Bolsheviki Infantry Is No Match For Allies

GERMAN NAVY NO MATCH FOR THE ENGLISH

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Captain Persuis, a German naval expert in a lengthy article in the Berlin Tageblatt, says that the German navy was no match for the English navy, and that when the sailors mutinied last month and refused to go out and give battle when so ordered, that many lived were saved, and that the entire German navy was saved from destruction and rendered an invaluable service to their country.

GRUSOME FIND IN ANGELINA COUNTY.

Quite a gruesome story is published in yesterday's issue of the Lufkin News, concerning a former reputed citizen of Nacogdoches county, but from which this editor refrains from looking up the connection. It seems that a Lufkin real estate man was making a business trip by automobile somewhere in Angelina county, and on his trip, he was informed by a lady near Huntington, that it was said that a Mr. W. N. Rose of that community was reported to have a corpse on his premises which had not received the rites of interment. Mr. E. J. Conn, the real estate man, hurried on with his trip, and when he came back, he went up to the house of Mr. Rose, introduced himself, informed him of the rumor, and upon inquiry obtained the following facts: Mr. Rose said that he moved from Nacogdoches county several years ago to Huntington, and that on the 15th day of September, 1915, his little girl died; that she was never buried, but that he had kept the body in his possession, had moved the third time. The body had never been embalmed, only nature had been allowed to take its course during four years of decomposition. Mr. Rose gave as his excuse for holding the child the statement that he wished to bury the dead by the side of his mother in the city of Fort Worth, but that he was too poor to carry out his desire, and that he was still awaiting the time when this could be accomplished. Briefly these are the facts of the case. As for comment the following from the Lufkin News is apropos: "Mr. Conn departed with the information detailed above, leaving the Rose family as he found it, some of the children playing around the yard, and one of the smaller sisters sleeping her last, long sleep not far removed from the house, under a mass of weather-beaten boards, subject to removal of course at any time when those in charge of the little body see fit to sell off and wander away to other fields in search of greater pastures, when, too, her emaciated frame, the tenement of clay, would go to make up part of the caravan drifting aimlessly around until such time as they, too, would fall by the wayside."

(By Associated Press)

ARCHANGEL, Nov. 20.—The infantry attacks have been repulsed, the Bolsheviki forces along the Dvina today were bombarding the Russo-Allied positions on the left bank of the river at Tulgas. The allied artillery is replying vigorously.

Since late in December the Bolsheviki forces have been trying stubbornly, but fruitlessly, to drive the allied forces up the Dvina river to north of its junction with Viga. The small amount of ice in the river at this time of the year is helping the enemy gunboats.

The enemy apparently possesses a large amount of river craft upon which they have mounted naval guns brought from Petrograd. As long as the boats are able to move the Americans and the British are combatting great odds.

The enemy infantry, however, is no match for the allies; the Bolsheviki losses in killed wounded and captured being five times that of the allies.

Raising and lowering is done without rollers, belts or links; hence, there is no lost motion to cause trouble after planter has been used a few years. Seed plates are driven by one pair of beveled gears and action is positive at all times.

This planter can be fitted with regular cotton hopper or the famous Avery Single Seed Hopper. In changing hoppers you use only your bare hands.

GERMAN FLEET TO SURRENDER SOON

Plan Nearing Completion For the Approaching Peace Conference.

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Nov. 19.—The program for the surrender of the German fleet, as the result of the conference had between British and German naval authorities, is that the ships will leave the German ports Wednesday and will be taken over by the allies Thursday.

King George and the Prince of Wales will review the grand fleet on Wednesday. Later the fleet will sail for the rendezvous assigned for surrender ceremony.

Considering the surrender of the German ships to the allies, a German wireless message received here says that at a meeting of the U-boat crews at Wilhelmshaven, Nov. 15th, it was resolved to take the submarines out whenever the necessary orders were given.

The plan for the approaching peace conference are discussed prominently by some morning newspapers here, and according to the Daily Express the arrangements are nearing completion.

President Wilson plans to sail immediately after the opening session of congress on December 2nd, for Europe, to take part in the discussions and settlement of the main features of the peace treaty.

ALLIED SHIPPING LOSSES.

