OF CHARGES

Jacksonville, Texas, Aug. 4.—Ernest Fleager, who was indicted in seven cases in connection with the failure of the private bank of the C. N. Fleager & Sons here some 15 years ago, and who was recently arrested and brought here from El Paso, was tried in the District Court at Rusk, on one of the felony charges against him, and acquitted by a jury, the remaining six cases were dismissed, and defendant set free.

Rev. Ozro McKnight, a well known evangelist of the Baptist church, of Beaumont, was in the city Saturday afternoon, going out to the Prairie Grove community where he will assist Rev. Garrard in a protracted meeting this week. Bro. McKnight is a native of Center. He served as pastor of one of the churches of Beaumont several years, giving this work up for the evangelistic field, where he is proving a great success.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

Unwritten history is far more plentiful than that which is written, and often more interesting, and sometimes more important. Readers may class this writing to suit their own taste.

John W. Johnson, an old-timer of this county, was in town last Saturday, on his way back to his newly adopted home in Anderson county, about thirteen miles north of Palestine.

He lived in this county seventy years. He came from near Talladega, Ala., with his parents, William Johnson and wife, in 1846. Their first home was on the hill at the old place just west of the Alazan creek, on the lower Douglas road, which is also the Durst crossing road, and beyond the mile post, about 300 yards. Gen. Hogg, the father of the illustrious Gov. Jim Hogg, had lived there the year before, and ex-congressman John B. Long was born on a place quite near this. These old places were long known thereafter by these family names, the Hogg place and the Long place, and afterward as the old Johnson place or the Wm. Rogers place. The old lands are still in use, and the occupants are not properly appreciative of the sacred soil, nor of the importance of the historic events connected with it.

The big road that leads by the old Hogg place was then as much traveled as was the famous old San Antonio road, on account of the noted John Durst, or Juan Durst, having a big ranch and a fine dwelling at the Durst ferry on the Angelina river, as well as a store and plantation. There is a traditional Indian village near there, and also a traditional city called Mt. Sterling. No trace of these cities can be found now, and hardly a trace of the Durst mansion. But they were surely there, and the thought brings up solemn reveries.

On this old Durst ferry road, four miles from town, on Joe Clevenger's premises, there were once a number of Mexican dwellings of the old-time class, built of logs and hand split boards, with mud chinked cracks, and mud and moss chimneys. At one time Squire John R. Clute had a two story house there with a ranch called El Moral, the name of the creek, which means mulberry.

John Johnson is one of the few survivors of the splendid cavalry company raised and led in the Confederate army by the heroic Henry W. Raguet, who was killed in the battle of Glorieta, N. M., in the hottest part of the combat at close range. Johnson's army name was Dick. The soldiers often got nick names, by some event, or distinction. Dick Johnson was also nick named Boy. But when times were squally the boys never doubted Dick Johnson, or old Boy, as they styled him.

He was tried out several times. Once he was captured by the enemy and carried a prisoner to Santa Fe, N. M., which was then a long ways from here. On another occasion in the cavalry service down in Louisiana, near Opelousas, John E. Norvall, now living in Henderson, Texas, was out with three other cavalrymen, one being Dick Johnson, watching out for the enemy, who were known to be in that vicinity. They saw some Yankee soldiers at a house in a lane and after consultation decided to try to take them prisoners. So getting their single-shot rifles ready, the four Confederates advanced in the lane, while four others advanced with G. B. Crain into the other end of the lane. There were also four of the Federals, who were well armed and mounted and they too came advancing down the lane as if to fight. All hands held guns ready, and as they got nearer and nearer it looked like something doing. Norvelle hailed them fiercely with the command "Halt." They obeyed and Norvelle asked, "What command do you belong to?" The answer came back "First Texas, what command do you belong to?" Norvelle replied, "Fourth Texas, Surrender." They replied "Don't shoot." Norvell's squad lowered their guns, but the others quickly fired and repeated rapidly. Our boys had only one shot each, being armed with Enfield rifles, so they turned and fled. They killed one horse and unhorsed another man, whose loose horse, with empty saddle on overtook Norvell's squad and came out with them. The two remaining Yankees ran out the lane and turned away. What became of the two others was never known. The captured horse was a large, fine animal with a tail cut for a carriage horse. He was turned over to Bill Cleveland, one of the company who had no horse, and was known by the name, "Finger Tail." He was accidentally drowned in river, and his loss was much lamented, because he was a valued and respected trophy.

Among the few other survivors of Raguet's company, besides Dick Johnson and John Norvell, may be mentioned the names, Mitch Weatherly, Holloway Power, Dick Burrows, Nat Whitaker, Ben Scogin, Marion F. Rainbolt, Sam Reid, Jim and Frank McCuiston, Joe and Billy Mayfield, Sam Wisener, Billy Petty, and Peyton Edwards.

COMING AGAIN.

No doubt our many friends, patrons and the general public will be glad to learn that Dr. Shelfer will be with us again next week, after an extended tour of Florida and the east. If nothing prevents, he will be with us next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 10-11-12. Dr. Shelfer needs no introduction in this vicinity as many influential people of Nacogdoches, this county and East Texas are wearing glasses fitted by him with best results, therefore we earnestly advise that those in need of glasses await his return to the Kennedy Drug Store. 4-2tdlw

HALTOM & GIBBS, Proprietors
G. M. HALTOM, Manager
O. M. GIBBS, Editor

D. A. Singleton, a prominent business man of Lufkin, was elected mayor of his city in a flattering vote Saturday, and in an address gives notice that he will be a servant of the whole people.

In just a few weeks now work will be begun on the harvest of the great crop that is growing in Nacogoches county. Much of the old corn is already "ripe," an occasional boll of cotton is opening, the peanuts are looking fine, and taken altogether the farmers have the brightest prospects they have enjoyed for many years, which in turn brings a smile to the business and professional man. Truly, the signs of the times are that a great season is now approaching, and the people are ready for it in reward for the honest labor they have put forth.

