LET'S CHANGE THE NAME OF HOSPITAL STREET

Some discussion has recently been provoked about how "Hospital" street got its name. Mrs. Peavy, one of our well preserved and well informed pioneer citizens, states that during the civil war, or possibly just after the civil war, when Texas was ruled by federal soldiers, carpetbaggers and other undesirables, an old residence that stood about where the Methodist parsonage now stands was used as a hospital for federal soldiers. The residence in question was known as the "Dunson" place, and the road that ran by the Dunson place came to be called "Hospital" street because the Dunson house was used to shelter sick Yankee soldiers.

Is "Hospital" an appropriate name for a city street? Most people who think at all think it isn't. There may be something sacred or appropriate in calling a beautifully paved street in a city that rightfully boasts of its health record, "Hospital" street, but most people think otherwise.

Why not change this name to something more appropriate and less suggestive of pain and discomfort? Why not select a name that suggests beauty or pleasure or comfort rather than one that suggests broken limbs and appendicitis and indolence?

Why not? In renaming one of the two Rusk avenues the other day the city council accepted in principle a suggestion offered by the Boosters' Club and the local post of the American Legion. The new name for Rusk Ave. extending from North street west to Taylor Ave. is Baxter Duncan street. Why not rename Hospital street in honor of some one of our splendid boys who paid the supreme sacrifice that liberty might not perish from the earth?

If perchance the council cannot agree on any one name among our honored dead, there's the grand old elm, majestic and beautiful, with its sheltering arms and cooling shade standing sentinel like as it has stood for perhaps a century, at the east end of "Hospital" street. The silent grandeur of this giant of the forest is exceeded only by its simple beauty: "Elm Street." How appropriate! The very name brings images of cooling shade and singing brooks and twittering birds.

Somebody please suggest a better name than "Hospital" for this street. H. L. McKnight.

THERE'S A GOOD DEAL IN A NAME

In yesterday's Sentinel there appeared an article suggesting that the name of Hospital street be changed. I should like to add the endorsement of one resident to that suggestion. The name of a street is often on our lips—especially of a street as attractive and much-traveled as this one will be in its new dress. Surely it would be a good thing if that name might carry heroic or beautiful associations, as would be the case if either of Mr. McKnight's suggestions should be accepted.

USE OF THE TELEPHONE

There are approximately 14,100,000 telephones in use in the United States and about 30,000,000 conversations daily. In other words, one out of every three persons in the United States uses the telephone at least once a day throughout the year.

New Bell-owned telephones added last year averaged about 600,000. At the end of 1922 the Bell system controlled more than 35,000,000 miles of wire of which 64 percent was in underground cables.

The Bell system offers one of the best illustrations of the results of private initiative and incentive compared with the stagnation policy that develops under government control such as exists in Europe.

In the U. S. the telephone is a household necessity. In Europe the average person does not know how to use it and as for having an instrument in the home of a working man or farmer, it is almost unheard of.

TO THE FARMERS

We join with you in joy and gladness upon the return of better times.

In the spirit and trend of the times we are also glad to welcome what appears to us an awakening and stimulation of mind, conscience and energy of those charged with the regulation of the many affairs upon which the wheels of industry and commerce turn, so vitally affecting the peace, happiness and prosperity of our producers.

As an institution alive to the immediate and future growing demands and necessities of our farmers, we wish to assure you that it is our purpose to stand in line as an agency to devote our energies and consecrated efforts, wherever opportunity presents itself, to co-operate with you and other instrumentalities in adopting and undertaking to bring about means and methods that will offer relief and assistance in stabilizing the markets of our country in every way possible.

Having abiding faith and confidence in the honesty, integrity and common judgment of the farmers of our county and country at large, we take pleasure in offering you our services, and when we can be of assistance to you it will be our pleasure to do so. Your interests are ours.

"ELECTION WON BY KLAN" IS OKLAHOMA REPORT

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 2.—Two men carrying commissions from the headquarters of Governor Walton's civilian guard were arrested today by the city police, charged with carrying concealed weapons, and lodged in the city jail. The police chief announced that every armed person without a deputy sheriff warrant would be jailed. Fifteen hundred armed delegates are expected to arrive here.

K. R. Stevens, head of the governor's civilian forces, declared "The election is already won by the Klan." He said he had received several reports of ballot box stuffing, but as the police are in charge of the sheriff's gunmen, we have not been able to investigate the reports.

Election in Full Swing

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 2.—The Oklahoma special election, at which it will be decided whether the legislature shall meet to consider impeachment charges against Governor Walton, swung into full movement today, with reports indicating that the polls opened throughout the state with the exception of four full counties and part of a fifth. Indications are that an unusually heavy vote will be cast. All voting places in Bryan, Harper, Johnson and Cimarron counties are closed, and only six of 28 are open in Jefferson county. A hundred armed state police held possession of all election supplies in Johnson county and would not permit their removal from the county election board office.

Reports from every point in the state indicated that the election was proceeding quietly, voters casting their ballots for the most part with the expectation that their action would be challenged by the governor and a court decision probably would be necessary to determine the legality of the election.

Deputies Stop Election

Grove, Okla., Oct. 2.—More than half a dozen leading citizens were arrested by a deputy sheriff of Monroe county and Jailer Perry for conducting an election. The officers said they had instructions from Chairman Mitchell of the state election board and Governor Walton to stop the voting. Those arrested were taken to jail to be placed under bond. Voting was suspended at Grove.

Anti-Waltonites Win

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 2.—A dispatch to the Times-Democrat from Coalgate gives the total unofficial vote on the legislative question at 11 o'clock: For, 295; against, 37. The correspondent said this represents a stand of the city's normal vote.

KILLED MAN, BURNED BODY TO COLLECT INSURANCE

Eureka, Cal., Oct. 3.—Alex. Kels, a wealthy butcher of Lodi, Cal., confessed today to the authorities that he killed a stranger on his ranch near Lodi on September 12th and disappeared to enable his wife to collect insurance money amounting to $100,000. He set fire to a haystack near his automobile to burn the body of the stranger, whom he picked up at an employment agency.

GOVERNMENT GIN REPORT

Washington, Oct. 2.—Cotton ginned prior to September 25 totaled 3,215,394 bales, including 111,038 round bales, compared with 3,866,396 bales, including 76,958 round bales, to the same date last year, and 2,823,902 bales, including 70,263 round bales, to that date in 1921, the Census Bureau announced today.

The ginnings in Texas to September 25 were 2,185,219 bales.

UNIDENTIFIED DEAD

Casper, Wyoming, Oct. 2.—The body of an unidentified woman was removed from the chair car in the wrecked Burlington train at Cole Creek early today, the dispatcher here announced. It was taken to Douglas.

GOVERNORS INVITED

Washington, Oct. 3.—Invitations were sent from the White House today to the governors of 48 states for a conference with President Coolidge on October 20th to discuss law enforcement, particularly as applied to the prohibition, immigration and anti-narcotic statutes.

OKLAHOMA ELECTION HAS STRUCK LEGAL SNAG

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 3.—A temporary restraining order preventing the State Election Board from certifying yesterday's special election was issued by the State District Court here today upon a plea of a counsel for Governor Walton. The order enjoins W. C. Alexander, secretary; John Logan, deputy chairman; Ira Mitchell, newly appointed chairman; and Claude Baker, member, from certifying the returns from the "pretended election" to the secretary of state. The action was brought by Walton as governor. The application for an injunction opened Walton's expected legal assault on the legality of the election, in which the opponents of the governor scored a sweeping victory by a decisive majority. The constitutional amendment was passed empowering the legislature to meet on its own call to consider impeachment charges against the governor. Campbell Russell, leader of the fight against Walton, announced that he would file a petition for a grand jury investigation of the official acts of the executive and circulated the petition on the streets today. He said the petition would seek an investigation of the alleged misuse of public funds and the governor's action in commissioning thousands of special state police.

Hearing on the application to make the restraining order against the election board permanent was set for October 9. The governor alleges the election was invalid because the question was not properly published before the election.

U. S. DIVORCE RECORD TEXAS LEADS COUNTRY

Washington, Oct. 3.—One divorce to 7.6 marriages in the United States last year is the record disclosed by the Census Bureau's marriage and divorce survey, the first since 1916, when there was only one divorce to almost 9.3 marriages. Texas led the country in the number of divorces in 1922, with a total of 12,339, which was one-fifth of the marriages in that state.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

Austin, Texas, Oct. 3.—The State Supreme Court today upheld the validity of co-operative marketing contracts when it overruled a motion for a restraining order in the case of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association against J. C. Stovall of Elbas county. It was a test suit of the association's authority to enforce agreements to market cotton co-operatively.

BOY FALLS FROM TREE, BREAKING BOTH ARMS

Arthur, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Helen Stone, was the victim Tuesday afternoon of a very distressing accident. He fell from a persimmon tree, which he had climbed in quest of the fruit, and fell to the ground, breaking both arms between the elbow and wrist, besides receiving other injuries in the way of cuts and bruises. Surgical aid was quickly provided and the lad's hurts attended to. He was resting easily Monday morning.

ACCUSED NEGRO SAFE

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 3.—John Goff was identified by an aged white woman near Spruce Pine, N. C., as the negro who attacked her last week. Goff denied the crime and declared he had never seen the woman. Deportation of negroes at Spruce Pine followed the alleged attack. The governor has ordered troops there to preserve order. Goff, an escaped convict, was arrested near Morgantown and brought to the penitentiary here for safekeeping.

COTTON CROP LARGER

Washington, Oct. 2.—A cotton crop larger by 1,250,000 bales than last year was forecast today by the Department of Agriculture, which placed the production at 11,915,000 bales. This was 227,000 more than indicated last month, based on the condition of the crop September 1st, which was 49.5 percent normal, indicating a yield of 137.7 pounds per acre. The condition and forecast for Texas was 56 percent and 4,168,000 bales.

DESPERATE FIGHT STAGED IN KENTUCKY PENITENTIARY

Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 3.—Four convicts in the penitentiary here this morning staged a desperate attempt to break out. Led by Monte Walters, an alleged murderer, who procured arms in some way, the four men opened fire on the guards, killing one and wounding four. The convicts were cornered in the dining room, where they kept up a battle with the guards and town-people, who have the place surrounded. The guards are being constantly on the convicts, and unless they surrender all will be slain.

