THINKS RAIL WORKERS WILL REJECT WAGE CUT

Chicago, May 29.—Maintenance of way employees of the nation's railroads face a $48,000,000 wage reduction July 1st as the result of Saturday night's order by the Railroad Labor Board. The order affects 400,000 men. Immediate consideration ordered by the executive council of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees was in prospect today with the prediction by B. M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, that the decision will be rejected when submitted to a vote of the men.

$300,000 OIL FIRE

Alvord, Texas, May 30.—Fire caused by a bolt of lightning, was raging in the Magnolia oil field south of town here Monday. One tank of approximately 45,000 barrels has been destroyed and two others containing more than 100,000 barrels are in flames. The lightning struck about 5 o'clock Sunday evening and the fire burned all night.

Loss, confined to the three tanks, will amount to over $300,000. Unless the wind changes another tank and the pump station in all probability are doomed.

MANY BIBLES SOLD

New York, May 31.—The biggest year of Bible circulation since the high levels of the war period, is reported by the American Bible Society in their annual report just issued. The total number of volumes circulated during the year was 4,855,464, which is more than a million in excess of the distribution of the preceding year.

WILL GIVE HARDING FIRST U. S. FLAG IN FRANCE

Washington, May 30.—The American flag hoisted by the French over the Arc de Triomphe in Paris to mark the arrival of the first American troops in France, which flew in that position throughout the war, will be formally presented to President Harding Tuesday by Ambassador Jusserand so it may be preserved among other American war relics. The ceremonies of presentation will take place at the White House and the flag will be placed in the war collection at the National museum.

THE NATION'S TRIBUTE TO OUR SOLDIER DEAD

Washington, May 30.—The nation's tribute to its glorious dead reached a climax today at the dedication of the memorial erected beside the Potomac to Abraham Lincoln by his grateful countrymen. Former President Taft headed the commission which lavished endless thought on making the stone emblem of American gratitude worthy the man whose memory it will perpetuate. President Harding accepted the work in the nation's name. Thousands of America's most distinguished men from foreign lands came to pay homage.

RATE REDUCTION HEARING

Austin, Texas, May 30.—The State Railroad Commission announced today a hearing to be held June 13th for considering a general horizontal freight rate reduction not to exceed 21.5 percent increase over rates effective August 26, 1920.

BONUS FAVORABLY REPORTED

Washington, May 31.—What is commonly known as the McCumber soldier bonus plan was ordered favorably reported today by the senate finance committee by a vote of 9 to 4.

CIVIL WAR IN IRELAND

London, May 31.—Heavy firing occurred on the Tyrone-Donegal border at Strabane and Lifford, between midnight and 7 o'clock yesterday morning, says a Central News dispatch from Etrabane. Sniping from the roofs of houses was continuous and armored cars and machine guns were in action. The people of both towns were up all night long in a state of terror.

The casualties are not known, but are reported to be heavy.

Belfast, May 31.—Fierce fighting was in progress along the Donegal-Fermanagh border Monday night, according to reports from Enniskillen. The dispatches said that both Belleek and Pettigee were in the hands of the Irish republican army.

The casualties in yesterday's disorders in this city were four dead and twenty-two wounded.

WORLD'S SPEEDWAY KING

He won the 500-mile automobile sweepstakes in slightly more than five hours and 17 minutes and was awarded $35,000 in prizes. His average speed was 94.48 miles an hour.

All records of the track were shattered by the first five cars to finish. Murphy himself broke two. The previous record for 500 miles, made by Ralph DePalma in the 1915 race, was 89.84.

BISHOP NO BETTER

Memphis, May 31.—The condition of Bishop John C. Kilgo of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, who is ill at a local hospital, was reported unchanged by his physician this morning, who stated that Dr. Kilgo was barely holding his own. Mrs. Kilgo and two sons are at the bishop's bedside.

GRAIN FUTURES BILL

Washington, May 31.—A new bill for the regulation of future trading on grain exchanges, designed to meet the recent decision of the supreme court holding the present trading act inoperative in part, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, author of the original act.

NEW INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE PLANNED FOR EL PASO

El Paso, Texas, May 31.—The chambers of El Paso and Juarez and the city administrations of these two towns have a joint committee at work drawing plans for a new international free bridge across the Rio Grande. It is planned to build an ornamental structure from funds provided by federal, county and municipal governments from both sides of the river. All traffic to and from Juarez would go over the new bridge, and the two old bridges, one-way structures, would be torn away.

