Progressive Times

This is the day of the forward march. No farmer would now attempt to harvest his wheat with an old-fashioned cradle, nor thresh his grain with an old horse-power machine.

There's the new radio outfits, the airplanes, wireless telegraphy, submarines, hydro-electricity—a hundred new things every decade? And in money matters, are we keeping step? Most of us are. We keep a balance at the bank and pay our bills by check, instead of keeping our money somewhere about the house, subject to loss every day. Our modern Bank invites you to do business the modern way.

BOLD BANDIT HOLDS UP GOLDSBERRY'S COLLECTOR

The bold bandit has made his appearance in Nacogdoches county.

J. B. Smith, traveling man and collector for Goldsberry Bros., wholesale grocers of this city, was robbed Tuesday at a point about half-way between Camp Pershing and Chireno, the bandit securing $500 in cash and $100 in checks.

It is the practice of the firm to make collections from their country patrons on Tuesday of each week. On making his regular schedule Tuesday, Mr. Smith left Camp Pershing with the amounts named above. Reaching the half-way point between there and Chireno, the collector encountered a stretch of very rough road. Just as he entered this piece of bad highway, a masked man stepped from behind a large oak and commanded him to stop and throw up his hands. Mr. Smith refused to obey and the bandit fired at him as he was passing, the bullet shattering the windshield. Mr. Smith states that the rough road would have kept him to a speed which the robber could have easily exceeded by rapid running; so considering the case hopeless he stopped the machine. The bandit approached the car, lifted out the handbag containing the day's collections, extracting the $600 cash and $100 in checks and returned the handbag to the car, thanking his victim for the haul and volunteering the statement that "this is the third Tuesday I have been on the lookout for you."

He then stepped to the front of the car, cranked the engine and told Mr. Smith to "git." Mr. Smith "got."

Later in the day the sheriff's department investigated the scene, but could find no trace of the robber except the mask he had worn and which had been discarded nearby. The only description Mr. Smith could give was that the man was of short stature. Efforts to secure bloodhounds from Shreveport, Huntsville and Houston were unavailing. The officers could find no traces of a vehicle or horse the robber might have used.

Every effort will be made to run down the robber.

COMMISSIONERS' AUTHORITY IS UPHELD BY COURT

Austin, Texas, Dec. 13.—A county commissioners' court has authority to determine whether the population of a city warrants another justice court, to establish the court and appoint a judge pending an election, the Supreme Court held today. It reversed the case of C. L. Williams of Breckenridge for the recovery of fees originating from the establishment of Place 2, Precinct 1.

ARMENIANS HOMELESS

Lausanne, Dec. 13.—Turkey refused at the Near East conference today to assign any special part of Turkey as a national home for Armenians. Ismet Pasha declared this would mean a new attempt to dismember Turkey.

Ismet was also irconcilable on other points. He said Turkey would not accept regulation of the rights of minorities by an international commission in Constantinople or elsewhere. The entire question of minorities was referred to a subcommission after a long discussion.

FAMILY POISONED

Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 13.—J. W. Fletcher and family of Brandon, Hill county, victims of poisoning yesterday, will recover, according to messages received here today. They became ill after eating poisoned potatoes. No arrest has been made. Bloodhounds were taken to the scene in an effort to trace the guilty party.

Fletcher, his wife and three children are suffering from the effects of poison.

PROMINENT TEXAN DEAD

Brownwood, Texas, Dec. 11.—T. C. Yantis, grand commander of Texas Encampment, Knights Templar, and a banker, died at his home here last night. He had been in ill health for several years.

CONFERENCE BREAKS DOWN

London, Dec. 11.—The conference of premiers has broken down. Adjournment until January 2 at Paris was announced last night.

THE QUESTION OF A NEW CONSTITUTION

From the Houston Chronicle.

A new constitution for Texas is the hope of every patriotic, intelligent citizen of the state.

No intelligent man ever contemplated that any state constitution would endure forever. Laws are, or are supposed to be, the expression and reflection of the public needs, and a constitution is the summary of principles and inherent rights and necessary limitations which is the guide for the lawmaker.

Thomas Jefferson said the constitution of every state should be rewritten every 20 years.

The first constitution of Texas was framed in 1845, the next in 1866, the next in 1869, during the reconstruction period, and the next—the present one—in 1875, going into effect in April, 1876.

The increase of population and wealth and of the means of transportation have brought about such great changes in economic and industrial conditions that the present constitution prohibits legislation that is essential to the growth and expansion of the state which depends so largely upon the development and conservation of its natural resources. Every constitution takes color from the environment amid which it is enacted, and that of 1875 was enacted just after the great panic of 1873, and it expressly prohibited the incorporation of any bank of discount on the state.

Not until the article was removed by amendment was a single state bank organized in Texas.

An amendment was necessary before a railroad commission could be created.

The judiciary article has been amended time and again, and yet it is by no means satisfactory.

The constitution has been in large measure made over, and whether a constitution be made new by piecemeal or be made new altogether at one time is a mere difference in method of procedure.

The present constitution is many times longer than the constitution of the United States, while all that is necessary in any constitution is the bill of rights and the division of the state government into three independent yet co-ordinate departments—executive, legislative and judicial—leaving the people free through their representatives to enact such laws as conditions from time to time may require.

PRESIDENT'S VOICE OPENS RIO GRANDE VALLEY FAIR

Harlingen, Texas, Dec. 13.—Invisible waves flashed by radio from Washington brought the voice of President Harding to the big receiving station at the Rio Grande Valley mid-winter fair before a crowd which packed the grounds yesterday.

It is believed that the "stunt" is the first of its kind ever performed by radio. "Greetings" were plainly heard by those who stood around the loud speaker at the administration building.

JOHN WANNAMAKER DEAD

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 12.—John Wannamaker, world-famous merchant and former postmaster general, died at his home here today. He had been confined to his home since early in November with a heavy cold. He was 84 years old and in active business to his death. He was an early riser and was usually in his establishment before the first doors were opened. Surviving are a son, Rodman, of New York, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary B. Washburn and Mrs. Elizabeth McLeod, both of Philadelphia.

COURT CRIMINAL APPEALS

Austin, Texas, Dec. 13.—Holding of a military commission in the Texas National Guard does not disqualify judicial officers, the Court of Criminal Appeals held today in remanding Archie Dailey to the custody of Hill county officers in habeas corpus proceedings. Dailey was charged with contempt for refusing to testify before the grand jury, claiming the judge was without authority to empanel a grand jury because he held a commission in the National Guard.

The 15-year sentence of Virgil Miller of Anderson county for criminal assault was affirmed.

PROGRESS IS SHOWN IN ELECTRIC INDUSTRY

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 10.—Statistics recently compiled, according to the Texas Public Service Information Bureau, show that during the last twenty-four months more than two and one-half million new customers of all classes have been added to list of users of electric energy. The electrical business considers this record to be unsurpassed by any other primary industry.

Electric energy sold during July of this year amounted to four billion and eighty million kilowatt hours as compared with three billion, three hundred and ninety million in July of last year. This is an increase of about twenty percent. The gross revenue for the same period showed an increase of about eleven per cent. This indicates that the cost of service is growing less to the consumer.

CHRISTMAS ON THE RHINE

United States soldiers stationed in the Rhineland, according to a dispatch from Coblenz, are contributing one dollar each to a fund of several million marks, with which they intend to give German children a real Christmas. Clothing and toys are being collected, soup kitchens supported largely by officers have been established, and other measures taken for the relief of the German poor.

It is not surprising that soldiers, who carry machine guns and poison gas, should be also bearers of peace and good will. The fighting man is the last to talk war, the first to fight, and the most ready to forget and forgive. In battle he meets resistance, and overcomes it. In victory, unarmed, hungry, helpless men, women and children fall back as he approaches. Even were he so inclined, he could not punish them all; he must either help them to help themselves or let them alone. The soldier, by nature, is not a spectator; he can't stand by and look on, whether the call is to arms, or to relieve distress.

In the role of Santa Claus the soldier serves his country well. The United States for the time being, has withdrawn from its position of world leadership, and is attempting an impossible role—to maintain itself as a passive spectator. The doughboy on the Rhine, perhaps, is more representative of the sentiment of the United States than is the government which he serves.

FARM CREDIT BILLS

Washington, Dec. 12.—Proponents of various farm credit bills appeared today before the senate committee on banking at the opening of its hearings on credit legislation. Senator Capper said his livestock loan bill would meet the needs of both large and small livestock growers, but did not deal with the credit requirements of the general farmer.

After wrangling, the house judiciary committee voted today to proceed with the hearing of impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty in the manner insisted on by Representative Keller.

FREEZING WEATHER TONIGHT

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 12.—The freezing weather which swept the Texas Panhandle last night was spreading southward over the state today. A hard freeze tonight is indicated in the west and northern sections, according to the Dallas Weather Bureau. Official thermometer readings this morning included Amarillo 16 degrees above zero, Abilene 23, Dallas 36, San Antonio 52, Houston 56 and Galveston 62.

ARRESTED FOR KIDNAPING

Washington, Dec. 12.—Hattie Wilhoit of Fort Worth, on her arrival here with her 7-year-old child, was arrested on advices from Fort Worth that she was wanted on a charge of kidnaping. The police said she admitted having two husbands.

GOVERNORS TO CONFER

Washington, Dec. 12.—The governors' conference on prohibition will be held some time in January, it was said at the White House today.

An attempt to displace the administration shipping bill in favor of rural credits legislation was decided upon by the bi-partisan opponents of the measure.

FIRE MARSHAL URGES CAUTION DURING HOLIDAY DAYS

Austin, Texas, Dec. 11.—George W. Tilley, state fire marshal, Saturday issued a special warning to property owners throughout the state of Texas, calling their attention to the fire dangers from inflammable holiday decorations, and unless these increased risks were approved by the fire underwriters, they might jeopardize the validity of their insurance.

Fire Marshal Tilley continues in his statement:

So many disastrous fires have occurred not only in mercantile establishments, but in churches, clubs, public buildings and the home, caused by the introduction of inflammable decorations and exhibits, and the danger to life and property is so great, that the practical prohibition of this class of display is deemed necessary.