GAME WARDEN TALKS

District Deputy Game Warden A. L. Pinkston was here Wednesday on official business. Mr. Pinkston reports that throughout his district, comprising nine East Texas counties, the home owners, and especially the home-owning farmers, are showing not only a readiness to observe the game laws, but in addition are manifesting a keen interest in the prospect of re-stocking East Texas with certain of the rapidly disappearing wild life through a strict enforcement of these laws.

"All that is necessary to make the average East Texas home-owning farmer a volunteer deputy game warden for his community is to convince him that through the protection of the law, many forms of wild life once abundant throughout the wooded areas of Texas will return to their old haunts," Mr. Pinkston stated. As an illustration of this fact, he pointed out that the woodchuck, familiar to every farm boy of twenty years ago, is rarely seen here now. This big bird was known and recognized as a great destroyer of insect life.

Speaking of deer, Mr. Pinkston said: "There is yet plenty of wooded areas and open spaces for deer to thrive in practically every section of East Texas if our people would only give them a chance to multiply, as the law provides. I am trying to educate our people to the advantage and the necessity of observing our game laws, rather than to spend my time trying to have the few violators hauled before the courts. In this business, as in the medical world, prevention is better than a cure."

BUYING ONE CHAIR

Shreveport Journal.
A writer in one of the home-owning magazines tells how much better and less expensive it is to furnish a home a little at a time than with "sets" of furniture. The woman who bought everything she thought she needed, but of cheap or moderate quality, intending to refurnish entire in five years, found that when the five years were up the money was not forthcoming. Everything had become shabby at once, and as a matter of fact, she had never really enjoyed any of her things.

She had to begin at that late date buying one thing at a time, and living with the mess made by the mixture of old and new, good and bad, during the long period while she refurnished, bit by bit. Meanwhile the woman who was brave enough to start by spending most of her living room money on two good chairs, and getting only one extremely good thing at a time, found herself at the end of the five years with a beautiful and well-furnished house.

The slow-but-sure method is commended to this year's crop of brides and bridegrooms. It may take quite a little courage to put nine-tenths of the living and dining room money into two good chairs and a good buffet, using the other tenth for a gay-painted breakfast set and a few fibre living room accessories, when one's friends seem to have so much more. But by buying one good thing a year, the house never stands still. It is always clothing itself with beauty. It is a habituation of progressive interest to oneself and friends. And it never falls into that drab shabbiness so common where everything came in at once and never could be renewed.

Gardens, wardrobes and even business offices may profit by observing the same general rule. The courage and perseverance of establishing a high ideal and working toward it, through self-denial, patience and refusal of the inferior, is just about as usefully productive to the character as it is to the government.

ERADICATING TUBERCULOSIS IN HERDS OF TEXAS

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 2.—Sixty-one dollars on an average was paid by the Bureau of Animal Industry and the Live Stock Sanitary Commission of Texas for each tubercular animal found in accredited herd tuberculosis testing in Texas, according to records of the Bureau of Animal Industry forwarded to Dr. Harry Grafke, inspector in charge of the bureau in Texas from Washington. The report shows the state paid $39.78 and the Bureau $20.78 indemnity on an average for each of 242 head of cattle found tubercular during 1923.

Ninety-six indemnity claims were made for the 242 head of cattle. It is shown that 47 percent of these cattle were purebred and that the average appraised value was $176.29, while the average salvage value was $16.23.

The report shows 1362 herds in Texas were tested co-operatively with the Live Stock Sanitary Commission and 33,297 cattle tested; 524 reactors were found showing 1 percent of the cattle tested as tubercular. The report shows 293 head of the total reactors already slaughtered and 134 known infected premises.

Data relative to calves being found infected with tuberculous shows 45 head under six months of age tested in Texas and 1 head found infected with tuberculous. This is 2.2 percent while among 113 head tested between six months and one year of age only one reactor was found and this percentage was .9.

The average cost per head of tuberculin testing in Texas in 1921 was 59 cents and in 1922 it was 40 cents, while in 1923 it was only 38 cents.

STATE AID SCHOOLS

All schools of the county entitled to state aid are requested to file applications with the county superintendent not later than October 8, as they must be in the hands of the state educational department at Austin by the 15th. Neglect on the part of the trustees may cause complications.

Most of the rural schools are opening a little late this year on account of cotton picking, but all should be in full operation within a week or two.

FRED FOGG BURIED HERE

Fred Fogg, the boy who lost his life at Silsbee Sunday when he went to the rescue of two boys who were drowning and saved himself in the noble deed, was buried in Oak Grove cemetery, this city, at 2:30 Monday afternoon. Rev. George C. Moore of the First Presbyterian church conducted the service. A misunderstanding of the facts at hand prevented many from attending, though there was a large crowd present to pay homage to the memory of the heroic boy.

The sympathy of all our people goes out to the heart-broken mother and other relatives.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful, the mound being heaped with blossoms. "Greater love hath no man than this, that he give up his life for his friend."

CALVIN KINNEY DEAD

Calvin Kinney, the man who was shot Sunday afternoon at Dalmont in a general fight and brought to the hospital here with his spine shattered, died at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, there being at no time a prospect for his recovery.

The Tucker-Sitton Company prepared the body for burial and their hearse left at 10 o'clock Monday night for Dalmont, where interment was made some time Tuesday.

Deceased is survived by his father, wife and several brothers.

Henry and Rho Means, the negroes alleged to have participated in the affray which led to the fatal wounding of Kinney, will, it is understood, be held for murder in connection with his death.

YOUTH GETS 16 YEARS

WHAT IS EDUCATION?

Children have been back in school only a few days. The routine of enrollment in new classes is over. New teachers and new work confront them on the opening of the new term. They have picked up the task of getting an education where they left it last June.

What is an education? The parent, looking back on his own school days and glancing at the array of new text books at the opening of the school year, is inclined to wonder. How much he learned has been of no practical use to him. How much, on the other hand, gathered out of school during those impressionable years has been of inestimable benefit.

"If I had only known what I was going to do," he is inclined to say, "how much better I might have equipped myself for it."

But certain things do not depart. The ability to study, once acquired, is not quickly lost. Specific knowledge goes if it is not used more or less constantly, but the power to dig into a subject, to gather its essentials and apply them practically, need never go if the student will keep his brain processes in good working order by practice.

Part of what every child learns is this ability to study, to make his memory work for him, to put his brain into harness. Another part is a broad survey of the world as it is, some of its sciences, a little of its historical and literary traditions. He learns that he is a social being, that he is the heir to a vast heritage of thought, and that life is not simply a span of three score years and ten, but a continuity of mental lives. Plato, Shakespeare, Goethe—these are but stepping stones by which the thought of mankind has crossed and is still crossing to what unknown heights.

Education is worthless if it is viewed simply as a means to personal advancement. It should not rest at equipping the individual for a competitive existence. It fails in anything but a narrow and selfish purpose if it does not early rouse the child's mind to a sense of the solidarity of humanity in this continuous intellectual life inherited from the ages. More than that, it should persuade him to take a part in it, to add his quota to the heaped-up treasures for his children and his children's children to inherit.

The American public school is perhaps man's highest effort so far to make a reality of human solidarity. It recognizes no classes, no divisions based on economic or social prestige. The humblest and the highest may meet here and be friends. How much the public school has done outside of its curriculum in fostering those sturdy standards of democracy and free opportunity on which the hope of America and the world is based no one can say.

Education might be more direct and more efficient if each pupil knew in advance just what he was going to do, what station in life he was to be called. But part of the adventure of an American life is that no one knows. The boy whose pants are patched at the knees may be president of the republic a few decades from now. Vocational guidance is bound to have its limitations.

But every boy and girl knows one destiny which awaits him. He is going to be a citizen in a free land. He is going to have to learn to live and work and play with his fellows. He is going to be a part in a great social mechanism designed to carry humanity farther ahead on its path. And so, perhaps, the best thing he learns at school is how to get along with his fellows, how to co-operate with them, how to make the puny individual effort mighty by combining it with numberless other puny efforts. That is what America is giving to the world: A lesson in its great public schools of the essential solidarity of human existence.

ACCORDING TO LAW

Houston Chronicle.

A strange thing, but one of our sovereign states has discovered an oversight in the law.

Lots of movie stuff to begin with, which proved quite ineffectual, and then an appeal to the proper authorities.

The Oklahoma legislature had to meet, we suppose, in order to set the stage for its day in court, and the military had to run it out in order that the governor's lawyers might lay a predicate for their brief.

They say the thing is unprecedented in American history, and that the question involved has never been answered.

So we turn aside from the flapping of the bed sheet and the waving of the tar bucket, which may not be bad for our peace of mind, to inquire of all the oracles who is boss when the executive and legislature come to loggerheads.

As things grow more complicated, as politics becomes more factional, as people get more impatient, there is bound to develop of more noticeable division of authority between the executive and legislative branches of the government.

We have civil law for normal conditions and martial law for abnormal conditions.

We have legislatures to make law and governors to enforce it.

We give governors the right to mobilize military force, and we clothe legislatures with the power to impeach governors.

We now behold a situation in which the governor's military power may stultify impeachment or impeachment may destroy the governor's military power.

Quite a fantastic situation, truly, and one which holds out all sorts of unsatisfactory possibilities.

We know something about political rings and cabals. We know how, under certain conditions, they can control governors or legislatures. We know, too, that we are dealing with groups and organizations that are constantly growing in strength.

It requires no particular stretch of the imagination to picture a state of affairs in which a governor might set up martial law to serve some group, or a legislature might impeach him to serve another.

If a legislature can assemble when it pleases, the effectiveness of martial law becomes dependent on its attitude.

If a governor can prevent a legislature from assembling by military force, except in regular session, martial law becomes allpowerful.

The most important point, perhaps, is that the people haven't much to say in either contingency.

Another important point is that a governor, or a legislature, can start things over night.

Martial law is a very important matter. So, too, is impeachment. Possibly it would be better for all concerned if neither could be instituted without due notice.

But all this does not answer the question of who is really boss when a boss is manifestly required.

In case of an emergency, which is more risky, to let a governor act as dictator or let a legislature impeach him on impulse?

HOG RAISING IN TEXAS

Texas now holds the world's record in the National Ton-Litter contest with an official weight of 3898 1/2 pounds for a litter of twelve Duroc-Jerseys at the end of 180 days feeding. The pigs averaged 324.9 pounds each when weighed September 1st, under the supervision of A. L. Ward, swine specialist of Texas A. & M. College and officials of the McLennan County Farm Bureau. The pigs made an average daily gain of 1.8 pounds during the entire feeding period.

