Paris, Oct. 12.—Greece has decided to sign the Mudania armistice convention and evacuate Thrace according to terms stipulated in the document, the French foreign office was officially informed today.

Mr. John Schmidt was able to be on the streets Tuesday after a setback with the dengue, which proved to be considerably more of a "jolt" than Mr. Schmidt had anticipated.

ALLEN DENOUNCES FLOGGING OF MAN

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 17.—Governor Henry J. Allen, in a statement here Monday, denounced the flogging of Theodore Schierman, mayor of Liberty, Kansas, Saturday night by a band of men alleged to have been members of the Ku Klux Klan, as a "disgrace of which every law-abiding citizen of Montgomery County should be ashamed."

Following is his statement: "Kansas never has tolerated the idea that any group of men may take the law into their own hands and she is not going to do it now. Whether they were members of the Ku Klux Klan who horsewhipped the mayor of Liberty, or merely men using the disguise of the Klan as a cloak to hide their act, the responsibility for the act is upon the shoulders of those who employ disguise and preach the right of mobs to take the law into their own hands. I have not received full reports upon the whipping of the mayor of Liberty, but the act itself is a disgrace of which every law-abiding citizen of Montgomery county should be ashamed."

U. D. C. CONVENTION OPENS AT FORT WORTH

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 18.—With practically all the officers and three honorary presidents in attendance, the twenty-sixth annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy opened at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Sickness and inclement weather those in charge believe the delegates will number 150 before the convention closes.

LEACH-STACK

A special news dispatch from Wiergate, Texas, under date of October 7th, contains the following, which will be read with interest by Nacogdoches people:

The most noted event of the season was solemnized on October 7 by the marriage of Mr. Craig C. Leach to Miss Beatrice Stack.

The new Methodist church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with ferns and pot flowers. After the arrival of many friends to both bride and groom, the solemnity of the evening was made known when Mrs. J. Benton Lewis sang "I Love You Truly." Then the wedding march played by Mrs. C. P. Myer began. The maid of honor, Miss Gladys Newton, and best man, Mr. T. G. Sandle, entered from the front vestibule, followed by the bride and groom, and marched up the front aisle to the altar where Rev. I. T. Andrews waited. The ring ceremony was used and Mrs. Myer played soft, sweet music till the close, then the bridal march began, when Mr. and Mrs. Leach passed out to the waiting car that carried them to Mrs. J. T. Hext's (sister of the groom), whose home had been decorated for the occasion, and for the wedding supper. The bride wore a beautiful perrier tulle suit with hat to match and carried a bouquet of tube roses and white rosebuds. The maid of honor carried a beautiful bouquet of pink geraniums and lace fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach will make Wiergate their home, as Mr. Leach is in business here. Their many friends join in wishing them joy and happiness.

PRESIDENT'S EULOGY

Washington, Oct. 12.—Love for children was eulogized as the tenderest sentiment of civilization in a letter from President Harding to the American Child Hygiene Association meeting today. He praised the organization's efforts in co-ordinating child welfare work.

TOWN WIPED OUT.

Decatur, Texas, Oct. 12.—Investigation of the fire which virtually destroyed the town of Greenwood, 15 miles northeast of here, last night was started today. The sheriff of Wise county sent to Fort Worth for bloodhounds to assist in searching for the man believed to be responsible for the fire. A man was seen to leave the place where the fire originated shortly after it was discovered, the sheriff said. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

248.5 MILES PER HOUR, ALL AIR MARKS BROKEN

Mount Clemens, Mich., Oct. 17.—Traveling at a greater speed than ever a human before attained, Lieutenant Maughan, a United States army pilot yesterday set a new world's airplane speed record by covering a one-kilometer course at the rate of 248.5 miles an hour.

The record was made during official government tests of speed planes that participated in the national air races at Selfridge field last week and was electrically timed by officers from the McCook field.

Aeronautical engineers and army and navy officers who witnessed the flight, were astounded. The demonstration, they declared, proved that there was no limit to speed that might be attained in the air.

Lieutenant Maughan made the record-breaking flight in the same plane with which he won the Pulitzer trophy race Saturday. The machine is a Curtiss army biplane, powered with Curtiss 400-horsepower engine.

After setting the new record Lieutenant Maughan continued the flight to show that the tremendous speed could be maintained. On four laps he was timed at the rate of 232.22 miles an hour and his average for eight laps was 229 miles an hour.

Examination of the machine after the flight disclosed that it was in perfect condition and that nothing in the nature of a "trick" flight figured in the record performance.

Later Lieutenant Maughan added to the astonishment of officials and pilots on the field by flying approximately one mile with the machine on its side. The feat in reality was a flight without the aid of wings.

GIVEN 99 YEARS BY SABINE COUNTY JURY.

From the Center Champion.

Grady Latham, who is at Hemphill attending the trial of the Gray boys, charged with the murder of Foy Whiggins, in Sabine county, near the Shelby county line on the 17th of September, telephoned the Champion this morning stating that the jury returned a verdict of 99 years in the penitentiary against Hollis Gray. Gray was indicted as the principal in the homicide and tried first. Mr. Latham stated that the case of a brother, charged in connection with the killing was called for trial this morning. He stated that the jury was out 12 hours.

Quite a number of Shelby county citizens, relatives and friends of the parties connected in the tragedy, and residing in the Patroon-East Hamilton sections, have been in Hemphill this week attending the trial.

FAMOUS AIRSHIP BURNED

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 17.—Five persons were injured today when the army dirigible C-2 fell at Brooks Field here and was burned. They are Major John Thompson, Fort Sam Houston; Major H. H. Straus, commander of the dirigible; Sergeants August D. Albrecht and Harry Biles of the ship's crew and B. F. Baines, a San Antonio newspaper man. It was being taken from the hangar when the bag sprit, the gas was ignited and the ship completely destroyed. The passengers were thrown to the concrete floor.

Starting from Langley Field, Newport, at 12:25 on the morning of September 13th, the ship made air history by flying to Ross Field, Arcadia, Cal., with but six stops en route. It arrived there at 6:58 on the morning of September 23d.

THEIR JOY IS CHECKED

Constantinople, Oct. 18.—The Allied missions reached a unanimous decision today forbidding the Kemalist gendarmes destined for Thrace to enter Constantinople. The British navy has been ordered to stop all vessels bearing Turkish Nationalist police. The order produced keen disappointment among the exuberant Turkish population, which had made preparations on a vast scale to welcome the Kemalists.

The young people will have a Halloween ball at the Elks Club on Friday night of next week, the 27th inst., which promises to eclipse anything of the kind during the past year. A large attendance is expected and of course a good time will be experienced.

PROSECUTION OF KLAN UNDER U. S. LAW URGED

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—A resolution demanding that an investigation of the Ku Klux Klan be made by the federal grand jury and the United States district attorney under the United States criminal code was introduced in the common council this afternoon by Alderman C. W. O'Connor.

In his resolution the alderman recites Sections 19 of the code, which provides for criminal prosecution where two or more persons conspire and threaten to interfere with the rights of any citizen, without regard to race, color or creed, and making it an offense for such persons to "go in disguise on the highways or upon the premises of another" for such purposes.

The section provides that persons convicted shall be fined not more than $5000 or sentenced to not more than 10 years in prison.

CORPUS OFFICERS HELD IN ROBERTS KILLING, RESIGN

Corpus Christi, Texas, Oct. 18.—Resignations of Sheriff Frank Robinson and Constable Lee Metzky, who have been confined in jail here since the fatal shooting of Fred Roberts, prominent Neuces county farmer were accepted by the county commission at a special called meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Sheriff Robinson's letter of resignation stated that in resigning he wished it understood that he did not waive his right to be a candidate at the next election.

W. J. Cody, former chief deputy, under Robinson was named to succeed the sheriff. T. C. Gollihar was appointed constable.

Examining hearing for the two officers and for Joe Acebo and Cleve Goff, also held in connection with the killing of Roberts, have been postponed from Wednesday to next Tuesday, October 24, at the request of counsel employed as special prosecutors.

WATSON'S SUCCESSOR

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 18.—Walter F. George, former supreme court justice, with a total of 304 county unit votes, was overwhelmingly nominated as the successor of the late Thomas E. Watson in yesterday's special democratic primary. This was indicated by incomplete unofficial returns compiled by the Atlanta Constitution today and marked the second defeat of Governor Hardwick within as many months. According to political observers it showed that the Watson block of voters, estimated at 50,000, remained intact.

DEATH PENALTY AFFIRMED

Austin, Texas, Oct. 18.—The death penalty given C. E. Gaines by the Dallas County District Court for killing George Street, a postoffice employee in Dallas, was affirmed by the court of criminal appeals today. Street was killed while a branch postoffice was being robbed in January, 1921.

An appeal from the Childress County District Court sentencing R. L. Story to 18 years for murder was dismissed on motion of the state because the defendant had escaped pending the appeal.

