HOWAT TURNED DOWN BY MINERS' CONVENTION

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 28.—Alexander Howat was directed today by the convention of the United Mine Workers of America to order the strikers at the Dean and Reliance mines to return to work. The decision became a certainty before the balloting was completed.

TALKS SENSE

To Our People:

If Nacogdoches is to have any considerable increase of desirable people, somebody must provide suitable living conditions. By this I do not mean "cheap" living quarters. I mean that a reasonable part of the resources of our people must be invested in good residence property. The first step in this direction is to cut into suitable building lots some of the inside acreage now vacant. Substantial cottages with modern conveniences should be placed on these lots. There is now a good demand for such places. If these places are not provided, we cannot hope, nor need we expect, to attract the best class of people—folks who move to a city because of its educational advantages are people with vision and ideals. Such people cannot long be induced to occupy crowded houses and rent shacks.

We must sell and build or build and sell (or rent) if we are to grow—no chance to "eat our cake and have it too!" We can't make a city out of a country town by mere desire and simple declaration.

The formula for converting country towns into compact cities is quite well understood. It isn't a matter of magic or mere chance. It results from the application of well known business principles. One of those principles is that by dividing (through sale) your holdings, you increase the value of the part you retain.

This isn't a "pleachment." It is a statement of a sound principle.

If we apply this principle in Nacogdoches for the next five years, the city will double in population and your holdings and your business will show a like increase.

Very respectfully,
H. L. McKnight.

OVERSEAS SOLDIER'S BODY WILL ARRIVE FRIDAY

The remains of Charlie Bell, who died in France, will arrive Friday and interment will be made in Oak Grove cemetery the same afternoon at 4:30 under the direction of the local post of the American Legion. Young Mr. Bell was born and reared near Trawick and enlisted in the army from this county. The undertaking department of Cason, Monk & Company will have charge of the body. Our dead soldier boy has a number of relatives in the Trawick community. The memory of his sacrifice should be honored by all our people. It is the least we can give in recognition of his services for his country—for you and me.

PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE OF TICK ERADICATION

The following circular letter from the Bureau of Animal Industry's office at Fort Worth and addressed to Inspector T. W. Hawkins of this city will be of interest to all engaged in raising cattle. The importance and advantage of tick eradication measures are fully set out in this letter. Every stockman should read it carefully:

Mr. J. W. White, prominent ranchman of Mason, Texas, was interviewed by a representative of a San Antonio newspaper. His attitude and advice regarding tick eradication in South Texas is rather interesting. His interview is quoted herewith in full: "I cleaned up the ticks on my ranch in one year," said J. W. White of Mason county yesterday in San Antonio. "I had thirty thousand acres to clean, too, and like a lot of other folks when the talk of getting rid of the ticks was started, I did not believe very much in it. But by Zone No. 2, went to cleaning up, and I went with the bunch. My cattle used to be covered with ticks, and like those folks in Zone 3, I thought it was all right. Today there is simply not one tick on my whole ranch. Since I cleaned them up I have at one time brought one thousand and four hundred head of cattle from the North, where they never had a tick on them, and turned them on my range in perfect safety, and not long ago a friend of mine took fifty head of clean Texas cattle down into Zone 3, and forty-two of them got ticks and died. Another thing when I had ticks I had a lot of trouble with screw worms—they got started where the ticks left a tiny sore place. Now I am running the ranch on one-fourth of the men I used to keep, for I have very little trouble with screw worms. I want a lot of my friends in Zone 3 to think about that too. A four-year-old steer raised on a tick-free range will weigh one hundred and fifty, or two hundred pounds more than he would have weighed with ticks all over him. That's worth noting too. Absolutely, I would not have the ticks back on my range like they were for an even $25,000. You can say for me that the people of Zone 2 and going to see that the people in Zone 3 clean up. Folks in Zone 2 have to do it for their own protection. As long as there are ticks in Zone 3 they will find a way now and then over into Zone 2 and kill a lot of cattle. Not long ago a fellow brought about a dozen of fine bulls from the North and stopped at Taylor with them, in clean territory. He had a grazing privilege on the L. & G. N. right of way and they picked up ticks there which had dropped out of an infected, Zone 3 cattle train. One bull died, and the others were saved by dipping. Not long ago some fellow started to send two fine Jersey cows infected with ticks, from Zone 3 up to Dallas county, sending them by truck. He was taking these ticky cows right into clean territory and perhaps would have cost some poor man his only milk cow on which his children depended. I call that sort of tactics a pretty hard name. That fellow with his two cows was caught on the way and had to tarry there until the cows had two good dippings. These are some of the reasons that cause me to say that the people of Zone 2 will see to it that Zone 3 cleans up. They must not be exposed to that danger. One encouraging thing is that so many folks in Zone 3 really want to clean up as soon as their neighbors will do so."

Mr. White is the owner of the Mill Creek ranch in Mason county, Texas, one of the well-known ranches of Texas. He has been in the cattle business in that county for thirty-five years.

Ticks are largely responsible for scrub cattle. About the only things they have in common are four legs, two horns, a hide and a tail. Tick Eradication pays.

SECOND EXPERIENCE WITH KU KLUX ASSAILANTS

Palestine, Texas, Sept. 27.—S. L. McKenzie, until recently a service car driver, was seized by masked men here last night and carried to the country, where he was beaten, tarred and feathered and brought back and dumped from an automobile on a down town street. McKenzie was attacked here on the night of August 7, but escaped his masked assailants after a hard struggle.

REFUSES TO ENDORSE HARDING'S BONUS STAND

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 28.—A resolution favoring a bonus for former service men to be given by the federal government was adopted by the American Legion, Texas Department, in convention here today. Before adopting the resolution the convention voted down almost unanimously a proposal to approve the stand of President Harding on the bonus question. The Legion went on record as favoring the exclusive use of the English language by teachers in the public schools and recommended that state aid be given foreigners in learning English. The policy of the present War Department was endorsed.

CHARGE REDUCED

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 28.—Reducing the charge from maiming to aggravated assault, the jury in the case of J. O. Sinsabaugh late yesterday returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at 60 days in jail and a fine of $300. The evidence was to the effect that Sinsabaugh several weeks ago found Adolph Lang in a house with Mrs. Sinsabaugh. Tying Lang to a bed, Sinsabaugh operated on him with a razor, witnesses testified.

KANSAS BANDITS

Arlington, Kas., Sept. 28.—Five bandits early today blew the vault door of the Farmers State Bank here and escaped with several thousand dollars worth of bonds following a pistol fight with City Marshal Edwards, in which one of the robbers is believed to have been dangerously wounded.

BASEBALLISTS TO CUBA

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 28.—The Memphis club, champions of the Southern Association, will go to Havana, Cuba, for eight weeks of baseball after finishing the play-off with Fort Worth, Oscar Tuero, the Memphis Cuban pitcher, announced today. Tuero said terms had been arranged and Memphis would begin playing in Cuba on October 8, meeting independent teams.

OIL PRICE ADVANCE

Wichita Falls, Texas, Sept. 28.—The Texas Company today announced an increase in the price of Central and North Texas crude oil, posting a quotation of $1.25 per barrel, 25 cents advance.

JAPAN'S DELEGATES NAMED

Tokio, Sept. 28.—The Japanese delegates to the Washington armament conference will be Prince Iyasa to Toka Gawa, president of the house of peers; Vice Admiral Tomosaburo Kato, minister of the navy; and Baron Kijuro Shidehara, ambassador to the United States, it was officially announced today.

RAIL CONSOLIDATIONS

Washington, Sept. 28.—The Interstate Commerce Commission announced today tentative plans for the consolidation of all the major roads in the United States into nineteen systems and gave notice that hearings would be called on the project soon. The proposed consolidation is authorized by the transportation act.

The proposed nineteen systems provide for a retention of a competitive arrangement for transportation lines, giving most sections of the country access to two or more of the great routes devised.

"ALFALFA KING" DEAD

Sherman, Texas, Sept. 27.—Colonel R. E. Smith, known throughout Southwest Texas as the "alfalfa king" died here last night. He was the owner of a large ranch in Tom Green county as well as considerable business and farming property in other Texas counties.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 27.—The Panthers and Chics are en route today to Fort Worth to play the sixth game of the series for the championship of the South tomorrow, with the Texas Leaguers holding the advantage of one game.

STATE CANNOT CARRY ITS OWN INSURANCE

Austin, Texas, Sept. 28.—The concurrent resolution passed by the second called session of the legislature declaring it should be the policy of the state to carry its own insurance on state buildings and contents was declared void in an opinion today by the attorney general's department:

SEVERAL HUNDRED KILLED IN JAPANESE STORM

Tokio, Sept. 28.—Several hundred persons were killed by a typhoon in Central Japan, centering at Nagoya, Island of Hondo, where a tidal wave destroyed crops and houses. Several steamers and many fishermen are missing.

SUBMARINE FOUNDERS

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 27.—The Submarine R-6, attached to the Pacific fleet and anchored in the outer harbor of San Pedro, sank at 10:30 last night, according to information received by the Los Angeles Examiner early today. It is believed the disaster was caused by water rushing into the submarine through the torpedo tubes.

Searching For Bodies

San Pedro, Cal., Sept. 27.—Two submarines at the base here are searching the outer harbor in an attempt to locate the bodies of two members of the R-6 crew, believed drowned when the vessel sank last night. An investigation of the sinking is under way.

Two Were Lost

San Pedro, Cal., Sept. 27.—Two men lost their lives by the sinking of the submarine R-6, it was officially announced. The other members of the crew are accounted for.

PENALTIES TO BE LIFTED

Paris, Sept. 28.—The economic penalties imposed on Germany by the Allies for non-fulfillment of the peace treaty will be lifted September 30, Dr. Mayer, the German ambassador here, was informed by Premier Briand today.

