PRESIDENT OF U. OF T. TO HEAD OHIO COLLEGE

Austin, Texas, Feb. 21.—President R. E. Vinson will accept the presidency of the Western Reserve University at Cleveland, he announced today, in confirmation of the dispatch from Cleveland saying that the board of trustees of that institution had selected him as the new executive.

Doctor Vinson declined to make any formal statement on the appointment, pending a meeting of the board of regents of the university, when it is expected his resignation will be presented.

A meeting of the board of regents will be held Monday and it is thought that action will be taken on Doctor Vinson's resignation. The meeting will be held behind closed doors.

Doctor Vinson, who is 46 years old, came to the University in 1916, following the resignation of S. E. Mezes. At the time he was serving as president of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Austin.

Center of Fights

Since taking over the position the university has been the center of a continuous fight.

The biggest fight waged by Doctor Vinson was to have a modern university built on the Brackenridge tract of land on the Colorado river. The original proposals put forward by Doctor Vinson called for the expenditure of $7,500,000 by the state. After a long and bitter fight it was decided to use several blocks of ground adjacent to the present university land and $1,500,000 was put forward for the purchase.

Purchase of this property by the state has been practically completed. It was during the first part of his administration that government military training was placed in effect at the university.

It was under his direction that Penn Field was built for the government. Doctor Vinson today was flooded with messages asking that he reconsider his action in accepting the appointment.

BURIAL OF JESSE PARMLEY

Jesse Parmley was laid to rest Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Rock Springs cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of grieving relatives and friends. Rev. E. G. Cooke officiated with the beautiful ritual of the Methodist church.

Deceased was born on a farm eight miles north of Nacogdoches on Feb. 16, 1894, and grew to manhood in that community. He attended the public schools of the county and entered the A. & M. College, where he pursued his studies for two years, leaving that institution to enter the army for the great war. He was commissioned a first lieutenant and assigned to duty at a training camp in Virginia, where his splendid services counted for much. After the mustering out of our soldiers he came to Nacogdoches and became identified with the Tucker-Sitton Hardware Company, with which concern he was connected for two years—until failing health forced him to seek treatment and rest. He went to Carlsbad and entered the tuberculosis sanitarium there in the hope of finding relief, but disease had fixed itself too firmly upon his vitals, and last Sunday night he passed quietly away.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Parmley, and seven brothers. Two brothers preceded him to the other side.

Mr. Parmley was a member in good standing of the local lodge of Elks, and the lodge room doors were draped in mourning as a tribute to his memory.

The pallbearers were members of the Baxter Duncan Post of the American Legion, as follows: Elbert Reese, Holloway Muller, Clarence Thompson, George Wessels, Herbert Shindler and Guy Stripling.

It is rarely that so great and general a sorrow is evidenced at the death of a man as has been shown over the taking of Jesse Parmley. Genial and kindly, a Christian gentleman, he was universally beloved. We join in sympathy for the bereaved family. May he rest in perfect peace.

PROMINENT VETERAN DEAD

Galveston, Texas, Feb. 21.—Judge Robert M. Franklin, aged 85 years, judge advocate of the United Confederate Veterans of Texas, died at his home here today.

RUSSIA INTERVENES—MAY LIGHT TORCH OF WAR

Paris, Feb. 21.—The dreaded intervention by Russia in the Lithuanian-Polish squabble was heralded today.

According to the semi-official Temps the soviet government has sent a note to the Lithuanians that Russia considers herself menaced by the Polish occupation of the neutral zone because it puts the railroad between Kovno and Vilna completely in the hands of the Poles. The Temps declares:

"Thus Russia encourages the Lithuanians to attack Poland and retake their old capital, Vilna. By this program Russia is also playing into the hands of Germany and against the interests of England and France."

Temps confirms that the Lithuanians are concentrating the troops which took Memel on a new front against the Poles.

The Temps also foreshadows renewed hostilities between the Poles and Lithuanians along the front where the clashes recently occurred, costing several hundred lives.

SHREVEPORT WOMAN'S CONVICTION ANNULLED

Shreveport, La., Feb. 21.—Conviction of Mrs. Alva Lazroe here Saturday on a charge of manslaughter for the killing of Paul Leblanc, was held null and void today by the district court on the plea of counsel for defense that the indictment was erroneous because of the omission of the word "feloniously". Mrs. Lazroe was arrested immediately and her trial was set for March 6.

The indictment charged that Mrs. Lazroe "did unlawfully kill and slay Paul Leblanc," while the defense contended it should have charged that she "did unlawfully and feloniously kill and slay."

The successful attempt of Mrs. Lazroe's counsel to have the case dismissed was made when the defendant was arraigned for sentence. Under the Louisiana law she could have been sent to prison for a maximum term of 20 years.

JUDGE A. B. WATKINS DEAD

Athens, Texas, Feb. 21.—Judge A. B. Watkins, aged 66, died at his home here last night. He had been ill since February 4, when he suffered a stroke of paralysis.

The above news will be received with sadness in Nacogdoches, where Judge Watkins has many friends who will sorrow for his passing. He was a member of the board of normal regents of Texas, and in his official capacity had visited here a number of times and was always a loyal friend of Nacogdoches.

COLLEGE ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

The following announcement is being made by the High School Division of the State Department of Education:

"An opportunity will be offered the boys and girls of the small high schools this spring to secure the same credit for their school work as is now granted to affiliated schools of the state. During the second week in May, county superintendents, principals of affiliated high schools and others endorsed by the county superintendent will conduct examinations in all subjects now accredited to high schools. The papers will be graded by the High School Division of the State Department of Education and credits sent to each student passing the examination on any subject. These units will have the same value as accredited units from any affiliated high school in the state and will be recognized by Texas colleges and universities.

"This plan, inaugurated by State Superintendent Marrs while he was chief high school supervisor, is being followed by schools all over the state and is proving a boom to hundreds of boys and girls who are deprived of accredited high school privileges, but who have the same ambition to go to college or at least to have the benefit of official recognition given them for their scholastic endeavor.

"These examinations, furnishing a practical attempt to equalize the opportunities of rural and urban high school students, are also recommended to the following persons:

(a) Teachers holding first or second grade certificates who desire to complete their college entrance requirements.

(b) Students in affiliated schools who have taken non-accredited subjects and require additional units to enter college.

(c) Students in non-accredited schools who desire to absolve entrance requirements or to secure advanced standing in accredited high schools, junior colleges or state normal schools.

"Students will be given five years in which to complete the examinations. Those securing sixteen units, within certain specifications, will be granted a Texas High School diploma, signed by the state superintendent and chief supervisor and bearing the seal of office.

"Teachers and school officials are requested to give full publicity to these examinations."

STILL RAIDED BELOW HUNTINGTON SATURDAY

From the Lufkin News, 19th.

A shenny still was raided by Angelina county officers Saturday below Huntington where 165 gallons of syrup were found and thrown into the Angelina river and six barrels of mash and 60 gallons of intoxicants were found. The shenny mill was being operated on an island in the river and by the time the officers could reach the spot the operators of the plant escaped across the river out of Angelina county.

There were four boats found, three of which were destroyed. It was thought for a while Saturday in Lufkin that several men had been killed and others wounded. It is not known how the report got out as no one was shot and the shenny operators got away.

STANDARD OIL DENIES PRICE-FIXING CHARGE

Washington, Feb. 20.—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana has filed a request for a hearing with the senate oil investigating committee. It is declared the charges by Thomas S. Black of the Western Petroleum Company of Chicago untrue and declared it desired to produce witnesses to refute the testimony by Black charging the Standard Company, by whom he said he was formerly employed, with price-fixing. It was denied that Black was ever employed by the Standard Company.

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 19.—Knights of Pythias from all parts of Texas met here today to celebrate the 69th anniversary of the order. Musical organizations from the orphan's home at Weatherford were special guests.

NEFF SIGNS STATE SCHOOL AID MEASURE

Austin, Texas, Feb. 19.—The Melson bill carrying an appropriation of $3,000,000 to supplement the available school fund was approved and signed by Governor Neff late Saturday. The bill is now a law, as it carried the emergency clause and passed in both branches of the legislature by the necessary two-thirds majority.

This is the first bill passed finally by the legislature for relief of the school teachers of Texas.

None of this money can be used, however, for increasing the salaries of teachers.

The bill was signed in the presence of Representative Melson, its author, Prof. S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, Mrs. Marrs, president of the Texas congress of mothers, Mrs. Melson, Prof. A. N. McCallum, superintendent of the Austin city schools, and Attorney General W. A. Keeling.

Te pen with which the governor signed the bill, at the request of Representative Melson, was sent to Pat Neff Adair of Hopkins county, aged 3 years.

100,000 WILL DANCE

Washington, Feb. 19.—A hundred thousand persons, dancing to the music of 48 bands, playing the same tune at the same time, will use historic Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to the treasury as a dancing floor the night of June 7, during the Shriners' convention.