Your attention is hereby respectfully called to the facts that the introduction about the premises of Christmas trees, harvest specimens and other inflammable materials, such as cotton and paper scraps to represent snow and the use of motion picture machines, constitute an additional hazard not contemplated by underwriters in issuing policies of indemnity covering the usual fire hazard.

The installation of electric lights for display advertising purposes often introduces a serious fire hazard unless the work is carefully done by men who are thoroughly competent and familiar with the necessary safeguards for this kind of hazard.

The indiscriminate use of fire works is dangerous and should not be permitted. Watch the careless smoker, and further protect Christmas shoppers and stocks of merchandise by keeping fire dangers out of electrical and other displays. It is probably too much to expect that the week will pass without casualties of fire. But the work of fire and accident prevention officers and organizations in Texas in recent years has been most effective in turning public attention to safe and sane holiday celebrations and the like activity should carry us through this year with a further improved record.

FOR UNIFORM GRADING

Washington, Dec. 12.—The grading and stapling of cotton under government supervision is recommended by William Stuart, director of the Census Bureau, in his annual report. With uniform grading thus provided for throughout the cotton growing region, it would be possible to obtain from grading stations the number of bales of the several grades consumed and exported, he said. Under present conditions, he said, this is not possible, as much cotton is not actually graded until it reaches the more important markets.

Cotton production this year will amount to 4,767,262,000 pounds, not including linters, which is equivalent to 9,964,000 bales, the Department of Agriculture announced in its final cotton report for the year.

QUIET AFTER LYNCHING

Streetman, Texas, Dec. 12.—Quiet prevailed in Streetman today following the excitement of yesterday. The girl attacked by a negro was recovering from her slight injuries. George Gay, a negro, was shot to death by a mob yesterday and a negro hotel was burned last night.

Will Investigate Lynching

Teague, Texas, Dec. 12.—The Freestone county grand jury, when it convenes here in February, will be asked Gay, negro, according to County Attorney Woods.

MURDER CHARGES FILED

Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 12.—Murder charges were filed in Erath county today against Newt Johnson, accused of killing his father-in-law, Henry Jones, a prominent farmer. Jones died from knife wounds received Monday.

SEARCH FOR LOST AIRMEN

Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 11.—Ten airplanes today started an intensive search of the desert between Nogales and Tucson for Colonel Francis Marshall and Lieutenant Charles Webber, missing aviators from San Diego, Cal.

SPEED.

These modern ways of speed certainly do take one's breath, don't they? Here we pick up a cable message from a Paris correspondent, and it says "all the children are eagerly anticipating the visit of St. Nicholas on the night of December 25. For the next day is his feast day, and he always celebrates by filling the stockings of the good little boys and girls of France."

Well, now, we thought the jolly old St. Nick would have his hands full looking after boys and girls on Christmas eve, without taking this preliminary sally from the polar regions. But it seems all France and Belgium, not to mention parts of Southern Germany, not only expect him this year, but have always done so in the past.

And he plays the same tricks there, too. If a child has been very, very naughty, he finds ashes and sticks in his stocking. And in Holland the good old Saint leaves gigantic cookies, made in the form of his round, jolly self, hanging on the doorknobs.

Get in good practice, St. Nick. We know a lot of good little boys and girls who are impatiently waiting for your visit on this side of the Atlantic Ocean. And although we've inquired of all the teachers and parents we know, we haven't heard of one in our town who isn't deserving of a stocking full of good things. No ashes and sticks, now, please.

WHAT IS AN OVERSIZE?

A great many motorists do not understand how the oversize tires are calculated and are unable to determine the oversize tire for their car.

An oversize tire is one in which the section size is as large as the next standard size tire, but having the regular size band. It is quite evident, in the first place, that the bead diameter of an oversize tire must be equal to the bead of the standard size tire it is to replace, if the oversize tire is to fit on the standard size rim.

To determine the oversize tire for any rim you increase the large diameter one inch and the sectional diameter one-half inch. For instance, to replace a 34x 1-2 regular tire a 35x5 oversize would be required. It is readily seen that the 34, or large diameter, is increased by one inch, and the 4 1-2 or section diameter is increased by one-half inch. The regular tire and its corresponding oversize have different diametral dimensions but the same bead diameter and are interchangeable on the same rim.

Double oversize tires are figured by oversizing the oversize tires in the same manner. However, it is not usually advisable to place a double oversize tire on the rim, as the rim has been designed to accommodate certain size beads, and the beads of a double oversize tire are larger than the beads of a standard or single oversize tire, not in the bead diameter, but in other measurements such as width, etc., which would mean that larger beads were placed on the rim, than it was designed to carry.—Farm Life.

THE PART THE STATE PLAYS

Some one has called the system by which the various states govern themselves a laboratory method of political experiment. New undertakings in government, in civic and industrial betterment, and in solutions of state questions, may be made within the limits of the state, with the assurance that only that particular state will suffer any evil consequences, or enjoy unforeseen results of the action taken. Woman suffrage, for instance, was at first a state experiment. Its feasibility within smaller bounds demonstrated its practicality as a national factor.

This type of miniature experiment has the advantage of recording more accurately the exact state of mind of its constituents than would that same kind of experiment if it were undertaken by the whole country at once. If a state is not ready for an advance in its cultural tone, it has the right to refuse to undertake amendments to its laws which will bring about that advance, provided they do not fall below the standard set by government. If, on the other hand, the level of a state's moral consciousness has risen above that embodied in federal law, it is at liberty to revise its statutes to suit itself.

Europeans exclaim at the large expanse of territory covered by the United States and wonder that the unity of the country can be preserved. This responsibility of each state to test the practicality of new laws in the interests of the government as a whole, and to raise its level of moral advance as fast as is possible, is one of the important reasons for such unity.

FOR ALL, OR BUT A FEW?

The most ardent supporters of the president's proposed ship subsidy act have failed to meet and answer the only vital issue involved. It is simply whether the measure does or does not distribute its benefits over the whole population, or whether it profits only a small group of people in the shipping business.

There are other issues than that involved. And the same issue has been the pivotal point of every similar proposal in the history of the United States. Hitherto no one has framed a ship subsidy law so that it contained guarantees of public benefit. Has President Harding succeeded in doing this? If so, then no partisanship has a right to wreck it. If he has not, then it is not partisanship but patriotism to defeat it.

What this country wants is an American merchant marine that will meet the competition of the lowest rates in the business and that is forbidden to enter into competition with any other transportation concerns. It is willing to invest its national funds liberally in a merchant marine of that character. It flatly refuses to put a nickel into any other kind of merchant service.

It is an ominous sign of the bill's weakness when its supporters are forced to appeal to congress to "save the president's face." The time is long since past when any big legislation of this sort could survive or disappear to make the personal fortunes of any one man. The public response to useful service never was stronger nor more effective. If that subsidy is all it should be for the benefit of the people everywhere in the United States, then he would suffer no humiliation. And if it is a weak bill, lacking the safeguards for public interest, its passage, so far from the saving of the president's face, would return to punish him.

OUR TREATMENT OF ALIENS

From the Houston Chronicle.

It is a reversal of the case, and a disgraceful one, that Mexico can protest over the mistreatment of her citizens in this country. It should take some of the brag and bombast out of us.

For years we have been preaching idealism and courtesy to the world, but especially to our brethren on the south bank of the Rio Grande. For years we have assumed the privilege of telling other people what they ought to do.

Our role in this respect conferred on us a recognized right to tout for the league of nations. By constant haranguing, we convinced the world that we were the logical exponents of any and every humanitarian movement.

But, and at the very moment when we have our first real chance to do something of constructive value, we face about in a most surprising manner. Not only do we refuse to take a chair in the great council table, but what is worse, and far more inexcusable, we suddenly acquire a reputation for racial antagonism, discourtesy to outsiders and mistreatment of the stranger within our gates.

Strange as it may seem, after having fought a war for the alleged salvation of mankind, regardless of race or color, we suddenly find ourselves victimized by a reign of intolerance and illiberality.

Even Mexico has just cause to complain against us; even the Oregon government that we refuse to recognize can find a beam in our eye.

The mask and bedsheet, of which we have found occasion to complain so bitterly, are apparently but symptoms of a deeper moral defect. These evidences of local narrowness and provincialism, which have disturbed us of late, are obviously suggestive of a more thorough-going prejudice than was at first implied.

We are getting into a mood of hate for everybody, of arrogance and contempt toward all things and all persons beyond our own immediate circle, which sadly belies what we have been preaching so vociferously.

For the sake of consistency, we must repress one or the other. If it is our purpose to harbor ill-feeling toward everybody that we can not classify as 100 percent Americans, let us quit talking so much about humanity.

If, on the other hand, it is our purpose to conserve the splendid name of a square-dealing people which our fathers built up for us, then let our deeds conform with our words.

As the case now stands, we look too much like pharisees.

AS TO A NEW CONSTITUTION

From the Houston Chronicle.

Whether next year, or the next, or a decade hence, Texas will call a constitutional convention.

The feeling that we need a new constitution has become too general and too deep-seated to be sidestepped. The unwieldy restraints under which we labor, but especially in the matter of local self-government and community development, have become too irksome for easy progress.

Because of tax inhibitions, our counties, cities and towns have fled to the creation of political subdivisions, until the overhead expense, the duplication of effort, the confusion of powers, have grown into a real handicap.

The tax rate goes higher and higher; the bonded indebtedness increases, but we lose an unnecessary large amount of money each year because of the ways in which we are compelled to finance community enterprises.

The intent to safeguard homeostasis—a fine intent in theory—has evolved itself into a regulation of important on the part of home owners. They can not use the property as collateral, as a means of credit, and they can not derive the proper advantage from many sources of capital that are now made available.

We need simplification, local liberty and a chance to do the obvious thing in practical ways.

Counties, for instance, should have the right to tax themselves for the building of roads instead of having to deal in bonds. Galveston should have the right to borrow money for an extended seawall if she can get it and her people are willing to pay the price.

Dallas should have the right to introduce a thorough-going zoning system, and all cities that so desire should have the right to institute and carry out a general plan.

We could mention more rights that should be made available through the state constitution, but that are denied at the present time.

The fault with our existing constitution consists mainly in the fact that it was drawn up with the idea that it was drawn up to meet conditions as they prevailed in 1883. That is a fault that should not be repeated.