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Nov. 20.—Allied and neutral shipping losses in October totaled 93,000 tons, the British Admiralty announces. The British losses amounted to 84,000 tons.

Possibly there may be a question in the minds of some as to why the casualty list are yet being published, now that the war is over. This has been explained before, but for the benefit of those who may not have seen it, we will state that the war department is behind in making up the lists, and that they are then printed and mailed to the newspapers and held for release dates. The lists will continue to come until they have been cleared up—possibly some month or six weeks.

The casualties of the United States in the present war have been exceedingly light, comparatively speaking. As a matter of fact the death rate in the army has been lower than that in civilian life.

However, there has been many a boy to cross the waters to fight the battles of democracy who will not return. A golden star expresses its sad message in many a home, where a little mother has lost her boy. May the shining star remind her of the hope of the world and the cause of righteousness for which her son fought, and may she in some way be comforted by the knowledge that her sacrifice was for the cause of the Giver of Life, and may she gain consolation in the promise of the future home in heaven, where her golden star will shine again with all the radiant happiness that the Son of Man can bestow.

We wonder if the shortage of water in Lufkin has anything to do with the scarcity of houses in the city of Nacogdoches?

Success does not come; one must break one's way to it.

Of course the rabbit has other troubles, but he isn't subject to arrest for traveling without a tail light.—Ex.

Col. George M. Bailey of the Houston Post has disgraced the democratic party. Listen to what he says: "The Germans are going to hold an election in January. We will wait for that and then we can measure the amount of consideration they deserve by the size of the democratic majority they return." How could even so brilliant a satellite in the field of satire as Col. Bailey conceive of a democratic party in Germany?

Again the Sentinel must call attention to the fact that it cannot publish contributed articles which come in without a name signed to it. The name will be withheld if desired, but it is necessary that we know who the writer is. This is not a local rule, but prevails with all newspapers. Some worthy contributions come in this way, which of necessity have to be left out, whereas they would gladly be published if the signature was there.

WAR PROGRAM FOR ALL PUBLIC EATING PLACES IN AMERICA

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY FOOD ADMINISTRATOR.

General Orders Issued Covering Every Phase of Cooking Service and Conserving Foodstuffs.

The "War Program for Public Eating Places of America" has been announced by the United States Food Administration. It is released simultaneously over the United States, and the rules become enforceable October 21, 1918. The initial issue of the pamphlet, consisting of twelve pages, has been sent off in 250,000 booklets and shipments were made from Washington to the forty-eight cities of the United States where the Federal Food Administrators have their headquarters. Up to the announcement of a definite set of general rules governing public eating places, the program was somewhat nebulous and its application over the nation did not indicate so much a lack of uniformity as a variance in interpretation. The new rules embody twelve general orders. A failure to comply with any of the orders will be regarded as a willful practice forbidden by section 4 of the Food Control Act of August 16, 1917.

Conservation Necessary. A clearly defined conservation program in public eating places is necessary in view of the fact that enormous quantities of food are dispensed in these places and various conditions are leading the public to wastefulness. Public eating places—more than 1,000,000 are estimated to be in the United States. It is estimated that nearly 5,000,000 people eat at the public eating places of America—hotels, restaurants, boarding houses, clubs, dining cars, and so forth. The food consumption in these places is larger than in the average home.

The program in many particulars is more strict than last year. It does not embody anything but the plain sense of common sense. The plan is simply an appeal to the intelligence of the public eating places of America to work out for themselves the means and manner of saving. The twelve general orders which will govern all public eating places in food conservation after October 21 are as follows:

20 Per Cent Substitute. General Order No. 1: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing less than 20 per cent of wheat flour substitutes for about its weight of wheat flour.

General Order No. 2: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served bread, rolls, buns, or any other baked goods containing more than 25 per cent of wheat flour substitutes for about its weight of wheat flour.

General Order No. 3: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than one-half ounce of cheddar, commonly called American cheese.

General Order No. 4: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than one-half ounce of butter.

General Order No. 5: No public eating place shall use or permit the use of an amount of sugar in excess of one ounce for every ninety meals served, including uses of sugar on the table and in cooking, excepting such sugar as may be used in the preparation of cakes, puddings, or other confections for which this special purpose shall be used for any other purpose.