This record litter was bred and raised by Vic M. Chalk Bluff, McLennan county, Texas, and is from Hampton, an entry on both sides. The sire is a son of the champion junior ham at the Texas State Fair in 1920 while the dam is by L's Pathfinder that was state grand champion Duroc ham at Dallas in 1919. The pigs were purchased March 24th; there being 14 in the litter, 12 of which were raised. The dam was a few days less than three years old when the contest ended.

In order to be correct and certain on every point the litter was earmarked when seven days old by the county agent, E. R. Eudaly, in the presence of the president of the local County Livestock Association. The scales on which the pigs were weighed were tested and sealed by the Waco city inspector of weights and measures.

For raising this great litter, Mr. Hill won $335 in cash prizes, $200 of which was offered by the National Duroc-Jersey Record Association, Peoria, Ill., and the balance by Waco business houses. On the day weighed, the pigs were valued at 9 1/2c per pound on the market, though Mr. Hill will realize much more for them. He has recorded nine of the pigs and after being shown at the Waco Cotton Palace they will be sold for breeding stock.

The total cost of feed consumed including pasture was $229.84, making the cost of production $5.89 per hundredweight. At the market value of 9 1/2 cents per pound the pigs showed a net profit of $140.51. The pigs were corn-fed, corn feed meal, pig chow and skim milk. When 90 days old the litter weighed 1243 pounds; at 131 days the litter passed the ton mark, weighing 2325 and at 160 days the weight was 3117. The last 20 days the daily gain was 3 1/4 pounds per pig.

A diplomat is one who watches the game so closely that he forgets about those who pay the score.

NEW FINANCIAL CONCERN LOCATES IN NACOGDOCHES

The growing importance of Nacogdoches from a financial and investment standpoint is attested by the opening here of a branch office of the National Bond & Mortgage Corporation of Houston. This corporation, chartered under the laws of Texas with a fully paid in capital stock of $100,000 will in all probability will a large felt want in this community.

The purpose of this organization is two-fold—to permit the investor to realize the highest return on his money, consistent with absolute safety—and secondly to finance homes and other income producing property in Nacogdoches county. Thus the person investing in National Bonds not only receives a very high yield on his money, but he is also aiding materially in the upbuilding of the community in which he lives.

The plan of operation of this company, while comparatively new, perhaps, in this community, is identical with that used by some of the largest companies in the country. S. W. Strauss Company of Chicago boasts of an enviable record of 41 years without a loss to an investor, while numerous other companies have records closely approaching that of the Strauss Company.

The plan of operation, modeled after the plan which has met with such tremendous success by some of the leading investment bankers in the country, is a very simple one. Securities handled by the company are nothing more or less than first mortgages, possessing the advantageous elements and eliminating the unsatisfactory and troublesome features of first mortgages. After a very careful appraisal money is loaned to finance homes and other income producing property, and a first mortgage against the property received. This first mortgage is then placed in trust with a Trust Company, and it is only against these mortgages that bonds can be issued.

At the head of the National Bond & Mortgage Corporation is a man of considerable prominence in East Texas—J. Lewis Thompson, president of the company, and also president of the Public National Bank, formerly lived in East Texas, and everywhere his name is coupled with unquestionable integrity and ability. Major Thompson, as he is familiarly known to his friends, served in the recent world war as an officer in the 36th Division, and brought honor to his community, as well as to his own name, by his wonderful and efficient war record. Associated with Major Thompson in the active management of the company, are men especially qualified, on account of their vast experience in the handling of mortgages, to carry out and conservatively carry on the business of this institution.

A very attractive feature of this new financial institution is the highly commendable partial payment plan. Through the operation of this highly desirable method of investing, the person with a small sum can purchase first mortgage securities, realizing a good return on his money, being assured at the same time of the same degree of safety as the largest cash buyer.

A local man will be selected to be in active charge of the surrounding territory with headquarters in Nacogdoches. In making selection of the proper man for the position of manager, the officials of the company are going to use considerable discretion. As much as the company contemplates investing funds in this community in financing homes and other income producing property, the person selected, along with being a director of sales, must be capable of appraising property values in this county.

By investing some of its funds in mortgages in this county, which mortgages will act as security for gold bonds, this new investment institution will stimulate building activity considerably, from which stimulation the entire community is certain to be benefited.

A note from our old friend, John T. Lucas, of Sacul, notice comes of the appearance of a daughter at the home of his son, Luke Lucas. We are asked not to say much about it, as "grandpa" wanted it to be another boy so his daddy could have more help on the T. & N. O. railroad. The writer adds, however, that the little lady's parents are greatly pleased to have a girl in the family and a new house in which to shelter her, all at the same time.

HIGHWAYS ASSOCIATION

As will be seen from the emblem at the head of this column, the Sentinel has been accorded membership in the National Highways Association, an organization which has for its object the construction and maintenance of an adequate system of connected highways in the United States. The importance of this work has become more apparent each day.

Every man, woman and child in the United States has a personal interest in good roads.

The farmer and the motorist have the most immediate and practical interest, but the interest of others is no less vital that it expresses an indirect relation.

The farmer wants good roads because he can make more money with good roads than with poor roads. If the farmer can make more money, he spends more, which means greater prosperity for the whole nation. And if he can do with less money, good roads enable him to sell his products for less and still make as much as at present; that means lower prices for food.

Everyone who lives in a rural or suburban location is interested in good roads, because they decrease the distance which separates the rural or suburban home from the city. Every rural or suburban dweller needs to get to the city some time; the less the time distance the less it costs.

Every one who lives in a city wants at times to get into the country. The good road is the means. If there are no good roads, there is a sharp line drawn between city and country, which makes for the good of neither.

The more good roads the more travel, the more travel the more understanding of people by their neighbors, and the less possible is misunderstanding, strife, rivalry, or political discord.

Roads are a part of the foundation of Americanism. Let us all work to make that foundation broad and long and lasting.

Senator Smoot wants a luxury tax, so we are in again for a debate on what constitutes a luxury.

MRS. B. M. HALL

Mrs. B. M. Hall, aged about 76 years died early Friday morning at her home in Dallas, relatives here being notified by wire.

Deceased was a native of Nacogdoches county, being before her marriage Miss Roan Bentley of near Melrose. A little more than a year ago she moved to Dallas.

In addition she is survived by her husband, B. M. Hall; a brother, Bob Bentley, of Dallas; another brother, Tom Bentley, who resided at Swift; two sisters, Mrs. Matt Hall of Nacogdoches and Mrs. Amanda Martin of Martinsville, and a large number of other relatives throughout the county.

ODD MATERIAL FOR SCULPTOR

Now Carved, One of the World's Great Masters, Started on the Road to Fame.

Antonio Canova, famous Venetian sculptor, first attracted attention by modeling a lion in butter. When nine years old he was placed in the household of a nobleman. His grandfather, a stonemason, had taught him the rudiments of carving.

One day the nobleman was giving a state dinner. The chief ornament for the table failed to arrive. The host was in despair. The boy set to work on a huge piece of butter and when the nobleman beheld a molded lion he was well pleased. The result was that Antonio was sent to take lessons in sculpture.

For four years he worked at his art in a cell underneath a monastery. At last he produced a statue which sent the art critics wondering. The Venetian senate sent him to Rome to study when he was twenty-three years old. He hit upon a new and daring style and for a time every one in Rome scorned it. He worked for 20 years in extreme poverty but at last his work came to be recognized as that of a master.

'DOCHES-LOGANSPORT RECEIPTIO N

The Seniors gave a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stripling Friday night in honor of the football boys and juniors. There was a large crowd present, including all the Logansport team except one. Progressive conversation was the main feature of the evening. At intervals during the conversation, punch and chicken sandwiches were served. When the majority had come the idea of every 'Doches girl meeting every Logansport boy was carried out. The boys formed themselves into a line in one room and the girls were carried around to meet them. The seniors proved to be very good hosts, and are very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Stripling for the privilege of having the party at their beautiful and spacious home.

Logansport 28, 'Doches Hi 19

All the breaks seemed to go against 'Doches Hi Friday afternoon and by the narrow margin of one point they went down, fighting, to defeat before the Logansport High School team. The green showed through several times, but there was no sign of yellow, for with the score of 20 to 6 against them the boys tore through Logansport for two touchdowns and with a few more minutes to play would have beaten them. The High School has a practically new team this year and now that the newness and nervousness of the first game has worn off we can look forward to some real football from these boys. Even in defeat these boys outplayed and outfought and outgained Logansport. Logansport's three touchdowns were made on an intercepted forward pass and two completed running forward passes, while 'Doches made her three touchdowns on straight hard football—never losing the ball on downs. Touchdowns were made by Lambert, Brewer and Spradley. Captain Burrows, although knocked out several times, stayed with his boys and this plucky little half never failed to gain his distance. Lambert showed himself to be a demon line plunger and Feazell, with more training, should make a dandy back. Brewer, who was on last year's team, was somewhat of a disappointment, as he should have stood out in this game. He has the ability to make one of the best high school players in Texas, but seems to lack the ambition and fight. He outkicked his opponent Friday and made some good gains when run, but never extended himself to his full ability. Johnson on end, Spradley on the other end, Tucker (Ben) at Center, Langford and Parmley and Grimes all showed up well, never allowing Logansport a gain through the line, and many times breaking them up for losses.

Mr. Austin Bryan, just lately from the University of Texas, talked to an interested crowd at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday night about Christian Endeavor work. And all who heard him were enthused and uplifted by his talk. He showed Christian Endeavor organized and carried on properly as a grand and glorious work and if all the young people could see it as he sees it we would be distressed no more about the young people for they would be sincere and earnest in their play and work.

MANY LIVES SNUFFED OUT IN WESTERN TRAIN WRECK

Casper, Wyoming, Sept. 28.—Estimates of the number of persons who lost their lives last night when Burlington passenger train No. 30 plunged into Coal Creek, near here, differed this morning. The lowest figures placed the dead at 40. The railroad telegraph operator at Glenrock, near the scene of the wreck, who assisted in the rescue work, said he thought the death list might mount to 100. Rescue work was temporarily abandoned at 2 o'clock this morning when it began snowing after 24 hours of continuous rainfall. No bodies had been recovered up to daylight, according to telephone messages. Rising water in Coal Creek and in the Platte River, nearby, hampered rescue work.