THAT INJUNCTION SUIT

Corsicana, Texas, Oct. 18.—The injunction suit to make permanent the temporary injunction preventing the name of Earle B. Mayfield from being placed on the ballot will be tried before a jury. The case will be heard on its merits. This means that numerous depositions of witnesses, which plaintiff's attorneys say they have, will be used. Judge Scarborough so announced after overruling a motion by attorneys for Mayfield to postpone further hearing until the civil appeals court has acted on the appeal now pending.

DR. KAHN'S BEQUEST

Houston, Texas, Oct. 12.—A bequest of $500 for Charity Hospital in New Orleans and $500 for the Jewish Orphans Home there is included in the will disposing of the $150,000 estate of Dr. M. S. Kahn filed here today. Dr. Kahn was shot to death several weeks ago.

TEXAN MAY BE MADE COMMANDER OF LEGION

New Orleans, Oct. 18.—Following a brisk business session, the American Legion was on parade this afternoon. More than 30,000 men were in the parade. The national colors were flanked by the colors of Legion posts from every state borne by the men who carried them to victory.

The announcement by Alvin M. Owsley of Texas that he would accept the nomination for national commander if it were offered him appeared to be crystallizing the sentiment of the South. Owsley brought in report as spokesman for the Americanization Commission of the Legion. The report declared that a deliberate effort was being made to inject a pro-German account of the World War into school text-books in many parts of America. It also contained a declaration in favor of the total exclusion of immigrants from the United States.

RUSK OIL ACTIVITIES

Overton, Texas, Oct. 12.—George & Jones Drilling Company have their derrick built at Minden and the machinery on the ground ready to set up shop and begin work. The location of this outfit is 12 miles south of Henderson and that section of the county has never been drilled out. Both Messrs. George and Jones were born and brought up in this community and this job of drilling is in the nature of a compliment to old times and to home folks. They have a large acreage and geologists have given exceedingly favorable reports on the structure.

David Osborne, of the "Chicken Feather" well north of Houston, was called by wire to his home in Houston last week by the serious illness of his wife. He got home none too early, for the sickness was fatal. They took the body to Philadelphia for burial. The same day he was called to this sad mission, he had a telegram from his financial backers at Pittsburg, Pa., for a conference with regard to going on with the work. He is now in the Smoky City and word comes that he will soon resume work on the well.

Smith & Fisher are away just now, the former to see his mother, who is ill at her home in San Antonio. Their well, Johnson No. 1, is down a little below 2,000 feet.

It now looks as if Rusk county is to have the tests that have been predicted all summer for this section of East Texas. Several other rigs are already headed this way, and it is certain that by spring this will be either the predicted "next oil field," or the worst blowed-up territory in the state of the banner with one lonely star, or words to that effect.

LEASE RENEWED.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The renewal for another year of the lease under which the Alabama Power Company operates the government's electrical generating and steam plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was announced today by Secretary Weeks. The contract was renewed on the same terms as originally negotiated. Weeks said the step was necessary to enable a large number of cotton mills and other industries in the Southern states to continue operations.

LONE NEGRO HOLDUP.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 12.—The police today are searching for a negro who late last night held up two Pullman cars on the Santa Fe California Limited soon after it pulled out of the Union Station here. The negro robbed passengers of an undetermined amount of cash and jewelry. He made his way through the cars robbing the passengers and while the train was moving jumped off near the city limits.

WETS AND DRIES ARGUE

New York, Oct. 17.—Wet and dry forces faced each other today before Federal Judge Hand in the first battle over the validity of Attorney General Daugherty's liquor ruling regarding steamships. The government forces are prepared to present arguments to show why they should not be permanently enjoined from putting into effect the provisions of the ruling. Attorneys for the steamship companies are prepared for a bitter fight.

LIGHTING THE WORLD.

It is only the other day that Thomas A. Edison and a gathering of friends celebrated the fortieth anniversary of the first commercial incandescent lighting. Today more than a third of the 24,000,000 homes in the United States are lighted by electricity, and within three years it is confidently counted that one-half will be illuminated.

The growth of electric installation since 1915 is astounding. In that short period the number of residence customers has been more than doubled. It is estimated that it will be trebled within the decade. There were 4,000,000 residence customers eight years ago. There were 8,500,000 in 1924, a gain of a million in that one year. Conservative calculations look for 13,000,000 in 1925, which would mean more than half the homes in the country.

The widespread use of the motor car and the telephone in America has been the amazement and envy of the rest of the world. The expansion of electricity to the homes, country as well as city, is no less astonishing. No people has had such general use of modern inventions or been so quick and so able to enjoy them.

FRUITS OF LODGEISM.

Four years ago the American people were at one of the cross roads in their political life.

Woodrow Wilson, under whose leadership the United States had reached in the World War the highest mark attained by any nation in history in the cause of democracy and humanity, was pointing to the path ahead as the only one on which the light shone.

Henry Cabot Lodge pointed in the opposite direction and persuaded a majority of the people to follow him.

In 1920 the American people again were called upon to choose a course and again they followed Lodge.

At the cross roads again, with another national campaign in progress, the people, after the bitter experience they have had from following those who have shown capacity only for destructive criticism, should give heed to the signs of the times. What the American people have lost by following Lodge, the reactionary, instead of Wilson, the progressive, is beyond calculation, costing the American people the moral leadership of the world as well as billions of dollars in loss of trade and in unemployment.

Remembering the prosperity and the glory the United States had under Democratic leadership, the American people, in the extremity to which they have been brought in the "messes" made by the false prophets of the Lodge school, should need no urging other than that of common sense to return to the leadership of the party that has a record of more than 120 years of useful service and which only lately led the country successfully through one of the greatest crises in its history.

Bitter experience and common sense should compel the people to recognize the amazing lack of leadership in the Republican party today.

If the nation is wise it will heed the signs of the times and return to the sound leadership of the Democratic party.

UP TO WOMEN, THEMSELVES.

The election of three women to the next congress is regarded as probable. There are more who are candidates for the honor but some of them are in districts where the chance of success is remote. A woman member of congress has ceased to be a novelty though one at a time has been the limit hitherto. With three the proportion to which women as voters are entitled would be sadly off balance still.

While sex should not be the standard by which members are chosen, were there a fair division there would be as many women members as men. Though lawyers constitute a comparatively small proportion of the population, in the personnel of congress lawyers have always predominated. Were we to choose members on the basis of occupation there would be few lawyers. It is not probable that we shall elect members according to sex proportions, as we have not according to occupation, though the number of women will increase as the sex becomes more accustomed to the full duties of citizenship.

That women shall seize the reins and present a majority in both branches of congress is not an impossibility but it is not a probability. Since there is at present no great eagerness manifest among them to enter public life, it is probable that the mass of them will never feel the urge. Because they possess all the rights and privileges as citizens accorded male does not argue that their natures will be altered also and that a large proportion of them will acquire a hankering for official position.

However, it lies with the women themselves to determine how much of public life they shall seek. They have the right to aspire to anything in the reach of man.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

Continuing the story of the Hotchkiss family is quite a greater performance than supposed. It is too replete with events to tell it all, and to condense it is difficult. The fact that the original Archibald Hotchkiss' home site was located on the first high ground about 100 yards from the bridge beyond the Moral creek, six miles southwest of town, on the present old Spanish Bluff road, is almost forgotten. It was a big thing for its day. His brother, Charles Hotchkiss, had a nice residence near the mill, a mile and a half below this, on the east bank of the Moral. And this old mill was a most important factor in the affairs of the public. Lumber and grist of the olden style were supplied to customers at Douglass about 20 miles away, and even further. Customers would come in wagons and camp at the mill till they got their loads. But all is over now, and hardly a trace left to show where it existed. Rinaldo Hitchkiss, only son of Archibald Hotchkiss and Polly Crampton, was born Nov. 13, 1818, in the state of New York. He came to Nacogdoches in 1835. In early life he left his father's home, and was gone two years before he was heard from. All thought him dead, but one day he rode up to the home place on Moral creek. He had been captured by the Mexicans in Western Texas and imprisoned at Matamoras. He with other prisoners drew for the black bean; several were executed but Gen. Bustamento ordered a reprieve. He was kept in his cell and finally rescued by his prison chum, an Irishman, who had been released because he was a musician and was needed in the Mexican band. He made a key to fit the prison lock and notified him when he could escape by writing on the inside of a cigarette. This friend supplied him with money and a pony. He swam the Rio Grande and left for home. The Irishman had been a Mier prisoner. Rinaldo Hotchkiss joined Capt. Kimbrough's company with Dave Rusk, Matt Whitaker and Nathan Wade and was in the battle of San Jacinto, battle of San Antonio and was in the Kickapoo fight in 1838. He and James H. Durst, W. Y. Lacey and Jackson Todd fought a hand-to-hand fight, and all killed their Indians. After this fight he was with Gen. Rusk's army, 600 strong, on the northwest of the Cherokee Nation, serving until the Indians abandoned the country. He was in the Confederate army, on Gen. Gregg's staff. He was a member of Milam Lodge No. 2 and was buried with Masonic honors at Palestine, where he died April 20, 1886. His wife's maiden name was Pollette. His only son, Chas. A. Hotchkiss, of El Paso, survives him, and furnishes most of the facts here written. J. E. M.