MEXICAN REVOLT SMOLDERS

San Antonio, May 30.—Rumors of a smoldering revolution south of the Rio Grande coupled with the mysterious disappearance from San Antonio of several refugee Mexican generals identified with revolutionary factions, gave rise here to the belief in some quarters that war clouds are gathering which will soon burst into a campaign in the vicinity of Nuevo Laredo.

Unconfirmed reports of a telegram sent to military forces at the Mexican military headquarters across from Laredo are that an attack is expected on the garrison in the near future by a force of rebels coming up the river on the Mexican side.

Added belief is given to the possibility of the trouble because of the federal government having their attention diverted to the south of the republic by the rebellion in Tabasco and the recent uprising of the Yaqui Indians in Sonora.

THE GERMAN REPLY

Paris, May 30.—The German reply to the reparations commission's demands says that the German government will undertake, on the hypothesis that it will be given aid through a foreign loan within suitable time, to maintain its paper circulation within the limits reached March 31 and in general comply with the conditions fixed by the commission for a partial moratorium.

MAY FOOL THE LIVERYMAN

TY COBB SUSPENDED

St. Louis, Mo., May 30.—Manager Ty Cobb and Outfielder Heilman were indefinitely suspended by President Johnson of the American League before the morning game, a double-header here. During an argument yesterday Cobb stepped on Umpire Wilson's toes and was banished. The cause of Heilman's suspension was not stated.

INSULTED THE FLAG

Waco, Texas, May 30.—W. L. Edwards was arrested here and placed under a bond of $2,500 on the charge of defiling and casting contempt on the American flag. Edwards appeared in the gathering of a mob here Friday waving an American flag.

McCUMBER BONUS BILL WILL BE REPORTED

Washington, May 30.—The McCumber soldier bonus bill probably will be reported to the senate by the finance committee this week.

At a meeting of the full committee Monday it was clearly indicated that democratic members of the committee would vote for the McCumber plan of paying the bonus with long time certificates having a loan value, in preference to the Smoot 20-year insurance plan, with no loan provision.

A test of sentiment was about to be taken Monday, but it was deferred until Wednesday at the request of senators desiring to submit minor amendments. Monday's meeting was the first in some weeks to which democratic senators were admitted. McCumber called them in to save his plan, endangered by a division among republican members of the committee.

PRESENT ULTIMATUM

Chicago, May 30.—A virtual ultimatum to the railroads of the country through the United States Railroad Labor Board was presented today by the federated shop crafts, representing 400,000 railway employees, in a request for a conference with the board on Thursday, when the federal body will be asked to take immediate jurisdiction for all cases in which the railroads are alleged to be disobeying the board's orders. If the board declines, a strike ballot will be got out immediately to shopen all over the country.

The Brotherhood Acts

Houston, Texas, May 30.—A motion to have the president and secretary of the organization to prepare complete instructions for firemen to leave service in the event of the United States railroad Labor Board hands down a decision reducing wages of firemen was made today from the floor of the convention of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The motion, which was referred to a special committee, anticipated a decision reducing firemen's wages.

"GOT" HER HUSBAND

Ennis, Texas, May 30.—R. L. Fletcher, 50 years old, a railroad shop worker, was shot and killed early today in the presence of his son, age 12. Mrs. Fletcher, who declined to make a statement, was taken into custody by the chief of police, who escorted her to Waxahachie, where the grand jury is in session.

HIGHER RATES SUSTAINED

Washington, May 29.—The Supreme Court today affirmed the decree of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Southern District of Texas in the appeal of the City of Houston against the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. The District Court permitted the company to charge higher rates than those fixed by the city.

MAN-MADE MALARIA

The task of eradicating malaria, says the U. S. Public Health Service, has been made doubly hard by the continual creation of fresh mosquito-breeding spots by impounding water either intentionally or unintentionally, for instance, in the course of highway or railway construction. Owing to this a considerable portion of the malaria of the country may be termed "man-made". Assistant Surgeon General Carter, for instance, found that probably three-fourths of the malaria in a district in Virginia came from such artificial pools and swamps.

Man-made malaria is of special importance at present because of the recently enacted Federal highways act, which provides many millions of dollars for building additional good roads in the South. The specifications require that the culverts on these roads shall be so placed that they will completely drain all wet areas above the culvert entrances and that all borrow pits or excavations made along the roadways shall be filled or properly drained. Many Southern States have enacted laws of similar purpose.

It is of the utmost importance to the public health that these state laws and federal regulations shall be faithfully observed while the roads are being built, for at that time adequate drainage can be had with very little if any additional cost; whereas if through carelessness or wilfulness the culverts are placed too high or the borrow pits are not properly drained, the expense for later rectification may be very great.