Many farmers from different sections of the county have been in the city today in attendance upon the Farmers Short Course, and the result will be the employment of many new ideas in the agriculture and stock raising of the county another year.

The farmers are waking up to the importance of improved methods, by which the production has been greatly increased in the past few years, and even greater advancement will be made within the next few years. We have the soils, the seasons and land within reach of all, and a better day is approaching for the East Texas farm.

The Farmers Short Course which has been in session in this city the past three days, coming to a close at noon today, has been worth many times what it cost the people to attend and participate in its good work. Many new ideas, which are the result of practical application and proven success, have been brought to us, and many farmers from different parts of the county have taken advantage of them, as a result of which the standard of farming and stock raising will be improved with them, to be followed with improvement by others from time to time as they learn the lesson from their neighbor which they would not take time to learn first-hand from this meeting. And with the standard of farming raised—that greatest of all industries—the standard of business and other industries will be improved, all contributing in the work of launching a new era in the agricultural, industrial and commercial life of old Nacogoches county.

The newspapers of the country are receiving notice of another advance in the price of white paper—and the new price is almost prohibitive. Advances have been coming gradually until we are now paying twice as much for all kinds of paper as we did at this time one year ago, and we have no assurance that the crest of the flight has been reached. To the contrary, it is hinted by the trade journals that many small papers will not be able to get paper at all unless some relief is soon forthcoming. This condition is paralyzing the printing industry, and has brought to us a condition in which we must have the co-operation of all patrons, and must stop every leak in the business if we survive whole. We must collect for every paper we send out in the future, and we must have better prices for all branches of commercial printing—not for the purpose of making a greater profit, but to survive the increased expense, which we are glad to do at a smaller profit.

MONEY FOR THE FARMERS.

If Mr. Wilson had accomplished nothing else during his administration, his successful efforts in behalf of cheaper money for the farmers, and the passing of the federal land bill into law last week, would entitle him to the gratitude of the whole country. Hitherto the American farmer has had to borrow money at a high rate of interest and has been compelled to pay the capital back in one lump sum. Loans for five years were the rule and interest was payable annually and semi-annually. Merchants, manufacturers, in fact, those engaged in every line of trade or business, who had collateral, could borrow at much easier rates and for longer periods than the man who had the best security on earth—the farmer with his land. As President Wilson expressed it, "with the very liberal provisions of the Federal Reserve Act, the farmers placed on an equal footing with all others and are enabled to make use of their undeniably splendid security." Not only is the farmer benefitted, but the whole country shares in his prosperity, since it makes so large an addition to the available wealth of the country. The law creates a group of twelve farm loan banks, presided over by a Federal Board of five members, and provided for loan associations. The farmer borrows from the bank, through the association, on mortgages, running from five to forty years. These mortgages are used by the land banks as the basis for farm bonds, which are so drawn as to rank with railroad or other bonds as a means of safe and quickly realizable investment. In a word, this law makes instantly available the enormous amount of capital now locked up in the farm lands of this country. Last week State Topics spoke of the extraordinary prosperity of American manufacturers, which prosperity is shared in by the American workmen, and now it calls attention, in the foregoing, to the fact that the American farmers are placed in position to share in the prosperity. Verily, the Republicans are going to find it a difficult task to pick a flaw in the wise and statesmanlike administration of Mr. Wilson, who has been backed by the Democratic majority of both branches of Congress.—State Topics.

ATTEND THE PRIMARY.

All who participated in the primary election July 22nd, should attend the second next Saturday. The double-primary is for the purpose of getting men for officers who are acceptable to the majority, and if the people do not attend both the ends sought are defeated, and some men suffer an injustice. The candidates making races are paying the expense; they have given of their time and means to make the race, and it is due them, as well as the best interests of the country, that the second primary be attended as generously as the first. Hunt up your poll tax receipt again and discharge this obligation you owe to yourself, your country and the candidates.

SLOW UP.

This is the time of the year when nature tells men to go slow. Speed uses heat energy which must be restored by heat producing diet. But to be comfortable and healthy we should eschew it. Exceeding the speed limit is a failing—not an advantage. Especially is it so in this weather. Yet chauffeurs seem heated into speed craze. Some rush along the streets at a greater pace than in zero times. Others make a merit of speeding through their work, when all outdoors calls for seasonal, sensible slowness. Nature's atmosphere is languid, her mood languorous. Yet she does most of her work in summer time. It is a lesson worth heeding by heedless man. Conserve your energies, husband your resources against the time when speed is safe. There is no time of the year when the ancient adage "more haste, less speed," does not hold true.—Chicago Herald.

A CITIZEN COMPLAINS.

Editor Sentinel: Speaking of the motorcycle accident on one of the main crossings, brings to the mind of the best citizens more forcibly that they are tired and sick of some little "simlin-head" one parading the streets all the time with a high rate of speed, with the cut off open, trying to show off or act the fool and would not have to strain their Ichibod brains any more to make a complete job of it.

Now, the same proceedings are being carried on by some of the ones that are driving cars, of which most of them are owners, and it looks like they should have more sense, as it takes more money to buy a car, but some times it does seem that the biggest fools and the meanest people have the most money.

It does look like if we had any ordinance against this muffler, or speeding business, and I understand we have, and had any officers to enforce them, it would meet with the approval of the best people as to the annoyance and safety of the public.

Now, city dads, if you ever did anything in your life, put some good wing-shots about on the corners, and when these speeders of the "simlin-head" type come, as they usually do, have them shot in the tire first, heel next, and if that does not stop them, try the head a pop, for they are dangerous to the public just like a mad dog.