The Greatest Historian of Them All

HOMER wove history in his songs. The Pharaohs carved it in stone. Julius Caesar painstakingly penned it on papyrus.

Today, history is written and given to you simultaneously with its occurrence. Every day, the important events of the world are summed up fully and comprehensively in your newspaper. You are able to keep abreast of history in its making.

And not the least important phase of modern history lies in the realm of industrial progress. You find this chronicled in advertisements.

Advertising is a priceless boon to those who use it properly. It keeps their information up-to-date on the great variety of things that make life what it is today. It tells them of the thousand and one things they need in order to live profitable, happy and useful lives.

The consistent advertiser pays money to tell you about his wares. He knows they are good—he backs them with his money because he is confident that they will satisfy. For only merchandise that is consistently good can be consistently advertised.

Keep up with history. IT-PAYS.

KEMAL'S VICTORY.

From the Houston Chronicle.

Flags—Turkish flags—are waving in Constantinople today, as they have not been permitted to wave for four years, and intermingled with them are a few French flags, just to show that the Turks appreciate a favor.

It is a strange spectacle to contemplate, even from this distance—one which most of us would have considered impossible back in 1918.

Disappointed at not having captured Berlin, we consoled ourselves with the thought that Christendom had regained Constantinople. The idea that Christendom would not hold it was too preposterous for serious consideration.

And now, in the space of four short years, we behold it going back to Mohammedan rule; not by connivance of the hated Prussians, but through the kindly offices of France.

We are not familiar with the crooks and turns of a diplomacy which can bring such an anomalous situation about. We are unable to understand why Paris should be picking up the hand which Kaiser Bill once caressed. It makes the Europe of 1922 look very much like the Europe of 1914, and it makes the "sanctity," for which we thought to have battled, seem like a great illusion.

Probably there are reasons why we should accept this paradox in good faith, why we should reconcile ourselves to an inconsistency of purpose we can not understand, but requires the violent repression of some of our cherished war aims to so believe.

We shall make no fuss, of course—no more than is necessary to collect some funds with which to repair the damage, but we shall remember, and the next time we are asked to "save the world for democracy," we shall inquire how much of it has been put in cold storage for the Turk; how much of it is to be held back to trade for territory and mining concessions in Asia Minor.

Meanwhile, we take our hats off to Mustapha Kemal. He is something of a military genius, something of a clever politician. But, and this is what really hurts, he could never have accomplished what he has save for the aid of European diplomats, allied diplomats, French and Italian diplomats.

A FLYER IN LAW

From the Houston Chronicle.

"This youth, Peddy," they said, "he has no chance, of course. We'll just laugh him out of the race."

But there were doubting Thomases who wiped away the smiles by adding up the Ferguson and republican votes.

"Gee!" they said "if 265,000 people voted for Ferguson, and if the republicans can swing 100,000, it may not be such a cinch."

Then they began wondering about the law, and if all its technicalities and vagaries had been complied with.

The attorney discovered the act of 1913, which had been on the statute books for eight years, but never invoked or enforced.

Mr. Peddy's name could not go on the ballot.

"But if he has no chance," said someone, "why bother to keep his name off the ballot?" "It's the law," they replied in awed whispers. "We must insist on the law."

Then some of Mr. Peddy's legal friends got busy and dug up another law which dealt with campaign expenses.

They also dug up some evidence, and decided that they, too, would enter court.

So an injunction was obtained, and a date set for arguing the same.

As that date approaches, we behold an alteration in the moods of men, particularly those of the Mayfield crowd.

They are willing to compromise, to drop everything, to forget the law, to let both names appear on the ballot, to return to the status quo, if you please, which the small boy described as meaning "a hell of a fix."

Mr. Mayfield is willing for a federal court to certify Mr. Peddy's name, if Mr. Peddy will let a state court certify Mr. Mayfield's name, but Mr. Peddy won't.

Mr. Peddy says he can't; says that candidates are in no position to tell courts, whether state or federal, what to do; says that the law must take its course; says the other side started it and should take their medicine with a smile.

Mr. Peddy reveals himself as a good citizen, a law-abiding citizen, a citizen who respects the courts of his state and country.

CAN'T CHANGE PLANS.

County Attorney Audley Harris, in order to settle definitely the question as to whether road funds voted for a specific purpose or particular road may be diverted to another purpose or road, placed the matter before the attorney general's department, and the reply appears to settle the question, as the following correspondence will show:

Nacogdoches, Tex., Oct. 5, 1922.
Hon. Walter A. Keeling, Attorney General, Austin, Texas.

Dear Sir:—Please advise me if the election order calling for a county-wide road bond issue can be so worded that the present Commissioners' Court and all succeeding Courts will be and would be compelled to spend the proceeds of the bond issue as described and directed by the Election Order?

In other words, if the election order is made to recite and describe in some detail the particular roads to be built or improved and the particular type or kind of roads to be built, can the Commissioners' Court, present or future, legally and lawfully change the plan in any material detail?

An immediate reply to these questions will be greatly appreciated.

Yours truly,
Audley Harris,
County Attorney.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 6, 1922.
Hon. Audley Harris, County Attorney, Nacogdoches, Texas.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 5th instant to the Attorney General has been referred to me for reply, and replying thereto I have to say that if the petition for an election for county-wide road bond issue specifies particular roads and the particular type or kind of roads to be built, the court shall include such specification in the order of election and when so included in the order of election and notice of election, the present court and its successors would be bound thereby.

Yours very truly,
C. F. Gibson,
Assistant Attorney General.

VOLUNTARY BANKRUPTCY.

The A. P. Moore's Sons Wholesale Grocery Company, with the parent company at Tyler and branches at Mexia and Nacogdoches, made a voluntary assignment in bankruptcy and Saturday morning the doors of the concern here were closed. The help, seven men, were paid off and discharged. The news of the embarrassment of these good people was received with genuine regret by all and on every hand was expressed the wish that the trouble might be soon adjusted and the popular firm be enabled to continue in business. Mr. F. W. Betts, manager of the branch here, stated it was probable that a satisfactory arrangement could be made with the creditors. He and Mr. Jack Moore, one of the house's popular salesmen, went to Tyler Monday in connection with the suspension, and it is hoped they will bring back a favorable report.

PAVING PROGRAM
TOTALS $150,000

Sherman, Texas, Oct. 12.—A $150,000 paving program, which will add about five miles of concrete street improvement to portions of probably twenty residence streets in Sherman, was definitely assured with the authorization by the City Commission Wednesday to accept the bid of and close the contract with McGuire & Cavender, paving contractors of Kansas City, Kan., for the work.

The bid of the successful firm was for re-enforced concrete, with six inch paving, with curbs and gutters, and carrying a five-year maintenance provision. The bid of the firm for this character of paving was $2.50 a square yard for either twenty or twenty-four-foot roadways, and $2.52 a square yard in case the roadway is more than twenty-four feet wide. The next lowest bid for this character of pavement was $2.65 a square yard.

The cost of the re-enforced concrete curbs and gutters, which will be built integral with the pavement will be 85c a lineal foot for straight, and 90c a lineal foot for curved, according to the bid accepted.

Property owners will be required to pay but one-fifth of their paving cost in cash and will have four years in which to pay the remainder of the cost, under the specifications required of the paving company. A nominal interest rate will be charged on the amount carried, while this interest will be discounted to those who choose to pay the entire cost in cash. Property owners will bear two-thirds of the cost and the city one-third on each of the streets, the amount assessed against the property owners of either side of the street, being one-third of the width of the pavement in front of his property.

Under the terms of the bid, the paving company will execute bonds for the performance of its part of the contract within fourteen days after acceptance of the bid. Work is expected to start as soon as the necessary equipment and material can be placed on the ground. The company is now engaged in paving work at Paris, and part of the equipment may be moved here directly from that place.

INJUNCTION HEARING TODAY.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 16.—Assistant Attorney General Wall is in Corsicana today representing the state at the hearing scheduled there on the temporary injunction restraining the secretary of state from certifying the name of Earle B. Mayfield as the democratic senatorial candidate. Judge Scarborough is to decide whether to make permanent the injunction.

Mayfield Loses First Round.

Corsicana, Texas, Oct. 16.—The defense in the suit instituted here to prevent the name of Earle B. Mayfield from going on the ballot lost their contention today that the action should be filed in Tarrant county against the Tarrant county election officials and in Travis county against the secretary of state. The court sustained the demurrers to the pleas. Attorneys for the defense asked that the hearing be postponed until final action on the appeal from the temporary restraining order set for October 17. They also asked that the suit be dismissed and no further action be taken. Plaintiff filed counter-pleas and motions. Final decision is expected to await the disposition of these motions and pleas.

SOVIET MINISTER RESIGNS.

THE DOUGLASS BOX SUPPER.

On the night of October 7th, a community box supper was given on the well lighted (electric) school lawn for the benefit of the school. Besides the 52 well made and well filled boxes, we had popcorn, peanuts, soda water, and an ugly man and pretty girl contest. The pop-corn, peanuts and soda water went like hot cakes. The boxes sold fast enough, bringing from 50c to $5.00 per box. The pretty girl and ugly man contest brought about $7.00. Of course, the pretty girl and ugly man each received an appropriate prize. In all, we cleared $85.25. Mr. B. K. King auctioned off the boxes.

