PROMINENT OIL MEN VISITING HERE TODAY

Messrs. J. W. Lynch and J. I. Campbell of Fort Worth; W. B. Mann of Dallas, and W. H. McFadden of Ponca City, very prominent in the oil circles over the state are spending today in the city in connection with the oil business over the county.

Mr. Mann is a frequent visitor here and well acquainted with the oil situation here, and the gentlemen accompanying him on this trip are associates with him in the oil business.

There have been a great many visitors here in the past several days looking over the oil situation and several companies have become financially interested but information as to what these companies are intending doing is not ready to be made public just at present.

Last week representatives of one of the largest companies preparing to do work at Oil City made an urgent visit to Houston, reporting that their visit to that city had to do directly with the work now being carried on in the oil fields, but stated that their company had not fully determined as to just what extent they would interest themselves in the fields, but would have information to give out upon their return. It was stated however, that at least two or three wells would be sunk there soon by this company.

The Sentinel is endeavoring to get a full report of the exact amount of work now being carried on up there and will no doubt in a few days have exact information at hand which we will be pleased to publish for the benefit of local readers.

The Fashion for Spring, 1918. Now Being Shown at Mayer & Schmidt's in Every Department

In opening our Spring season with this brilliant showing of authentic and timely clothes models, we might add for your guidance that the belted ideas and and pleated backs will not be shown this season, by request of the government for conserving materials.

The military effect is in evidence for Spring and Summer; shoulders are slightly accutuated, chest high, waist line defined, skirt of coats a trifle more flared and little longer.

Mayer & Schmidt's clothes bear only the name of responsible makers, of known reputation for value-giving, which is your assurance of correctness and quality. Scores of the newest models have just arrived in the last few days. No better time than now could be suggested for a try-on.

You should see the many new Spring things that are displayed throughout the different departments in the store. Hats, Shirts, Neckwear, Shoes, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear, Millinery, Dress Coods, etc. Don't forget sale of Fancy Taffetas continues until Saturday night March 2nd

DEFENDANT IN CASE MAKES SPEEDY GET-AWAY

In yesterday afternoon's session of the District Court it was found that the defendant of the only case left for trial on the criminal docket, had suddenly "vamoosed" for parts unknown, in consequence of which the court adjourned for a period of a couple of weeks.

The defendant was Robert Lewis, a dusky gentleman, and District Clerk Normal B. Hall says that he was charged with "having unlawfully engaged in and pursuing the business and occupation of selling intoxicating liquors in local option territory."

Anyhow the defendant took to his heels and left the court to attend to its own business, and that body immediately instructed the sheriff's department to get hold of him and have him in safe keeping for future orders.

Answering the court's request, Deputy Sheriff Jackson Carnley, who always gets his man, got wind of the fact that he had drifted toward Cushing, and in the close proximity of that place located him and brought him back for further proceedings. As a result, his case has been set for Monday of the 7th week, at which time he will probably be tried for violation of the local option law.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend to the many friends of the family, who were so considerate, for their many kind expressions of sympathy and courtesies shown us in the death of our dear sweet wife and mother in these darkest hours of our afflictions. With our hearts bowed in deepest griefs, these urdens could not have been borne but for the sweet words of consolations and the helping hands of those who were considerate of the afflictions just now cast upon us. May the blessings of God rest upon you.

Mr. E. M. Weeks and Family.

MR. H. L. ANDERSON DIED AT DALLAS

Yesterday Mrs. Tom Goolsby received a message from Dallas stating that her father, Mr. H. L. Anderson, had died there at the Baptist Sanitarium yesterday morning, and Mrs. Goolsby left at once for Dallas.

The remains were shipped to Kaufman, Texas, where this afternoon they will be laid to rest in the cemetery at that place.

Friends of Mrs. Goolsby in Nacogdoches will deeply sympathize with her in the loss of her venerable father, and The Sentinel joins them in an expression of condolence.

By this statement we assume that the Lufkin postoffice will have to be moved out of the one corner of the lower story of the Masonic Lodge building within the next few years.

Every merchant and dealer in Nacogdoches county ought to immediately subscribe for the Daily Sentinel, and every family in our county ought to get a county paper and read it carefully each week.