The State highway engineer of Alabama recently strongly appealed to all state and county engineers and road officials to co-operate in carrying out these laws and regulations. Every community in the South should take particular interest in this subject and all good citizens should promptly report the whereabouts of any such disease-breeding spots that are being created in their vicinity and should insist on their eradication. Not to do so will inevitably mean more mosquitoes and more malaria about their homes.

No road, however necessary for travel, can be called good if it interferes with proper drainage.

A LIVELY CORPSE

From the Houston Chronicle.

Some twenty months ago they told us it was dead—dead beyond recovery, dead as the proverbial doornail.

Even the mild-mannered Mr. Harding, who thought of reincarnating it under the name "association," agreed it was dead.

Senator Lodge and two or three other bold spirits admitted they had delivered the death blow.

Even those who had favored and advocated the league doubted its ability to survive without our co-operation.

But now comes the Chamber of Commerce of the United States suggesting that we climb aboard to the extent of participating in the world court, at least.

Is this 100 percent Americanism? Is this loyalty to that program of complacent isolation we were supposed to have agreed upon?

It is whispered that, in spite of our refusal to participate, the league suppressed an epidemic of typhus in Eastern Europe.

How fortunate we are in not having become involved in this germ war!

It is rumored that the league has achieved something by way of preventing the opium traffic, but we can console ourselves with the thought of another entangling alliance successfully avoided.

It is hinted that the league is about to strike a practical blow at the white slave trade, but if complications arise we should worry.

Besides, the republican party reit-erates, though with obviously diminishing assurance, that the league is dead, and that all this talk of what it may be doing is much like Sir Conan Doyle's propaganda.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, we suppose, will be promptly and definitely read out of the record, or will it?

For consistency's sake, Senators Johnson, Borah, Lodge and the rest, ought to denounce the organization of some 3,000,000 business men, and say plainly that its advice is not wanted. Will they?

We gather from tradition, ghost stories and personal anecdotes that whenever a corpse comes to life none is so scared as the person who did the killing.

We imagine it is going to turn out that way in this instance, and that a year ago or so more will find the republican party, but especially the "irreconcilable" portion of it, on the run.

DISINTERESTED SERVICE

It was the wish of the late Henry P. Davidson of the Wall Street firm of Morgan & Co., that his son T. Trubee go into public service rather than the banking house of his parent. The son agreed to the proposal and the father's will, just made public, provides a modest little sum of $4,500,000 that the son's ambition to serve the public weal may not be embarrassed through the necessity of making money to maintain himself.

Doubtless many young men of equally high ambition to serve the state unselfishly would grasp the opportunity young Davison has. It is credible in the New Yorker, already a member of the state legislature, to put his life in that fashion. But it is infinitely more creditable for the many young men who without a $4,500,000 legacy are keeping themselves poor for the sake of ideals.

And yet this comparison should not detract from the Davison example. The pity of the American public life is that it fails to arouse the interest of other young Davisons whose means would permit them to serve the state creditably. Only here and there is it evident that Americans choose public service as a life career. Army and navy officers cherish the ambition that some day their sons will follow in their footsteps even though their footsteps might lead to greater worldly possessions. Many a father would rather sacrifice the greater earning capacity of a son in other pursuits that he might follow the military. But there is yet to appear in the United States a definite group that sees in public service an honorable career. Too often such a vocation is associated with ward politics from which most high minded men and women recoil. Too seldom is attention paid to the higher type of politics in which service is for the man without hope of monetary reward.

Until America properly remunerates its public servants, it will be difficult to encourage men to become such and until in the aggregate these servants merit the respect of the public it will be difficult to encourage young men to become such with proper motives.

Under the circumstances the man unless of independent means finds it burdensome to go in for a public career. Young Davison, while not the first of his kind, may set an example for other youths similarly favored and inspire other fathers to encourage their sons to do likewise so that in time America may have what England and other countries have—an element that chooses public service as any other honorable profession is chosen. The result will be beneficial to America. It will open to the poor as well as to the rich an opportunity for service of a high character that now seems beset with obstacles.

BURBANK

From the Shreveport Journal.

What happened in Genoa may be important. What is happening in Washington may be important. At least, diplomatic and governmental doings are much talked about. Yet perhaps what is happening in Santa Rosa, Cal., is more important than any of the contemporaneous events that fill the eyes and ears of the world.

There, Luther Burbank has a new variety of oats, superior to any yet produced, with no "jacket" and therefore no waste. There must be billions of potential value in that.