And I think that if we are trying to put on city airs, and as cars have become so numerous that we should cut out this "rube jay walking," and go to the corners and go direct across, and look before doing that.

That's all this time.

WAS SERIOUSLY HURT IN MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

Some days ago Lacey Hunt of this city sold a motorcycle to a man named Dick Daniel at Crockett. A dispatch in yesterday's Houston Post reports a serious accident suffered by the new owner of the machine as follows:

Crockett, Texas, August 7.—A motorcycle ridden by Dick Daniel and an automobile driven by John Harris collided Sunday at southwest corner of public square. The motorcycle was demolished and its rider dragged a distance of nearly 20 feet. Five of his ribs were broken and he was injured internally. His condition is critical. The collision, said by eyewitnesses to have been unavoidable, occurred as both parties, going in opposite directions, turned a corner.

The happy couple belong to two of the best families of the community, and have a host of friends in the circle of their acquaintance who are uniting in congratulations and good wishes.

HON. CLARENCE OUSLEY MADE GREAT ADDRESS

Spoke for Hour and Forty-Five Minutes on Subject of Agriculture and Economics.

Possibly the greatest and most logical address ever delivered on any subject in this city, was that delivered by Hon. Clarence Ousley at the school auditorium yesterday afternoon, who talked to the large crowd assembled on the subject of agriculture and rural economics. Notwithstanding he spoke for one hour and forty-five minutes, the crowd sat in rapt attention, charmed with the great storehouse of information he brought to them and the good logic of his reasoning.

With Capt. Sturdevant presiding, the speaker was introduced by Mr. G. W. Orms in a few well chosen words.

Mr. Ousley began his address with a tribute to East Texas, in the course of which he made reference to this section as the fatherland where the pioneers settled for the benefit of wood and water, and from this section grew up and went out the people who comprised the first settlement of the Lone Star State.

Getting into a discussion of agriculture and the methods that had been employed in the past, the speaker was very plain. He went back to the days of slavery when the lands were cheap and in consequence butchered with the cheap methods employed by the citizenry of that day who found it more economical to clear new lands than to care for and fertilize the lands already in cultivation, giving no thought of the succeeding generations and that day when the same lands would have to be reclaimed from the murderous methods employed by them. This lax, spendthrift method has been inherited by many of the sons of that day, as a result of which East Texas must now be rebuilt. In making comparisons to stress his points, the speaker told of a similar condition that obtained in the older states from which many moved away on account of the poor lands, while today the lands of those states are producing more than the rich lands obtaining in Texas of another day are now producing. He also told of having visited lands in Europe which had been in cultivation for more than six thousand years, and were making far greater crops today than any new lands of this country. It is a debt many of our fathers failed to pay, and one that many of us are shirking today, to conserve the lands, and put back into the "bank of the soil" something in return for that which we take away, by which means we can hand down to succeeding generations the same opportunity of a productive home that we enjoy today.

In discussing the most profitable crops, Mr. Ousley stressed the importance of always giving first consideration to raising feed crops, cattle and hogs and let cotton be the surplus crop, which method, universally followed, will give the country as much money for cotton as would be enjoyed with the large crop. Proof of the contention is the statistical fact that a twelve-million-bale crop of cotton always brings as much money to the country as a sixteen-million-bale crop. In discussing the cotton crop, the speaker also urged the importance of better methods of handling cotton and urged the importance of a slow-marketing process, making some pretty comparisons in support of the theory, and producing statistics to show that we lose from two to twenty dollars per bale by forcing the whole crop on the market at gathering time.

In discussing other crops, Mr. Ousley stressed the importance of community co-operation and efficiency in the handling of products. In discussing this feature, he states that kiln dried sweet potatoes were now selling at from $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel in the markets, and that any neighborhood of farmers could get together and erect a dry kiln in which they could prepare and hold this valuable product for the better market price, as well as erect warehouses for other products, plans for which can be obtained in bulletins, free, by addressing the agricultural department of the state. There should also be a community plan for the market of hogs, through which the farmers can load a car at a time and thereby cut out the middle man's services and profit.

The same plan can be worked out and much larger price obtained for eggs and poultry. By organizing and following the instructions for egg club organizations, five cents per dozen more can be obtained for eggs.

Throughout the entire address, the importance of cutting out all waste and conserving all the resources of the farm, both in growing crops and marketing, was stressed and made so plain that no one could fail to understand him.

By request, the speaker made an explanation of the new rural credit law which will enable people to get cheap money with which to purchase farms, but said that it would not be worth much to Texas until our homestead law was amended, a statute that enables a man to get behind a fifty-thousand-dollar home and defy his creditors. In the course of his review, he said this condition had made it impossible for Texas to get cheap money, and a sufficient amount at any price with which to develop its resources. He believes in a law that will protect the women and children in modest homes, but believes there should be some limit, by which our credit would be strengthened with the financial world.

Mr. Ousley has been a life-long student of rural economics, he is a scholarly gentleman, and has traveled much in his research, and his address was a gem of logic clothed in rhetorical beauty which should have been heard by every person in Nacogoches county. This argument had to do with the very foundation of prosperity through which all happiness and comfort is made possible, both to town and country, and is a matter that should engage the very serious attention of every person, no matter what may be his avocation or calling.

No country can be richer than the wealth it produces; it is therefore of first importance that we produce something, and of second importance is the matter of conservation of that which we produce.

Bulletins on all these subjects, prepared by experts who have made a close study of the matters, can be had free by addressing the department of agriculture at Austin, or the A. & M. College at College Station, and it is encouraging to note that the people of East Texas are waking up to the importance of better efficiency in both the growing and systematic marketing of crops, as well as the handling of all other resources. Followed up, the new order of things means the dawn of a new day for the country which will come into its own through the more intelligent system of its operations.