This money will be used as follows: $50.00 will be set aside for the beginning of a school piano fund, about $25 will be used to buy basketball suits for the school team, and the remainder will be used to buy a few story books for the library and some elementary play-ground equipment. We expect to supplement the piano fund from time to time during the year.

A big crowd was present and most of the people seemed to have the interest of the school at heart.

MALARIAL PARASITE IN MAN.

When a mosquito injects malarial parasites into a man's blood what becomes of them?

The parasites which she injects enter the red blood cells. They are then extremely small. They grow by feeding on the blood cells and get bigger and bigger. Then their edges become scalloped. Then they divide into a number of wedge-shaped pieces, meeting in the middle something like slices of a pie. Then the blood cells break up and set the young parasites free, and each one of them starts off as a new parasite on its own account and tries to enter another red blood cell and repeat the process of its mother parasite.

Into how many parts does a parasite divide?

Into from 8, to as many as 24 or 32, according to the kind, so they may increase very rapidly.

Are there different kinds of parasites?

Yes; there are at least three kinds, each of which produces a different form of malarial fever.

How long does it take from the time the parasites enter a red blood cell until they divide into daughter parasites?

It depends on the kind of parasite. One kind, the tertian, takes about 48 hours, or two days. Another, the quartan, 72 hours, or three days. A third, the estivo-autumnal, from about 24 to 48 hours. This last form is much less regular in its time than the other two; indeed two different forms may be included under this name. It produces the worst kind of malarial fever.

What causes the chill and fever of the man with malaria?

When the infected red blood cells break up they liberate not only the bunch of daughter parasites, but a small amount of poison which the parasites have formed, and, when a large number of them do this at the same time, this causes the chill and fever of the sick man, which occurs just after the cells break down. It has been estimated that at least 150,000,000 of parasites must divide at the same time to liberate enough poison to produce a chill—generally many times more than this.

Do all parasites in the red blood cells divide into others, as you have described?

No. Besides the sexless forms which divide and produce chills there are two other forms of the malarial parasites in the blood cells. These are the male and female forms of the parasites. These do not seem to affect the health of the man in whose blood they exist, but it is by means of these that the mosquito becomes infected when she sucks them up.

How does the mosquito become infected with malarial parasites?

By biting a man who has these male and female parasites in his blood. If she sucks up both kinds—male and female—she may become infected.

What takes place then?

If the mosquito sucks up only sexless parasites with the blood she will not become infected, no matter how many she takes. If, however, the proper kind of mosquito takes up the male and female forms of the parasite, they join together in her stomach and pass into her stomach wall, where they grow. After some time the bodies thus formed break and set free many young parasites, some of which finally find their way to the mouth of the mosquito. There the parasites are mixed with her saliva and are injected into a man when she bites him; then they enter the blood cells and start their life all over again.

How long does this change take?

Usually about 11 days in the summer. It takes longer in cool weather than in hot.

Is the mosquito dangerous to man until this change is completed?

No. Until the parasites reach her saliva the mosquito can not inject them into the person she bites. She is not dangerous, even if she has bitten a man with malarial fever, until the time necessary for this to happen has passed.

Do the parasites growing in the mosquito make her sick, as they do a man in whom they grow?

No. The mosquito seems to be as well as ever.

Those Episcopalians are a little late in legislating to eliminate "obey" from the marriage service. The most they can do now is to confirm what the women have already done.

MALARIA—THE CAUSE.

Malaria is not contracted by drinking bad water nor by breathing bad air, nor by eating vegetables or watermelons. Malaria is transmitted from person to person in no other way than by a certain species of mosquito. This mosquito first must bite a person who has malaria organisms in the blood and in so doing, the mosquito receives this organism into its stomach, then incidentally in biting a well person, the organisms are injected into that person's blood, who soon becomes sick from malaria.

We know, therefore, that if we prevent the reproduction of mosquitoes, we ultimately control the spread of malaria. Hence the war on this species of mosquito, and incidentally a war on this species includes war on the others. In reducing efforts to an attack on the breeding areas it is found that mosquitoes do not breed in weeds, tall grass, vines or bushes. They must have water to pass through the process of development. This process consists of four distinct stages, covering a period of from one week to ten days, depending upon the temperature. First the egg, then the wiggler, then the pupa and last the adult mosquito. Being familiar with these important points we are in position to intelligently apply some of the simple measures that have been found practical in destroying mosquito breeding, viz:

- (1) Elimination of all unnecessary water areas by draining and filling.
- (2) Covering all other standing water where possible.
- (3) Destroying breeding by the application of a thin film of oil on the surface where mosquito wigglers are present.
- (4) Destroying wigglers by the employment of natural enemies such as a certain species of "top-water minnow" commonly known as the "pot-belly," in such areas where it is impractical to oil or drain.

(5) Other protective measures include preventing mosquitoes from becoming infected as well as transmitting infection. All houses should be properly screened with No. 16 mesh wire.

(6) Where mosquitoes and malaria are abundant, additional precaution should be taken by using mosquito bars and immunizing by the use of quinine.

Any town or community desiring to introduce a systematic Anti-malaria Campaign, can avail themselves of the assistance of this Department. This includes the privilege of sending a local representative for field training to one of the several Demonstration Units in the State. This training is free of charge, the only expense to the town being that incurred by actual subsistence and transportation of the representative.

A Wish

"I HAVE TAKEN Cardui for run-down, worn-out condition, nervousness and sleeplessness, and I was weak too," says Mrs. Silvie Estes, of Jennings, Okla. "Cardui did me just lots of good—so much that I gave it to my daughter. She complained of a soreness in her sides and back. She took three bottles of Cardui and her condition was much better.

"We have lived here, near Jennings, for 26 years, and now we have our own home in town. I have had to work pretty hard, as this country wasn't built up, and it made it hard on us.

"I WISH I could tell weak women of Cardui—the medicine that helped give me the strength to go on and do my work." This card fulfils her wish.

A WARM SPOT FOR CLEMENCEAU

From the Houston Chronicle.

He is not the "tiger" any more, but an old man, who has practically finished his life's work.

He comes to us not as the spokesman for an applauding nation, but as a rejected prophet pleading for better understandings.

Back of him stands a crowd of angry, selfish, ambitious politicians, waving the bloody shirt which he wore so nobly.

Even Marshal Foch ridicules him. Still, and in spite of all that, America will honor Clemenceau.

What he was to her in 1917, he still is—the embodiment of the finest French ideal.

America will honor him quite as much for the enemies he has made as for the triumphs he has won.

On him, more than on any other man, fell the task of achieving victory.

Marshal Foch fought his greatest battle when a million Americans had come to the front and three million more were ready.

Clemenceau fought his greatest battle when France stood with her back to the wall, when there was no United States pouring men and money into Europe and when "lefeatism" threatened to wreck the allied cause.

Clemenceau stood for a "live and let live" policy when the war ended, but the materialists would not have it.

They have thrown him out and put a rafter in his place.

They have rejected his advice, and fled to the hot words of ill-considered passion for their solace.

They laugh at him on the streets of Paris today—him who saved them in their hour of need.

They say he no longer represents France—he but for whom there would be no France.

They accuse him of failing under British and American influence, of accepting an agreement for a higher type of peace when he might have taken territory and enriched his own country.

They regard him as a dreamer, a visionary, a romancer.

But here in America we still revere his name, still admire his service, still pay tribute to his statesmanship, still believe he speaks for the better, basic side of France.

GOOD RADIO STUFF

Much poor music, feeble humor, and rambling conversation are given out by radio because the public is still sufficiently delighted with the new toy to listen to anything. But once in a while a real message goes out over the air lines, as for instance, the following speech by a big banker who was asked by radio officials to give good counsel to his brethren:

"The time has come to remember the promises we made last year. Then men and women everywhere were saying that if good times ever came back they would work harder, spend less, save more and provide more effectively for the future.

"Business recovery is here, unemployment has largely disappeared, wages are higher and profits are being earned. The opportunities that we longed for are now knocking at our doors. It is the time for thrift and saving."

The speech needs no elaboration. If more of this sort of pungent, timely advice went out through that mysterious medium now so overwhelmed with trivial stuff, it would be more in keeping with its great possibilities.

CHEAP THANKSGIVING BIRDS.

About this time of the year it has been customary to hear that turkey will be higher at Thanksgiving because of the dry spell or because of the wet weather. This year there is a novelty in the turkey prognostication. Turkeys are to be cheaper because of the successful importation of birds from South America, Australia and New Zealand, and the fact that there are 3,200,000 pounds in storage, as against a five years' average of less than 2,600,000 pounds. The Anzac birds are said to be exceptionally fine.

Prices have been holding up despite the importation, but this market prophet looks for a break around holiday time. They had reached an altitude that was rapidly robbing the Thanksgiving bird of its honor, substitutes being compelled by inability or unwillingness to pay the extraordinary prices demanded. If this promise of more reasonable rates is realized the bird, even if imported, will have a chance of regaining his place on the festal board.