Constitutions, if they are to remain permanent, even to a moderate extent, can not be drawn up with the idea of meeting temporary conditions.

In so far as human capacity will permit, they should be held to those principles which have come to be looked upon as basic and enduring, and which deal with the general exercise of power.

It has grown to be something of a habit in certain American commonwealths to write constitutions from the standpoint of statutory law, to make them detailed and transient in their provisions, to see them clearly as the means to curb or encourage tendencies and activities that are, at best, of only passing interest.

If we can not approach the composition of a new constitution on broader grounds than those set up by mechanical invention, if we can not visualize it as a fundamental document into which should be written only the general terms of state power, local self-government and individual liberty, then we are not in the right frame of mind to proceed.

If we see it as a medium for instituting new traffic regulations for the automobile, for regulating radio and charting the air, then we miss the main and most desirable object.

LAME DUCKS AND THE SUBSIDY

One of the features of the American system of government that is being criticized increasingly is the length of time that elapses between the election of a member of congress and the start of the regular session. This is about 13 months—from the November election to the December of the following year. Of course, after March 4, the new congress may be called in special session by the executive, but the indisposition of President Harding to do this, his preference for the members who have been defeated to those chosen in their places, draws attention to the feature complained of by many.

Instead of waiting until after March 4 to call a special session of the new body, the president called the present congress, with its many defeated members—popularly known as lame ducks—in extraordinary session in the hope of getting it to put through the ship subsidy bill he has good reason to believe could not pass the new congress. As the sentiment of the country against the ship subsidy was such as to cause the republican managers to postpone action until after the election, the attempt to put the bill through now with the assistance of lame ducks eager for appointments or any political recognition that might keep them in public life is leaving public opinion.

The point is that if the sentiment of the country today is such as to elect a congress opposed to such things as subsidy, the way should be open to house roll-call on the ship subsidy making this verdict of the people count promptly. The members of congress defeated on certain issues should be retired without delay so that those elected to their places can give expression to the sentiment on which they were chosen. Instead the defeated members were left in a position to put through measures contrary to the sentiment shown at the election. The house roll call on the ship subsidy measure shows that 66 lame ducks voted for the measure.

That is not representative government, and unquestionably will stimulate the talk for a change in the system of government to do away with the long wait between the election of a congress and the commencement of its service.

MASONRY'S NOBLE GIFT

The Scottish Rite Masons of Texas presented to the daughters of Masons who attend the State University a commodious and perfectly appointed dormitory.

It was a noble and generous gift, and sets a high standard in the sphere of benevolence.

The sublimely beautiful ritual of Masonry and its stately and solemn ceremonies are inspiring and impressive, but its noblest offering to the world is the service it renders.

The seeds of love and charity it sows day by day will return fruit an hundredfold in the harvest of eternity.—Houston Chronicle.

AN EDITOR RETIRES

This week's issue of the Shelby County (Tenn.) Optimist contains the valedictory of Editor O. M. Gibbs, who has been conducting the paper for some time. Mr. Gibbs has made a good paper of the Optimist while at its helm, and we are convinced the people of his town will miss him.

In announcing his retirement, Mr. Gibbs says among other things:

"I must retire again. A discussion of details would be embarrassing, and you red-blooded Americans who know me and my life so well do not want it. So suffice to say that I haven't the strength and pep that I once had to bear the drudgery necessary to the continued success of a small town paper, but can still fill useful places in the editorial department of the larger papers, and I am seeking a work of this kind."

ROTARIANS ENTERTAINED LIONS WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The members of the Lions Club of Lufkin were the guests of the Rotarians at a dinner last night. Twenty-eight Lions and nearly as many Rotarians were present. A splendid dinner was served at the Lockety Tea Room and the visitors and their hosts pronounced it one of the best meetings that they as business men had ever attended.

President E. H. Blount of the Rotarians made an eloquent address of welcome in which he reached magnificent oratorical heights in a description of an Angelina county long leaf pine forest. Mr. Blount had his hearts guessing as to whether he was going to let them down with a humorous climax or continue in a serious vein. However, he continued seriously and was congratulated by other speakers on his address, which showed careful preparation.

Norris Humason, president of the Lions, replied briefly to Mr. Blount. President Birdwell of the Stephen F. Austin Normal followed with a very appropriate speech, the theme of which was better schools for the boys and girls of the state. Mr. Birdwell urged the Lions and Rotarians as business men to support the movement which has been inaugurated in the state by Governor Neff for a large school fund and better schools. He was warmly applauded. Supt. Coston of the Lufkin schools followed Mr. Birdwell and brought forth much laughter when he referred humorously to some of the things said by Messrs. Blount and Birdwell. Mr. Coston also urged the support of plans for better schools in the state. Mr. Coston said he believed our present methods of teaching and subjects taught would soon be decided cumbersome and out-of-date. He expressed a doubt about the wisdom of teaching algebra and solid geometry in the schools and said plane geometry also might not be worth while.

Other speakers called on were Dr. Sweetland, Coke Murphey, Harry Bowers, J. H. Kurth, W. M. Glenn, H. L. McKnight, and Oscar Seale. All expressed pleasure at the friendly spirit existing between the business men of Lufkin and Nacogdoches and urged frequent meetings when the members of each club should come together in a social way and discuss things for the betterment of East Texas.

The speaking was interspersed with music by Smith's Novelty Orchestra and vocal selections, first a jazz song by the orchestra members, and then Mr. Beeson favored the audience with "Rita," finely rendered, and encored with "Little Boy Blue," also well sung. Mrs. Ambrose sang "In the Wee Little Home I Love," in her own inimitable way, and encored with "The Big Brown Bear," receiving unstinted applause. The entire party joined in singing "Li'l Liza Jane," and they certainly "whooped 'er up" in a lively manner. At the close of the entertainment the participants united in singing "America."

There were about 35 guests present, and we hope they will get the visiting habit so it can't be cured. We'd like to hear them "roast" frequently.

Following is a list of the names of the visiting Lions:

Wm. C. Hall, secretary; C. N. Humason, president; Dr. A. E. Sweetland, S. C. Landis, W. D. Newsom, W. M. Glenn, J. E. Peavy, R. W. Kurth, Coke Murphey, W. R. McMullen, R. C. Jordan, I. H. Brantley, W. A. Collmorgan, H. T. Bowers, L. E. Wright, Geo. H. Henderson, Sam H. Kerr, L. A. Coston, J. H. Kurth, W. O. Seale, A. L. Boynton, Dr. T. A. Taylor, W. L. West, T. J. Aycock, A. C. Kennel, Dr. E. T. Clark, G. E. Watford, T. B. Bledsoe.

They had as their guests Mr. Walton, J. H. Alderman, Gentry Dugas, G. R. Thompson and N. R. Miller.

PUREBRED STOCK SHOW

The Nacogdoches Purebred Livestock Association held its annual competitive show on the courthouse lawn Saturday. This, in connection with the "Better Farming" train which arrived at 7:30 and remained for three hours, afforded our people a fine exhibit of the very best of the country produces in the way of high-grade cattle and fowls. Though the weather was inclement, rain falling in the early part of the day, the attendance was large and interesting.

Prof. Forghason of the A. & M. College was judge of the poultry exhibit, in which the following awards were made:

NOBODY LOVES A FAT MAN

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 2.—John Henry Allen, 24 years old, a farm laborer from Rusk, Texas, today was waiting in the police station for his wife to take him home. He came here three days ago with the hope that his weight (324 pounds) would win him a place as a movie comedian. He tried to walk about the city alone and became lost. The police rescued him and gave him shelter and food while he waits for his wife to call for him.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Washington, Dec. 8.—President Harding in his annual message to congress, delivered today in person, deals with nearly a score of subjects. Chief among them are prohibition, farm credits, transportation, the problem of child labor, and immigration. He announced his purpose to invite the governors of the states to a conference with the federal executive authority with the view to adopt definite policies for national and state co-operation in the administration of prohibition laws. The proposed railroad labor board should be abolished with the substitution of a labor division of the Interstate Commerce Commission with ample power to require acceptance of its ruling and proposes a law to require carriers and employees to adopt means for settling disputes among themselves. He proposed a constitutional amendment giving congress authority over child labor and restricting the issue of tax exempt securities. A more extended credit for farmers was strongly urged. He urged the enactment of legislation for the registration of aliens and for more thorough examination of immigrants at ports of embarkation.

GIRL ATTACKED BY NEGRO

Fairfield, Texas, Dec. 11.—A negro believed to have attacked a white girl at her home at Streetman this morning has been captured by a posse, but the girl failed to positively identify him as her assailant. Excitement is high and hundreds of persons are hurrying toward Streetman. A mob of about 1,500 has gathered at Streetman. The negro said his name was George Gay, was locked up in a small house under heavy guard pending the arrival of bloodhounds from the penitentiary at Huntsville, which will be put on the negro's trail. The girl's condition is not serious. The negro was frightened away after throwing a sack over her head and stuffing her mouth with cotton.

GAS WELL NEAR ALTO

A recent special dispatch from Alto told of the unexpected finding of a gas flow in that section. While digging a well on the farm of J. P. Grimes, two miles east of Alto this week, a strong flow of natural gas was encountered. The flow came in very strong and could be heard for quite a distance from the well, which is about 25 feet deep.

This discovery has created some excitement here, and many are visiting the new gas well. Just what the owner intends to do with the gas is unknown, but it is probable that he will use it for fuel purposes, providing the pressure remains the same as it has been since the well came in. All oil excitement had about died out here but now much talk is heard as to what the Texowa Company will do, whose well is five miles south of Alto.

The entire section around the place where the gas was located has very fine showing of gas as well as of oil. All the wells in Nacogdoches county, adjoining Cherokee, are shallow wells, as well as the one south of here. This part of Cherokee county has been gone over repeatedly by experienced geologists and each gives the same report: that the incidations are good for shallow wells. Most of them base their claim on the many salt domes and other peculiar formations which are very numerous in certain districts.

WHEN FATHER STAYS AWAY FROM HOME

Fathers seldom realize how much more of atmosphere they add to a home than anyone else in the family. Mothers are not themselves when Dad is due at home and does not get there.

"It seems like half the house is gone when Dad is away," is a remark which is duplicated in hundreds of homes many times a week.

Father is inclined to think that Mother can make up for his absence, but there is where he is all wrong.

