THE EXPERIMENT STATION

The superintendent of our experiment station received in his mail last Monday morning the following letter from a farmer and stockman living at Chita, Trinity county, which shows the interest taken by farmers in distant counties in the work being done on the station at Nacogdoches:

"Dear Mr. McNess: Just to let you know that I very greatly appreciate your kindness to me on my visit to your station, and thank you sincerely for your consideration and help. Give your good wife my regards, and thank her for me for the excellent dinner that I appreciate very much. I was glad to get home and off the road, as it was so hot and dusty. It is very hot today and the thunder is muttering around so that we may get a shower before night. I hope so, as rain is badly needed here. Again thanking you and wishing you all success, I am, very respectfully yours, H. I. Phillips."

In reply to this letter from Mr. Phillips I wish to say to the farmers and stockmen of Nacogdoches that Mr. Phillips' interest in the station is very much appreciated. The purpose of the station is to experiment with various crops and stock raising, making the best use of the land and the best use of the crops and stock. It is the hope of the station that the farmers and stockmen of Nacogdoches will be interested in the work being done on the station and will be able to benefit from the results of the experiments.

TEXAS COMPANY'S RIGHTS UPHELD BY MEXICAN COURT

Mexico City, Aug. 31.—Officials of the Mexican Department of Commerce were enjoined by the Supreme Court last night from denouncing the rights to oil lands held by the Texas Company prior to May 1, 1917.

The Texas Company appealed to the court for a preliminary certificate to be issued the holder of the land claimed pending the issuance of the pre-emption papers. This action was taken to prevent the government from denouncing the claims of the company. If the other companies which brought similar actions are victorious, it is believed the decisions will constitute the court's definition of Article 27 and its interpretation of the article as being non-retroactive, and that claims to oil lands held before May 1, 1917, cannot be questioned.

RAIN IN WEST TEXAS
San Angelo, Texas, Aug. 31.—Slow rains began falling last night and continued today, breaking a two-months drouth in sections of West Texas.

DEFICIENCIES TO FOLLOW

The country is now being studied with the stories from Washington of how the White House has ordered a $600,000,000 cut in government expenses, how the house committee is increasing the cut and how the war taxes are being repealed. All of which, if true, deserves to make a tax-weary country thrill.

But thus far all of these "cuts" have been in the form of promises. There has been no material evidence that expenses have been reduced beyond the point indicated months ago. Indeed, Senator Borah's bill to reduce the army from 150,000 to 100,000 as part of the economy plan was shooed off. Departments are still maintaining the staffs which they had and the government continues to spend millions a day.

Now there cannot be any reduction in government expense unless government expense is reduced. There can be no honest repeal of taxes if they are lifted from one pair of shoulders and placed on another pair. Taxes can not be reduced unless expenses are reduced and of this latter there has been no convincing evidence.

The country is in entire sympathy with a sincere effort to reduce the cost of government. It cannot see why the government must now spend five times as much as when the country went to war. When heads begin to fall at Washington, when payrolls actually are cut, when expenses really are reduced, then will the country take heart that perhaps at last the burden is going to be lightened, but until that evidence is furnished the suspicion lingers that a reduced appropriation now means an increased deficiency later.

THE THIN GRAY LINE

Announcement from Savannah, Ga., that if the Confederate States' Veterans hold a reunion in 1923 in that city, it will be the last gathering of the men now known as the "thin gray line" who fought with Lee and Jackson and Longstreet, has a touch of the pathetic. The reunion of this line is so far off that it is a year, but it is not a year away, it is a generation away.

Spain, it seems, comes in layers, each succeeding city in turn built on the ruins of the old.

When successive waves of invasion sweep over there came to be carved in time a new Beth-Shan on the ruins of the old.

The relics which will be brought to light through this excavation will tell a unique story of progress of many days covering a period of more than 10,000 years.

DEATH FOR KIDNAPERS

Representative Sigel of New York has introduced a bill in the house which would make the kidnaping of children a federal offense, punishable by death.

The kidnaper deserves no mercy. He plots deliberately against innocent and defenseless childhood, and through the child strikes untold agony into the hearts of its parents, hoping, in the vast majority of cases, to reap money from that agony.

If he commits his crime because he is mentally unbalanced, he should be sent where no chance can be taken of such weakness to menace society again. If he is sane and merely mercenary or revengeful, far more certainly he should be put out of the way.

There is no doubt that crimes against children are on the increase in this country. Present measures for the protection of childhood being inadequate, it is time more strenuous treatment was tried.—Shreveport Journal.

WOMAN AT TENAHA WAS MOBBED BY WOMEN

Mothers at Tenaha were the ones who tarred and feathered Mrs. Benajah Johnson there several weeks ago. The men of the village had nothing to do with the matter.

That is a statement made Friday by J. T. McCulley by a young woman who arrived in Houston Friday morning from the town that gained statewide publicity as the result of the tarring and feathering of a woman, which was laid at the door of the Ku Klux Klan.

"The story the woman told me was a unique one, but the manner in which she told it led me to believe it," McCulley said. "She stated that the woman had been seen in company of boys as young as 14 years. The boys' mothers banded together at the time of one of their number and threatened themselves to make a mob, which was the result of the tarring and feathering of the woman."

ed. Perhaps it is the organization that is to be blamed in that instance.

There is no doubt that the boys' mothers banded together at the time of one of their number and threatened themselves to make a mob, which was the result of the tarring and feathering of the woman."

Gradually the cities must hope to have fewer and fewer instances of excitement over minor matches.

However, anyone with a square foot of elderberry pie under his belt isn't worrying about Mexico.

Maxim Litvinoff says Russia is not asking the world for advice. Probably not. It isn't very filling.

Is Colonel Harvey emulating Admiral Sims at the present time, or is Admiral Sims emulating Colonel Harvey?

Maybe Jack Dempsey didn't want to go to France to fight because he had a hunch as to the size of the car.

Former Emperor Charles may ask the League of Nations to restore his throne, but how does he know it has not been chopped up for firewood.

Viscount Northcliffe declares President Harding our handsomest executive. But who ever imagined that he might be confused with Lincoln?

No reports to the contrary having been published, it may be presumed that the pumpkin pie crop will be as bountiful as in the past.

This seems to be the week-end when the president will hunt up another place to play his cow pasture pool.

The Ku Klux Klan has taken over a college at Atlanta with the idea perhaps, of taking a course in what constitutes real Americanism.

A recess of congress will enable Col. Coolidge to devote himself once again exclusively to making the fried cakes.

A New York doctor says that as civilization progresses, women grow uglier. Maybe that is why so many men persist in acting like neuters.

The trouble with sunny is that instead of making you warm, the sun simply makes you hot when the sun is shining.

Domestic Economy is Easily Learned

YOU can take a free lesson every, day simply by reading the advertising columns of this paper.

No matter how well you run your home--or your business--it can be done better and more economically. The advertisements teach efficiency in buying. They show you the cheapest and best markets.

They help make housework lighter by telling about the newest conveniences and labor-saving devices. The merchant or business man can get a good line on a thousand and one things that will help him materially.

No home and no business can progress by standing still. The advertisements help you keep up with the bandwagon.

If you want a real lesson in economy,

The advertisement about cut to power has struck a chord.

The tax question: Where does congress get out, and why?

Peace in Ireland still seems to be a long way from Tipperary.

Russia no doubt is pretty well fed up on Lenin, in a manner of speaking.

There probably is plenty of food for thought in Russia for Bill Hayward.

Postmaster General Hays might apply his "let's go" slogan to the well-known mails.

It is indeed a news item that President Harding is spending next Sunday in Washington.

That lawyer in Texas who was tarred and feathered by three masked men probably objected.

The soviet authorities have decided to take a chance on letting some of the starving eat.

A meat profiteer's customer realizes from looking into his pocketbook that it is a short life.

However, there are famine victims in Russia who possibly can not remember when it ever was a feast.

The Liles Grain and Feed Store Burned

A fire broke out in the Liles Grain and Feed Store in Nacogdoches, Texas, on Monday, September 19.

The fire boys, as usual, made a quick run to the fire, but they soon discovered that they could do nothing because the fire had spread over the building almost instantly.

Mr. Liles was in the building about an hour before the fire and he said there were no signs of fire then. He says the hay in the building took fire from spontaneous combustion.

Mr. Liles had $6,000 insurance and estimates his loss at $8,000. He will rebuild at once and in the meantime his many friends and customers will find him at the grocery store of French & Bradley.

The fire also destroyed two box cars and a telephone pole and damaged the warehouse of the Cameron Lumber Company.—Kaufman Herald, 25th.

The many Nacogdoches friends of Mr. Liles greatly sympathize with him in his loss.

Some Hot in San Augustine

Everyone in San Augustine realizes that it has been excessively hot for the past week, but didn't know it was hot enough to pop corn on the stalk.

Mr. Ed Alvis had occasion a few days ago to go into his garden for a few ears of popcorn for his children and discovered that all of it was nearly ruined by having popped on the cob, under shuck and all. Some hot! —San Augustine Tribune.