DELEGATES TO MEET

Washington, Sept. 28.—The first meeting of the four American delegates to the armament limitations conference will probably be held next week, it was indicated today.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. A. B. White, connected with the bridge building department of the road work on the Douglass road, had a narrow escape from serious if not fatal injury Monday. Mr. White, in his car was topping the hill at the H. H. Cooper place, about three miles west of town, and, owing to the storm prevailing at the time, his curtains were up and the windshield blurred by the rain; hence, he did not see a truck loaded with long steel girders, at the crest of the hill and his machine collided with it. One of the long girders smashed the windshield, tore out the front seat and badly damaged the rear seat, striking Mr. White a glancing blow on the side and inflicting a very painful bruise. The injured man was taken back to his camp and surgical aid summoned. It was found the wound was not serious, and Mr. White was resting comfortably as the nature of his hurt would permit at latest accounts. The miracle is that he escaped as lightly as he did.

HOME DESTROYED

The home of S. L. Crawford, on Campbell Hill, in the southwestern suburbs of the city, was totally destroyed by fire about 11 o'clock Tuesday night, together with all its contents. It is said the roof was about to fall when the family discovered their plight, and they made a hurried escape from the burning building. Being outside the water limits the fire department could render no assistance. It is learned that Mr. Crawford carried insurance to about one-third the amount of his loss.

A newspaper has the advantage over the billboard as a medium of publicity; in the former the names of the Leaguers holding the advantage of one game.

MAN NOT INJURED BY THIRD STORY JUMP

McKinney, Texas, Sept. 28.—Awakened suddenly by smoke from a fire which destroyed the ground floor of a clothing store here early today, Fred Kurtlik of Ennis jumped from a third floor window of the rooming house above to the concrete sidewalk without injury.

TO THE CITIZENS OF NACOGDOCHES INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

You have doubtless noticed the proclamation calling for an election for the purpose of improvement of our high school buildings, and if you have not already noticed this proclamation I wish you would ascertain the date of this election and come out and vote.

I do not know what the sentiment for this improvement is, but so long as the people of any territory refuse to answer the call for school improvements just so soon is that community going to back up rather than go forward, as it is a fact that all people of ordinary means can do for their children is to equip and offer for them opportunities in their own community which other communities have, and if we do this we can keep our children at home and educate them, and let them enjoy the influence of home life, and if you have not already thought of this question, I want you to join me in turning out on the 30th day of September and make this question unanimous, and build for Nacogdoches whatever the school board say they need and want.

It is a fact that if you dies and leave your children money and property a thief in a night can slip in and steal, or by a bad trade it can all be lost in the twink of an eye; but if you give your children an education it cannot be taken away from them, and an education gotten at home under the influence of a father and mother, is a better education than one gotten otherwise, and no man can count dollars and cents against the education of one of the children of this country, and he who does either love a dollar better than he does the welfare of the children, or he really does not understand the real need for the education of his neighbor's children.

A person with a high school education is equipped far better for the battles of life than the one who has not this education, and it is just as easy for a child to be educated and make a good salary as it is for him to go through the world without an education and work for $1.25 a day for some person as a manual laborer, when if given a chance could have earned more, and when I say doing manual labor I do not mean that this is dishonorable, but no parent lives who does not wish better for his child than he has himself, and if we come together in this election and do the right thing, it will make Nacogdoches better for everyone.

There is a great cry now of heavy taxes, but no one objects to heavy taxes when they are properly spent and good obtained from their expenditure. And in discussing this question remember that there are "odds" of people who are not able to send their children away to educate them, and let's give these at home an opportunity for the best high school education possible.

I am not only for this bond issue, but I think that it is incumbent on us to get together and raise a fund to build a Y. W. C. A., as we are soon to have in the citizens of Nacogdoches to get to our midst hundreds of young ladies from various parts of Texas, and ought we not to prepare for their coming? And if we build this, it will be the best recommendation that we can send out to the world as an advertisement of our normal, and I am willing to donate any amount that is necessary from one of my means.

Asking you to think over this matter, and if you are in doubt about any question regarding the bond issue and will see me, would like to discuss the same with you.

S. M. Adams.

There has been patented a device that cancels the stamp, prints the date, hour and place of mailing the letter and seals the envelope. If it would print, "Have been intending to write you some little time" and "Hoping you are the same" it would be just about complete.

LESS HASTE IN MARRIAGE

Connecticut has been a state that catered especially to couples seeking marriage. It has had the reputation of being one place whither the lovers could flee and have the knot tied almost without appreciably checking the speed of the car. It was a place, too, where they were not even curious whether there were previous marriages undissolved. If the man had the price and the girl, he need not mention that he had another wife at home. For illustration read the Andrews-Tatnall case. This reputation brought much business to the parsons and the justices of the state. It was a source of easy money.

However, the legislators appear to have concluded that if less haste were manifest in getting married a knot might be tied tighter and hold longer. At least, they have passed a law requiring that five days elapse between the application for a license and the issuing of the same. This, doubtless, is intended to give those contemplating matrimony time to reflect. It will have the effect, necessarily, of preventing a couple from falling in love, proposal and acceptance, and getting married all in one afternoon. It means at least some deliberation, a longer wait than is often the case. Previously the loophole permitting one man to have two wives without being guilty of bigamy had been closed.

These regulations should tend to make marriages in Connecticut a bit more important than inviting a girl to have an ice cream soda. It may rob some parsons and justices of business and may present a discouraging outlook to some lawyers who specialize in divorce cases; otherwise it should have a good effect. Marriage is not a summer afternoon's picnic but a serious matter. If it is not entered into seriously it is likely to be more serious.

AN OLD-FASHIONED MAN

In these days of frenzied criticism of women's clothes, men's habits and a general spirit of intolerance about trifles, it more than merely refreshing to find a man in a responsible position whose feet are firmly but not stubbornly planted upon familiar ground. It is inspiring. The superintendent of public schools at York, Pa., has been petitioned, perhaps besieged and nagged by excellent people of good intentions to banish from all schools all girls whose ultra-modern dress and tonsorial ornamentation have shocked the more elderly and staid. The remains unremoved.

He says the girls may wear their dresses as high at the bottom and as low at the top as they please. They may roll down their stockings any distance, so far as he is concerned. And they may paint and powder their faces and bob their hair to suit their tastes. That, said the superintendent, is a matter between the girls and their parents. If the parents are satisfied that makes it satisfactory to him.

School authorities, he explains, have no business to interfere with any pupil's manner of dress and no right to interfere with parents' prerogatives—one of which is the right to dress their children as they want them to be dressed. The school superintendent at York is probably old-fashioned enough to believe his neighbors can attend to their private affairs without orders from his office.

Roscoe Arbuckle says he is going back into the movies. Fat chance.

The German marks appear to be that "easy mark" we have heard so much about.

We often wonder how anybody ever got to the top before we had correspondence schools.

Some barbers appear to discern that to shave the prices is the way to do more shaving.

Lenine says Russia is heaven. Perhaps it is in comparison to what is coming to him.

France is coining bronzed aluminum francs. The lighter coins should help the money to fly.

The winter run of the Stillman case will open on October 11. A good season is predicted.

Some day a great man will discover an easy way to dispose of discarded safety razor blades.

In Gary, Ind., the cost of necessities has dropped materially. Divorce lawyers have cut their fee from $100 to $50.

THE NACOGDOCHES NORMAL SCHOOL

The appropriation made by the legislature for the building of a normal school at Nacogdoches stands, although the item of maintenance for the first year was vetoed. The building, however, is not to be contracted for before September, 1922.

Of all the towns of Eastern Texas none is better situated for a great school than the town of Nacogdoches. That town may claim the distinction without much fear of contradiction, of being the center of pioneer civilization in all that portion of Eastern Texas east of the Trinity river. The municipality of Nacogdoches was a large one, embracing a territory that extended as far west as Dallas, and from which many of the best counties in Eastern Texas were organized. Only San Antonio and San Augustine have disputed with Nacogdoches the title of the greatest antiquity.

Without entering into the discussion of the age it is an undisputed question that for many years Nacogdoches was the most attractive town in Texas. It contained more white persons prior to the organization of the republic than any other town in Texas. Its people were noted for refinement, culture and wealth. Men learned in the professions immigrated to the place from the Old South and New England. Its lawyers were distinguished for ability and statecraft. No greater man than Rusk ever lived in Texas. Henry Watterson told this writer years ago that if Rusk had not come to an untimely end he would have been elected president of the United States in 1859; that he was regarded by the democrats north and south as the only man of sufficient statesmanship, wisdom and conservatism to avert a civil war.

Judge Reagan also told me that when he went to the congress of the United States in 1858 that Rusk's name was mentioned oftener than that of any other man for the presidency. Many were great lawyers, learned physicians and able preachers whose names are yet household words who settled in Nacogdoches in the early days. Education was a matter that deeply concerned the new comers. A law was enacted by the republic setting aside a certain number of acres of the public domain for the establishment and maintenance of an academy for college in each county in the new nation. Nacogdoches was among the very first to avail itself of that provision. A college was chartered and the buildings erected and soon it was a going institution, and for many years, until it was superseded by the common school system after the civil war, it was the pride of the town.

The present city schools occupy the old college campus, a site not surpassed in natural beauty except by the grounds secured for the normal.

Nacogdoches is proud of its achievement, rightly so, and all Eastern Texas has a right to rejoice with her. The normal will flourish there. Not in numbers will it excel some of the others, but in material it will never have a superior. For some reasons which the sages have never exactly accounted for the brain and sinew that enter into the growth and development of the Eastern Texas boys and girls produce the highest quality of moral and intellectual fibre.

It is fitting in more ways than we have time to relate that the Stephen F. Austin Normal be located at Nacogdoches (without disparaging the fair name of Austin, it should be the Thomas J. Rusk Normal). It is fitting because of the historical wealth of the place, the beauty of the site, the center of a large population, the healthfulness of its climate, and the high and cultivated standard of its citizenship and the easy proximity to a territory which when fully developed will, in our opinion, be the most desirable land to live in on this side of the equator—R. T. Milner in Rusk had not come to an untimely

TRANSFER PUPILS DO NOT SHARE IN LOCAL TAX MONEY

Just a word about the election on the 30th of this month for increase of the tax rate for maintenance of our schools. There seems to be in the minds of some a very wrong impression about the pupils transferred into this district. These transfers do not share in our local tax money, as some seem to think. I have been a member of the board for the greater part of 17 or 18 years, and to my certain knowledge it has always been the custom of the school board to ascertain just how far the state money would maintain the school and allow these transfer pupils free tuition for that length of time and then require them to pay their tuition for the remainder of the term.