It is not the necessary absence of Father which has to do with the "all-gone-ness" feeling of the rest of the family.

It is the brief moments when it is known that he is free and one is waiting for him to come home.

If the men who stand around on street corners, gossip in garages, and play pool and cards night after night on a pretext that they are busy were to see the hearts of the home folks, the lonesomeness, the hours of aimless waiting, they would divide their lounging time, at least.

Boys need their fathers, and even mothers cannot give a boy a man's point of view, though she may be ever so devoted.—ex.

DAUGHERTY'S RETORT

Attorney General Daugherty's retort to his accusers is of the sort known in classical phrase as the "tu quoque." The commonest and most familiar illustration of it is the man who on being called a liar, replies, "You're another."

The charges that have been made against the attorney general by those who are seeking his impeachment are of a serious character. The essence of them is that he has abused his powers and violated the constitution which he took a solemn oath to uphold and defend.

The best answer Mr. Daugherty could make to an accusation of this kind would be one discussing the accusation instead of the character and motives of those making the accusation. But Mr. Daugherty in the main avoids discussion of the accusation, and endeavors to shield himself by abuse of his accusers. They are tools, he avers, of the war profiteers, who are seeking to harass and discredit him in this manner because they are afraid of him and of the suits he has entered against them.

This is news indeed. Nobody has ever supposed until now that there was a profiteer anywhere in the country afraid of Mr. Daugherty or anything he was likely to do to profiteers in general or particular. He has been in office nearly two years, and it is only of late that even the most vigorous critics and prodding by congress and newspapers of all parties succeeded in moving him to enter any suits against the war-contract crooks, whom he complained neglected while he made war in the courts on trade unions and tried to wheedle servile judges into making crimes out of things that both congress and the constitution have explicitly said should not be crimes.

It is this misuse of his office, condemned by a large majority of the people of the United States, that is behind the impeachment proceedings against him—not the contract profiteers. He has by his long inaction been too good a friend of the profiteers to have incurred any ill will on their part.

The offense against constitutional liberty for which it is demanded that he be put on trial was impudently committed in the public view. Whether the public opinion which rightly resented and condemned it will pursue Mr. Daugherty to the point of impeachment and removal from office remains to be seen. But this much at least may be said—that his evasive transparently insincere statement undertaken to vilify the motives of the men proposing his impeachment merely confirms the unfavorable judgment of him that the public some time ago informed and all that played its part in the result of the November elections.

A difficulty occurred Sunday at Polleyville between Lee Mullins and Bill Ramos, in the course of which the latter received a cut in the neck, the knife breaking off in the wound. Mullins was severely bruised about the face, it was said, by blows from Ramos' fists. Neither man was seriously injured, according to reports.

THE INS AND THE OUTS

"Liberal" and "progressive" congressmen—by which term is included properly both senators and representatives—and congressmen-elect of like inclinations have attempted to band themselves for effective non-partisan support of measures and principles dear to the hearts in the last session of the sixty-seventh congress and in the sixty-eighth. With great care it was declared that what is intended is not a third party movement. Yet there is evidence that some of the leaders of the proposed coalition will keep their ears to the ground for any evidence of a rumbling of popular readiness for a stampede to a new banner. For such a rumbling they will probably listen in vain, if either one of the major parties takes to heart the lessons of the last election.

The third party has a hard road to travel in the United States for obvious reasons. The president-congressional type of government resolves national campaigning into a conflict of the "ins" against the "outs." Power is the prize of election day. And however, the parties may align themselves upon issues and principles the platforms are adopted, in the long run, with a view to attracting the greatest possible number of votes. The vast appointive power of the chief executives places in the hands of the successful party an influence that automatically forces opposition to organize compactly. A third party cannot hope to win more than the comparatively small minority of ultra-independent voters unless it can show a reasonable chance of victory. Staid and experienced voters are just as loath to support their ballots a cause that is destined to lose as they are to support it with the generous finances that are essential to vigorous campaigning.

The mechanics of the American government assures that "third" parties hereafter are destined to play the same part that they have played in the past to introduce and propagandize new causes. Time after time third parties have brought to the people fresh ideas of progress, have failed in their quest for power, and have died as their causes triumphed through the adoption of one or the other of the major organizations. Not all of the movements fostered in the name of third parties have borne fruit; not all have deserved support. Yet often enough the third party has seen major issues accepted by one or both political agencies to give heart to occasional crusaders. The one chance for a third party to gain ascendancy is to displace or capture a major party organization. Then, automatically, the nation has again only two parties, as before.

Between now and 1923 the tendency will undoubtedly be toward elimination of minor issues and concentration upon essential issues. Thus when the parties go to the mat for their next contest, the tendency will not be as now toward disintegration, but toward intensive concentration. The astute political managers are wise enough to see the necessity of that, and as they concentrate upon one, or two, or three outstanding problems of dispute, bloc—in congress and out—will find the ground cut from under their feet.

A NEGRO'S TEACHINGS

From the Shreveport Journal
In Shreveport, studying conditions among members of his race, trying to give them common sense advice, and working in the interest of an Ethiopia school which he heads, is a negro evangelist and teacher, Socrates O'Neil, of Weldon, N. C. He has received encouragement from a number of representative citizens, including business men, to whom his message has appeared meritorious. Socrates is on the right track, and that's more than can be said for some would-be instructors of his race, by whom, it seems, his suggestions are not relished. But Socrates doesn't seem to be worried by their lack of co-operation. His ideas should have proper circulation, for they are of a character that will prove helpful.

Socrates unhesitatingly tells his race:

"I can say sincerely and conscientiously that the Southern white people are better to negroes than Northern white people. White people of the South are the negro's friends. America's Ethiopia modern leaders have it in their power to teach moral, reliable race pride. Why is it they are not so inclined? Their teachings are mere pseudo to evade ignorant negroes and laws of evolution. They need to be educated with common-sense ideas. Exterminate the modern negro tutor and you will abolish the stumbling stone that is a menace to civilization. They see their house burning down, but will not assist me in throwing inexpensive water on the blaze. You cannot expect immoral men or women to teach morality any more than you could force a boy to do a man's job. I am a representative of white supremacy and teach it in my school, with Biblical authority. My highest obligation is to make good for the future generation. I sincerely advocate things that will better social, moral, economical conditions of the negroes; back to the farm, better schooling, fair day or year pay for a legal day's or year's work. The lynching question will be abolished, if science is accurate, when the negro men and women morally live in their own places. All races must solve their own problems."

These are some of the ideas advanced by Socrates. Unfortunately, there are many so-called leaders of the race and theorizing "friends," who won't encourage his teachings. He delivered a lecture here recently expounding his ideas, but so small was the audience one could almost count the whole number on one's fingers. A negro with such ideas, trying to help implant them for the good of his race, should receive better treatment therefrom.

IDENTIFIED

In a police court two lawyers got excited over a legal argument. Matters reached such a pitch that they began to call each other names. "You're an ass!" said one. "You're a liar!" was the quick retort.

Then the magistrate said—"Now that you two gentlemen have identified each other, kindly proceed to the disputed points."

A RELIABLE CLOCK

Austin, Texas, Dec. 11.—Perhaps the most accurate timepiece in the University of Texas vicinity is the giant clock in the basement of the main building. This clock is the property of the physics department and was purchased as a part of the laboratory equipment from the Howard Clock Company of Boston, at a cost of more than $300. A mercurial pendulum gives the clock its accuracy. The movement can be regulated until there is less than one-half second loss of time in one month. Temperature changes are compensated for by the pendulum and there is no chance for a loss or gain of time on account of contraction or expansion of the metal in the clock. Another point of construction which makes for accuracy is the dead-beat escapement of the pendulum. By means of a special contrivance, the pendulum can be regulated so that exactly one second of time is consumed for its vibration. The clock is wound by hand.

The person of self control will not allow the holiday season to be spoiled for him because this congress is still in session.

QUANTITY VS. QUALITY

To the Sentinel:

I note what you say about the bloody fight between Lee Mullins and Bill Ramos at Polleyville Sunday past. The statement that the fight was at Polleyville is misleading, and to keep the record straight, wish to say that Polleyville, as it is called, is on the highway at the crossing of the Angelina river where J. M. Spradley runs a grocery store, cold drink and a filling station, a chicken ranch, all lighted up at night by a Delco light system.

Didio Ramos lives on the opposite side of the highway and runs a grocery store and eating place. There is a heavy traffic over that road day and night between Nacogdoches and Lufkin. Two daily auto transfer lines. Half way between the two cities, the river as a natural attraction, and lots of people gather there on Sundays just for an outing and to gather berries and haws in season, and a very quiet and orderly place at the particular place designated, but away from the opening space of a few hundred acres of farms, heavy timber and dense underbrush join the highway and what goes on there no one can vouch for. The fight Sunday occurred far from Polleyville and where it seems the strong arm of the law don't reach. A few Sundays past I saw four cars parked on the roadside for the occupants to be waited on from the brush. The next morning I saw several wrecked cars on the roadside with the wheels on top. One fellow was wondering how it happened. The last thing he remembered was that he was on top of the car going towards Lufkin, and the next thing was that the car was on top of him, heading towards Nacogdoches. There seems to be a rivalry between Nacogdoches in the shiny business, and it seems from reports that Nacogdoches has got Angelina county beat a city block in quantity, but Angelina county has the blue ribbon for quality.

Mr. Jim Jones from this side of the river visited Mr. Bonds on the other side a few Sundays ago, the small boys playing under the Procella creek bridge discovered 36 quarts, nicely labeled and wrapped ready for delivery. The boys ran to the house nearby with a bottle each and it was sampled and pronounced first-class and they started back to the bridge to take charge of it all, but two men in a new sedan beat them to it and drove away. Mr. Jones will swear that this whiskey came from a government bonded warehouse with the government seal and warrantee. It is reported that these government seals were printed in Lufkin as one of our most reliable citizens will swear that he passed near this bridge with several Nacogdoches citizens and could smell the boiling mash that made this popular brand of highlife.

I am not worrying over these matters, but it kind of makes me tired to hear so much about these enforcement officers when you can scarcely stroll through the brush without stumbling over a jug of wildcat still product. A. J. Spradley.