His new wheat, for which he received $4,000 for a single bushel, has been awarded first prize in Canada. It is unquestionably the finest wheat ever grown. More billions of value for the future.

His famous potato has been of more value to mankind, he thinks, than anything else.

He has a new barley, too, and many new fruits. He has produced in 10 years a walnut tree whose wood is worth 10 times as much as that of the ordinary walnut. He has developed walnuts with shells so thin that the birds ate them, and he had to thicken them again for protection.

Food is the primary need of the human race. Burbank, working unobtrusively for future generations, may be greater than all the statesmen and warriors whose deeds and words bulk so large now in human estimation. Standards of judgment are usually queer, and the world has seldom recognized its big benefactors.

While some connected with the present administration at Washington seem to shudder at the thought of recognizing any good in the preceding one, Secretary Hughes is again upholding the policy against recognizing the Russian soviet government shows that the Wilsonian footsteps make a pretty good course to fol-

NO HELP FOR MR. DAUGHERTY

In spite of the fact that Congress has appropriated half a million dollars for the attorney general to spend in investigating charges of war contract frauds, and in spite of the fact that no limit has been placed upon the salary which might be paid to the lawyer named to supervise the inquiry, Mr. Daugherty reports that he has thus far been unable to find any man who will consent to undertake the task. He has telegraphed 60 attorneys, the justice department executive declares, and has met with nothing but refusal.

Surely this is a surprising condition. That a salary practically limitless would fail to inspire at least one eminent attorney in 60 to undertake a great public service is almost incredible. High financial reward, a brilliant field of achievement, and an opportunity to serve a nation constructively, together seldom fail to move men to make whatever sacrifice may be necessary to accept a public call.

Can it be that the blunt refusal of many leading counsellors is due to lack of regard for the man who has extended the invitation to them? Can it be that the declinations are a rebuke to Mr. Daugherty? The possibility that such is the case is worth considering. The nation has not yet fully recovered from the shock of surprise which greeted the designation of the Ohio politician as a responsible cabinet officer.

Samuel Untermyer, who with his reputation as a "crusader" combines the habit of speaking his mind freely, gave vent to his feelings in commenting upon the proposed war frauds inquiry in New York the other day:

"If under the guidance of the attorney general these war frauds are exposed as rapidly and effectively as he has acted in the trust cases that he has handed to him, the sooner the administration employs real lawyers and selects another agency for the purpose the better."

"He (the attorney general) is hopelessly unfitted by temperament and training for that great office, which is in many respects the most important as it is the most powerful in the government next to that of the president. It peculiarly requires a lawyer, a trained executive and a man free from political contact and environment."

That is a powerful indictment. In vigorously prosecuting the war frauds

They Overlooked the Diamonds

THERE is a modern flippancy to the effect that, "What you don't know won't hurt you." It is also a fallacy. For instance:

The farmers of Kimberley were a disgusted, disher-tended lot. They said the soil was too rocky to earn them a living. Some of them left. Others died in poverty. And all the time their children were playing with diamonds.

But the farmers didn't know. They thought the priceless gems were pebbles.

Don't be like the Kimberley farmers. Know!

Don't seek opportunity in some distance place and overlook the diamonds that are daily within your grasp. Know!

Advertising is a mine of opportunity. It tells of values you wouldn't know about if it were not there to guide you.

The secret of economical buying is information. The man or woman who is best informed is the one who buys to best advantage.

Read the advertisements. Know!

Mr. Daugherty has opportunity to prove that it is largely unjustified. He will not make much progress toward vindication, however, by feebly reporting that he cannot find any eminent attorney who will co-operate with him in the proposed inquiry. If the present attorney general cannot induce any fair-minded, impartial counsellor to assume this responsibility the president will be under obligation to find one who can.

Mr. Daugherty will have support to the extent that he carries on the investigation fearlessly and openly. But the country is in no temper to bear excuses and alibis.

THE 12-HOUR DAY

Announcement that a committee of steel manufacturers will undertake to abolish the 12-hour day in that industry is highly gratifying to all who are interested in improvement of working and living conditions. It has been known for several months that such an effort would be made. Judge Gary publicly promised as much and declared that steel men were as anxious as anyone to abolish the long day wherever possible. The change is not so easily made as said, however, for it involves important readjustments and reorganizations in the industry.

Of course, there is no defense of a working day of 12 hours from the standpoint of health and of efficiency. It is not only probable, but almost certain, that when the steel mills have readjusted their schedules to a shorter working day they will find partial compensation in the increased efficiency of the individual employee.