I make this statement for the reason that some of those opposing the measure have repeatedly stated that the school board has been allowing these transfer pupils to share in the local tax money, attempting to use this as an argument against voting for the increased tax—an argument that is most certainly based on ignorance of the facts.

The proposed increase in the tax rate is absolutely necessary for the maintenance of our schools up to their present high standard, and, in fact, if it is not voted for, we lose our affiliation, and with it our standing as one of the very best schools in the state.

DISTRICT INSTITUTE CENTER NEXT YEAR

At the close of the meeting of District Teachers' Institute at Lufkin last week the organization voted unanimously to meet here next year, the meeting being held beginning on the first Monday in September.

Since the organization of the district institute last year the first meeting was held at Nacogdoches and the next at Lufkin. Center was a candidate each time for the meeting and at Nacogdoches last year it was agreed to come here.

T. H. Dillion went from here as a special representative of the Chamber of Commerce and the citizens generally to present the invitation and County Superintendent Day of the Center schools, as well as R. F. Davis, superintendent of the Nacogdoches city schools, and Eld. Gordon, pastor of the Christian church here, presented Center's claim to the meeting and when the vote was had it was unanimous.

The entertainment of the institute will probably be the largest undertaking that Center has ever had. The attendance this year was something like 600 teachers from the counties composing the district, being Nacogdoches, Angelina, Shelby and San Augustine. The teachers of Shelby county will be joint hosts to the visiting teachers and Center will do its part towards making the meeting a pleasant one.

Those attending from this county state that the proceedings held at Lufkin last week were very interesting and instructive. The work was conducted by five university men and the course given just like the regular courses in the university, which made the work not only interesting but very instructive. The attendance from this county was the largest in the history of the institute work.

One member of the faculty of the Sam Houston Normal Institute met with the District Institute and organized an ex-students association for East Texas for this Normal College. Superintendent Chandler of this place was elected president of the association and Gaines Mosby of Timpson as vice president. Miss Jesse Hamers was elected secretary.—Center Champion.

PROHIBITION AGENTS APPOINTED

Austin, Texas, Sept. 26.—Federal Prohibition Director Morris announced the appointment of four additional prohibition agents today: A. G. Armstrong of Crawford, Edward Fly of Brownsville, P. V. Petty of Fort Worth and W. M. Stratton of Houston.

JOE C. SPURGEON

Mr. Joe C. Spurgeon, aged about 60 years, died Friday night at his home in the Alazan community. No particulars of his illness were available.

Mr. Spurgeon had spent his long life in the community in which he died, and was well known to a large number of the residents, especially to our elder people, who were his friends and acquaintances of former years.

Like Going to a Fair

THERE'S something fascinating about a fair. Things are always moving. Folks come from far and near to see, to hear and compare.

But nobody would think of going to fair every day. It would take too much valuable time. Besides, there's a continuous substitute right in your home, though you may not have realized it. For this newspaper conducts a regular fair every day in its advertising columns.

Here merchants and makers of everything you need or want display before you their most attractive wares. You have only to choose at your ease what you care most about before actually going to see the products so displayed.

There's a world of information and interest in the advertisements. The time and trouble they save you are beyond calculation. Always feel you're shopping when you read the advertisements. You'll find the habit pleasant and profitable.

CORRECTION AND STATEMENT

I have been told that there was a statement some weeks ago in one of the local papers, that I had broken down, and had to be given a vacation for a month to recuperate my health and strength. That was a mistake, as the appended statement will indicate. My health through the summer was never better, and I never held up better through the summer campaign. I give the chief items that indicate something of my activities from June 1 to September 22, as follows:

Sermons and addresses138
Visits in homes79
Prayer in homes11
Tracts distributed136
Accessions to churches70
Sunday-schools organized2
B. Y. P. U. organized1
Miles traveled875
Financial results were gratifying. There are many gratifying results from work, one outstanding result being the uplift and strengthening of church members where I have labored.

REESE-BURGESS

News has been received in the city of the marriage of Miss Mattie M. Burgess to Carl Edwin Reese of Dallas. Miss Burgess was quietly married at the Oak Cliff Methodist church at 5:30 Sunday afternoon, September 18th, Dr. S. M. Gibson officiating. Only a few of their most intimate friends were present.

Mr. Reese is a young architectural engineer of Dallas and a very promising young man.

Mrs. Reese, who was formerly known in Nacogdoches as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Burgess, is a very sweet and charming young lady. She is a graduate in fine and applied arts of the College of Industrial Arts. She will continue her study of interior decorations in connection with the work of Mr. Reese. They will make their future home in Dallas.

Mrs. J. R. Gray entertained with a most delightful party Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Ida Cottingham, who leaves for her home in Laredo next week. Euchre was the game. At the conclusion of which it was found that George Wessells had won the gentleman's prize and Mrs. Joe Ivey the lady's, while Mrs. Hillincamp carried off the booty. A most delicious refreshment course was served. Twenty-one relatives were the recipients of this happy hospitality, each one thanking the hostess for such a pleasant evening and wishing for another real soon.

Disposition of Funds

On last Thursday morning, following the lamentable drowning of Miss Dee Ramsey on the evening before, the members of the teachers' institute, before learning of the determination of the Chamber of Commerce to take care of all expenses incident to the burial of the young lady, subscribed to a fund to this purpose, $79.35 being raised before this move was stopped by Secretary Hall, Judge Mansboth also being arrested in a movement among the business interests of the city with the same end in view. This fund has been supplemented by a contribution from the Houston branch of the Salvation Army, which expressed a desire to aid in this laudable undertaking, accompanying a nice letter with a check for $25, making a total of $104.35 turned over to the Chamber of Commerce to assist in defraying the funeral expenses of the unfortunate victim of drowning. As this body of representative Lufkin citizens had already expressed its intentions in the matter, this fund was today mailed to the parents of the deceased, stating by whom contributed and the amount of each and suggesting that it be used in meeting any additional expense incurred in the burial or to be used in the erection of a life memorial, its expenditure being left solely to the discretion and wishes of the family. The Chamber of Commerce refused to apply any portion of this amount to the expense incurred, and its action in thus disposing of these contributions will no doubt meet the approval of not only the donors but the entire citizenship of Lufkin as well.—Lufkin News, 21st.

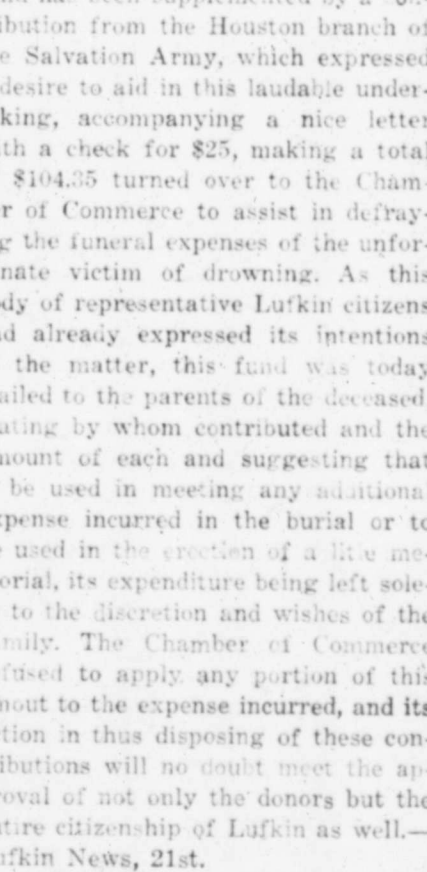

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks for the many kindnesses at the time of the death and interment of our son and brother, Eugene H. Johnson, and for the sympathy of those who came to us with words of consolation in our grief. When their hour of trouble comes, may they find the same generous kindness they showered upon us.

KU KLUX DONATE $100 TO CONFEDERATE VETERANS

September Seventeenth, Nineteen Hundred Twenty One. Mr. E. B. Lewis, City.

Dear Judge Lewis—The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan owe a high allegiance to the Old Confederate Veterans. We are engaged in a sincere and determined effort to perpetuate the principles and objects for which you have fought.

As the time approaches for the reunion to be held at Chattanooga we are not unmindful of the high privilege it affords us to tender you thru you substantial evidence of our love and esteem in the form of currency in the amount of One Hundred Dollars which is enclosed herewith and which we ask be used to defray the expenses of yourself and comrades who desire to attend the reunion.

Our hearts glow with a renewed sense of gratitude and pride towards the Confederate Soldiers who in their arduous self sacrifice bestowed upon our Southland the richest heritage and the most far reaching extensions of freedom and democracy the world has ever known. We are with you to the last man and last dollar. If you need more money for expenses notify the Sentinel and we will send it to them.

Yours most sincerely,
Stone Fort Klan, Number Ninety-Eight, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The above letter was on last Saturday submitted to Camp Henry Raguet, U. C. V., No. 620, Nacogdoches, Texas, for acceptance or rejection of the $100 tendered to the camp.

The donation was accepted by a unanimous vote, with instructions to the Adjutant to extend the thanks of the old Vets to Stone Fort Klan, No. 98. Many expressions of appreciation were heard among the old soldiers. Their minds seemed to revert at once to the dark days of carpetbag and seaway rule in remembrance of the valuable and patriotic services to the South by the Klan.

Without lengthy details they no doubt remembered the time of the raising of the old ancient symbol of an unconquered race of men; and as at one time on every mountain range of the South the "Fiery Cross of Old Scotland's Hills" gleamed proclaiming the fact that "civilization had been saved," we look forward to the time in the near future when the K. K. K. lovers of constitutional, rule, law and order, chivalry, religion and patriotism, will prove to have been a patriotic factor in bringing about such conditions in this country whence we may raise the old fiery symbol on every hill top to proclaim to the world not only the fact that civilization has again been saved, but that the old democracy of the South has been revived, and we will again live in a constitutional government of peace, happiness and prosperity.