A GRAND JURY INNOVATION

From the Shreveport Journal. An innovation in the matter of investigating crimes is reported from from Gulfport, the largest city on the Mississippi coast, where the Harrison county grand jury last week inserted an advertisement in a daily newspaper appealing to the public to furnish it with information about lawlessness in any form. It was not an inconspicuous "ad," but occupied a three-column space on the principal page of the Gulfport publication, so that the grand jury was in dead earnest in its efforts to get a line on all lawbreakers.

There were two requests in the inquisitorial body's appeal, one was for the citizens of the county to be on the lookout for information as to any violations of the law. The other part of the appeal urged prompt reports of observations by the public.

"Make your complaints with us while we are in session, and not on the streets after we have adjourned," was the suggestion appearing at the close of the advertisement.

The public is as much concerned in the probing of law violations as is the membership of the grand jury. Its work would be nil were it not for testimony offered before its members. Citizens have a duty to perform when they know of law violations. That duty is to inform the authorities. If the grand jury is in session, they should accept the privilege of testifying. Only in this way can the jury get the best results from its meetings. Is it fair to disclose what they know of violations and indictments

"Anything To Wear" Motto of Russian Boys Who Face Death from Lack of Clothes

"Anything to wear" will be the motto of these three Russian boys during the coming winter months. Their condition is typical of that of millions of little Russian children, most of whom have come through the summer without shoes and seldom with more than two garments. And they face the prospect, according to reports which field workers of the American Relief Administration have made to Herbert Hoover, head of the organization, of being unable to go out doors to the A. R. A. kitchens which have fed them warm meals for a year or more. As fuel is almost impossible to get, most of the homes will be heatless, adding to the peril the children face, say the reports, for if they try to go out in this scanty clothing they will be exposed to illness and death from the elements.

The Russian winter is as severe as that of the northernmost United States and Canada, and this has made the problem doubly pressing, for the Russian markets have little clothing available, and the supply that is for sale is held at prices far above the reach of the average workman. Overcoats cost more than a year's salary. Some of the organizations allied with the American Relief Administration have sent clothing for distribution in Russia, but these contributions, big as they are, have been "only a drop in the bucket."

To overcome these conditions, the American Relief Administration has initiated a Clothing Remittance system operating in every way like the now famous Hoover Food Remittance. The Clothing Remittance costs $30, and each clothing package contains sufficient material for a suit or dress and four suits of underwear for man or woman or two children. The items include 4 2-3 yards of 56-inch 20-ounce dark blue wool cloth; 4 yards of 36-inch black cotton lining; 8 yards of 27-inch flannel; 16 yards of unbleached muslin; and buttons and thread to make up the garments. When the money is received at A. R. A. headquarters, 42 Broadway, New York, delivery of packages purchased without designated consignees, will be distributed among the most needy cases, many of which are beyond description.

Delivery of clothing package is undertaken to any given address in Russia. The sender receives a direct receipt from the Russian who gets the clothing.

NOTICE, TRUCK GROWERS

There will be a meeting of the Nacogdoches Truck Growers' Association at the district court room at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, December 16.

Matters of importance that cannot be deferred will come up for consideration. Don't stay away and expect the other fellow to look after our interest. He can't do it in the first place and he won't do it in the second place. Come to the meeting yourself. T. J. Lloyd, President.

Germany, they say, is going dry because of bad beer. Doesn't seem to work here.

THE INDEPENDENT VOTER

If the November election proves anything, it proves that the average voter may not be counted as "belonging to" any particular political party. He considers, rather, that the party belongs to him. He engineers a republican landslide in 1920, and a democratic landslide in 1922, and with the utmost cheerfulness announces that he'll start some other sort of landslide in 1924—if he takes the notion. He may still wear a tag around his neck, but the tag is not riveted on. He reserves the right to take it off and throw it away—or to change tags—whenever the whim strikes him. The old-time "yaller dog" idea is in the discard. Maybe it is a good thing. —Farm Life.

America's Food and Medicine May Go for Naught if Russians Cannot Secure Clothing

"If Russia's children, and adults as well, are to be saved from death this winter from exposure—after the charity of America has brought them through the famine of last winter, they must be supplied with clothing." This is a consensus of opinion of the American Relief Administration staff in Russia, from Colonel Haskell down to the inspectors, according to their reports to Herbert Hoover, head of the A. R. A.

From every part of Russia where the A. R. A. has been feeding children and adults, and has been instituting sanitation and medical service and inoculations to save literally millions of lives, the story is the same—that the children lack even the barest essentials of underwear, shoes, stockings or outer wear, with which to protect themselves against the rigors of the Russian winter. And the need of aid in this direction for adults, too, is indicated by statements of recently returned workers, who state that in cases where Russian employees have been given a blanket for extra services the blankets have almost invariably been made into overcoats. Literally millions of children, say reports, have no shoes—an item which in itself may make it impossible for them to go to American Relief child-feeding kitchens. Free shoes and stockings have been provided for 250,000 children who are absolutely without footwear, but the whole problem is beyond the reach of any general funds now available.

The American Relief Administration, to meet this emergency, has put into effect a Clothing Remittance, functioning in every way as does the now world famous Hoover Food Remittance. For twenty dollars, sent to the A. R. A. at 42 Broadway, New York, the following articles, or their equivalent in value, will be delivered to any designated person in Russia: 4 2-3 yards fifty-six inch twenty ounce dark blue wool cloth; 4 yards of thirty-two inch black cotton lining; 8 yards of twenty-seven inch flannel; 16 yards of unbleached muslin; 8 large black ivory buttons; 16 small black ivory buttons; 16 small white bone buttons; 2 spools No. 30 black cotton thread; 2 spools No. 40 white cotton thread.

One package will clothe one adult or two children all winter, and remittances ordered for general relief will be used for neediest cases—thousands of which are heart-broke-

Houston Woman Reports Gain of 25 Pounds By Taking Stella Vitae

"I POSITIVELY BELIEVE THAT IF IT HADN'T BEEN FOR THIS WONDERFUL TREATMENT I WOULDN'T BE LIVING TODAY," DECLARED MRS. C. H. VOSS

"Before I started taking Stella Vitae I was simply a nervous wreck and I positively believe that if it hadn't been for this treatment I would not be here today," declared Mrs. C. H. Voss, Route 4, Box 106, Houston, Texas.

"My trouble had been going on for a long time and was just dragging me down to my grave. This misery in my back was something awful, and my legs ached and pained me so I could hardly stand on them.

"I suffered constantly from terrible headaches and had such a poor appetite that I never cared to eat and what little I did manage to force down disagreed with me and felt like a lump of lead in my stomach.

"At times I felt such distress around my heart that it scared me and then I would have nervous spells and shake and tremble so I couldn't hold a glass of water in my hands without spilling it. I would faint dead away. Actually, I was that miserable all the time I didn't care to live.

"One day I read in the paper about a woman who had taken Stella Vitae and been relieved by it and I felt encouraged to try this new treatment. I lost no time in getting a bottle and before I had finished it I was feeling a whole lot better in every way. Well, I took six bottles in all and actually gained twenty-five pounds and am well and strong enough to do my housework. I have a happy family who are rejoicing with me in having regained my health through taking this wonderful treatment."

Note—Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and is sold upon the positive guarantee that the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief.

THE BEST OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE TODAY

What's the matter, young man, young woman? Why are you letting opportunities slip through your fingers? What are your plans for the New Year. Don't you intend to qualify for a greater success? A small investment now, accompanied by earnest endeavor and a few months' work in the Tyler Commercial College will fit you for a position for promotion, an increased bank account and greater satisfaction all through your future life. Why hesitate? The business offices are calling for young men and women trained as stenographers, bookkeepers, cotton classifiers, telegraph operators, radio operators and secretaries. How much longer will you stand idly by and see others take the choice positions and advance into places of prominence?

You can succeed. Those who are succeeding—nature didn't give a single extra bone or one more nerve, muscle or brain cell than you possess. Their success was not a birthright. It came out of effort—out of action. They used their gifts, as you should use yours. They secured a training in our college that developed and broadened and increased their talents—as you should. To shoot straight you must take aim. They aimed at success and hit.

Look around you. Wherever your eye turns you see some man or woman who had no better start than you—with no better general education or who was wise enough to enter the Tyler Commercial College for a business education, and who is today forging ahead and leaving behind those who thought special business training unnecessary. It is necessary as medical training for a doctor or law training for a lawyer.

You should not think of future success as something which will some day come to you while you sleep. Success comes only by well directed effort.

You have made excuses and hesitated long enough. Your duty to yourself is to make the decision now. Your best interests dictate a decision favoring your entering our college NOW.

The object of this sharp appeal is to set you to thinking of your future. If we have done this, you owe it to yourself to investigate what America's largest Business University can do for you. Thousands have already entered this year and those who have finished are holding good positions. The best time to enter is the earliest possible date you can get here.

Our classes will continue through the holiday season. Write or wire for illustrated catalogue.

DIRECT ELECTION

The "progressive" bloc in congress has won a favorable committee report in the senate upon two proposed "reforms" in the machinery of national government. One would abolish the electoral college and provide for direct election of the president by popular vote. The other would abolish the long interim between a president's election and induction and between a congressional election and the summoning of a new congress. The first suggestion is intended, apparently, to make the executive more completely responsible to all the people; the second would make the congress more responsive to public command.

There is much to commend the plan to convene congress soon after its election, and dismiss an old congress that has been repudiated. An outstanding illustration is afforded at Washington at this hour, as the sixty-seventh congress—completely repudiated last month—proceeds to consider ship subsidy and other pending legislation of grave import to the people. The sixty-eighth congress, representative of the present public temper, will not convene for a full year unless it be called into a special session, and it cannot be convened at all until March, four months after its election.

The proposal to elect the president by direct popular vote is more open to objection, it appears. The president is elected by the states, through the electoral college, and in that college each state has as many votes as it has representatives and senators combined. Thus the smaller states exert greater influence in the election of the president than they would by a direct vote. For instance, Pennsylvania, with a population 113 times greater than that of Nevada, exerts not quite 13 times as much influence in the election of a president.

It is obvious that a constitutional amendment abolishing the electoral college and providing for direct election would eliminate an important vestige of state sovereignty, and would transform the appearance of the government from that of a union of states to that of one great commonwealth, conscious only in the senate of the traditional equality in certain phases of government, of the component units of statehood.