THE PENALTY OF NEGLECTING ROADS

From the Dallas News.

If counties in Texas fail to maintain roads built with federal aid, federal engineers have orders to go into those counties, repair the roads and present the bills to the state. If such bills are not promptly met out of the state highway fund, federal aid will be withdrawn from Texas roads hereafter. This is the situation as presented to the people of Texas under the federal road policy now in force, according to Walter V. Crawford, president of the Texas Highway Association.

It presents an emergency which, instead of being several years off, in its final effect, as was formerly supposed, is upon us now. It is manifest that the use of state funds for the repair of roads built in part with federal funds is going to require adjustments which can not be made too soon and which may very easily be made too late. Texas does not absolutely have to change her organic law in this matter. Texas does not absolutely have to do anything. Texas can do without federal aid. But so foolish a policy surely will not appeal to the people of the state. Texas goes to Washington, and under a general federal road policy Texas roads deserve a portion of the expenditure involved in that policy. Compliance with the reasonable terms of that policy, therefore, is the only satisfactory solution of the difficulty.

And it is manifest that the federal government has a right to demand that its expenditures on Texas roads shall not become pure waste through the neglect of Texas to maintain these roads. It may be argued that it is unjust, because of the delinquency of two or three counties, to penalize the whole state through its failure to require counties to maintain roads to which state funds have been contributed. There is no way out except the obvious one of making the practice of the state conform to the requirements of the federal grant.

The fact that there may be occasion for the drastic action contemplated by federal authorities is proof enough that some sort of action ought speedily be taken by the state to the end that our good roads may be preserved, instead of being allowed by slothful and careless local custodians to crumble away into potholes and quagmires. There is no room for dodging or quibbling on this matter. We must do something and do it without delay. Else we may have cause for regret without any just cause of complaint.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

From the Houston Chronicle.

A "drive" to raise funds to carry on the winter's work of the Salvation Army is now under way.

It is scarcely necessary that The Chronicle should commend the movement to the generous unbegrudging assistance of the people of Houston.

Whatever measure of skepticism some people may have felt concerning the Salvation Army before the world war, during that orgy of blood and suffering and death the "Army" arrived and established itself irrevocably in public confidence.

The vocabulary of praise has been worthily invoked to pay it just tribute. It is unique among benevolent organizations. Its activities encircle the globe. They cease only when succor is no longer needed.

Just in proportion to any service rendered by man to his fellow man is unselfish it is commendable. The work of the Salvation Army is essentially and absolutely unselfish. Its watchword is duty. The only prerequisite for its service is the need for it. Its motto is "serving God through man". No man or woman can sink too low to be beyond its reach. No danger can daunt or delay its "soldiers."

They heed but one call and that is the call of their Master. And in their sight, every being who needs food or raiment, or shelter or nursing, or prayers or potions, is "one even of the least of these." And to the duty of service the Salvation Army is consecrated.

It serves thousands who can give it no help; so let other thousands who can help respond to its call. To respond is more than a privilege—it is, or should be, a delightful duty.

DYED IN THE TREE

The discovery of a method whereby living trees can be completely and permanently tinted with any color within forty-eight hours is reported from Germany. Experiments are being made in some of the German forests, and already furniture and novelties are being turned out from the dyed woods. It is said that remarkably successful imitation of certain natural woods is possible by the process.

The dyeing or staining of lumber after it has been cut is always a difficult and not always satisfactory job. Dyeing the wood in the trees should be a far speedier process, and may solve some other difficulties. But experimentation with color is always a ticklish business, and it may prove that exactly the same method applied to trees of the same family and in the same surroundings still will result in a good color for one lot of lumber and an off shade for another.

In any event the experiment is interesting and indelicious, and if it proves finally successful may lead to a practical revolution in the wood-staining business.—Ex.

BUGGY RIDIN'

The native diversion of buggy riding is not destined to disappear. The flivver with all its temptations in the way of space and speed has not yet succeeded in driving the buggy out of its traditional uses. These statements come from no less an authority than the secretary of the Carriage Builders National Association, which held a convention in New York a few days ago.

So there is still some pertinence left in the old joke about the skill of the driver who could manage the reins with one hand. There may also be chauffeurs sufficiently skilled to exercise under the necessary conditions the same economy of means. Buggy riding even without the record breaking speed may retain all its first charms when there is present the spell of the moonlight or when the scent of the honeysuckle climbing over the rail fence grows richer in the warm summer air—the right company being present, of course.

All seasons are good for buggy riding under proper circumstances; especially to be recommended is the autumn afternoon with dusk approaching, the air crisp and the glowing leaves of fall keeping pace with the horse along the roadside.

Nor has the horse yet become what has been called a beast of luxury. He is not alone for the lighter vehicles of pleasure. Delivery wagons and other wagons are always needed to wind among narrow streets. There are other assertions of the carriage builders; but are they important in view of the sentimental thrill of knowing that the ancient and honorable sport of buggy riding is to survive motor cars?

APOLOGIZING FOR TARIFF

Senator Reed Smoot, envoy extraordinary of the high tariff crowd, says there is no justification at all for the increase in the cost of clothing and that those who jump prices are profiteering.

This is the first of many apologies that may be expected for the inevitable increase in the cost of living under the new tariff. In the first place, unless tariff does increase prices, it fails the purpose of its supporters, and even when the tariff does not directly influence increase, it furnishes the alibi to the profiteer to gouge his customer.

That is still another evil of the high tariff. It not only extracts higher prices on all protected articles, but it gives an excuse for jumping costs on all articles. The tariff has thrown a burden on the country and no amount of explaining by the tariff advocates can change the facts. The American consumer is in for it.

HE'S HAD IT

From the Lufkin News.

J. S. Moore, the contractor, road-builder and genial all-around good citizen, is just recovering from a severe attack of the dengue, and in attempting to tell a News man just how he felt, he stuck the following extracts from a clipping under our nose and stated that it expressed in a feeble way the visitation he had while under the baneful influences of this plague. The clipping as reproduced will possibly appeal to those who have had it, and the public in general will sympathize with our good friend in reading his harrowing experiences as follows: "I felt as though I had been held up, held down, sand-bagged, walked on, flattened out, squeezed, was inspected, suspected, examined, and re-examined, informed, misinformed, required and commanded to the point where I did not know who I was, where I was or why I was. I knew I had been cussed, discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, lied about, held up, hung up, robbed and ruined—the only reason I am clinging to life was because I could not die."

The hand that rocked the cradle is now learning to manipulate political bunk.

Geddes says the English don't understand America, but he was too kind to add that they seldom understand a joke.

BAPTISTS REPORT $35,000,000 CASH

CAMPAIGN HAS MADE POSSIBLE VAST ENLARGEMENT OF EVERY PHASE OF GENERAL WORK

GAIN 500,000 NEW MEMBERS

Effort Will Be Made to Enlist These and All Other Baptists in Share in Forward Movement During November

Total cash collections on the Baptist 75 Million Campaign up to May 1, 1922, had reached the sum of $35,153,211.69, according to the general Campaign headquarters. This represents an advance of nearly $30,000,000 over what Southern Baptists did for their general missionary, educational and benevolent work for the three years preceding the Campaign.

DR. L. R. SCARBOROUGH

The contribution of larger gifts to religious work has been accompanied by larger spiritual results in the local churches. It is pointed out. For instance, Southern Baptists baptized 150,000 new converts during the first three years of the Campaign than they did in the three years before, gained 3,000 new Sunday schools and 400,000 new pupils, enhanced the value of their local church property by $3,500,000, enlarged their contributions to local causes by $25,250,000, and increased their contributions to all causes by $43,450,490.

Baptist institutions grew. Some other phases of denominational progress made possible by the Campaign include increasing the number of Baptist hospitals in the South from 12 to 19, with three others under construction and four more definitely planned; strengthening of 17 Baptist orphanages and the establishment of two new ones, lifting 43,000,000 indebtedness on 119 Baptist schools, colleges and seminaries, completion and projection of permanent improvements there in the sum of $4,000,000, and the addition of substantial sums to the endowment funds. Over 2,500 ministerial students are enrolled at Southern Baptist schools.

Church Loan Fund Raised. Among the outstanding accomplishments in the work of the Home Mission Board are the aiding of 1,000 churches in building new houses of worship, the completion of the million-dollar Church Building Loan Fund, strengthening the work among the foreigners and Indians and the 33 Mountain mission schools. The Board has employed an average of 1,495 workers during the Campaign and reports for that period 124,823 baptisms, 312,871 additions to churches, 2,378 Sunday schools and 72 churches organized, and 1,499 houses of worship built or repaired.

On the foreign fields the equipment for mission work has been practically doubled, more than 250 new foreign missionaries have been sent out, more than 400 new native workers have been employed, and the Board has entered the new fields of Spain, Jugoslavia, Hungary, Roumania, Southern Russia, Palestine and Siberia. The Board reports for the period of the Campaign 117 new churches on the foreign fields, 21,723 baptisms, 211 new Sunday schools, gain of 17,576 pupils, native contributions of $1,003,490.65, and $29,842 treatments administered by medical missionaries.