For this "dance of the states" each state will have its own section and own band and all will be conducted simultaneously by means of a system of electrical synchronization and electric light signals, it was announced Saturday by Edgar C. Snyder, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The avenue, down which most of the the presidents of the United States have paraded before their inaugurations, will be illuminated with varicolored lights from the roofs of buildings bordering it. Grand stands will be erected for the spectators.

SCHOLARSHIPS DISCONTINUED

Denton, Texas, Feb. 19.—Scholarships to first-honor graduates of first-class high schools, dancing for the past eight or ten years by the College of Industrial Arts, will be discontinued, according to a statement issued this morning from the office of the president, Dr. F. M. Bralley. Only such scholarships will be offered as are provided for by specific persons and organizations.

"A scholarship does not determine whether the student will attend a college," stated Dr. Bralley. "It has never served any special purpose except to advertise the college or university offering such a scholarship. The consensus of opinion among the better class of colleges and universities, as expressed at the Association of Southern Colleges at the New Orleans meeting last fall was to the effect that such scholarships in the long run do more harm than good, and should not be offered."

During the present session of 1922-23, twenty-nine students hold scholarships as first honor graduates at the College of Industrial Arts.

PEDDY-MAYFIELD CONTEST

Washington, Feb. 20.—The political opponents of Senator-elect Earle B. Mayfield, who defeated Senator Culbertson, democrat, Texas, for the nomination last November in a campaign in which the Ku Klux Klan was the issue, said today that contest proceedings would be filed soon with the senate in behalf of George Peady, candidate against Mayfield in the November election. Both Mayfield and Peady are democrats, but Peady received the republican endorsement. Some of Peady's counsel are now in Washington and others are said to be en route here. The contest is to be filed before the adjournment of congress so Mayfield's right to the office can be challenged as soon as the new congress convenes.

LITHUANIANS ATTACK POLES

Warsaw, Feb. 19.—There have been fresh attacks by Lithuanians on the Polish forces in the neutral zone allotted to Poland, it was reported. It was also said the class of 1922 has been mobilized in Lithuania.

WEEKLY SENTINEL
PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

BY GILES M. HALTOM

ONE PIECE OF GOOD WORK

From the Houston Chronicle, 15th.
The house of representatives of the Texas legislature promptly killed the Baker parochial and private school bill.

It would have never passed the senate, even if the lower house had given the bill favorable consideration, but the 74 representatives who sidetracked the pernicious measure at yesterday's session deserve the congratulations of the entire state.

However desirable such a bill may have appeared from an intolerant view, it was not in keeping with the spirit of Texas, the spirit of democracy, or the spirit of common sense.

If the church should keep out of the state, so the state should keep out of the church.

Above and beyond this, the state should interfere with individual liberty as little as possible.

Even if we had the means, which we have not, the wisdom of putting everybody into public school would be doubtful.

It would certainly eliminate the element of competition and academic freedom.

As things now stand, our public school system is overburdened with regulation.

It lacks flexibility and a chance for local expression.

It is pervaded by a tendency to grind every child out according to some fixed standard.

It ignores the difference in children, and the difference in locality.

It ignores individuality, not only with respect to human beings, but with respect to communities.

It has become nothing more distinctly than a network of prescribed rules and methods, running to the tune of formal tests.

For all that, the public school system is essential and must be maintained.

But if private competition were to be eliminated, the defects from which it manifestly suffers, and which are inherent to a monopoly of any kind, would presently become so pronounced as to destroy a large part of its usefulness.

Education is not a commodity, like iron and coal, to be dished out at so much per pound, and that can be standardized from year to year.

Education is a matter of mental growth and development, quite apart from and beyond the school system.

Furthermore, education is a matter of individual thinking, of community needs, of climatic variation and above all else, of intellectual liberty.

If there is one thing in this world we should not cast in a mold, or operate according to rigid stereotypes, it is education.

If there is one thing we should protect against propaganda and doctrines, against use and abuse by those who feel they have something to put over, it is education.

Not only is the Chronicle opposed to any measure which would eliminate private schools, but it doubts the wisdom of control of the educational system by a political unit as large as the state, except for the enactment of laws obliging parents to afford their children a reasonable amount of schooling.

The Chronicle believes it would probably be better for our school system if every town of over 5,000 people, and every county, had the liberty of local self-government, with respect to schools, and if uniformity were permitted to develop as a matter of voluntary co-operation, rather than a matter of compulsion.

WHY THEY LEAVE TEXAS

From the Houston Post.
It is announced that 138 students from Texas are in attendance upon Columbia university. Texas is generously represented in the student bodies of all leading universities of the United States, and if the full attendance were known it would be shown, probably, that half the sons and daughters of Texas who are seeking an education beyond the high school course are being educated outside of the state.

Looking for the explanation it is found that the state's institutions of higher learning are unable to accommodate the young men and women who pursue their studies beyond the high school.

The unsightly shacks in Austin used for classes betray the state's backwardness in providing facilities at the university, and the dormitory needs of the institution never have been equal to the demand. The A. & M. and the C. I. A., are likewise deficient. These three institutions and all others maintained by the state are undertaking to meet a demand for which their facilities are utterly inadequate. Under such conditions, the boys and girls are trooping beyond the borders of Texas to scores of other universities and colleges.

The parents of these boys and girls are paying taxes to support higher education in Texas, but the state is not affording their children the facilities for which they pay, so they must pay heavily for such facilities in other states.

The constitution imposes upon the legislature the obligation to provide for a university of the first class, but the legislature seems to think that obligation is to be honored more in the breach of it than in the observance. The board of trustees has loyally endeavored to fulfill the obligation, as have the president and faculty, but each biennium beholds an indifference upon the part of the legislature that reflects anything but credit upon its sense of the obligation imposed by the constitution. The imperative need of providing facilities promptly for the training of the citizenry of the future seems not to reach the legislative comprehension.

It would be incalculable misfortune for the young men and women of Texas, who are barred from the state's institutions for the lack of facilities, if the several sects did not maintain high class colleges and universities within the state, or if there were no Columbia, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Chicago, Virginia, Wisconsin, Michigan, California, Wellesley, Bryn Mawr, and scores of other great schools where hospitable doors open to ambitious Texas youth.

There is yet time for the forward-looking men who speak for the state of Texas in Austin to read once more Article VII, Section 10, of the Constitution, written by the fathers of Texas:

"The legislature shall, as soon as practical, establish, organize and provide for the maintenance, support and direction of a university of the first class, to be located by a vote of the people of this state and styled the 'University of Texas,' for the promotion of literature and the arts and sciences, including an agricultural and mechanical department."

That obligation has not been measurably redeemed, and the Constitution of 1826, reinforced by the Constitution of 1876, is calling to the law-making body and asking, Why?

THE GUARANTIES OF THE BILL OF RIGHTS

From the Houston Chronicle.

It is not only wise, but often necessary, to recall those fundamental principles upon which our free government was founded.

Most men have a general, but not always exact, knowledge of them and it is often the case that familiarity with them has the tendency to lessen our appreciation of their value and importance.

There are certain natural, inalienable, inherent rights which are not conferred on free men by any law, organic or statutory, but which they were entitled to, and to exercise before any law was ever written.

The denial of and trespass upon those rights brought the barons together at Runnymede, June 15, 1215, and many of the provisions of Magna Charta have been transplanted into the federal constitution of the several states.

That great instrument declares that no freeman shall be disseised or imprisoned unless by the lawful judgment of his peers, or by the law of the land, and to none will justice be denied, sold or delayed.

The bill of rights, the unrepeatable part of the constitution of Texas, declares that all men have free and equal rights, that there shall be no religious test as a requirement to hold office, no man shall be disqualified to give evidence on account of his religious opinions; all men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences; every person shall be at liberty to speak, write or publish his opinions on any subject being responsible only for abuse of that privilege; the public shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and possessions from all unreasonable searches or seizures, and no warrant to search any place, or to seize any person or thing, shall be issued unless supported by an oath or affirmation.

Every man is guaranteed a speedy public trial by an impartial jury, and is entitled to counsel and shall not be compelled to testify against himself.

If we are to judge by many incidents in the recent past in Harris county, many people are either ignorant of the existence of these wise, just and wholesome guaranties, or they hold them in contempt.

Whoever violates any of them strikes at the very foundation of free government, and any organization which is so conducted as that any of the rights exercise of which is guaranteed to men of every race and faith and color and creed are denied, is a foe to organized society.

EFFORT FOR COTTON MILL

M. I. Cannon of Concord, N. C., is in the state at the invitation of the managers of the Texas Power & Light Company for the purpose of investigating possible locations for cotton mills. Mr. Cannon is connected with cotton mill interests of his company now operating in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and New York. Various mills in these states controlled by the Cannon interests have a capacity of 650,000 spindles and manufacture all classes of cotton goods.

The Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce, with the view of interesting this big manufacturing concern in this city as a desirable location for a mill, on Monday sent the following telegram to Mr. Cannon at Sherman describing what are believed attractive inducements to at least pay us a visit:

Nacogdoches, Texas, Feb. 19.

AN INTERESTING RELIC

From the Lufkin News, 16th.
Dr. R. S. Glass visited the Lufkin Daily News office for a while Thursday afternoon and while here produced a most interesting Civil War relic. It was the muster roll of Company A, 19th Alabama Infantry with "Fighting Joe" Wheeler, then a colonel, in charge. Wheeler was later made a general. Dr. Glass was then an infantryman in the rear rank and was the secretary of the company. The muster roll was prepared by him in his official capacity and it is the same roll used for the pay days in the Confederate company. The roll dates from December 31, 1861, to February 28, 1862. The paper will be 61 years old on the last day of this month. W. D. Glass, a brother of the Lufkin citizen, was a member of the company at the time the muster roll was made, though other brothers joined the company later. Dr. Glass treasures the paper highly and intends passing it to posterity, he said.

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

And where are your dollars you paid for a Policy in the Hundred and One Club and where are those "whangdoodles" who sold it to you? S. W. Blount

COLONEL STEPHEN W. BLOUNT
 A Signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Under the heading of "Men Who Made Texas Free," a series of historical articles running in the Houston Chronicle, from the pen of Sam Houston Dixon, the writer in Monday's edition of that paper gave the following glowing account of one of the most distinguished citizens of East Texas, a man widely known throughout this county and section:

When the call for the convention which met at old Washington on that historic morn, March 1, 1836, reached the colonists, every breeze that swept over the plains of Texas bore upon its wings tidings of strife and bloody conflicts beyond the Rio Grande. These frightful messages of despair were but warnings to the Texans to be alert and prepare for the carnage. Lurking foes were in their very midst, scattering pictures of gloom and desolation. They saw gathering around them, thick and fast, dark and corroding clouds. But the men who gathered there to do their country's bidding were cool, sagacious, prudent, brave and determined. They possessed the rare faculty of infusing their indomitable courage and determination into the hearts of the timid and doubting.

The pioneers of the republic passed through terrible ordeals, but they were the test of human character and fitted them for the struggle which was on its way.

Colonel Stephen W. Blount, an honored and distinguished delegate to the convention, was no ordinary man. He possessed those traits of character which fitted him for deeds of heroism and valor. He possessed a splendid personality. He was modest and unassuming and was highly esteemed as a citizen and Christian gentleman. He came of a prominent family. His forebears were men of prominence and influence. His grandfather, General Stephen Blount, was a renowned soldier in the revolutionary war. He was twice wounded in the battles of the revolution, losing a leg in the siege of Savannah. He held the position of customs collector at Savannah during President Washington's second administration.

A Native of Georgia
 Colonel Stephen W. Blount was born in Burke county, Georgia, February 3, 1808. Here he was reared and given an academic education. The only office he ever held before coming to Texas was that of sheriff of Burke county, Georgia. However, he served as colonel on the staff of Governor Schley of his native state.

In the summer of 1835 Colonel Blount made a business trip to Montgomery, Ala. While there he became acquainted with Captain Archibald Hotchkiss, a distinguished citizen of Nacogdoches, who gave him a glowing account of Texas. He pictured to him in graphic language her rich soil, broad prairies, primeval forests, wide streams, extending seacoast, her game and fish, and hidden mineral resources, equable climate, her opportunities in agriculture and live stock. "Mr. Hotchkiss' description of Texas so fascinated me," said Colonel Blount to the writer, "that I at once made up my mind to go to Texas. He did not withhold from me the growing trouble between Texas and Mexico, but frankly discussed every phase of the trouble. He won my sympathy as well as my confidence, and I grew impatient awaiting the day of my departure for Texas. I had not been here long before I concluded that Mr. Hotchkiss had not told half the truth about the state."

Colonel Blount reached San Augustine in the fall of 1835 and very soon thereafter arranged to make it his permanent home. Soon after reaching San Augustine he married Miss Mary Landon, who was a native of Vermont, but came to Texas with her parents and settled at San Augustine prior to his coming.

Colonel Blount had not been in San Augustine long before it dawned upon the people of that section that he was a man of unusual intelligence, judgment and strength of character. His advice was sought regarding all manner of questions which arose among the settlers. His reputation as a conservative and safe counsellor spread throughout the country, and when a convention was called to meet at old Washington on March 1, 1836, to finally fix the status of the country, there was a general agreement that Colonel Blount should be one of the delegates representing the municipality of San Augustine, and when the date came for selecting delegates, he was chosen. He regarded his selection as a great compliment, especially when there were so many other able and capable men in the district who had preceded him to Texas.

"I cannot say that I was surprised by my selection, because I had been solicited to offer for the place by all the leading citizens of the community," said Colonel Blount to the writer. "But I was pleased and gratified. It was generally understood that this convention would take some action regarding its relations with the Mexican government. War had practically been waging since the trouble at Gonzales, and the peace party had dwindled down to a mere handful, the majority having abandoned all hope of reconciliation. The opinion generally prevailed that a permanent separation from Mexico was inevitable. The did not shirk it."

Made Trip on Horseback.

Colonel Blount joined other delegates from Eastern Texas and proceeded to old Washington on horseback. It required three days journey, necessitating that they sleep on their blankets two nights en route. On arriving at old Washington he found the majority of the delegates had preceded him. He sought the acquaintance of those he had not before known and discussed with them in informal manner the work he had planned out for the convention. His splendid physique and pleasing personality, combined with his practical common sense made him a conspicuous figure in the convention and he attended all the sessions of the convention and took a prominent part in its proceedings. When the committee presented the draft to the declaration of independence he favored its immediate adoption. This was accomplished by a unanimous vote of the delegates. When the delegates began signing the instrument he sought three of the associates from Eastern Texas, Messrs. Martin Parmer, Edwin O. LeGrand and James Gaines, and the four proceeded to the secretary's desk and affixed their signatures to the instrument. "When we reached the secretary's desk," said Colonel Blount, "Sam Houston had just taken his pen in his hand to affix his name and I looked over his shoulder and saw him write his name. Following his name was that of David Thomas, who afterwards became attorney general in Mr. Burnett's cabinet."

A writer in "Texas and Texans" tells us that while Colonel Blount was returning from Washington to San Augustine, he met a company of troops under the command of Captain Ratcliff, which he joined on their march to join General Houston's army, but only those of this company who had good horses were enabled to reach San Jacinto in time for the battle.

When San Augustine county was organized in 1837, Colonel Blount was elected its first county clerk. He served as postmaster of San Augustine, under the administration of President Tyler, taking office early in 1846. In 1850, he was a delegate to the democratic state convention at Waco. During the war between the states he was fiscal agent of the Confederate states. In 1876 he was a delegate to the democratic national convention of Cincinnati. Colonel Blount was a charter member of the Red Land Lodge No. 3 of Masons. He reared a family of six children, three sons and three daughters. His sons all became prominent and influential citizens of East Texas.

Colonel Blount was an admirable companion. His heart grew mellow in his declining years.

The writer spent ten days in almost daily association with him at one of Texas famous watering places about 10 years before his death, and during this period had many opportunities to hear from his own lips accounts of interesting events which enliven the pages of Texas history. His quiet manner drew around him the young and old who listened with rapturous interest to his narratives of early events in Texas, especially during the period leading up to the Texas revolution and during its waning. He was a close observer of the personal characteristics of the delegates to the convention, which declared Texas independent of Mexico, and the writer secured from him valuable information regarding many of them. These reminiscences the writer has preserved. But for this they would have been lost.

Colonel Blount died in 1890. Mrs. Blount followed him in 1892.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS SENTENCED TO WALK

Racine, Wis., Feb. 16.—In an effort to make the punishment fit the crime, Judge E. R. Burgess of the municipal court here, has decided not to fine or jail traffic law violators, but to make them walk for 30 or 60 or 90 days. The judge has been warring on the speed demons for some time.

"Fines don't seem to curb reckless driving," he said today, "and even jail sentences have not been a wild success. But I am going to put a stop to this speeding if I have to tie up every automobile in town. The speed laws were made to be obeyed and those who can't drive according to them will have to learn to walk."

Whereupon he sentenced an offender to 90 days "on the ground," the stipulation being that he should not ride in or operate an automobile during this period on pain of forfeiture of license plate and driving permit.

Judge Burgess said that men sentenced to "the sidewalk" might ride in trolley cars or jitney busses only.

MAN DIES IN $200,000 BLAZE AT SMACKOVER

Smackover, Ark., Feb. 19.—Fire here early yesterday caused the death of one man, the injury of several others and a property loss of nearly $200,000, only a favorable wind preventing the destruction of the entire town.