WALKER GIVES ACCOUNT OF DIRIGIBLE DISASTER

Howden, England, Aug. 25.—Norman Walker, the sole American survivor of the ZR-2, today gave the Associated Press the first circumstantial account of the disaster which destroyed the great superdirigible and every American member of the crew except himself. He said that, finding the parachutes taken by British members of the crew, he and three Englishmen climbed out on the fabric forward of the tail cup after the ship broke in halves. Shortly before his part of the ship struck the water he jumped, landing in shallow water.

LIKE VERSAILLES TREATY

Washington, Aug. 26.—Full title to all the "rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages" specified for the United States under the unratified treaty of Versailles was reaffirmed in the separate treaty with Germany signed yesterday. The separate treaty recognizes the claim of the United States to these benefits and at the same time disavows on the part of the United States any responsibility for the provisions of the League of Nations covenant, the Shantung settlement or political realignments in Europe.

TWO MASKED BANDITS HOLD UP KATY TRAIN

Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 25.—Two men held up northbound M. K. & T. train No. 4, about 15 miles south of Denison early this morning, according to a message received by the road's chief dispatcher here. The masked bandits boarded the mail car as the train was leaving Bells and immediately covered the mail clerk. They rifled several mail pouches, slashing open a number that they thought contained the greatest amount of valuables.

Make Rich Haul

Denison, Texas, Aug. 25.—One of the seven pouches of registered mail obtained by the two bandits who robbed the Katy Limited here early this morning is said to have contained $400,000. Officials are checking the losses.

SCHOLASTIC APPORTIONMENT

Our county superintendent of school has been officially notified that the scholastic apportionment for the coming year has been fixed at $13 per capita. Last year it was $14.50. The governor has promised the state school superintendent that he will approve the state aid bill. In this connection it is well to state that state aid will be limited. In cases where teachers holding second grade certificates are now receiving salaries of as much as $100 no state aid will be accorded. The same is applicable to holders of first grade certificates who receive salaries of $150 or more and to holders of permanent (life) certificates receiving $175 or more. Where holders of these certificates are already receiving the salaries named, it will be useless to apply for state aid.

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF LITTLE BABE

McKinney, Texas, Aug. 29.—Mrs. Dessie Keyes, charged with implication in the killing of the 5-months-old daughter of W. T. Aven, was arrested at the home of her father at Wyle late yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Bob Buchanan of Waco, who returned to McLennan county with his prisoner. Mrs. Keyes was released at Waco under bond on charges of implication in the death of Leslie Keyes, her husband, and Mrs. Maud Aven, mother of the Aven baby. The third charge on which she was arrested yesterday, followed the finding of poison in the stomach of the child, who died a few days after the death of her mother.

FIVE MEN FALL IN WEST VIRGINIA ENCOUNTER

State Police Headquarters, Ethel, W. Va., Aug. 29.—Five men fell in an encounter early yesterday morning between an armed band and state troopers on Black Creek, Logan county, near the Logan-Brook county line, Captain J. R. Brooks, commanding state police and deputy sheriffs, reported Sunday afternoon. There was much shooting on either side, he said. Whether all of the men who fell were killed, Captain Brooks was unable to state. He added that after his men had seen those who had fallen picked up and carried away by their companions, the state troopers and deputies retired because some of their number were in civilian clothes and it was difficult to distinguish them from the men composing the armed band.

He declared nearly 5,000 robed klansmen participated in the ceremonies.

WEST VIRGINIA'S TROUBLE

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

(By J. E. Mayfield, M. D.)

"We entertain angels unawares," and start affairs unintentionally. Old people have spent their entire lives in hearing of the wonderful Falls, but never saw them. People live in Big Texas and hardly know a thing about it, or live near the famed Alamo and never saw inside it, or cared a thing about it.

There are aged people who have spent ages at or near the town of Nacogdoches, but can't show the site of the wonderful prehistoric mounds in the heart of the town, or concerned themselves about them, nor about the sites of noted dwellings, or their historic occupants, or notable locations in the town, or other sites or points of peculiar interest, by honored names worthy of memory.

Where is Forbes Hill and what about the name? Who was Forbes? As to Irion Hill, who was Irion? And the Burrows bridge or the Walker old field and the homestead thereon. The old and only Marion road is forgotten.

Col. Clark's venerable homestead once included a grave yard on the high hill above the house where Judge Blake had kinfolks buried, named Hamilton or Harris, or both.

The city block, now called the Walker addition, was long known as the Clark lot, being the home of Judge Amos Clark, an early day lawyer who came from Vermont and was highly esteemed and was a sympathizer with the Southern Confederacy, as were all the many good Northern men who lived here.

Judge Clark had but one child, who became the wife of Richard S. Walker, a most highly respected lawyer, who took over the homestead after Judge Clark's death. Dr. Amos Clark Walker of Fort Worth is the son of Judge R. C. Walker.

But let the name Walker stand because of its honorable source, and honored representatives. The two Walker boys made good, but they are nearing the end now, both being quite infirm, and full of years. Their love for their boyhood homestead was always a sacred sentiment and they seemed to maintain for it a childish fondness, though the pathways of their manhood took them from it. It was the home from which they went away to school in the University of Virginia, and to which they returned, only to leave again for the vocations of manhood. John C. Walker became a member of the law firm of Waul & Walker, in Galveston. Dr. A. S. Walker went to Rockdale, but later to Fort Worth, where he had a high rank as a surgeon and operated an infirmary.

The interesting history of the old Walker dwelling has heretofore been written up. When torn away about fifteen years ago it had been standing about 100 years. It was the native home of the noted Vital Flores. Such memories are sad and sacred to participants.

RESIDENCE BURNED

About 11:45 Friday night the new, neat five-room Bungalow on Forbes Hill owned by L. E. Dennis and occupied by J. R. Mahaffey was totally destroyed by fire of undetermined origin. The house was but recently completed. Mr. Mahaffey lost all his household effects, upon which he carried a policy for $800 in a company represented by Geo. P. Matthews. The building was insured for $1,000 in the Sublett agency.

The burned building was situated half a mile outside the fire limits, and although the company responded promptly there was little that could be done except to watch it go up in smoke.

Congress might compromise the thing and pass a law that beer for medicine must be taken in a capsule.

COTTON BELT LUMBER CO. WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The burning of the entire plant of the Cotton Belt Lumber Company in this city Wednesday afternoon was one of the most spectacular fires witnessed here for quite a while. The blaze started in the shaving room, it is said, and in a remarkably short time was entirely beyond control, the fire company being unable to cope with the conflagration which rapidly spread until the planer, dry kiln, the mill proper and even all the lumber on the yard was totally consumed, together with three box cars on the railway track, two of which were loaded with lumber.

Shortly after the calamity, for such it was, Mr. Steve Pounds, manager of the plant, could not give a definite estimate of the loss, which he says will amount to between $40,000 and $50,000, which was only partially covered with insurance, but which would not even cover the loss of lumber on the yard, which was about 1,225,000 feet. The long continued dry weather rendered everything on the premises an easy prey to the flames which raged unchecked until every vestige of property went up in smoke. Hundreds of people, in cars and on foot, gathered about the scene only to deplore the havoc wrought.

The burning of the mill is quite a financial loss to Senator I. D. Fairchild, the owner, who was attending to his official duties at Austin, and his many friends regret the unfortunate circumstances very much. It is a distinct loss to the town and community, as many laborers employed at the plant and in the woods getting out timber are now thrown out of employment. In the absence of the owner, future plans have not been learned, although it is probable that later a larger and better mill will take the place of the one that has just been destroyed.—Lufkin News.

MRS. PENMAN COMPLIMENTED

Mrs. F. R. Penman, of Nacogdoches, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Thiel, was charmingly complimented Thursday evening when Mrs. B. F. Teague, arranged a most enjoyable picnic at the Brenham Gun and Rod Club's country home in her honor.

The wonderful moon was at its most brilliant time, and the silvery rays shone upon the woods and trees and glorified the waters of the lakes and big natatorium. The swimming in the deep and clear pool of water was exhilarating, and the coolness was quite in contrast to the heat of the summer night.

Supper was served picnic fashion under the spreading trees, and daintily prepared and seasonable dishes were appreciated, especially by those who had been in swimming.

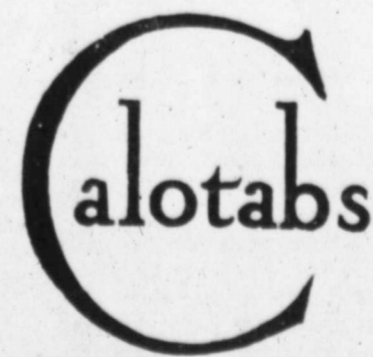

Games were played and there was happy conversation, with all reminiscences leading to the past when Mrs. Penman as Miss Tempie Barnhill was conceded to be one of Brenham's most attractive girls. She still holds her place among her friends and they never fail to welcome her gladly when she revisits the old home.