Attorneys S. M. Adams, S. M. King, A. A. Seale and W. A. Wade have been attending justice court in Garrison today.

FARMERS SHORT COURSE—BEGIN MEETING TODAY

Distinguished Leaders and Many Farmers in Attendance, and Begins With Interest.

From Monday's Daily.

The Farmers Short Course, or "Movable School," met at the auditorium of the new school building this morning at 9:45 for a three-days course, with Mr. G. W. Orms, district agent; Mr. W. B. Lanham, a specialist on orchard planting and cultivation; Mr. D. T. Griswold, specialist on cattle judging and dairying; Miss Shakelford, specialist on canning and domestic science; Jas. D. Greer, county agricultural agent; Miss Bess Mason, county domestic science; Goe. T. McNess, superintendent of the government demonstration station, in charge.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mr. R. C. Monk, after which Mr. Robert Lindsey, chairman, called the meeting to order, and has been presiding with dignity and ability.

A most appropriate welcome address was delivered by Hon. June C. Harris, who praised the work upon this meeting would be engaged, and voiced the sentiment that there was no calling or enterprise more noble than this great work which carries us back close to nature where we are learning many new lessons of profit and growing in usefulness.

Mr. Harris was followed in a short address by Mr. Orms, who, in the preliminary remarks, made some complimentary reference to the Nacogoches country in comparison with some other sections, after which he announced the program that would be carried out and solicited the co-operation of the people in making the meeting more valuable to the community.

At this juncture a string band arrived and a beautiful musical selection was rendered which was greatly enjoyed by those present.

Beginning the actual work of the program, Mr. Lanham, specialist on orcharding and nursery stock, delivered a most logical address, in the course of which he invited questions from the audience and answered many. Mr. Lanham urges the importance of good nursery stock to begin with, land well drained in water and air, of good rich soil, and the continuous cultivation of the land with crops that will give back to the soil the necessary elements for its support and enrichment. His talk was most logical and very interesting.

Mr. Lanham was followed by Mr. Griswold in another most logical talk on dairying and cattle raising. Several Jersey cows and heifers were also brought to the campus for Mr. Griswold to judge, and much interest is being aroused in his feature of the work which will grow during his sojourn with us.

The program during the remainder of the meeting will be carried out along the lines hitherto announced in this paper, and with the most interesting start had this morning, it is safe to predict that a great course will be had.

There were about seventy or eighty farmers from different parts of the county, present at the opening, and this crowd will be greatly augmented with late arrivals, many of whom will arrive on the trains today and others will come in tonight and tomorrow.

Constable Burrows, who it will be remembered was injured in an automobile accident a few days ago, was able to come up town yesterday, and hopes to be able to resume his active work within the next day or two.

A Summer Laxative and Liver Regulator.

Po-Do-Lax is a liquid laxative—mild and effective. It arouses the liver, increases the bile, does not gripe and acts as a general tonic to the whole system. Aids nature to clear and purify the blood—as a laxative tonic for summer Po-Do-Lax has no equal. What was "good enough for my father is good enough for me" never applied with more force than the use of Po-Do-Lax for the liver. An old tried remedy. Get a bottle, take a dose to night and see how much better you feel. At all druggists. dw

SHE TOOK STRYCHNINE THINKING IT QUININE

MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT.

In the rush of other matters yesterday, The Sentinel failed to get a report of the motorcycle accident suffered by Scott Chadwick Sunday afternoon.

The accident happened in the street between Swift Bros. & Smith's drug store and the Farmers and Merchants Bank when Frank Mora, who was riding the motorcycle, ran into Mr. Chadwick and bruised him up considerably, but fortunately no serious injury was inflicted.

Don't neglect the warnings of nature. If your appetite is poor, breath bad, tongue coated, you will be sick unless you take steps to put your system in good condition. Prickly Ash Bitters is the remedy you need. It cleanses the entire system.—Stripling, Haselwood & Co., Special Agents.

CARRANZA WILL REMAIN UNTIL AFTER ELECTIONS

Mexico City, Aug. 7.—Foreign minister Aguilar Monday night indicated that General Carranza would remain in charge of the executive power of the republic until after elections are held and he is able to hand over the reins of government to a legally elected president.

The minister added that General Carranza would run for president if public opinion demanded. He pointed out, however, that any positive action in this matter would be taken in the distant future, and it was necessary first to hold municipal elections for congress and that a complete condition of peace must exist before a presidential election could be held.

General Aguilar expressed the belief that General Carranza would not call General Pablo Gonzales to the cabinet at this time.

FROM THOSE HIGH UP.

Let those who have been successful advise you as to the kind of an education you should have. Men at the head of the affairs of our state and nation.

Following are extracts from letters from some of America's greatest men on the value of a business education. Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives Washington, D. C., says: "Since I have been elected speaker I have had it more thoroughly impressed on me than ever before that a thorough business college training is of exceeding importance." O. M. Dickinson, former Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.: "Contemporaneously with taking my general education, I took a course in a business college and found it of value to me, not only generally, but in the practice of law." R. B. Glenn, ex-Governor of North Carolina: "I cheerfully recommend to everyone a practical business education for their children." Oswald West, ex-Governor of Oregon: "The modern business school plays a large part in fitting young men and women for their entrance into the business world." T. C. Pickett, Representative from Iowa: "The value, even necessity of a practical education to young people today is so obvious that no argument should be required in support of it." E. F. Noell, ex-Governor of Mississippi: "I take pleasure in testifying to the importance of a properly conducted business school in imparting such knowledge." C. N. Haskell, ex-Governor of Oklahoma: "I consider practical business education of the greatest importance." John W. Kern, United States Senator: "Everybody ought by this time to understand that business men and business women need business education" Joseph M. Cary, Governor of Wyoming: "Too much cannot be said in behalf of a good commercial education. I do not believe that such an education can be too highly recommended."