E. B. Lewis,
Adjutant, Camp Henry Raguet, No. 620, U. C. V.

BODY ARRIVED TODAY

The body of Sergeant Fred R. Lindsey, shipped from Hoboken, N. J., arrived in Lufkin at 11:55 this morning. As stated in a recent issue of the News the young man was killed in France on November 2, 1918, being just twenty-five years of age on the day he made the supreme sacrifice on the battle field. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Lindsey of this city, was one of the most highly respected young men in this locality, his sad ending being the occasion for deep sorrow, not only among his loved ones but by all who enjoyed his acquaintance.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon, Friday, September 23, at 1 o'clock at the First Methodist church, conducted by Revs. R. L. Cole and Carter Fuller, with interment at Odd Fellow's Cemetery.

In common with legions of friends of the family, the News joins in extending sincere condolence to all the bereaved.—Lufkin News, 22d.

CHICAGO'S LIBEL SUIT

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Protection of "entrenched authority" from inquiry and criticism was declared to be "the end and animus" of Chicago's $10,000,000 suit against the Chicago Tribune by Weymouth Kirkland of the Tribune's counsel, who opened the argument in the case today.

CAUGHT ANOTHER ROBBER

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 26.—Joseph Kier, a local plumber, was charged today with conspiracy to rob the mails in connection with the attempted robbery of a Texas & Pacific mail car here two weeks ago. Kier gave $2,000 bond before United States Commissioner Mitchell.

DISPUTE OVER USE OF CAVES

Scientists Disagree as to Whether They Were Habitations or Tombs of Primitive Race.

Curious caves in the Matsuyama hills, in the province of Saitama, near Tokyo, Japan, are believed by some to have been the homes of an ancient race called the Tuschiguma, or Earth Spiders, who lived long before the ancient Ainos. Others think them to be tombs, while many are convinced that they are merely shelters used by the primitive tribe when pursued by enemies.

The caves are all on the southern slope of the hills, and command an extended view of a fertile valley. This strategic position argues for those who believe the caves to have been habitations and not tombs. About 200 of them have been unearthed. Seen from a distance they resemble a huge swallow bank. They are so close together that the inner walls almost touch, and are entered through a narrow, long, low passageway—so low in fact that a man cannot stand upright in the largest one. Each room is about six by nine feet in size; the ceiling is domed, and along the side is a ledge raised about nine inches from the ground. This was doubtless covered with leaves and used as a bed.

No tools, weapons or household articles have been unearthed and there are no drawings on the walls, nor any sign of a pathway outside. The only light comes from the passageway. The caves are practically unknown and unvisited, except by a few scholars.

REASON FOR COLORED EGGS

Mother Nature Painted Them That They Might Be Preserved From Their Natural Enemies.

Nature equips all living things with protection of some kind against their enemies.

The larger animals are able, by reason of their strength, to give a good account of themselves in combat. Birds and many of the smaller animals depend upon the rapidity of their movements. But there is another effective means of self-preservation known as "protective coloration."

Snakes and many varieties of fish form an excellent illustration. Their scales are so colored that they blend with the surrounding rocks or the shadows of the water, making them almost invisible to the eye. In fact, it is only when one of these protectively colored animals moves that its presence is apparent.

The same principle is responsible for the different colors of birds' eggs. The mother bird is unable to fight aggressively, so she has to seek refuge in flight. During the time she is away from the nest, either seeking safety from her enemies or looking for food, the eggs must be protected in some manner. It is for this reason that they are colored to blend with the surroundings in which they are laid—some of them spotted because they are laid in the sand or among pebbles, others buff-colored or green to match the material of the nest.

Peculiarity of Dreams.

A curious hint is given by dreams of things which are impossible subjects, it would seem, of thought. I hardly know how to tell my meaning, but fellow dreamers will be able to interpret by their own experience. We have dreamed something, it was clear, the impression lingers when we wake. But it is not reducible to terms of thought, much less words. We have no grasp on it as an image or a sensation, yet in some remote corner of ourself we know perfectly what it was. It is not a matter of having forgotten—the thing is inexpressible to others or ourself. Only itself knows what it was, and itself is buried away somewhere within us. When vainly trying to master the conception of the fourth dimension we are reminded of those dreams.—Exchange.

Pemaquid, 1607.

In this time of commemorating the Pilgrims, the people of Pemaquid, Maine, rise to remind the world that a colony of English settlers landed at Pemaquid about fourteen years before the little company that crossed on the Mayflower debarked at Plymouth. Pemaquid had developed into quite a trading colony before the Plymouth settlers managed to gain a foothold in the new country, and the Maine settlers provided the Pilgrims with a large quantity of food, according to the records, when appealed to by Governor Bradford. At Pemaquid may still be seen the remains of a fort that was erected in 1630 at a cost of $20,000, which was two-thirds of the entire appropriation of Massachusetts, which then included Maine, for that year.

The Man With the Toe.

Here is an extract from an article in the Geographical Magazine, in which the writer describes the laborious culture of rice on hillsides in the Yangtze valley:

"The rolly water makes the hoeing of his rice field impossible; so he does not hoe it, he toes it. With bare foot he feels about the plant with his toes, and if he finds a weed, he toes it out; then presses the dirt firmly in place again. With his right foot he toes two rows, with his left foot he toes four rows as he goes. That's the way he hoes."

White men can never expect—nor should be expected—to compete with this sort of thing.—Los Angeles Times.

A SHOOTING AFFRAY SATURDAY

A shooting affray occurred in the city Saturday about 11 a. m. in front of the White Rose Cafe. Mr. Jerry Fonville being shot in the neck and Hubert Snelling receiving a bullet thru the left side that proved to be only a flesh wound. Deputy Sheriff Wade McClanahan did the shooting, which was justified according to all reports of the trouble, as it is said that Mr. Fonville approached Mr. McClanahan on the streets earlier in the morning and after asking him if he was armed and being informed that he was not, stated that "you had better arm your self, as you are apt to need your gun today." It is said that Mr. McClanahan entered the cafe of Mr. J. H. Halbert for a cup of coffee with Mr. Richard Epps and Mr. Fonville was seated at the counter of the restaurant and upon seeing Mr. McClanahan, made for his gun, which was found lying on the floor with the hammer pulled back, after the shot from Mr. McClanahan's pistol had taken effect in Mr. Fonville's neck.

Mr. Snelling was shot accidentally, he being an employe of the restaurant for the day and was waiting on the counter.

Mr. Fonville died Sunday night at about 9 o'clock of paralysis as a result of the shot, no doubt.—San Augustine Tribune, 22d.

BRIDAL COUPLE ARRIVE

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Cason, Jr., who were married Wednesday at Beaumont, arrived in the city Wednesday afternoon and are the guests of the groom's parents. After a few days spent here they will go to Orange, where they will make their home.

The Sentinel office was honored Saturday by a visit from Mrs. F. L. Perritte of Attoyac, mother of County Clerk J. F. Perritte. She was accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Nolie Locke, teacher of the Gravel Ridge school. At the age of 77 years Mrs. Perritte is active in mind and body, giving evidence of a vigor which many younger women might envy.

THREAD-RUBBER INSULATION

Willard

This trademark, stamped in red on the case, identifies the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery.

"What is Threaded Rubber?"

Threaded Rubber Insulation is made up of sheets of rubber, each pierced by 196,000 tiny threads. The rubber insulates each plate from its neighbor and the threads allow the battery solution to circulate freely.

Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation stays on the job month after month unaffected by acid and without a sign of splitting, cracking or perforation. It lasts as long as the battery plates and helps the battery give more miles of uninterrupted service per dollar.

You'll need a battery one of these days, so the time to get your battery information together is right now. We'll be glad to show you a Threaded Rubber Battery inside and outside and tell you why it saves you money.

BELIEVES IN RAINBOWS

A Chicago man, interviewed at Washington, where the speeding evil is perhaps at its worst, expressed the hopeful belief that in 10 years hence a man will be as safe on the streets of any city as on a battlefield. It must be delightful to tote this brand of rainbow sunshine around the country. But it twists an ordinary man's curiosity to understand how any American, free as the air to jump for his life at 99 percent of all street crossings, gets that way.

Ten years is a relatively long period in the life of an individual, but a short time in the evolution of a national habit. It is theoretically impossible that in 10 years motor car drivers will have placed under close restraint their impulse to run over every pedestrian they see desperately trying to carry his life in safety across a street or outlying highway. It is possible, but difficult to believe that such a happy day is so close.

The traditional beggar on horseback is a feeble-minded infant compared to the modern red-blooded 101 1/2 percent motor car driver. Alcohol is said to be the great agent to steal away men's brains. Today we have developed the dope industry as a national pastime and enterprise. But neither moonshine, home brew or drug dope can ever hope to equal the seductive influence which four pneumatic tired wheels throw into a man the instant he feels them revolve under him. The man who thinks that in 10 short years human life will be as safe in the streets of a big American city as on a great battlefield has faith enough to go hunting a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

OUR GREATEST INDUSTRY

East Texas is the coming country of the state, if not all the South. We have materials that have never been utilized, resources that have never been developed, and riches that have never been touched since the creation. Some day even the food products of this section will make us the provision headquarters of the land, and bring vast populations to our farms and factories. But the law of commerce is that investment must always precede accumulation and expansion.

While we are looking for great institutions and industrial organizations, we must not ignore the fact that the making of good and efficient citizens is the first and paramount duty. The best investment that any city can make is that which provides for the training and equipment of its boys and girls. Therefore, while we must bear the burdens of taxation for the great war, for the nation, the state and city, even for good roads and every modern convenience, the provision for education of our young people is not really a tax. It is an investment which will save money, conserve morals, inspire industry and build up the country.