Among the social affairs given in honor of Mrs. Penman were a lawn reception at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. Thiel, a fishing trip to the lock and dam on the Brazos and a swimming party at Rocky.—Brenham Daily Banner-Press.

BRAZOS IMPROVEMENT IS INADVISABLE AT PRESENT

Washington, Aug. 29.—Improvement by the federal government on the Brazos river and its tributaries in Texas to provide adequate protection from flood is inadvisable at present, according to a report of army engineers transmitted today to congress by Secretary Weeks.

TRADE TRIPPERS JAUNT

The Trade Trip to Mt. Enterprise last Friday was pronounced by those who took part in it as a success in every way. Thirteen cars made the trip and while the Sentinel man failed to get a list of those who attended he learns that there were 52 people in the party, among these were Mrs. A. H. Smith, Mrs. T. D. Hill and Mrs. Holloway Muller.

When the party reached Mt. Enterprise at 1 p. m., they made a social call on each business house in the city and in that way met in person each employe and every farmer who happened to be in town.

After this round of handshaking a meeting was held in the Merchants and Planters State Bank of which Tom Arnold, Sr., is president, where brief addresses were made by H. L. McKnight, Captain Sturdevant, Dr. Lacy and Roland Jones for the visitors and by Don Langston, Mr. Turner, Jake Westfall, Webb March for the local people.

The question the Mt. Enterprise people are most interested in is the completion of the Stone Fort Highway through to the Rusk county line to connect up with the Rusk county link of this highway. The contract for the completion of the road through Rusk county has been let and work will begin immediately. The Mt. Enterprise folks assured their visitors that this road would be used freely by the Rusk county people.

Everyone who made the trip returned in high praise of the fine spirit and hospitality of the good people of the fine old community.

The closing feature of the affair was a watermelon feast provided for by the Mt. Enterprise bank.

Sheriff Woodlan received a tip and went to Cushing Saturday night, capturing a moonshine still and arresting and bringing to jail a man named Mason. The sheriff refuses to "lay off" violators of the prohibition laws, in which determination he will be upheld by all decent citizens.

MORE REPUBLICAN INCONSISTENCY

President Wilson's failure to appoint any outstanding republican as a member of the American peace commission at Paris drew forth indignant charges from the republicans that the president was partisan and had tried to make the whole war a democratic enterprise.

In a gathering of world powers at which America as a nation was to be represented they declare that party affiliation of members of the commission should not be considered, or if considered, the commission should fairly divided between the parties.

Having seen so clearly the error of such a policy, it would not seem that they would come along in a short time afterward and commit the same blunder, yet if forecasts of the personnel of the American membership of the coming disarmament conference be correct, they are going to exhibit worse partisanship than Mr. Wilson was ever charged with.

Mr. Underwood is said to be the only democrat to be scheduled for a seat at the conference. No fault can be found with Mr. Underwood as an appointee for the conference. The president has unquestionably chosen from the best the democrats have. His selection of republicans, for that matter, are not open to question, with the possible exception of Senator Knox, whom Americans cannot visualize as taking part in any affair with humanitarian or altruistic aims.

But, if the republican critics of Mr. Wilson were sincere, why are they silent when a republican president goes to far greater lengths in partisanship? Why do they not insist upon equal representation at the disarmament conference as well as at the peace conference?

Is it America that is to sit in at the conference of nations to consider disarming, or is it the republican party? the county may reasonably ask.—Houston Post.

TO EXPLORE OCEAN'S DEPTHS

British Government Contemplating an Expedition for the Gathering of Scientific Information.

The British government is contemplating the dispatch of a deep-sea exploring expedition which is expected to gather much valuable scientific information. Most people imagine that the depths of the ocean have been pretty thoroughly explored, but this is very far from being true. As a matter of fact, only a very small fraction of the whole area of deep sea bottom has been surveyed. Attention is particularly called to a vast subaqueous region around the Falkland Islands and up as far as Montevideo, which is almost unknown, and which, having a depth of less than 100 fathoms, may offer opportunities for the development of lucrative fisheries.

The first deep-sea exploring expedition, that of the famous Challenger, was set on foot just 50 years ago. The ship left port in 1872, and ideas on the subject were in those days so primitive that there was dispute as to whether she should use wire or hempen rope for soundings. It took a whole day to make one sounding, or a single cast of the dredge for bringing up fishes and other animals.

Since then deep-sea sounding apparatus has been much improved by cable ships, and fishing gear has been greatly modified by steam trawlers, which use dredges. Besides, a great deal that is of value has been learned by oceanographic expeditions subsequent to that of the Challenger. Hence the new exploring vessel will start out with a prospect of accomplishing a very great deal of work of real importance.

TOO MUCH FOR SMALL MINDS

Childish Messengers Have Hard Time Remembering Names of Books They Are Sent For.

"I want 'Resurrection in the Parks,'" demanded a little chap of the librarian at the West Indianapolis branch library. "My brother said for me to get it for him."

The librarian did not wish to let the little chap know she was puzzled. She knew it was something that went on in the parks that the boy wished. The "resurrection," she decided, might be "recreation," and that was what she suggested. "That's it," smiled the little chap. "I knew I had that word wrong."

Librarians often deal with little brothers and sisters who are running errands for big brothers and sisters in high school. When one of the tots asked the librarian at the West Indianapolis branch for "Europe's Fables," the librarian smiled, for that was simple to translate into "Aesop's Fables." It was different when another asked for "Out of the Twist," the librarian then had to inquire diligently before she found that the child patron meant "Oliver Twist."—Indianapolis News.

Explanation Briefly Made.

Harold Knutson, Republican whip of the house, tells a yarn about an old fellow up in his country who has a job carrying the mail from the depot to the postoffice, for all of which he gets $1 a trip.

Some of the boys around the grocery store the other night got to kidding the old chap about his job and eventually, they asked him how much he made out of it.

"I make $1 a trip, three trips a day, $125 a month, or $3,000 a year," he said.

These figures not sounding just right, one of the boys sought to pin him down on his calculations.

"How do you make $3,000 a year?" he asked.

"A-carryin' the mail," responded the carrier, and with those few words he departed.

Saturday Change.

Many storekeepers begin their Saturdays by shopping in the neighborhood for small change—dimes, nickels, and pennies. Seven customers out of ten at the butcher's, baker's and grocer's on Saturday pay for their purchases with $10 and $5 bills. Not one in twenty counts out the exact amount. One storekeeper has found that $50 in subsidiary coins is none too little to carry him through.

Transit lines and automatic vending machines receive tons of coins in a day. Within 48 hours these coins are back in circulation.

Dimes, nickels and pennies are the most active elements of our circulating medium.

Cat Evidently Was Offended.

A yellow cat called Shimmy, of no particular breed, but lately a cherished mascot of the Aberdeen (Wash.) fire department, left her home there suddenly. Shimmy, according to the fire laddies, who hunted three days without success for their vanished pet, made her nest in a coil of hose which is used to wash the floor of the fire hall. On the morn of Shimmy's disappearance a careless fireman turned the water into the coil. Shimmy was catapulted toward the ceiling and shot by the stream of water into the street. The cat has not yet come back.

PERIODS IN AGE OF EARTH

Figures Compiled by Geologist Are Certainly Interesting Though Perhaps a Little Startling.

A geologist describes by means of a graphic chart the comparative lengths of the different periods of the age of the earth. He places the age of the earth arbitrarily at 72,000,000 years, represented by a clock dial of 24 hours—8,000,000 years to each hour.

On the above basis the first six hours of the clock represent Azolic time, the earliest conjectural period of the earth's formation—18,000,000 years; the next six hours Eozole and the next eight Paleozoic time—18,000,000 and 24,000,000 years, respectively—periods of mineral and vegetable formations. In the next three hours animal life developed—Mesozoic time, 9,000,000 years—that is, from the twentieth to the twenty-third hour. Thus the last hour of the 24—8,000,000 years of geologic time—represents Neozoic time, which includes the appearance of human life in the Quaternary period.

This last division of the 24 hours, the Quaternary period, is shown as only ten minutes—in other words 800,000 years. The existence of human life on the earth, therefore, bears the same relation to the age of the earth as ten minutes does to twenty-four hours. But since the period of written history is estimated roughly at only 6,000 years, this last division is not shown on the chart, since it would only be 12 seconds in duration.—Scientific American.

POPULAR SPORT IN PANAMA

Duel to the Death Between Bull and Jaguar Is Considered Height of Entertainment.

The Panamanian who is a real sport delights in nothing so much as a fight between a jaguar and a bull. One must visit the isthmus to see this particular kind of sport.

An enormous cage, strongly built of scantlings and iron bars, is placed in the center of the ring ordinarily used for bull fights. A bull is placed inside of it and presently one of the huge South American cats is wheeled up in a smaller cage and introduced into the barred inclosure. The latter is about ten feet high, with twice that length and breadth.

In the fight which then ensues the bull is victorious usually. Not more than once in ten such contests does the jaguar prove the victor. This would not be the case if the animals were not restricted to so narrow a space; but the big cat, being obliged to rely mainly upon its activity, does not have a fair chance.