Had we direct election of the president in recent years, history would have been differently written in America. Tilden would have defeated Hayes clearly in 1876. Cleveland would have defeated Harrison in 1888, and succeeded himself. Tilden polled 250,000 more votes than his opponent. Cleveland, in his first campaign against Harrison, had a popular lead of nearly 100,000, but Harrison beat him in the electoral college 233 to 168. There is little room to doubt that if the electoral college be continued that other minority candidates will go to the white house, as Hayes and Harrison did. Wilson defeated Hughes by more than 600,000 votes in 1916, but a change of 2,000 votes in California would have made Hughes president.

Politically, the question is fraught with many conflicting considerations. The old guard of the republican party may be expected to oppose the proposition vigorously, as the democratic party would probably gain by the change. Rockribbed democratic states can roll up popular majorities for larger proportionately than can the rockribbed fortresses of republican-ism.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

725 Patterson Ave., San Antonio, Texas, December 5, 1922.
L. H. C. Hart, Mobile, Ala.

Dear Sir—Replying to your appreciated letter of the 28th ult., I must say that no record of the date of the erection of the noted "Old Stone Fort" at Nacogdoches, Texas, has ever been discovered, so far as I know. My opinion is that it was built about the year 1780, possibly a year or two earlier.

The first real settlers who located in the townsite was a little band of wandering colonists under the lead of Captain Gil Y'Barbo, about the year 1778. They had previously lived on the present location of the town of San Augustine, Texas. They were suddenly ordered to leave there by the Spanish government because of being too near the line of Louisiana, which was French territory, and they wandered as far west as San Antonio.

Returning eastward they reached Nacogdoches, known as an old Indian village, and at this time was an uninhabited camp of about twenty houses, or temporary structures for shelter. Y'Barbo, writing back to the Spanish authorities, said that his people desired to settle there, and that one of the houses would be a church, and that he could fortify the place. He made no reference to the "Old Stone Fort." It probably was not there and therefore was promptly built after 1778. These facts I write from memory. My eyes are so bad that I can't search history.

Dr. Eugene Bolton, of the University of Texas, has dug up and written a lot of such history, with great pains.

Rev. George L. Crockett of San Augustine is writing a history of that county, and being thoroughly competent, he may get the records.

You speak of obtaining a good picture of the old building. I have tried in vain to do so. Its original location was on the northeast corner of the public square, fronting lengthwise to the southwest. It fronts the same way where it was rebuilt, on the same street, called Fredonia.

The pictures of the Gen. T. J. Rusk Monument, which you sent me, recall memories of long ago, when I took an active part in the unveiling ceremonies of this monument. Distinguished orators from distant points delivered speeches. Ex-Governor R. B. Hubbard, ex-State Senator Peyton F. Edwards of El Paso, Jesse W. Sparks of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and others were speakers.

The late W. P. Mims was mayor of the town and headed the formalities.

The old-time admirers of Gen. Rusk would have been pleased to have the new normal school at Nacogdoches called the Gen. Thos. J. Rusk Normal. It is located on his homestead. At the time of his death no man in Texas had a higher rating. The words on his monument are fully true—"Soldier, Statesman, Jurist, Patriot."

Yours truly,
J. E. Mayfield, M. D.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has inaugurated a clock system in Nacogdoches, the following business houses being subscribers: Southern Ice & Utilities Company, Dallas Feazell, City Garage, Mast Motor Company, J. E. Dixon, jeweler; Palace Theater, Star Market, Tucker, Hayter & Company; Acker Motor Company, Tilford-Hunt Lumber Company, McClain's Market and the Ford Service Station. These clocks are regulated and set every hour from the Naval Observatory, Washington, D. C., and each alternate hour are automatically wound. Subscribers need never worry about the correctness of their time. The "master" clock was installed in the telegraph office Thursday morning and at 11 o'clock was one second slow. This will be remedied, however, and the "line" clocks connected up by tomorrow. These clocks have already been placed in the various places ordering them.

TUBERCULOSIS DEATH RATE IS REDUCED ONE-HALF

Austin, Texas, Dec. 13.—The Texas Public Health Association has just received the following letter from Dr. J. H. Florence, state health officer, heartily endorsing the 15th annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale.

"At this season of the year the attention of the State Board of Health is directed to the Texas Public Health Association in its campaign against tuberculosis in Texas and their work to improve general health conditions all over the state. It is our desire to co-operate in any way possible to make this sale a success.

"I am greatly interested in the splendid work which your association has been doing for several years in Texas to prevent tuberculosis and other diseases. Recognizing the value of your campaign, I desire to express my interest in this annual sale of Tuberculosis Seals and heartily endorse and recommend it.

"The fact that the death rate from tuberculosis has been cut one-half during the past seventeen years speaks very eloquently for the soundness of your campaign against this disease."

G. O. P. AND HYPHENATES

In his message to congress President Harding, among other things, refers to "the recrudescence of hyphenated Americanism which we thought to have stamped out when we committed the nation, life and soul, to the world war."

While no one can deny there is such a recrudescence, President Harding's bringing up the question as if he were surprised that the trouble should have returned will not do. It is notorious that the republican attacks in the senate upon the Wilson peace policies were of a character that not only drew forth the hyphenate snake again, but that certain republican politicians made every play they could in 1920 upon hyphenate prejudice.

Mr. Harding himself, in a speech in the campaign two years ago, made some remarks that were not as much in line with E Pluribus Unum as they might have been. At a time when President Wilson was trying to exert the influence of our one people made up of many for the cause of world peace, Mr. Harding said: "It is folly to think of blending Greek and Bulgarian, Italian and Slovak or making any of them rejoicing American when the land of adoption sits in judgment on the land from which they came." This was refuted by the number of splendid Americans of German descent who helped to crush kaiserism.

By all means let the hyphenate be stamped out, but the president in starting the destruction should begin on some republican politicians, as Mayor Thompson of Chicago who speaks of the second American city as the sixth German, etc. It will not do to put all the blame upon the bolshevist bugaboo.

A number of the parents and "outsiders" were present on the school campus Friday afternoon with the intention of seeing a match game of basketball between Appleby and Nacogdoches. They were disappointed for Nacogdoches was wearing the "white feather."

Messrs. W. J. Shepherd, Joe Slay, Herman Sullivan and G. L. Davidson proved their interest in the school by being present in chapel Monday morning. We always welcome visitors.

Miss Kitty Whitaker, one of our ex-teachers, was a most welcome visitor Friday.

Mrs. Maude Hunt and little daughter, Marie, visited the primary room Friday.

The fourth and fifth grades entertained Friday morning in chapel with the following program: Song—Fourth Grade Pupils. Story—Travis Stallings. Violin Selection—Miss Pounds. Prayer—Prof. Stallings. Song—Student Body.

This morning in chapel (Monday) our yell leaders, Charlie Blake and Glyn Slay, tried to arouse a little pep by practicing several yells.

Miss Lewis, our county superintendent, and the inspector, paid us a visit Thursday morning.

Mrs. Lewis, owner of the Lewis shows, arrived in town Sunday and her show came Monday. They will show tonight and probably all the week. The Lewis show was here year before last making this their winter quarters. They will perhaps winter here this year, as Mrs. Lewis' home is at this place.

Mrs. Stallings was not present at chapel Monday due to the illness of her little daughter, Ada Bess.

The girls' A team has challenged the teachers for a game Thursday afternoon on condition that the victors shall be entertained.

Prof. Stallings and Miss Pounds made a business trip to Nacogdoches Saturday.

Laborn Skeeters, captain of the boys' basketball team, was out of the game last week on account of a very sore arm.

LIFE INSURANCE

THE DORSEY WAY!

The Dorsey Way Life Insurance is not a cold blooded money proposition, but a brotherly help one another Association. It is Life Insurance with a soul; it does not cost you all you have to get nor all you make to keep it. It is good, sound Life protection riddled of all the extra frills and high overhead expense, and only money enough collected to pay the nominal but adequate expense, and money enough to pay the death losses, together with an efficient, conservative and aggressive management is all that is necessary to successfully carry on Life Insurance.

Our County Associations have passed the experimental stage. They have stood the test of nearly fourteen years. Every death claim has been paid and never a law suit, with an average yearly cost of less than $5.50 per member. Compare this with other Life Insurance and see the saving to you. The County Life Insurance grows more in favor of the insuring public and grows stronger as time goes on.

Our Associations are backed by thousands of the best citizens of the town and county and our deposits are guaranteed by the Commercial Guaranty State Bank of Nacogdoches, Texas, one of the best banks in East Texas, and also by the whole State of Texas. The fund to pay death losses is not loaned to the bank.

Our different orders provide sound protection for the entire family--the elderly men and women, the young and middle aged and the children from 5 to 15 years of age. Our County Insurance is good enough for the rich and cheap enough for the poor.

TIME LIMIT ON CATTLE SENT INTO MEXICO

Washington, Dec. 7.—Representative Hudspeeth of Texas has introduced a bill to put a tariff on cattle and stock traying over the border or conveyed for temporary pasturage, unless returned to the United States within 12 months.

MISINFORMED

At the sheriff's office Wednesday the Sentinel man was informed that a telephone message had just been received from Lufkin to the effect that Joe T. Clevenger and Hamilton Rogers, charged with transportation of liquor, had been tried and acquitted. It appears our informant was mistaken, or rather had spoken on a report which proved to be erroneous. The following from the Lufkin News of Wednesday afternoon gives the true status of the cases:

"In the case of the State of Texas vs. Joe T. Clevenger, charged with transporting intoxicating liquor, a verdict of one year was given. The sentence could not be suspended, inquiry coming from the jury on this point. The case went to trial Tuesday afternoon and the testimony was concluded Tuesday night. The jury reported Wednesday forenoon early. There is a motion for a new trial and in event the new trial is refused, which seemed likely, it was said, an appeal would be made. The Clevenger case is a companion matter with the Hamilton Rogers case, where an acquittal was given by a jury. Four of the jurors in the Rogers case sat on the Clevenger case."

RAILROADER PASSES

Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 7.—George B. Johnson, former Texas & Pacific superintendent here, died today after a long illness.