General Order No. 6: No public eating place shall burn any food or permit any food to be burned, and any meat that is saved to feed animals or reduced to obtain fat.

General Order No. 7: No public eating place shall destroy or permit to be destroyed any food or permit it to be destroyed, except as may be necessary for its use as a fertilizer.

General Order No. 8: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

General Order No. 9: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

General Order No. 10: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

General Order No. 11: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

General Order No. 12: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

General Order No. 13: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

General Order No. 14: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

General Order No. 15: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

General Order No. 16: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

General Order No. 17: No public eating place shall serve or permit to be served any food containing more than 20 per cent of butter fat.

The State of Texas. To the sheriff or any constable of Nacogdoches county, Texas, Greeting:

Whereas on the 2nd day of September, 1918, J. G. McLarty recovered in the district court of Nacogdoches county, a judgment against J. R. Payne for the sum of Two Hundred Fifty Seven, 62-100 ($257.62) Dollars, and costs of suit; and whereas, the said judgment is a foreclosure of a vendor's lien on the following described property, to-wit:

A certain tract of land situated in Nacogdoches County, Texas, about 15 miles northeasterly from the town of Nacogdoches, and bounded as follows:

"Beginning at the S. W. cor. of the L. Roscoe Survey of 100 acres in the East boundary line of the Henry Kroker survey from which a Bull Bay 14 in., brs. Clifton et al and recorded in Vol. 72, pages 347-8 Deed-Records of Nacogdoches County, Texas, as said Vendor's lien existed on the 1st day of February, 1913, and it is ordered and decreed by said judgment that said property be sold as under execution in satisfaction of said judgment, and if said property shall sell for more than sufficient to pay off and satisfy said sums of money, the excess should be paid over to the said J. R. Payne. But if said property should not sell for enough to pay off said sums of money, the balance due shall be made as under execution, and such order of sale shall have the force and effect of a writ of possession, and the officer executing same shall make a good and sufficient deed, to purchaser hereof and place the purchaser of said property in possession thereof within 30 days from date of sale.

Therefore, you are hereby commanded that you proceed to seize and sell the above described property, as under execution, and make good a sufficient deed, to purchaser hereof, and to place the purchaser of the same in possession thereof within 30 days after the day of sale, and you apply the proceeds thereof to the payment and satisfaction of $257.62 together with the interest that may be due thereon, and the further sum of $6.95, cost of suit, together with your legal fees and said sums of money, then you are hereby directed to pay over the excess thereof to the defendant, J. Given under my hand and the seal of the District Court of Nacogdoches County, at my office in Nacogdoches, this 2nd day of November, 1918.

AT THE BASE HOSPITAL, FT. SAM HOUSTON

Clean white beds, the very best of attention from the surgeons and nurses, and plenty of cheer-up consideration from the Army Y. M. C. A. secretaries make confinement at the base hospital as attractive as illness or injury can be made. Mothers and other relatives and friends with their beloved soldiers in the hospital can find comfort in the fact that their boys are not being neglected. The "Y" man supplements the regular ministrations of the military and the Red Cross with frequent and regular visits, bringing books, writing the patient's letters, and complying with his every wish as nearly as it is possible for him to do so. The Y. M. C. A. secretary in the picture is making his regular afternoon visit at the base hospital, distributing books to the soldiers.

When the soldiers reach the convalescent period, the "Y" furnishes movies, entertainment, and music for the convalescing soldiers.

THE MAN AT THE COUNTER

He is one of the busiest men in the world—the "Y" man at the counter. He is as much a part of the military scheme of things as "chow" and taps. At least the soldier thinks so. The counter is crowded all the time, and the man at the counter proves his versatility by answering a thousand varieties of questions, selling stamps, giving advice, distributing stationery, helping the boys send money home, passing out good cheer, handing out literature, and doing all the other things that a "Y" man is expected to do.

This is a typical counter scene in a Y. M. C. A. hut. The picture was taken at Camp Pike, near Little Rock, Ark., one of the large cantonments of the country.

TRIBUTE TO DR. ELLIS MAST.