Another result of the Campaign is that the Relief and Amity Board, which is seeking to care for the aged, dependent ministers and their families, has been enabled to double the number of such persons helped and the amount that is given these beneficiaries. Last year the Board was able to dispense $123,966 among needy ministers. It has invested assets of $1,149,888.

Receive 500,000 New Members. More than 500,000 new members have been received into the local Baptist churches of the South since the Campaign began, and in the hope of enlisting all these in the Campaign, as well as reaching the older members of the churches who have not shared in the forward movement heretofore, the month of November 5-December 3 has been designated as Re-enforcement Month by the Campaign Conservation Commission. During this month it is planned that every Baptist church in the South will call upon all its members who are not already participating in the Campaign and secure subscriptions from them covering the two remaining years of the movement, and cash offerings to the Campaign from all the members. Dr. L. R. Scarborough, of Fort Worth, Texas, who was general director of the original Campaign, has been elected to serve in that capacity for the Re-enforcement program, although the details are being worked out in the various states under the leadership of the secretaries of the state mission boards. It is hoped to secure several million dollars in additional subscriptions and several million in cash as well by December 1.

MILLIONS POINT WAY TO HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

BRING CHEERFUL, INSPIRING AND HOPEFUL MESSAGES TO THOSE WHO ARE SICK IN BODY AND SPIRIT

Every human being is entitled to health, happiness and success. It is positively wrong to be satisfied with less. Do not fold your hands and accept ill health as something you can not avoid or overcome. Tens of thousands of men and women from all parts of the country have testified that life has been made worth living to them after they had almost given up hope. These are the fortunate ones who have been restored to health and strength by the use of Tanlac, by far the world's most celebrated tonic medicine.

They all agreed that Tanlac brings a feeling of new life and energy to every portion of the body and sends the blood tingling through the veins.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas
County of Nacogdoches

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Nacogdoches County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon W. C. Monroe and Monroe, partners, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return date hereof in some newspaper published in your county to appear at the next regular term of the county court of Nacogdoches county, to be held at the courthouse thereof in Nacogdoches on the 2d Monday in November, 1922, the same being the 20th day of November, 1922, then and there to answer to a petition filed in said court on the 5th day of July, 1921, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 1629, wherein, A. J. Spradley is plaintiff and W. C. Monroe and

Monroe are defendants. Said petition alleging that plaintiff is a resident of Nacogdoches county and defendants are persons who moved from place to place and have no fixed residence, and for cause of action, plaintiff represents that on or about the 1st day of June, A. D. 1921, at the special instance and request of the defendants, plaintiff sold defendants fifty thousand feet of hardwood timber for which defendants, and each of them, promised to and agreed to pay to plaintiff the sum of four dollars per thousand feet, due and payable as said timber was cut and shipped by the defendants. Plaintiff says that defendants were camped upon plaintiff's premises and cut said timber and sawed it into blocks and shipped over the Houston East and West Texas Railway Company's railroad, and while so camped on plaintiff's premises and so engaged in cutting said timber, defendants were using two horses which belonged to plaintiff and while using said horses negligently caused the death of both of them. That said horses were of the value of seventy-five dollars each and plaintiff says the defendants, and each of them, promised and agreed with plaintiff that they would pay him the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars the value of said horses. Plaintiff says that all of said indebtedness is due and though often requested, defendants have failed and refused and still refuse to pay plaintiff the sum of their indebtedness to him, which is the sum of Three Hundred and Fifty Dollars, or any part thereof. Plaintiff says that he duly and regularly demanded of defendants the sum of said indebtedness more than thirty days prior to the filing of this suit and that he has employed attorneys to represent him and is entitled to a judgment for Twenty Dollars attorneys fees against defendants.

MRS. ARTIE PYBUS

Mrs. Artie M. Pybus died suddenly at her home in this city Wednesday, aged 47 years, 7 months and 17 days. She had been ill but a few hours, and her death was totally unexpected.

She is survived by her husband and two sons, Norman of Stripling, Haselwood & Company's and Eugene of the Eichel Dry Goods Company's.

Interment was made Thursday afternoon at the Simpson Campground, near Woden, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. A. T. Garrard of the Baptist church.

The passing of this good woman is sincerely regretted by the friends of the family, who have the sympathy of all in their great bereavement.

FARR-FUSSELL.

On Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock Miss Gladys Fussell was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Wilson Farr, of Houston. Miss Fussell, formerly of Cushing, has been connected with the Y. W. C. A. of Galveston for the past few years.

The couple were married in the Methodist church at Nacogdoches, the ring ceremony being used.

Only a few relatives were present at the ceremony, after which the young couple left immediately for their home in Houston.

Mr. Henry C. Horn and Miss Roena Horn were married in a corridor at the courthouse Tuesday by Rev. Alton Smith. Though bearing the same name, the contracting parties were not related.

GEORGE E. B. PEDDY AND CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT VS

EARL B. MAYFIELD AND SECRET DESPOTIC REGIM WHICH DO YOU CHOOSE?

Between the propositions: open, unhampered and constitutional government with the Bill of Rights held sacred represented by men and women who proclaim their principles in the open forum, and select men to champion their cause, who are known and read by humanity for their devotion to the rights and liberties of all people; and selfish, despotic and un-American propaganda, born in secret conclave, and promulgated by those who esteem the holding of office above human rights, and who ignore the teachings of the faithful, and the constitutions, both national and state, there can be no middle ground.

We believe that finally the American people especially the citizenship of Texas when advised and put to the test will solve every political and governmental proposition right; and so believing, we hereby call a meeting to be held at the courthouse in the City of Nacogdoches, at 2 o'clock p. m. Saturday, October 21st, for the purpose of forming the nucleus for county organization for the championing of the cause of righteous government as represented by George E. B. Peddy, candidate for the United States senate. And to this end we request each community in Nacogdoches county to send a delegate or delegates to said meeting, and to the same end, we cordially invite every citizen of Nacogdoches county who feels an interest in the political affairs of our state to meet with us at said time and place.

NACOGDOCHES GIRL WILL PLAY COLLEGE DRUMS

Decatur, Ga., Oct. 17.—Miss Mary Ann McKinney of Nacogdoches, Texas, was selected to play the drums in the college orchestra.

Nearly 450 young women from all over the South are enrolled at Agnes Scott this year, and interest in all college activities is very pronounced among the young women. This work not only includes regular collegiate study, religious training and devotion, but activities that tend to develop the young women mentally, physically and spiritually. The leaders on the Agnes Scott campus are elected by the popular votes of the young women, and those chosen are elected on the basis of their ability and devotion to duty.

Since the chief aim of college student body and faculty is to expand the institution, one of the chief interests of all Agnes Scott students is toward the building of "A Greater Agnes Scott," in material facilities, educational work, and religious training, and many of the student activities are directed to this end.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH

The Very Next Dose of Treacherous Drug May Start Trouble

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

Modern homes seem to be equipped with everything except the home instinct.

There are many ways in which girls can climb in the world, but climbing into a stranger's automobile isn't one of them.

BIG ROAD-BUILDING PROGRAM AHEAD

Fifteen to twenty years of building good roads lie ahead of the United States. Under the program which the country has adopted there will be built, during that time, 180,000 miles of improved highways which will constitute the Federal-aid highway system and an equal or greater mileage of State and local roads. When the great job is done, the transportation facilities of the country will far exceed those of any other nation, past or present, in the world. The highways of the ancient Romans, whose fame has come down through the centuries, will pale by comparison.

Details of this vast road-building program are to be placed before the Highway Education Board at its conference in Washington October 26 to 28, inclusive, by State Highway Engineers and officials of the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, to whom has been entrusted the work of planning and supervising the construction of Federal-aid highways. The plan will be presented to enable the Board to proceed authoritatively with its work of devising aids for schools and colleges to which road-builders of the country are turning for competent highway engineers.

Officials of the bureau place the aggregate cost of the Federal-aid program alone at about $3,000,000,000, spread over the twenty-year period. They base this estimate on an average cost of $17,000 per mile. The average cost, in turn, takes into consideration all classes of improved roadways from the cheapest to the most expensive types. Approximately one-third of the proposed system, or 60,000 miles of improved highways, already are either built or building.

The program is a new one. Up to comparatively recent years, road-building in the United States had been conducted without special regard to a national system. Highways had been constructed where needed without considering whether they would link up in the most effective manner with the whole network of roads to be spread over the Nation. Engineers had sought more to meet immediate and local demands than the broader requirements of the States and nation.

The present Federal-aid road-building program, officials of the bureau state, will contemplate the construction of only such roads as fit into the national program and contribute to the national system. At the same time the roads will be so selected as to serve the most important local requirements. With marked modifications, the system adopted in building the railways of the country will be borne in mind in the construction of the country's new highways. There will be main lines of highway communication between centers and thousands of miles of feeder roads, reaching back into the more sparsely settled regions and into the rich agricultural sections, to tap areas whose population and products will flow over the new system.