The dead man is W. A. Bassam, 45, a guest of the Commercial hotel, and a pipe checker for an oil supply house here. The blaze swept a block and a half along the principal street, destroying the Commercial, Pines and Sipple hotels, a hardware store, clothing store and several other business houses. All new buildings, erected since the recent oil boom. The blaze originated from a gas stove in a poolroom below the Commercial.

The fire started about 7 o'clock Sunday morning, Bassam, who perished in the flames, was a victim of a trick of fate. He had gone to the depot to take an early morning train to El Dorado, only to learn that it was several hours late, returned to the hotel and fallen asleep.

LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITIES

Austin, Texas, Feb. 19.—The senate failed to establish a quorum this morning, the absence of senators being due to the activities of investigating committees.

The senate conference on the Pope textbook bill, seeking to nullify the recent awards, is expected to resign following the failure of the senate and house committees to reach a compromise on amendments, and the lieutenant governor will be asked to appoint another committee in an attempt at compromise.

The Rountree-Quaid constitutional convention resolution was reported favorably by the senate constitutional amendments committee.

The house took up the McNatt bill proposing an increase in license fees on motor vehicles based on the weight of the vehicle and voted down an amendment exempting pleasure vehicles.

Senator Clarke stated that he expects to introduce a bill placing all fees from county superintendents' and teachers' institute examinations received by the Department of Education into the state treasury. He claims that approximately $50,000 thus received annually is appropriated for the benefit of employees of the department.

PHARAOH'S TOMB YIELDS AMAZING TREASURES

Luxor, Egypt, Feb. 16.—The sarcophagus of Pharaoh Tutankhamun was found when the inner chamber in his tomb was opened by the British archaeologists this afternoon.

The sarcophagus was enclosed in a huge canopy which alone has been opened so far. The exploration revealed two chambers, each filled with splendid treasures.

New York, Feb. 16.—The tomb of Pharaoh Tutankhamun, opened by explorers today in the valley of the kings near Luxor, is by far the richest treasure trove ever uncovered in the necropolis of ancient Thebes, and in all likelihood is the richest that will ever be discovered, Ambrose Lansing, acting curator of the Egyptian section of the Metropolitan Museum of Art declared today.

Tombs of practically all the early rulers of Egypt have been accounted for, most of them thoroughly looted by native grave robbers, said Mr. Lansing.

"There are only two or three royal tombs left to look for," he said, "and they are those of lesser kings. All the others have been opened, a few by archaeologists, but the most of them by vandals, who left nothing of importance behind them."

Royal furniture, royal garments, chariots, ornaments and works of rare beauty and exquisite workmanship, already have been found in unprecedented quantities in the outer chambers of Tutankhamun's tomb. The funeral equipment, much of it heavily encrusted with gold and semi-precious stones, is valued at millions of dollars.

But treasures of greater value in the eyes of the Egyptologists—bits of historical data of the era antedating Christ by thirteen and a half centuries—are hoped for when the hieroglyphic inscriptions within the tomb itself have been translated.

HORRIBLE HOLOCAUST IN N. Y. INSANE ASYLUM

New York, Feb. 19.—Eight inquiries are under way or in prospect in the tragedy on Edwards Island, in Hellgate, where fire swept a ward of the Manhattan Hospital for the Insane yesterday, killing 22 patients and three attendances. It is believed the fire was started by a blast in Hellgate which broke the insulation of the electrical wiring, causing a short-circuit. Investigations by the fire marshal, medical examiner, state architect, hospital commission, district attorney, board of managers, detectives, and the officer in charge of the dredging in Hellgate are under way or contemplated.

CONDITIONS IMPROVED

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Both the northern and Southern parts of Texas are showing improvement in production payments, according to J. H. Tregoe, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men, after a tour of several states. In the Panhandle section there is some continuation of the drought, and the cattle men of that section generally are in great distress, but the outlook generally is encouraging, he said. Nearly everyone with whom he talked was optimistic.

CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Washington, Feb. 19.—Advocates of the child labor constitutional amendment won the first stage of the fight today, when the judiciary committee ordered a favorable report on the resolution providing for the submission of such amendment to the states. The child labor amendment would empower congress to limit or prohibit labor of persons under 18.

MASKED VIOLENCE

From the Chicago Tribune.

Legislation has been proposed and is likely to be passed in the Illinois Assembly to meet the evil of vigilantism, night riding, and crimes committed by masked marauders. Such legislation exists in some other states. For example, Tennessee has had on its criminal code since 1870 an act inflicting a penalty of from $100 to $500 and imprisonment in the county jail for any person or persons, masked or in disguise, who shall "prowl, travel or ride, or walk through the country or towns, to the disturbance of the peace or the alarming of the citizens". Another section declares that if any person, disguised or in mask, by daylight or by night, shall enter upon the premises of another or demand entrance into a house, or enclosure, it shall be considered prima facie that his intention is felonious and he is deemed an assault with intent to commit felony, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than ten nor more than twenty years. A third section declares that any one who, while masked or disguised, assaults another with a deadly weapon shall be deemed guilty of assault with intent to commit murder in the first degree and on conviction shall suffer death by hanging, provided that the jury may substitute imprisonment for not less than ten nor more than twenty-one years.

This is drastic law and it is said to have kept Tennessee free from night riding and similar offenses. It seems to us justifiable and, while the evil has not been rampant in Illinois as in some other states, we see no reason why a severe law should not be enacted to prevent the practice. Nothing could be more intolerable than the infliction of private punishment, under cover of secrecy. The mask is inexcusable and cowardly. It encourages irresponsible private action. If, as in the case of the early vigilantes of frontier days, the law is not enforced, citizens should act in the open, assuming responsibility to the community for their action. The mask merely protects private lawlessness and should be made unlawful.

Night riding is uncivilized and no self-respecting community will tolerate the assumption by self-appointed private individuals of the right to discipline others without authority or form of law. Secret societies are numerous in this country and most of them have some form of uniform or regalia for their own ceremonies. That is legitimate. But masks and disguises which conceal the person and invite irresponsible action, should not be permitted in public.

FAILURE

Those who read Dickens before he was classed as hopelessly old-fashioned recall the passage in Pickwick papers in which Sam Weller is polishing shoes with Day & Martin's blacking, and most of us never paid much attention to the firm name, not realizing that it was that of one of the leading shoe polish manufacturers in Great Britain.

And so news came over the cables the other day that Day & Martin had failed. The manager of the firm admitted that there was just one good reason for his failure. He did not advertise.

A more classic example of what happens in a small way every day is here presented. It will not do to force the moral too hard. But a firm which had such a good product that it could be mentioned casually in one of the outstanding books of the literature of the last century, had at least the foundation for advertising that could have made a monumental industry.

The product had merit. It was in wide use. Charles Dickens had praised it. And, then, because those in charge of that particular firm lacked vision, lacked the imagination to see what advertising along modern lines would have meant—the firm failed.

BEAUTY

Feminine grace and charm desert the woman who specializes in athletic contests, according to the dictum of a Chicago woman artist. We are not much worried that many of the women of our acquaintance are going to turn out to be professional tennis or golf champions, but we have remarked that several of them show a most unwonted and upsetting skill and adaptability of outdoor sports, which no one can look on unperturbed.

Man has always thought of business and sport as being his spheres. Woman has proved herself the equal in the one and she demonstrates on not a few occasions her ability to give him cards and spades in the other.

It seems a sort of mean way to get back at the sex, then, after they have shown up masculine pretensions of superiority, by saying they are less beautiful and charming than if they had left physical development alone.

Few get very excited, it must be confessed, over women sports champions, but on the other hand everyone is glad to see that the girls of this generation are paying some attention to their bodies, that they walk correctly, breathe correctly and play gracefully. Sometimes we suspect that never before this age were American women really so charming as they are now. We know that a lot of folk will want to disprove that, and claim that 35 years ago women, with their hour-glass shapes, trailing skirts and horrible coiffures were greater beauties, but we are going to stick to our opinion.

WASHINGTON

Time, which is impartial, and the evidence of events which never can be twisted in anybody's favor, made Washington the superb figure that he is in American history. It was not the esteem of his contemporaries or the understanding of the people who followed immediately after him.

In his day G. W. was hated, suspected, libeled by the politicians and advertised as a traitor to his country. He moved to the end of his official career in a storm of criticism generated out of fear, jealousy and ignorance and the passionate enmity of snobs. In the reaction of sentiment that came a generation after his death Washington was misrepresented in other ways. He was presented as a sleek embodiment of all the small and easy virtues, as a sort of cotton-wool saint in attitudes that would have caused him spasms of nausea if he had been alive to read the early histories of his time and work.

Washington was, in fact, a two-fisted man of unbending honor and limitless courage, who brought to the service of his country a love of fair dealing and a genius for leadership combined with a slow, cumulative hatred of all injustice.