Survivors Rescued, Dead Removed

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—Several bodies were removed from the partly submerged cars later this morning, but the names of the victims are still lacking. It is probable that several bodies were washed downstream in the raging torrent, due to the flood, which probably will never be recovered. A relief train brought back some 30 survivors, mostly from the rear Pullmans that escaped the washout. The dead are believed to include Conductor Gooft, Engineer Spangler and Fireman Mallon. Four lives were lost in a Pullman and others were drowned in the day coach, smoker and baggage and express car. More than a score were rescued from the top of a sleeper by means of a cable, going 50 feet to the bank, hand over hand. Of the injured brought here, few were seriously hurt.

Floods Elsewhere

Sheridan, Wyo., Sept. 28.—Swollen by terrific rains, the waters of Big Goose Creek and Little Goose Creek early today dashed over wide sections of Sheridan and scores of residents are packing their belongings preparatory to moving to places of safety.

DECIDED TO TALK

Shawnee, Okla., Sept. 28.—Homer McKown, grand cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan, of Maude, Okla., and W. W. Price, a member of the Maude Klan, were released from custody today after a brief hearing in superior court in which they agreed to answer questions put to them by the military court at Maude.

A COURSE ON CITIZENSHIP

DeMolay to Engage Authorities on Young Men for Lectures

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 28.—Decision to incorporate in the permanent national program of DeMolay activities the inculcation of a thorough knowledge of citizenship, its privileges, restrictions and obligations, through lectures by the best known authorities on young men that can be engaged, and by first-hand study of the young men themselves in courts, council meetings and by other contact with government machinery, was announced by Frank S. Land, founder of the movement, at the Missouri State DeMolay Conclave, held in Springfield recently.

The course will not be a temporary affair, but will be an embodiment of one of the paramount things for which DeMolay stands.

It is the aim of DeMolay to impress young men indelibly with the responsibilities of good citizenship and teach them the majesty of the law.

TO SEEK REDRESS BY WAY OF COURTS

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 27.—Military activities were extended to a third county in Oklahoma today as preparations were made here by members of the house of representatives to institute injunction proceedings in district court to restrain Governor Walton from prohibiting the meeting of house members. Fifty militiamen moved unannounced into the county seat of Wagoner county at noon.

Attorneys preparing for injunction against the governor declared they are girding for battle to the federal supreme court on the right of the representatives to convene themselves. "The fight is over so far as the house is concerned," Walton said, declaring that when court action was begun he probably would not appear or be represented.

Sixteen persons have been named in grand jury indictments at Wagoner for alleged participation in the flogging of Ben Wagoner of Broken Arrow.

House Status in Doubt

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 27.—The state today is in doubt as to the official status of its lower legislative branch as the lawmakers prepared to take their cause in the conflict with Governor Walton to the courts. The contention of the legislators that the house was formally convoked yesterday, notwithstanding military interference, presented an unprecedented problem.

THE OKLAHOMA MIXUP

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 1.—Instructions to jail every person attempting to interfere with the special state election tomorrow were sent today to all county election officials by the state election board.

Armed Forces Threaten

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 1.—Armed forces faced each other at noon today at the Tulsa courthouse as the hour approached for the distribution of election supplies to the precincts and voting places. They consisted of twelve "armed citizen volunteers," commissioned by Walton's intelligence officers, and a hundred deputies and volunteers, who said any ballots or supplies removed from the building would be taken out "over our dead bodies."

Says Election Legal

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 1.—Attorney General Short has sent telegrams to all county attorneys, telling them the election is legal and to advise the sheriff it is his duty "as well as yours to obey the constitution of the state."

New Election Board

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 1.—The sheriffs of every county in the state were urged by the election board to study the laws on elections and "provide a safe ballot." The attorney general's office told all inquirers that the election, which would include the question of paving the way for the legislature to consider impeachment charges against Governor Walton, was valid.

Sheriff Cavnar of Oklahoma County announced ready to deputize every man in the county to prevent disturbances at the polls. He said he would make no effort to either insure or prevent the election, but was prepared to stop violence.

Governor Walton today reconstituted the state election board. Orders were issued by the new board went out at once to all county boards to halt the election scheduled for tomorrow.

An injunction directed against the entire national guard and all officers operating under authority of special state police commissions, restraining them from interfering in the election, was issued at Tulsa by State District Judge Hunt.

DESOLATED BY FLOODS

Casper, Wyo., Oct. 1.—Desolation grips the Valley of the Big Horn River for 75 miles between Thermopolis and Greybull, Wyoming, with the crops wiped out and all ranches flooded. No estimate of the damage can be given. It is understood the water reached its highest mark and started to recede yesterday evening.

FLOODS IN OKLAHOMA

Wichita Falls, Texas, Oct. 1.—Heavy rains in Western Oklahoma yesterday and today are interfering with railroad traffic. A bridge on the Wichita Falls & Northwestern, a branch of the Katy, is out near Carter, Okla., and a bridge over the Canadian River, repaired after a washout several weeks ago, is again threatened. The Canadian is reported rising rapidly, with heavy rains still falling in Western Oklahoma.

GERMAN REVOLT SERIOUS

London, Oct. 1.—A revolutionary movement organized by Nationalist organizations has broken out at Kuestrin, 50 miles from Berlin, says a Reuters dispatch. The insurgents attempted to disarm the garrison and occupy the fortress, but the commander of the reichswehr arrested the nationalist leaders and drove back the attackers. Detachments from neighboring towns near Kuestrin were ordered to suppress the revolt ruthlessly. A censorship has been imposed upon all military news sent from Germany as the result of the insurrection.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

Baptists are doing a good part by Christian Education out of the funds raised in the 75 Million Campaign. They seek through denominational schools to train young people for Christian service.

Southern Baptists own and operate the following institutions of learning: Two theological seminaries for training ministers, one Bible institute for fuller equipment of workers engaged in all forms of Christian service; two missionary training schools to equip young women for missionary and Christian service at home and abroad. Thirty-two senior colleges, 31 junior colleges, 50 academies.

2,635 ministerial students and 33,762 students all told, attending Southern Baptist schools. 2566 volunteers for special Christian service, other than the ministry.

Twelve percent increase in students and 46 percent increase in investment in Baptist schools since the campaign began. These schools are financed by money raised in the Baptist 75 Million Campaign. It is imperative that we raise lots of money this fall. Every Baptist in Nacogdoches is called upon to do his or her best.

THE COMMUNITY PARTY WAS UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS

The community party Friday night was an unqualified success in every particular. The teachers and students of the college and public schools, in whose behalf the affair was planned, enjoyed it. The people enjoyed it. That makes it unanimous.

East Plaza from Fredonia to Church streets was cleared of automobiles and formed a lovely playground. And nearly everybody played. It was a time for play.

Several numbers on the published program were necessarily omitted for obvious reasons.

The exercises started with music by Smith's Novelty Orchestra, and all music-lovers know what that means.

Then came the grand march, led by Robert Lindsey and Miss Virginia Broadfoot. Several hundred joined in this and the group singing contest. Group No. 1 was led by Miss Broadfoot, No. 2 by Mrs. French Murphey, No. 3 by E. H. Blount and No. 4 by Rev. Taylor Perritte. So well did each acquit itself that the judges declared it was impossible to decide which won the prize and said the singing would have to be repeated in order for them to pick the winning group. An early repetition will be arranged and the victors named.

In the Boys' hopping contest, first prize was won by Red Edmondson and second by Preston Billingsley.

In the Samson contest (a pulling match), first prize went to Delmer Dewberry and second to Red Edmondson.

In the girls' Samson contest Helen Rader won first prize and Thelma Frizzell second.

The bottle relay race was won by Dalpha Erwin. Both boys and girls engaged in this contest.

About 1,500 people, it is estimated, were present as participants or spectators, and a happier looking crowd never assembled in Nacogdoches.

Secretary H. L. McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce had charge of the exercises and acquitted himself in his usual satisfactory manner.

The plaza, newly paved and clean swept for the occasion, proved an ideal place for the entertainment. All our people went into the matter wholeheartedly and spared no pains or effort to make it a success.

At 9 o'clock the Lufkin cornet band of some dozen or more pieces, which happened to be in the city, favored the crowd with three excellent selections, adding greatly to the enjoyment of the occasions.

To be exact, eleven numbers of the program had to be omitted, and those given at the same place in the near future, according to Mr. McKnight, yielding to a desire expressed by many who were disappointed that it was impossible to carry out the arrangements in full and who are eager to see "the whole show."

Everybody was good-natured, and no incident occurred to in any way mar the pleasure of those present.

Our people are now "strong" for these community parties. Let's have more of them. They will do us all good.

TEXAS MINERAL WATERS

Austin, Texas, Sept. 29.—In cooperation with the United States Geological Survey, the bureau of economic geology at the University of Texas has completed the statistics on the production of mineral waters in Texas for 1922. The results, according to Dr. A. Udden, head of the bureau, show that 307,478 gallons of mineral waters were sold in Texas last year, amounting to a total value of $50,737.

A large bay horse owned by Mr. Henry Millard and ridden by a negro known as "The Albino," was struck by an auto driven by Mrs. Frank Beall at the noon hour Monday and so badly injured that it was killed. The accident occurred at West Main and North streets, and eyewitnesses state that Mrs. Beall was driving at a moderate speed, when the negro, whose vision is faulty, rode in front of the car and the collision was unavoidable. Dr. D. D. Giles, the local veterinarian, was called and found that one of the animal's legs was broken and there was no chance to save it. He administered poison to put the suffering beast out of its misery. It would appear that no blame attaches to Mrs. Beall.

CROP TOO PROLIFIC, FARMER IS ARRESTED

East Texas Register, 28th. L. L. Ross of Rusk county was building a reputation for himself as a farmer, when he marketed 19 bales of cotton, and it was known that he had but 12 acres in cotton. Solution of his agricultural proficiency was made Tuesday when Deputy Sheriff Hardy Woods of Beckville, with a posse of Beckville citizens, traced car tracks from a Beckville seed house where cotton had been disappearing directly to the home of L. L. Ross. Ross was arrested and brought to Carthage, charged in two cases with burglary and theft. He confessed and paid for the cotton. Another Rusk county man, "Dollie" Stokes, is implicated, and at this writing it is stated from the sheriff's department, has been apprehended and is en route to the Carthage jail.

BAPTIST ORPHANAGES

Southern Baptists are taking care of orphan children through the 75 Million Campaign. They not only take care of them, but they train them for service.

We have 19 homes for Baptist children, two homes for aged Baptists, 6,769 acres in orphanage farm property, 3,789 orphan children housed, fed, clothed and trained last year, 1835 other orphan children turned away last year for lack of room. The expenditures of the year were $877,679.10 for the maintenance of these institutions.