New roads will be planned and built—thousands of miles of them—where they will fit in most advantageously with the entire program. The bureau is continuing its research work into most efficient methods of road-building, including the character and wearing power of materials, resisting qualities of varying sub-soils, etc., and has amassed a considerable store of valuable information all of which will be available for the highway engineer of tomorrow, whom the Board is seeking to have educated in practical and modern methods.

RAPID FAMILY INCREASE.

What is believed to be the record for births is held by Mrs. M. N. Young, of Clyde, in Callahan county, who has given birth to five healthy children within the past ten months.

On December 21, 1921, Mrs. Young gave birth to triplets. A few days ago twins, a boy and a girl, were born. Previously she had given birth to twins and five single children.

The entire family of 12 children are said to be perfectly normal and healthy. Neither the father nor mother has yet reached the thirty-fifth birthday.

Two are required to make an injunction effective; the court, and the fellow it is supposed to enjoin.

PREACHER'S CONVICTION UPHELD BY SYNOD

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 13.—The conviction of Rev. Thomas J. Irwin of Lawton on charges of conduct unbecoming a minister was upheld early today by the judicial commission of the Presbyterian Synod of Oklahoma. Indefinite suspension from the ministry was also upheld. Counsel for Irwin gave notice that the case would be appealed to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church. He was found guilty of bringing disrepute on the church by marrying a couple in a bathing pool.

PASSENGERS ALL SAVED.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 13.—The passengers on the City of Honolulu, which burned at sea, were transferred to the United States army transport Thomas from the rescue ship West Farallon today, according to wireless messages. The Thomas, due tomorrow, may be a day late. A message said the ship was burned beyond repair. The list of the passengers and crew from the City of Honolulu was given as 261.

OPEN PORT LAW AT TYLER.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 13.—Tyler will be placed under the open port law by order of Governor Neff late today, it was stated this morning. This action follows an investigation of the strike situation there. Clayton Hudson, a former employee of the Cotton Belt, was killed during disorders here last week.

OPPOSE MORATORIUM.

Paris, Oct. 13.—The French government has instructed Louis Barthou, its representative on the Allied Reparations Commission, to oppose the latest proposition by England's representative that an immediate moratorium for five years be granted Germany on all cash payments. It was semi-officially announced this afternoon.

MAY PROTEST RULING.

London, Oct. 13.—Unless an injunction is granted, the Cunard Line the British government probably will protest formally through the Foreign Office against the ruling prohibiting liquors on foreign ships in American waters. This was the statement in official quarters today. Officials here, however, express the opinion that the injunction will be granted in the American courts. It is understood the government takes the attitude of remaining in the background, allowing private lines to take the lead, but it will intervene in the event of the failure of those efforts.

U. S. SHIPS DRY.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Shipping Board vessels will remain dry regardless of the outcome of the injunction proceedings brought in New York on behalf of American privately owned ships, it was announced by Chairman Lasker. President Harding holds that government owned vessels are American territory. Lasker, it was said, also holds that under the attorney general's ruling they come under the terms of the Volstead act, regardless of whether American private ships succeeded in remaining wet.

TURKS GETTING OUT.

Chanak, Oct. 13.—A general retirement of Turkish troops in the immediate vicinity of Chanak is in progress.

DISTRICT BANKERS HERE

The Association of State Bankers of District No. 14 met here Thursday with an attendance representing the entire district. Pres. E. H. Blount of the Commercial Guaranty State Bank of this city presided and introduced Secretary H. L. McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce, who delivered the address of welcome.

R. G. Thompson of Lufkin responded with a very pleasing talk. Others who took part in the meeting were Capt. I. L. Sturdevant, president of the Stone Fort National Bank of this city, who assured the state bankers that, in Nacogdoches, the state banks and the national bank worked in harmony.

Arch G. Adams of Jacksonville was then introduced and made a splendid impression by his straightforward, plain style of speech. Mr. Adams has had experience with both state and national banks and has divided his banking service between Texas and Oklahoma.

Luncheon for seventy was served at Lockett's Tea Room at one o'clock, with music by Nacogdoches Rotary Orchestra.

At the afternoon session J. E. Angley of Palestine presided. It was voted unanimously to ask for legislation separating the insurance from the banking department at Austin.

The principal address was delivered by F. M. Law of the First National Bank of Houston. Among other things Mr. Law said:

"Banking should be a profession, not merely a vocation. It requires no effort for a Texas business man to be an optimist now, but it did require much effort a year ago. Texas has staged a magnificent comeback with this season's harvest. But this comeback is due in part only to our agricultural harvests. Along with this harvest of farm crops we've harvested a bountiful yield, so to speak, of lumber and oil and other minerals. Periods of depression will come in any country that produces but a single crop or that has only one line of industry. Texas' greatest protection against periods of depression lies in her wonderfully varied crops and industries. Financially, Texas is sound to the core.

"I like the banking business. I like the human side of it. Only recently I celebrated my twenty-fifth year in the business. Time only serves to confirm the growing conviction that a banker ought to qualify for and accept the responsibilities of community leadership.

"Can the golden rule be applied in business? This question was recently discussed by a group of six hundred earnest business men. The consensus of opinion was that the golden rule in business is much like an ideal—a thing to constantly strive for, even though we do not actually attain it; and that the nearer we come to the ideal the happier we are."

The speaker declared that the next ten years will show a wonderful industrial and agricultural development in East Texas. He quoted a country banker of wide experience who recently stated that he had never lost a dollar on a farmer who owned his own home.

"Home owning," the speaker declared, "is one of the things we must strive for. It pays richly in every way."

MRS. W. P. FEARS.

Mrs. W. P. Fears, aged 64 years, wife of Dr. W. P. Fears, old residents of this community, died at 8 p. m. Thursday in a Dallas sanitarium, where she had been taken in the hope of improving her condition.

The remains were brought to Nacogdoches Friday afternoon, and on Saturday at 10 a. m. interment was made in the Catholic cemetery. Rev. Father Daly conducting the services.

She is survived by her husband, three sons and two daughters, Floyd of Appleby, Louis of Joplin, Mo., Roy of Shreveport, Mrs. Henry Atkins of Lufkin, and Mrs. Roy Morris of Brownsville; also two sisters, Mrs. Martha Connell and Mrs. Bell Haskins, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Lena Gibson.

A number of friends from other points were in attendance upon the obsequies, and there was genuine grief expressed at the passing of this saintly woman.

When an old man grows sentimental usually it is because he is a widower.

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS COUPE

With this coupe Dodge Brothers have proved once for all that a closed car can be as sturdy and practically as inexpensive as an open roadster.

This is largely due to the all-steel body—the first ever marketed—which admits of lower cost of manufacture through standardized machine production. Unlike wood, the steel surface will take a finish of enamel, baked on at high temperature. This process results in a permanent lustre, and eliminates the trouble and expense of repainting.

The wide straight seat is upholstered in genuine Spanish blue leather, durable and readily cleaned.

The price is $1,130.00 Delivered

COMPROMISE IMPROBABLE. WILL MAKE THOROUGH TEST. THE PARCEL POST REMEDY.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 13.—There is little opportunity for compromise to put the names of Earle B. Mayfield and George Pedy on the official election ballot as senatorial candidates in view of the attorney general's ruling on Pedy. This was indicated by Secretary of State Staples today. The attorney general ruled that Pedy's name could not be legally certified.

Overton, Texas, Oct. 17.—Over at Pinehill the Imboden Oil company is building its derrick, and machinery will be installed when the big tower is completed. Dr. Imboden has put his block of acres into the best possible shape, exercising the greatest care to have all parties in with their signatures. It is reported that this operator will bring to his enterprise all the thoroughness he has practiced in leasing, and that he is abundantly financed. The Pinehill country is well thought of as a deep test well surely follow the beginning already made.

A. N. Sanders is here from his home in West Hollywood, Calif., and is right now adding a couple of thousand acres to his holdings. Mr. Sanders has been a leaseholder in Rusk county for half a dozen years (but to now has not been a developer. He is now following the general trend of the business in Rusk county and will drill out his holdings, Dec. 10 being the date set for beginning actual work. Mr. Sanders is sufficiently financed for a thorough test, he it for one well or a dozen, and his start brings joy to this section of the state.

Over in London community, six miles south of this city, the Citizens Lease Syndicate has started to put down a test, the location being on the Jim Maxwell farm. And the people over that way are speaking of it as the "Maxwell Hub," by reason of the general belief in this section of the real importance of the location. Lumber is being sawed at a nearby mill, and when that is done the derrick will be built and machinery installed. This is accounted one of the most promising locations in Rusk county. The syndicate is an Oklahoma corporation.

Congress will vote at the next session on placing a statute "Serenity" in the District of Columbia. It is stated on unimpeachable authority that the figure represents none of the old guard.

The Turkish war may be over, but there is the peace to come.

The Boston Transcript tells of sugar being sold recently in Northern Vermont at 9 cents a pound when on the same day it could be bought in Boston at eight pounds for 50 cents, or 6 1/4 cents a pound. Thus Vermont sugar cost 44 per cent more than the Boston sugar.

It was possible to buy the sugar in Boston and send it to a Northern Vermont consumer by parcel post, having it delivered to the farmer at his door for a cent a pound less than the farmer would have to pay at the store several miles distant.