Nevertheless, the duel greatly delights the spectators. The fair Panamanians shriek with excitement, and the little Panamanians read the air with yell.

Fish Thrive Under Water.

Water never gets colder than about 89 degrees. So no matter how thick the ice on the stream or lake, the fishes are enjoying a temperature of about 89 degrees, and they move about in the water and gather supplies very well at that temperature. Through the clear ice one may see fish with their backs against it, where the temperature must be 32 degrees, and if you strike the ice above them lightly they dart away with pretty good speed. If you will strike the ice immediately above them with the back of an ax, or a sledge hammer, you will kill the fish. The concussion does the business and the fish will turn up its white belly upward, always. It is a common enough thing in some regions for the boys to kill the fish through the ice, and then to cut a hole and get them out.

The Tunnel's Part in Progress.

In the history of civilization the tunnel has played a mighty part. In Europe the St. Gotthard tunnel through the Alps is famous; it connects Goshonen with Atrole, in Switzerland, and is over nine miles long. The Stimpson, which also penetrates the Alps, is reckoned one of the seven modern wonders of the world; it is 12 1/2 miles in length. Still another Alpine bore is the Wasserfuh, two miles in extent from entrance to entrance. Another notable tunnel is the Khojak pass, in India.

Among the important American tunnels is that which penetrates the Cascade mountains, in Washington; the Cumberland, under the Cumberland mountains in Tennessee; the Hoosac, in Massachusetts; and the tunnel under the Detroit river.—Harry C. Drum, in Leslie's.

Revolving Door Etiquette.

The etiquette of the revolving door has yet to be standardized. At present there are two schools of opinion on the subject. One holds that when a man and a woman approach a revolving door it is the man's place to go first, pushing the door slowly so as to allow his partner to follow in the next compartment without any effort on her part. The other contends that ladies first still holds sway. It is good manners, these theorists say, for the man to step aside, let the woman start the door revolving, and then jump into the compartment behind her. In this way, it is contended, the man may assume control of the door and guide it until the woman ahead of him is safely out. The bitterest rivalry prevails between the two schools.—Argonaut.

BIG FOOTBALL GAMES PART OF FAIR PROGRAM

Some of the Most Important Contests of 1921 Will Grace New Stadium

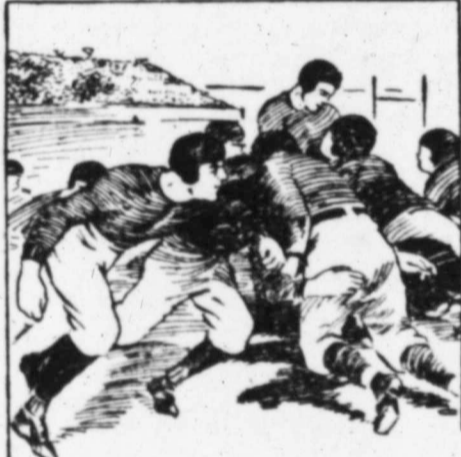

That army of hectic partisans generally spoken of as football fans are not going to be disappointed this year with the layout of games that will open the new Athletic Stadium at the State Fair of Texas. The season of 1921—Dallas, October 8 to 23—will see four of the most bitter contests in the history of the State.

In the first game, on Dallas Day, the Southern Methodist University eleven will try to turn back the Farmers from A. & M. College. On October 15 the Baylor University Bears are going to hang into the Boston College team. On October 21 S. M. U. will come into the arena again to defend the field against Austin College. On October 22 the University of Texas will try conclusions with Vanderbilt University, of Nashville, Tenn.

The first contest is one of standing importance in Texas. The Farmers barely beat the Mustangs last year. Baylor is meeting one of the greatest teams of the East in Boston, but the Bears are reported to have a squad of sensational young sters. When the S. M. U. Mustangs meet Austin College they'll have their hands full, as this team will be composed of the veterans who ran wild against all opposition the latter part of 1920. Of course everybody knows what to expect of Texas and Vanderbilt, as they always have great football teams.

The new stadium will be in beautiful condition for the big games. It is practically complete as to construction, and the playing field has rounded out in great shape.

TYRONE A DESERTED VILLAGE

"Queen of the Mining Camps," in New Mexico, Has Suffered From Copper Market Slump.

Tyrone, queen of the mining camps of New Mexico, built at a cost of $3,000,000 and given an artistic atmosphere through the influence of Mrs. Cleveland H. Dodge, is an empty shell.

A few short months ago 45 hundred men, women and children worked, lived and enjoyed life in what probably is the most beautiful mining camp in the world. Now the Phelps-Dodge corporation copper mines are closed, there is no ore awaiting shipment, no means of livelihood remaining, and stores have been closed. Inhabitants are leaving, the railroad has served notice that trains no longer will run.

Within a short time only a dozen men, guards for the mines and their expensive machinery, will be left. Even the Phelps-Dodge corporation general store has closed and the entire stock has been shipped to Douglas.

Tyrone boasts the most beautiful railroad station in the state, built by the mining corporation. Homes of miners are bungalows, not the usual shanty type of western mining camps. The camp was the pet of Mrs. Dodge, and largely through her influence a southern California plan of building was carried out.

Closing of the town, however, is considered only a temporary measure, according to company officials, who point out that the shutdown will continue just as long as the copper market remains in its present state of stagnation.

Austin, Texas, Aug. 29.—The governor said today that the use of chains as a punishment for convicts has been discarded since his visit to the penitentiary.

TO THE CITIZENS OF NACOGDOCHES COUNTY

During 1919 we voted bonds in the sum of $800,000 for constructing and maintaining hard surface roads, and in due time the bonds were sold, and this money placed with the county treasurer as "available road funds" and afterwards the commissioners' court entered into a contract with a highway engineer for plans, specifications and estimates of said work, which plans, specifications and estimates were accepted by the commissioners' court for the construction and maintenance of what then was contemplated hard surface roads, as was delineated by a map distributed throughout the county with consent of the commissioners' court, giving a diagram of the contemplated improvements.

Afterwards, commissioners' court considering these plans, specifications and estimates of said highway engineer, advertised for bids for the road leading from Nacogdoches by Douglas to Linwood bridge, and this contract was let to Smith Brothers of Crockett, Texas, and, as I understand now, has been accepted by the commissioners' court as completed according to plans and specifications, but not within 50 percent of the estimated contract price, and in passing, would like for the citizens to interest themselves in making some investigations as to this road.

And, after letting of road to Douglas, the commissioners court advertised for bids for the roads leading from the Angelina river at Spradley's Ferry to the Greenwood Crossing on the Attoyac, from Nacogdoches to the river near Chireno, being the King's Highway, according to plans, specifications and estimates, and afterwards contracted to H. F. Bland to be finished at a designated price by January 1, 1922, and the contract as let for these roads was begun, and is now being built, and in the letting of the contract, commissioners court had before it plans, specifications and estimates of said roads, and knew just what this was going to cost, or by tax exercise of any kind of business judgment could have known, and I wish to call your attention to the fact that this contract was let right at the top of high prices, and I might say against the advice of the financial judges of Nacogdoches county, that is, representatives of the various banks going personally before the court and asking that the work be deferred in order that this county might realize the benefits of the decline in prices, though this advice was not heeded, and the contracts were let, and now we are confronted with the proposition that all of this $687,090 is gone and your roads unfinished, when the commissioners' court could have by the exercise of any kind of foresight headed this off, and I wish to here call the attention of the citizens generally to this predicament and let you inquire and make some investigation, as it is your duty to do and see what has become of your money.

The commissioners' court has not blindly gone into this matter, as it contracted with the highway engineer to figure just what this work would cost, and paid this highway engineer 4 1/2 percent of every $1000; that is, it paid this engineer $47.50 to tell it how to spend every $1,000 of this $800,000, and yet they have now come to a precipice that is insurmountable, in that all of this $800,000 has been spent and the roads yet unfinished, and in the face of the promise to the people that if this bond issue be voted, there would be set aside by the commissioners' court a fund out of this $800,000 sufficient to maintain the roads, and yet the roads are not completed—and not a penny left with which to maintain them, and in suggesting this matter, I do it that you may make some investigation and ascertain for yourselves how your county affairs have been managed, and who is to blame for this situation.

The commissioners' court has spent, or wasted, as you wish to call it, this $800,000, and with other help from the state and federal government, the amount I do not know, and yet have not kept in mind the maintenance of these roads after they were accepted, as for instance it has accepted the Douglas road, and has no plan by which to keep up this road, and it is the duty of the citizens to assert some influence in order that this may be remedied, if possible.

The commissioners' court has already spent the $800,000, and I do not know, but I feel very positive that they will not have the audacity to ask the people to vote another bond issue for it to manage, and instead of this the commissioners' court is now contemplating, and I suppose will put it over, unless it is prohibited, a $100,000 in deficiency warrants, as I understand the court on the 23rd day of August was in consultation with a lawyer from Dallas, Mr. W. R. Harris, and has already contracted to pay him $1,000 to draw an order for deficiency warrants, and the protest of one of the best lawyers in East Texas that the price was outrageous and that the authority was lacking, and can you wonder that the county is in bad shape financially, when the commissioners court will pay one lawyer $1,000 to write an order that any 11th grade high school boy ought to be able to write, and I might say here, where is your county judge?