The greatest of all these orphanages is the Buckner Orphan's Home of Dallas, owned and controlled by Texas Baptists. There are over 700 orphan children in its buildings. Plans have been adopted for two new modern dormitories to take care of the ever-increasing number of applicants. This great orphanage will receive a proportionate share of the 75 Million funds.

"Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this. To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." James 1:27.

October is the month for the Fall Campaign for the Baptist 75 Million. Let those who are behind on pledges pay up if possible. Those who made no pledges will be glad to make cash payments.

Mr. John P. Davidson has spent considerable money in paving South Pecan street and constructing sidewalks, using his own material, teams and men in the work. It seems to the Sentinel that the city would do the right thing by completing the paving to Banita creek and bridging that stream, not only for the benefit of Mr. Davidson, but for the convenience and comfort of a large number of residents in that section of the city. Won't the city fathers take the matter up and see what can be done?

THE BIG DIFFERENCE AND WHERE DOES IT GO?

Most everyone will admit that $1.10 a month, $13.20 a year; 10 years $132.00; 20 years $264.00; 40 years $528.00 is cheap insurance for men and women from 16 to 50 years of age, and nowhere can you get it for such a small amount. Still if we had been collecting $1.10 a month, whether any deaths or not, after paying all death claims and expenses, 64 deaths in 14 years in the Mutual Benefit, we would now have on hand a surplus of $88,000.00, and for 6 years in the Brotherhood, a total of 24 deaths, we would have a surplus of $39,600.00, a total surplus in the two orders of $127,600.00, and could stop assessing until 127 members died before it would be necessary to begin assessing again. And remember, there have only been 88 deaths in the two orders and all death claims and all expenses have been paid. Is not this vast saving by the Dorsey Way worth something to the people of the county?

Talk about Life Insurance the Dorsey Way is head and shoulders above any other Life Insurance and grows more in favor of the insuring public and grows stronger and stronger as time goes by. Life is uncertain and death is sure. See Dorsey today. We have openings all along in Orders that are worth $1,000.00 the day you get it should you die.

PROTECTING THE LAWLESS

The great world "spins forever down the ringing grooves of change." The costumes our grandfathers wore are not likely to be revived. The government they authorized by a general constitutional enactment is no longer a perfect fit and is no longer adaptable to every modern condition. That constitution is one of the remarkable documents of human history, but before the people of the several states would accept it they stipulated 10 notable amendments which constitute a bill of rights and in the 136 years that have since passed we have added nine more amendments.

The second amendment was passed at a time when the greater part of the territory of the United States was a savage wilderness in which the American Indians were still opposing the invasion of the white men upon their hunting grounds. The Indian registered this encroachment and the white invader was compelled to bear arms wherever he might go for the protection of his life against hostile attacks and for the defense of his family and his home. To deprive him of that privilege in a savage country would have been to invite his extermination.

For that reason the people forced upon the constitution the second amendment to this effect: "A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

In the course of time the hostile Indian was partly pacified and sent away to reservations where he would be protected against further encroachment and made secure in his tribal and personal rights. Semi-barbarous society became more civilized, but the long habit of bearing arms persisted and presently the columns of the newspapers were filled with accounts of bloody affrays.

To correct this, laws were passed prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons. But the law has never been generally respected. The most disorderly and least responsible elements in society commonly carry a deadly weapon, while the law-respecting citizen does not. As a result that particular law is practically void. Now and then some degree of enforcement is attempted, but the execution of the law is largely dependent upon the interpretation of the court before which the offender is brought to answer the charge of bearing deadly weapons.

If the trial judge holds with the constitution that "the right to bear arms shall not be infringed," and couples with that ruling another personal right laid down in article four of the constitutional amendments that "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated," the police will be powerless in their efforts to protect the lives and property of citizens.

The probability is that not one percent of respectable, law-abiding citizens carry any sort of deadly weapon. There is an equal probability that every lawless individual, all thieves, burglars, footpads, holdup men, gunmen, hi-jackers, bootleggers and rum-runners are walking the public streets by day and night with one or more deadly weapons hidden on their person.

The old saying that "liberty exists only in proportion to wholesome restraint" is still true, but when the policy of the administration of law is shaped for the protection of the lawless and the imperilment of peaceful citizens all respect for law may be regarded as slipping and civilized society is in a state of rapid reversion toward barbarism.

Silence is golden, but frequently the rewards go to those who have brass enough to speak up.

A liberator is made great by his followers, a dictator by possession of the whip handle.

The only man we ever knew who had a meek and humble nature was insufferably proud of it.

His intimate friends, however, predict that Cal Coolidge will make good, in spite of all the senate can do.

Insurance statistics show that the rejection rate on women is lower than for men. This is not strange when one considers the kind of lives many wives have and the suspicion their husbands lead.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

The clipping enclosed herewith is from the San Antonio Light, dated September 23, 1923. I substitute it for my own writing, because it gives the leading facts that I furnished and will interest readers of the Sentinel.

There was recently published in the San Antonio Express an illustrated item about the noted historic live-oak trees in Columbus, Texas, saying that the first term of district court there was held by Judge Williamson, "Three-Legged Willie," under one of the trees in April, 1837.

I wish I could inspect the minutes of the Nacogdoches district court, as shown in Book A, pages 1 et seq., and compare this with the Columbus minutes, as facts, to show who came first.

The town of Columbus recently celebrated its centennial anniversary, claiming that Stephen F. Austin laid it off. Nacogdoches was not laid off. It was created in the prehistoric age.

The clipping follows: "Recent additions to the wealth of historical relics at the Alamo included a picture of General Thomas J. Rusk and a picture of the old stone fort at Nacogdoches, where he presided over the first district court ever held in Texas.

"General Rusk was one of the heroes of the Texas revolution. He joined the army in October, 1835, and was present at the siege of General Cos' army in San Antonio. At one time he led a band of 40 men within 800 yards of Cos' fortifications in an effort to draw the Mexican general into the open.

"In March, 1836, he was made secretary of war but refused to let his duties as secretary prevent him from taking an active part in the campaign directed by General Sam Houston. He joined Houston's forces early in April and commanded the left wing of the Texas army at the Battle of San Jacinto.

"General Rusk was an able practitioner and a natural born leader. He took a prominent part in the negotiations that resulted in Texas independence and served in President Houston's cabinet. Then he became chief justice of the supreme court. When a convention was called to consider annexation to the United States, Rusk was made president of the assembly. Together with General Houston he went to Washington as the first senator from the new state and held that office till his death in 1857.

"The old fort at Nacogdoches in which General Rusk held court was built in 1716 by Father Margel for a Catholic mission and was called "Madestra Senora Gaudalope." The picture shows it as it appeared from 1850 to 1900 in the northeast corner of the public square. Since then it has been moved a block away to make room for a new building.

"The two pictures were presented to the Alamo by Dr. J. E. Mayfield. "Another relic received by Mrs. A. F. Small, custodian of the Alamo, is a souvenir gavel, the mallet of which is made from pine out of the lintel over the front door of the old stone fort at Nacogdoches. The handle is made out of wood cut from a historic elm nearby.

"The gavel was made and presented to the Alamo by Captain J. W. Ireson, Spanish War veteran of Company B, Second Texas Volunteer Infantry. J.E.M.

GET RID OF THE DUST What on earth can be the matter with us? Apparently what's everybody's business seems to be no one's. There's not a man, woman or child in this town but what is suffering from the dust and dirt and this is something that is going to get worse and worse.

We'll admit that the county and city have no funds to spend now, but unquestionably there is some remedy to GET RID OF THE DUST. I believe the citizens of this town want the city council to purchase sprinkling wagons and then use them. It would be far better to neglect the streets and let us walk awhile if we had to resort to this, in order to get rid of the dust.

You know that it is injuring your health, your stock of goods and your own feelings. Who else wants to get about three wagons and go after this and keep the dust down twelve months in the year? A Citizen.

Born—October 2, 1923, to Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Petty, a 10-pound son. All doing nicely, it was reported Wednesday morning.

MINISTERIAL RELIEF

Out of the funds of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign Southern Baptists are seeking to make old age comfortable for veteran preachers who laid the foundations for us. Last year we helped 925 old ministers and acted favorably on 185 new cases, requiring an expenditure of $113,322.15. There is no cause more worthy on the program of Southern Baptists than the support of these aged ministers. Every consideration demands that we shall do our best this month for the campaign. Let our people give their offerings to Mr. R. C. Monk.

It is said that the Prince of Wales is desirous of making that trip through Canada incognito. In that event we would advise him to use a rocking-horse if he feels the need of exercise.

HUNDREDS OF ARENA STARS ON SELLS-FLOTO PAYROLL

The Number 1 advertising car of the Sells-Floto Circus and Buffalo Bill's Wild West show rolled into town today, and, in no time at all, thirty bill posters, lithographers and programmers were busy in the city streets and on suburban lanes hanging up the pictures of the clowns, the elephants, the pretty ladies and the jungle beasts.

The combined shows travel this year on three trains, and, it is claimed, they constitute the finest railroad equipment ever owned by a circus—all new 70-foot cars and all steel.

The Sells-Floto street parade—the largest in the world this year—promises much of novelty and beauty and a zoological treat unprecedented.

The show will exhibit in Nacogdoches on Tuesday, October 16.

The big show performances, presented in three rings, on two stages, in an aerial maze and on a real racing track, open with the biggest and most gorgeous of all circus spectacles, "A Night in Persia," employing 1200 people and animals, garbed richly and beautifully. Elephants wear robes worth small fortunes, with the cost of the gemmed draperies of the central pachyderm of the middle ring reaching the $10,000 mark.

The famous Belgian riding comique, Joe Hodgini, is presented at the head of the best known riding acts, while scores of new features from abroad will be seen on the long program. Forty-eight educated horses from Budapest, the sensation of the continent last year, make their first American appearance. The two Flying Ward troupes, the largest casting acts in circudom, top the aerial displays with the Great Shubert, mid-air enigma.

RESOLUTION O FRESPECT

T. K. Cureton passed away at his home in Nacogdoches, Texas, September 26, 1923.

He had been a member of Swift Lodge, No. 678, A. F. & A. M., for many years and was also one of the oldest members of the Baptist church at Swift.

He was buried at Swift September 27, 1923, funeral services being conducted by Bro. Garrard, after which the Masons took charge.

Whereas, It has pleased the great Creator to remove Bro. Cureton from his care and troubles of a transitory existence to a state of rest, may we who survive him anticipate our approaching fate.