It was spectacular, but unimportant, that the intention to abolish the long day was announced following a conference at the White House. The impression is conveyed that the steel men were persuaded to take the step by the pleading of the president. As a matter of fact, the steel men were planning for this very action, publicly and avowedly, for many months before Mr. Harding was known to have any interest in or knowledge of the matter. It looks very much as though someone had maneuvered skillfully a situation to bolster up the fast waning credit of a badly shaken administration. As a matter of fact, the present administration deserves no thanks from the men who will profit by the reduction of working hours in the mills of the nation.

SWEET GIRL GRADUATES

From the Beaumont Enterprise. Last year about this time it fell to our lot to apostrophize the sweet girl graduate, whose charms are but little short of those of the June bride.

This year again the duty devolves to say something nice about a very large group of girls—mayhap we should say young women, and would were we not afraid of making them appear prematurely old—who are to graduate in the city's public and private schools.

There are to be boy graduates, too, as a matter of course, but they don't count for much. Not for them the frills and the furbelows; not for them the excitement and thrills that attend the girl graduate's entree into real life. It may subsequently be theirs to do and to die, and not ask the reason why, but to the girl is reserved all of the preliminary exhilaration.

Commencement for these young people means the beginning of life's responsibilities. They leave what they have thought to be troublous experiences for an experience in the real troubles of life. Their elders think that even now they are foolish to aspire to large difficulties, but out of the fires they will emerge cleaner and better and with a greater understanding to humanity.

It is not meet with us to laugh at the graduates, nor to chide them for their assumed seriousness. All that is serious in life lies ahead. Let them go to it cheerfully if they can. Let them indulge their fancies and take refuge in day dreams and reside for the nonce in castles in Spain. We all did the thing once upon a time, and we are the better and happier for the remnant of the philosophy thus achieved that may yet cling to our mental structure.

It's always June time when school ends. The greater and more severe school, with all its portentous lessons, stands just ahead, but we need not at the moment thrust them into it.

Henry Ford says he is devoting his mind to "lost motion on the farm," and there are those who wonder why he doesn't confine himself to preventing a flivver from making as much mileage vertically as it does horizontally.

Europe doesn't seem to be able to mix politics and finance successfully, but it is easy in New York.

MAKING POSTAGE STAMPS

About 10,000,000,000 stamps are printed for the U. S. Postoffice department every year by the bureau of engraving and printing at Washington. Dies are made and stamps are printed in sheets of 400 each.

After printing and drying, sheets are taken to gumming machines. Each machine is surmounted by a tank from which a carefully regulated stream of special gum is fed to a pan at one end of which it comes into contact with an adjustable revolving roller. Roller feed is so delicately controlled that 28 pounds of gum is spread over every 1,000 sheets. After being gummed, sheets pass into a tunnel where temperature is kept at 130 degrees. Tunnel is 72 feet long and stamps take a minute and half to traverse it. When they reach the other end they are dry and ready for the perforating machines.

A COWARDLY TRICK

A final report to Secretary Mellon shows that no serious irregularities in the bureau of engraving and printing where some time ago a large group of officials were summarily dismissed by President Harding. The result is not only an exoneration for the discharged officers, but it ends the wide talk that the country is flooded with spurious Liberty bonds and other government securities.

Happily, the report does not disclose why the men were fired. The ostensible reason was the "good of the service," but that was merely the smoke-screen for getting rid of democrats to make places for hungry republicans. It was cowardly for the administration to permit the impression to prevail that the changes were made because of grave abuses when the only motive for the action was to dish out political pap.

The Marshall News claims to have on exhibition a white snake captured in Harrison county. We don't doubt it in the least. If the editor of the Marshall News says something is so we know it's absolutely true, or at least that he is thoroughly convinced that it's true. If he had said the snake had blue and red spots on it and horns and a forked tail we'd have believed all that. But the point we want to know about is what sort of enforcement officers they have over in Harrison county.—East Texas Register.

RAILROAD CERTIFICATES READY FOR CONFEDERATE VETERANS

1. Railroad certificates entitling Confederate Veterans and members of their families accompanying them to the rate of one cent a mile each way, to attend the Confederate Reunion in Richmond, Virginia, dates June 20th to 22nd, inclusive, are ready for distribution.

3. It is desired that all Confederate Veterans have certificates for use on this occasion. It is not necessary for Confederate Veterans to belong to a camp in order to secure the certificates.

Mr. Hinton is sending a large supply of certificates to the Major General commanding each Division of the U. C. V. It is requested that each Division Commander will be diligent to see that certificates are promptly and properly distributed.