Shouldn't the above evidence settle the question with you as to what kind of an education is needed? Write for catalogue of America's largest commercial school, the one giving the most extensive course of study, the one placing its graduates in positions, the one that has more than 2000 enrollments annually from over half the states of the Union, the school with a national reputation, a salary raiser, the Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas. Do it NOW. Fill in and mail.

FERGUSON TO TAKE VACATION.

Houston, Texas, Aug. 6.—Within a few weeks Governor Ferguson expects to make a vacation trip to Colorado and Denver and intends to be a guest at the hotel where he was employed as a bell-boy years ago. There also was a hotel in Manitou where the present Governor of Texas was once a bellboy, but it burned recently, and so on his Colorado trip the Governor must be content with stopping at only one hotel where he formerly "hopped bells."

"I've been a pretty busy man since the first day I opened my campaign at Blum," said Governor Ferguson today. "I have had practically no real rest at all, and my experience last summer convinces me the only way to get a little rest, which a man must have, is to make a trip outside the state."

Keep an account book! At first, it may be a thorn in the flesh, but be faithful to it and before long it will prove your best friend and adviser in solving your household difficulties. Pay cash! A charge account seems an obliging friend for 30 days out of a month; on the first day of the following month it usually proves to have been a gay deceiver who leads you into just a few more dollars of expenditure than you cannot really afford. If you will follow these two principles of household financing, your way will be as smooth as is possible in this day of the high cost of living.—Denison Herald.

Liver Trouble.

"I am bothered with liver trouble about twice a year," writes Joe Dingman, Webster City, Iowa and back and an awful soreness in my stomach. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and tried them. By the time I had used half a bottle of them I was feeling fine and had no signs of pain." dw

The state democratic executive committee met Monday morning in advance of the state convention on Tuesday. Committees on credentials, finance and returns were announced. Thereafter the different subcommittees met to transact the business assigned to them.

The sheriff died three hours later. The negro was overtaken a short time after his escape by a mob, which killed him instantly by the discharge of a dozen shotguns and pistols.

The negro was under arrest for a minor charge and attempted to escape from the officer. He whirled away from the officer, raised both arms and crashed the steel cuffs on Ellis' head. After the sheriff fell the negro took the revolver and shot him.

COTTON REACHES 15c.

Five hundred bales of cotton were sold in Houston yesterday (Monday) at 15c, the highest price obtained this season.

There is reason to believe that the price will go still higher before reaching the limit of its upward flight, and it is generally believed that the crop now growing will bring 15c and better.

The price of cotton seed are climbing upward even faster and there is hope that the new crop will be worth $50 per ton.

COMPLIMENTS TEXAS BOYS. COTTON SEED SELLING

San Antonio, August 4.—General Funston today said that while there had been thousands of applications for dismissal from service by the guard organizations of other states, not a complaint had come from the Texas guardsmen, who were not even hinting at relief.
He added that the Texans were the only guardsmen who had reported on the border above paper strength.
In view of the fact that the entire country had united in criticism of the 116 Texan guardsmen who refused to mobilize when the call to the border was issued, the general said he thought these facts should be known, particularly as the 116 men later reported for duty.

Both of these gentlemen are highly interested in this subject since congress passed a bill making an appropriation of $75,000,000 to aid the various states in the establishment of highways.

Negroes are not permitted, under the new ordinance, to purchase property in white blocks.

AT $50 PER TON

"I have seen quite a lot of cotton seed contracted for delivery during the ginning season at $50 a ton," said a cotton man who was a visitor in Waco yesterday.

He stated that in his judgment new uses must have been found for the seed to make them worth such a fancy price. Whatever the cause, it certainly puts the farmers of this section in clover, as the seed actually bring as much as a bale of cotton used to bring.

With the price of cotton where it is, the outlook for farmers would certainly appear to be rosy indeed.—Waco News.

CHARTER GRANTED FOR HOME FOR EX-SLAVES

A charter has been granted by the State of Texas for an Ex-Slave Home in Nacogdoches county, with A. C. Churchill, Charley Blakey and Jeff Turner, incorporators.

The charter recites no capital stock, coming under the head of benevolent institutions.

A. C. Churchill is president of the institution, and it is the purpose of the organization to build and maintain a home for the ex-slaves. This is a most worthy undertaking, and The Sentinel trusts that the promoters will have no trouble in raising necessary funds for the endowment of the institution.

The old-time darkeys were loyal to the white people and to their country, and have ever remained so. Now that the majority of them are unable to suitably support themselves, no more worthy cause could engage public support.

SIDEWALK FINISHED.

Mr. B. R. Wagley is finishing up the work on his contract for new sidewalk on the school campus today, and has done a good job which will be sure to please the Board of Trustees as well as the general public.

The new walk connects up with the walk around the old buildings, and extends around the new building, with a prong running out to Mound street. At each approach of the new building a concrete platform, as high as the floor, with steps, have been put down which adds much to the convenience as well as the civic attractiveness of the premises. Driveways are put down across the walk to admit wagons getting into the furnace with fuel, and nothing has been left undone that will contribute to the convenience and attractiveness that could be contributed with this improvement.

This is a great improvement, made possible with an old legacy which has hitherto been noted in this paper, and gives to us attractive premises to go with the magnificent buildings we have.

Stripling, Haselwood & Co. dwl

WHEAT PRICES SOARED AS DAMAGE REPORTS SPREAD

Chicago, August 2.—Wheat prices leaped up 7/8 to 7/4 cents a bushel Wednesday, driven by reports of a disastrous widening of crop damage in Canada, the Dakotas and Minnesota. It was said by the trade authorities that black rust havoc in Manitoba amounted to a calamity, that the pest had also acquired a dangerous foothold in Saskatchewan and that the injury from rust and heat in the fields south of the international border had gone beyond any precedent.