I am not the least bit jealous of this work being given to an outside lawyer, as I feel sure that I would not have gotten the work myself, but I do believe the lawyers of this bar, known as they are throughout the state as far above the ordinary, this should have been given to one of the local men, as we have June C. Harris, S. W. Blount, V. E. Middlebrook, Angus Russell, Arthur Seale, Chas. Hodges and Bill Bates, who are known throughout the state as equal to any lawyer, and this work as contracted by your commissioners' court for $1000 would have been done by any individual above named for not exceeding $250, and we would have kept the money at home and would not have paid it to some stranger who happened to be in your midst endeavoring to collect and make sure the indebtedness due his client, and for me and mine, I am against any such, and if your commissioner can explain his action in this matter satisfactorily to you, he ought to do it, as I am told that this very question was put up to one of the lawyers of this bar, and before acting on the same was told that it was outrageous, if it were legal, and I do think it is time to call the commissioners into account and make them render an account of their service.

Now this $1,000 that has been tipped to the lawyer from Dallas is for an order that will not exceed 500 words, and it is to raise money out of the future taxes in order to pay, so I am informed, Austin Bros., the client of this gentleman who gets the $1,000, and the Bland estate, as they must have their money, yet the man who lives among us and repairs your bridges and does other work, must take his scrip and sell it for 80 percent on the dollar and be satisfied. Doesn't this strike you as being a little bit peculiar?

Now if the citizens lie idly by and let the commissioners' court squander the future tax money of the county, you do not deserve any sympathy, and when you kick in the future, you ought to be drummed out of the county, and I want to say as one private, tax-paying individual, I am willing to do my part in prohibiting the commissioners' court from issuing this $100,000, and if you are of the same mind, let's act, and in acting I don't want a penny and will pay $25 to help step in—who'll be next?

S. M. ADAMS.

NOW FOR SENATE FINANCIERS

While "all bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives," those who think the Fordney measure practically a law as the result of its having passed by the lower branch, would do well to reflect upon the following: "But the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills."

Although the Republicans of the are, of course, one with those of the house in desiring to give the appearance of keeping the pledges of their party for a reduction of the tax burden, many of them are declared to believe that the Fordney measure is far from either artistry or practicable workmanship. As things stand there is practically no relief from high taxation until 1923 and the spirit of the measure proposed is declared by the minority to favor the rich instead of trying to distribute the benefits to all the people. Whether the senate can improve things remains to be seen, but the fact that it is going to take its time to go over the house bill is a reminder that it looks upon itself as "the" deliberative body.

Although the majority of the republicans of the house voted for the Fordney measure, enough of them showed signs of uneasiness to indicate that all the supporters of the bill realize that there is a reckoning with their constituents in store for them.

Indications are that there will be a reaction from the country that may cause the senate to make a number of changes in the measure.

BIG GLADWAY PROGRAM HAS BEEN PROMISED

Wortham Company Engaged to Entertain Visitors at Louisiana State Fair.

The privilege of enjoying a splendid variety of Gladway attractions will be given visitors to the Louisiana State Fair, October 27 to November 6, inclusive. This part of the State Fair program will be furnished by the O. A. Wortham Shows, which form one of the leading carnival aggregations in the United States.

The Wortham aggregation comprises about twenty-five shows, all of which are declared to be free from objectionable features which are sometimes permitted to creep into carnival attractions. Official assurance is given that the shows will be clean and wholesome, and every patron may feel perfectly safe in attending any or all of them.

This same company—Wortham's—furnished the Gladway amusement at the Louisiana State Fair last year, and the patrons were so thoroughly pleased that the management decided to book for a return engagement this year. However, there will be a complete change of bill, and the visitors will have something entirely different to see at this year's Gladway visit.

A great variety of entertainment will be provided, including a number of thrilling "rides," unique "sights," novel exhibitions, educational demonstrations, and many others. Every man, woman and child is assured his or her money's worth of pleasure on the Gladway. The Wortham slogan is to try to please every patron, and it will be worked overtime at the Louisiana Fair, according to the assurances received.

For further information, apply to W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

FOUR FOOTBALL GAMES AT THE STATE FAIR

Persons who enjoy the great American game of football will be royally entertained at the 1921 Louisiana State Fair, October 27 to November 6, for at least four football contests will be staged at the Fair Grounds in front of the grand stand. One of them will be the annual meet between the Universities of Arkansas and Louisiana. It will be played on the second Saturday afternoon, November 6, and will, as usual, be one of the feature outdoor attractions.

The Arkansas Razorbacks and the Louisiana Tigers have been keen rivals for gridiron honors for many years. Their annual struggle at the Louisiana State Fair has never failed to draw a monster crowd of school and college students and former students and many others who enjoy the gridiron sport. The game is always worth more than the price of admission, for the teams fight to the utmost.

Two other colleges will stage a football game during the Fair, arrangements for which have not yet been completed, and negotiations are also under way for a morning game, probably between high school teams, each Saturday of the Fair.

For further information write to W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

RURAL SCHOOLS TO MAKE BIG DISPLAY

With a substantial increase in premiums added this year, the attractions are greater in the Agricultural High School section of the Louisiana State Fair than at any former period. Besides the regular State Fair premiums, there will be a number of valuable special prizes offered by individuals and firms interested in the progress of the Agricultural High School movement in Louisiana.

At these schools the students are given the benefit of practical lessons in farming. They are instructed in the most modern methods and shown how to get the best results from their efforts. That they have made wonderful progress will be shown by the exhibits that will be entered from various schools and teams in competition for the premiums and honors to be won in this section of the agricultural division of the Fair.

Prof. P. L. Oulibeau of Baton Rouge, director of Agricultural High Schools, who has for years been looking after this feature of the State Fair program, will be in charge of the Agricultural School exhibits.

WORLD HAS CHANGED LITTLE

Marked Similarity in Certain Newspaper Advertising Today and That of Many Years Ago.

Newspaper advertising of 100 years ago differed greatly in form from that of today, but the difference in substance and intent was rather small. In the columns of the New York Mercury of that period one finds the following articles offered for sale and extolled for their particular qualities:

"Godfrey's General Cordial," which was the opiated soothing syrup used in that day for peevish, teething babies; the "Princely Beautifying Lotion," by use of which the ladies "made up" for the street; "Turlington's Original Balsam of Life," which must have been disappointing since all the users are now dead; "Dr. Ryan's Incomparable Worm Destroying Sugar Plumbs," "White Drops for the Seurvy," "Red Pills," "Sweating Powder," "Dr. Radcliffe's Only True Specific Tincture for the Toothache," "Essence of Balm of Gilead," "Potter's Water, for the Safe, Easy and Specific Cure for the Stone and Gravel," "Keyser's Pills," "Golden Tincture for Hysterical Diseases," "Genuine Harlaem Oil" by the bottle, "Levine's Well Known Eyewater," "Bloom of Circassia" for off-color complexions, "Lady Molyneux's Italian Paste," "Best Corn Plasters and Lip Salve," "Venetian Paste for Enameling the Hands, Neck and Face."

The bottle of Stoughton Bitters by which old toppers used to give an additional tang to their nips of whiskey stood behind every public bar up to about 50 years ago. Long after its use had been abandoned it persisted until "standing like a Stoughton bottle" became the common expression for immobility.

GREAT POWER OF PRESIDENT

United States Chief Executive "Most Potent Constitutional Functionary in the World."

The legal functions of the President's office are so eminent that he cannot escape the responsibilities of executive action, however much he may be inclined to avoid them. His constitutional powers alone make him the pivot upon which all the administrative machinery operates. He appoints the heads of departments and may direct their major policies. His power of appointment to all the greater offices is far reaching. He can recommend, shape and veto legislation. His control over foreign affairs is virtually complete. He is commander in chief of the army and the navy. In short, he is the most potent constitutional functionary in the world.

All these constitutional powers have been vastly augmented by practice and custom. The President today can do innumerable things that George Washington or Thomas Jefferson would never have dared do even if they had thought of them.

The constitutional conception of the President is that of a chief executive, an administrator; custom has added to this conception that of leadership, of initiation.—Samuel P. Orth in the Yale Review.

Clung to the Foot-Hills.

Humanity in its settlements has never cared for the high mountains or their valleys. . . . But the races of men have ever been well disposed to snuggle up close to the foot-hills. The modern cities have been built beside great rivers on the flat lands, but in Biblical times cities were founded upon rocks in the lower hills; and where no hills existed, as in the Mesopotamia valley, the Assyrians built a huge brick platform in imitation of a flat hill, and reared their city upon that. Athens was built upon and about the Acropolis, the Areopagus, and the limestone heights between Cephalus and Bissus. Rome and Constantinople are both built upon their seven hills, and the hills around about Jerusalem are famous.—John C. Van Dyke.