Your attention is called to the importance of indicating in the block provided for the purpose on each certificate the classification to which the holder of the certificate belongs. For example: If you are a Confederate Veteran or a member of a Confederate Veteran's family accompanying the Confederate Veteran, you will mark X in the block opposite (a) on certificate. This will entitle you to one cent a mile, each way.

J. LANE STERN, General Chairman Confederate Reunion Committee.

SECOND DIVISION REUNION. Quantico, Va., May 29.—The third annual reunion of the famous Second Division, which captured one-fourth of the prisoners and artillery pieces taken by the A. E. F., and suffered one-tenth of our losses in the World War, will be held at Quantico, Va., forty miles below the national capital on the historic Potomac, on June 6, 7 and 8.

The foundation has been excavated and the initial work is in progress upon the new filling station for Mr. Zeno Cox on the Masonic lot at West Main and North streets.

CONCRETE BRIDGES BEING BUILT

Work is progressing rapidly on the building of the concrete culverts and bridges on the East end of the King's Highway. A new concern has charge of the work now, the R. S. L. Construction Company, which is said to be a substantial and reliable company.

YOUNG MAN'S OPPORTUNITY

There are twelve to fourteen million bales of cotton raised annually. Every bale has to be classed from one to four times, seldom by the same man twice. Until the last five years, there have been no training schools in this line, consequently the supply of men for this work is limited.

Aaron Sapiro, organizer for the National Marketing Association, says that between 10 percent and 16 percent of the entire cotton crop is lost to farmer on account of incorrect grading. It is the purpose of the Association to have competent cotton classers grade their cotton for all farmers belonging to the association.

Cotton is the leading product of the South and will continue to be. Every young man of the South should know the classification and handling of cotton. More money is lost each year by the farmers on the marketing of this product than all other crops combined.

The young man or woman trained in the cotton classing department of our institution, the Tyler Commercial College of Tyler, Texas, is in a much better position to take one of these many positions that are opening up, or to protect his own interests as a grower, than one who has had no training, or a training by guess.

ROTARIAN ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY FOR RADIO

Secretary McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of the following letter, under date of the 25th, inst., from the managing editor of the Houston Post.

"Some time ago when Mr. John Wallace, managing editor of the Post, was visiting Nacogdoches he was impressed with that orchestra of former service men you have there, and today he suggested it would be a fine thing if we could get it down here for a radio concert. It so happened I was at the time planning with the proprietor of the Toledo dancing pavilion at Galveston for a dance in Galveston to music played in Houston. If your orchestra could come down here for that stunt it would be columns upon columns of great publicity for it and Nacogdoches, with pictures and all. See what can be done about it, will you? Write me as soon as you can. Yours truly, Frank E. Roberts."

It chances that this will fall in nicely with the arrangements of the orchestra members, who left at 2:33 Tuesday afternoon for Beaumont, where they were to play for a Rotarian luncheon at night. Wednesday the boys will be in Houston, where, until 11 p. m., they will make music for the dance at Galveston. At 11:30 Wednesday night they will take train for San Antonio, where they will play for another Rotarian luncheon Thursday, leaving at 2:30 on their journey to Los Angeles, Cal., where they will play for the national convention of Rotary Clubs.

The orchestra is composed of Holland Smith, director and pianist; Jim Summers, violinist; John Crawford, trombonist; Claud Gramling, drums and xylophone; and Holloway Muller saxophone. The class of music made by this band has attracted attention wherever it has been heard, and the boys are entitled to every bit of favorable mention that has been made of them.

BOOTLEGGERS FARE BADLY IN TEXAS

Washington, May 29.—Federal Prohibition Director Morris of Texas believes he has the bootlegger on the run. Prohibition Commissioner Haynes said in a statement here Saturday, Morris now has 70 agents working under his direction in Texas.

Director Morris' monthly report discloses that 54 illicit stills were seized in Texas, 434 gallons of moonshine whiskey, eight gallons of wine, 71 gallons of malt liquors and 13,053 gallons of mash. Three hundred and ninety-three arrests were made during April in Texas, Morris reported.

Messrs. W. P. Burrows, Chas. D. Power and Foster Martin attended a district meeting of rural carriers at Joaquin Tuesday and report the time of their lives. They heard instructive talks, and the interchange of ideas and experiences added a valuable feature.

K. OF P. INITIATIONS

Several candidates were given the rank of page in the Knights of Pythias at a meeting Monday night. Among other important business transacted was the change of meeting time from Monday night to Friday night of each week.