Resolved, That in the passing of Brother Cureton, Masonry has lost a true friend and earnest worker, faithful to every trust reposed to him. Though we mourn his death, our lives are better for your deeds. Be it further

Resolved, That the church has lost one of its most worthy members and the country a good citizen who stood for the upbuilding of every good cause. Be it further

Resolved, That his family has lost a kind and loving father and one who always offered good advice.

Let us not mourn for him as one that hath no hope, for we feel assured that there is a grip in the Celestial Lodge above by which he will be raised to a new life where the Grand Architect of the Universe presides.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the county papers for publication, one be sent the family of deceased, and one be spread upon the minutes of the lodge.

NO OFFENSE INTENDED

The write-up on Friday's football game seems to have offended some people, so the writer wishes to explain that he did not mean to cast any personal reflections in this write-up. In justice to Brewer, whom the writer dealt with rather too harshly, the writer did not mean to reflect in any way as to the young man's management.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many kind friends and neighbors and extend special thanks to the Carpenters' Local for their many kind deeds and beautiful floral offerings.

BOOSTERS BOOST BAND

At the regular meeting Monday night the Boosters Club took up the matter of organizing a cornet band for Nacogdoches. The town needs a band, and their action should be heartily endorsed by our people. The Boosters will make a canvass of the town later in the week for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the citizens on regard to this enterprise. Everyone should help the Boosters boost it. We need it. We have, everything considered, the best orchestra in the state, and there is no earthly reason why we may not have the best cornet band.

BAPTIST HOSPITALS

Through their hospital work Southern Baptists are healing the sick and suffering in the name of Jesus. Christ is our authority for such service. He went about preaching, teaching and healing.

The achievements of our hospital work last year were gratifying. We have 21 hospitals with 2650 beds, 70 buildings included in hospital plants, which took care of 4728 patients. 5669 charity patients were treated at a cost of $257,195.90. There were 913 nurses in these institutions, 13,588 patients were treated who had no church affiliations. Of these 21 hospitals the Baptists of Texas have four in operation. The Baylor Hospital, located at Dallas, J. B. Franklin, superintendent; The Baptist Hospital, Houston, Robert Jolly, superintendent; the Central Baptist Sanitarium, Waco, H. R. Honey, superintendent; The Fort Worth Baptist Hospital, H. G. Harcrow, superintendent.

In addition to these hospitals now in operation, there are several others now in prospect, one at Abilene, the walls of which are almost completed. Soon one will be built at San Antonio and also at Harlingen.

These hospitals, where the Christian spirit and graces are ever present, are a mighty agency for good. Many conversions occur during the year. This glorious work of healing the sick through these institutions is a part of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign.

The old-time gentleman who concealed his nasty thoughts now has a son who uses them as a basis for a best seller.

LUFKIN MERCHANTS HAD AN ENJOYABLE BANQUET

Program of Talks and Other Features Was the Order of Last Evening

Lufkin News, 25th. A pleasant banquet program and the discussion of business matters characterized the festive affair of the Lufkin Retail Merchants' Association held in the dining room of the Hotel Angelina last evening from 8 to 10 o'clock.

The invocation was pronounced by Wm. C. Hall and the evening dinner followed. E. E. Woods, vice president of the R. M. A., called the meeting to order after the meal and expressed a word of welcome to all who were present. He then called for the report of Secretary G. C. Dunn of the association.

Mr. Dunn announced that his report would cover a two year period and the amount of money collected on accounts and bad checks made a substantial showing. Amount collected during the period amounted to $6,633.77 with 647 bad checks.

"The main thing I want to ask the merchants is to look at the rating department more and not make this a collection agency," stated Secretary Dunn, adding, "One of the most important functions of the Retail Merchants Association is the rating information that is given its members."

Miss Jenny Lacy delighted her hearers with a reading entitled, "In the Usual Way." This brought forth much laughter and applause and portrayed some every day scenes.

H. L. McKnight of Nacogdoches, secretary of both the Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants Association in his city, was next presented by Chairman Woods. Mr. McKnight said that if business had possessed and used the R. M. A. long before, there would have been many accounts good that are now bad. He spoke of the advantages of group work, stating that practically all worth while movements are accomplished by the concerted actions of groups. Some humorous stories were told at intervals during his talk in a way to make it very interesting.

Mr. McKnight, who has distinguished himself as a thinker, said that there is a lot of propaganda going the rounds about cheaply manufactured articles selling for exorbitant prices. In defense of legitimate charges by retailers, the speaker from Nacogdoches said that various values are added to an article as it is handled. First there is an elemental value, the value of the thing in the raw state to which is added the form value when it is made into the shape of something. To this the speaker added a place value when the product is brought to a city, such as this, in reach of the people. To these values are added the time value which accrues by reason of the merchant holding the article until such time as the people come and want it.

Mr. McKnight digressed enough to tell of the new Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College, which has just opened at Nacogdoches. He said there are 36 students registered from Lufkin in the total enrollment of 335 and that the opening enrollment was the largest of any initial student body of any state educational institution at its opening. Mr. McKnight's address was greatly enjoyed.

Miss Genevieve Abram rendered a piano solo, difficult in technique but executed with apparent ease. Liberal applause met the effort of the talented young musician.

W. M. Glenn urged the necessity of co-operation and said that if members get anything out of the R. M. A. they must put something into it. Chairman Woods then commented that it is not the local merchants who are competitors—stating that they are colleagues—but said that the competitors were the mail order houses. S. C. Auld, representing the Burruss Dry Goods Company, new merchant in Lufkin, spoke pointedly in favor of the Retail Merchants Association and like organizations. He pledged co-operation with his fellow merchants in anything that is just. Remarks by Senator L. D. Fairchild on legislation concluded the evening's program just a few minutes before 10 o'clock.

EASY FOR THE CAT
Mrs. Jones found Mrs. Smith, the wife of the aviator, in tears.

"What's the matter, my dear?" she asked anxiously.

"I'm worrying about Harold," said Mrs. Smith. Harold was her hubby. "He's been trying for a week to lose our cat, and as a last resort he took her up in his plane this morning. He said he would take her up three thousand feet and drop her over the side."

"Well, what is there to worry about?"

"Lots, Harold isn't home yet, and the cat is."—Ex.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS AND GOOD ROADS

Real Highways Mean Education in Rural Districts.

The "little red schoolhouse," good as it is, is not as good as the "big red schoolhouse." States which have experimented in rural districts with the "consolidated" schools (sometimes called "union schools") report a great gain in education at little or no increase of cost.

The "consolidated school" takes the place of half a dozen or more "little red schoolhouses," collects the several teachers, libraries and facilities under one roof, and brings the children to and takes them from such schools via county operated motor buses, horse-drawn vehicles or trolley cars.

The consolidated school flourishes where good roads are. It cannot be established where are only poor roads.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction in the state of Washington sets forth as the advantages of the consolidated school, that it provides a better school plan, i. e., it makes possible the erection and maintenance of more modern school buildings and school equipment. It enables the district to increase the teaching staff and to obtain better trained teachers, and gives the rural community the advantages of the uniform graded school. It makes possible the high-school courses, and, in many instances, enables the rural district to erect a modern high school building. It provides special work, such as manual training, domestic science, etc., in the rural community, and, finally, the consolidated school increases community interest in community activities by providing a central meeting place under attractive surroundings, making the school the center of the community circle.

MRS. JOHN S. MOORE
Mrs. John S. Moore died at her home in Sherman, Texas, May 25, 1923.

For 43 years Mrs. Moore had been a resident of Sherman, coming here in 1879 when her husband was called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church. She was a native of Cheraw, S. C., born in February, 1848. She was of Scotch-Irish ancestry, of Covenant blood, and a child of the manse. Among her forebears were many who adorned the ministry of the Presbyterian church.

Rearing in South Carolina, in early womanhood she taught in Harmony College. She was married in 1870 to the late Rev. John S. Moore, in the home of Dr. I. Leighton Wilson, an uncle of President Woodrow Wilson. Mrs. W. O. Brackett, Kansas City; Mrs. E. A. Sporrer, Miss Ray Moore of Sherman and Rev. George C. Moore of Nacogdoches, Texas, are the surviving children.

No woman ever lived in Sherman who exerted so wide and so rich an influence. Most charming in person and manner, the finished product of the old South, a well nigh perfect personality, ripened into grace and beauty by all that our faith has to confer, her life was a heaven that wrought silently and mightily through all these years. She occupied a position of sovereignty in the church that was not due merely to the splendid helpfulness of her service as the pastor's wife during the long and distinguished ministry of her husband, but the rather to the supreme qualities and graces of her character.

She was always perfectly poised, always gracious, and her rule was the rule of a potent personality that no one ever dreamed of questioning.

The church continues to grieve for her as for one who was more than a reigning queen, one who was her pride and most cherished possession.

In the midst of the sorrow and our tears, we yet rejoice with a joy unspeakable and full of glory that for her has come the dawn and the richer heavenly crown and glorious restoration to those whom "she had loved" those whom "she had loved long since an distant a while."

HYDROPHOBIA IN CATTLE ON WILL BURK PLACE

Dr. D. D. Giles, local veterinarian, reports an ugly condition on the Will Burk place, near Mahl, on the Hatchl Ferry road, resulting from what is believed to be hydrophobia among the cattle. Three of Mr. Burk's cattle have recently died with all the symptoms of the dread malady, and a cow and calf are ill of the disease. The calf suckled several cows, and left froth from its mouth on the udders of the animals. Mrs. Burk and a daughter milked these cows, and because of cuts and abrasions upon their hands are supposed to have endangered themselves. Dr. Tucker has wired for anti-hydrophobia serum and will treat these threatened patients. It is sincerely hoped they may escape the menace which hangs over them.

It is reported a dog suffering from rabies was recently seen in the neighborhood of Mahl, and it is supposed this animal attacked the cattle of the community and spread the malady.

CHILDREN IN SHRINERS HOSPITAL AT SHREVEPORT

D. F. Harrell has received a letter from his son, Ford, who is in the Shrine Hospital at Shreveport. Ford says he is beginning to like the situation better there, though he was very lonesome at first. His bed is next to that of another little boy, the latter being from Nacogdoches. These two little fellows are from neighboring cities and are in the hospital for the same character of treatment. They are a great comfort to each other. The name of the Nacogdoches boy was not learned. Saturday, September 29, Ford Harrell is to have a birthday. On Sunday, the day following, the Nacogdoches boy will celebrate his birthday. So, you see, the affair is quite an incident—not a "coincidence," as some might say, for a like circumstance has probably never taken place before. And these lads from Lovely Lufkin and Naughty Nacogdoches are great company to each other, you bet. —Lufkin News, 26th.