The memory of Washington, who retired after all his matchless service thanking God for the opportunity to escape from the mean conflicts of selfishness that raged around him, may have sustained Lincoln in the days when he, too, was being called a wrecker and visionary. It may have comforted Roosevelt when, only a few years ago, the folks who now make solemn pilgrimages to his tomb, were calling him an anarchist who ought to be locked up. It should console Wilson.

Only the very strong men who care more for justice and for mankind than they care for their own comfort or even their own lives may dare to be pioneers of great new causes in a democracy. Such men have lived without company. After years they are shown to have been wise and brave servants of the people, monuments are built for them and we turn out to make speeches which imply that we ourselves somehow helped them on to triumph.

Usually we do nothing of the sort. There are too many of us who hate the thought of change or progress, too many of us who are comfortable enough as matters stand, too many of us who forget that time and thinking go on relentlessly no matter what the individual may desire, and that those who refuse to move forward intelligently and bravely to face new responsibilities created in the process of evolution will be violently compelled, sooner or later, by forces outside themselves, to take second, third or fourth place in the procession.

THE CODE MACHINE

From the Shreveport Journal.

A new radio device said to insure absolute secrecy in the transmission of messages is soon to be tested by government experts. It is an automatic arrangement. The sender spells out the message in English, but the sending machine changes it into code. The receiving machine changes it back into English as the message comes in.

Exactly why an enemy can not get the decoded message by means of a similar receiving machine or why the message can not be picked up from the ether and decoded, is not exactly as clear as a crystal.

However the layman in such matters will do well to leave it to the signal corps. That organization probably knows what it is about.

At the same time, it is to be hoped that the invention of a non-decipherable code machine will not interfere with the international intrigue story in which messages of the utmost importance are lost and found and stolen and recovered so fascinatingly.

A state department in the public mind has come to mean a body of men who spend most of their time denying they have said something that everybody knows they believe.

MEXICO AND TEXAS

Ignorance and Poverty—Education and Wealth

Texas through the governor and the legislature has expressed a desire to see the United States extend recognition to the present Mexican government. This gives occasion to say as did Alexander von Humboldt, the famous scientist, nearly a century ago, "Mexico is a beggar sitting on a bag of gold."

Mexico is a treasure house wherein is stored up perhaps the most enormous and diversified wealth ever bestowed by nature upon a single people in a similar area. Scientists are awed at the vast magnitude of her mineral resources. For four centuries she has supplied more than one-third of the world's silver, and the deposits have been barely scratched. The anthracite coal fields of Sonora rival those of Pennsylvania. The huge deposits of copper and iron ore are incredibly rich. Cattle men have found in its broad pampas a paradise of grazing land whence each year they reap millions in profits. Mexico's giant gushers of petroleum are among the largest in the world, but the untapped oil resources are said to be vastly greater than any yet uncovered. Ninety percent of all kinds of fruit, grown in the world flourish in Mexico, and every variety of grain found in the United States abounds even more luxuriantly in the rich soils of that favored land. Millions of acres are densely forested with trees whose woods are the most valuable in the world for industrial purposes.

And yet, despite these prodigious natural resources, the one outstanding characteristic of the overwhelming majority of the Mexican people is their bitter poverty. Ignorance and poverty are coincident and concomitant facts throughout the world. Good schools are the greatest wealth-producing agencies in existence. Texas should make her schools equal to the best anywhere, and the schools for the country children should be just as good as those found in the cities.

BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Austin, Texas, Feb. 21.—According to Roy B. Henderson, director of physical education in the University of Texas Interscholastic League, twenty districts of a possible 32, have announced the names of the team winning the basketball championship in each district, and these teams are now ready to play off the final games which will decide which 16 of the 32 teams will come to Austin for the final tournament.

The teams which have announced the results of their districts have been paired off in order to eliminate a part of the teams. The team from Austin went to Georgetown Saturday, February 17, to play off the final game with Georgetown to decide the championship of District 23.

According to Mr. Henderson, over 800 teams have already competed in the athletic contests throughout the state. The state office of the league undertakes to send referees to bi-district games if the schools concerned will pay the actual expenses of the referee from Austin to and from the place of the game. Each school contending in athletic contests under the auspices of the Interscholastic League must pay a fee of $1 before they will be allowed to enter a game.

The prizes offered by the University to the winners are: A large silver loving cup for the winner in the final state tournament; a smaller silver loving cup to the runner-up in the tournament; gold medals for the members of the winning team; gold medals for the members of the all-state team; and silver medals for the members of the team that is runner-up in the finals at the state tournament.

CAROLINA WOMAN REGAINS HEALTH

"Tanlac has benefited me wonderfully and anything good I could say about the medicine would not be praising it too highly," said Mrs. S. C. McGowan, wife of a prominent business man of Greer, S. C., recently.

"I suffered from a nervous, run-down condition, and for a long time was in very poor health. I had little or no appetite, my energy had almost left me, and I often got extremely nervous and felt tired and worn-out. I suffered from indigestion, too, and many times it troubled me so that it interfered with my sleep at night.

"After taking Tanlac I must say it is a splendid medicine. The nervousness has gradually gone away until I scarcely notice it now and I have a fine appetite, have gained weight, and I feel stronger and better in every way. If I ever get sick again, I will certainly go back to Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.

X-RAY FOR BOLL WEEVIL

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 21.—Control of the boll weevil by X-rays stored in chemical salts and applied by adhesive mixtures to the squares, bolls and cotton plants to sterilize the eggs of insects is suggested in a speech prepared by Dr. Miller Reese Hutchinson for delivery before the National Cotton Conference. Dr. Hutchinson said the enormous rate of propagation of the weevil, more than twelve million being propagated by one pair in one season it is so difficult to fight. He said he was having experiments performed with the method of using a sterilization agent through the absorption of X-rays in chemical salts.

COMPLIMENTARY BRIDGE PARTY

The boys of Nacogdoches are noted for their gallantry, hospitality and thoughtfulness, but on Tuesday night, February 13th, they surpassed anything they had ever attempted. Eleven of these young men issued invitations to their "verb girls" or friends, bidding them to a Valentine bridge party at the Lockety Tea Room. At the appointed hour (eight o'clock) they began to arrive and were delighted with the beauty that first caught their eyes for their gallant hosts had not spared anything to make it a grand success, and combined with the artistic touch of Mrs. Lockety was indeed a success. The decorations were beautiful. Red hearts were in profusion and Cupid with his smiling face was peeping from every nook and corner. Potted plants, gorgeous carnations, valentine festoons, shaded lights together with the winning costumes of the young ladies and good looks of young men was indeed a picture. The card tables were in covers of white with red hearts in each corner. After a number of spirited games it was found Miss Anna Mary Blount had high score and was presented with a lovely box of candy in valentine wrapping. Miss Patsy Tucker was given a box of pink carnations for consolation.

Refreshments were then served and such refreshments as only Mrs. Lockety can prepare. Three courses beautifully served—each course carrying out the valentine idea. Sandwiches, salad and cake all in heart design. Each guest was given a tiny cupid and basket filled with nuts and candy on ferns. The fortunate guests for the occasion were John Crawford and Patsy Tucker, Emory Monk and Carter Matthews, Holland Smith and Miss Woodsey, Robert Monk and Rosine Sharp, R. A. Hall, Jr., and Miss Atkinson, Jim Summers and Alice Gintz, Hal Tucker and Anna Mary Blount, Wilfred Blount and Louise Dow, George Kennedy and Mary Donegan, Dewey Belser and Loraine Weaver, Elbert Reese and Edna Earle Dent; and Mrs. Fewell.

Mrs. Porter Hendrix of Mexia, was an out-of-town guest.

W. O. W. UNVEILING

At 3 o'clock next Sunday, the 25th inst., the Woodmen of the World of this city will unveil two monuments in Fairview cemetery to departed members.

One of these monuments will be in memory of Clyde Chapman, son of Charles Chapman, who died in France while fighting for his country. Park Site Donated By Griffith Estate

A group of citizens met in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Monday afternoon for the purpose of conferring with Mr. Ed Griffith of Terrell, relative to the use and management of the Griffith tract of land lying between the present city limits and the normal college campus.

Our older citizens will recall that Ed Griffith was born in Nacogdoches. He is a son of Dr. L. E. Griffith, one of the best-known and best-loved men of all the early settlers of Nacogdoches. Dr. Griffith came here from Maryland in 1832, but returned to his native state for a period of two years, then came back to Nacogdoches, where he spent the greater part of a long and useful life.

The tract of land in question is a part of the old Thos. J. Rusk homestead reserved by the Griffith family when they sold the citizens' committee a part of what is now the college property.

Mr. Ed Griffith and his sister, Miss Martha Griffith, have made the city of Nacogdoches a very generous offer, in that they propose to set aside their remaining holdings in the Thos. J. Rusk homestead for a city park. The terms of the agreement with the citizens Monday afternoon was substantially that the Griffith heirs would deed certain tracts of land outright to the city, these to be utilized for boulevards around the remaining tract of approximately 10 acres, which is to be utilized for a park. Mr. Griffith will make it a part of the contract with the city that no trees of any kind whatever are to be cut from this land. Not only this, but if the city authorities follow Mr. Griffith's suggestions and assurances are given that this would be done, additional trees of every known species that grow in Texas will be planted on this tract.