In making his rounds the Sentinel man observed that several of the business houses of the city have joined the paint-up brigade and the appearance of their premises is very much improved.

SHUN LIQUID SPRAYS FOR POISONING BOLL WEEVIL

A warning against liquid sprayer attachments to cotton poisoning machinery is issued by B. R. Coad, director of the boll weevil laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture. Calcium arsenate applied as a dust, he points out, is the only certain means yet found for controlling the boll weevil and any effort at control by means of liquid spray is useless.

In addition to the foregoing spraying equipment, we also find on the market many curious devices for applying some liquid preparation, usually containing calcium arsenate, others to cultivators, while still others run independently. They are usually provided with some exceedingly simple form of tank with a gravity flow of liquid, which either drips on the plants or is wiped on them by some form of brushes or rags.

A NEW CATTLE DISEASE. Houston, Texas, May 31.—Upwards of 10,000 head of cattle have died of the so-called "down-in-the-back" disease in the Gulf Coast cattle country during the past two years, according to information received at the southeastern division headquarters of the Texas Chamber of Commerce from cattlemen who have asked the state chamber to use its influence in assisting to stamp out the disease.

Clark Wideman, an employee at the Lufkin Land mill, sustained two broken ribs, a dislocated shoulder and minor bruises; Prestrige Gann, also an employee of the mill, sustained a severe blow across his shoulders and other lesser injuries; Miss Leta McIntosh of Huntington was plainly injured, while Miss Mamie Webb, whose home is just beyond the mill, on the Manton road, escaped without any hurt.

CAR TURNED OVER

A Ford car turned over yesterday afternoon on the Lufkin-Nacogdoches highway, on the hillside near the Ben Cox place. It was a complete turnover as has ever occurred on this highway according to all reports of the incident, the machine, after negotiating several yards on two wheels, finally adjusting itself bottom side up and being completely reversed when the wheels finally stopped spinning.

FATAL SHOOTING NEAR TOWN EARLY SATURDAY

From the Timpson Times, 27th. Same Green, aged 72 years, a resident of the Timpson community, is dead from shot gun wounds, alleged to have been inflicted by M. E. Odom. The shooting occurred about 7 o'clock this morning at a point supposed to be the dividing line between the farms of Mr. Odom and the deceased.

Mr. Odom's bond was placed at $5,000, which was readily made. Ill feeling has existed between Mr. Oden and Mr. Green for some time, it is understood, and the trouble this morning, it is said, was the result of a prolonged claim upon the part of both parties as to the correct location of a land line.

CULBERSON'S VOTE ON TRANSPORTATION ACT

Washington, D. C., May 22, 1922. Hon. Allison Mayfield, Chairman, Hon. Clarence E. Gilmore, Commissioner, Railroad Commission of Texas; Austin, Texas: Gentlemen—Replying at the earliest opportunity to your recent letter regarding the Transportation Act of 1920, known as the Eech-Cummins Law, I beg to say that as you know I voted against this legislation when it passed the Senate originally and will be very glad to support the bill to which you refer to repeal it in its entirety.

BOOSTERS HAVE GOOD MEETING

The Boosters held their regular meeting Monday night at the Lockey Tea Room. The subject of Nacogdoches Oil and Nacogdoches Oil Fields was discussed by the entire meeting. A request was made by the men who visited the oil field last week and each talk helped to convert the others to the fact that great possibilities are in our shallow field of oil.

CAR TURNED OVER

Mr. Hardy Dial, a former resident of this city, now located in Oklahoma and connected with the cotton division of the board of agriculture of that state, is visiting friends and looking after property interests in this county. Mr. Dial is the owner of lands in the oil territory of the county, and all his friends hope he may "strike it rich."

CULBERSON'S VOTE ON TRANSPORTATION ACT

I was one of the early advocates of the establishment of a State Railroad Commission in Texas and have always vigorously defended the right of the state to control the rates on shipments which are wholly within its boundaries.

BOOSTERS HAVE GOOD MEETING

Another important matter taken up was the street improvement proposition. The Boosters are for street improvements, but it is their opinion that this great question that should please everyone in years to come, should not be entered into too hastily.