Scoffers Pay the Penalty.

Those who ignore warning signals of disordered kidneys and scoff at dangers of serious consequences often pay the penalty with dread diabetes or Bright's disease. If you have lame back, pain in sides, sore muscles, stiff joints, rheumatic aches—take Foley Kidney Pills and stop the trouble before it is too late. Stripling, Haselwood & Co. dwl

The Sentinel has neglected to note sooner the departure of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Brehm who have gone to Waxahachie to make their home. ### TEXAS TO SPEND $7 PER SCHOLAR

Austin, Aug. 2.—The state board of education today fixed the state per capita apportionment for the year 1916-17 at $7 per pupil. The apportionment was based upon estimated receipts of $8,800,000 and scholastic enumeration of 1,246,896 children. The per capita is considered high in view of the fact that the census enumeration for the year 1916 includes an extra year.

Heretofore the scholastic limits were 7 to 16, inclusive. The Thirty-fourth legislature extended the scholastic age limit to include all children 17 years old, which occasioned an increase of about 80,000 scholastics. This number, added to the natural annual increase of about 40,000 scholastics, makes the number of children entitled to participate in the public funds very much larger than that of any previous year.

A Good Thing For Children.

Foley's Honey and Tar is a particularly good cold, cough and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs. The "little colds" of summer, as well as the long standing, deep seated coughs, that hang on for months, are banished by its use. The first dose brings relief and comfort. Stripling, Haselwood & Co. dwl

THE BAXTER HOUSE BUILDING ADDITION

Mrs. Baxter, proprietress of the Baxter House, is having a substantial addition built to her house which, when completed, will give her almost double the room she now has, and a hotel building of which she can well be proud.

By hard work, and close personal attention to the care and comfort of their guests, the Baxter family have built up a good hotel business, which is still growing, and they richly merit the prosperity they are enjoying.

When Visiting Strange Places.

It is well to be prepared with a reliable cathartic. Salts and castor oil cannot be taken by many. Foley Cathartic Tablets are wholesome and cleansing and act surely, but gently, without gripping, pain or nausea. Relieve sick headache, biliousness, bloating, sour stomach, bad breath. Fine for a torpid liver. Stripling, Haselwood & Co. dwl

A BIG TRANSCRIPT

Langston King, court reporter, has finished the transcript in the Sapp cases recently tried in the district court of Angelina county and it is said to be the largest transcript ever prepared by one person in the state.

In the document the reporter had to copy fifty-six tablets of shorthand which made 1490 pages of typewritten matter.

Mr. King has done this work and kept up with his other duties as court reporter which speaks well for his efficiency in this line of work.

He Could Hardly Walk.

Deranged kidneys cause rheumatism, aches, pains, soreness, stiffness. Ambrose Gary, Sulphur, Okla., writes: "I was bothered with kidney trouble ten years and at times could hardly walk. I began taking Foley's Kidney Pills. I got relief from the first but continued till I had taken three bottles. I feel like a new man." Stripling, Haselwood & Co. dwl

Miss Virdian Barham leaves tomorrow for Jacksonville where she will join Mrs. Clyde Parrish and family in a motor trip to Colorado and Yellowstone Park.

WORRY, DESPONDENCY.

Kidney Disease is suspected by medical men when patients complain of backache or suffer with irregular urination, disturbed, too frequent, scanty or painful passage. The general symptoms are rheumatic pains or neuralgia, headaches, lumbago, irritability, despondency, weakness and general misery. Worry is a frequent cause and sometimes a symptom of kidney disease. Many of your neighbors have testified to immediate relief from these symptoms after using Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets for kidneys and backache. Druggists in town are now supplied.

From personal observation in large hospital practice, Dr. Pierce knows "Anuric" will give you speedy help if you are suffering from uric acid trouble, and to show his faith send 10c. to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, and you'll receive a large trial pkg. of "Anuric." "Anuric" dissolves uric acid as hot water melts sugar and Dr. Pierce has thoroughly tested it in his hospital and found it 37 times more potent than lithia.

D. 1916, the same being the 4th day of September, A. D. 1916, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 10th day of July, A. D. 1916, in a suit numbered on the docket of the said Court as No. 409, wherein Lellie Anderson is Plaintiff, and said petition alleging that on or about the—day of—A. D. 1915 Plaintiff and Defendant were lawfully married to each other in Nacogdoches County, Texas, and thereafter lived together as husband and wife until on or about the 15th day of February A. D. 1916, when Plaintiff was compelled to abandon Defendant with the intention of remaining away from him.

That during the time they so lived together as husband and wife Plaintiff made Defendant a kind and dutiful wife, but Defendant unmindful of his marital vows persisted in cruel, outrageous treatment towards Plaintiff, and would strike Plaintiff without cause or provocation, thereby rendering their living together insupportable.

That as a result of said marriage there were born to them three children, Chester Anderson, a boy 11 years old, B. B. Anderson, a boy 8 years old, and Genevieve Anderson, a girl now 6 years old; that all of said children are now with this Plaintiff, who is caring for and supporting them. That Defendant refuses to contribute anything to the support of said children, and is not a proper person to raise and educate them.

Wherefore Plaintiff prays the Court that Defendant be cited to appear and answer this petition and that upon a final hearing hereof she have judgment annulling said bonds of matrimony now existing between Plaintiff and Defendant for the custody of children above named, for costs of suit and general relief.

Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Nacogdoches, this the 25th day of July, A. D. 1916.

STATES MUST DECIDE SUFFRAGE SAID WILSON

Washington, August 2.—President Wilson has not changed his position that the woman question should be dealt with by the states, it was announced at the White House. The statement was brought forth by the announcement of Charles E. Hughes, the republican nominee, that he favored an amendment to the federal constitution giving the vote to women.