After Mr. Griffith had submitted his proposition, Judge S. W. Blount made a motion that citizens present accept same with a vote of appreciation. This motion was carried by a unanimous standing vote. In a later motion offered by Judge Blount and seconded by every one present, the tract in question was named "Griffith Park". The action of these good people in placing this valuable tract of land at the disposal of the public is prompted, Mr. Griffith assured our citizens, by a genuine love and appreciation for the "old home town" of their birth.

It is a great day in the life of any man when he disposes of at least a part of his property in this manner.

Those present were: W. F. Gintz, A. H. Smith, Herbert Schmidt, Guy Blount, Sam Stripling, A. T. Russell, R. C. Monk, A. W. Birdwell, Bob Burrows, Ford Simpson, Ben T. Wilson, M. S. Mueckleroy, H. L. McKnight, W. I. Baker, R. F. Davis, Charles Perkins, R. W. Haselwood, S. W. Blount, Capt. Sturdevant, Roland Jones, Frank Sharp, Ed Griffith, Morris McKnight, Link Summers and Dr. A. A. Nelson.

TO THE SCHOOLS OF NACOGDOCHES COUNTY

Each school district is required by law to elect their respective trustees on the first Saturday in April. There must be a legal election in each district on April 7th, of this year. The notices shall be posted not later than March 7th.

The County Board of Education is composed of five county trustees, four of which are elected respectively from each precinct and one at large. It is customary for these elections to be held in each common school district. There are three county trustees to be elected this year. The county trustee at large and one from precinct Three and one from precinct Four. Every common school district should vote for a county trustee at large and precincts Three and Four for their member of the board. The election supplies will be distributed in time for you to have a legal election.

The time for taking census is from March the 1st to April the 1st. Every child from seven to seventeen must be taken.

The county examinations shall continue for each month except July, August and November, beginning with the April examinations, all applicants must register name, postoffice of residence, both permanent and temporary, and the grade of certificates applied for with the county superintendent not later than the 20th day of the calendar month preceding the examination. There are no other changes or requirements made.

Since our governor in his fair and broad mindedness saw fit to approve the emergency bill for schools, the schools that are now in session need not close this week. There will be an additional state apportionment for each scholastic of approximately two dollars. The schools that have already closed will have the amount given them to pay their overdrafts or to carry over as balances for next year. It would do the community no good to reopen the school for a few weeks. The schools that are now in session may continue as long as the additional fund will permit. The following is a list of the districts with the amount of the additional apportionment:

DIED IN AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. Oxner, mother of Marvin Oxner, aged 64 years, residing on South Pecos street, died suddenly while riding in an automobile about 9:30 Sunday morning at a point just east of the Angelina bridge of the Lufkin-Nacogdoches highway. She was in apparently perfect health up to the minute of her death.

In company with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Oxner and their four children, the lady had started for Lufkin to visit with a daughter, Mrs. Blake Thrash. One of her grandchildren was sitting on her knee, when she fell backward gasped twice and passed away.

An ambulance was summoned from Lufkin and the body taken to the home of her daughter in that city, whence it was on Monday shipped to Tenaha for interment.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Thrash, in Lufkin, and her son, Marvin, of this city, she had three daughters residing in Shelby county.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR COUNTY TREASURER FLOYD

The custom of years was renewed Monday night when Mrs. B. E. Emmons, his daughter, arranged a birthday party for County Treasurer J. F. Floyd, the celebration being held at their joint home on North street in commemoration of the 72d anniversary of his birth. It was strictly a "courthouse bunch" affair, and was given as a surprise to Mr. Floyd.

Early in the day Mrs. Emmons notified her father that the usual noonday meal would be abandoned, giving a good reason for the omission, and proceeded to get up a dinner which would make anyone's mouth water. She notified the official family at the courthouse of the impending entertainment, exacting a pledge of silence from each.

When the guests gathered at the Floyd-Emmons home the following were found to be present:

County Judge A. T. Russell, County Clerk J. F. Perritte, County Superintendent Miss Exier Lewis, County Attorney Jack Varner, Tax Collector John P. Johnson, District Clerk Ivan R. Prince, Deputy District Clerk Miss Margaret James, Deputy County Clerk Miss Susie Massey, Deputy County Clerk Ralph Bailey, Justice of the Peace F. D. Huston, Constable G. W. Stone and County Livestock Inspector A. B. Tumlin. Also Treasurer Floyd's two sons, Jim (and family) of Lufkin and Tom of Nacogdoches.

County Clerk Perritte was made toastmaster and discharged his duties admirably. He called upon each of the officials to make a talk concerning the duties of the particular office held by him or her, and all responded in terms which evidenced loyalty and a clear understanding of responsibility attending public service.

Then the toastmaster made a talk in which he brought out the duties and obligations to the public of the various officials and emphasized a description of their responsibilities.

A four-course dinner was served and those who were lucky enough to partake of it describe it as a masterpiece of culinary skill. That they enjoyed it is a matter of course. Mrs. Emmons sustained her reputation as a caterer, and her guests proved their appreciation by their words.

The center of the dining table was adorned with a huge cake bearing 72 tiny candles, corresponding with the

APPLEBY SCHOOL NEWS

Mrs. Stallings, Miss Pougds and John Prince went to Garrison last Friday to see the ball game between Concord and Garrison.

Miss Yates' pupils entertained Monday morning. The program was enjoyed by all.

Last Friday night Misses Annie and Beula Hill entertained their Sunday-school class with a candy-making. All reported a nice time.

Two of our most accurate shotmen, Jim and William Hill, were discussing a bird hunt which they had made a few days before. This is the conclusion of their conversation:

Jim: "You know, 'Taters,' the other day when we were hunting?"
Jim: "Well, what about it?"

Jim: "Well, I shot twice at a bird. The first time I missed it and the next time I hit it right on the same spot."

Jeffie Boyett and Mattie Stone were fussing in the class room the other day.

"You are the biggest fool I ever saw," said Jeffie.

"Girls, girls!" said Leta, "You are about to forget that Mr. Stallings is present."

Seventh Grade

We are glad that we have almost every member of the class back with us, after their absence on account of illness.

Everyone that had the flu says if they had to name it, they would give it a worse name than the flu.

The primary "tots" entertained Wednesday morning. Their program was enjoyed very much.

NOTICE

I wish to call the attention of my friends to the fact that I have recently moved my millinery shop from the building next to C. W. Butt's across the street in the building formerly occupied by Greene & Muller, tailors.

Have just returned from the Dallas market and am receiving new goods daily. Will appreciate your patronage in the future as in the past. Will be better able to take care of you on account of bigger stock and more space.

Will have a millinery opening soon. Watch for the date, for I want you all to come.

PROHIBITION TALK IN BRITISH PARLIAMENT

London, Feb. 17.—The ground work for what is expected to be the first debate on a measure for total prohibition was laid today when two private member bills dealing with the liquor question were introduced and formally read for the first time in the house of commons.

The most sweeping bill was that sponsored by Edwin Scrymgeour, prohibition member for Dundee, backed by two or three labor members are teetotalers. This measure would prohibit the manufacture, importation and sale of alcoholic liquors in the United Kingdom.

The other measure was introduced by Lady Astor. It would amend the law with regard to the sale of intoxicating liquor to young persons.

Private member bills in the British parliament, lacking government support, are rarely adopted, but the introduction of the Scrymgeour measure opens up the possibility for debate to test parliamentary feeling on prohibition.

TURMOIL IN THE RUHR.

Dusseldorf, Feb. 17.—Bomb throwing and serious sabotage cases occurred in the Ruhr valley during the night. IF SICK, BILIOUS! START YOUR LIVER

Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with our bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out", if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated, or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous, I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is a real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

C. OF C. AND ALLIED COMMITTEES HOLD MEETING

The joint session of the board of directors and the seven standing committees of the Chamber of Commerce was held at the Lockey Tea Room from 7 to 10 o'clock Thursday night, with President Carl Monk presiding. Those present were: A. H. Smith, Link Summers, J. B. Atkins, C. B. Brewer, J. G. Bailey, Marvin Echols, Greer Orton, D. K. Cason, F. H. Tucker, I. L. Sturdevant, Robert Lindsey, R. F. Davis, Henry Mast, Zeno Cox, H. M. Smith, Joe Langston, J. R. Gray, Orland Patton, Giles Haltom, June C. Harris, T. Tilford, R. L. Perry, W. F. Gintz, John Comstock, Joe Goldsberry, A. W. Birdwell, H. L. McKnight, Oscar Matthews, L. B. Mast, Elbert Reese, Carl Monk, T. E. Baker, H. P. Schmidt and J. H. Buchanan.