The student of modern life knows that the bulk of crime comes from the ignorant and circumscribed, the unhappiness of the land comes from the deficient, and the want of the people arises because men and women do not know how to conform to the trained units of our complex commercial and industrial life. The real obligations of citizenship cannot be met by the untaught and untrained people of the future. If one hundred percent Americanism is the demand of the times, the American public school is the co-efficient of that demand.

Therefore, I am making this plea in order to impress every good citizen with the imperative duty of going to the polls and casting a vote for the bonds necessary to cover the needs for the enlargement and extension of our school work in Nacogdoches. I am pleading that every mother and father become active in this campaign, and see to it that we have the largest vote in our history on Friday, September 30th, in favor of bonds for the schools and in favor of giving all our young people the best training possible for the struggles and duties of future citizenship.

TOLSTOY IRKED BY IDLENESS

Letter Written by Russian Philosopher Condemns Life Led by Indolent Men of Means.

The Vossische Zeitung prints the following letter by Tolstoy, written in 1884, with the remark that it has never before been published except in Russian, and that its value lies in the fact that as early as 1884 Tolstoy had about made up his mind to do what he did in 1910—leave home and live the life of a peasant. The letter reads in part:

"I am living in the country, involuntarily according to a new method. I go to bed early, get up early, write very little but work a great deal, either making boots or mowing hay. I see with joy (or possibly it only seems to me like joy) that there is something up in my family. They do not condemn me; as a matter of fact, they seem ashamed of themselves.

"What miserable creatures we are and how we have all gone astray. There are a great many of us here, my own children and the children of Kusnitsky, and nobody does a thing but gup down food. They are all big and strong, yet they do nothing. People in the village are at work. My children eat and make their clothes and their rooms dirty and that is all. Everything is done for them by somebody else, yet they do nothing for anybody. And worst of all, they seem to feel that it is as it should be. But I have had my own part in building up such a system, and I can never forget it. I feel that for them I am a trouble-fete. But it is clear that they are beginning to see that this cannot go on this way forever."

HAD NO CAUSE FOR WORRY

Under the Circumstances Wash White Could Afford to Live Life of Elegant Leisure.

Senator Gronna of Dakota was analyzing a political opponent at a Dakota luncheon.

"The man is had through and through," he said. "He's actually so bad that he mistakes badness for goodness—is proud of himself, in short.

"By Jove, he makes me think of Uncle Washington White. As Uncle Wash loafed in front of the poolroom one morning the preacher's wife stopped and said:

"Washington, why don't you go to work?"

"Old Wash White, as he puffed serenely on his cornob, answered:

"Bekase Ah got a wife an' children to support."

"But," the preacher's wife impatiently interrupted, "you can't support them by loafing here in front of this poolroom."

"Excuse me, Miss Fo'thly," said Wash, with dignity. "Lemme finish mah remark. Wot Ah means to say is that Ah's got a wife an' chillun too support me."—Detroit Free Press.

New York Boys' New Game.

The game of marbles no longer holds a throne in boyville. Any New York side street where there's enough room between bluecoats and automobile traffic to play, will show you that a new game has taken its place.

"Sidewalk checkers," the boys call it. The new game really has the elements of both the old marble shooting days and checkers as played on a board. Checker men are used—red, black, blue—the color makes no difference. A ring is drawn with chalk and the object is to flip your checker man with enough force to knock your contenders out of the ring.

"Hully gee!" said a future Ponzal as he gathered up his winnings on Rende street near Broadway, "ain't I got enough lumber here to start me a paper mill?"—New York Sun.

Men Who Repair Skeletons.

There are two kinds of skeleton-menders—the bone surgeon and the skeleton-assembler. Art schools, medical colleges, and students of anatomy require an accurately constructed skeleton to aid in their work.

All the bones must be properly assorted and carefully put together. They are strung on fine wires. The skeleton-assembler must also pick out of the hundreds of odd bones that are sent him the 200 or more bones that belong to the particular individual being reconstructed. It is not an easy task, and the price of skeletons is justified by the amount of work required to construct them.—Popular Science Monthly.

The man replied: "Sorry, my little lad, but only one balloon to a boy. Have you any brothers at home?"

After a minute of deep thinking the lad gave this answer: "No, I have no brothers, but I have a sister who has a brother."—Indianapolis News.

CAT DELIVERED ITS MESSAGE

Battle-Scarred Feline Proved It at Least Had the Courage of Its Convictions.

The other night I saw a clever cat. He sat on the fence in the moonlight, all alone, writes a correspondent of the Boston Herald. He looked up at the moon and opened his mouth. I braced myself for what I believed to be coming, namely, his effort at self-expression. But no, this was a clever cat. Like O. Henry, he dealt in clever surprises. In his attitude there was something of suspense. My waiting nervous system felt the strain of it. Then he gave voice to a great silence. He said nothing in a dramatic way. With a self-satisfied smirk on his puffy face he jumped off the fence gracefully and disappeared into the night. He was a clever cat. He did the unexpected in an original and artistic way. He annoyed me, for he failed to live up to my conception of cats, yet I felt a certain admiration for him.

The next night another cat sat on the fence. This was a great cat, though his appearance was far from prepossessing. He was scrawny, and his coat bore, all too plainly, the scars of many a "foughten field." The divine light of unrest burned in his eyes. He threw back his head and poured out his very soul in vigorous expression, sincere and earnest, though unappreciated. Nothing daunted by the lack of applause, or by the shower of missiles directed at his scarred person, he gave full vent to his message in a form which, though unconventional, seemed best to fit his muse. Then, with an air of utter abandon, he shook the dust of the fence from his unconcerned feet and disappeared. "This," thought I, my ears still ringing, "was truly a great cat. He had a message and he gave it. Let the world receive it or reject it as it will."

WHERE HUSTLE IS UNKNOWN

Mallorca Justly Entitled to the Appellation Given to It, "Island of Calm."

Mallorca, a tiny speck of an island in the Mediterranean, is a land of peace and ease. A great painter and writer who visited the island, has christened it "The Island of Calm," because there everyone moves, rests, talks, walks and conducts his courtesies as if the day had 48 hours, the mile about 16,000 feet, and the span of human life 700 years, so little haste do they make in living and enjoying life. These people who take life so leisurely, are not lazy, shiftless or unpleasant in personal appearance or manner. They are intelligent, honest, capable of work, sober and economical. These characteristics, preserved throughout centuries of uninterrupted peace and tranquility, have made them peaceable, trusting and home-loving. The men are of medium height, strong and agile.

And as for the women, they possess the same lovely skin as the women of North America, features as if sculptured by Phidias or Praxiteles, and they walk like goddesses. But they know nothing of the "joy of living," due partially to ancestral Arabic influences and to the fact that their island has for so long been under strict religious repression.

The Opening of a Lily.

The comparatively rare instances in which the motions of plants, such as the opening of buds into blossoms, occur during a single brief period of watching, always give much pleasure to the onlooker.

An English botanist, who has spent much time in India, tells of a species of lily, Crimium augustum, which in an Indian garden opens with uncommon swiftness. Just after a shower of rain in the evening he saw the pink-striped buds of one of these lilies, each about four inches long, on the point of opening. Passing the plant shortly afterward, he was surprised to find the blossoms wide open, and in 20 minutes more the petals had curved themselves backward like ram's horns. In an hour the points of the petals had swept over an arc of at least eight or nine inches.

Overheated Houses.

Atmospheric conditions in homes, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, are frequently not maintained as they should be. Houses are often overheated. In most cases practically no thought is given to humidity, or air moistening. Physicians insist that an overheated house is unhealthy, and that colds, sore throats, coughs, and the tendency to be nervous and feverish may be attributed to continually breathing air having too little moisture in it.

Miles of Film.

Usually 150,000 to 200,000 feet are run through the camera to get a six-reel, or 6,000-foot picture. The director stations three, four or five cameras to take the same scene. He has one camera close beside the struggling villain and hero, another grinding from an elevation, still another at this angle, one more at that angle. Where all of these negatives are developed, part of each enter into the composition of the completed reel.

The Part of Wisdom.

"Why is the director wearing a baseball catcher's mask?"

"We're starting a new comedy in which the pies and brickbats are to be thrown by the lady stars."—Film Fun.

NATURE FOND OF FREAKS

Good Old Dame Seems to Take Pride in Perpetuating Physical Oddities in Mankind.

Occasionally it happens that a boy or girl is born with webbed feet—that is to say, with toes united by fleshy tissues. It is a phenomenon called "syndactyly."

This eccentricity is apt to be handed down from generation to generation in a family, appearing in some of its members, but not in others.

The Magazine of Heredity describes one such case, in a branch of an old New England family. The paternal grandfather was web-footed and bequeathed his peculiar toes to a son, who passed them along to three of his six children.

If these people were to intermarry for three or four generations with another web-footed family, all the children born would exhibit the peculiarity. For nature, curiously enough, seems always willing to perpetuate freaks of any kind.

What we call freaks, or "sports," in the animal or the vegetable world are nature's little experiments. It is by this means that she creates new species and varieties. Some anthropologists are of opinion that all human beings were originally black and that the first white man was a sport.

It might be said that many white people today respond to that description, though not in the same sense.—Philadelphia Ledger.

WRITER MUST HAVE STYLE

Without It, Declares Arnold Bennett, He Will Be Unable to Get His Message Understood.

You cannot have good matter with bad style. Examine the point more closely. A man wishes to convey a fine idea to you. He employs a form of words. That form of words is his style. Having read, you say: "Yes, this idea is fine." The writer has therefore achieved his end. But in what imaginable circumstances can you say: "Yes, this idea is fine, but the style is not fine?" The sole medium of communication between you and the author has been the form of words. The fine idea has reached you. Hence the fineness must be in the words. You may say, superiorly: "He has expressed himself clumsily, but I can see what he means." By what light? By something in the words. In the style. That something is fine. Moreover, if the style is clumsy, are you sure that you can see what he means? You cannot be quite sure. And at any rate, you cannot see distinctly. The "matter" is what actually reaches you, and it must necessarily be affected by the style.—Arnold Bennett.