A delegation of suffragists saw the president Tuesday and afterward indicated they believed he would make a new statement on the question before the convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association in September. At that time the policy to be pursued in the presidential campaign will be determined by the national organization.

Today Secretary Tumulty discussed the question with the president and afterward announced that Mr. Wilson's position on the subject was unchanged. This position, as outlined several times to suffragist delegations within the last three years, is that while he favors votes for women, he is opposed to federal action.

The president voted for woman suffrage in New Jersey last year.

It was indicated the announcement was final.

THE MOOSERS HAVE NO STANDARD-BEARER

Indianapolis, Aug. 3.—At a meeting of leaders attending the progressive party conference here today it was decided late this afternoon not to nominate a candidate for president, but to appoint an executive committee of 15 to perpetuate the party and adopt resolutions criticising the national committee for endorsing Hughes in Chicago June 26.

A majority of those present favored putting a third ticket in the field, but several influential leaders doubted the wisdom of the action. Every representative agreed, however, that it would be desirable to take some action which would perpetuate the progressive party as a national political organization.

The conference was called to order by Edwin M. Lee of Indianapolis, private state chairman for Indiana. Matthew Hale of Massachusetts, acting chairman of the progressive national committee, was chosen and J. A. S. Hopkins of New Jersey was elected secretary.

Chariman Hale was applauded when he said:

"We have come here with two ideas. We wish to show that we do not approve of the action of the reactionary wing of the nation committee in Chicago June 26 in endorsing Hughes for president and to take some action to perpetuate the progressive party."

GENERAL THEORY OF ALL INES IN N. Y.

New York, Aug. 3.—A strike of street railway employes, tieup of every surface line in Manhattan, the Bronx and Queens County seemed inevitable today. The leaders of the union recently organized among the employes today delivered an ultimatum to the railway companies, giving them until 3 p. m. tomorrow to grant their demands, and efforts today by Mayor Mitchell to bring about arbitration failed.

If the demands are not granted, it was said, a strike vote would be taken among the employes.

The mayor's meeting was attended by Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Amalgamated Association, and M. J. Reagan, state industrial mediator.

Mr. Shonts refused to commit himself definitely at the meeting as to whether the company would allow its men to organize without interference, although he said that he would agree that they would not be discharged for joining the union. The railway president said that the company did not know whether the demands that had been formulated actually represented the views of the employes.

"I believe no questions will arise that we can't settle between ourselves," he said.

COTTON REACHES 14c.

Cotton reached fourteen cents in the Houston market yesterday, fuller report of which we take from the Houston Chronicle in the following: Fourteen cent cotton is now a reality.

The darling dream of the farmers of Texas has come true. The 14-cent mark was reached and passed Thursday, when the official quotations of the Houston Cotton exchange placed middling cotton at 14.10, an advance of 20 points over the previous day's prices, and a gain of 45 points for two days.

The Houston cotton market jumped $2.25 per bale in two days, which, figuring on a crop of $4,000,000, adds $9,000,000 to the wealth of the state. The price reached Thursday is the highest price paid in August for spot cotton since 1910, when spots sold at 14.38. The previous high record was in 1905, the famous Sully year.

A bale of cotton—average weight, together with the seed, will now net the farmer close to $100.

EMINENT PHYSICIANS ARE IN CONSULTATION

New York, Aug. 3.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis reached the high mark today in the number of new cases. The health department figures showed that 217 cases developed during the last 24 hours and the death list was 43.

New York, Aug. 3.—A conference of bacteriologists and pathologists began here today and will continue for two or three days to consider methods of fighting the epidemic of infantile paralysis and finding a specific for it.

Several clinics will be held in the city hospital for the benefit of these specialists, who have been called together by the mayor and health commissioner. The medical department of Michigan, Harvard, Vanderbilt, Chicago, Tulane, Pennsylvania and Johns Hopkins universities and of the United States public health service at Washington attended the conference, as also did Dr. Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, and the heads of several New York medical institutions.

The health commissioner says he expects there will be 5600 cases of infantile paralysis here before the plague is checked.

IRISH LEADER HANGED.

London, Aug. 3.—Roger Casement, former British knight and consul, was hanged at 9 o'clock this morning in Pentonville jail for high treason. He was convicted of conspiring to cause an armed revolt in Ireland and with having sought German aid to that end.

Two hours before the execution a crowd of men and children gathered before the prison gates. Twenty minutes before Casement mounted the scaffold the great prison bell commenced to toll. The sound was greeted with cheers mingled with some a few groans. At 9 o'clock the crowd had swollen to such proportions that it extended for two blocks from the prison front. At one minute after 9 a single stroke of the big bell announced that the trap had been sprung. It was the signal for a mocking, jeering yell from the crowd, which suddenly died away in dead silence.

JAS. A. BENNETT WAS KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Jas. A. Bennett of Dallas, a well known traveling man selling flour for the Wichita Mill & Elevator Co., who has been making the trade of this city every sixty days for the past several years, was killed in a Katy train wreck near Lancaster Tuesday.

Mr. Bennett was a most excellent gentleman, as well as one of the most prominent traveling men in the state, and had many friends in this section who will be pained to learn of his death.

In the same wreck the fireman and engineer were killed, and Mr. Bennett was the only passenger to lose his life. He was riding in the smoker, a steel coach which was overturned, and it is presumed that he was riding with his feet in the window as he was thrown out and caught under the car.

COTTON CONSUMPTION.

New Orleans, Aug. 3.—The total world's consumption of American cotton during the year ending July 31 amounted to 14,813,000 bales, an increase of 979,000 bales over the preceding season and a new high record for consumption of the American staple, according to a statement issued today by H. G. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange. Considering the conditions brought on by the European war, this showing was regarded by the local trade as exceptionally noteworthy.