Chireno, Tex., Nov. 11.—Dr. Ellis Mast was born at Melrose, 1879, where he grew to manhood. He attended the common schools at Melrose, was a close student, and laid deep the foundation which promised his future usefulness. Graduated at Barnes Medical College May the 4th, 1904, and settled in the beautiful village of Chireno to practice his chosen profession.

Dr. Mast married Miss Lera Hall, Dec. 30th, 1903. He enjoyed an extensive practice and a beautiful home, where love and happiness reigned supreme until death called him to his reward.

Dr. T. A. Mast (brother) stayed with him day and night. Drs. W. K. Freeman, Blackwell, Clark and Cannon were summoned to his bedside but the case baffled the skill of these distinguished physicians. All was done that love and tender hands could do. Pneumonia followed influenza, and on the morning of Oct. 30th, surrounded by his wife, sister, father, mother and a host of friends, his spirit took its flight to its eternal abode. He was 39 years old.

He was an enterprising, wide-awake citizen, always on the side of right and justice.

As a neighbor we knew him for we lived by him 13 years. There might be others as good.

As a physician he had a large practice and was respected and loved by all who knew him.

He joined the Masonic Lodge at Chireno when a young man, and lived up to the teachings and tenets of the order, and exemplified his fealty and devotion to Masonry until he died.

He served the Lodge as Junior Warden and Worshipful Master. He was buried with Masonic honors at the Chireno cemetery Oct. 31st, surrounded by a large company of friends and loved ones.

While we deposited his body in the silent tomb, ever remembering that the dust shall return to the earth as it was, and the spirit shall return unto the God who gave it, we expect to meet him in the Resurrection Morn. We weep not and mourn not as those who have no hope. His voice is forever silenced, we will never again meet him in open lodge but thank God we can meet him in the Celestial Lodge above, where heart aches will never come and partings will be no more.

Rev. L. F. Smith read a few passages of scripture and delivered one of the most intellectual and logical talks we ever heard delivered by mortal man.

To his widow and loved ones you have our sympathy in this, your sad hour of trouble.

We can only point you to the blessed Son of God who alone can soothe your troubled hearts. The rose with its petals has blossomed and flown.

The doctor with his good deeds is dead and gone His memory we revered and were we to part, But we cherished his kind deeds with a loving heart.

Though his body is buried and is mouldering to dust, His name is untarnished and never will rust.

May his name live on and never be forgotten, Until his body is raised from that lonely spot.

Weep not for him who has gone before For many a time you have opened the door

To comfort and minister to his weary frame.

Though he is gone love the same. Loath were we to part.

Resolved that we send a copy of these resolutions to the county papers and wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

C. G. HOLLAND,

LUFKIN WATER.

We understand that Lufkin is having water hauled in cars from Nacogdoches, to supply the E. & W. railroad engines. Wonder why they did not ask Livingston to furnish them water. We have plenty of it now, and we are confident that it is much better water than that furnished by the town of Nacogdoches.—Livingston Enterprise.

Speaking elsewhere of the Lufkin water supply, the Enterprise says that he is familiar with the Lufkin water of old, having taken a bath in that city once upon a time and came out in worse shape than he went into it. At any rate the Lufkin water supply is a joke, and the Aqua Vitae of Nacogdoches may yet be the "water of life" for Lufkin inhabitants. (Not our famous miniature artesian.)

THE RETURNING SOLDIERS.

Not far distant in the future the soldiers are going to begin coming home—proud, triumphant, brave lads, with the knowledge of duty well done, will again take their places at absent posts. There will be a change in these lads. There will be a new determination in their hearts, and new hope will shine in their eyes. They have seen humanity a molten mass in the cauldron of German steel. They have placed themselves in the service of a righteous cause and have met and conquered. Now they're coming home again. Let a reception be tendered that will in a small way be worthy of the sacrifices they have made. Let us make them feel that we have a place for them and a work for them to do.

It has not been announced by the government in just what way, and in what proportion the two million men in France will be demobilized, or when. The million or more in this country will be discharged very soon.

There is going to be some slight confusion of course, with the return of so many men to the trades and professions, and the thousands of others, including many women, who will want to keep their places, but this will no doubt be minimized by a systematic handling of them by the government.