One of Ocean's Biggest Fishes.

The turbot is one of the largest of the flat fishes, and one of the species that is of most value commercially. It is seldom over two feet long, and weighs about 18 pounds, although 90-pound turbot have been caught. Its body is very flat and wide, with a long fin on the top and bottom ridges. Its upper surface is brown, and covered with hard, round knobs.

The turbot is a sea fish, and its eggs—five or 10,000,000 to a fish—float on the ocean surface, but the full-grown turbot prefers a sea bank, where it lies on its lighter side. Both the eyes are on the upper side of the body. The turbot abounds off the western coast of Europe, where it is caught for export.

Mazarin's Great Library.

At the beginning of the Fronde intrigues in Paris in 1648, when Anne of Austria, mother of Louis XIV, was queen regent of France, Cardinal Mazarin's library held 40,000 books, and was the most important collection of books then existing. Mazarin was compelled to retire from court, and the French parliament voted the confiscation and sale of his library. Louis sent Fouquet with unlimited power to bid it in, but the parliament, comprehending that it would in this way be returned to Mazarin, ordered its complete dispersion, by selling it in small lots. The librarian was so affected that he died of a broken heart. The sale of Mazarin's paintings was to have followed, but they were saved.

ADDED PREMIUMS ASSURE GREAT POULTRY SHOW

Mammoth Poultry Show Is Assured—Competition Will Be Open to the World.

With several hundred dollars added to the premium allowance, the total this year being approximately $3,000, the Poultry Show at the Louisiana State Fair, October 27 to November 6, is going to prove unusually popular with exhibitors, judging by the information reaching the management. Indications point to a "fall house," with possibly an overflow of exhibits, for which adequate accommodations will be provided, as it is the policy of the State Fair Association to take care of every entry.

Competition in the poultry division, as heretofore, will be open to the world, and from various farms throughout the country there will be representative entries. Many of the finest chickens, ducks, turkeys, peacocks, and other fowls will be shown. There will also be a pigeon section and a section devoted to rabbits and other pet stock.

In addition to the open-to-the-world contests, there will be a number of contests among Louisiana exhibitors, including the members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs, who will have a splendid collection on hand competition for the premiums set aside for juvenile exhibitors.

The poultry will be judged by Branch Young of Dayton, Ohio; pigeons by A. T. Modlin of Topeka, Kan., and pet stock by C. S. Gibson of Detroit.

PARISH FAIRS WILL BE LIVELY RIVALS

One of the main features at the 1921 Louisiana State Fair will be the Parish Fair Contest, in which at least two dozen parish fair organizations are expected to be competitors for the substantial premiums offered those winning honors in this contest. The parish making the best showing will receive an award of $300, the amount having been largely increased, and corresponding inducements are offered the other winners.

Practically every product grows in the soil of Louisiana will be represented in the Parish Fair exhibition, and the vast array of displays will give an idea of Louisiana's wonderful agricultural advantages and possibilities. The booths will be uniform in size, and special attention will be given their arrangement, as credit is given for appearance of the booths as well as for quality of products on display.

Individuals furnishing articles for the Parish Fair contest may also compete for individual premiums in general contests at the Fair.

SHEEP BREEDERS TO SHOW FINE ANIMALS

That interest in sheep raising is growing in the Southwest will be evidenced at the Louisiana State Fair, which opens October 27, at Shreveport. Two years ago a Sheep section was added, and it has grown steadily in popularity, with the premiums gradually enlarged. This year they total $1,518.

Following are the breeds to be represented in the competition: Merino, Dorset, Horn, Hampshire, Shropshire, Oxford Down, South Down, Cotswold, Cheviot, and other breeds. In the Hampshire classes the premiums total $206. In each of the others, $164 is offered.

Jack P. Fullilove of Shreveport, a prominent Red River Valley planter and live stock breeder, will serve as superintendent of the Sheep Division.

HUGE CATTLE SHOW ASSURED FOR FAIR

Premiums totaling in excess of $11,000 have been offered for winners in the Cattle Division of the Louisiana State Fair, which will run eleven days, beginning October 27.

In this division the premiums have been divided as follows, both dairy and beef cattle industries being encouraged: Jerseys, $1,428; Holsteins, $937.20; Guernseys, $672; Shorthorns, $2,620; Herefords, $2,620; Polled Herefords, $655; Angus, $906; Red Polls, $500; Polled Durham, $315; Fat Stock, $325.

There will be a Dairy section, with contests staged to stimulate greater interest in dairying, and for this part of the show premiums amounting to $100 have been awarded. Visitors who wish to witness valuable demonstrations in dairy activities will have every opportunity at the State Fair.

Another important feature of the program will be a series of auction sales, which will be conducted in the Live Stock Pavilion, where there are accommodations for large numbers of bidders and spectators. Such sales have heretofore proven very popular, and have resulted in many herds in the southwest being improved, and it is the management's prediction that increased interest will be shown this year.

John C. Burns of Fort Worth will judge beef cattle and John A. Lee of Shelbyville, Ky., will judge dairy cattle.

The Guernseys have been added to the list open to entries since the last State Fair.

NATIVE TRIBE LITTLE KNOWN

Tehuelches of Patagonia Have Many of the Characteristics of North American Indians.

Many are the strange and interesting native tribes that are found in the Americas. Among the most interesting are the people of the ostrich, who inhabit an almost as yet unknown country, and in language, and character, and race, are altogether distinct from other Indians, says an article on "People of the Ostrich" in Boys' life. They live in the remote and almost legendary regions of the "land of large-footed men"—a land, that like Chili, Peru, Mexico, and northwest South America, has its story of the existence of a hidden city among the unexplored wilds of their Cordilleras.

The Tehuelches of Patagonia, that vast peninsular end of South America, are scattered across it, from the Straits of Magellan and the Rio Negro—a territory of over 1,000 miles in length and 300 at its narrowest. A brave, active, athletic people, wonderful horsemen, singularly expert with their weapons and implements, who lead a wandering life, and hunt the wild cattle, the guanacos—and ostriches. For Patagonia is a home of that splendid bird, which was there ages before men crossed its path in the faraway wilds of the interior. To the Tehuelches, this fine bird is as important in their existence as the guanaco, for they are a race of hunters, and grow but little food for themselves.

PREACHES FROM AN AIRPLANE

Minister With Many Parishes to Cover Puts Modern Mode of Travel to Good Use.

No tolling church bells announce to the little communities scattered through one section of America's great Northwest the periodic Sunday morning arrival of the region's most enterprising itinerant evangelist. Instead, they hear the coughing exhaust of an engine, as his airplane spirals down upon the village. Drawn irresistibly by the novelty of the visit, they flock to the airplane, now at rest in a nearby field or meadow. They find the preacher on his feet in the pilot's cockpit of the plane "Sky Pilot," ready to begin his discourse.

Explanation of this strangest of all the airplane's uses is found in the evangelist's decision, some months ago, that the time and energy required for constant travel among distant parishes was seriously curtailing his effectiveness. He decided to defy all precedent by allying aeronautics and religion. He first subjected himself to a rigorous course of training, and became an accomplished airman. He then purchased his plane, selecting a three-seater of sporting type. The rear cockpit seats the pilot, and serves as his pulpit when the meetings are held in the open; the forward cockpit accommodating his two assistants, one of them a song leader.—Omaha Bee.

Women Crave Excitement.

The wife of a very wealthy man was arrested with a group of bandits after a pistol battle with the police, in which the woman was shot in the arm. She is a woman who has traveled, is educated and bears every evidence of refinement. The police say that there are many women of this kind who work with thieves unbeknown to their families. The call of adventure is the prime motive. In a raid on an East side wine cellar recently ten men and one woman were taken to headquarters in a patrol. All the men had criminal records. The woman is happily married to all appearances, and is a patron of the opera. She said the men and women in her set were dull and that she liked to get out and mingle with the men who lived by their wits and were not afraid of dangerous paths.—New York Times.

The Chef's Daily Manicure.

One of the daily events in the life of a chef in any of the large New York hotels is his morning manicure. Before he touches food, his hands are carefully washed and his nails are cleaned, cut and polished.

The job is not given to a sweet girl manicurist, but to one of the hotel physiatrists. He is always on hand during the day; should the chef accidentally cut himself, the doctor will bandage the wound, as he is there for that purpose.

Chefs are precious these days; many of the French ones—unable to get their daily bottles of wine—have gone back to France where the thought of prohibition can still be treated as a joke, though even in France there are heard ominous rumbles between the jokes passed at our expense.—Popular Science Monthly.

To Jail by Airplane.

Aerial policemen in San Francisco are thus far the first to make use of the airplane to conduct a prisoner to jail, via the automobile patrol.

The sky route offers the most direct passage between two places, and in this instance the prisoner was transferred from the Alexandria county jail across the bay of San Francisco to the locality where an automobile patrol was waiting to continue the journey through the city. Where it is necessary to save time, the airplane can be of service, as in this case.