Rents High in Stone Age.

Southern California had apartment profiteers back in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, according to a scientific correspondent whose investigation of the stone age dwellings, hewn out of solid rock, has convinced him that keeping up an apartment never was a snap. At the entrance to one six-apartment cavern he found hieroglyphics, which he has deciphered to mean the rates for apartments as follows:

One abalone, one sun.
Two abalones, two suns.
Three abalones, three suns.
Twelve abalones, one moon.

Our correspondent figures that the home hunters among the Pimung Indians had to pay at the rate of one abalone a sleep, or day, or 12 abalones per lunar month. The cave was the largest on the island and comprised the apartment house de luxe of that period. A short distance below the entrance to the stone apartment house the professor found a huge pile of empty abalone shells, proving that the landlord did a more or less rushing business.

"Fossil Raindrops."

In slabs of Triassic rock little depressions are often seen that have been called "fossil raindrops." The idea being that they were formed by showers on muddy sea beaches, and preserved by being covered with a layer of mud at the next high tide.

But lately it has been suggested, in view of observations on a flood plain in the Horn valley, that the supposed impressions of rain drops may really be due to pittings formed by bubbles in a film of mud at the bottom of shallow water. There have been watched the formation of many pittings, and it has been found that after the mud has dried they exactly resemble "fossil raindrops."

Has Had Ten Capitals.

North Carolina has had at least ten capitals, including Bath, Edenton, Brunswick, Wilmington, Newberry, Hillsboro, Smithfield, Fayette and Raleigh. The reason for so many lay in the custom prior to 1791 of transferring the seat of government to the place of residence of the governor or the temporary meeting place of the assembly.

In 1791 one square mile of land was purchased for the foundation of Raleigh as the permanent seat of government. At present the city covers four square miles.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF NACOGDOCHES INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Ladies and Gentlemen:

On August 30th, 1921, the board of trustees was presented two petitions properly executed and signed by many of the taxpayers of the district, one asking that an election be held to determine whether the maintenance tax of said district shall be increased to sixty-five cents on the One Hundred Dollars valuation of property in said district, and the other to determine whether Fifty Thousand Dollars in bonds shall be issued for building, repairing and equipping school buildings in said district.

After due consideration the board of trustees ordered these two elections to be held at the same time and place, viz., on September 30, 1921, at the City Hall in Nacogdoches, Texas.

Interested parties have asked some questions about how the bond money would be used and we are issuing this statement in answering these questions.

First—The new High School Building, erected in 1916, has been outgrown to the extent that three rooms in the Central Grammar School building have to be used for high school purposes, and, even at that, eight groups or sections of students have a larger enrollment than the State Department of Education will permit for accredited high schools (see page 21 of the bulletin issued by the State Superintendent on July 30th, 1921). Therefore, additional rooms—at least six or eight in number—to accommodate the present High School, to say nothing of ten years hence, are needed.

Second—We have found it necessary to send 94 fourth-grade students home until two rooms can be constructed for the accommodation in the Central Grammar school building. When these two rooms are finished, still there will be seven sections or rooms in the Central Grammar school which will have larger enrollments than the State Department of Education will permit in a grammar school connected with an accredited high school (see page 24 of the bulletin issued by the Superintendent on July 30, 1921).

Third—The city of Nacogdoches has given notice to the board of trustees that sanitary toilets must be installed at the West End School, or prosecution will follow failure to do so; therefore, this improvement will have to be made at once.

Fourth—Much repairing must be done at once to practically every school building in this district to make them sanitary and to preserve the buildings themselves—a new metal roof for the old university building, mending and painting the roofs on each of the other buildings, etc. Extensive repairs and additions should be made at once to the sanitary toilet fixtures of the Central Grammar School and the present high school. Much complaint has already been registered about these.

Fifth—Equipment—desks, library books, maps, charts, etc.—that is required by the State Department, to say nothing of the welfare of our children, is needed in every school room we have in this district.

Sixth—Equipment must be provided for the new rooms constructed.

Now, one can readily see from the above statement how the fifty thousand dollars of bond money should be used and especially when it is so apparent that this amount could be used to a very great advantage on the High School campus alone for the High School and the Central Grammar School. The bond tax rate for old and new, should not exceed 20c on the hundred dollar valuation.

When we consider the necessity for the increase in the available school fund we find the need just as evident and urgent.

We must have two new teachers for the fourth grade, and even then we will need at least two more in the Central Grammar School at once. All this means that more money must be paid for the maintenance than was paid last year, and we have less money to pay it with. The state apportionment is one dollar and fifty cents less per pupil than it was last year and that means three thousand dollars less for this district. We are told that the property renditions are less than for last year and that means less local tax money. So, you see, we have less money all around and need more. There is no way around the increase asked for unless the Nacogdoches High School is to lose its standing as a High School as well as its affiliation. By referring to page seven of the bulletin issued by the State Superintendent on July 30th, 1921, we find that it is necessary for us to maintain a nine-month free school to hold our classification and affiliation.

In view of the fact that for five years we have fought for a normal college to be located at Nacogdoches and expected its coming to increase our population, it will be hard to explain WHY in the very month in which Governor Neff signed the bill for our normal that we failed to provide for the education of our children in such a way as to maintain the standing we have held among the high schools of Texas so long and in fact to make it possible to enter our own normal when it is completed, for if we lose our affiliation our own graduates will have to take an entrance examination to get into our own college.

Already, four districts in Nacogdoches county have voted to increase their school tax rate to one dollar. Shall we fail to vote sixty-five cents when Douglass, Martinsville and other districts have voted one dollar?

We must have more rooms and more teachers to half-way do our duty by our children. That means more dollars for bonds to build the rooms, and more dollars for the maintenance tax to pay for the teachers. Which shall we place first—our DOLLARS or our CHILDREN?

The man who has no children or whose children have already graduated in the Nacogdoches High School while it was affiliated and then entered college without the embarrassment of taking an entrance examination may be tempted to place his dollars first.

That is not the "Nacogdoches way" is it?

DOLLARS FIRST OR CHILDREN FIRST?

ENDORSES THE TAX

Nacogdoches, Texas., Sept. 27, 1921.

Mr. H. L. McKnight, City:

Dear Sir—In compliance with your request of today to make a brief statement why I favor the school bond issue that is to be voted on in a few days, I beg to hnd you herewith a few of my reasons:

First—Because on last Tuesday 195 children were sent home because of the lack of room and teachers for them.

Second—I believe the time is now here that we should quit measuring things or men by the dollar mark standard, but by what they do and think, and how can we have thinking men without schools? How can we have schools without money? And how can we get money without taxation?

Third—I believe it a good investment. A good investment for a poor man because it gives him a good opportunity to educate his children. A good investment for the property owner because good schools make a better town in which to live, therefore creating a good demand for his property.

Yours truly,

Lee Gaston.

THE HI-Y CLUB

The Nacogdoches High School Y. M. C. A., known as the Hi Y Club, had a meeting for the election of officers Thursday afternoon at the close of school. The club elected the following officers:

President, Albert Eiland; vice president, Bernice Shofner; secretary, Curtis Hardeman; treasurer, Bronson Spears.

Mr. W. J. Green of the faculty of the high school was elected adult leader and counselor.

Clinton D. Thornton of Dallas, county work secretary, and Merrill E. Brown of Houston, industrial secretary of the Y. M. C. A., were present and gave short talks to the club.

There are nearly sixty Hi-Y clubs in Texas and plans are now being made for the annual state conference of the clubs.

The conference last year was held at A. & M. College.

The visiting state secretaries expressed much satisfaction with the work already done and the prospects for this scholastic year for the Nacogdoches club.

WILL THURSTON

The body of Will Thurston of Attorney arrived on the T. & N. O. train Wednesday afternoon from Groesbeck, where he died Tuesday. The young man has a number of relatives in the county, and his unexpected death came as a shock to all. Funeral arrangements could not be learned.

MACCABEES LADIES ENTERTAIN

The ladies of the Maccabees enjoyed a reception at the home of Mrs. G. H. King on South Fredonia street between the hours of 7 and 9 Thursday evening.

This reception came as a climax to friendly rivalry between the members, they being divided as nearly equal as possible, and each side choosing leaders. Mrs. R. E. Byrd and Mrs. Foster Martin being chosen. It was decided between the opposing members that they work for new members for a period of three months and at the end of this time, the group getting the greater number of new members should be entertained by the losers.

The defeat was grand for the victors, for they were royally entertained and served to a course of delicious ice cream and cake, followed by heaps of luscious fruits. A social hour was then enjoyed. Mrs. Robert Burk and Miss Muckleroy reading some interesting literature.

The Maccabees of this city are making rapid strides in numbers and co-operation and this gives each one an excellent opportunity to help in building up one of the most successful fraternal orders in the world, as well as one of the largest, as every member shares in this success and feels that he is doing something to further the uplifting of the oncoming generation.

Mr. S. Mintz of Dallas arrived in the city Tuesday afternoon and will remain several days looking after business affairs.

TO THE JURORS AND SPECIAL VENIREMEN

Any man summoned as a special venireman must be at the court on the day in which the case is set that he is a venireman in, and at the time of day. Otherwise, the court will be stopped and several hundred people will have to wait on one man, if he is not in attendance.

The Judge cannot excuse a man as special venireman unless he comes into open court at the time the case is set. Such person shall be excused only by the written consent of the lawyers representing both sides, or if such venireman has a legal excuse, such as road overseer or gristmiller, sawmiller, minister of the Gospel, etc., he can make an affidavit before a notary public and send same to the clerk of the district court, so that it will reach the clerk before the date on which the case is set; otherwise, the party will have to come in person to make his excuse. Business will not excuse a man as a special venireman.

All who have been summoned and not appearing will be fined, unless they have an affidavit showing that they are exempt.

L. D. Guinn, District Judge.

JOHN W. HILL

Mr. John W. Hill, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed residents of the Appleby community, died about 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, in his 75th year.