Absent members of the Board of Directors were W. S. Davis, Guy Strippling, L. V. Jacobi, Horace Wilson, A. T. Mast and J. H. Muller. Messrs. Mast and Davis were out of the city. Mr. Jacobi was out on a service call to the country. Mr. Muller was not notified of the meeting. Horace Wilson was indisposed. S. B. Hayter, member of the normal college committee was kept away on account of sickness.

A quartet, composed of Captain I. L. Sturdevant, T. E. Baker, Robert Lindsey and H. L. McKnight, rendered two numbers, "Swanee River," and "My Old Kentucky Home," after which Prof. Birdwell pronounced the invocation. The luncheon that followed was up the the Lockey Tea Room Standard.

After lunch chairs were pulled back and President Monk explained briefly the object of the meeting. It was, he stated, called for the purpose of outlining some problems for each of the seven standing committees.

The secretary read the minutes of the meeting of January 16.

Robert Lindsey made a partial report for the committee named on January 16 to secure permanent office rooms for the organization. This committee, composed of Robert Lindsey, J. Roy Gray and H. P. Schmidt, asked for and was granted more time.

The secretary submitted a list of proposed lines of activity for each committee, copies of these several suggestions were furnished each member present.

F. H. Tucker reported for the finance and membership committee, composed of himself and D. K. Cason, Capt. Sturdevant, L. B. Mast and T. E. Baker, stated that the soliciting committee had met with very gratifying success in getting up the 1923 budget, and that they would finish a canvass of the city within the next few days.

Robert Lindsey reported for the entertainment committee, the other members of which are Holland Smith, R. F. Davis, Henry Mast, Zeno Cox and H. L. McKnight, outlined the duties of his committee and invited every citizen of the town to call to his attention any visitor or prospector who might be in our midst.

Hal Tucker suggested a rest room in connection with the secretary-managers office provided a suitable location could be secured.

R. F. Davis offered timely suggestions concerning work of the entertainment committee.

Joe Langston reported for the industrial committee. He approved the suggestion that friendly co-operation be extended both the Nacogdoches Machine Shops, conducted by Messrs. Simmons and Minick, and the Mari-gold Creamery, owned and operated by Robert Muckleroy. Messrs. Tucker, Baker and Sturdevant each mentioned the prime importance of this enterprise, and called on those present to give the creamery every reasonable support.

Elbert Reese asked for information about the proposed candy factory mentioned in the secretary's suggestions. This factory is now located at Carthage.

Jack Atkins discussed the necessity of giving every visitor the "glad hand" in a genuinely friendly way. He mentioned the great number of influential traveling men who "make" Nacogdoches regularly, and pointed out the good such men can do, if they like your town.

J. H. Buchanan made an interesting talk on the necessity of our people "coming alive" in a big way. This evidence, he explained, consists not only in a business activity, but also in personal contact.

T. E. Baker reported that a certain unsuccessful applicant for the position of city engineer of Nacogdoches had confessed to him that he, the engineer, had formed such a thorough liking for our city that "he just naturally wanted to live here, even if he had failed to get the job."

John Comstock told a fascinating tale about the magic influence of East Texas ribbon cane syrup on a resident of arid Arizona, and of his trials and tribulations en route here, after having tasted this particular brand of syrup, and finally some of his first impressions of Nacogdoches. He urged the necessity of letting the world know where and what Nacogdoches is.

T. E. Baker, speaking for the normal college committee urged the creation of a building and loan association to provide the necessary student boarding houses. Mr. Baker's suggestion was heartily approved by D. K. Cason, who stated he was ready to take a good block of stock in such undertaking if properly organized.

J. H. Buchanan endorsed the proposition and said he was ready to "kick in" with his share of the capital stock.

Prof. Birdwell was called on to discuss the work of the normal college committee. The need for adequate boarding house facilities was, he stated, one of the ever-present problems of the school administration. He, too, endorsed the plan of organizing a building and loan association to handle this problem.

Mr. Birdwell also outlined some publicity urgently needed by the college. He explained that the Chamber of Commerce had recently sent out an interview in the form of a press notice about the opening date of the college to 44 weekly newspapers and to six state papers. This notice has appeared in practically all of these 50 papers.

W. F. Gintz offered a motion that the chamber of commerce provide an electroplate cut of the college building from which pictures of the building can be made on the back of the business envelopes of every business firm in the city. In this way much publicity would be gained at a nominal cost.

Capt. I. L. Sturdevant, chairman of the rural development committee, called attention to the close relation between the country and the town, and pointed out that Nacogdoches town would never really enjoy permanent prosperity until the farmers of Nacogdoches county were themselves prosperous. He expressed a keen desire for his committee to "get busy" on their problem.

Prof. Birdwell pointed out that somehow sometime, somebody must find a way to insure the farmer of a profit on his produce in order that he, too, might have what he deserved and waster in the matter of schools, good roads, and a good home.

June C. Harris reported the case of a Nacogdoches citizen who recently, through a thoughtless remark, prevented outside parties from investing several thousand dollars in our county. Mr. Harris used this incident to illustrate the necessity of every citizen keeping reasonably well informed about what is actually going on in our county, and also of loyalty to our county.

TWO ESSENTIALS IN "CLEAN-UP" EFFORT

Soon the robins will be nesting, and from some source in the community will come a call for a "Clean-Up Day" or a "Clean-Up Week."

Whoever makes the suggestion will mean well, but he or she really will help the community more by starting the slogan: "Don't call it a 'week.' Let's have a real campaign."

A "day" is merely ypathetic, and a "week" is hardly long enough to make even a fair start.

Make it a "campaign!" And KEEP IT UP as long as may be necessary to do a real job. That's the first essential of a successful community effort in such work.

The second essential is the public commitment of the thing cleaned up to the new order of things. For example, by the conversion of an unsightly dump into a play ground, or the painting of a cleaned-up vacant lot with the green or grass and shrubbery, or a thrift garden—but, however it be done, "clothe it in the garb of righteousness," and thereafter its cleanliness and orderliness will be respected by everybody.

Eleven years of experience in this work which now is conducted annually in about 7,000 cities and towns in North America, have demonstrated to the writer both the futility of community clean-up efforts that are merely "a lick and a promise" and the utility and effectiveness of the real campaign, well planned and properly conducted.

These facts are generally realized most keenly by those city officials who look after the community cleanliness and health, and generally with inadequate budgets. It is impossible for them to co-ordinate their efforts with those of every householder within a six-day period, though the public co-operation that can be enlisted in a real campaign is invaluable to them, and to the community, in the visible and lasting results secured and in the sense of personal responsibility for continuous care in taking in these matters that is inculcated by such a campaign.

To "Get the habit" is the thing, and that never can be done in the annual bath of a "day" or a "week."

More than a thousand workers will be temporarily out of work. The manager of the plant declared the fire started from a defective elevator motor.

PERISHED IN FIRE

Waco, Texas, Feb. 15.—Mrs. Belle Freeman, aged 45, was burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed her residence here. A boy, the son of a grocer, was injured in jumping from the window of the second floor. A number of persons were forced to escape from windows in their night clothes.

SENSATIONAL STATEMENT BY KLANSMAN DENIED

New Orleans, Feb. 15.—Charges made by Dr. Lew Burger, of New York, spokesman last night at an open meeting of the Idaho Falls, Idaho, Ku Klux Klan, that Watt Daniels and T. F. Richards were alive in New Orleans and would be produced at the proper time, and also that the two bodies found in Lake Lafourche near Bastrop, La., last December, were planted there by medical students from New Orleans, brought from Assistant District Attorney Walmaley of Louisville, a denial.

Mr. Walmaley said the bodies were positively identified. On Daniel was found a belt with a buckle bearing his initials, and in his pocket was found a wrist watch given him by his father on which the elder Daniel's initials were inscribed. Remnants of a shirt and trousers were found on the body of Richards. The shirt was identified by a Mer Rouge merchant who sold it, and a remnant of the trousers was traced back to a pattern from which a tailor had made Richards a suit.

"It is ridiculous," said Mr. Walmaley. "The statement is nothing but Ku Klux Klan propaganda, and we expect to hear it from all points of the compass. The bodies of both men were conclusively identified by relatives and friends."

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS

Austin, Texas, Feb. 15.—The Quinn bill, establishing reciprocity between Texas insurance companies and foreign companies, was passed by the senate today without a record vote. It prohibits foreign companies operating in Texas unless Texas companies are granted similar privileges in other states.

The Sparkman chicken-theft bill was defeated in the senate. The senate passed a bill fixing the rate for legal advertising at the lowest commercial rate and the Sweet bill regulating employment agencies.

Censorship of motion pictures by a state board was the purpose of a bill introduced in the house by Stroder of Navarero and Greer of Henderson. A resolution was introduced proposing a constitutional amendment to establish a state bank for the depository of state funds.