When the air becomes crowded with machines, the arrest of violators of the air-traffic laws will undoubtedly become common and aerial patrol will no longer exist as a novelty.—Popular Science Monthly.

"A VIRGINIAN ROMANCE"

The play, "A Virginian Romance", presented at the White House theater Tuesday night under the direction of Mrs. Mae Middleton Colley, was well rendered and has received many encomiums from those who were fortunate enough to be present. Taken as a whole, perhaps no play ever presented by local talent was quite so well staged or engaged such earnest and praiseworthy effort on the part of those making up the cast. Mrs. Colley deserves and is receiving the commendation of all for her successful work in directing the play. A fairly good house greeted the performance, though the storm probably reduced the attendance considerably. The delightful music furnished by Smith's Novelty Four added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

LEGISLATURE AGREED ON EDUCATIONAL MEASURE

Austin, Texas, Aug. 25.—By a vote of 76 to 47 the house late Wednesday adopted the free conference report on the education appropriations bill.

The report came up in the house as pending business Wednesday morning.

Representative Curtiss, joint majority leader, gained the floor and pleaded with the majority to vote down the report and thereby necessitate another committee.

Representative Hardin of Kaufman followed Mr. Curtiss. He favored adoption of the report, saying that little could be gained by another report.

Mr. Curtiss in concluding his remarks said that "Texas had never had a real university and the people ought not to support a real university." He said further that the state would support a college instead of a university, pointing out that a college devoted more efforts to undergraduate studies.

No action had been taken on the conference report when the house adjourned at noon, but in the afternoon session a vote was reached and the report was adopted. The report was adopted by the senate Tuesday so that the action of the house Wednesday ends the controversy that brought about a second extra session.

FAULTY CONSTRUCTION IS BLAMED FOR HOLOCAUST

London, Aug. 25.—(Thursday, 3:50 p. m.)—Exhaustive inquiries of the last few hours leave no doubt in the minds of competent authorities that the disaster to the ZR-2 was due to faulty design and construction. Too much weight was carried for the strength of the frame work, the mid-ship girders being unable to stand the continued pressure of the enormous weight of the ship.

The builders, instead of designing a craft that was lighter, following the German practice with the Zeppelins, actually increased the weight out of proportion to the lift of gas. While undoubtedly the experts were convinced in their own minds that the ship was air worthy, the structural operations following the buckling of the ship's backbone in the first test flights, and the delay of the past fortnight in undertaking the time test, are significant.

As the ship had not yet been transferred to the United States, the British air ministry is in sole charge of the investigations and is instituting a court of inquiry immediately.

VILLAGE IS RECOVERING FROM EFFECTS OF STORM

Melissa, Texas, Aug. 25.—Scars of the wind storm which greatly damaged this place April 13 practically have been obliterated and the buildings destroyed or damaged have been or are being restored rapidly.

Seventy-five residences in Melissa were torn down by the wind, much of the business district was wrecked and burned and ten lives lost. More than fifty persons were injured.

The relief work and plans for rebuilding began almost as soon as the storm passed. Assistance was given by neighboring communities.

Where nothing but debris and desolation could be seen five months ago new buildings are standing, many with paint hardly dry. A few vacant lots, the buildings on which were razed by the storm, and the graves of the dead, are the plainest indications of the catastrophe.

Plans are complete now for rebuilding the four churches destroyed. Work is under way on a new $10,000 Baptist edifice. The school house which was the pride of Melissa, has been repaired. About 200 children were in the structure when the storm approached. The principal hurried them to the basement, and, although the second story of the building was torn away, none was injured.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF DREADFUL CATASTROPHE

Hull, England, Aug. 25.—Divers began at dawn today to explore the fire-twisted dirigible, ZR-2, which last evening exploded above this city and fell into the Humber, carrying with her more than 40 of her crew. Only one American, Norman O. Walker, of Commerce, Texas, a rigger, and four British survived the disaster that in a twinkling changed the trial cruise of the airship into a ghastly tragedy.

During the hours of darkness that followed the collapse, tugs stood by the wreckage and keen eyes scanned the water for any bodies that might have been dislodged by the tide that flowed over all which remained of what yesterday was Great Britain's mightiest dirigible.

Hope for other survivors was dissipated during the night.

MEXICAN BANDITS SLAY U. S. POSTMASTER

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 27.—Several armed bandits yesterday shot and killed Frank Pearson, postmaster at Ruby, Ariz., 35 miles west of here, and then looted the store which was conducted in connection with the post office. Ruby is only three miles north of the international boundary.

Although the murder and robbery took place at 10 o'clock yesterday, word of it did not reach the sheriff's office until late yesterday afternoon, because storms had put the telegraph lines out of commission. Word of the crime was brought here by a man who rode horseback through the mountains. A sheriff's posse immediately left for Ruby to take up the trail.

Nogales officers said that, basing their opinion of the little information available here, they believe that the leaders of the seven bandits was Ysiguel Lara, who was one of the two Mexicans who killed Alexander and J. A. Frazier and robbed the store and postoffice at Ruby on February 27, 1920. A reward of $500, which was offered by the county at that time for Lara's capture, is still standing.

Pearson's wife and a five-year-old daughter and his sister-in-law were with him when he was killed. His wife and her sister were also killed, the reports stated. Pearson came to Arizona from Texas for his health. He lived for a while at Arivica, Ariz., and became postmaster at Ruby in March, 1920, after the bandits killed the Fraziers, one of who had been postmaster.

The British dreadnaught Dauntless is preparing to leave Falmouth for New York with the other bodies of the American victims. The coffins are guarded by United States air service officers.

A memorial will be conducted Thursday by the archbishop of York. From the wreckage in the Humber river, a lumber of confidential documents were washed ashore yesterday.

Nacogdoches, Texas, Aug. 26, 1921 Editor Sentinel:

Texas is a great State and this same remark has many times been made before by her citizens who know her, who love her and by thousands who visit us noting her kindness and hospitality. Great in her almost boundless domain, great in her citizenship, great in her forests, in her rivers and lakes, in her rich soil, in the great variety of her production, her climate and beautiful scenery. Those who visit us returning to their home in the east must feel cramped at their limitations. Here no pent up Ute contracts us, but the whole of unbounded Texas is ours. While there are a few adventurers here and there in almost every section of the state her territory of rich land has hardly begun to be occupied. While in the west and northwest great herds of cattle are nipping the luscious grass—grass grown on the most productive soil—our brothers in the east are scratching a poor soil among rocks and stumps to earn a scanty living. These acres now at almost nominal prices will as the years go by grow in value. It looks like a waste of nature's blessings for this to be. Some people don't seem to know what is good for them, but it may be this kind are not able financially or otherwise to pick up and take advantage of the occasion. When Texas has the population she is capable of sustaining, which would be about the same as Germany before the war, with a few defenses, we would put up a better fight than did Germany against the world, but we would consult a while before we did it. I don't want to see this come about, but I would like to live to see Texas full grown. This old town of Nacogdoches, next to San Augustine, is the oldest town in the state and has been witness to her early struggles. Here have lived several of her early statesmen and the town and county's first settlers were composed of brave and resourceful men whose sons and grandsons are now about in the state and ever hold the old town and county in remembrance. There are few old-timers who cannot tell you something of Nacogdoches. It was a place of notoriety and is yet no sardine. It is true as the years have gone by the great influx of population has passed on while great cities and larger towns have grown up in the interior. Still sits old Nacogdoches upon a hill between two beautiful creeks—the Lanana and Bonita—surrounded by high hills, proud of her history and as independent as you please. These people abide by their convictions as to the right or wrong of any proposition, whether religious, political or otherwise and are as independent as a hog on ice. The whites and blacks, which latter are numerous, are moving along harmoniously, and the prospect for a continuance of this feeling is good.

GREEKS REPULSED WITH HEAVY LOSSES

Paris, Aug. 29.—The right wing of the Greek army which was attacking the Turks along the Sakaria river in Asia Minor has met with disaster and has been completely severed from the main body of the Greek troops, according to a dispatch from the correspondent of L'Information at Constantinople.

The statement adds that the entire Greek army is thus placed in a most difficult strategical position. The Turks are attacking and seem to have plenty of ammunition.

Constantinople, Aug. 29.—After three days of fighting the Turks have forced the Greeks to retire across the Sakaria river in Asia Minor. The Greeks lost many prisoners, much material and cannon and transport wagons.

(Thursday Health Talk No. 19.)
(By R. W. Zilar, D. C.)

Thermic fever is the technical name for sunstroke. It means the inability of the body to adjust itself to any temperature. Some are never in danger of overheating. Others are sever out of danger.

Adapting the body to greater heat is a matter of elimination of heat through the skin, and the condition of the skin is due principally to the activity of the kidneys. A displacement of spinal joints causing pressure on spinal nerves to the kidneys alone is enough to cause overheating. When by Chiropractic spinal adjustments the spinal nerves are freed, there is little danger of overheating.