Mr. Hill had been in failing health with heart trouble for several months, and about noon became suddenly worse. His daughters, Mrs. F. P. Marshall and Miss Vera Hill of this city were notified of his desperate condition and started at once for his bedside, but he had passed away before they arrived.

Deceased is survived by his wife and nine grown children. Further details were unavailable.

AN APOLOGY TO FELIX G. BRILEY

To The Sentinel:

I was surprised and distressed to learn that in my recent Traditions about Brileytown, I had sorely offended my olden time friend, Felix G. Briley of Swift, by the use of the name of his respected father, S. R. Briley, who was also an esteemed friend of my early life.

I hereby make a most unqualified apology, and I beg humble pardon for by unintentional offense.

It is foreign to my nature to be discourteous or to cast disagreeable reflections upon any person. I confess by indiscretion in this instance in the misuse of words, or language, for I have never heard of an unfavorable reference to the name of Briley, not even that Brileytown was named for him, or that he ever lived there, or fell below the rank of an honorable and highly respected gentleman wherever he lived.

I will further explain that my story about Brileytown and Wolf's bridge was intended in a playful spirit, and was largely imagination. The names of Briley, Wiley and Belle just fell into the story, and there may never have been any such real facts as were recited for a joking yarn. And my Wolf fight story was the same sort.

The traditions that I write are largely of a personal character, and the Sentinel takes them offhand for granted. But offensive points unavoidably drop in. Please excuse us and don't get mad, at our tales, good or bad. We don't mean any hurt or harm.

J. E. Mayfield.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT

To the Editor of The Sentinel:

Just a few words regarding the election for issuing bonds to erect buildings for housing school pupils and providing for a fund to engage the services of more teachers and maintenance of present buildings. Of course there are some who will advance the argument that our taxes are high enough now, but conditions in our schools this year and in the past year very forcibly disprove this argument. Some do not take into consideration that our school is growing each year both in attendance and reputation. Our reputation is at stake, and unless the crowded condition which now exists is remedied immediately the school will lose its credits and thereby lose its affiliation with all universities and colleges with which now it is affiliated.

During the war just past the writer was in a position to learn in a small degree the appalling number of men and boys who reside here in our midst who could not even then write their names. Since the war the majority of these men have realized their handicap and are making such efforts as they can to get an education, and we who were more fortunate should assist them all we possibly can and at the same time guard against such conditions in the future.

The proposed increase in taxes represents only a matter of a few dollars to us—in fact not as much as some of us will spend in non-essential amusements. Of course I am only "a small fish in a big sea," but this increase means as much to me in proportion as it does to the wealthy in this district. And you can wager that I will vote for it even though I have to miss a meal or so in so doing.

Holloway Muller.

ESTIMATE OF KILLED IS FIFTEEN HUNDRED

Mayence, Sept. 22.—French troops and volunteer workers toiled throughout the night in the ruins of the Badische Aniline Company's war-chemical plant at Oppau, where hundreds of workmen were killed in an explosion yesterday. Estimates of the number of dead ranged as high as 1,500 early today, but definite figures are obviously impossible. More than 300 bodies have been recovered and it is known that at least 1,500 were injured. Oppau was virtually swept away and the explosion hurled desolation over a wide district on the west bank of the Rhine between Mannheim and Frankenthal. An investigation of the explosion has been ordered by the authorities. Order is maintained in Oppau and vicinity by French soldiers, the district being in the zone of occupation.

850 Bodies Recovered

Mayence, Sept. 22.—Already 2,500 persons have received treatment for injuries received in the explosion and 850 dead bodies have been recovered. This is the second time Oppau has been destroyed. It was swept away by a flood in 1883 when the dam above the town broke.

CONDUCTED "LOVE LOTTERY", AND LANDED IN JAIL

Denison, Texas, Sept. 22.—For more than ten years C. B. Hamilton, under arrest charged with fraudulent use of the mails in connection with an alleged "love lottery", lived among the negroes of Denison, according to the sheriff's office.

The alleged confession since his arrest revealed that Hamilton admitted he was white and posing as a negro, the statement said. Hamilton is in jail at Sherman awaiting to be taken back to Oklahoma to be arraigned before a United States commissioner.

DEAD AT GALVESTON

Galveston, Texas, Sept. 22.—Judge Miles Crowley of the county court died at his home here today. He was a well-known figure in the politics of today, and served in both branches of the legislature and one term in congress.

LONE MASKED BANDIT GETS $27,486 CASH AND BONDS

Mineral Wells, Texas, Sept. 22.—A lone masked bandit, after locking Cashier Louis Bryant in the vault Wednesday, robbed the banking house of Cunningham Bros. at Palo Pinto, 12 miles west of here, of $486 in cash and $27,000 in bonds. Posses are searching for the robber. Bryant was alone in the bank at the time of the robbery about 12:30 o'clock.

LONELIEST SPOT IN ENGLAND

Residents of Essex Village Surely Are Cut Off From the Society of Their Fellows.

The most inaccessible spot in England, according to a correspondent in the Manchester Guardian, is Foulness, in Essex. As the crow flies Foulness is barely forty miles from London—a little island sundered from the Essex marshes by the wide estuary of the Crouch. It costs about a pound ($5) to get from Burnham-on-Crouch—the nearest railway station—to Foulness and back, for there is no public service and a bargain for the trip has to be struck with a local boatman. When the boat reaches the pebble shore you scramble as best you can over the sea wall, and so to the surface of the island.

Foulness is about 14 miles round, and possesses a church, an inn and three shops, but no policeman and no doctor. The only industry besides farming appears to be shooting wild duck and widgeon, which abound here in company with many other birds of types rarely seen so far north. At low tide those of the islanders who possess no boat and no money to hire one can walk to the mainland by the Broomway, a huge stretch of sand, with little birch sticks marking the track. This takes them across the Foulness and Maylin sands to Wakering, and involves a tramp of from 10 to 20 miles, according to the point at which the island is left. Nothing can be seen of the outside world from Foulness, for on all sides it is shut in by the sea wall, and there is no vestige of a hill from which to obtain a view.

NATURE OF HOUSE-WARMING

Old Custom in England of Setting Out Meal for Entertainment of New Neighbors.

An ancient custom is still maintained in some parts of England on midsummer eve; every housekeeper who in the course of the year has changed his residence into a new neighborhood spreads a table before his door in the street with bread, cheese and ale for those who choose to resort to it.

The thought cannot but arise that if this custom were prevalent in the United States a vast number of our citizens would be "entertaining" their friends and neighbors in the street, owing to the number of removals which have taken place in the last year or two.

In Ireland on this day there are also remnants of the sun-worshippers. According to Rev. Donald McQueen "The Irish have ever been worshippers of the fire and of Baal, and are so to this day. The chief festival in honor of the sun and fire is upon the 21st of June (23d) when the sun arrives at the summer solstice, or, rather, begins its retrograde motion. We were told that at midnight we should see a singular sight and accordingly at midnight fires began to appear and the people danced about them and made their sons and daughters and cattle pass through the fire."—Chicago Journal.

That Word "Hospital."

One of the features of an ancient Roman home were the "hospitalia," or apartments set aside for strangers, or "hospes." Hence, in its original meaning the word "hospital" was applied to places where strangers were received and kindly entertained. The commonly restricted use of the term to designate places where sick strangers were received was an after development.

The word came to us directly from the French, who got it from the Romans. It is derived, of course, from the same root as "hospitable." The name "Hospital" was borne with pride by several semi-religious and semi-military orders, like the Knights of St. John or the Knights of Malta, who made it a business to relieve the poor, the strangers and the sick.

It is worth noting that the first "hospital" for diseased men and animals was established by the Buddhists in Hindustan.

Whistle Governs Wall Street.

"Ah, they go by the whistle here, too," observed the factory hand from up-state visiting in Wall street.

"Yes," said his city cousin, "that's the truth. I suppose the majority, or at least a large proportion, of the boys in Wall Street were born in the country, and lived in some country town before hitting the trail to the big city. In the country town everybody goes by the factory whistle. One doesn't see many clocks in Wall street or any factories with whistles to guide the 'boys' during lunch hour, but there's a building being torn down. And every wrecking crew is assisted by a dummy steam engine. Well, you see the wreckers lay off work at noon for lunch, and so do a majority of the Wall Streeters. Therefore when the dummy engine blows its whistle to call the wrecking crew back to labor, the Wall Streeter returns to his office."—New York Sun.

Public-Spirited Citizen.

"Mr. Gadsper, I understand you are going to run for office."
"It's all a mistake, sir."
"Indeed?"
"Yes, the fact that I've been getting my name in the paper quite often here of late is merely due to my interest in street paving, traffic laws, pernicious movies and one thing and another. I haven't the slightest intention of trying to capitalize my enthusiasm."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

SUICIDE FOLLOWING AN ATTEMPT AT MURDER

New York, Sept. 23.—Miss Mildred Hanan, said by the police to be the daughter of the late John H. Hanan, wealthy head of Hanan & Son, shoe manufacturers, was shot three times early today as she was emerging from an apartment house in Brooklyn with John S. Boland, an importer. Mrs. Grace Lawes, who fired the shots, then ended her own life by firing a bullet into her brain. Miss Hanan, in a hospital, refused to discuss the shooting. Boland, according to the police, attributed the shooting to jealousy, admitting that he quarreled with Mrs. Lawes recently over Miss Hanan.

HUNGARY MUST VACATE

Paris, Sept. 23.—Hungary in the near future must completely withdraw from Burgen, the land awarded Austria by the treaty of Trianon, or be forcibly expelled by the Allies, she was notified today by the Council of Ambassadors here.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Corsicana, Texas, Sept. 23.—Two hundred Corsicana citizens had a narrow escape yesterday when the end coach of a Corsicana-Mexia special became uncoupled from the train at Mexia and ran wild for eight miles. The speed of the car was decreased by an up-grade. A number of passengers received bruises and minor injuries by jumping from the car.