Great Britain has already announced her plan providing for the soldiers, and intends that everyone of them shall have employment. Pensions will be allowed for a certain time after discharge, and a great many of them will be placed in the civil service. Britain has more soldiers by far in the field than the United States, and it is reasonable to assume that the United States will do as good or better by her boys than England.

Give the soldier boys a just priority, make them feel that they are welcome, and that we appreciate the sacrifices that they have made for us.

A large Bremen newspaper says that Marshall Foch—has been murdered, that the English navy is flying the red flag, that Japan has declared war on the United States, and several other things too numerous to mention. This from a newspaper uncensored by the German government! Let us try an allied censorship.

NACOGDOCHES CO. MEMORIAL WAR SAVING SOCIETY REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER

Now that the great world war is practically over, many of our good citizens will doubtless be thinking of a suitable and lasting way by which we may express our appreciation for the brave Nacogdoches county boys who gave their lives for the cause of universal freedom. It is a just pride that no county in the State of Texas, and perhaps no section of the United States, population considered, furnished more young men for service than our county. Certainly those boys who have lost their lives in the defense of liberty, and those also who left business and home to fight our battles while we were made secure in the comforts of home, should be remembered in a substantial and enduring manner. I am taking the liberty therefore of suggesting that with the return of peace and normal business conditions we should take steps to erect in the city of Nacogdoches a great and permanent edifice to be known as "Nacogdoches County Memorial Hall," on the corner stone of which should be placed the names, first, of the men who lost their lives in the great war; second, that this be followed by a complete list of all those who have been in the armed service of the nation during the war. This great and permanent building could have an auditorium for meetings of public character and for which we now have no adequate or suitable place. Then it might also have rooms in which relics of the county historic value may be kept, and provision also for a good public library for all the county. It seems to me that we should take steps to put this matter under way while it is upon the hearts of the people, and not allow the lapse of time to dull or feelings and make us forget the high and holy privilege of remembering our heroes in a substantial and worthy manner. I would suggest that the citizens think of this memorial and that we have a mass-meeting, to which delegates from the entire county shall be invited and at which the nature of the memorial shall be determined.

Sincerely,
M. C. JOHNSON.

Judge J. C. Box, congressman-elect from this end of the district, viz. Jacksonville, visited Beaumont Saturday, as the guest of a company of citizens of that city, was shown the deep water project and plans for the development of that port. According to a local paper of that city, the congressman seems to have been "converted." Well enough and good, but we believe that Judge Box will ably represent the whole of the district.

GERMAN PROPAGANDA WORKS IN THE U. S.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Government agents see evidence that the German propaganda machinery in the United States is again being put in working order to promote a sentiment of leniency toward Germany in the peace terms.

A concerted movement is apparent, officials say, in the utterances of many individuals and a few organizations formerly active for German interests, and some newspapers.

CHAPLAIN WRITES OF THOS. PLEUCKER'S DEATH

The following letter has been received by Mr. August Pleucker, from Chaplain M. Wallace, Base Hospital No. 17, A. E. F., concerning the last hours of his brother, who died of pneumonia in France, Sept. 13.

"A few days ago your brother, Thomas R. Pleucker, Machine Gun Co., 64th U. S. Infantry, was brought to this hospital on account of pneumonia. Here he secured every care and attention that he could have received in any hospital at home. But, as you have doubtless been informed already, the end came on the 13th inst.

Your brother was a true soldier, patient and brave in his illness, and he passed to his reward in peace. His body was buried in the cemetery near the hospital, a beautiful place. The grave is properly marked and will be well cared for. Whatever personal effects your brother may have left will be forwarded to the Effects Section of the army in France.

You will kindly convey our regards and sincere sympathy to your mother in her sorrow. May the Heavenly Father bless and comfort you all and hasten the day of victory for our country and peace for the world.

Yours very truly,
MAC H. WAI LACE.

Thomas R. Pleucker was born and raised in this county. He was born July 5, 1892, making him 26 years of age. He has a host of friends in this community who were made sad with the news of his death, and who deeply sympathize with his loved ones behind. It is indeed gratifying to his relatives and friends to know that everything possible was done for him. He died like a man in the service of his country, having given his all that justice and righteousness might be saved to the world.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that stands with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I bought a bottle and I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays, under the stress of their time and strength, the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as is the case to Mrs. Worthline.