"This illustrates," says the Transcript, "what the combination of high freight rates and profiteering is doing to those who live on the back-country farms."

It illustrates something else, too. It may be doubted whether anybody took advantage of that parcel post opportunity to save money on sugar in the outlying parts of New England. Here is a weapon against high prices provided by the government which might be used almost everywhere to far more advantage than it is. Not only in remote rural districts, but also in cities, the parcel post is often the consumer's natural remedy for extortion. The farmer can use it for manufactured goods, and the city man can use it for country produce, wherever they find that the middlemen are not giving them a square deal.—Ex.

This medicine always did me so much good, I had comparatively no suffering, was ill just a short time, and my babies all were fine and healthy. I cannot say too much for the 'Prescription' for expectant mothers, and I don't see how anyone can get along without it. Too much cannot be said in its praise."—Mrs. Lillian Rider, Bolden Avenue, Box 43, T.

AUTO TOURIST "HOTELS"

A new kind of hotel is being built nowadays. It is called the rodome, a contraction from "Road Home," and is for the special convenience of motor tourists.

This year saw a phenomenal increase in the number of auto parties, taking long trips. The machines themselves are better able to stand the journeys than ever before, and accommodations have been much improved in every part of the country.

So the logical step was the rodome. Twenty of them are being built now on the Pacific coast, and doubtless they soon will spread over all the country.

The rodome has its little colony of stores, it provides facilities for the care of the auto, and its arrangements for taking care of guests, most of whom usually prepare their own meals, are far more simple than those of the usual hotel.

The charge is low for these accommodations. The significant thing, however, is that summer touring has become recognized as an institution. We no longer marvel at the man who says he is going to drive across the continent. We merely begin to think about doing so ourselves. The country is smaller today than ever it was. We are neighbors with all our hundred million fellow citizens.

KEEPING THE BRAIN BUSY.

When a bricklayer's foreman at Quitman, Miss., wished to rush work on a night job, he employed a boy, rented a phonograph, and told the boy all he would have to do was play the 40 jazz records that went with the machine over and over and over again.

It worked like a charm. The workmen laid 15,000 more bricks with jazz music than they had laid in the same period without it. Their hands and eyes were busy with square and trowel, but their ears also found an occupation.

The human mind is a wonderful machine. But it needs thorough work. Employ but one part of it, and the rest slows down accordingly. The secret long since has been found by workers in cigar factories. The movements of their hands are mechanical, and the ears, tools of fancy and of knowledge, are given something to listen to—music or reading. In fact, the level of culture among cigar makers is unusually high, considering their place in the economic scheme.

Don't day dream. It is an easy thing to do if most of your work is done with your hands. If there is no music nearby, employ the otherwise inactive part of your mind to good purpose. Make it work. Make it think for you. Don't let your brain slow down.

"If I Had Spared the Time."

Ida M. Thomas. He always said he had no time. To spare with him who bore his name. He always hoped that he would win.

His way to fortune and to fame. But still he had to bend his head. In toil that he might some day say. That he had gained enough of wealth. To last through life from day to day.

'Twas seldom that he ever knew Where his only son did roam— If he was off in vice and crime. Or with his mother safe at home. How oft he burned the midnight oil.

That he might some time wealthy grow, He seldom thinking of his son. With friend he be of with a foe. But grief and sorrow came to him Who piled his silver and his gold.

His son became a criminal, So rough and tough was he, and bold. My friend repented o'er and o'er. For he no watchful care had given;

"Oh, God! If I had spared the time To teach my boy the way 'to heaven."

LIVESTOCK PREMIUMS LARGEST ON RECORD

Premiums aggregating $15,567 have been listed for winners in the swine, cattle and sheep departments at the State Fair of Louisiana, October 19 to 29, inclusive. The awards will represent the largest amount ever distributed in these departments, and, according to early reports reaching the management, the rivalry among exhibitors will be unusually brisk.

Premiums will be awarded in these three livestock sections as follows: swine, $2,950; sheep, $1,670; beef cattle, $7,973; dairy cattle, $2,569.

Competition in these departments is open to the world, and some of the most noted herds in the country will be represented. In Louisiana and neighboring states, wonderful improvement in livestock raising has been realized in recent years, and these states will have a splendid collection of stock in the exhibit pens and stalls.

Prof. E. L. Jordan of Louisiana State University will be superintendent of the swine department; C. H. Staples, also of L. S. U., superintendent of the cattle department; and Jack P. Fullilove, Shreveport, superintendent of the sheep department. C. P. Thompson of Oklahoma University, will judge the swine; E. A. Trowbridge of Columbia University, will judge beef cattle; and Prof. Ridgeway of Fort Worth, Texas, will pick the winner in the dairy classes.

Owing to the interest in livestock raising, many attractive sales are always made at the State Fair of Louisiana. Besides private sales, there will be one big auction sale, as customary, this year, by the Louisiana Breeders' Association. This sale is always a stellar attraction.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

Unusually low railroad rates assured for the State Fair.

MANY BABIES WILL COMPETE AT FAIR

Last year there were over 600 entries in the Better Babies Show at the State Fair of Louisiana, and every previous record was smashed. At the 1928 State Fair, October 19 to 29, inclusive, close to 1,000 entries are looked for.

This contest, which has to do with the most precious of all exhibits, is open to the world. Babies up to 5 years of age are eligible, there being classes for the different ages, also for boys and girls separately, and for municipalities and rural communities. Numerous prizes are offered, and, as has always been the case, the competition is certain to be intensely interesting.

As is customary, the Baby Show will be closed with a special program, at which addresses will be delivered stressing the benefit of this department of the State Fair. The seeking of premiums is one of the least of the purposes; the main advantage is that of making it possible for parents to learn of any defects their children may have. Suggestions for the correction of the defects are given, and baby becomes a much more perfect child as a result of the examinations given gratis by the medical fraternity at this Show.

Every parent should show an interest in the Better Babies Show, for the lessons it teaches are among the most important received at the State Fair.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, Secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

Attractive railroad rates offered.

PIG CLUBS TO MAKE BIG SHOW AT FAIR

With competition open to hundreds of boys and girls throughout the state, and premiums offered to the extent of about $2,000 in cash, there is every reason to predict that the exhibit by the Boys' and Girls' Pig Clubs at the State Fair of Louisiana, October 19 to 29, inclusive, will prove one of the most interesting features of the livestock division. The pigs will be shown in pens in the big swine barn, and will be open to inspection every day of the Fair.

At every exhibition staged for pig club members at the Louisiana State Fair the juvenile raisers have made creditable showing. Each year has registered improvement in the quality of their pigs. The clubs are scattered throughout the state, and almost every parish will be represented in the Pig Club Contest, according to the inquiries reaching the management.

The progress made by the juveniles in the production of fine blooded pigs has been one of the most wonderful demonstrations of the worth of the Junior Extension Department. The best methods of breeding raising and marketing pigs are taught these youngsters. They are proud of their work and are eager to enter their best pigs in the State Fair contests, and lively competition is sure to be seen October 19 to 29.

Champions in the Pig Club exhibition will be entered against the adult champions, which are picked from competition open to the world.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

A MAJESTIC MONUMENT.

It will take eight years to carve upon the face of Stone Mountain, in Georgia, the noble and impressive sculptural work of Gutzon Borglum, depicting the scenes and the spirit of that conflict which is called in some parts the Civil War and in others The War Between the States.

A frieze will run across the face of the mountain for 200 feet and it will be 300 to 400 feet high. The effect from a distance will be that of a great army marching toward the east. Figures of the leaders of the Confederacy will be recognizable for miles.

This is the most monumental work of art attempted by the hand of man in our present civilization. Since the erection of the medieval cathedrals of Europe, there was not an uprising creative force in heroic style, the grand manner, until this.

The cause for the spirit of which this Stone Mountain monolith is the tomb, was in keeping with the grandeur of the monument. Bitterness is gone from the memories of the Lost Cause, and north and south only honor is left for the chivalrous defenders of the Stars and Bars.

Mr. M. M. Graham, one of our oldest and best citizens, was stricken with paralysis about 9 o'clock Saturday morning while sitting in the office of Tax Collector Melton, where he had gone to pay his taxes. A physician was summoned and all aid possible was administered. His left arm, side and leg were involved, it was stated. It is said his condition is not critical. Mr. Graham's age is about 68.

Secretary H. L. McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce has succumbed to the dengue. We were under the impression that it would take a mighty nimble and wide-awake microbe to catch Mack, but it seems he slowed down somewhere and became inoculated. The only consolation we can offer our friend is that it will feel good when it quits hurting.

To remove bilious impurities in the system and be made internally clean and healthy, you need the fine tonic and laxative properties of Herbine. It acts quickly and thoroughly. Price 60c. Sold by Swift Bros. & Smith. b

Alton Burrows and Willie Slay, two lads of about 13 years, side-stepped a big picnic some time ago and devoted the holiday to planting a melon patch. Now they are reaping the reward of their industry. They came in Saturday with a wagon load of fine water-melons, for which they found ready sale, and will realize about $50 on their venture. Good for the youngsters!