MORE NURSES NEEDED

Austin, Texas, Dec. 7.—D. E. Breed, executive secretary, Texas Public Health Association, states that he earnestly hopes that the 1922 Tuberculosis Seal Sale will be the largest ever conducted in Texas, and from the early indications it will be.

It is hoped that a sufficient number of little health seals will be sold in Texas to permit the Texas Public Health Association to enlarge the work during 1923.

Double the number of nurses to instruct tuberculosis patients, assist in clinics and demonstrate tuberculosis, school and public health nursing work are needed.

A medical consultant tuberculosis expert is a necessity. He would also hold tuberculosis clinics.

Many counties are calling for assistance in conducting county hospital campaigns. It is essential that experts be provided for this service. Additional lectures and field workers to meet innumerable requests for service in spreading knowledge about tuberculosis and public health through out Texas are needed.

All of this will be possible if every citizen gets behind this movement and boosts for a healthier Texas.

VALUE OF HEALTH CRUSADE TO TEXAS SCHOOL CHILDREN

Austin, Texas, Dec. 9.—"Personally, I feel that our public spirited citizens should co-operate and aid in the sale of Christmas seals," said Miss Annie Webb Blanton, state superintendent of public instruction. "Parents and teachers, especially, owe a great debt to this work as the Public Health Association has rendered unusual service to the school children and the schools. Under the auspices of this organization physical examinations for thousands of Texas children have been carried on and health education in the schools has been fostered. The modern Health Crusade, which has had far-reaching results with school children, was managed by this organization.

"I am glad to endorse the sale of Christmas seals, as I believe the service rendered by the funds raised from this source is much needed in our state, and that the organization having the work in charge should, in its efforts towards better health for both children and adults, receive the needed assistance."

WIDENING SEARCH TODAY FOR CLARA PHILLIPS

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 7.—The search for Mrs. Clara Phillips, convicted "hammer murderer," who escaped from jail, widened today and embraced all the Western United States and into Mexico. The sheriff at Ogden, Utah, said he believed he saw her on an east-bound train which passed through there, but a search of the train at Laramie, Wyoming, failed to find her.

Reported at Tia Juana

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 7.—There were reports that Clara Phillips had been at Tia Juana, Mexico. The possibility that she took refuge in a cabin owned by Ed Johnson, a sporting man, proved false after investigation by a posse.

DAMAGED AFFECTIONS GET HUGE SLICE OF BALM

Burlington, Vt., Dec. 7.—An award of $465,000 was made today by a jury in the million-dollar claim of Mrs. Dorritt Stevens Woodhouse against her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Woodhouse of New York and Burlington, for the alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Douglas Woodhouse.

WHAT THE TURKS WANT

Lausanne, Dec. 8.—The Turkish position on control of the straits was presented to the Near East Conference today by Ismet Pasha. The Turks ask for an interdiction upon the maintenance of warships in the Black Sea, and further ask for guarantees against surprise attacks threatening the security of the straits, Constantinople or the Sea of Marmora, the limitation of naval forces bound for the Black Sea and liberty of passage for merchantmen in time of peace or war.

During the session Foreign Minister Tchitnerin of Russia again insisted that the straits should be closed to all except Turkish warships. After hearing Ismet's address the conference recessed to give the Allies time to study the Turkish suggestions.

The joke on some men is that they seem to think a bootlegger would tell the truth about his goods.

INDIANS IN CHARGE OF DISTASTROUS ORE

Astoria, Ore., Dec. 9.—Astoria today survived the losses from the $12,000,000 fire which razed 24 blocks in the business section yesterday. Measures have been taken to relieve the 25,000 persons made homeless. Five banks were destroyed, leaving thousands without funds. An order commandeering the city's food supply, to be centralized for distribution, was issued and long lines of hungry people are being fed by the Y. M. C. A. A special train from Portland bringing supplies is due to arrive today.

The mayor expressed the opinion that the conflagration here yesterday was of incendiary origin and could be traced to radicals. The chief of police concurred in this belief.

TEN TO FIFTEEN MILLION LOSS IN OREGON FIRE

Astoria, Ore., Dec. 8.—The business district of Astoria was laid in ruins by a fire which broke out early today and, despite thefts of the fire department with reinforcements from Portland, caused a loss of from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. The fire swept over 27 blocks by 8 o'clock. One man, Norris Staples, an automobile dealer and bank president, dropped dead.

BLOOD FLOWS IN IRELAND

Dublin, Dec. 9.—Rory O'Connor, Lima Fellowes, Joseph McKeivey and Richard Barrett were executed in Mountjoy prison today, it was officially announced. An official army report states the men were executed as a reprisal for the assassination of Deputy Sean Hales yesterday and as a warning to those associated with them. The prisoners were tried by military court martial during the night, found guilty and sentenced to death.

Counter-Reprisal.

London, Dec. 8.—The Dublin correspondent of the Evening Standard reports that a party of men entered a hospital and shot a Free State soldier lying in one of the beds as a reprisal for the execution of O'Connor and Fellowes.

The irregulars lost two of their principal leaders and two other important men through today's executions. All four surrendered and were held prisoners when the Four Courts building last seized last June.

WOMAN'S DOLLAR DAY

Washington, Dec. 8.—Tomorrow (Saturday, December 9) will be Woman's Dollar Day throughout the country.

Fifty thousand woman's auxiliaries in the United States will endeavor to raise $1,000,000 in a single day. This amount is required to complete a $3,000,000 fund to give Seven Union Christian Colleges to the 400,000,000 women of the Orient.

During the last few months the committee in charge has secured $1,000,000. It has been promised another $1,000,000 by the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial Fund provided it raises $2,000,000 by January 1. Only 23 days remain in which to get this second $1,000,000, which will insure the Memorial Fund gift.

The supreme effort to finish the fund will be made tomorrow. The appeal is to all women regardless of religious beliefs. The leaders look to success.

There are no denominational lines in the appeal as the Seven Colleges have the support of ten mission boards. The colleges are located in seven capitals in the Far East. All have begun work, five of them having been organized during the Great War. Each turned away from 100 to 250 applicants for admission last fall.

Deutschland, exciting submarine of others years, is scrapped. But Washington arms treaties are still unrattified.

THE AGRICULTURAL TRAIN

The Southern Pacific-A. & M. agricultural exhibit train was here for three hours Saturday morning and was visited by a large number of people, many coming from the rural districts through the rain in order to view the exhibits. And it was well worth any trouble that may have been incurred.

There were 12 cars in the train, which was truly a "fair on wheels," as had been advertised. Assistant Superintendent W. F. Rentzell of the Southern Pacific was in charge of the train, with Conductor Pat Taylor and Engineer Boatman at their respective stations.

L. M. Murphy was in charge of the Experiment Station's display of wool and mohair, from the raw material to the finished product. This was an education in itself. Perhaps all our readers do not know that Texas stands first in the production of mohair, the "wool" of Angora goats, and second in the yield of wool, ranking next to Wyoming, the greatest of our sheep-producing states. Texas will soon outstrip its rival, it is said.

H. B. Parks was in charge of the car representing the division of agronomy, and here were found many things concerning bees and their work and worth which surprised many.

The poultry exhibit, in charge of J. A. McGregor, showed many fine fowls of different breeds.

In the next car were found the splendid products of the boys' clubs of the extension service, telling indisputably what may be done with Texas soil when intelligent methods and industry are brought to bear. Displayed here were specimens of citrus fruits grown in the Rio Grande Valley, and also the exhibits of Galveston and Montgomery counties. County Agent Combs was in charge.

Then there was the home economics department exhibits, in charge of Miss Gertrude Blodgett, district agent home demonstration work, and Miss Helen Higgins state home demonstration agent. These exhibits were a revelation, showing a high degree of excellence in needlework, canning, preserving and pickling by members of the girls' clubs. Here was also displayed the advance in cooking facilities, showing an old-fashioned, cumbersome, wood-burning stove and progressing to the latest in oil and gas cookers. And for the laundry there were the last word in washing machines, etc., designed to lighten the home-keeper's labor and improve its quality.

Dr. Nye had charge of the dairy department, which contained in miniature examples of modern dairy barns, hog houses and pens and samples of balanced rations for hogs. Among the breed of hogs were Durocs, Hampshires, Tamworths, Poland Chinas, etc. Some of these animals were of huge size, proving that Texas is one of the best swine-breeding states in the Union.

The cattle display was amazing to many of us. There were Herefords, Shorthorns of unusual size, among them a Hereford bull 20 months old and weighing 1,700 pounds. This animal was reared on the Gist Hereford ranch at Midland. There was also a photograph of a herd of Jerseys on the Willard farm near Jason, which plainly controverted the idea that the very finest cattle could not be grown in East Texas.

The reporter's hurried trip through the train left many things unseen which surely would have proved of surpassing interest, and lack of space prevents a more detailed account of this moving academy. It is performing a great work for Texas agriculture, horticulture, home-making and stockraising.

GINNING REPORT

Washington, Dec. 8.—Cotton ginned prior to December 1 amounted to 9,318,144 running bales, the Census Bureau announced today. For the same period last year the ginnings were 7,639,961 bales. The ginnings this year in Texas were 3,020,196 bales.

SAME OLD STORY

Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 9.—Claud Bell, a former railroad clerk, was shot and killed in a main street this morning. Policemen standing nearby arrested James Reynolds, a mechanic. Alleged attentions by Bell to Mrs. Reynolds was said by police to have caused the shooting.

TURK ACTION OBSCURE

Angora, Dec. 7.—The Turkish Nationalist government has decided it cannot accept the continuance in Turkey of the consulates and postoffices of any power at war with Turkey, it was announced today. The Turkish action is not clear, as it still is at war with Greece and technically in a state of war with the entente, peace having never been ratified.

SAY "BAYER" when you buy Aspirin

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians for over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for colds, headaches, toothache, earache, neuralgia, lumbago, rheumatism, neuritis, and for pain in general.

Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoacetic-acidester of Salicylic acid.

MORE WILDCATTING FOR RUSK COUNTY

Henderson, Texas, Dec. 7.—Pinehill is a happy town, for the Coleman drilling rig has been found. When its losing was at its height, the thing blew in over the H. & O. stub line, last Tuesday evening. It is a healthy looking thing, and weighs about 65 tons. It is now being hauled to place in the Coleman derrick just west of Pinehill village. It will be spudded in as soon as the machinery is set. And all's well.