According to details of Secretary Hester's statement, consumption for the year just ended among Southern mills was 4,047,000 bales, against 3,731,000 last year; among foreign mills, 7,761,000 against 5,053,000 last year. These figures showed the gain in world's consumption of American cotton was entirely among mills in this country, and it was sufficiently large to more than offset a small loss abroad.

Mr. Hester placed the total visible and invisible supply of American cotton July 31 last at 3,635,000 bales, against 5,629,000 at the end of the preceding season. The total visible supply was 2,129,000 bales, against 3,282,000 the previous year.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

HUSBAND SAVED HIS WIFE

Stopped Most Terrible Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Denison, Texas.—"After my little girl was born two years ago I began suffering with female trouble and could hardly do my work. I was very nervous but just kept dragging on until last summer when I got where I could not do my work. I would have a chill every day and hot flashes and dizzy spells and my head would almost burst. I got where I was almost a walking skeleton and life was a burden to me until one day my husband's step-sister told my husband if he did not do something for me I would not last long and told him to get your medicine. So he got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking the first three doses I began to improve. I continued its use, and I have never had any female trouble since. I feel that I owe my life to you and your remedies. They did for me what doctors could not do and I will always praise it wherever I go."—Mrs. G. O. LOWERY, 419 W. Monterey Street, Denison, Texas.

If you are suffering from any form of female ills, get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and commence the treatment without delay.

FROM J. L. BURROWS.

To the Voters of Precinct No. 1: The time is drawing near when the people of this precinct will determine who shall fill the office of Constable of this precinct for the next two years, and I am writing this notice that my friends may be active in the remaining days of the campaign.

Because of an unfortunate accident which kept me at home for nearly a week, I have not had opportunity of presenting my claims as I would have been pleased to do, but am grateful to know that my friends have been kind enough to consider my interest.

Those who know my record as a peace officer and as an officer executing civil process can best speak as to my merits and capacity to fill this important office, as all for whom I have worked know that I am ever ready to answer the call of duty.

The people of this precinct have been kind to me in the past, for each time I have come before them as a candidate for this position they have registered their approval by large majorities, for which I am deeply grateful and appreciative.

If elected this time my one ambition shall be to execute the law fearlessly and without favor or prejudice, promising to fill the office as I have in the past, that no man shall have cause to regret a vote cast for me.

Gratefully yours,
J. L. BURROWS,

Candidate for Constable, Precinct No. 1, Nacogdoches County, Texas.

Hon. Geo. F. Rainbolt, tax collector of the county, has returned from an overland journey to New Orleans, which he made with a party of Garrison friends, composed of Messrs. Belton Latimer, Gordon Langston and A. C. Irwin, and talks interestingly of the trip. The party went via Shreveport and enjoyed fine roads, but returning they came back by Orange on which route they did not find such good travel. They suffered no car trouble, and the trip was practically a continuous round of pleasure and interesting sight-seeing. Mr. Rainbolt was particularly impressed with the old-time homes in Southern Louisiana, many of which were erected before the war and have been maintained in all their splendor and grandeur, owned mostly by rich farmers. Another interesting feature was noted in the negroes of Southern Louisiana speaking in French altogether.

ATTENDING STATE CONVENTION.

MARRY AT COURT HOUSE.

Mr. J. L. Reese of Alabama and Miss Rosa Chalker of this county were married at the court house at noon today, Judge Perrette officiating.

The happy couple left at 1:35 for LeCompte, Alabama, where they will make their future home.

J. D. Hearn, a good farmer living on the river near Etoile, sent to Judge Perrette four ears of corn which would make a creditable exhibit for a fair. The corn was grown on new ground without any fertilizer. In a note accompanying the corn Mr. Hearn says that he has fine crops of cotton, potatoes, artichokes, peas, Sudan grass, watermelons, popcorn, and a fine young orchard. With it all, he is living at home and boarding at the same place.

A SAD DEATH.

From Monday's Daily. Mrs. Dennis Edmunds died yesterday (Sunday) afternoon, following a short illness, and her remains were laid to rest in Oak Grove cemetery this morning, Rev. O. T. Hotchkiss, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating at the funeral service.

News of the death of this good lady caused a shock to her many friends over the city, who did not know that she was ill. She was a comparatively young woman, in the full enjoyment of health, and many hearts are made sad with the realization that she has been called hence by the Grim Reaper while in the prime of a useful life. Of beautiful christian character and lovable disposition, Mrs. Edmunds was universally loved and admired by those who knew her, and her untimely death has left vacant a place in the heart and affections of her young husband, her aged mother and three sisters, together with a great host of friends, a place that can never be filled.

Mrs. Edmunds was married to Dennis Edmunds some four years ago, and in her death a devoted young husband has been robbed of a loving young wife, and in consequence the world now looks dark and dreary to him, but a great host of friends will enter into profound sympathy with him, and great healer of all wounds, Father Time, together with a Kind Providence who doeth all things well, will comfort him along the way. These same friends will also sympathize with the aged mother and sisters left behind, and attend them in their hours of bereavement.

Deputy Sheriff Garrett Vaught of Garrison was a visitor to the city yesterday afternoon. Mr. Vaught was elected constable of his precinct, over two opponents, in the recent primary which is the best endorsement of the splendid peace officer he is making for his people.

IT HAPPENED IN NACOGDOCHES.

And Is Happening to Nacogdoches People Every Week.

The case told below is not an uncommon thing. The same occurs frequently and will continue to happen as long as folks have kidneys and overtax the kidneys.

A. D. Holt, truck farmer, Nacogdoches, says: "I had to get up many times at night to pass my kidney secretions and they scalded. I also had pain in my back and loins. Whenever I have had such trouble, I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always given me relief."