The above is an advance copy of an editorial appearing in the Garrison News of this week, and The Sentinel bows with grateful thanks to the esteemed and progressive editor of that splendid paper.

With the appointment of Capt. Jno. F. Doughtie as Food Administrator for the city of Nacogdoches, County Administrator Walthall made a wise selection.

Though modesty prevents our "bragging" about the matter, The Sentinel feels like it can be forgiven for making the claim that this paper publishes more local news than any other daily of its size in probably the whole state.

NEW PRICE ON WHEAT CASTS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—President Wilson issued a proclamation yesterday fixing the price of wheat in the primary markets of the country at from $2 to $2.85 a bushel.

It figures out an approximate average 5 cents a bushel lower than the prevailing average price of $2.29 a bushel set by the government.

The proclamation after the usual preamble, reads: "Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, by virtue of the powers conferred upon me by act of congress, do hereby find that an emergency exists requiring stimulation of the production of wheat, and that it is essential that the products within the United States shall have the benefits of the guarantee provided for in said section; and, in order to make effective the guarantee by congress for the crop of 1918 and to assure such producers a reasonable profit, I do hereby determine and fix and give public notice of reasonable guaranteed prices for No. 1 Northern spring wheat and its equivalent at the respective principal primary markets as follows, to-wit: *****

Prices at Various Centers.—Chicago, Ill., $2.20 a bushel; Omaha, Neb., $2.15; Kansas City, Mo., $2.15; St. Louis, $2.18; Minneapolis, $2.17; Duluth, Minn., $2.17; New York, $2.28; Philadelphia, Pa., $2.27; Baltimore, Md., $2.27; Newport News, Va., $2.27; Charleston, S. C., $2.27; Savannah, Ga., $2.27; Portland Ore., $2.25; Seattle, Wash., $2.05; San Francisco, Cal., $2.10; Los Angeles, $2.20; Salt Lake City, Utah, $2; Great Falls, Mont., $2; Spokane, Wash., $2; Pocatello, Idaho, $2; Fort Worth, Texas, $2.09; Oklahoma City, Okla., $2.05; Wichita, Kan., $2.08.

Some men are so pessimistic that they spend their time wondering what would become of them if the sun should cool off, while others are equally doleful because they are afraid the world will come to an end and burn up while they are living.

WHEN THE HIGH COST OF LIVING WAS REALLY HIGH.

So great is the tendency of humanity to magnify present burdens to the mitigation of those that are past that we of the present day are rather under the temptation to regard the altitudinous grocery bill as a distinctly modern institution.

These prices were certainly bad enough, but there were worse days to come for Mrs. Adams and her contemporaries, for in 1779 sugar rose to four dollars a pound; and in 1780, a pound of butter brought twelve dollars at the market.

—In comparison with prices like these, our present-day prices are pretty reasonable after all.

—We might take this thought to our minds, however—that it is not at all impossible that the prices of the Revolution will prevail again before the end of this war unless a greater economy is practiced in the future than has been practiced in the past.

MISCELLANEOUS

+++ (By J. G.) +++

The Nacogdoches postoffice is now domiciled in its fine new building in the center of the square, which is handsome in all its appointments.

Quite a truthful point is shown in a cartoon from the St. Louis Star. It illustrates the fact that if Uncle Sam eats too much he will be afflicted with the gout in both feet—one being a long war, and the other defeat.

Some Americans are so narrow that they complain because Pershing's men have all they want to eat and do not observe meatless or wheatless days, etc., while they are forced to observe the rules.

Those declining to observe wheatless days are going to be the ones who will suffer now pretty soon.

We note from an exchange that the original Buster Brown, whose real name was Richard F. Outcault, Jr., went down on the ill-fated Tuscania.

The food administration has announced that there will be an ample supply of sugar during the coming season.

The "less" days have not yet extended to wearing apparel, but who knows but what it will?

It is reported that the bubonic plague has broken out in the Shanghai province of China and all north China is threatened.

At the present price of eggs it would seem that the hens of the country are observing Hoover's rules of economy.

Russia is going to get just what everybody but the Russians have expected—the double cross.