Mr. F. B. Sublett of San Benito arrived in the city Tuesday for a visit with relatives and old-time friends. Mr. Sublett was formerly cashier of the Stone Fort National Bank of Nacogdoches, and there are many of our people who are always glad to see him.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

Following is a substantial copy of an item that appeared in the Terrell Daily Transcript, May 15, 1922. Visits Friend She Hasn't

Seen for Fifty-Seven Years
Mrs. Cornelia Kellam, mother of Mrs. T. P. David of this city, went to Paris this morning to visit Mrs. A. K. Oliver, whom she has not seen for fifty-seven years. They were school girls together at Nacogdoches, Texas, and were separated when they were about sixteen years old and had not heard of each other till a few weeks ago, when Mrs. Kellam was at her home in Van Zandt county, where Dr. W. S. Mayfield of Longview, Texas, a brother of Mrs. Oliver, happened to be in Canton. He inquired about the Rusks who lived in Van Zandt county, and presently a man came to him and said he was a Rusk. He also reported that their home was out about eight miles, and he just would have Dr. Mayfield to go out with him and meet Cornelia and the other Rusks. She was overjoyed to learn of the whereabouts of Mrs. A. K. Oliver, who was her schoolmate in Nacogdoches and now lives in Paris, Texas.

Mrs. Cornelia Rusk Kellam is the oldest granddaughter of General Thomas J. Rusk, and is an only daughter of John C. Rusk. Mrs. Oliver is a daughter of W. E. S. Mayfield, once sheriff and afterwards district clerk of Nacogdoches county.

The vicissitudes of life are often wonderful. John C. Rusk and his family went to Van Zandt county in 1865 and lived there till his death, teaching a country school. The Mayfield family moved to Paris, Texas, in 1867. One of the Rusks, Cicero, son of Thomas D. Rusk, served a term as sheriff in Van Zandt county.

A brother of Mrs. Oliver, Dr. Joseph E. Mayfield, now lives in San Antonio, and writes these lines. He well remembers the last time he saw John C. Rusk. It was when Rusk was back on a visit at Nacogdoches, about the year 1895, and when he left the residence of this writer he warmly said "God bless you."

DR. BRUCE TALKS

Dr. W. H. Bruce, president of the North Texas Normal College, located at Denton, addressed a large gathering of our citizens at the Elks Club rooms at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, his remarks being along educational lines, and especially regarding the school over which he presides and concerning the normal to be built in Nacogdoches. Among other interesting things he said was an account of the establishment of the normal at Denton. Starting with an enrollment of 250 pupils and an appropriation of $10,000 twenty years ago, the school has grown until last term the enrollment was more than 4,000. He emphasized the fact that the school was conducted upon a high plane, its ambition being to assure parents that the morals of their girls were as safe in the school as they would be under the parental roof. One of the rules is that no girl shall accept an invitation from a man for an auto ride at night. If this rule is violated, that settles the matter so far as the guilty party is concerned, as she is sent home and never allowed to return. Dr. Bruce thinks the school is better off without pupils who are reluctant to obey the rules, and acts accordingly. Nor does the penalty apply to pupils only. If any young man is found to have connived at such violations, his employer is at once notified and he is dismissed from whatever position he may hold. A banker of Denton was found to have aided girls in their rebellious behavior. It was thought by many that his position in the financial and social circles of the town would render him immune, but the contrary was true. Depositors learned of his offense and withdrawals were made to such an extent that the directors and stockholders of the bank forced the resignation of the president and he was "down and out." Dr. Bruce said that in every way the citizens of Denton endorsed and assisted in the enforcement of the rules of the school, with the result that complaints on the score of recalcitrancy are very rare, and parents of pupils are subjected to no uneasiness regarding the welfare of their children.

Dr. Bruce spoke of what might be expected of the Stephen F. Austin Normal when it was established here, and made some suggestions as to the importance of the school and the necessity of preparing for it.

It was a helpful talk by one who knows his subject in all its ramifications, and there is no doubt that it will result in good to the community.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS REUNION

What are you going to contribute to The Old Boys' Trip?

Can you imagine a greater joy to anyone than will come to the forefathers of our country on the morning of June 17th, when they will be welcomed to the old Southern town of Richmond, Va.

From year to year these deserving soldiers look forward to this event with much joy and pride. Each year lessens the number that are to go next year.

We have from twenty-three to twenty-five attendants each year from this county. We feel safe in figuring on twenty this year. Railroad fare both ways will cost approximately $30.00 each. We should not think of giving them less than $10.00 each above railroad fare, as some of them are not financially able to go even though the fare is paid.

Contributions, either individual or as an organization, may be mailed to Elbert Reese, who is chairman of finance committee raising funds for "the boys." This committee will call on you in the near future for a gift, not a collection. We need around $1,000.00 for the "boys" to make this trip in grand style. Let's mail our gift today.

J. E. Reese,
Chairman, Finance Committee.

Miss Mary Ann McKinney has returned from school in Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga., and is receiving a warm welcome from her friends.