The Nacogdoches boy mentioned above is John S. Jenkins, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Jenkins, Sr., of this city. Johnnie has been in the hospital for a month, and already considerable progress toward recovery has been made, with the assurance of a complete ultimate cure. He will be 11 years old next Sunday, the 30th inst., and his father is planning to go up and help him celebrate.

Some wonderful surgical work on crippled children has been done in the Shreveport Shriners Hospital, and 175 little fellows have been made whole and the handicaps which might have clouded their lives removed.

STATE MISSIONS

Texas Baptists are strong on state missions as well as home and foreign missions. This is one of the interests that share in the funds of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign.

The task is large. By their state mission work Texas Baptists are preaching the gospel to the destitute places and bringing a fuller enlistment and development of all their people.

Here are some last year's results: 2,215 workers employed including missionary pastors.

46,086 baptisms and 76,870 members received into churches.

398 churches organized and 417 churches built, repaired, or begun.

1,055 Sunday-schools and 2,042 B. Y. P. U.'s organized.

$1,253,272.58 collected on field for various denominational objects.

Nacogdoches Baptists are again notified that the state mission campaign is now on to raise money. Make the largest possible payments on your pledges during October. Those who made no pledges are asked for a cash offering. Give check to R. C. Monk, church treasurer.

THAVIU AND HIS BAND BOOKED TO APPEAR AT FAIR

Noted Director and Dozens of Other Artists to Render "Aeids" Act.

Having dug deep into its pocket, the State Fair Association of Louisiana has booked a musical program second to none in the history of the State Fair at Shreveport for the entertainment of visitors at the eighteenth annual exposition, October 18 to 28, inclusive. The program in question will be given by the internationally known artist, A. F. Thaviu, and his band of 36 expert musicians, accompanied by seven grand opera singers.

This wonderful aggregation of musicians, under the personal leadership of Thaviu, will present the second act of the opera "Aeids" each night of the fair, Sundays excepted. For this purpose there will be a special stage arranged, with appropriate scenery and all settings and effects necessary to stage it most interestingly.

Besides the grand opera singers and the members of the band, there will also be 9 ballet artists and a local chorus of sixty voices, which will be especially trained for the State Fair program. The offering will be one of rare excellence, and those who attend may consider themselves particularly fortunate, for it seldom happens that such a musical privilege is extended outside the big music centers of the country.

Thaviu is not a stranger to the State Fair of Louisiana. He was among its entertainers several years ago, when he directed one of the great orchestras ever heard in this section of the country.

SWINE BREEDERS TO SEEK FAIR PREMIUMS

As usual, the Swine Show promises to be one of the main features of the livestock division of the State Fair of Louisiana this year, October 18 to 28, inclusive. Because of the increased interest in this department, the premium money has been raised, its total this year being $3,975 as shown by the catalog list.

The importance of raising fine blooded pigs is becoming realized more each year in Louisiana, which offers wonderful opportunities for the swine industry, and many of the exhibits at the State Fair this year will be from Louisiana farms. Also, there will be many from other states, as the contest is open to the world.

In order that exhibitors and other spectators may have a good view of the exhibits, the judging will be done in the swine arena, adjoining the modern swine barns.

CLASS IN RABBITS IS ADDED FOR STATE FAIR

After being omitted from the State Fair of Louisiana for two years, Brer Rabbit will reappear at the 1923 show, opening October 18, according to official announcement by Secretary-Manager W. R. Hirsch. The acquisition of more space has made possible this additional attraction. Increasing attention is being given the rabbit industry in the southwest, and an unusually attractive display is expected at the State Fair.

The catalog will contain the complete list of premiums offered.

WOMEN'S WORK WILL BE FEATURE AT FAIR

Judging by the reports reaching the office of Secretary-Manager, W. R. Hirsch, a record-breaking display of textile and culinary articles will be entered at the eighteenth annual State Fair of Louisiana, October 18 to 28, inclusive. They will be shown in the Agricultural Building, where there will be an abundance of room for the most attractive arrangement.

The woman of today has the advantage of modern methods of sewing and cooking and doing other useful things about the house, and evidence of the progress she is making with the new ideas will be seen in the exhibition of women's work at the State Fair. The admiration will not be confined to the women folks either, judging by past experiences. There will be many men on hand with words of praise for the wonderful articles, and with mouths literally watering for "tastes" of the cookies, pies, cakes, biscuit, etc.

A generous lot of premiums is offered in this department, and competition, as heretofore, is certain to be brisk. Mrs. Simon Cahn will be superintendent of the textile section, and Mrs. W. P. Lambert will superintend the culinary or pantry stores section.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, Secretary-Manager, Shreveport, La.

HOME MISSIONS

The home mission work of Southern Baptists is a work of great magnitude. Approximately 16 million un-saved persons of gospel age in the South are being evangelized by the missionaries of the home board. Some of the results of last year's work are as follows:

1120 maintained, 64 among foreigners, 12 among Indians, 27 among negroes, 28 general evangelists, 3 in Panama, 34 in Cuba, 10 in army camps, and 941 in co-operative work with states.

38,770 baptisms reported and 59,597 persons received into churches, 31 mountain schools operated in the South, 13 mission schools in Cuba, 218 mission school teachers employed and 6299 pupils enrolled.

2249 volunteers for Christian service.

176 churches organized, 465 church houses built or improved, and 622 Sunday-schools organized.

This home mission work is a part of the Baptist 75 million campaign. Texas Baptists are helping carry on this great work. Nacogdoches Baptists are to have a part. Let us make large payments in October to this worthy cause.

ONE KILLED, ONE INJURED IN LUFKIN AUTO WRECK

Lufkin News, 27th. A. R. Goolsbee, 33, civil engineer for the W. T. Carter Lumber Company at Camden, is dead and Cade Bethea, attorney of Livingston, was injured as a result of an automobile turnover one mile south of Lufkin on the Choctaw Trail leading toward Livingston and Houston this morning at 8 o'clock. While driving along the newly made highway, their Ford automobile ran off into the sand on the side of the paying, turning over twice, according to reports received in Lufkin shortly after the accident. A hub of the car was resting on the head of Goolsbee when his body was dragged from under the vehicle. Death was instantaneous.

It is thought that Goolsbee, who was driving, was drowsy from loss of sleep and that in his partial control of the car, due to his sleepy condition, it ran from off the paved portion of the highway onto the sand on the outer edge thus causing the turnover of the car. The Ford car had its top and windshield demolished and two or more spokes in the left front wheel were slightly cracked.

The cries of Bethea, who was reported by later attendants at the scene of the accident to have been drinking, were heard by Lufkin citizens several blocks away. The first person on the scene of the mishap was Tom McCleendon, a milk driver for the C. F. Thompson dairy. The accident took place opposite the Thompson dairy, scarcely a mile out of the city.

When a Lufkin Daily News reporter called at the undertaking parlors of the Glenn Undertaking Company, corner of Lufkin avenue and Second street, this morning, he found the remains of Mr. Goolsbee prepared for shipment on the noon southbound Southern Pacific train, the destination to be Livingston. It was thought that interment would be made in the cemetery at Livingston.

Deceased is survived by a widow and one daughter, Anna Laura, age 7, and a mother and four brothers, J. R., J. K., Addison and Vinson W. Mr. Goolsbee was a cousin of Miss Cynthia Goolsbee, superintendent of the Angelina County Hospital. He was a member of the Masonic order. Deceased was a son of the late J. D. Goolsbee, well known as a timber estimator.

At last report to The News, it was not known whether Cade Bethea, the Livingston attorney who was injured, would be able to return to his home in Polk county today. Mrs. Bethea and daughter, Miss Mary Lou, came up at an early hour this morning and were with their husband and father. The X-ray pictures were being made when the hospital was telephoned by a News representative. It was not thought that Mr. Bethea's injuries were serious.

ED ANDERSON

Ed Anderson, one of the high class carpenters of this city, died late Saturday afternoon. He had undergone an operation for appendicitis a week ago, and had been removed from the hospital to his home Saturday morning, when he suddenly became worse, and died within a few hours. Besides a wife, he leaves two children, a daughter, 16 and a small son. The carpenter's union of this city will have charge of all funeral arrangements. It is understood that the body will be buried here. Mr. Anderson came here from San Augustine about two years ago. Little is known about his people. His wife has a mother and a sister living at Dallas.

Roy Haynes is spoken of as a possible candidate for governor of Ohio. If Mr. Haynes loses we must be prepared for another serial romance explaining how it happened.

Nervous Break-Down

MRS. ANNIE LANGE, of R. F. D. 1, Burlington, Tex., writes as follows regarding her experience with Cardui: "Some time ago I had a nervous breakdown of some kind. I was very weak and so nervous. I had fainting spells and suffered a great deal, but more from the weak, trembly, no-account feeling than anything else. I knew I needed a tonic, and needed it badly. I began the use of Cardui to see if I couldn't get some strength, as I knew of other cases that had been helped by its use. I soon saw a great improvement, so I kept it up. I used seven bottles of Cardui, and can say the money was well spent, for I grew well and strong. Am now able to do all my housework and a great deal of work besides."

If you are weak, run-down, nervous and suffer from the ailments peculiar to women, it is very likely that Cardui will help you, in the way it helped Mrs. Lange and has helped thousands of others, during the past 40 years. Ask for, and insist on, Cardui.

FORMALITY DONE AWAY WITH

Some Difference Between Mid-Victorian Courting and the Method Accepted as Proper Today.

When the mid-Victorian young man desired to have a young woman accompany him to a party he would first call on the mother. Something like this would ensue:

"Mrs. Brown, I should like to take your daughter, Alice, to a party. May I have the pleasure of her company?"

"Who is giving the party, may I ask?"

"Mrs. Jones, in honor of Hilda's eighteenth birthday."

"Have you asked Alice?"

"Oh, Mrs. Brown, I wouldn't think of doing that before asking your permission first."

"That was very proper. I shall speak to Alice's father tonight. I am quite sure, however, that we shall give our consent."

"O, thank you, Mrs. Brown."

"Alice will write you tonight. I shall ask her aunt Matilda if she will be good enough to chaperon Alice."

"O, thank you, Mrs. Brown. Well, good-by, Mrs. Brown. I shall look tomorrow for Alice's letter."