The country is developing many inventive geniuses now who claim to have an anesthetic for the infernal submarine, and as a consequence Secretary Lane is calling for more men to help in the patent office.

The meatless days have imposed no unreasonable demands upon anyone, and have saved 140,000,000 pounds of beef in the past four months.

Bolo Pasha, although under sentence of death, says that he feels perfectly tranquil, because he has "a thousand grounds for appeal."

It is announced that the first non-sinkable ship has sailed with a cargo. Wonder why the divel they didn't use the non-sinkable ship to transport troops with, instead of cargoes—on has food now reached that elevation of importance?

Washington announces that the war will last three more years. It is not probable, however, that these will be as hard on the nation as has the preceding one.

present organization it will be much easier on everyone concerned, provided that the farmers raise more foodstuff and less of the unnecessary articles.

According to this paper that bunch of Indians that drifted into this country the other day, gave the natives around Muhl quite a touch of ye olden times.

The president has now fixed a price on wheat to stimulate production.

The Bolshevik government was forced to accept the hard peace terms of Germany.

Spain now tries a come-back at America for holding ships bound for that country in port, recently, by holding French vessels on their way to this country in her ports now.

News from our southern neighbors, some of which perhaps, are undesirable, is to the effect that government agents are about to capture Villa again; there is excessive anti-American feeling in parts of Mexico;

The bureau of standards has evolved a machine which is designated to put a sample of shoe leather to the same test that it would experience in actual service.

Cat meat is now being advocated as a substitute. If all the other substitutes, which include rabbits, frog legs, etc., play out and we get down to the proposition of cat meat in East Texas—well it would be extravagant to use this meat anyhow, for it would take so much powder and shot to kill them, that wherewith shall the saving come?

It is estimated by marine corps officials that the use of tobacco by our troops in the trenches saves 25 to 30 per cent of food.

Clarence Ousley says that the south must feed herself next year or she will starve.

There is a prevailing idea that titles are very cheap in England now, and as for usefulness are worthless.

While the government is engaged with the embargo idea wonder why they don't include German propaganda?

Since pies are about to be on the taboo, and as we understand it the rolling pin is especially adapted to the production of this most-delicious line of appetite accelerators, we wonder what the female of the specie are going to do for instruments of warfare.

"Aviator Takes Bride Home Through Clouds," announces a headline. Very married couple do drift through the clouds for awhile.

The news reports say that a new dictator has been appointed in Russia. This estimable Russian will not be in it by the side of the German one that is on the way.

The dispatches announce that the Russians are offering resistance. So does a bird when charmed by a snake, but in all cases is very weak.

Why hens should be so unpatriotic as to quit laying at this present crisis in the nation's affairs is beyond us.

Another departmental row has escaped by a narrow margin—provided it does not make its appearance again.

The shortage of foodstuff is rapidly making itself felt all over the entire world. Possibly one of the most stricken places is the little Greek Island of Paxos, where the inhabitants are rapidly dying off with hydroemia, a fatal disease caused by malnutrition.

30,000,000 pounds of beans—the entire crop of California—has been confiscated by the United States government.

clouds for awhile. Both are delicious sensations if when they land they do not have to be picked up by their outer garments—which is very likely to be the case if friend wife has a rolling pin handy.

We are told that we may still eat candy and be patriotic. This multiplies the number of patriots in this country very materially.

Great American guns are at work on the battle front in Italy and France—and in the political battleground of our own dear country.

For the first time in many moons we find an official German who agrees in a small measure with the American president, in the utterances of German Chancellor Hertling in an address before the German reichstag the other day.

German agents have been caught trying to buy up the American supply of wool in this country and corner the world's supply.

Three hundred society women of New York have organized to teach the poor how to economize.

DOWN IN FOODVILLE.

It is rumored that the well-known partnership of Ham and Eggs is about to be dissolved.

Miss Sugar has gone into temporary seclusion. Her return is looked forward to with much interest.

Among the season's debutantes are Miss War Bread and Miss Rice. The latter has been known informally for some time.

It is hinted that Mr. Coffee will soon bow to fashion and take apartments in the Skyhigh.