Other bills introduced in the house include proposing a ten percent tax on the gross receipts of athletic games, moving pictures and cold drink concerns; making the speed limit on public highways 35 miles per hour; appointment of county superintendent by the board of school trustees.

Senator Cousins introduced a resolution in the senate providing for adjournment on March 9.

A Wish

"I HAVE TAKEN Cardui for run-down, worn-out condition, nervousness and sleeplessness, and I was weak too," says Mrs. Silvie Estes, of Jennings, Okla. "Cardui did me just lots of good—so much that I gave it to my daughter. She complained of a soreness in her sides and back. She took three bottles of Cardui and her condition was much better.

"We have lived here, near Jennings, for 26 years, and now we have our own home in town. I have had to work pretty hard, as this country wasn't built up, and it made it hard on us.

"I WISH I could tell weak women of Cardui—the medicine that helped give me the strength to go on and do my work." This card fulfils her wish.

THE STORY OF ADA ISAACS MENKEN

By Henry C. Fuller.

Editor Sentinel:
In a recent issue of your paper I note where somebody whose name is not recalled at this moment mentions the name of Ada Isaacs Menken, and expresses the hope that he may know more about this theatrical character and adventures of days auld lang syne!

Some twenty years ago the writer had occasion to look up all the available facts in this case and he found that the woman in question was born and reared at Milneburg, on Lake Ponchartrain, in the vicinity of New Orleans. She belonged to what was known in those days as the Creole set, and from all accounts must have been a mixture of French and Spanish. She was said to have been very beautiful, and in this regard attracted attention wherever she went. At a tender age, probably in her middle teens, she became attached to a traveling theatrical troupe which went on the road and in the course of its peregrinations came to Nacogdoches. The writer was told by "Uncle June" B. Harris, now dead, that he was a young man, about grown when this troupe came to Nacogdoches, and there being no regular theater, the Clarke Hotel was used, and an improvised theater answered the purpose, the theater being hastily thrown together for the purpose of hearing and seeing the theatrical troupe from New Orleans. The timers of Nacogdoches will recall where the Clarke Hotel stood, on the corner of North street and the street that runs to the Houston East & West Texas depot, the name of which eludes me this moment. The writer, however, remembers to have seen the old Clarke House, or Hotel, just before it was torn down, which was quite a number of years ago. So the troupe from New Orleans played there and Ada Isaacs Menken, whose maiden name at that time was Adelaide Fuertes, was the leading character, or star, as it is now called. According to the story told by Uncle June Harris, some kind of troupe was going ahead with its performance at the Clarke House, and the troupe left the following day.

In this connection it is proper to say that in those days, as now, Nacogdoches boasted of a large number of people of the highest intellect and literary ability. Isolated, as they were, their only means of communication with the outside world being by stage and letter, with weekly newspapers, these people were of the most refined kind, hardly a family among them failed to make at least one or two trips every year to cities like Philadelphia, Baltimore, or New Orleans, where they attended the best theaters, heard the best musical programs and became acquainted with other people of intelligence and refinement. Such families as the Thornas, Davenport, Raguets, Clarke, and many others might be mentioned in this connection.

Adelaide Fuertes grew to be a spoiled beauty. She went to Havana, Cuba, and played in the theaters there, winning the soubriquet of "Queen of the Plaza." She returned to the United States and went north, marrying as she went, including in her list Isaac Menken, a business man who afterwards lived at Galveston, where he died; Jake Kilrain, the pugilist, with whom she lived only a short time, and then she was met or heard of by a journalist-poet by the name of Robert Henry Newell, about 1859, in the city of New York, and like others he fell in love with her and married her. Newell was famous as a writer, and wrote over the name of "Orpheus C. Kerr," Office Seeker. For a time he was literary critic of the New York Mercury, and it was as theatrical critic that he met Adelaide Fuertes Menken Kilrain. He was later on the staff of the New York World, and also editor of the Hearst and Home. These facts are mentioned to show how easy it was for the beautiful Adelaide to ensnare men of high position, and yet she cast Newell off as she would an old shoe, and with a party of actors and actresses sailed for gay Páree, as they called it then and as some folks call the French capital now.

A new world opened up for Adelaide in gay Páree. She went into heroic theatricals, and took a leading part in "Mazepa", the famous old time play in which a maiden fair is bound to a wild horse, who plunges away across desert pursued by the frantic lover who seeks to halt the steed and save his innamorata. Adelaide in carrying out this act, suffered herself to be bound to the horse,

Greaseless Combing Cream Costs Only Few Cents a Jar at any Drug Store

Even stubborn, unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions.

Millions use greaseless, stainless "Hair-Groom" because it does not show on the hair. It is absorbed by the scalp, therefore the hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it. Not sticky or smelly.

which reared and plunged to such an extent that her back was practically broken and she died a few hours after being unstrapped from the animal. She lived long enough to pass her brief life in review and her last words were that on her tomb, these words should be chiseled directly under her name: "THOU KNOWEST." She was buried in Mount Parnassus cemetery, near Paris, but it is probable that the busy, throbbing city where her young and eventful life came to an end, has long since obliterated all signs of the cemetery or the grade of Adelaide Fuertes who one time pleased an audience at Nacogdoches with her gay repertoire and smart acting.

One part of the Texas story in this connection is that the theatrical troupe with which she traveled in Texas, was dispersed by Comanches somewhere near San Antonio, and she was held prisoner several days by these nomads of the desert wilds, who, however, finally returned her to her friends.

LOCAL SCHOOL SITUATION

In discussing the $3,000,000 school appropriation bill now on the governor's desk awaiting his signature, Miss Exier Lewis, superintendent of Nacogdoches county schools, said: "In my opinion it will not be advisable for public schools that have suspended due to lack of funds to reopen after a two-weeks' suspension. By February 23d more than half the rural schools will have suspended unless the governor approves the pending bill. More than one-third of the rural schools in Nacogdoches county have already suspended. If these schools are to be benefited by the measure, it will require prompt action by the governor. In this particular matter, any decision seems better than indecision."

FT. WORTH WOMAN WELL AND HAPPY

"Honestly, I felt that life was not worth living until I got hold of this Stella Vitae; now all is joy and happiness with me and I can't praise it enough for the good it has done me," said Mrs. A. C. Kidd, 930, S. Main Street, Fort Worth, Texas.

Up to the time I began taking Stella Vitae my periods were very irregular and I would sometimes go for a long time without their appearing. I suffered some from dull headaches and want of energy—just moped around with no ambition and took little interest in things.

"My condition preyed on my mind and made me nervous. People thought I was sensitive and high-strung, but it was my nerves. Why, sometimes I would just break down and cry without any cause whatever except my nervousness.

"I was told I needed a tonic and took several different kinds that were recommended to me, but they didn't do me any good. Finally I heard about Stella Vitae being especially made for women's troubles and decided to try it. I can truthfully say it has greatly benefited me in every way. My periods are regular, my nerves are steady as a die and I never suffer the least bit like I did before. I am glad to recommend Stella Vitae to any woman who may be suffering like I was, for I know it will do her good as it has me."

"Note—Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and is sold upon the positive guarantee that the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief.

ARE YOU TO BE A WINNER OR LOSER?

Look at the men and women about you who have reached the age of fifty or more and you will see men and women who have won in the game of business and you will see those who have lost in the same game. Only a few years ago they were your age. They dreamed some dreams of success that you are dreaming. Why did one succeed and the other fail? Make a comparison and you will find that the one who failed did so because he did not take advantage of circumstances but allowed the line of least resistance and did not prepare himself for the keen competition of business. The successful man or woman prepared for the emergencies at your age by training for business. You can do this with much less effort and in a more modern and up-to-date manner than the successful business man of today did when he was your age.

The Tyler Commercial College has provided the means by which you can secure your business education at least cost and shortest possible time. TRINITY SCHOOL NOTES

Attendance at school has been very small lately because of so much la grippe and flu in the community.

Some of the people who are suffering from the flu are the Austin family, the Cook family and Mrs. J. B. Thacker's family. Mrs. J. G. Grimes has also been ill lately.

School was suspended lately on account of so much sickness in the community and because Miss Parrish, the principal-teacher, was very sick, having an attack of la grippe and other complications. However, school will be taken up again on Monday, the 26th.

Mrs. S. B. Parrish was out here Saturday night and Sunday staying with her daughter, Miss Rose Parrish, returning Monday afternoon. At the present, Miss Parrish's sister, Mrs. P. B. Stone, is staying with her. Grandma Parker has been very low for the past few days.

Who has a copy of the History of Nacogdoches County written by R. W. Haltom? I would greatly appreciate two or three copies and will pay liberally for them.

GILES M. HALTOM.

Hon. E. H. Blount, our representative in the legislature, arrived home Saturday to visit with his family and to look after business matters. Mr. Blount has become one of the most popular members of the house, a fact which is very gratifying to his many friends throughout the county.