But nowadays the arrangements are made somewhat differently. A young man decides to take in a musical show. He consults his little red book, and chooses one from an eligible dozen or more to accompany him. He calls her on the phone and informs her of his plans.

Then he says, "What do you say, kid?"

And she replies, "O, boy, lead me to it!"

Then he says, "Atrababy!"—New York Sun.

DANTE'S PLACE IN HISTORY

In a Measure, Great Italian May Be Said to Have Blazed Way for Shakespeare.

Though Shakespeare may appear to us, who speak only English, to have a broader spread of opinion—to lead his victorious thought with more triumphant sweep beyond the utmost bounds of human speculation—though Milton may, to English ears, appear to sing with a nobler measure and in a more melodious strain, pray remember that Dante preceded them by something like three hundred years and that as his leaders, beside the great Greeks and Latin poets (whom they had like-wise) he had only Giotto, Guicciardini and the Provencal Rimatori, while Shakespeare and Milton had Chaucer and Spenser and above all Dante himself. He walked alone so far as inspiring human fellowship was concerned. Those about him were all critical and many held that he was wasting his recognized genius writing in the vulgar tongue and of the dead gone instead of in the scholarly and classic language of the living. Shakespeare, on the other hand, had as shining a company of comrades of genius as ever poured about a man the electric stimulus of intellectual fellowship. —Thomas Nelson Page, in "Dante and His Influence."

Users of the "Poison Pen." Years of experience with anonymous letters have convinced writing experts that you never can tell who the author may be. It is apt to be any one, from the office boy to the president. It is also claimed that the wrong man is often arrested at first and only after months of search and careful watching is it possible to catch the guilty. And because the wrong person is blamed so frequently the investigators are as vigilant after an arrest as before. They have found the real author may relax and be more careless than previously.

Sometimes letters are more easily traced after being read aloud. Characteristics of the author are more apparent when the letters are read aloud, and it is possible to distinguish whether there is a personal grudge in the letter or whether it is general in tone and the kind which might be sent to any one of a score of people.—New York Herald.

Theory of Man's Development. The Java ape-man is the oldest of all the links tending to show man's rise in the world. From the geological strata in which it was found, it is estimated that it must have lived from five hundred thousand to one million years ago, making it nearly twice as old as the next oldest cave man. The first human or near-human remains yet found, it has been shown by Doctor Hrdlicka, are those of the so-called Pittdown man found near London, England, and probably dating back over two hundred fifty thousand to three hundred thousand years. He believed that modern man may have developed from this western type and that the Java ape-man represents an extinct branch and is not in the direct line of man's ascent.—Kansas City Star.

It Has Happened. At the club they were discussing marriage and a girl's opportunities for making a good one. Some contended that a society girl stood the best chance. Others maintained that girls in business life met substantial men every day, and consequently often made excellent matches. Sensational marriages made by ladies of the chorus were mentioned, and then the talk veered around to department stores.

Said one member: "Many of these salesladies are beautiful. Many a girl is married from a department store."

"And," chimed in another, "sometimes the store has to take her back."

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Edna Earl Dent and Mr. Elbert Reese was made at a party given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Carl Monk. Twenty guests had been told to bring their "sewing." They sewed and talked until the hostesses passed around some small envelopes numbered and marked "It" on the outside. The curiosity of each guest was highly aroused by the question asked within the envelope. The questions and answers were along this order: "What is it?" "Time will tell it." "How do you say it?" "Say it with flowers." "When will it happen?" "It usually happens in June."

At the conclusion of the reading of the questions and answers, the desire to know what "It" was had grown great. The hostesses called two or three ladies to help her go get it. So everybody waited "impatiently" to see what it was. Soon the ladies returned with dainty refreshments. Upon the side of each ice-glass rested a tiny bluebird holding in its beak a little card. On the outside of the card was written "News for you." On the inside was this little verse:

"I'm sure this true Little bluebird will tell Of lovers true So listen well—"

"Elbert—Edna Earle— October 11, 1923"

A toast to the bride was given by Miss Ruth Fouts. It follows: "Demure and fair, she seems to me, Endowed with beauty and with grace. Never a fault have I been able to see Though I've studied both form and face."

"Real strength shines from out her eyes Ever true gray signifies. Eternal love and faith are hers, Sorrows and joys alike will come Ever to bring variety;

"But all in the end a happy home A love that to you will be a pearl Is our hearty wish to you,

Edna Earl."

A toast to the groom was given by Mrs. Rho Cox:

"Here's to the groom who sought;— So he baited his hook With love and good-looks. Soon a nibble, then something was caught. Swiftly his line he drew in And found on it a little turtle-dove Who on a hook had never been Helplessly caught in the meshes of love.

The man, like the "wise old owl" Knew a "fish on the hook Was worth two in the brook."

She struggled a while, you may bet, But soon the wedding day was set. So here's hoping he'll never regret Here's to the joys he has left behind And here's to the joys he soon will find.

That 'Woman is the sweetest gift God has ever given man!'"

A toast to married life was given by the "experienced" Mrs. O'Quinn Hodges:

"A state of bliss and happiness, With sorrows and quarrels intermingled The happiness you know could never be so Were there no hardships and trials to endure. Life is like that; and alone it is nearly unbearable; But with a partner to share Every sorrow and care Your happiness will be incomparable."

The party broke up with many wishes of life-long happiness to the bride-elect.

BOY DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED

Gaulton, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Seaborn Thomas, residing five miles south of Cushing, was brought to the hospital here Saturday afternoon to be operated upon for an abdominal gunshot wound received while scuffling with an older brother for possession of a small rifle with which they were practicing shooting at a target. The wound was on the right side and it was reported the intestines were perforated in five places. Reports from the hospital today indicate that there is a fighting chance for the injured lad's recovery.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The last triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines, thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger. Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price 35 cents for the large family size; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

DOES HOUSEWORK AT SEVENTY-FOUR

Mrs. Autrey Says Stella Vitae Keeps Her Young and in Vigorous Health.

"I was badly rundown and suffered constantly from pains in my back which hurt so I thought they would kill me. I was just miserable from one day to another and felt like my end was drawing near.

"One day an old lady stopped to see me and told me about Stella Vitae and I sent and got three bottles. They helped me so much I setn for three more and became sound and well."

YOU ARE CORDIALLY SOLICITED.

TO VISIT OUR INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE EXHIBIT at the State Fair, Dallas; Waco Cotton Palace, Waco; and Louisiana State Fair, Shreveport, La. We want all of our fifty thousand former students, their friends, and those interested in education to visit our booths in the Exposition Buildings, and see our wonderful exhibit, which has repeatedly won first honors at state fairs in four different states. Our displays are educational and interesting to old and young. We have demonstrations on the most modern office appliances, all of which are taught in our school, exhibits of students' work in Bookkeeping, Business Training, Shorthand, Typewriting, Business Finance, Penmanship, Cotton Clipping, Telegraphy, Radio, and Civil Service.

Visit our booth and you will see why we have the largest Business Training School in America; you will understand clearly how we can make you a more practical and thorough stenographer in three and one-half months with the famous Byrne Simplified Shorthand than other schools teaching other systems can in seven months; why with our original copyrighted systems of Bookkeeping and Business Training we can give you a course of both Bookkeeping and Business in less time than other schools teaching other systems can give you a mere theoretical course of Bookkeeping; why our practical departments of Telegraphy and Radio, the largest in the United States, with a loop of Cotton Belt railroad train order wire, giving real messages to our students, using every station blank and record book that is used by the Western Union or Cotton Belt, turn out practical operators and station agents; why graduates of our Cotton department are the most successful cotton buyers; and why it is that we can place all of our graduates in good positions and have more calls than we can fill.

Write today for catalogue and read what we guarantee to give you, what our former students say we have given them, and what their employers say of their exceptional efficiency. Get the facts and you will soon decide the kind of education you want and the place to get it.

CAUTION

The fire at the colored Baptist church Tuesday morning should serve as a warning for people to be careful in setting fire to brushheaps and trash piles. This fire caught from a pile of burning brush and trash. No such fires should be lighted within a distance of less than 40 feet from any building. All citizens are urged to be extremely cautious in this regard, for a very costly and disastrous fire is likely to occur from such source at any time. Don't be careless with these out-of-door fires. The danger is always great unless they are closely watched and guarded.

I. L. STURDEVANT,
Chief, Fire Department.

The colored First Baptist church, on LaNana street, the most pretentious colored church building in the city, had a narrow escape from destruction by fire between 8 and 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, the roof catching from a nearby burning brushheap of immense size, which was accumulated in a clean-up program of the members. The quick arrival of the fire department saved the building, the damage being slight and confined to the loss of a few shingles.

Judge S. W. Blount received a letter Wednesday morning from R. B. Walthal of Austin conveying the pleasing information that his son, S. W. Blount, Jr., had been appointed deputy surveyor of the oil and gas division of the Texas State Railroad Commission. Deputy Blount will have headquarters at San Antonio and be in charge of the Southwestern oil fields. This is a responsible and lucrative position, and the friends of the gentleman selected for the post will extend congratulations, in which the Sentinel joins.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Louis Rulfs entertained most charmingly for Miss Edna Earle Dent, a bride-to-be. There were only a few friends present, but the affair was thoroughly enjoyed. The hostess passed around among the guests a number of towels and each worked the recipient's initials in dainty monogram upon the cloth. A tempting luncheon was served and earnest good-wishes extended the honoree. The hostess, too, came in for hearty thanks for her hospitable reception.

PREACHING AT NORTH CHURCH

There will be preaching at North Church next Saturday night and Sunday afternoon at 3:30. This service ends the associational year. Messengers to the association are to be elected, the associational letter filled out, and the calling of the next pastor considered. Every member is urged to be present.

Mr. Roy Coon, who had been in Shreveport for several days to be with Mrs. Coon during a surgical operation which she underwent, has returned home and is back on the job in the jewelry and optical departments at Stripling, Haselwood & Company's. He left the patient doing fairly well, he stated. The many friends of the lady hope she may soon be completely restored.

A GREAT NEWSPAPER

Tuesday's issue of the Shreveport Times contained six news stories under a Nacogdoches date line. This indicates a willingness on the part of Shreveport's big daily to give our city and its affairs the space to which we are justly entitled. And not only is the Times giving our community space for its daily doings; it is at the same time giving the news, national, state and section as it happens. The Shreveport Times deserves a good circulation at Nacogdoches.

If the American bar association is sincere in its desire to "fortify the law against criminals," it will begin by tearing down the bulwark of technicalities it has raised to protect them.