W. R. Miller, Fort Worth, but whose "oil headquarters" are at Garrison, was in Henderson again on last Tuesday looking after his job of abstracting. He is now having made a complete abstract of every acre of the so-called Miller block of land just north of Garrison. It lies mostly in Rusk county. All this looks like a drilling contract.

A. M. VanOrden, formerly a highway contractor, came back to Henderson on Monday night to see if the old town were still alive. Since closing his Rusk county contracts, Mr. VanOrden has been in Nacogdoches county. He took some oil leases east of the historic city and drilled in a four and one-half barrel well. He got the sands at less than 500 feet and says his production pays him a good income on his investment. He has real faith in Nacogdoches oil.

ENTERPRISING SCHOOL

The students of the Chireno High School have chosen a business-like method of earning money with which to purchase the athletic equipment which the school wants very much.

They have launched the course in salesmanship provided by the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia, which gives them training in salesmanship and at the same time provides them with a method of earning this money through securing subscriptions for The Country Gentleman outside of school next week.

This course has been conducted through more than 6,000 schools and has the endorsement of some of the country's leading educators and foremost business men.

Mr. J. F. Buckelew, vocational director for this district, delivered a very interesting lecture to the students, explaining the present-day need for a knowledge of salesmanship and giving the principles of selling. He followed this with a little two-act play: "How Not to Sell" and "How to Sell." Some very worth-while instruction in salesmanship was gained, which is to be followed up by the students in their practical sales work next week.

The school has been divided into two teams, the "Mutt" team, with Miss Nena Flournoy as leader, and the "Jeff" team, with Miss Pearl Thurston as leader.

Gold and silver pencil will be awarded by the school to the boys and girls making the best record in salesmanship. Keen rivalry has developed between the opposing sides.

MURDER IN IRELAND

Dublin, Dec. 7.—President Cosgrove announced to parliament this afternoon that Deputy Sean Hales had been shot and killed and Deputy Patrick O'Mallie, who was deputy speaker, had been wounded while on their way to the parliament session. They were attacked with revolvers. These are the first acts of violence reported during the inauguration of the Free State government.

SACUL OIL PROSPECTS

Editor of Sentinel: You have frequent allusions to drilling developments for oil in Nacogdoches and adjoining counties, and as you evidently have no oil on Sacul lately on this subject I am writing to say that this town is still on the map and we are going down after oil just beyond the hill here about 3-4 miles northwest on the Reeves land.

Mr. A. E. Lacy, a farmer and stock-raiser, is superintendent of the drilling operation for his friends in other states, who are furnishing the money and he is constantly on the job at $1 per year salary, besides expending some of his own funds.

The first well (Reeves No. 1) created quite a sensation because of a good showing of oil and gas, and as this was Mr. Lacy's first attempt at well digging, he decided to hold a further operations until and oil acquaintance of his could come and verify the showings as worthy of the expense of a test. This acquaintance, an oil expert for one of the big companies, came and declared the pump returns showed all the earmarks of an oil well. Casing was then set for a test, but a mishap caused it to get stuck and immovable; so finally the well had to be abandoned. Although shocked, disappointed and depressed beyond measure, Mr. Lacy, feeling keenly the loss to his friends as well as to himself, was not a quitter. He took the log of the well to one of the best geologists in the state and who had worked all over the ground in this county thoroughly with the result that he was advised not to get very far away from well No. 1 for the second test.

The Palmetto is now drilling 104 feet from Well No. 1 and is more than 2,300 feet down.

If there is any oil around here, Lacy is going to find it. He is that determined.

A Wish

"I HAVE TAKEN Cardui for run-down, worn-out condition, nervousness and sleeplessness, and I was weak too," says Mrs. Silvie Estes, of Jennings, Okla. "Cardui did me just lots of good—so much that I gave it to my daughter. She complained of a soreness in her sides and back. She took three bottles of Cardui and her condition was much better."

"We have lived here, near Jennings, for 26 years, and now we have our own home in town. I have had to work pretty hard, as this country wasn't built up, and it made it hard on us."

THE OLD FOLKS HOME

Nacogdoches Lodge No. 1017, B. P. O. Elks, sent us a very kind letter with a generous donation of $25.

The church societies, Methodist Baptist, First Presbyterian, Catholic and U. S. A. Presbyterian, gave a canned of fruit, jellies and preserves. Junior B. Y. P. U. presented the home with a nice porch swing.

Mr. Oscar Mangham donated work in repairing furniture.

Mrs. Sam Hayter donated a feather bed ticking for an invalid's chair.

Mr. W. B. McKnight, cash, $5.00.

Mr. R. E. Price, money left from election returns, $1.05.

Mrs. E. A. Blount, a generous donation in clothing, a nice supply to each inmate.

We sincerely thank the people of our town for their hearty response to the needs of the Old Folks Home.

In June, the Commissioners' Court asked the following ladies, Mesdames Lee Gaston, McKinney, Parrish and Power, to co-operate with them in overseeing and improving the home.

On investigation we saw many things to be done in way of improvement. We asked permission to tell needs to some whom we knew were interested in this work. The court hesitated in allowing this, as it was a county home, maintained by the county. We insisted on it being a community home also—that people were willing and anxious to give a little luxury to the declining years of those aged people.

No sooner than our plan was known than generous donations and gifts began to come to the committee. The Commissioners' Court caught the enthusiasm and made some needed repairs. Since that time there has been much done to make this a real "comfy" home.

A Sunday-school class organized a year ago has fifteen members, ten in the home and five neighbors, add interest and good fellowship.

We hope to have a flower garden in the spring to beautify and cheer.

MRS. J. P. JINKINS

Mrs. J. P. Jinkins, who died shortly after noon Saturday, was laid to rest Sunday afternoon, following religious services at the home at 3:30 by Rev. S. D. Dollahite of the Baptist church.

Eight pallbearers, selected from among the personal friends of long standing of Mr. Jinkins, tenderly bore the remains of the beloved dead to the hearse and to the grave in Oak Grove cemetery, where a large concourse of sorrowing residents of the city witnessed the final earthly rites and placed offerings of flowers in exquisite designs upon the tomb.

Deceased is survived by her husband and several children, besides other relatives and a host of friends, to mourn their loss.

She bore the long weeks of torturous illness with superb fortitude, and a Christian life ended in a Christian's death.

May the stricken ones receive comfort from the source of all comfort, finding there a balm for the grief of which now overwhelms them.

A remedy that will penetrate is necessary in the treatment of rheumatism. Ballard's Snow Liniment goes right through the flesh to the bone and relieves promptly. Three sizes, 30c, 60c, and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by Swift Bros. & Smith.

LEAGUE CHRISTMAS CLUB

A short time ago the Epworth League advertised for letters from children whose families were unable to assure them a proper remembrance on Christmas, and up to date more than 80 responses have been received. The finances of the league would not stand such a draft, and the members, being eager to see that no child should be neglected, concluded to form a League Christmas Club and invite the aid of all persons feeling disposed to contribute to the "stocking fund." This met with prompt and hearty endorsement, as the following list of contributors will show:

It is expected this list will be greatly augmented when thoroughly circulated and many names added thereto. The need is apparent.

LETTER OF APPRECIATION

Frank Baudria, who has been confined in jail here for several months suffering from the after-effects of shell shock, hands us the following letter of appreciation for the kindnesses bestowed upon him by our people:
Nacogdoches, Texas, Dec. 11, 1922.
To the Sentinel:

A few words in regard to our sheriff, G. W. L. Woodlan:
I want the public to know that I have been in the county jail for seven months and have had plenty of good food at all times. The prisoners get just what Mr. Woodlan has to eat at his home. If he has chicken, I have chicken. And I want to say that Mr. Woodlan has been very kind to and considerate of me.

And now I want to express my appreciation for Mrs. Engledow, the kind lady who brought so many nice pies and cakes to me.
Next, Judge Middlebrook, who has been very kind to me. He took me out to his home for dinner, and when I saw his wife I wanted to call her "mother," she looked so kind and good.

I wish to thank one and all for their kindness to me.

Fred Baudria.

CARD OF THANKS

The ladies of Christ Church desire to express their appreciation of the help rendered and thank all who helped make last Saturday's luncheon and sale a success. Special mention should be made of the Sentinel for frequent notices; Tucker-Sitton Hardware Co. for china and use of truck and help; to Branch & Patton for coffee furnished; Summers Furniture Company for use of chairs; Mrs. Lockey for use of tables and a cake; Mrs. Sweatland of Lufkin for fancy articles; and to the general public for their liberal patronage.

BOOSTERS HAVE BIRD SUPPER

Monday night was the regular meeting time of the Boosters' Club, and a committee arranged for a quail supper, which was prepared in Mrs. Lockey's usual faultless style. Practically all members were present, and about 30 young lady guests were entertained. Short talks were made by Messrs. Robert Monk and R. A. Hall, a poem was read by Mr. Dewey Belsler and Miss Woolsey favored with two solos which were well received by her appreciative auditors. Music was furnished by Smith's Novelty Orchestra. The occasion proved a delightful one.

VISIT BLENDING PLANT

Secretary H. L. McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce, in company with Messrs. John Petty, George Hogan and Ed Hogan, went to Lufkin Tuesday for the purpose of inspecting the ribbon cane syrup blending plant and securing first-hand information regarding its operation. They reached the conclusion that it is destined to prove a great industry and will be the means of putting many a dollar into the pockets of those of our farmers who will plant cane and make syrup.

The plant has in storage and ready for blending, refining and canning ten carloads of syrup shipped in by growers, work upon which will begin at once.

The business men of Lufkin supplied the $25,000 necessary for the erection and equipment of this plant, and in doing this they displayed an enterprize which will redound to the benefit of their town and contiguous territory.

Young Willie Spencer of near Douglas, who was so badly burned some weeks ago by gasoline which had leaked from his car and was ignited while he was making some adjustments underneath, is making good progress toward complete recovery. It was at first thought he would succumb to his injuries, but he is now able to be up and the wounds are about all healed except his hands, which still are giving him some trouble, though it is thought they will not be permanently crippled. His was a remarkable recovery from frightful injuries, and he probably will be thankful for his escape as a Christmas gift.