INDICTED FOR MURDER

McKinney, Texas, Sept. 23.—Ezell Stepp and his nephew, Argyle Stepp, were indicted today by the grand jury for murder in connection with the death of Brady Mills, who disappeared September 2 and whose body was found 14 days later in an abandoned well near here.

WAR CLOUD SHOWS

Riga, Sept. 23.—A note demanding that Rumania surrender General Makno, anti-bolshevik leader in the Ukraine, together with his followers, as "common criminals" has been dispatched to Rumania by the soviet authorities, it was announced by wireless from Moscow today.

IN JURY'S HANDS

Waco, Texas, Sept. 23.—The Aven case will probably be in the hands of the jury before night. The arguments were made this morning. The defendant sought to show that undue pressure was brought to bear by officers to obtain a confession and the repudiated signed statement.

LONGSHOREMEN STRIKE

Galveston, Texas, Sept. 22.—Longshoremen of the Mallory line refused to go to work this morning when the company declined to adopt the method proposed for checking the workmen. Other labor was promptly employed and the docks were a scene of activity at 10 o'clock. No trouble is anticipated.

THE SHEARMAN TRIAL

Midland, Texas, Sept. 22.—Arguments in the Shearman case started today and the case is expected to go to the jury today. Both sides closed yesterday. The defense placed only one witness on the stand. These contradicted the testimony of the prosecution that the first shot was fired by the elder Shearman. Mr. Shearman testified that the first shot was fired from behind him, knocking his hat from his head.

BATTLE FOR LAW AND ORDER

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 26.—The battle is on in Texas for law and order, honesty, economy and 100 percent Americanism. Governor Neff declared in an address to the State Convention of the American Legion which opened here today. He pledged state aid to "all worthy enterprises of the Legion." Delegates and members from practically all the 322 posts of Texas are in attendance.

Warning the Legionnaires against partisan politics, the governor urged them to take an active interest in every political question "that touches the moral and material prosperity of the people." He reminded them that they "should not permit private pursuits to cause them to neglect to do honor to the memory of the dead soldiers whose bodies have been returned home." The governor called attention to the state appropriation for the erection of a monument to the soldier dead and the appropriation of $1,500,000 for a sanitarium for the disabled.

Stomach Health is Reason for Joy

(Thursday Health Talk No. 23.)
(By R. W. Zilar, D. C.)

UNCLE BEN SAYS—
"Nevvy, Job was the Bible hero of boils and he's the only hero I never wanted to be."

The ability to eat without being reminded of the fact by stomach pains or other discomfort is one of the joys of life. This does not imply that a man must live to eat. It simply means that the man or woman with a good stomach is fortunate. Food can be enjoyed and forgotten, while other activities of life are carried forward.

There are many forms of stomach trouble, some of which are not due to stomach weakness, but to the weakness of other organs in the alimentary tract, which includes the liver and other intestinal organs. When any of the alimentary organs are out of order, it may effect the stomach.

CHRONIC NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA NO LONGER PRESENT

"For a period of five months attacks of nervous dyspepsia made life a nightmare. I took every form of treatment without relief until I tried Chiropractic. After two months I was well and more healthful than ever before."—L. Klarman, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1231-C.

TICK ERADICATION

Mr. T. W. Hawkins, in charge of tick eradication in Nacogdoches, San Augustine, Shelby, Sabine and Angelina, reports everything moving along nicely in the counties that are doing preliminary work, and this week put on an inspector in Sabine county. He says San Augustine county is about ready for the appointment of an inspector, making it possible for that county to take such steps as are necessary to market livestock. He also states that the people are waking up to the fact that this is a very important work, and that without the cooperation of the Sanitary Livestock Commission it will be impossible for them to make any movement for any such purpose, and that the commission is willing and eager to lend any assistance possible when the people show they are willing to co-operate with them.

IN MEMORIAM

Recognizing the inscrutable providence of Almighty God in suddenly calling from our midst one of the brightest girls of our community in the sudden, shocking and untimely death of our dear sister, Miss B. F. (better known as Dee) Ramsey, we bow our head with humble sorrow, while we feel our great loss, yet knoweth that He doeth all things well, and while we feel that she shall be greatly missed and mourned by her great multitude of friends and admirers. Yet we thank God for the beautiful example of her life and pray that we may ever emulate her noble life, being better for having known her. Furthermore we heartily sympathize with the bereaved family and hereby extend to them our sincere condolence.

EUGENE JOHNSON

Eugene Harris Johnson of Nacogdoches, Texas, was killed near Van Horn, Texas, September 11, in a train wreck when the train split the switch. His body was not badly bruised. One other body was so badly cut up that the remains had to be picked up by pieces.

Eugene was born on July 10, 1900, and was 21 years old at the time of his death. He was a useful and kind son and a loving brother. He was a member of the Baptist church of Nacogdoches.

Edgar Graves of this place was with Eugene at the time of the accident and remained with the body until after the funeral. He and Eugene were en route to Ardmore, Okla., from San Francisco, Cal.

The remains were laid to rest at 3:30 Thursday afternoon, September 15th.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Johnson, who was at Taft at the time of his death; his father, W. J. Johnson of Alto; one brother, Richard H. Johnson, of Houston; and one sister, Hattie Johnson, who was in San Antonio.

A Friend.

ASSOCIATIONAL MEETING

I wish to remind those interested that the Nacogdoches Baptist Association will meet at Douglass, at 7:30 p. m., Thursday, October 6. This is two weeks earlier than the usual time of meeting.

CAKE SUFFICIENT FOR ARMY

Monster Confection That William I of Prussia Set Before Thirty Thousand Fighting Men.

When William I of Prussia gave his army a regale in 1790 he let them feast on vegetables and roast beef, and then wash it down with lots of beer and ale, according to William S. Walsh, who has a taste for compiling curious information. When the thirty thousand guests had almost finished their meal they saw their dessert coming on a dolly drawn by eight horses. The dolly bore a gigantic cake—said to have been the largest cake ever baked. It was twenty-four feet square and a foot and a half thick.

Mixed in the cake were products which would have fed a small village. More than thirty-six bushels of flour were mixed in it; 200 gallons of milk had been used; one ton of butter had made it rich, and one ton of yeast had made it rise; 5,000 eggs had been patiently broken and beaten into the batter. The result, baked under extreme difficulties, was the big cake, containing over 850 cubic feet of the goodly.

But the thirty thousand guests had filled themselves on roast beef and vegetables and it was impossible for them to eat all the cake, although it would have been possible for them to do so had they all been hungry. Obviously, so much cake could not be allowed to go to waste. So the remainder of it was cut up and distributed in nearby villages to the various needy families, who made short work of it.

VICTOR HUGO IN OLD AGE

In His Reminiscences Saint-Saens Tells of Colossal Intellect Affected by the Years.

Saint-Saens, the great composer, in his "Musical Memories" has some interesting reminiscences of Victor Hugo, who was an old man when he knew him, but who seemed "rather like an ageless and immortal being whom time could never touch."

"Time, alas! goes on, and that fine intellect which had ever been unclouded began to give signs of aberration. One day he said to an Italian delegation. 'The French are Italians; the Italians are French. French and Italians ought to go to Africa together and found the United States of Europe.'

"Victor Hugo's credulity was astonishing in a man of such colossal genius. Hearing that the remains of Voltaire and Rousseau had been exhumed and desecrated, he wrote a wonderful account of it. When the coffins were opened, the two great men were peacefully sleeping their last sleep.

"He believed in the most incredible things, as the 'Man in the Iron Mask,' the twin brother of Louis XIV; in the octopus that has no mouth and feeds itself through its arms, and in the reality of the Japanese sirens which the Japanese were said to make out of an ape and a fish. He had some excuse for the sirens, as the Academie des Sciences believed in them for a short time."—Chicago American.

THE SCHOOL TAX

Last year was the first time I had ever struggled with the "masculine problem of taxes," and I wondered how men live with such a burden on their shoulders.

The fact is, however, without taxes there would be no protection nor education.

If anyone who has watched intelligently the progress of the Nacogdoches High School to its present status knows that all the money has been wisely spent, and that more money is an important necessity owing to growth of the school.

Not to vote this small extra tax is to show ourselves as repudiating our affiliation with the universities, unworthy of the normal and unwilling to give the children the help they need.

Douglass has voted one dollar school tax; Martinsville the same; and five Nacogdoches refuse to pay sixty-five cent tax to keep up the best school record in East Texas and a high school that is a source of pride to the city?

In the university, graduates from the Nacogdoches county that hold positions of honor today, Nacogdoches has been more than repaid for all the taxes that have ever been spent and the old town cannot refuse to give the boys and girls of the future the same chance by losing the affiliation. The bond issue must be carried.

Mrs. George F. Ingraham.

A Suitable Match.

"I guess I'll marry Johnny Jones when I get growed up," said little five-year-old Elizabeth one day.

"Oh, no," replied Elizabeth. "It isn't that; but he happens to like the same kind of candy I do."

C. A. LANGFORD

C. A. Langford, an old resident of Nacogdoches, died at 8:45 Saturday night at his home on North street.

Mr. Langford had been in failing health for several months, but it was not generally known that his condition was serious. Few of our people were aware that he had passed away until after some time after his demise.

The body was prepared for burial by the undertaking department of Cason, Monk & Company and shipped Sunday afternoon to Sherman, where interment was made Tuesday.

Deceased was formerly in the lumber business here under the firm name of the Langford Lumber Company, and was greatly esteemed by all who met him in a business or social way.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter and several sons, who have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

A Grateful Letter

It is in trying conditions like that related below by Mrs. Geo. L. North of Naples, N. Y., that proves the worth of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. "Two years ago last summer" she says, "our little boy had dysentery. At that time we were living in the country eight miles from a doctor. Our son was taken ill suddenly and was about the sickest child I ever saw. He was in terrible pain all the time and passed from one convulsion into another. I sent my husband for the doctor and after he was gone thought of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the cupboard. I gave him some of it and he began to improve at once. By the time the doctor arrived he was out of danger." Stripling, Haselwood & Co.