TROUBLED FOR TWENTY YEARS

"I easily overheated and at intervals would have stinging pains in my abdomen. This started twenty years ago and for several years increased in frequency. Then it became a pronounced kidney trouble with pain and soreness which I thought was a growing cancer. Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments have removed the trouble. Every bit of the pain and soreness has gone. Chiropractic is an untold blessing."—Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1273-H.

Don't Hide Your Face

Nothing is more annoying and to some people more disgusting than facial eruptions.

These disgusting blemishes are often caused by local disorders of the skin, which require medical treatment. Occasional applications of ointments and lotions do not correct these troubles.

HUNT'S SOAP

Is especially good for the correction of skin disorders. The rich, delightful lather of Hunt's Medicated Soap carries with it the healing medicine most needed by the skin, allowing the medicine to reach into all the tiny pores, searching out and destroying disease germs which cause pimples, blackheads and other facial blemishes.

NEARLY ALL PROBLEMS RESOLVE THEMSELVES INTO THIS:

- (1)—We have something to sell.
 - (2)—Who are most likely to buy it?
 - (3)—How can I get them to buy it?
- Sounds simple, does it not? And it is simple. But it requires some thinking. We are going to ask you to do just a little thinking.
- When you want a Kodak—think. There is only one Kodak. You have often seen objects that you wished you had a picture of. If you had had one thought before you went out you would have had a Kodak and could have taken those pictures. Don't let that happen again—think what you need on each outing or trip.
- We have the only Kodak that is sold and if you will think a little you will buy. All sizes and prices.

LOSS OF THE ZR-2

How far are we from the perfection of the airship no one can say with assurance. Only a few days ago America read this enthusiastic appraisal of the ZR-2 by an American officer who was to travel in the giant dirigible from England to our shore: "She is undoubtedly the last word in modern airship construction." But there was an explosion, the great balloon caught fire and dropped into the River Humber.

Thus ends for a time the dream of establishing a new method of transit between the Old and the New Worlds. But this disaster will prove only a temporary setback to the success of an undertaking upon which the determination of man is fixed. Whether or not the dirigible balloon ever shall be a practical commercial vehicle will be established by experience. That a journey in cloudland across the Atlantic is feasible has been proven. The ZR-2 having traveled for 35 hours there is no reason to doubt that she could have gone on for 70 but for the unforeseen happening. What was wrong will have to be worked out. Then repetition of the feat will be a matter of time.

The cost of human life in this failure is deplorable. Usually we regard it fortunate when an accident overtakes an innovation before it is given over to the serious business for which it was designed. But in this instance disaster or the trial trip imperiled twice as many lives as could have been lost had the explosion occurred on the transatlantic trip. Instead of only the American crew of 21 men, which was to pilot the airship westward, there were 30 British officers also in the craft.

All these were precious lives, for these men were of the pioneer type so useful in the experimentations which lead to civilization's material advances. They were heroic adventurers in the cause of man, truly; nor have they died in vain, for in consequence of this disaster much better dirigibles will be built.

DR. BERGER IS HEARD BY 2,500 IN RUBIN CASE

Waukegon Doctor Tells of Most Remarkable Overnight Cure

(From the Davenport, Iowa, Democrat and Leader, Aug. 23.)

Much interest was centered in the afternoon address of Dr. Paul O. Berger, Waukegon, Ill., chiropractor, who was made famous overnight through restoring to health little Miriam Rubin, aged 8, who suffered an attack of the so-called talking sickness which lasted 212 hours and baffled the combined efforts of medical specialists.

More than 2,500 visiting chiropractors listened to Dr. Berger tell of his experience in the case. "I am entitled to no particular credit," Dr. Berger modestly told his audience. "Any well equipped chiropractor could have done the same thing." He accepted the thanks of the profession in behalf of chiropractic and B. J. Palmer, who taught him the science several years ago. Berger will be remembered here as a bank clerk prior to completing his course at the Palmer school.

When the little girl was beyond hope and the specialists had given her up the girl's father was urged by his friends to call a chiropractor. Hundreds of people who had read of the girl's condition wrote to him and a few became so interested in the case they telegraphed him a similar request. When Mr. Rubin was asked if he would consent to let a chiropractor attempt to relieve the girl, he replied: "Yes, I'd let the devil try if he could do any good." "And so," said Dr. Berger, "they sent for me."

Many attempts were made, he said, to discredit his work, but that the Rubin family stood by the science that restored the girl to health and answered hundreds of letters and telegrams to the effect that chiropractic was the instrument through which their girl gained her health.

In closing, Dr. Berger said that Miss Rubin was recently operated on for the removal of her tonsils and adenoids, and that he did not consider her as well now as when he stopped adjusting her many weeks ago.

Oklahoma Business Man Says Tanlac Restored Him a Year Ago and He Still Feels Fine

"I endorse Tanlac from the bottom of my heart, for it set me right a year ago and I have enjoyed the best of health ever since," said Claude E. Andean, 200 Garfield St., Sand Springs, Okla. Mr. Andean is a member of the firm of Andean & Day, and his standing and influence are too well known to require further comment.

"I hadn't been in good health," he went on, "for some two years, and was so run down generally I could hardly take care of business. What little I did do more harm than good and I felt tired out from morning till night. I was nervous and restless and my whole system seemed to be out of order. I didn't know what it was to feel good, and I was worried over where it would all lead to."

"I saw Tanlac so highly recommended that I made up my mind to try it, and nothing ever surprised me more than the way I picked up right away. Three bottles simply put me to feeling like I had been wanting to feel, and to this day I have been in as good health as I ever was in my life. Tanlac certainly proved its worth in my case and there is no question about its being a great medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Nacogdoches by Stripling, Haselwood & Co., and in Garrison by the Dale Drug Co.

The trial of the Boozer case, which was set for August 31, at Rusk, has been continued for the term, following action by a Dallas judge.

On Thursday the Rusk officials requested Dallas officers to rearrest Mrs. Boozer, whose home now is in Dallas and who was out under bond. This was done. The fact was communicated to Attorney C. C. Watson of this city, counsel for defendant, who went to Dallas Friday and on Saturday obtained a writ of habeas corpus from Judge C. A. Pippin's court, and at the conclusion of the hearing Mrs. Boozer was released. Mr. Watson secured affidavits from surgeons who recently operated upon Mrs. Boozer and from hospital attendants to the effect that her condition was such as to endanger her life if she were subjected to the strain of a trial at this time. Returning to Rusk, Mr. Watson left the affidavits with court officials, the result being a continuance of the case.

The Dallas Dispatch of Saturday published the following in regard to the new arrest and subsequent release:

Mrs. Sallie Boozer, 55, was ordered released from the county jail by Judge C. A. Pippin this morning. "Regardless of what they think in Nacogdoches I'm going to release the woman," Judge Pip "She's in such bad health that confinement in a jail would kill her in 30 days."

Keep Well and Be Happy

If you would be happy you must keep your bowels regular. One or two of Chamberlain's Tablets taken immediately after supper will cause a gentle movement of the bowels on the following morning. Try it. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Miss Lois Smith of Nacogdoches returned home this morning, after having spent a few days with her cousin, Mrs. W. J. Bryan of this city.—Timpon Times, 29th.

MARTINSVILLE SCHOOL IS COMING TO THE FRONT

Prof. N. A. Daniel, principal of the Martinsville school, was in the city Tuesday morning and brought good news from that progressive community.

On Saturday the people of the district voted on raising the school tax to the $1.00 limit, and the patrons evidenced their superior judgment by rolling up a vote of 24 for and one against the measure.

The Martinsville school is now a four-teacher school, the faculty having already been selected, and another room will be added to the school building in order to meet the increased demand.

Professor Daniel deserves credit for his untiring work in behalf of the school, for which there is promise of a still larger field of usefulness if his ambitions are realized.

A Grateful Letter

It is in trying conditions like that related below by Mrs. Geo. L. North of Naples, N. Y., that proves the worth of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. "Two years ago last summer" she says, "our little boy had dysentery. At that time we were living in the country eight miles from a doctor. Our son was taken ill suddenly and was about the sickest child I ever saw. He was in terrible pain all the time and passed from one convulsion into another. I sent my husband for the doctor and after he was gone thought of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the cupboard. I gave him some of it and he began to improve at once. By the time the doctor arrived he was out of danger." Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Mr. Joe Gibbs, who is holding down a lucrative position on the Houston Chronicle, arrived in the city Monday night for a brief vacation, which he will spend with Mrs. Gibbs and the baby, who are guests of the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Haltom.

The habit of "putting it off" has caused the loss of many lives. A dose of Prickly Ash Bitters at the first sign of indigestion, constipation and kidney trouble wards off sickness and saves money. Men who are good managers should always keep a bottle on the shelf at home. Price $1.25 per bottle. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

The report that a federal prohibition agent has been acting against bootleggers in this county seems to be unfounded. County Attorney Harris informed the Sentinel Wednesday that all arrests for liquor law violations so far made was the work of our local officers.

For skin eruptions, rash, chafed skin, prickly heat, chigger bites and stings of poisonous insects, Ballard's Snow Liniment is an effective application. It heals quickly. Three sizes, 30c, 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.
